Final Plans of Cotton Farmers Meeting Made

Address of Commissioner McDonald to Be Followed by Big Barbecue—Committees Work on Arrangements.

Final arrangements for the meeting and barbecue in Artesia next Monday for cotton growers of New Mexico and Western Texas, at which J. E. McDonald, commissioner of the agricultural committee of Texas, will explain the domestic allotment plan, were worked out Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Central Valley Farmers' Association, the sponsoring organization.

Besides planning to raise funds to underwrite the cost of the barbecue and "son-of-a-gun" to be served at the noon hour after the speaking, the program and other details were discussed.

The committee on entertainment, composed of Col. A. T. Woods, chairman, and R. E. Coleman and Arba Green, was retained as the general committee and four district committees to raise funds were appointed by W. Leslie Martin, association president. The committees:

Cottonwood, Ralph Pearson, Carroll Jackson and Victor Parker; Dutch Flat, Elwood Kaiser, Reed Brainard and Charles Martin; Artesia, J. W. Bradshaw, V. L. Gates and Col. A. T. Woods; Spanish-American, Julian Montoya.

In addition to the committees, Arba Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was designated to raise funds among the local businessmen.

Senator Carl A. Hatch, a member of the agricultural committee, and Mayor T. J. Harrell of Ft. Worth, Tex., who have been previously unofficially invited to attend the meeting and make short talks, are to be officially invited as a result of action Monday evening. The two will precede Commissioner McDonald on the program, the chairman for which will be Col. Woods.

The meat for the barbecue has been butchered and is now cooling out in storage. About 1,000 pounds will be barbecued on the American Legion pit. Besides the barbecue, four large kettles of "son-of-a-gun" will be served, as well as all the "fixin's." Farm women of this locality are asked to bring pies and cakes.

In order to facilitate the serving of the dinner, there will be three lines formed at as many tables.

Artesia Rotary Gets Beans, But Not Alamogordo

Fifteen persons representing the Artesia Rotary Club attended an inter-club banquet at the Lodge at Clouderoft Saturday evening, a pay-off by the Artesia group to the Alamogordo Rotary Club as the outcome of an attendance contest. The club from across the mountains won the contest by a slight margin.

A stipulation of the contest, which lasted six months, was that the losers, although paying the bill, would be required to eat beans at Clouderoft, while the winners enjoyed a fried chicken dinner. A spokesman for the Alamogordo club called attention to this condition and W. Leslie Martin, president of the Artesia club, was handed a pot of beans, which he served the Artesia people.

When the others later were served fried chicken, however, the winners relented and chicken, with the trimmings, was served to all. Other than that bit of by-play, there was no planned program and an informal evening was enjoyed by about sixty persons, of whom 35 or 40 represented Alamogordo and seven El Paso.

There have been two attendance contests between the Alamogordo and Artesia Rotary Clubs, both of which were won by Alamogordo, but the Artesia Rotarians are determined to win the "rubber."

Besides Mr. Martin, those who attended from Artesia were: Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Dexter, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Booker, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kerr, D. I. Clowe and daughter, Miss Marjorie; Arba Green, Howard Williams and Charles Morgan.

Legion Goal Is Hundred Members By Armistice Day

A membership of 100 by Armistice Day was the goal set Monday evening at the regular monthly meeting of Clarence Kepple post, American Legion, by O. L. Samelson, adjutant and chairman of the membership committee. He said he would count on members of his committee and all other members of the post to help go "over the top" by that time.

C. R. Baldwin, commander, appointed a relief committee to investigate cases which have come to the attention of the post. The members: P. V. Morris, chairman; Frank Smith, Tom James and Mr. Baldwin.

It was indicated the first Legion dance of the season at the Legion hall will be Thursday evening of next week, but definite action was not taken Monday evening.

Vocational Ag Is New Course Being Offered at School

Is First Time Included in Subjects of Study of Artesia High School

A course in vocational agriculture is being offered at Artesia High School this year for the first time, Stanley Utterback, teacher. The department comes under legislation known as the Smith-Hughes Act of 1917.

The classroom work covers animal husbandry, field crops and soils, marketing agriculture products, farm accounting, farm management and horticulture. Supervised farm practice work is carried on by the boy student at his home under the supervision of the instructor. There will be field trips from time to time to the boy's projects and other farms of interest.

The farm mechanic work includes training in such things as woodwork, metal, harness repair, rope work, belt work and the farm level. The extra curricular activities will include a "Future Farmers of America Club," a "Future Farmers of America Band," judging trips to state and county contests and others.

Mr. Utterback said he hopes to build up one of the best vocational agriculture departments in the state and with the new building, equipment and plentiful resource material, such a department is made possible.

The purpose of the Smith-Hughes Act, which provides for agriculture, trades and industries, and home economics, are described as follows: That such education shall fit for useful employment; that such education shall be of less than college grade; that it shall be designed to meet the needs of persons more than 14 years of age who have entered upon or who are preparing to enter upon the work of the farm. The several phases of work commonly covered in the vocational classes are classroom work, supervised farm practice work, farm mechanics or shop room work and extra curricular activities.

Home Economics Made Vocational Study This Year

Mary Luther Is in Charge of Department, Which Centers On the Home

The home economics department of Artesia Junior-Senior High School this year has been made vocational for the first time and is now under the direction of the state supervisor, Miss Zelpha Bates, who is located at the State Department of Vocational Education, State College.

The department will be in charge of Miss Mary Luther, who is a graduate of the University of New Mexico. Miss Luther has been in the community for the last ten days visiting students and parents in their homes.

Classes offered in home economics this winter will be centered about the home and the student. The curriculum will include a program of studies based upon the needs and desires of the community. The girls will have a major part in working out their class program.

Governor Signs Primary Measure

Gov. Clyde Tingley signed the Dickason-Royall bill last Thursday, giving New Mexico a primary election law which will be effective in 1940, but he was plainly disappointed because of the bill's failure to pass by the two-thirds majority necessary for its effectiveness this year.

At the time he signed the bill, the governor issued a written statement in which he lashed out at "politicians."

He said passage of the primary measure was the fulfillment of the Democratic party's "last major promise, even though it is not effective until 1940, and despite the efforts of those in control of the party machinery to prevent it."

The senate adjourned harmoniously after hearing the governor's parting message, which said the primary question "has seen the people of New Mexico lined up on one side, the politicians on the other." The house adjourned sine die a few minutes later.

County Committee Is to Determine if Payments Be Made

Docket for State Specifies What Is Considered Idle Land

Some farmers in New Mexico, and especially in Eastern New Mexico, have a question in their minds relative to receiving conservation payments where no crops were planted, according to Leo H. Gould of the New Mexico Extension Service.

The New Mexico docket specifically provides that "no payment other than a payment in connection with restoration land goal shall be computed with respect to any farm land which is idle in 1938."

Mr. Gould says if an attempt is made to seed a crop on the farm, or if the county committee determined failure to seed was due to flood conditions or drought, or a volunteer soil-depleting crop was harvested in 1938, or a soil-building practice specified in the docket was carried out in 1938 in accordance with the requirements, or if tame grasses, legumes, or mixtures were pastured or cut for hay on approximately 50 per cent or more of the cropland in the farm under the direction of or by the owner or operator, the farm would not be classified as idle in 1938.

The determination as to whether the farm was idle in 1938 will be left to the county committee in the individual county and the farm that meets one or more of the requirements specified may be certified by the county committee for its conservation payments.

Six Producers Are Brought in, Allowable Cut

Per Well Daily Is Reduced From 58 to 33 Barrels—Nine New Locations Are Made, Seven in the Vacuum Pool.

Six producing wells were brought in during the last week in the Southeastern New Mexico fields, none, however, of outstanding flow. During the same period nine locations were made, seven of which are in the Vacuum area.

The per well allowable in the Artesia-Jackson-Majamar area has been cut from 58 to 33 barrels a day. Believed to be a temporary condition, this resulted from a lack of market demand and most of the purchasing companies have cut on purchases. Sinclair-Prairie has cut the daily pipeline runs from 3,000 to 2,000 barrels a day.

The completions for the week were as follows: Continental, Britt 2, NW sec. 15-20-37; total depth 3,913 feet; flowed 32 barrels an hour. Gulf, Day 4, NW sec. 6-22-36; total depth 3,850 feet; flowed 325 barrels a day.

Phillips, Santa Fe 9, SE sec. 21-17-35; total depth 4,645 feet; flowed 55 barrels oil in five hours. Shell, State 1-B, SE sec. 30-17-35; total depth 4,700 feet; flowed 95 barrels in 6 hours.

Stanolin, Langley 4-B, SW sec. 14-25-37; total depth 3,418 feet; flowed 55 barrels in 15 hours.

