SWEEL 'N SOUR

Did the goblins get ya' Monday night? We had forty odd callers (and we do mean odd) and we loved every crooked nose and snaggle tooth in the lot of them. Our spooks were all very well behaved too, and they said "Thank You" and "Please" so nicely that we suspect their mamas and papas would have been very pleased with them.

Do you realize that tonight is our last football game to be played at home this season? The remaining games will be out of town but right now on this 6th of Nov. the Baird Bears meet Moran on home soil and you can Navy in June 1952, and transsee a jam up good game by only traveling a few blocks.

Tuesday closed the football season for the Grade School Bear Cubs. The game was with Moran Juniors and the score was 28-6 in favor of the Cubs. The youngsters were undefeated this year and right now they are expecting bids from the Rose Bowl. Seriously though, we do think your Junior team deserves some sort of official recognition and if we were the powers that be in the Quarterback Club or any other sport minded organization we'd come up with a wiener roast or a hamburger supper or something like that for the spirited youngsters who will be tomorrow's Baird Bears.

Next week is a busy time in this neck of the woods. Thursday, Nov. 10th, is Pancake Supper Night. This is an annual affair sponsored by the P-TA and last year ticket sales broke all records and expectations. The proceeds helped pay for a school plano and install ice water fountains — this year it will be used for some other project to help the school children. Plans are for a "bigger and better" pancake supper than ever before. Facilities are being made available to handle the crowds more satisfactorily than last year and we think you'll enjoy it. The time is six p.m. until 9 in the Cafetorium and the tickets are as always fifty cents for adults, twenty-five for children, Make plans now to attend.

Next week, Tuesday, Nov. 8th, to be exact, is the Delphian Club's Annual Art Exhibit. Program for this affair is set for three o'clock in the Cafetorium where some of the adult and High School exhibitors will have art work and hobbies on display. Bulk of the art exhibit will be found in the rooms of the elementary school with students from the first through the eighth grades participating. Troy Caraway, art coordinator for the Abilene Public Schools and instructor at ACC has consented to judge the show and offer helps and criticisms to the ing a name for himself not only for outstanding work with children in the field of creative art but also as an artist in his own right, having achieved recognition with his personal exhibits.

This is a bright idea from the Baird Garden Club - a plan is underway now to give special recognition to the town's green mittee appointed by the club will select their idea of the most attractive yard in town and a placard will be placed in that yard proclaiming it to be the Garden Club's "yard of the month" the yards competing will be all yards, so look for the placard for it may be on your own door step. We believe the first award will be made next week and we'll tell you more about it then. And let the placard stand where it may. We think T. Towler's yard looks very attractive this week with its orange berried shrubbery and neat lawn.

Our very best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, who celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary Sunday, Oct. 30th. Crowds and crowds of friends came to call, and express their wishes for happiness and one of the nicest parts of the whole affair was having the entire family together, Mr. and Mrs. Vermon Johnson of Haloman, N. M. were there and also Cliff Johnson of Pecos add to that Goley Johnson Henry, Wade Johnson, and Juanita Johnson Danielson all of Baird and you can see that all the Johnson children were present for the happy occasion. There were lots of out of town guests too and some that you will remember quite well were Mrs. Charlie Johnson and Minnie Earl of Big Spring, also the Herbie Johnsons of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Adams of El Paso.

Good Neighbors

WHAT IS IT that makes a neighbor a "good neighbor"?

Sometimes it's the thoughtfulness of a surprise cake handed over the back fence.

Sometimes it's a smile, or a gesture that lets you know there's a friend near who's always ready to lend a helping hand just because it's the natural thing to do.

In short, being a good neighbor is simply the business of putting the Golden Rule into everyday practice.

Since it began operation in 1871, the Texas & Pacific Railway has been blessed with some of the finest neighbors anyone could want. During our eighty-four years we have received many surprise "cakes over the back fence" from our good neighbors who wanted to show their appreciation for the part T&P has had in the growing Southwest. We are grateful, too, for the friendly and understanding support of our neighbors through the years.

Good neighborliness is a two-way track, however. As a good neighbor always should be, we have tried to be interested . . . in a practical and understanding way . . . in the wellbeing of those with whom we live and work.

Down through the years, the folks at T&P have extended a hand of fellowship to their neighbors . . . in good times as well as in times of disaster.

In 1953, for example, a prolonged drought parched farms and ranches of many areas of the West. Our farming and ranching neighbors needed help . . . and T&P joined with other railroads and the Federal Government in providing that help. The railroads of the West cut in half their rates on feedstuffs to the droughtstricken areas. This reduction was equivalent to a contribution of 20 million dollars, for that is the sum these railroads gave up as a result of the rate reductions.

No other transportation agency made any contribution whatsoever . . . through rate reductions . . . to the farmers and ranchers. Only the railroads heeded their call for help.

We're proud of the way our Southwestern neighborhood has grown, and we're thankful that we've been able to grow with it. Even though the region we serve now has become an industrial and agricultural empire, the spirit of the good neighbor still exists . . . and is as important now as it was in the pioneer days.

Duck Opener Has Promise

Water again will be the key factor when the annual duck season opens one-half hour before sunrise Nov. 2, reports the Executive Secretary of the Game

"All indications point toward an abundance of ducks," he said, but many state areas need good rains to accomodate the birds."

The Executive Secretary emphasized that the seventy-five day duck season opens fifteen days before the goose season which runs sixty days through ing one kind of game for another is no valid excuse. In other words our wardens have no other choice but to act when they note killing of geese before Nov. 17."

Most waterfowl experts approve postponing the goose opener to give the big birds a chance to fatten up after their exhausting flights from the far north nesting areas.

One opening day change this year permits hunters to begin shooting one half hour before sunup instead of at noon, the traditional zero hour. Daily shooting periods end at sundown.

Other regulations are unchanged on ducks. The limits are five per day and ten in possession after the opening day. Guns must be plugged to a three shell limit. Outboard motors must be detached from the mount if the boats are used in the open but may remain in place if the boat is placed inside or secured to a shooting blind.

The Executive Secretary cautioned hunters about banging away at unidentified birds, adding: "The postponement of the goose opener will generally protect the big non-game birds, such as the rare whooping cranes, which are rigidly protected. Many of them will have migrated safely through the danger zone before Nov. 17."

"It looks like a fine waterfowl season," he added. "Plenty of legal game and lots of shooting space. Everybody should have fun and reasonable success if they will take the pains to be careful; get permission of land owners if they don't already have a lease; get the $2 Federal duck stamp and have a regular state hunting license if shooting out of the hunter's home county."
