Col. William Pistole, Artesia's No. 1 Citizen, Dies Early Monday, Aged 65, at Ft. Bliss

Death of Soldier-Lawyer Comes After Illness of Year in William Beaumont Hospital, El Paso, Texas.

BURIAL ON TUESDAY

Military Rites Bestowed — Masons, Rotarians Attend in Bodies.

Col. William B. Pistole—classified by many as "Artesia's No. 1 citizen," certainly one of the greatest boosters and most prominent residents—died at sun-up Monday in William Beaumont Hospital, Ft. Bliss, El Paso.

Death, at the age of 65 years, came after a year of illness and a battle for health.

Col Pistole was taken to the hospital last Dec. 1, following a heart attack. Pernicious anemia and leukemia developed and he remained a patient there until Sept. 17.

At that time he came home for a three-week stay, returning to Ft. Bliss Oct. 8. During his visit at home, Col. Pistole, realizing it probably would be his last, made arrangements for final disposition of his body.

His condition became serious about two weeks ago and Mrs. Pistole went to the hospital, remaining there until his death.

The body of Col. Pistole arrived in Artesia Tuesday morning. It lay in state at the Methodist Church until the funeral, which was at 3 o'clock Tuesday.

The Rev. John S. Rice, pastor of the church, was in charge. The address was given by the Rev. L. Bowman Craven of Roswell, presiding elder of the Methodist church, Roswell district.

After the services by the pastors, the American Legion, in behalf of the United States government, took charge for military rites.

At the grave, in Woodbine Cemetery, a squad from the National Guard, Carlsbad, fired a salute and "Taps" was played.

Members of the Masanic Lodge and the Rotary Club, of which Col. Pistole was a member, attended in bodies.

The pallbearers, all veterans of the World War, were: William Linell John Simons, Earl Collins, J. Albert Richards, S. A. Lanning, Jr., and Fred Cole.

Colonel Judge Advocate William Burton Pistole, son of Stephen C. and Huldah A. Chamberlain Pistole, was born at Hopkins, Mo., July 29, 1873. He married Nora Brooks on Jan. 1, 1894.

The widow survives, as does a grandson, Robert Salter Pistole, at the home in Artesia; a son, Robert Ames Pistole, Washington, D. C.; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Kendall, Sacramento, Calif.; and four granddaughters, Jean and Ruth Pistole and Jean and Betty Kendall.

Col. Pistole received his A. B. degree in 1894 from Northwest Missouri Normal School, and his LL. B. degree at Harvard University in 1898.

He first engaged in practice at St. Joseph, Mo., from 1898 to 1911. He entered the practice of law in Artesia in 1912, and continued here until 1917, when he offered his services to the United States, then engaged in the World War, although he was not subject to the draft.

He accepted a commission in the Judge Advocate's Department, General Reserve Corps, U. S. Army, and served as a major in the Washington, D. C., office. He was transferred to the 19th Division at Camp Dodge, Ia., in 1918, in which year he was advanced to a lieutenant colonel.

After the war Col. Pistole remained in the service until retiring two years ago, being commissioned a lieutenant colonel in the Regular Army in 1920.

The following year Col. Pistole was sent to Honolulu, Hawaiian Islands, but he returned in 1924 to the office of the judge advocate in Washington.

He was on the Board of Review there the same year, as well as being made chief of civil affairs.

Col. Pistole was transferred in 1927 to the Sixth Corps Area, Chicago, remaining there until 1931, when he again was given a foreign post, as judge advocate of the Philippine department, Manila, where he remained until 1934. In (continued on page 5, column 1)

Mrs. Isabel Sears Dies Early Today In Artesia at 74

At Home of Daughter, Mrs. Covey — Services at Carlsbad Friday

Mrs. Isabel Sears, mother of Senator Perry Sears of Capitan and Mayor John B. Sears of Carlsbad, died about 7 o'clock this morning at the home in Artesia of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Covey, at the age of 74 years.