It cost the state $16,043.60 to take the members of the House of Representatives to Santa Fe and return them to their homes.

It also cost the state $55 for each of the 69 members of the legislature for the 11 days the upper and lower houses were in session, a total cost of $3,795.

What the expenses were for the session for hiring of clerks, printing of bills and other items was not ascertained.

"A feed bill" of $10,000 was appropriated by the legislature for the special session.

Mrs. John Birdwell and daughter, Miss Dorothy, of Alamogordo, sister and niece of Mrs. D. C. Blue, were week end guests in the Blue home.

Farmers May Now Apply for Farm Purchasing Loans

Emerson, Eddy County Supervisor, Announces Deadline as Oct. 1

Applications from farmers in Eddy County for loans with which to purchase farms under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Purchase Act program will be received from now until Oct. 1, Larry Emerson, Eddy County rural rehabilitation supervisor, announced upon his return from Amarillo, Tex., where he attended a two-day school of instruction.

Also attending from this county were W. J. Bindel and Evert (Bob) O'Bannon, county committeemen, recently appointed by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, to check applications.

All farm tenants, sharecroppers, farm laborers, or others who obtain or recently have obtained most of their income from farming, may make applications for one of the several loans to be made in this county, Mr. Emerson said.

It was explained that preference for these loans will be given to married persons or persons with dependent families, to persons able to make a down payment, or to persons who own livestock and equipment necessary to carry on farming operations.

Applicants who will receive loans will be given a wide choice in selecting the farms they want to buy. The price of the property, however, must be in keeping with its value, as determined by the county committee and the FSA. Preference will be given to farms needing a minimum outlay for repairs and improvements. However, loans will be large enough to cover building repairs and other farm improvements.

Hagerman Youth Takes His Life By Monoxide Gas

E. A. White, Jr., 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. White of Hagerman, was found dead from carbon monoxide gas poisoning in the family automobile near his home Saturday night. A hose ran from the exhaust pipe into the car, the windows of which were closed. No reason was known why the youth should have taken his own life.

Passers-by noticed the automobile, which was stalled in mud with the engine running and the radio turned on, and Frankie Davis and C. G. Mason investigated.

An attempt for more than an hour to revive young White by means of a pulmotor was unsuccessful.

Funeral services and burial were Monday at Hagerman.

Farmers Hope to Hold Cotton off Market Till 1940

Central Valley Association Also Plans to Fight Against Discrimination

In line with the action of other cotton growing groups, the Central Valley Farmers' Association adopted a resolution at the regular monthly meeting Monday evening seeking a ruling of the Department of Agriculture to hold off the market until July 31, 1940, the surplus of 7,000,000 bales of loan cotton now in the hands of individual growers under government loans, instead of until July 31, 1939, as provided in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938.

The organization believes that holding off the market of the loan cotton will relieve some of the pressure on the present market and enable the grower to get a better price for the current crop.

The resolution, copies of which are to be sent to the Senators and Congressman from New Mexico asking that they use their efforts towards enactment of legislation to defer the date, is similar to those adopted by other Southwestern organizations.

In order to fight discriminatory action, the association also proposed to raise funds by getting valley farmers to pay in 10 cents for each bale of cotton, to be collected at the gins. In this way, it is hoped to raise several hundred dollars.

By discriminatory action the farmers were referring to such as the recent schedule of the Department of Agriculture and the Commodity Credit Association giving cotton producers in irrigated sections a loan value of 9.70 cents a pound as compared with 10.75 cents a pound on cotton of the same quality grown in rain belt regions.

A committee was appointed to contact farmers of the valley and gin operators in regard to collection of 10 cents a bale for the fund as follows: R. E. Coleman, chairman; Charles Rogers, T. H. Flint, I. S. Reser, Col. A. T. Woods and Arba Green.

Secretary Wallace Makes Appointments for Four-State Area

Appointment of Walter O'Chesky and Willie Bindel, Carlsbad, and Bob O'Bannon, Lake Arthur, by Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, as a committee to check applications of farm tenant purchase loans in Eddy County has been announced by L. H. Hauter, director of region 12 of the Farm Security Administration.

The secretary's announcement of committees throughout the region follows the selection of additional counties in this region where the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Purchase Act will be put into effect this year. The counties were selected by a four-state (Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, Colorado) committee of which John E. Hill, Amarillo, is chairman. Joseph L. Dailey, Albuquerque, is chairman of the New Mexico committee.

Applications for tenant purchase farm loans in all of the counties will be received in the county rural (Continued on last page, column 4)

School Record Of 1066 Pupils On First Day

Is Big Increase Over Last Year — Kerr Looks For Possible Registration of 1300 or More as Potential Total

An estimate Tuesday evening, with juniors and seniors still to register, indicated a first-day enrollment of 1,066 students in Artesia schools, an increase of 109 over the complete first week enrollment of last year, and of 181 more than two years ago.

Nine hundred and twenty-six students had been enrolled up to Tuesday evening, when W. E. Kerr, superintendent, estimated the juniors, who signed up Wednesday, and the seniors, whose registration is today, would total seventy each.

Enrollment of junior high students began last week and freshmen and sophomores on Monday and Tuesday, respectively. And on Tuesday the pupils of grades one to six were signed up.

Mr. Kerr said the schools' registration may be swelled to 1,300 or more, for, in addition to the old pupils and 113 new ones up to and including the ninth grade, there are 243 others in the first ten grades known to live in the district but who had not shown up by Tuesday. That figure does not include the junior and senior classes, as Mr. Kerr's estimated total for the first day included them.

At Central School 613 signed up Tuesday, including 194 in the first grade, of whom 105 are Anglos and 89 Spanish. But 162 others are known to live in the district, including seventy-four who should be in the first grade.

A break-down of the enrollment shows sixty-eight Central School pupils new to the district, by grades as follows: First 4, second 6, third 10, fourth 13, fifth 15, and sixth 20.

Actual enrollment by grades: First 194, second 56, third 99, fourth 80, fifth 96, and sixth 88.

In the Junior-Senior High School, the enrollment up to Tuesday evening, including all but the two upper classes: seventh 80, eighth 84, ninth (freshmen) 84, and tenth (sophomores) 65. Not registered, but known to live in the district, are eighty-one boys and girls belonging in grades seven to ten.

Registration was accomplished with a minimum of confusion, in spite of the unfamiliarity of the new building. The greater part of enrolling will be completed today and the Junior-Senior High School classes will begin to move on schedule tomorrow.

District Meeting For Scouters Oct. 2

Chairmen of the operating and districts of Boy Scouts of America committees of Eastern New Mexico Area council met at Roswell Friday evening for dinner and a round table discussion for the remainder of 1938.

Several plans were outlined and will be adopted for the area. The first area-wide scoutmasters' conference ever to be held in the Eastern New Mexico area council will be held in Roswell Sunday, Oct. 2, it was announced by P. V. Thorson, area executive.

Between fifty and seventy-five scoutmasters who have troops in this area are expected to attend the conference as guests of the council.

The tentative program provides that the visiting scoutmasters will attend church during the morning, and will hold a luncheon at noon. During the afternoon the conference will be held at a place yet to be announced, with various problems met in Scout work to be discussed by those attending. A supper will be held in the evening to close the conference.

Scouters from Artesia attending the meeting Friday were: E. B. Bullock, district commissioner, and Max Schulze and Frank Smith.

MORE GROWING PAINS ARE FELT

Artesia is growing. This fact we have pointed out before, mentioning the growing pains felt because of the housing problem. But not houses alone are needed. More school facilities must be made available in order to take care of the growth, which is steady and healthy.

Just occupied is the Junior-Senior High School, a splendid building, complete as far as it goes, but not large enough.

The Board of Education foresaw the need to expand and planned the present new building, but the members could not foresee that expansion need be as great as is now evident.

If a further building program is started at once, there is little doubt but that the Public Works Administration, in its present program, will approve a grant amounting to 45 per cent of the funds needed.

But to wait might be costly to the Artesia school district. This is the last big program of grants, many observers believe. When the present funds have become exhausted it may be as Nora Bayes, the actress, used to say: "That's all there is; there is no more."

So it is a matter of economy for citizens of the Artesia school district to decide right here and now that inasmuch as they will have to build, they might as well build before the situation becomes too pinched and they will have to put up the whole 100 per cent of the money.

Incidentally, every Artesian is paying his share of all of this building which is going on throughout the nation under the public works program. So we might as well get our share of it back, especially when we have an opportunity to place it on as important a project as a necessary school building.

The Board of Education has called an election for next Wednesday, Sept. 14, in order to vote bonds for the district's share of the building cost. Better plan now to vote "Yes."

