. 1,000 Barrel Well Found In Vacuum Area

Hale 1 of Phillips Pet. Co., Is Flowing From 4,500 Foot Level-Another Vacuum Well Flowing By Heads.

Discovery of a thousand barrel oil well in the Vacuum area on the cap rock in western Lea county tops the oil interest for the eek and presages a major drillng campaign for 1938, oil operators believe. The recent discovery is expected to greatly stimulate the wildcatting activity in the Vacuum territory and will probably mean that at least 100 wells will be drilled in the western Lea county area during 1938.

The new well, the Hale 1 of the Phillips Petroleum Co., in the NE SE sec. 35-17-34, is reported bottomed at 4,500 feet in lime and is estimated good for 1,000 barrels daily, natural. Earlier reports said the well flowed at the rate of twenty-nine barrels an hour on the last hour of a five hour test. Of course it goes without saying that with electric current available, the farmer's wife may have any of the conveniences that her sister in the city may have.

Farmers all over the land have been sending their children to college where they lived in modern homes and then wondered why they would not come back to the farm to live under simi-primitive conditions. Many of them would prefer to live on the farm but for the lack of modern conveniences. Many people who live in the city would prefer to live in the country but for the same resaon.

Rural electrification make the five and ten acre suburban home popular and bring back to the farm some of the multitudes who should never have left it. With proper adjustments, if rural electrification becomes at all extensive, the distribution of the population should be more equitable and thus aid in the solution of our economic problems.

ACP To Help in Farm Prices

The 1938 agricultural conservation program is designed to assist farmers and ranchers in maintain ing fair prices and fair farm and ranch incomes, and in making a wise use of the soil, says J. L. balanced Esslinger, Chairman New Mexico A. C. P. committee.

Fluctuating farm prices and instability of farm and ranch income have prevented many farmers and ranchers from making necessary improvements and carrying out needed soil-building rect heat. Combine dry ingredients; practices. Under the pinch of low prices and reduced incomes, farmers and ranchers virtually are ing water and cook 5 minutes, stirforced to overcrop and overgraze ring occasionally. Cool-mixture their land year after year to keep every possible acre producing cash returns, even tho their soil is depleted, overgrazed, and subject to erosion. They are forced to do this because the fixed charges do not decrease when the price of the things they sell go down. In an effort to get enough money to pay taxes, interest and necessary production costs, farmers and ranchers are forced to try all the harder to produce as much as they can from the land.

Maintenance of farm prices and farm incomes at a fair level so that farmers and ranchers will not be forced to mine the fertility out of their soil by over-grazing and over-cropping is one of the principal aims of the 1938 A. C. program. The state committee of New Mexico feels that the administration of the 1938 program is so developed that the farmers and ranchers will be given an opportunity to produce a living income from their farms and ranches, and still be able to increase the fertility of their soil. County and community committeemen should explain the principles of the program from a national and state standpoint as well as the benefits for the local producers. The practices that have been developed and approved for the 1938 program for New Mexico will no doubt be of stubborn Chinese defense south of great benefit to the agriculture of the Hwai river had collapsed and the state, if carried out by the maretreat of Chinese forces was near jority of the farmers and ranchers.

A five-point program to remedy inancial troubles of public schools the state was adopted by city perintendents in the closing sesn of their winter conference at Santa Fe Saturday.

The program, proposed by Ray-nd Huff of Clayton, chairman the state board of education, adopted amid warnings from John Milne of Albuquerque finance was the "bigest blem" facing schools now.

The program called for: -Permitting the state school lget auditor to increase basic dget allowances, defined by tatute, as much as fifteen percent any five-year period. Increasnow are allowed only in the amount of cash surpluses at the end of the year.

-Giving each county the beneof its five-mill maintenance on increased valuation over valuation as set up in 1935. Such increases now result in a corsponding decrease in the amount awn from the equalization fund. -Setting up a state emergency of $100,000 on each July 1, addition to the present county ergency funds, to care for woremergencies. Huff suggested fund be administered by a mittee including the state hools superintendent, education dget auditor, state treasurer, nief tax commissioner and secreary of the state educational asso-

4-Giving the educational budgauditor power to take full arge of county school finances cases in which counties prove nable to handle their own affairs. 5-Changing the old age school eachers' pension plan so that hose eligible to retirement would certified to the state treasurer der proper safeguards, and paid rom funds taken from the sales ax. Under the present law, payments must be made from individual schools' salary funds.

The state program for improvement of instruction underway in cooperation with the Rockefeller institution was assailed and defended earlier in the school masters' session.