She was in failing health several years and became seriously ill Saturday. Funeral services are to be at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Church of Christ in Carlsbad by the Rev. A. C. Wiggins, assisted by the Rev. Allen E. Johnson, pastor of the Artesia Church of Christ. Burial will be at Carlsbad by the grave of Mrs. Sears' late husband, Witt Sears, who died Oct. 18, 1936.

As Isabel Bishop, Mrs. Sears was born in Stephens County, Texas, Feb. 2, 1864.

She married Allen Hightower and to them was born one daughter, Mrs. E. M. Boucher, who survives and lives at Melrose, N. Mex.

Mr. and Mrs. Sears were married Jan. 4, 1884. To them were born ten children, six of whom are surviving.

RED CROSS DRIVE HOUSE-TO-HOUSE

The annual Red Cross roll call in North Eddy County, which began Friday under the chairmanship of C. J. Dexter, is coming along nicely, but there are still many persons to be contacted. The drive closes Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. John Lanning, president of the Woman's Club, yesterday told Mr. Dexter members of the club will put on a house-to-house canvas, which is being done throughout the country.

Memberships from those able to contribute more than the $1 annual fee are coming along nicely, although that part of the drive has not been completed.

Hamann Makes Grade After 12 Years; Is Champ

Joe Hamann, through a quirk of fate, slipshod handicapping or scores kept by himself, is the new Artesia city open golf champ—according to the viewpoint.

The official score sheet shows he defeated L. Shelton two up in the 1938 tournament championship round on the Artesia Golf Club course Sunday.

Joe claims he has been striving for this distinction—again, it's a matter of viewpoint— for twelve years. And he insists it therefore should be front page news.

The sun was behind a cloud when the staff photographer tried to snap Champion Hamann holding the Paul A. Otts trophy, which he is privileged to hold one year. It was a rare phenomenon—the sun behind a cloud in New Mexico, not Joe, the demon of golf.

In his march to the championship, Hamann in turn beat or was defaulted to by J. J. Terry, Charles Grayson, B. E. Spencer, Bill Linell and Shelton.

The runner-up managed to face Joe by disposing of A. Harrell, M. A. Schulze, C. A. Baker and H. D. Burch.

Hamann, some of the other golfers claim, should be classed as the "sandless green champion," for, it is said, the sand melted away during the New Mexico shower Saturday, the first of the season, and his golf ball caromed off of uncovered cacti in at least one instance.

Douglas Market Moves into New Building Here

The new store of the Douglas Grocery & Market on Main Street a half block west of the postoffice is to have its opening Saturday.

The stock was moved from the old location over the week end and business has been going on at the new location since Tuesday.

Built by Walter Douglas, owner of the store, the building is one of the most modern in Artesia. It is 25x60 feet, under which is a basement 25x40 feet, and is of concrete construction with a wash coat of stucco.

The store is modernly arranged, laid out to facilitate self service when desired. Two rows of double-faced pyramid style display racks are down the middle of the store. Similar, but half-pyramid, racks are along the walls. The meat department is at the rear.

Wayne Truett Passes Eagle Scout Tests

Wayne Truett, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Truett, passed his final tests Monday evening at a Boy Scout Court of Honor in order to become an Eagle Scout. He became Life Scout six months ago and had to wait that period before passing on to the highest honor in scouting.

His tests have been sent to the area executive office in Roswell for confirmation.

The court which passed on the tests of young Truett, who was 15 years old last May, was composed of S. W. Gilbert, chairman; James Allen, C. D. Marshall, the Rev. John S. Rice, Dr. H. A. Stroup and R. G. Knoedler.

Max Schulze passed four merit badges and Jimmie De Voss, one.

Officers Absolved In Fatal Shooting Of Loving Youth

Manuel Moreno, 20, Is Slain Saturday Running From Stolen Car

Sheriff Dwight Lee of Eddy County and other officers were cleared by a coroner's jury of blame in the fatal shooting Saturday night of Manuel Moreno, 20 years old, who was found dead Sunday under a bridge at Loving, after escaping the night before from the officers during gunfire.