NOT JUST "ANOTHER FARM MEETING"

Some people fail to get excited about the meeting to be held in Artesia Monday for cotton farmers of the Southwest. On the contrary, it should interest everybody, whether a farmer or not, for the domestic allotment plan and its workings affect farmer and business man alike.

Commissioner J. E. McDonald, who proposed the plan, is honoring this community by coming here. He knows more about the plan than anyone else, it is said. And from the bewildered way in which many discuss it, he knows more about it than everybody else put together. As we all depend somewhat on the cotton farmer, it stands to reason that what he will have to say will be of vital interest to all.

Hon. Hollis G. Watson, mayor of Artesia, realizing that the address of Mr. McDonald concerns everyone and that the meeting is to be more than just "another farm meeting," has called upon all citizens to observe the day as a holiday, closing their shops for part of the day and to attend the meeting. It is our duty to heed his judgment.

EDUCATION, NOT BOSSISM

How much better off would New Mexico be if politicians would spend the public money they waste for party control on schools and educational purposes. For instance, during this and other administrations we have had special calls and special elections, all of which have drained the state treasury of great sums. In the meantime schools have cried their eyes out for better trained teachers and better educational facilities. Leaders in the field claim that New Mexico is 20 to 30 years behind in its educational program. Instructors are inadequately paid. Transportation is poor at its best. In the majority of cases the buildings are out of date and unaccommodating. Yet, office seekers who pledge themselves to better education and who subconsciously are aware of the dire needs of the New Mexico school system, plunder public funds to promote their own selfish interests at the expense of the youth of the state. Not only do these politicians waste the money, but they set bad examples for these young ones to follow. Isn't it about time the people revolted against such? What price does the politician intend to pay for victory.—Taos Review.

GOOD, TOO

William Jennings Bryan, silver tongued orator, used to enjoy telling of a comment which he once overheard about himself during a Chautauqua season. A local speaker preceding Mr. Bryan talked for one hour and a half. So when Mr. Bryan finally got the floor, he simply raised his hands and pronounced the benediction. Later two old fellows were discussing the program.

"That was a great speech Mr. Blank made, even if it was too long," remarked one.

"Yep," agreed the other. Then, after a pause, he added, "That last feller that followed him was pretty good, too."—Boston Globe.

"Substance" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all societies and churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 11.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled."—(Matt. 5:6.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."—(Heb. 11:1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay. Truth, Life and Love are substance, as the Scriptures use this word in Hebrews: 'The substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.' Spirit, the synonym of Mind, Soul, or God, is the only real substance."

But the Transition from the Old to the New Style is Very Slow

Indian art, like about everything else these days, is going streamlined.

But the transition from the old to the new style is hardly perceptible. It's largely a matter of materials and treatment, according to Acee Blue Eagle, foremost among modern Indian artists.

Blue Eagle, a young Pawnee with the shoulders of a fullback, went through Albuquerque on a tour of New Mexico Indian Pueblos to stir up Indian interest in maintaining the purity of their art.

"Indian art was modern to begin with," he said, "but with adoption of white man's brushes and materials it's getting a streamlined, yet classic treatment which will enable the Indians to preserve their art forms for posterity."

Blue Eagle, whose murals hang throughout the Southwest and in the senate Indian committee room in Washington, has already hung his work in the blue ribbon show of the United States—the national exhibition of art.

"Modern Indian artists are making the natural evolution from the old arts to the modern—perfecting and modernizing the same art which was once displayed in the topees," he said.

"Stylized art is traditional among Indians. They were modern to start with. Yet now we modernize our art by using permanent materials, and still exclude foreign influences.

"Modern Indian art is the answer to the questions in generations to come: 'What were the Indians like?'"

"Our traditional art was executed on buffalo skins, on bark—all unpermanent. Now, with white man's materials, we can save the detail and the tradition."

Blue Eagle's murals, depicting both legend and activity, have the style of the modern illustrator, though retaining the traditional forms which are unmistakably Indian.

One piece of work, the legend of the "Sun Eagle," has all the streamlined appearance of a design by the ultra-modern designer of the automobile body of the future. But the style is the style of tradition.

Blue Eagle, a member of half a dozen "Who's Whos," including the "Who's Who of American Artists," gives these as the generally accepted outstanding Indian artists of the United States:

In the Southwestern or New Mexico group—Marina Lujan (Pop Chalee), a Taos, of Santa Fe; Julian Martinez, Ean Idefonso, husband of Marie Martinez, the pottery maker; Wopre, San Idefonso; and Allen Houser, an Apache, of Santa Fe.

In the Oklahoma or plains group—Stephen Mopope, a Kiowa, James Auchiah, Kiowa, Jack Hokeah, Kiowa; and himself.

Blue Eagle, a graduate of the University of Oklahoma, now heads the art department of Bacone College in Oklahoma.

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State," Gleaned from Many Sources

Information in abundance has been collected concerning the Inscription Rock, or El Morro, in Valencia County by research workers of the Federal Writers' Project, WPA, in compiling the State Guidebook and supplementary publications. The Rock of El Morro has been referred to by many writers as the "Crossroads of the Conquerors," and is more commonly known as "Inscription Rock." The signatures cut in the solid rock of El Morro form undying pages of the white man in the Southwest from the earliest times. The earliest carving is that of Don Juan Onate which is translated as follows: "Passed by here the officer Don Juan de Onate to the discovery of the sea of the south on the 16th of April, year 1605." De Vargas left a record of his passing in 1692. The Bishop of Durango carved the year of his journey in 1737. Kit Carson, the famous scout, and other great men have carved their names on the rock. The United States government has made Inscription Rock a National Monument and translated many of the inscriptions.

Reliable statistics to the contrary, business in New Mexico must be on the wane, or else merchants and other business men are not complying with the emergency school tax statute, because the sales tax funds are slipping. Leading officials of the New Mexico Educational Association plan to attend the Southwestern Association meeting in Hot Springs Sept. 30-Oct. 1, according to information received by Irvin P. Murphy, president of the guest group. Miss Margaret Kennedy, president of the state association, and R. J. Mullin, executive secretary, will be in Hot Springs from their homes in Las Vegas and Santa Fe, to represent the entire state in short addresses to delegates from the nine Southwestern counties, from which about 600 delegates are expected.

With 40,097,466 application for old-age insurance account numbers on file as of July 31, Lyman H. Brewer, manager of the Albuquerque office of the Social Security Board, said the board had certified for payment during the 25 working days of last month 14,990 old-age insurance claims amounting to $785,662. Brewer explained that more than half of the claims certified in July—8,893—were filed by the heirs or representatives of the deceased wage earners with single cash payments to these claimants averaging $50.39. The remainder of the claims were filed by workers who had reached the age of 65, their payments averaging $55.36.

A $40,739 improvement project for the White Sands National Monument and a $77,919 building to house the National Park Service regional offices at Santa Fe bore the approval of the Emergency Relief Administration. An average of 157 men will be employed on the Santa Fe project and the White Sands job will require 100 men for eight months.

Failure of oil royalties of the state to come up to the level of last year cut revenue of the state land office for August to $277,483, approximately $12,644 under the total for the same month of 1932. State oil royalties for August were $134,253 compared with $166,524 for August last year.

The Carlsbad municipal school district has been notified the PWA grant of $203,400 has been approved and the school building program for Carlsbad is now assured. The federal grant will be supplemented by a bond issue of $248,600 to finance the building program estimated to cost approximately $452,000. Board of education officials have made tentative plans to procure a tract of land just north of the present high school building provided for in the build-

"Kernels" Feature Missing This Week

Col. William B. Pistole, who is a patient at William Beaumont Hospital, Ft. Bliss, Tex., and who recently wrote he planned to be at home about the middle of the month, wrote again Friday that he was quite ill last week.

As the author of "Kernels from an Old Nut," Col. Pistole had hoped to deliver the copy for this week's column in The Advocate in person. However, because of his illness last week, the colonel did not write his article.

It is hoped this interesting feature will appear next week, not so much because of its contents, although it is always well worth reading, but because it will indicate Col. Pistole is again on the road to recovery and is able to write.

The building program also includes construction of a new building on the Edison grounds to house all elementary grades in the Edison district. Additional rooms will be constructed on both West and South schools.

A $22,360 WPA project has been approved for the improvement and landscaping of grounds at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell. The cost of the project will be borne by the federal government to the extent of $17,737 and by the institute in the amount of 4,623, according to present plans. The project was approved for a general improvement of grounds and extension of the present landscaping system, including the construction of some driveways, leveling, grading, fertilizing, and possibly some ornamental planting, at the north part of the institute grounds in the vicinity of the new stables, and is expected to contribute considerably to the appearance of this part of the institute campus.

