Stringing Pipe For New Line Vacuum Dist.

Texas New Mexico Pipe Line Co. Stringing Eight Inch Line From Texas Lynch Field — Several Promising Wells.

The biggest piece of news at a time when the oil activity over Southeastern New Mexico is comparatively quiet is the announcement that the Vacuum district in western Lea county is soon to have a pipe line connection. Workmen are reported stringing an eight inch pipe line from the Texas-Lynch field to the northeast corner of township 18, range 35 in the Vacuum district. The line, about eighteen miles in length, is being built by the Texas New-Mexico Pipe Line Company. No estimate is available as to when the line may be finished.

A number of producers were completed the past week, but the completions were mostly small wells. The largest well of the week was finished in the Eunice field, Lea county in the T. & P. Oil Company, State 8-A, SE sec. 7-22-36, which was drilled to 3,838 feet and when placed on an initial test flowed at the rate of eighty-five barrels per hour, natural with an estimated 2,500,000 feet of gas.

In the Jal district, southeastern Lea county, the Repollo Oil Company, completed its Stuart 4, SW sec. 10-25-37, for sixty-five barrels in an hour and a half, following a shot of nitro.

The Continental Oil Co. also finished a fair producer in the Monum district in its Sanderson 1, SE sec. 14-20-36, which flowed at the rate of thirty-six barrels an hour when drilled to 3,870 feet.

A promising well in eastern Lea county is the Riggs 1 of the Getty Oil Company in the NW sec. 1-26-37, which is running two inch tubing to test at 3,358 feet. Two thousand feet of oil is reported standing in the hole.

In the Vacuum field, the Texas Company, Corbin 1, SW sec. 10-18-33 is drilling below 4,650 feet and is filling up at the rate of 250 feet per day after swabbing.

An interesting wild cat, the Repollo Oil Co., State 1, SE sec. 6-17-34, eight miles northwest of the Vacuum district is drilling below 300 feet.

Two wells were abandoned during the week. In Eddy county, Martin Yates, Jr., abandoned his Condon 1, NW sec. 7-24-27 at 2,370 feet after developing a hole of salt water. In Lea county, Harry Leonard is plugging his Ginsberg 1, NW sec. 29-35-38 after drilling to a depth of 3,735. The well was abandoned as dry.

Only four locations were staked the past week. In the Eunice area, the Ohio Oil Co. staked its McDonald 10 in SW sec. 16-22-36 and the T. & P. Oil Company made two locations, one in the NE sec. 7-22-36 and the other in SW sec. 8-22-36. In the Vacuum district Getty Oil Company staked its State 2-F, NE sec. 36-17-34.

Ferguson Rubber Company Opened To Public Today

The new plant of the Ferguson Rubber Company, located just east of the highway and west of the Santa Fe freight depot will be opened to the public today, Jim Ferguson, proprietor announced yesterday. The Ferguson Rubber Co. will provide the motorist with a complete one-stop service, including repair service, washing and lubrication, gas and oils.

Several weeks ago Mr. Ferguson acquired what is known as the old laundry building on First street. Since the acquisition, he has spent several thousand dollars in modernizing the building, adding a washing and lubrication addition and in the building a modern drive in station.

Mr. Ferguson said he had installed strictly modern equipment throughout, including a modern car washing machine. Modern neon signs have also been erected on the building, which will make it very attractive at night.

The Ferguson Rubber Company will wholesale and retail Kelly tires and will distribute Conoco oil and gas products.

Criminal Cases In Chaves County Dist. Court Heard

Several criminal cases are being tried in the Chaves county district court at Roswell this week. Tuesday Kenneth Patterson was acquitted by a charge of grand larceny by a jury. He was alleged to have stolen sacks in excess of $10.00 in value from W. T. Clardy, Roswell dairyman.

Charges of selling property of another was dismissed against John A. Goodrum on motion of District Attorney George L. Reese, Jr. George Gonzales and Conrado LaRiva were scheduled to have been tried yesterday on charges of rape.

Today the trial of Milton B. Adams of Waco, Texas will start. Adams is charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of D. E. McKinney and daughter Lois McKinney, who were killed December 18th last year when their car was struck by Adams about two miles east of Roswell.

Hill Prevents Escape Prisoners From County Jail

An unusual and interesting story is told of how, single handed, Fred Hill, jailor at Carlsbad and former resident of Artesia, prevented the escape of three prisoners from the county jail at Carlsbad Friday.