Moreno died as the result of "accidental shooting while resisting arrest," the jury found.

Evidently Moreno was wounded as he fled from sheriff's and state police officers who sought to arrest him for stealing an automobile. One of his companions, Febrino Montez, 20, and four juveniles, were arrested in connection with the car theft.

Officers did not know Moreno was dead until his body was found by Ynez Nanes of Loving, who stopped to investigate when he saw Moreno's feet protruding from the bridge Sunday.

Sheriff Lee told the coroner's jury he shot to scare the youth when he refused to obey the order to halt. He said he shot once over Moreno's head, and when he failed to stop, he shot behind his feet.

The youth disappeared into the darkness, he said, and officers thought he had escaped.

Charles Eagleston, state patrolman, said he started to shoot, but that his gun jammed. Only two shots were fired.

Dr. J. W. Hillsman, who examined the body, said the condition of the wound and the shape of the bullet, which was knocked flat on one side, indicated that it had glanced off the ground and hit Moreno in the back.

Deputy Sheriff Babe Campbell, who was with the other officers in the hunt, was about a block away at the time, and took no part in the chase.

Campbell said the youths arrested are believed to be members of a gang that has stolen several cars in Carlsbad. He said they would take the cars there and drive them to Loving, use them for pleasure, strip them of valuables, and abandon them.

"When the police called and told us a car had been stolen," said Campbell, "we immediately suspected the Loving gang, and went down there. We found the car at a filling station and waited near the station for the thieves to return."

Moreno and Montez returned and got in the car when Dwight and Charlie started to arrest them. I was on the other side of the station looking for the rest of the gang."

Moreno was sent to the state reform school from Carlsbad in 1935 for burglarizing the Texaco warehouse there.

Roy Anderson, assistant district attorney, who conducted the inquest, said that, as far as the district attorney's office is concerned, the case is a closed one.

TO RECEIVE SCHOOL BIDS DECEMBER 3

Bids are to be received Dec. 3 by the Artesia Board of Education for construction of the proposed gymnasium-library building for the high school group and an addition to Central School.

An advertisement for bids appears elsewhere in this issue. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Moutray of Seven Rivers were El Paso visitors this week.

Coming Friday

JACK VANDERMEIER

Jack Vandermeier, acting assistant director of the Coronado Cuarto Centennial, pictured above, will meet at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms here with representatives of various clubs and organizations in regard to a centennial pageant in Artesia in 1940.

The centennial plans were explained at a meeting a month ago by Mr. Vandermeier. Representatives of the groups present were to take up the pageant idea at their regular meetings and to report the action taken at the general meeting tomorrow.

It will be decided definitely whether Artesia will be one of the two dozen New Mexico cities to have a Coronado Cuarto Centennial pageant in 1940.

Weldon Grant, 15, Shoots Self in Leg Here Sunday

Weldon Grant, 15-year-old Artesia High School boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Grant, accidentally shot himself in the right leg Sunday with a 12-gauge shotgun, inflicting a serious wound.

He was taken to St. Francis Hospital, where he is now a patient.

Young Grant, in company with Melvin Porch and another lad, was preparing to go quail hunting. While putting his gun in the car, it was discharged, the full charge striking him in the fleshy part of his leg between the hip and knee. The accident happened at the Grant home here.

Hunters Bring In Many Bucks From Hills This Season

More Than 300 Check Through Station West of Artesia on 83

From the number of bucks brought into or through Artesia, during the open season, Nov. 1-15, and since, many does are woefully sad in "them thar mountains" these days.

About 300 deer passed through the checking station on Highway 83 west of here up to Tuesday, the last day of the season, as well as about fifty turkeys, two lynx kittens and a panther.

A check-up from the State Game Department for all forests has not been made available as yet.