Marginal Notes On World's Two Speed Maniacs

Dope Accumulated at Salt Flats
by Special Story Writer
Last Week

Interesting marginal note facts about the two speed demons and their high-powered automobiles were garnered last week at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, the scene of the runs, by Jack Beardwood, Associated Press feature writer. Included were the following:

The tires used on the two English racing cars after the world's land speed record cost $430 each. A complete new set is used on each run.

"Thunderbolt," Captain George E. T. Eyston's record holder at 345.49 miles per hour, uses eight on each trip. The two runs, necessary to establish a record, cost $6,880 for tires alone.

John Rhodes Cobb's car, "Railton," has but four wheels, hence the tire cost on his run is half that of Eyston's. Cobb, 38-year-old bachelor, technically takes the greatest chances because blowout of a single tire might mean disaster.

If a tire blew at high speed, the car would not immediately have difficulty. Speed of the car and the centrifugal force of the blown tire would keep it firm. The danger comes when the car slows down to 150 or 200 m. p. h. and the centrifugal force decreases.

Eyston is more highly-strung than Cobb. On race days he is up at 1 o'clock, supervising every detail of preparation. He fusses about "Thunderbolt" for five hours before he races.

Cobb is dubbed the "gentleman driver." He arises half an hour before the run and is driven to the starting pit. Without preliminaries, he climbs in the pit and guns his car.

Immediately prior to the runs it is almost impossible to talk to Eyston. He's too busy and nervous. When the test is over, the 41-year-old retired artillery captain becomes jocular and almost talkative.

Cobb, a wealthy fur broker, talks easily, both before and after the runs.

Eyston is thin-faced, academic and different. He has a sandy, tooth-brush type mustache. He's almost always dressed in brown dungarees.

Cobb has a large, red face. He's always well dressed, even drives in spotless white coveralls.

Despite the fact both men have been acquainted 20 years, they talk of each other only on race days.

Cobb, who clasps his hands behind his back in "Felix the Cat" fashion when he walks, watches Eyston run from the ground.

Eyston watched Cobb's run last week from an airplane.

Because spectators are held back 200 yards from the 13-mile straightaway, they experience a strange sensation when the cars roar through the measured mile at better than 300 m. p. h.; sound of the motors trails the car almost a quarter of a mile.

Of the two cars, "Thunderbolt" is the more sensational while speeding. The giant car, twice the weight of the 7,000-pound "Railton," looks half a block long. It's motors make far more noise than Cobb's.

Eyston's "Thunderbolt" is air and water cooled. Cobb's is cooled by cracked ice.

Gas consumption of each car is approximately eight gallons for the 26-mile round trip, 12 miles of which is taken in braking to a stop.

Navajo Capital Is Preparing for Fair

Window Rock, Ariz., the Navajo capital, is preparing for the tribe's first all-Navajo fair and rodeo, Sept. 16-18. Navajo women are polishing up their best turquoise finery and Hosten Navajo is training his best race horses for the event which is expected to be the greatest of its kind in the history of the Navajo tribe.

Meanwhile Navajo CCC enrollees are rushing the big fair ground plant to completion. Under construction for the last year, the grounds contain a half-mile track, natural amphitheater, spacious arts and crafts building, concession, typical Indian school building and livestock barn designed to accommodate 400 animals.

Numerous hogans dot the landscape. Among these is the ceremonial hogan which was built under the direction of the medicine men who will present the nine-day "Male Mountain Chant," a ceremonial seldom witnessed by the white man. Fair audiences will be permitted to witness the last two nights of this event.

The tribal fair was conceived by tribal leaders in their program to encourage improved livestock practice, range management and superior weaving and silversmithing. It is estimated that more than 10,000 Navajos will converge at the fair grounds.

FARMING IT . . . BY WILLARD BOLTE

One-half of the fine old dairy-barn shown at the top now houses five floors of leghorn pullets—that never set foot to the ground. And the cows in the other half have to hustle to make as much money for the owner.

By covering the sides and back of range shelters with cheap sisal paper, as shown in the center sketch, they can be used for housing breeders in the spring and fattening stock in the fall. The paper is removed to provide ventilation in summer.

Antelope Season in This Area Will Be From Sept. 29 to Oct. 2

SANTA FE—The office of the State Game Department has announced the state's fifth antelope season will be open soon in several different areas and a total of 455 permits will be issued.

In the Southeast New Mexico area the season will be Sept. 29 to Oct. 2, inclusive, and 280 permits in this area will be issued as follows:

Flying H. ranch, 160; Mossman ranch, 50; Minicke ranch, 30; J. P. White, Jr., ranch, 25, and Joe J. Lane ranch, 25.

The season on the Engle and Magdalena-Beaverhead area is Oct. 6 to 8, inclusive. A total of 75 permits will be issued at Engle and 100 in the Magdalena-Beaverhead area.

The warden explained that applications of persons who did not kill antelope last year will be given preference this year over those who did get an antelope in the 1937 season. Applicants should specify whether they want to hunt in the Southeastern area, known to the department as the Roswell area, or in the Engle or Magdalena-Beaverhead areas, for a drawing will be held separately for each area if more applications than the authorized number of permits are received.

All applications should be in letter form, accompanied by a $5 check or money order, separately for each application.

The warden said no regular employee of the State Game Department or wife of such employee or member of the game commission will be permitted to receive a permit until all other applications have been taken care of. Applications must be on file in the office of the state game warden not later than 9 a. m., Sept. 19.

into the ground—then you make a bed of straw around the base of the post to protect the beans from dirt and moisture—then you build up a narrow stack of beans. This idea works just as well for curing soybean hay in wet weather, too.

Two North Dakota farmers bought a discarded 18-foot steam boiler—had it split lengthwise with an acetylene torch—and now each of them has a stock tank that will not freeze. The concrete foundation has a smoke flue through its entire length. A fire is built in a firebox at the right end and the smoke pipe pulls the smoke and heat under the tank.

Names Soon Must Be on Poll Books In Order to Vote

Legal voters who are not registered in the poll books or those in doubt as to their registration should investigate at once, as a voter must have been registered forty days before the November election in order to vote at that time, and there remain only a few days in which to make certain.

Persons so affected should turn in at once their names, addresses and precincts to their central committee chairmen, or they may leave their names at The Advocate office and they will be passed on to the proper authorities.

The names of persons whose names do not already appear on the poll books will be taken before the district judge, who can order them placed on the books.

The chairmen of the several committees will have the right to challenge the names of voters, the court acting as a referee as to whether they shall remain or be purged.

Mrs. H. J. Stromberg of Ardmore, Okla., a sister of Mrs. Sam Williams and daughter of Mrs. T. C. Woods, arrived the first of the week with her son, Billy, who has entered the N. M. M. I. in Roswell. Tuesday morning Mrs. Stromberg, accompanied by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Woods and Miss Annadele Williams, drove to Odessa, Tex., for a few days' visit with another son, Stanley Stromberg, and Mrs. Stromberg.

Money in the Bank

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

"Feed in the silo is like money in the bank—safe as long as you leave it there and subject to checking out whenever you need it." That's what thousands of trench silo users will tell you after a year's experience. There are now known to be about 11,000 of these "money in the bank" ditches in Texas and probably that many more in the four adjoining states, for which figures are not available at the moment. They range in size from 6,000 tons capacity down to those just large enough to feed one or two family cows, the tiny ditch just as efficient for its purpose as the huge canyons holding feed for thousands of beef steers.

The Southwest probably has the greatest crop of feed, both grain and roughage, in history. Many farmers who diverted land from cotton or wheat into other crops, will have more feed than the livestock now on their farms can use in one season. If stored above ground as dry forage its palatability and feeding value gradually deteriorates, but if properly stored in a trench silo it will be as good ten years from now—if it should be that long before the next drouth or hard winter—as it is a month after filling the silo.

The trench silo can be constructed with little or no cash outlay. Any dirt-moving tool from a spade to a drag-line will do the work. It can be dug in a hillside or on the level, any length, depth or width to suit the conditions and the needs of the owner. If rock is too close to the surface or ground water too high for the desired depth, the dirt excavated can be piled up to raise the walls above the ground level, and increase the depth of the trench sufficiently to insure good packing of the ensilage, which is essential to proper curing and keeping of the material.

Any crop can be ensiled, even after the grain is mature and the stalks partially dried out. The ideal condition of course is while stalks and foliage are still green and succulent, but if drouth or frost gets in its work before the crop can be ensiled, adding water will supply the deficiency of moisture and make ensilage of dry, or partially dry, material.