Hill was attacked when he attempted to remove an ash can from the "bull pen" of the jail. When he opened the door one threw an ash can in his face and another two attacked him, one wielding a piece of water faucet. After fighting inside of the pen for a few moments, Hill stepped to the first landing. All three prisoners were on him at once and fighting and struggling like mad. Hill leaped to the second landing and the prisoners followed.

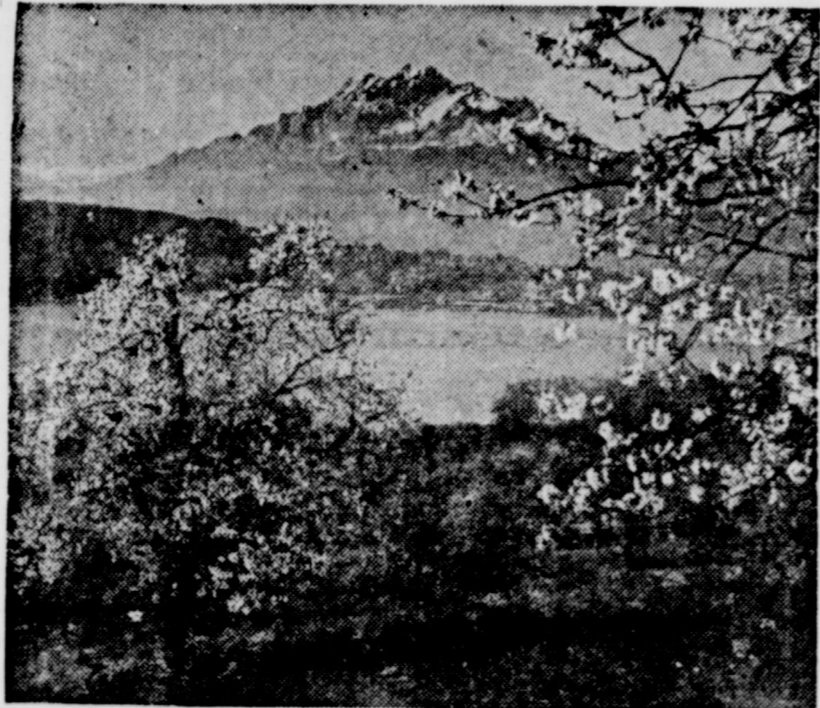

Finally, fighting at close quarters, Hugo Hall came swinging at him with the faucet. Hill knocked Hall down and took the faucet and just as he started to straighten up, Burke, another prisoner, kicked him in the eye. He started at the other two and they backed into the jail. At this time Hill said he noticed Mrs. Hill standing at the foot of the stairs with a pistol in her hand.

In the meantime, a trusty had been dispatched for Undersheriff Babe Campbell, who arrived as Hill was locking the prisoners in the jail. Hill emerged with a black eye, a severe scalp wound that required twenty stitches and numerous bruises and cuts about the face. But he was victorious.

The three men who attempted to escape were: Hugo Hall, arrested here about three weeks ago for stealing pipe, C. L. Burke of Hobbs, arrested at Carlsbad three times and Merle Mesh of Tulsa, Oklahoma, held on federal charges of transporting a stolen auto over a state line.

Lord Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glwin Sharp of Artesia, a student at Texas Tech at Lubbock was among the students of that institution to make the honor roll with an average grade of B.

WASHINGTON — A $21,100,000 program to develop and conserve the nation's water resources which involve ultimate expenditure of hundreds of millions of dollars in Colorado, Montana, New Mexico and Wyoming took place Monday on the calendar of Rocky mountain congressmen.

They studied the 153-page report of the national resources committee, put before congress by the president, to learn how Rocky mountain states would benefit by adoption of recommendations to carry out a unified policy of water control and use.

Among the main items recommended for New Mexico were these:

Completion of Conchas dam and reservoir, $4,200,000; completion of Pecos river flood control projects, including Rio Grande canalization from Caballo dam to El Paso, Texas, $7,634,000; upper Colorado river flood control projects, $75,000; lower Colorado river flood control projects, $12,000; Pecos river irrigation studies, $50,000; completion of Canadian river irrigation projects (construction), $637,000; completion of upper and lower Rio Grande river irrigation construction, including Mesalero and Pueblo Indian projects, $2,535,000. ## Henry Russell, Chaves Rancher, Is Fatally Shot

Henry Russell, aged 67 of Roswell, well known Chaves county rancher, died from a self-inflicted wound at Roswell Sunday morning. He was scheduled to be tried in the Chaves county district court March 18th for the death of Omar E. Bybee, 49 year old CCC worker. Russell allegedly shot Bybee to death on September 20, 1937 after a quarrel over a debt.