Nor is it possible to compile a complete list of Artesia sportsmen who killed their bucks and turkeys. However, it has been learned J. P. Clapp killed a deer and turkey; Morrison Livingston, deer and turkey; A. P. Mahone, turkey; John Vandagriff, two turkeys; Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland, deer and turkey, and the following a deer each:

Jess, Bob and Paul Whitted, H. D. Dunn, V. D. Bolton, John Gates, Jack McCaw, Raymond Bartlett and daughter, Phyllis, and son, Bill; C. R. Vandagriff.

A. C. Crozier, Clyde Roberts, Wayne Truett, David Clowe, Riley Brown, H. E. Ansley, Curtis Bolton, Oscar Samelson, D. E. Buckles, Earl Schneider.

W. T. and Vance Haldeman, Van S. and Wendell Welch.

Van S. Welch of Artesia has been appointed a member of a subcommittee of eleven of the special study committee of thirty-six authorized by the Independent Petroleum Association of America. This subcommittee is to study the question of pipe line divorcement and complete disintegration of integrated companies and report to the committee as a whole on Dec. 14 at Fort Worth, Tex.

The following are the additional members of the committee: Frank Buttram, Oklahoma City, chairman; J. S. Bridwell, Wichita Falls, Tex.; J. E. Farrell, Fort Worth; S. A. Guiberson, Jr., Dallas; Winston P. Henry, Topeka, Kan.; Alf M. Landon, Topeka, Kan.; C. A. Lester, Dallas; E. C. Moriarty, Wichita; Georg A. Hill, Jr., Hous on, and E. B. Reeser, Tulsa.

WILL PRINT DAY EARLY NEXT WEEK

Because of Thanksgiving, which always falls on publication date of The Advocate, an effort will be made next week to go to press a day early.

This can be done only with the cooperation of everybody, advertisers, correspondents and staff, and then with great effort and hard work.

So The Advocate staff, in order to enjoy Thanksgiving as do others, whether it be with turkey or beans and sow-belly, asks that everyone step up a day—or more if possible.

Correspondents and advertisers are asked to take note.

Opportunity of Youth Greater Than in Past

Col. Pearson, Roswell, Paints Rosy Future at Rotary Banquet Here—Great Changes Seen in Next 25 Years.

Youth today has 10,000 opportunities as compared with two when Col. D. C. Pearson of Roswell, former district governor of Rotary, was a boy—becoming either a policeman or a railway engineer—he told Artesia Rotarians and Rotary Anns at a tacky party dinner meeting at the Artesia Hotel Tuesday evening.

He based his statement on another declaration, that the world will see more progress in the next twenty-five years than for the last 25,000!

Directing his remarks to two of Artesia's young people, Miss Peggy Hamill and "Chuck" Baldwin, guests of the club, Col. Pearson said the older citizens of America are so in the habit of talking hard times, saying to the youth there is "nothing to do but join the WPA or the CCC," that they are destroying the hopes for the future of the younger generation.

However, Col. Pearson believes, there is a better opportunity for children today than when he was a lad.

Millions are being spent today for highways; tomorrow they will be goat paths, he said. The automobile of tomorrow will compare with the bicycle of today and airplanes as they now exist will be extinct tomorrow.

Col. Pearson gave example after example, saying chemistry and the uses and developments of oil to which they have been put hardly have scratched the surface.

Every house in the United States will be rebuilt in the next twenty years, Col. Pearson declared, saying "we haven't touched home enjoyment as yet."

Rotary's part should be showing youth the opportunities of the future, rather than trying to discourage, as is so general today. The concerted efforts of Rotarians will exert an influence which cannot be overcame.

The Rotarians and their wives, in keeping with the spirit of the meeting, dug out some striking costumes, some dating back a number of years, others depicting present day characters. A turkey dinner was enjoyed by about sixty-five persons.