Corn, sweet sorgo and grain sorghums carry sufficient sugars and easily convertible starches to insure the fermenting process which turns the material into ensilage. Sudan grass and the legumes require the addition of some fermenting material, and black strap molasses, a few gallons to the ton of ensilage, will do the job.

Crops may be successfully ensiled in whole stalks or an ensilage cutter may be used. In either case success or failure depends on pack-

An oil painting, "The Maguay," by Wayne Hornbaker, has been hung in the office of the artist's father, W. R. Hornbaker. The picture, which was entered in the New Mexico 1938 art exhibit, won second place in the exhibits of its class.

"The Maguay," a typical subject of the Southwest, is one of rare beauty and color combination. Wayne, a home boy who started out to study medicine, changed to art several years ago and is making a place for himself in the art circles of New Mexico.

What is—

The Practice of Medicine ?

- (1) A Careful study of a Patient to determine the cause of that Patient's discomfort, whether mental or physical.
- (2) The application of whatever seems best, based on the training and experience of the Doctor, to relieve the cause—whether it be medicine, surgery, counsel or other treatment.

These two descriptive paragraphs sound simple enough, but if you will stop and think them over carefully, and analyze their full meaning, you will realize they cover a tremendous amount of territory in human lives.

Woman's Club Opens the Season With Formal Tea

Club women in Artesia are looking forward to the club activities planned for the fall and winter after three months' vacation. On account of the uncertain weather the garden party, which was announced for the opening date of the Woman's Club was changed to a formal tea, at the home of Mrs. Roy Langston from 3 to 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Large white floor baskets filled with gorgeous spikes of pink and white gladioli furnished the correct decorative note for this occasion.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Langston, hostess, and officers of the club: Mrs. John Lanning, president; Mrs. Jeff Hightower, second vice president; Mrs. E. J. Foster, recording secretary; Mrs. Morrison Livingston, treasurer; Mrs. Mark A. Corbin, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Martin Yates, Jr., custodian.

A violin ensemble composed of six members, with Mrs. I. L. Spratt at the piano, furnished lovely music throughout the tea hours. Those playing were Mrs. Ramon Welborne, an artist who rendered two violin numbers on the violin, Misses Annadele Williams, Jane Shugart, Shirley Bartlett and Helen Louise Wells and Lewis W. Story.

A lace cloth was used on the tea table, the centerpiece was an oblong crystal bowl of pink roses and baby's breath reflected in an oblong mirror. Tall white lighted tapers in double crystal holders shed a soft glow over the lovely table. Mrs. J. M. Story, a past president, and Mrs. C. R. Blocker, secretary of the state federation, presided at the handsome double silver service during the first hour and Mrs. S. S. Ward and Mrs. C. E. Robinson presided during the second hour. Those serving were Meses. D. C. Blue, Howard Williams, John Rowland, Arthur Paton, Ben Pior and H. A. Hamill.

The 1938-39 year books with turquoise blue covers and a picture of the club house tipped in on the second page were presented each of more than sixty guests who attended. Mrs. Grady Booker, chairman of the program committee, will give her report on the year's programs at the next regular meeting.

EVERYBODY in town knew that Sally Frogg had set her cap for Job Hobson, and, what is more, everybody knew that she knew that everybody knew what she was doing. "I surmised it when I first saw her sailing down the street in that fancy get-up of hers," Susan Hickson, proprietor of the little notion store and, incidentally, collector and circulator of gossip, confided to me.

Miss Frogg was a mild enough spinster, not very attractive in appearance, though it was recorded somewhere in the town chronicles that she was once the belle of that district.

Now, Job was not a remarkable bachelor, either for looks or intelligence. He kept the grocery store at the corner of Main street and Peace alley—the sort of place where all the neighborhood cats assembled for a midnight rally. Job lived in three rooms over the store.

But though Job lived in a state of chaos, though his aprons were never too clean, though he was obese and short of breath and flat footed, nevertheless the neighbors loved him, and did not want anything tragic to happen to him. So some kind-hearted person, with Job's interest at heart, decided to warn him.

"Yes, I've felt it for some time," Job told Mrs. Busybody. "It's a funny thing the women can't leave me alone. Now, I don't see what they see in me, and I'm sure I don't encourage them. Darn provoking, I call it."

Although Job had said that he never encouraged Sally, nevertheless he was never known to refuse an invitation to ride in her new flivver. But, though Sally did her best to arouse his admiration with smiles and well chosen attire, and though the flivver did rattling good work in shaking him to life, yet neither succeeded in arousing any emotion in that self-satisfied Job.

Then Job's niece arrived in town. She proved to be a fiery-headed flapper and immediately after she arrived at Job's place she decided that his rooms needed a cleaning, and a cleaning they got.

And, to add to his woes, the men folks grinded in passing and alluded to the house cleaning. Supper time came, but the cleaning went on. So Job feasted on cold beans and buns and thought himself the saddest man in the world.

Then there was the opening of the new movie house. They had advertised a sensational movie as a feature—an eight reel affair which portrayed more misery in one short hour than one could possibly live through in nine lives. Myriads of people passed Job as he sat on his steps dejected and forlorn.

He might have stood it all if Miss Hickson had not passed by and asked if he was having his place cleaned. Then she asked him if he were going to the movies.

"No," he replied, "I'm too old for that stuff."

"Well, Sally, I think, is going." "Are you going, too?" he asked Susan. To which she answered that she was going with Lilly Prinkle.

Then Job thought of Sally. Perhaps he might accompany her to the movies. It would do no harm and it would sort of put that Susan Hickson woman in her place. So that was how he called on Sally. He confided his troubles to her. She was sympathetic. She was gushing. So he had had no supper! She jumped up.

"Now, Job, you must be hungry." And she disappeared into the kitchen.

"Make yourself comfortable," she called from the kitchen. "Take off your shoes, if you wish, and smoke your pipe. Tilt back in your chair and have a good time. If you want anything, why sing out."

Job did make himself comfortable in Sally's cosy little house. In fact, he made himself so very comfortable that he decided he had something important to say to Susan Hickson.

That night, before returning to his three rooms, which now really resembled kitchen, bedroom and den, he knocked on Miss Hickson's door.

"Job Hobson," called the spinster from above, "what do you mean coming around here waking up a good-living woman? I'm in my nightgown and cap, and I shan't stir from here."

"No need to," called Job from below. "I just want to tell you that I intend to marry Sally Frogg tomorrow morning as soon as I can get the license. I thought you would like to distribute the news tonight. It's not midnight yet, and I think you can wake folks up. But remember, get this straight: We won't be married before tomorrow noon. And I think that's all. Good night."

Oilcloth in the Making
Oilcloth is a thick canvas coated on both sides with thick oil paint. First the canvas is passed through liquid glue, etc., pressed by heavy rollers, dried, and rubbed with pumice-stone. The paint is applied in several coats, the final coat being in a pattern. The quality of the oilcloth is governed by the number of coats of paint.

The daily walking trips through the Carlsbad Caverns were cut Tuesday from 3 to 2 as the tourist season wanes. The trips will be at 9:15 and 10:30 o'clock. The regular elevator trip will continue at 12:30 o'clock.

The 9:15 o'clock walking trip will be retained during the remainder of September and as much longer as travel warrants. A total of nearly 115,000 persons visited the caverns the last 100 days. It is expected the total for the year will reach 200,000, the figure up to the present being about 165,000.

Play-Off Goes To Mann Drug Last Evening

The Mann Drug softball team beat the Oilers last evening 8 to 9 in the final of three play-off games, to win the Artesia Softball League championship.

The play-off was necessary as the result of a tie at the end of the regular season. Of the three games, the Oilers won 12 to 6 Wednesday evening of last week. Mann Drug won the second game last Thursday evening 8 to 4, again to tie up the standings. That game, however, was called in the sixth inning because of rain.

The third game was to have been played Friday, but rain again interfered, as it did almost every night since until last evening.

For the season the two teams split honors, for the Oilers were champions for the first half season. That team led the early part of the second half schedule, until the Mann Drug team found its stride and crept up, tying at the end of the regular schedule.

From now on, any games played this year will be incidental, as it is getting too late in the season. Likewise the light poles and lights are to be moved to the football field in preparation for the high school games.

El Abogado

De Los

Mexicanos

Por Constantino Gonzales

"A todos los niños Mexicanos quiero suplicarles que estudien el Idioma Inglés practicándolo en vuestros hogares para que se acostumbre a pensar en Inglés y así cuando el maestro en la escuela les explique, entienda lo que dice porque piensan en Inglés como el maestro al explicarles piensa en Inglés." Muchos niños Mexicanos no agarran pronto la idea del maestro cuando este les enseña, porque ellos tienen que poner en Español lo que la maestra les enseña en Inglés. Por eso que se les hace más duro aprender los libros de texto porque no están acostumbrados a pensar en Inglés y para pensar en Inglés tienen que hablarlo entre sí mientras juegan, en sus casas y por donde quiera que van que hablen el Inglés ya que es el idioma de nuestro país y es lo que constituirá a los niños de hoy en verdaderos ciudadanos Americanos si hablan bien el idioma de su patria para que así puedan disfrutar de los derechos que la nación concede a todos sus hijos.