A coroner's jury summoned to investigate the death of Russell returned a verdict that he died of gunshot wounds, self-inflicted. He was fatally shot about 9:00 o'clock on Sunday morning while in the rest room of the Roswell police station. He was said to have been talking with a group of friends in front of the police station, when he excused himself to go into the rest room. A short time later a shot was heard. The bullet, from a .45 calibre single action revolver, passed through his right hand between the middle and index finger and entered the left side of his body. The gun was found near his throat in the scabbard, the shot having passed through the scabbard.

The verdict of the coroner's jury stated that the wound might have been accidental. Earl Hedgoxe, Roswell fireman was in the building at the time the shot was fired and said his view of Russell was obscured. He heard the shot and saw Russell fall through the door on his back. The wounded man died without uttering a sound.

Funeral services were held at Roswell Monday afternoon with the Rev. LeRoy Thompson, Presbyterian pastor officiating. Burial was made in a Roswell cemetery.

The gin plant here recently closed the biggest year in its history with a total ginning of 3,770 bales for the season.

Much Highway Improvement to Be Inaugurated

Texas Counties Planning Highway Improvements On 83 — Connections Being Built To the State Capitol and West.

Improvements on Highway 83 are being planned for a portion of Highway 83 thru West Texas, including the highway running east from the Texas-New Mexico line through Seminole, Lamesa, Gail and Snyder, Texas. The route has been formally approved by the U. S. Bureau of Public roads as a part of the federal aid seven percent system.

The Texas state highway department has slated the highway from the state line to Seminole. Twenty-four miles of grading, drainage and structure has been completed between Seminole and Lamesa.

In Borden county, of which Gail is the county seat, a total of 16.5 miles of grading and drainage structures is contemplated between Lamesa and Gail in the 1939 program. In Scurry county, improvement is planned from the Borden county line to Snyder and in Fisher county, improvements will be made from the Scurry county line to Roby.

The Texas highway department has two projects under construction between the Carlsbad cavern road and El Paso. One project is seven miles and the other is eleven miles. The remaining twelve miles of road will probably be advertised in April, thus completing the road program between the two points.

Also of interest is the completion of a ten mile road project between Roswell and Vaughn, just north of Roswell. This leaves only 11.5 miles of road which has not been completed between the two points. The road will eventually be oiled all the way to Vaughn.

A surveying crew is preparing two projects on the Clovis-Roswell highway from Kenna south for a distance of twenty-five miles. This will eliminate all unpaved road between the two points, also all grade crossings except the one at Elida. Surfacing and widening the highway between here and Roswell is seventy-five percent complete.

Shortage of Mail Boxes May Hold Up City Delivery

Postmaster J. L. Truett announced that a count of mail receptacles erected on the proposed delivery routes for city free delivery are far short of the required number necessary to inaugurate the carrier service and such facts are being reported to the postoffice department asking the department to withhold orders of suspension for ten days pending the outcome of further cooperation in the erection of such mail boxes. A shortage of boxes with the local dealers has, to some extent, caused many patrons to neglect giving this matter their attention and in other cases, landlords or their representatives have failed to erect boxes for their renters, all of which goes to bring about this shortage in the number of boxes required to be erected. If the suspension of this service is ordered by the department and then it develops that the required number of residents do not erect mail boxes, then complete withdrawal of this service may be the result.

If you, as a citizen of Artesia are interested in free mail delivery, here are some facts to face and some things to consider:

Artesia has grown to where it is congesting postoffice business and further extension of service is to the advantage of all patrons. Every resident should have a mail receptacle or door slot for any mail they may wish to have delivered to that address now or in the future. Every person interested in free delivery service should encourage their neighbors to cooperate in such extent as to erect a mail box at their residence. It is apparent that many people do not understand that a mail box for their residence can be purchased for the small sum of twenty-five cents.

Bob Black has opened a radiator repair shop at Dunn's Garage and is prepared to repair or clean your radiator for spring driving. See his announcement in this issue.

ELECTION REFORMS

Frauds in the American election system are numerous. There never was an election system devised free from any irregularities. The only thing honest officials can do to help the situation is to try to improve on the present known election methods. To sit idly by and state that there are certain irregularities that can't be controlled is to admit the impossibility of improvement.