A highlight of the program was two violin solos by Mrs. Ramon Welborn of Hagerman, "Romance in A" and "Fiddlin' the Fiddle," by Rubinoff. She was accompanied by Mrs. Jack Spratt.

W. Leslie Martin, president, appointed D. I. Clowe, W. E. Kerr and S. W. Gilbert as a committee to draw up resolutions of respect for Col. William B. Pistole, Rotarian, who died Monday.

Col. Pearson was accompanied by Mrs. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams, also of Roswell.

OIL PRODUCERS TO MEET HERE TONIGHT

The November meeting of Eddy County oil producers will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Artesia Hotel instead of next Thursday, Nov. 24, the regular meeting date, it being Thanksgiving.

Several subjects of interest to oil men, including allowables, will be brought up. Every oil producer is urged to be present.

TWO FIRES HERE IN AS MANY DAYS

The fire department responded to an alarm each Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon, but neither fire did great damage.

A barn at the rural residence of the Dr. Edward Stone family just west of the Artesia City limit was damaged somewhat by fire about 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Fire, evidently started from a trash can, damaged a shed at the rear of the Mrs. Margaret Threlkeld property between First and Second on West Richardson. Considerable smoke from the blaze was quite misleading.

MRS. CORBIN CRITICALLY ILL

As The Advocate went to press this morning the condition of Mrs. Mark A. Corbin was very critical. She is being administered oxygen in an oxygen tent.

BARBARIAN METHODS FOR BARBARIANS

Walter Winchell summed it up well when he said the other night, referring to the week of horror in Germany for the Jews, that the world now knows there are in Germany but three classes, Aryan, non-Aryan and barbarian.

Why the Jews should be persecuted has always been a mystery to us. The mere fact a Jew is a Jew cannot be helped. He was born the same as anyone else, not having asked to be brought forth. And he became successful in business because of the persecution of his forefathers.

Through the centuries the Jew has been hated in many countries. Because he was downtrodden and not allowed to become a member of a guild or trade, he had to use his brain in order to work out a living. He became more and more shrewd, became a money changer, became a financier. Even the less successful Jews today are not laborers, but are engaged in commerce of some sort, at which they excel.

And in many parts of the world jealousy of the native races has caused all Jews to be hated.

It is true that Jews, wherever they are, are likely to take over the major holdings in many businesses. That cannot be helped. But if they were met on an equal plane, given equal opportunities with others, they would soon become more evenly distributed in the many occupations the world has to offer, and then they would not be so conspicuous, any more than those of other races.

Winchell spoke of the "bravery" of the German soldiers in the reign of terror in Germany. We hardly think the average German soldier takes any pleasure in putting helpless citizens out in the street, in causing suffering. It is that man Hitler, and his close followers.

An Artesian the other day made a statement about his feelings towards the Jews. We were surprised that anyone living under the American flag, protected by the Constitution of the United States, allowed to follow his occupation in peace, would prescribe for Jews what this fellow did. In short, if his idea were followed out, there would be no next generation of Jews. The method was somewhat drastic, but effective.

We do not prescribe such treatment for anyone, but the idea might be all right at that, for this particular American and all of his kind, as well as for Hitler and his close followers, in order that those who wish to see any race or class persecuted at the expense of others might not continue on the earth and that humanity would be closer to peace.

Perhaps the barbarian methods should be used against the barbarians.

FOUR HUNDRED YEARS IN NEW MEXICO

It seems ridiculous that there should be any difficulty in convincing or persuading the people of the state of New Mexico, especially those engaged in business, that the greatest opportunity ever presented for centering interest on the state is the Coronado Cuarto Centennial celebration during the year 1940.

For the most part, business men, from shoe shine parlor proprietors to operators of mines, directors of utilities and owners of stores, are men and women whose future lies where they have elected to live out their lives. Be they renters or home owners, their lives can be better lived only as the state's welfare and economic status increases.