Aquí en los Estados Unidos el idioma que se enseña es el Inglés y los niños que no estudian Inglés crecerán sin idioma porque aunque se habla algo el Español, sin embargo no se estudia y un idioma que no se estudia y se cultiva deja de ser idioma degenerando en dialecto. La persona que carece de un idioma no puede expresarse y así cuando en el día de mañana los que hoy son niños y quieren expresarse ante la sociedad no podrán porque no han aprendido siquiera un idioma con que expresarse.

Por nuestro bien hablen en Inglés cuando juegan y en vuestras casas y que vuestros padres os ayuden porque en hacerlo están ayudando vuestro porvenir. Si no hablan el Idioma de vuestro país como podrán ocupar puestos del gobierno sin conocer el idioma de la nación?

Mucho Que Comer El Proximo Lunes

McDonald, a Artesia el próximo Lunes casi nadie trabajara ya que ese día no se necesita trabajar para comer porque habra mucha comida gratis pues los Algodoneros de Artesia obsequiaran esa comida gratis dos por de los discursos pronunciados por el Comisionado McDonald y el Senador Carl A. Hatch. Los discursos seran en el City Park comenzando a las 10 y despues sera servida la comida.

Los fines de la visita de estos distinguidos personajes es para tratar de los prestamos de los algodones y como esta es una region algodonera se espera que casi todo Artesia ha de estar de fiesta.

Por El Departamento De Salubridad

Hemos recibo unos datos muy interesantes sobre la salubridad publica del estado de New Mexico y como creemos que esto afecte a Artesia y al Condado de Eddy, publicamos, que por el Departamento de Sanidad se han comprado 20 casos de sifilis en el Condado de Eddy. Muchos no sabran lo que es la terrible enfermedad de la sifilis y por eso debemos dar alguna advertencia aqui sobre el peligro de contraer esta tan terrible enfermedad la cual una vez contraida jamas se cura y se transmite de los padres a los hijos hasta la tercera o cuarta generacion.

La sifilis es una enfermedad que proviene de llevar una vida inmunda o prostituida. Los que en esta vida andan mal adquieren enfermedades venereas las que enfermedades venereas las que enferman a la sangre sin que haya remedio para purificarla de esa impureza. Afecta todo el organismo humano esa enfermedad y de una manera terrible sobre el cerebro y causando el cerebro el asiento de la mente, de ahí que muchos de los casos de locura asi como crimenes son producto de una mente degenerada a causa de la enfermedad cerebral debido a la sifilis. Hay hijos que heredan de sus padres una sangre viciada que los pone en estado de convulsiones muchos veces y así se ven a las siatires que sufren por el pecado de los padres muchas veces. No siempre son los padres directamente responsables pues muchos casos es transmitida de los visabuelos a los viznietos y así se ven las proporciones que alcanza esta terrible plaga. Todo hijo tiene derecho a heredar de sus padres tanto un cuerpo como mente saludable con que valerse en las luchas por la existencia pero por cierto que no reciben esta herencia los hijos de aquellos padres que por llevar una vida inmunda, adulterina y prostituida antes o despues de casarse, adquieren esta enfermedad incurable. Bien harian los jovenes en cuidarse de no pasar por los lugares de putrefaccion asi como evitar las malas campanias que les inducen a una vida degenerada.

En muchos de los estados federados de las naciones, se practica el examen medico asi como un analisis de la sangre antes de permitir la union marital de dos seres. Eso se hace para combatir el avance de esa terrible enfermedad que muchas veces las primeras victimas son las pobres esposas pagando con una muerte segura y prematura o una cadena de enfermedades que arrastran durante la calamitosa existencia terrenal.

Se adquiere tambien muchas veces esa enfermedad sin haber practicado el degradado vicio de ilicitas uniones, solo por el contacto de la persona afectada, por usar las mismas ropas, tohallas, inodoro que haya sido usada por una persona que tiene esa afeccion. Tambien por verer agua por la misma vasija y demas utensilios por lo que hay necesidad de mayor cuidado ya que una vez adquirido esa enfermedad no hay nada que la cura y hasta va carcomiendo los huesos del inviduo como el comezan que taladra las vigas de una casa asi va taladrando todo el cuerpo por lo que no es raro ver casos de personas propensas a quebrarse las piernas o brazos a cualquier movimiento.

Segun el informe por el Estado de New Mexico 20, casos de sifilis penitencienen al Condado de Eddy mientras que en todo el Estado son 32 casos por el mes de Agosto hasta el día 20 del corriente. En todo el Estado por el año actual y hasta la fecha son repotados de sifilis 798, tuberculosis 518 casos, fiebre escarlatina 465(gonorrea 263, Tifodea 94 y diarrea 45. Mas Bambinos

Que Bambinas

Del Condado de Lea, reportan que hay muchos mas nacimientos de niños que de niñas y si Uncle Sam pienso como Mussoline, diria: Hace falta que las mamas den a la patria muchos "bambinos." Cuando viene una guerra, las mayores martires son las madres a las que se les quita el derecho que tienen sobre sus hijos despues de haberlos tenido y criado con miles de sacrificios se los arrebataban llevandolos al frente de una guerra caprichosa asemejanza de aquellos padres que quemaban a sus hijos en sacrificio al dios Moloc o los arrojaban a los cocodrilos del Nilo. Aquellos eran padres salvajes que no sabian mejor que sacrificar a los hijos en oleocausto a sus dioses para aplacarles la ira pero que diremos de los hombres que hoy se tienen por muy listos y promueven guerras con el fin de enriquecer, sacrificando en estas guerras caprichosas la flor de la juventud. No se concluyen estos hombres de los tratados de millones de madres que se despiden de sus hijos a los que mas nunca vuelven a ver siendo despedazados en los campos de batalla por la metralla de los canones. Oh si las madres vieran como mueren aquellos sus hijos del alma que un día ellas abrazaron contra su pecho mientras que los alimentaban con la sabia que Dios les daba! Aca y alla saltan los pedazos de aquella madre que alla en el lejano hogar vela las horas de la noche en oracion rogando a Dios por su hijo alque algun día espera otra vez ver con sus ojos pero esta ilusion se desvaneca cuando un día recibe una nota que dice: Murio en campo de accion. El luto empana a la madre hasta que va a la tumba para contemplar alla en el cielo al hijo mimado cuya cabezita tierna un día habia acariciado cubriendola de besos.

Carceleros Malos

En Philadelphia nos dan la noticia hoy de que unos carceleros inhumanos encerraron a unos pobres presos entre paredes donde habia instalados radiadores de vapor, los que fueron abiertos hasta poner como un horno aquel lugar causando la muerte de tres presos en medio de una angustia terrible. Otros presos que sobrevivieron al calor testificaron lo terrible de las torturas a que fueron sometidos haciendo responsables a dos de los carceleros, a los que ya miran las gentes no como seres humanos sino como a bestias calvajes porque aqui se le ocurre semejante cosa de meter a las personas en un horno así? Solo hace eso el diablo que engañadas lleva a las multitudes al horno inferno pero eso es despues de esta vida mas parece ser que algunos quieren quitarle el negocio a satan o le quieren hacer competencia aqui en este mundo y como las gentes no estan conformes con esos estribillos diabolicos, ya se ha hecho la investigacion procesando a estos carceleros diabolicos.

No todos los que van a la carcel

AN ISSUE of the Pennsylvania Game News told about one Tom Price of Slatington, Pa., who one day saw a big goshawk hovering close to earth. He shot it and, to his great astonishment, down came not only the hawk but also a rabbit, which the bird was apparently carrying off to its nest. Price took both the hawk and rabbit home with him and now, perhaps justifiably, "claims the altitude record for shooting bunnies."

son gente mala pues muchos son sentenciados sin evidencia y solo por circustancias. Tambien hay que recordar que algunos de los hombres a quienes el mundo mas debe fueron a la carcel sin otra culpa mas que la de proclamar la verdad. San Pablo el apostol, fue muchas veces a la carcel hasta morir en una carcel por predicar la religion cristiana que antes el mismo habia perseguido en ignorancia pues siendo un sabio en otras materias era un ignorante en la religion cristiana hata que el Maestro, resucitado se le revelo en el camino de Damasco.