The possibilities of improving the methods of voting exist just the same as improving our living conditions, our moral conduct and many other things that touch our lives. Every time the subject of a state wide primary law pops up there are those who argue that crookedness cannot be eliminated from elections and seek to leave the impression that the public ought to leave well enough alone since it is impossible to correct the existing evils.

There are those who accept vote buying as a necessary part of an election. In some sections this has developed into a racket that practically eliminates the candidate who wants to be honest. In many instances the Pecos valley has seen vote buying on a large scale. If given no legal protection, the candidates themselves could eliminate the practice by mutual agreement, but once the practice is started every candidate feels that he is compelled to make contributions to protect his own interest and thus the irregular practice continues.

Promises of election reform and the passage of a workable primary law have become the biggest joke in the platforms of the two major parties.

There are queer quirks of human nature. The ignoramus who puts his proposition up in a positive manner is often the most successful salesman, whereas the wisest man is often prone to be conservative and careful with his statements. This fact was brought out by a speaker at the Rotary club recently who said he had been more often sold by a fellow with a positive air, who seemed to know all the details about everything, when as a matter of fact he knew little or nothing about anything.

FARM PRODUCTION CONTROL

There never will be a farm bill designed to control production satisfactory to every one. Some farms and some sections of the country will feel the pinch of a limited acreage more than others because it is difficult to work out a universal rule that will apply everywhere. These same difficulties have been encountered in trying to hold the American cotton crop in the 11,000,000 bale limit.

A great deal of thought has been given and will be given the efforts to try to control the farm output so that a favorable market may be created. The cost of farm production under the modern methods and with the use of power machinery remains more or less stationary. Farming costs using late type methods cannot fluctuate with high or low farm product, governed by supply and demand. For this reason, we are likely to hear more about the proper methods to keep the farm product supply within the demand.

Only when farmers are willing to go back to the former farming methods and live at home, will the farm surplus cease to be a factor in the farmer's welfare. Another factor is of course that the American cotton grower no longer dominates the world market. Whether you think increasing foreign competition is the result of trying to cut down production and create a better market, the situation must be acknowledged and met. If you have a remedy and the remedy is effective, it should be put in practice at the earliest practical time.

MEETING THE CHALLENGE

Much has been said about ways and means of keeping the best talent in the farming communities. Here scientific farming methods are being taught the future farmers of America in the hope that we may have the intelligent population well distributed over the country rather than having it congested in the larger centers. This is a definite challenge to those who want to see the nation prosper and it is being met in a definite way through the organization of 4-H clubs over rural America and in teaching the adults of rural America the value of soil conservation. Also that the problem of the farm is efficient management and not physical effort.

In other words, interest has been added to farm life through the introduction of newer methods. And new interests attract the intelligent.

IT CAN'T BE DONE

Last year, traffic accidents in this country claimed 39,700 lives—a four percent rise over 1936. Yet, in spite of increased highway travel, twenty states cut their death tolls. The total increase in highway slaughter was due entirely to the other twenty-eight states, where fatalities increased by ten percent.

The twenty states which made a start toward solving the automobile traffic problem, weren't "just lucky." In the great majority of cases, their comparatively good records were the result of hard, efficient work. They actually earned the savings in lives and dollars that a reduction in motor accidents involves.

What tools are ready at hand with which to cut down the automobile's toll? The answer is simple enough. First on the list comes unremitting education—by schools, by civic groups, by government bureaus. Second, honest law enforcement under modern highway codes—and that means that every apprehended violator of the statutes must be punished quickly and fairly, that "pull" and ticket-fixing must be eliminated. Third, improvement and better lighting of streets and roads, and elimination of "accident prone" locations, are preventers of death.

This doesn't exhaust the list by any means—but these "musts" are vital to any workable accident prevention endeavor. The twenty states that cut deaths last year are to be congratulated. Let them repeat this year—and let the other twenty-eight states follow suit. It can be done.

W. Leslie Martin has recently installed an electric fence on his farm southeast of Artesia. The electric fence, consisting of one wire, is connected with a storage battery, which supplies the electrical energy. A contact with the electric wire is usually enough for the livestock.

Several Eddy county farmers are attending a district cotton quota meeting in session in Roswell today. Eddy county committee members include: Fred O'Chesky, W. M. Smith, Fred Barham, county agent, Herbert Little, APC secretary and Tom Terry of the Cottonwood.

G. W. O'Bannon, Cottonwood farmer who has been a patient at the Research hospital at Little Rock, Arkansas for several weeks was able to return home Friday.

She looked puzzled for a moment and then exclaimed: "Oh, how do you do? I didn't recognize you with your clothes on." She left the car at the next corner.