Cuantos hay así hoy día que persiguen al Señor pero lo hacen en ignorancia de Dios y por los tales hay que decir: Padre perdonalos porque no saben lo que dicen. Galileo, el ilustre matematico fisico y astronomico Italiano tambien fue otro sabio a quien encarcelaron porque proclamo muchas verdades cientificas que los de aquel entonces no quisieron aceptar. Le sacaron los ojos haciendolo abjurar de las verdades por el descubiertas y aunque lo tenían por un hereje sin embargo hoy el mundo reconoce las verdades por las que Galileo murio. Que seria del mundo si aquellos valerosos hombres y mujeres quienes nurieron quemados en hogueras y en carceles tambien fueran reconocidos por el descubiertas y aunque lo tenían por un hereje sin embargo hoy el mundo reconoce las verdades por las que Galileo murio. Que seria del mundo si aquellos valerosos hombres y mujeres quienes nurieron quemados en hogueras y en carceles tambien fueran reconocidos por el descubiertas y aunque lo tenían por un hereje sin embargo hoy el mundo reconoce las verdades por las que Galileo murio.

A estos carceleros de Philadelphia y como estos a todos los que asi se portan que se les aplique la misma receta que ellos practican al estilo de Torquemada.

The "Demons" Battle "Bogeys" to Scoreless Tie in Softball Game

(Editor's grudging, jealous comment: The game was pretty much as predicted in these columns last week, but "Camera Eye" Cole—as nearly as can be learned—insisted on writing a news story instead of a cashier's check. So here it is.)

A vast throng of yelling, howling rabid softball fans packed and jammed the Artesia softball park almost to capacity last Thursday evening when the "Demons," a team managed by Josephu (Call Me Toots) Hamann, played an 11-to-11 tie with the "Bogeys," a team managed by "B. V. D." Bolton, for the benefit of the milk fund. The game was called at this tie stage due to lack of time involved before the playing of the second contest between the Mann Drug and the Oilers teams for the softball championship of Artesia.

Both aggregations were composed of former collegiate and big league baseball and marble stars, who portrayed in an unprecedented manner the technical and scientific points of softball as it should not be played. The milling, cheering, booming mass of hundreds of spectators, whose enthusiasm soared to lofty pinnacles of frenzied excitement, were presented with a sight that is seldom displayed to the followers of any sport.

David Gray, the proud father of the stellar pitcher for the local high school aggregation, was in the box for the "Demons" and clearly showed his young son how softball was formerly pitched. Marvin (Mountaineer) Jackson was on the receiving end of this battery and occasionally caught the ball.

Luke Monschke, the former screwball artist from Dallas, did the twirling for the "Bogeys" and forced "Piccolo Pete" Naylor to the utmost to handle him behind the bat.

A feature of the game was the tie records of the opposing pitchers. Each man fanned three, allowed seven hits and neither walked a batter. The main reason for this record was due to the eager and unexpressed desire of the batters to hit. They would strike at anything within a radius of twelve feet of home base.

The game was marred by a serious collision in deep center field when "Pepper" Mahone came into bodily contact with the massive light pole in an attempt to garner the horseshoe as it soared into the outfield bleachers for a home run. The ball was propelled by the powerful bat of Manager Joe Hamann. After the catastrophe, an examination of the pole was made and the verdict was that it was yet suitable to maintain the light that was placed upon it. The player's pride was injured to a rather startling extent but the other portions of his anatomy were unblemished.

Very few errors were made intentionally, but the inclement and stormy weather proved a sentimentally excellent alibi for the many and numerous muffed balls. The initial ball tossed over the plate by either pitcher was met with a vehement and ardent swing by "Hizzoner" Watson, who scooted around the bases like a crippled ground squirrel. However, he failed to perform in the field as his mayoralty duties called him away. A voters' non-partisan committee has been appointed and he was not attending to civic duties, but was off on some personal gratification instead. His presence in the lineup of the "Bogeys" very likely would have resulted in a victory for the opponents instead of the tie game that was the result of this tumultuous contest.

No riots, fracas or unnecessary roughness required the attention of Chief of Police Floore or his thirty-two deputies, appointed for the game. However, Fire Chief Richards was kept in readiness with fire hose and a corps of anxious hosemen if the necessity arose. Immediately following the game, both managers simultaneously challenged each other for a return engagement of any type or any time with any weapons. Football was taboo, as the "Bogeys," with such hefties as P. V. (Waterworks) Morris, W. E. (Runt) Markey and Lewis Story, the "Arkansas Squirrel," would have the weight advantage. Therefore, a second battle has been scheduled for a later date, to be announced if it is possible to get the city papas to consent. If not, a bull fight or a badger fight will be scheduled in some vacant lot. If a softball game is played, the managers are exceedingly anxious to inform the public that many new stars will perform.

Many of the players scheduled to participate in the athletic field controversy were unable to appear in this last game due to the unrelenting effect the damp weather would have on their rheumatism. Also some did play that will not be fully recovered in time to again display their lack of ability and agility.

Much credit goes to "Mississippi" Roberts and "Conoco" Roberts for their generous efforts in umpiring the contest. This little matter aided materially in keeping the time limit to a minimum.

Methodist Bishop of New Mexico Will Be Honored Guest in Artesia

The guest of honor at a banquet next Wednesday evening at the annex of the Methodist Church will be Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the New Mexico conference, Methodist Episcopal Church. It will be the first time in a number of years a Methodist bishop has visited here. The banquet, at 7 o'clock, will be followed at 8 o'clock by an address at the church auditorium by the bishop, to which the public is invited.

Besides the Artesia members, the pastors and other representatives of the Methodist Churches at Lake Arthur, Cottonwood and Hope are expected to attend. The Rev. C. C. Hightower of Roswell, presiding elder of the Roswell district, also is expected.

Bishop Holt, pastor for twenty years of St. John Church in St. Louis, was selected for his present office at a general conference of the church in Birmingham, Ala., last May. His headquarters are in Dallas, Tex.

He recently was president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. Bishop Holt, an outstanding scholar and preacher, is in great demand as a lecturer and speaker. Prior to coming to Artesia on his trip, Bishop Holt will visit Pecos, Carlsbad and Hobbs. From here he is to go to Roswell. He will return to Roswell Oct. 20 to preside at the New Mexico annual conference and will assign pastors to their churches for the following year at that time.

Bishop Holt will arrive in Artesia Monday and will be a guest over night of the Rev. John S. Rice, pastor of the local Methodist Church, and Mrs. Rice.

It took two trucks, two lengths of rope and the services of half a dozen rangers to get a greedy Yellowstone Park bear and a milk can pried apart. One truck was attached by rope to the bear and one to the milk can. A tug-of-war ensued until the bear's head was freed.

Here's what folks eat when they want fish for supper: Middle and North Atlantic, cod, haddock and mackerel; South Atlantic and Gulf Coasts, croaker, mullet, red snapper, sea trout and shrimp; Pacific Coast, halibut, salmon, lingcod, crabs and oysters; Middle West, catfish, lake herring, lake trout, the pike perches, and whitefish. Those are the fish most popular in the areas named, says the Fisheries Bureau.

A man with eyes that are slowly turning to stone held the interest of the western assembly of the College of Syntonic Optometry, in convention at Pasadena, Calif. Identity of the 31-year-old man was withheld and he was referred to only as "Mr. X." Although there have been seventy-one known cases in which some part of the victim's body became ossified, Dr. Russell E. Simpson of Pasadena said, this is the first one known in which the eyes were affected. The turning-to-stone disease, he said, results from over activity of the para-thyroid gland which causes transfer of calcium from the bones to soft tissues of the body.

W. T. Hunt, of West Chester, Pa., went fishing—and caught a dog. Hunt was baiting the upper hook of his line when a stray dog became snarled on the other hook. The dog took off a hundred yards of line in the first dash but in a few minutes Hunt reeled his "catch" to hand, more frightened than injured.

What prehistoric animal left his mammoth horn where the B. H. Blakeney ranch now reposes in Ector County, Texas, is puzzling the ranchmen. The horn, 8 or 10 inches in diameter and about five feet long, was found five feet below the earth's surface by men who were constructing a tank in the Blakeney pasture. The horn, now softer than the dirt in which it was resting, lay on top of a layer of caliche or chalky soil. The blade of the bull-dozer, being driven by one of Jackson Parker's crew, split the horn from end to end and the workman discovered it when he drove back through the excavation. It crumbled badly when removed from the ground.

Texas has moved to eliminate excessive gasoline stocks by ordering state-wide Saturday oil field shutdowns. The railroad commission directed that wells should be idle on Saturdays and Sundays through September. There have been no Sunday operations since January 15. The basic production allowance for the state was set at 1,233,248 barrels daily, about 12 per cent under the Bureau of Mines recommendation of 1,398,600 barrels.