CARBON PAPER—The Advocate

Kernels From An Old Nut

One day in the late winter, a few years ago, a lone robin flew into the inner court of the Chamber of Commerce building of Chicago. It finally reached the bottom of the court and then found it was trapped for it could not fly twenty or more stories almost straight up. It became stampered with fright and flew from window to window and sometimes beat against the panes in an effort to extricate itself.

The plight of the unfortunate bird attracted the attention of workers in the brokerage offices facing upon the court. Business came almost to a standstill. Windows were opened and feed placed upon the window sills in the hope of attracting the bird to the inside of the building; but it was in vain.

Every afternoon paper in Chicago carried that day, on the front page, a double column story of the trapped robin.

That night many of the brokerage houses left their windows open and the lights on in the hope that it might find its way inside where it could be rescued and carried to safety; but the effort was in vain.

The next day every morning edition of the Chicago newspapers carried the story of the unfortunate robin displayed on the front page.

During the early part of the next day a sparrow flew into the court and landed on the window sill beside the robin. It chirped a while and then flew across the court to a window a little higher up, but the robin did not follow. The sparrow flew back and chipped some more and then flew away again. This time the robin followed. The sparrow continued chirping and flying and the robin continued to follow—landing each time a little higher, until at last the sparrow and robin reached the top of the building and the robin was free again.

That afternoon the papers carried the final story. How much that incident in the life of a robin cost Chicago business would be hard to estimate; but every man in any way connected with it was a better man on account of it.

I saw so much of wickedness in the big city that I almost lost hope; but after the incident of the robin and a few others akin to it, I came to know that after all the big city has a heart if one can only reach it. Somehow that sparrow must have felt a kinship to a robin in distress. It is incidents like this that should make us understand that a sparrow does not fall without His watchful care.

Story of Quick Witted Aviator

Few ship masters ever bring in a vessel with the rudder out of control, but if the hand control, or "stick" of an airplane snaps off when the pilot is in midair it furnishes a problem to baffle the ingenuity of the most highly skilled aviator.

This predicament confronted Lieutenant Clayton C. Jerome, of the U. S. Marines, while he was performing aerial acrobatics with his little fighting ship upside down at an altitude of 2,000 feet. For fifteen minutes he had been maneuvering his plane over the flying field at San Diego, California during a practice flight in January, 1930.

While flying upside down the aviator attempted to right the aircraft and the stick snapped off at the socket. This left him hanging downward with his own safety belt holding him in the cockpit.

His first impulse was to snap loose the safety buckle and jump, trusting to his parachute. Then he realized that the plane might crash into a hangar or glide across the bay into San Diego's business district, imperiling the lives of citizens.

Grasping the socket with his right hand he was able to bring the plane to a normal flying position. For forty-five minutes he bent over in the cockpit, trying to lash the stick to the side of the socket, while he occasionally checked his position and found the plane cocked up at some awkward angle. Then he would straighten the craft out and go to work again.

With the aid of his flying suit belt, trouser belt, handkerchief and necktie, he finally got the stick lashed down firmly enough to bring the plane partially under control. Bending low in the cockpit to keep one hand on the stick and the other on the lashings, he brought the plane down to what was virtually a blind, but lucky landing.

Three Drowned Near Carlsbad

An early morning boating excursion on the Pecos river near Carlsbad left a toll of three persons dead Sunday.

Disaster overtook a small motor boat early Sunday morning when a member of a party of merry-makers, a survivor said, "playfully rocked" the craft and it capsized.

Those drowned were Lee Thurman Elkins, 28; Harold S. Brown, 33; and Miss Veltie Murray, 18, all of Carlsbad. Their bodies were recovered.

Jess Miles, 27, a survivor, said the party, pleasure riding following a dance, accepted the invitation of Elkins and Brown to go for a boat ride.

When the boat capsized, he said he hauled the Murray girl to safety and she was clinging to the boat when one of the drowning men clutched her and pulled her back into the water.

EXPLAINS FARM PROGRAM

Fred Barham, county agent at Carlsbad was the principal speaker at the luncheon program of the Artesia Rotary club Tuesday and explained the new farm program. Of particular interest was his explanation of the situation leading up to the adoption of a control program starting with the World War. To keep pace with the demand made by the war, 43,500 acres of new farm land was placed under cultivation in the United States, much of the new land being suited for crops. At the end of the war, farmers and returning soldiers attempted to farm the increased acreage with the result that using better farming methods, a crop surplus soon occurred, which resulted eventually in the inauguration of a control method in 1933. The cotton supply of the world on hand now is 50,600,000 bales, over 18,000,000 of which is American produced cotton.

The purpose of the control program, he said, was to try to get the 2,000,000 American farmers to do what a group of manufacturers would do, cut the production so that cotton and other farm commodities might be grown at some profit.

He explained how the nation's cotton quota was arrived at as well as the county and state quotas. Since there is a difference of more than 2,000 acres in Eddy county cotton acreage as estimated and that which was actually surveyed, the county will ask for an increased quota amounting to the difference between the estimate and the actual acreage.

Visitors present included: Jeff Atwood of Roswell, the Rev. Frank York of Carlsbad, Fred Barham of Carlsbad, I. S. Reser of Lake Arthur and two new Rotarians, Andy Corbin and Neal Watson.

The department said the indicated production was twenty-four percent larger than last year's harvested crop of 55,174,000 boxes. The grapefruit crop was forecast at 27,590,000 boxes compared with 30,680,000 boxes last year.

Eddy County Farm News

All farms in Eddy county which do not have a work sheet signed as yet, must do so within the next few days. It is imperative that all cotton farms in the county have a work sheet signed by the 21st of this month. This must be done before Eddy county cotton farmers can get their 1938 allotment under the new farm act. Those farms which have not filed a worksheet within the prescribed time will not be able to receive an allotment. If a work sheet was filed in 1936 or 1937 and the acreage in the farm has not changed, a new work sheet is not required.

All farms on which the cotton acreage and the diverted acres have been less than five during the last three years should turn in to the county agent's office the cotton history for the past three years some time this week. It is necessary that this information be in the office when the county committee begins to assign allotments. If your farm has not had a work sheet assigned, you should come to the county agent's office this week and sign one, or contact your local committeemen and have them help you to make out a worksheet.

COUNTY FARMERS GET COTTONSEED

The seed, produced by the New Mexico State College under federal supervision was allotted to individual farmers for production of pure seed. The farmers must raise the cotton according to regulations and pay for cost of inspection.

Northern Eddy county farmers who received allotments include G. R. Brainard, W. T. Haldeman, Leslie Martin, Ralph Pearson, Fred Nelson and J. S. Vogel.

Chevrolet Establishes Used Car Conditioning Schools

DETROIT — Used car reconditioning schools, established by Chevrolet a year ago, are already functioning throughout the country with smoothness and efficiency, and returning tangible benefits to thousands of used car buyers in the shape of better value in the used cars they buy.

Wood has had charge of installing the schools, which W. E. Holler, general sales manager, created as a means of keeping needed emphasis on reconditioning. Key men from each of the company's territorial divisions in the field were brought to Detroit and Flint for several days' intensive study on methods for various makes of cars, and on the use of specialized equipment devised for efficient, economical handling of the various jobs involved.

These men returned to their posts, and set up regular courses of study, making the training available to dealers' mechanics in each of the forty-seven zones. Dealers were urged to encourage their mechanics to attend the schools, and there was whole-hearted response from the first, Wood reported. Sessions are held in the evening, many men driving from fairly distant cities to get the benefit of the expert advice, all of which is free.

"The program has 'caught on' remarkably," said Wood. "I have attended many school sessions, in various parts of the country, and I am always impressed with the serious purpose evident among the men. Reports of dealers on the improvement in their used car operations resulting from the training of their mechanics, has had the effect of keeping interest up, to that even today, with the novelty of the idea largely worn off, attendance is uniformly high."

Wood said that the development of time-saving and labor-saving equipment is proving a large factor in the effectiveness of the schools.

"Increase in the volume of reconditioning work has stimulated ingenuity, bringing about many improvements in tools and equipment," he said. "We investigate the merits of every new item in this line, and when a machine or tool can justify itself from the standpoint of time or labor saved—both of these factors being money—we recommend its use by dealers."

"Such equipment is introduced in the schools, and its use is taught by the mechanics. They, in turn, generally lose no time in pointing out to their employers just what it would accomplish for them. The result is that hundreds of dealers have modernized their reconditioning shops, thereby placing themselves in a most advantageous position from the standpoint of their ability to do two major things: perform a more thorough job of reconditioning at the same outlay as before, or perform as good a job at substantially lower cost. Either advantage reacts in the end to the customer's benefit."

The county has been allotted a quota of 17,384 acres.

Act To Develop Surplus Crop Use

The new Farm act, recently passed by congress, contains provisions for developing new uses for farm commodities, according to G. R. Quisenberry, director of extension.