A dilapidated truck that cost F. J. Pass of Kalgooie, Australia, $60 brought him a fortune. The truck stalled and while repairing it, Pass picked up a lump of gold-bearing quartz. Pass staked a claim near the spot and shortly thereafter the Goldfields Australian Development Company took out a $60,000 option on his land.

A Funny Sort o' Feelin'
by Lawrence Hawthorne

There's a funny sort o' feelin' in my heart the past few days
An', somehow, I can't decide jus' what it means;
It's a feelin' that you get when leavin' old, familiar ways
An' beginnin' life again in dif'ent scenes.

I can tell that Mother's findin' somethin' queer to think about,
An' the boys 're kind o' restless like an' queer.
Tain't becu'z we're feelin' homesick, for there ain't the faintest doubt
That we all are mighty glad at bein' here.

Mebbe we're jus' realizin' that, in makin' moves like this,
Life is givin' us a chance t' leave behind
Habits that ain't very useful, thoughts we'd surely never miss,
Traits o' character that ain't the choices' kind.

Mebbe we're jus' gettin' closer to the things we're yearnin' for,
That will make our daily livin' more worth-while—
God's outdoors t' laugh an' play in, flowers at our own front door,
An' some kindly friends t' greet us with a smile.

There's a funny sort o' feelin' in my heart the past few days
An', somehow, I can't decide jus' what it means;
It's a feelin' that you get when leavin' old, familiar ways
An' beginnin' life again in dif'ent scenes.

Trail Class Will Be Open to Horse Owners at Fair

Here's a chance for cowboys of New Mexico to show the world they have the best trail horses in the Southwest. On Wednesday afternoon of the Eastern New Mexico State Fair, which will be held in Roswell Oct. 5-8, the trail class will be one of the features of the show. The horse owner that can travel with proper equipment the artificial trail made in the arena and do it best in the opinion of the judges gets the award.

The equipment will be simply a stock saddle and all other appendances suitable for the trail. The gait will include walk, dog trot and lope over artificial obstacles simulating trail conditions. Judging will be on the quality and completeness of the equipment and the manner of going of the horse and ability to stay.

Many cowboys and ranchers entering this event contemplate showing their horses in later events designed further to show their abilities as cowponies and as riders, events such as cowpony races and stake races, which are explained in the special catalog of afternoon events issued by the association.

From the spectators' standpoint there will be entirely new features which will stir up a lot of interest. Launching out into an enlarged program with a wider appeal, the fair management this year is determined to present each afternoon entertainment that will appeal to young and old, business man and farmer, stockman and professional man and especially to the ladies. Parquay Store—izona, Utah, Nevada and California, is now offering shares in Artesia.

C. T. Rice, originator of the Parquay plan and sales manager for the Parquay Royalty Company, explained that ownership of shares in his company does not purchase ownership in any Parquay food store, and that Jackson-Horne Grocery Company owns the exclusive franchise rights here. His company, Mr. Rice said, was formed to operate on royalties, after the manner of the Piggly-Wiggly stores.

The Parquay plan embraces three principal merchandising points and advantages, Mr. Rice said: Controlled parking, 500 per cent more display and 300 per cent more ease to the shopper. Several patents are involved.

It embodies a new step in food merchandising, featuring a continuous display of merchandise and the increased ease and speed to shoppers because of the convenience of parking and the accessibility of entrance and exit and the arrangement of the store.

When Mr. Rice was asked when Jackson-Horne would open the store in Artesia, he said he was uninformed, that his only mission here was to offer shares in the royalty company to consumers. And his company is so set up that no one person can own more than 25 per cent of the stock.

The Parquay Royalty Company has set out to develop food stores exclusively under the ultra-modern plan, he said. No other type of business has been considered, although other interests have investigated the new type of store. And chain interests have been given a deaf ear, he said.

cedure. Each homemaking student is to try to meet her needs through the medium of home projects. Each project, so far as possible, will be student planned.

The students will be trained for development of interests, appreciations, judgments, skills and ideals in all phases of homemaking. No final decisions can be made in any plan of homemaking because of a continuous state of changes due to changes in the social and economic world.
Miss Luther pointed out that an understanding rather than facts will be the outcomes sought. There will be no long periods of time spent on any one phase of home-making, but there will be enough time supplied for each subject upon which the student may form a foundation to continue the study and practice of his chosen subjects in the home today or in the future. Cooperation of parents and other community members will be greatly appreciated, Miss Luther said.

rehabilitation offices immediately following a school for all committee members in Amarillo.

Commenting upon the tenancy program, Mr. Hill said: "Although the program moved cautiously in its first year, it was placed upon a fundamentally sound basis for further expansion, and the satisfaction of Congress with the manner in which the program was carried out during the first year, was emphasized when they appropriated $25,000,000 for the second year of operation, two and one-half times the amount appropriated the first year.

"This sum will enable a somewhat larger distribution of the benefits enabling an additional number of tenants to acquire farms this year. It is hoped that the program can be expanded more rapidly at an early date. Approximately 60 or more loans will be made this year in the five-state area of region 12 and will provide a sufficient demonstration to base a future program upon.

"It is everywhere apparent that the proportion of farmers who are tenants has increased at a rapid rate. It is considered imperative that some solid program be adopted to enable worthy farm tenants, and especially the young tenant farm families, to become farm owners, not so much on a commercial large scale production basis, but as self-sustaining, home owning citizens.

"The four-state advisory committee has repeatedly urged that the Farmer's Home Corporation, which has been proposed several times to Congress by Congressman Marvin Jones, be made effective as a permanent financial institution similar to other governmental agencies, so that this program can be underwritten in a manner commensurate with the need and with the benefits."

Courthouse Plans Are Approved By The Commissioners

Architect Discusses Specifications With Board on Tuesday

Architect's plans and specifications for the new $250,000 Eddy County courthouse were approved at a special meeting of the board of county commissioners Tuesday afternoon.

R. W. Voorhees, architect, explained the plans and discussed the specifications with the board and members of the citizens' building committee appointed to confer with the board on the building.

Blueprints of the plans and copies of the specifications were to be forwarded at once to the Fort Worth office of PWA for approval. As soon as this is received, commissioners said, they will be able to advertise for bids and prepare for actual construction.

The new building will be of Spanish Pueblo type and of massive construction. All main walls of the building will be of solid concrete and will be supported by massive footings so that all possibility of settling or sagging will be avoided. These walls will also help to carry the weight of fireproof floors and distribute the weight so that no unusually long spans will be necessary.

Specifications call for the highest type of construction and materials throughout and members of the board were confident there would be no delay in obtaining approval of the PWA office.

Week's Rainfall Totals .82 Inch

Rain at Artesia the last week, nearly every day, was recorded on the gauge of the New Mexico Eastern Gas Company as totaling .82 inch, although considerably more water fell in some districts near by and a great amount more in other localities of this part of the state.

Heavy rains to the north and northwest put the Pecos River nearly out of bank Monday night, but it receded Tuesday, and other rivers were flowing half bankful or more early in the week.

Cotton farmers are beginning to suffer from bugs because of the dampness.
Readings on the gas company gauge the last week, on days when more than a trace was recorded, were as follows, each for the twenty-four hours preceding 7:30 on the days indicated: Sunday, .11 inch; Monday, .13 inch; Tuesday, .30 inch; this morning, .28 inch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Haynes and two sons, Charles and Roger, of Ponca City, Okla., arrived Sunday and are spending the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan and sons, Don and Val. The visitors are being taken to places of interests in this vicinity, including the mountains and caverns.

Rehearsals Held Today for School Band, Orchestra

E. L. Harp, school music director, has called a high school band marching rehearsal for 4 to 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Central School gymnasium, preparatory for the football games this fall and the Eastern New Mexico Fair parade at Roswell. The band will also rehearse from 6:30 to 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The alumni band is to rehearse from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock this evening, immediately following the school band. The school orchestra had a rehearsal this morning.

Mr. Harp said the band will need four boys and four girls to play bugles with the band in all parades. He has some excellent new music just off the press to open up school band and orchestra rehearsals, and also some new music for the drum and bugle corps with band accompaniment.

Bugles for the band and bugle corps can be bought and paid for with small monthly payments, Mr. Harp said. Instruction will be free.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Welch and their daughter, Phoebe, expect to leave some time next week for San Antonio, Tex., where Mr. Welch will receive medical attention under specialists for the next few months. Van S. Welch, grandfather of Wendell, Jr., and Tommy, will move to the Welch home on Main Street to live while the boys' parents are away.