The act provides an appropriation of not to exceed four million dollars annually for the establishment of four regional research laboratories, one in each major farm producing area. These laboratories are directed "to conduct researches into and to develop new scientific, chemical and technical uses and new and extended markets and outlets for farm commodities and products and by-products." These studies are to be devoted primarily to farm commodities in which there are regular or seasonal surpluses. The secretary of agriculture is authorized and directed to cooperate with other federal and state agencies and experiment stations in carrying out the provisions for research activities.

The act also states that "it shall be the duty of the secretary to use available funds to stimulate and widen the use of all farm commodities in the United States and to increase in every practical way the flow of such commodities into the markets of the world."

TO ABANDON 291 CCC CAMPS

WASHINGTON—Robert Fecner, Civilian Conservation Corps director, ordered Thursday a 291-camp reduction by July 1 to make the program fit 1938-1939 budgetary restrictions.

The reduction, Fecner said, would leave 1,210 camps, ten of which would be closed before October 31. The order also involves dismissal of approximately 3,000 camp officers and civilian officials.

Fecner said the shutdown would not affect the enlisted personnel which would be shifted to other camps.

FOR MEN ONLY! What to expect during spring housecleaning ...

Arthur Van Harvey, star of the NBC coast-to-coast "Vic and Sade" program, demonstrates what American husbands can expect during spring housecleaning season, this year or any year. Above: Coming home to eat beans for dinner—and out of the can at that!

The little woman has thrown away everything you want and kept what you don't want. Imagine finding your favorite pipe in the waste basket!

All settled down for the evening with a magazine—on the floor. During spring housecleaning you're lucky to get in the house at all.

Next morning you discover with a shriek that the junkman has appropriated the trousers for your new suit. That's life—and spring housecleaning!

County Farmers OK Cotton Quota

The cotton marketing quota went over by more than nine-to-one in Eddy county, an early tabulation of votes revealed Saturday night.

The quota carried in the county's seven voting places by a majority of 432 to 44. Percentage of "yes" votes in the county was 90.7 per cent.

Only five votes in the county were challenged—these because it was doubtful whether the voters were residents of Eddy county.

The vote:

Box	Yes	No
Carlsbad	92	6
Otis	61	3
Loving	70	3
Malaga	53	2
Hope	15	4
Artesia	110	26
Cottonwood	31	1

MACHINERY SCHEDULES OF OIL, GAS WELLS UP

SANTA FE—Schedules of assessment of equipment and machinery used in operation of the state's approximately 2,000 producing oil and gas wells and carrying a net increase of sixteen percent were filed Thursday by the state tax commission.

The schedules on a complicated technical basis will be used by the commission in fixing the taxable valuation of the wells for the 1938 tax rolls.

Schedules carried a twenty-six percent increase over last year on wells completed in 1937 and a ten percent reduction on wells completed in prior years.

LEGUME-GRASS MIXTURES FOR CONTROL OF EROSION

Legumes form a valuable part of almost any soil-conserving program, but they should not be regarded as a cure-all for soil erosion troubles, says C. R. Enlow, chief agronomist of the soil conservation service. Pure seedings of leguminous plants have been found at soil conservation experiment stations to be considerably less effective for erosion control than mixtures of legumes and grasses.

Enlow points out further that not all legumes are good soil-binders. Soybeans, for example, have a tendency to loosen the soil, a condition favorable to erosion damage. Experiments have shown that soil losses under a soybean crop run about as high as corn in a three-year rotation with barley and clover.

In short, says Enlow, the mere fact that a plant is leguminous is no guarantee of its soil-holding capacities. The ability of any hay crop to check erosion depends primarily on the density of its growth and its sod-forming qualities.

Miss Nollie Stephens, who teaches at Elk visited her parents here over the week end.

Eggs Fine Food

In the early days, the egg was regarded as a symbol of good fortune; later man valued it more for the pleasure and nourishment obtained from eating it, says Miss Veda Strong of the New Mexico extension service.

Today the egg is rated by nutritionists as one of the "protective foods." Research has shown that its fragile shell covers a combination of many of the nutrients necessary to safeguard the health of human beings.

Egg yolk is one of the first foods added to the infant's diet. Four to five eggs a week are a desirable addition to the food of young children, and adults find it to their advantage to eat at least two eggs a week besides those used in the family cooking.

Because of their food value, eggs are provided in adequate family diets the year round, but during the spring months when egg supplies are heavy and prices are low, as at the present time, many homemakers like to use them more generously in omelets, souffles, sponge cakes, and many other special dishes using eggs in various ways.

Specifically, the food value of an egg lies in its protein, its minerals and its vitamins. Eggs are very rich in iron, a mineral often lacking in the diet. Egg protein is of high quality—the efficient kind necessary in the structure of body tissues. Therefore, during Lent, eggs may be used in many appetizing and nutritious dishes which can be served as meat substitutes.

One of the more unusual ways to serve hard-cooked eggs is with curry sauce. For the dish make a bed of hot, flaky, cooked rice on a hot platter. Arrange quartered hard-cooked eggs over this and pour over the eggs a thick white sauce that has been seasoned with chopped green pepper, chopped onion, chopped celery, Tobasco sauce and powdered curry.

Other ways of using hard-cooked eggs are: creamed, scalloped, eggs a-la-goldenrod.

LUCKY FISHERMEN

Roscoe Knowles and T. E. Miller returned Saturday from a fishing expedition on the river southeast of Artesia with two yellow cat fish, weighing twenty-one and twenty-two pounds. The fish were placed on display in front of the Brainard Corbin hardware store and viewed by many Saturday.

Livestock and Range Report

Improved condition of the range over the state since February is noted with the condition of the range at eighty-six percent compared with an eighty-one percent average for the past ten years. Present prospect for an early spring range is encouraging in most localities, but ranchers say it will take another rain to provide good spring grass in this community. Blowing of soil is also expected to be minimized due to the presence of moisture.

Cattle are in good flesh and the general condition over the state is above normal. Cattle buying is slightly more active over the state with several inquiries reported. Cattle that are calving are coming through in good shape.

Ewes are generally in good flesh and prospects for a lamb crop are encouraging. No contracts for wool have been reported yet, but the wool market is strengthened. Condition of sheep is reported at ninety-five percent compared with an eighty-five percent ten year average.

ONLY YOUR MILEAGE MERCHANT OIL-PLATES YOUR ENGINE

Does Spring begin on March 20th?...or on the 21st? "Begin it today!" pleads your engine. "Bleed out my Winter-poisoned oil. But this Spring help me with more than an oil-change. Change to Your Mileage Merchant! And that's changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—the only way to change me into an OIL-PLATED engine."

You want this modern exclusive OIL-PLATING because especially in Summer your steady driving demands more than the plain old type of oil-film that slithers OFF the working parts like drops of quicksilver. Exactly the opposite is achieved by the Germ Process—patented. It makes droplets of oil act like a billion tiny suction cups, powerfully attracted and OIL-PLATED to every working surface...Never draining down, never inviting friction, no matter how many thousands of starts and thousands of miles you make all Spring and Summer. And you'll notice Germ Processed oil sticking so close to "Full"—even in older cars—that you'll want to be sticking to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

Cotton Farmers Approve Quota

Ten of the seventeen cotton producing counties of New Mexico approved the quota plan 1,433 to 290. Three counties had not been heard from Monday, according to word from Las Cruces.

W. A. Wunsch, state director at Las Cruces gave the final state vote Tuesday as 1,732 for and 475 against. He estimated that 3,100 farmers were eligible to vote in Saturday's balloting.

WASHINGTON — The AAA's proposal to apply marketing quotas to restrict sales of 1938 cotton appeared to have won an overwhelming victory in a farmer referendum Saturday.

Unofficial tabulations from 658 of the nation's 1,500 cotton counties gave 1,019,499 voters for the quotas and 77,872 against. More than 2,000,000 farmers were eligible to vote.

Under the new AAA Act a two-thirds majority of those voting make the quotas apply to all cotton farmers. Those who sell beyond their quotas are subject to stiff penalty taxes.

The incomplete returns gave the quotas ninety-three percent of the votes.

The following is an incomplete vote by states in Saturday's referendum. (New Mexico given above.)

1st Head Water Carlsbad Project

The Carlsbad irrigation project has its first irrigation supply from the new Alamogordo dam above Fort Sumner. Twenty thousand acre feet of water was released at the Alamogordo dam Thursday. Monday the head was flowing by the Pecos river bridge east of Artesia and the river was running about half bank full. Water in the Alamogordo reservoir will be lowered about twenty feet when the first irrigation water is discharged. Twin tubes at the dam were estimated discharging water at the rate of 160,000 gallons per minute or at the rate of 9,600,000 gallons of water per hour. The river flow will be permitted to run for about a week, it was said.