There is something more to the forces that produce welfare than the four walls of a store or factory. People must live within the trading range of those producing plants or distribution centers, and others must come to reside in the area. To induce those others to come, the natural glories of a community or state must be taken into consideration along with the wage or economic inducements. In short, they must be attracted not only by the offer of a job, but by the assurance of a satisfactory community in which to enjoy life.

The Coronado Cuarto Centennial is planned, carefully and painstakingly, to project the glories of the state, both natural and historical. A program of the commission's outline of pageantry and entertainment shows conclusively that scarcely any section of the state of New Mexico is without sufficient interest of one sort or another to attract the vast money-spending horde of tourists who annually come to, or through, New Mexico.

A merchant makes no money from potential customers who pass his door. A wise merchant makes his store attractive and then advertises his wares.

The state of New Mexico, as the Coronado Cuarto Centennial Commission's newly issued booklet points out, is not only replete with attractions, but has, in 1940, a chance to show the world what the state has contributed, as none of our sister states, to the cultural advancement of the United States and, consequently, of the world.

Had Coronado failed to have crossed the Rio Grande when and as he did, bringing to what is now the United States of America the first cattle, sheep, horses, goats and pigs, the history of this nation would have been different, and, it naturally follows, so would have been the history of the rest of the world from about 1540 to date.

The centennial is not projected as a "World's Fair" with nothing to show visitors but a collection of exhibits. It is planned as a period of celebration commemorating an epoch-making event that today has its influence on the lives of every human being on the face of the globe.

The landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, the Jamestown experiment, the colonization efforts of Lords Say and Brook, the dicker for the island of Manhattan, the peopling of Penn's Woods are all at least of secondary importance when compared with the coming of Francisco Vasquez de Coronado in the year 1540.

The people of New Mexico should be proud of their historical heritage and should leave no stone unturned to assure the success of the Coronado Cuarto Centennial celebration in 1940.

The celebration is not for Albuquerque, nor Santa Fe, nor Roswell, nor Gallup, nor Strauss—it is for all New Mexico. It is not for the Masons nor the Elks nor the Knights of Columbus nor the Lulacs, it is for all New Mexicans. All towns and cities and all the people, therefore, should give the Coronado Cuarto Centennial Commission, and its director, the utmost in support. This is your state, your celebration—your opportunity for your greater personal and collective welfare. Be sensible, don't pass it by.—Friedrich von Falkenberg, city editor, Albuquerque Journal.

A Scarecrow in a Tree

By Lawrence Hawthorne

Because I sit here in a tree,
And seldom move or say a word,
You think I never hear or see
What's going on, but that's absurd!
Why, every night and every day
I learn some interesting things
About the folks who pass my way;
But I just sit and flap my wings,
So they don't know that what they do
Is not so secret, after all.
Some things are awful funny, too—
I laugh so hard I almost fall!

I have a host of little friends
Who wave at me when they go by,
And when my clumsy arm extends
To answer them, and when I cry,
"Hello," they think it's just a breeze
That's blowing harder through my tree;
They'll never know how much they please
The heart that beats inside of me.
Some older people often stop
To look at me, and when they smile
I give a sleepy friendly flap
And hope they'll hang around awhile.

Yes, life is full of joy for me,
Surprising as that seems to you;
It's fun to sit up here and see
The many things that people do.
You might think I get stiff, and moan
With pain, like most inactive men,
But you should see me all alone—
I do my daily dozen then!
I take out all the aches and kinks
And limber up with shouts of glee:
I'm sorry for the bird that thinks
I'm just a scarecrow in a tree!

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all societies and churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Nov. 20.

The Golden Text is: "Yea, in the way of thy judgments, O Lord, have we waited for thee; the desire of our soul is to thy name, and to the remembrance of thee."—(Isa. 26:8.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "My soul, wait thou only upon God; for my expectation is from him."—(Ps. 62:5.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Soul is the substance, life, and intelligence of man, which is individualized, but not in matter. Soul can never reflect anything inferior to spirit. Man is the expression of soul."

Burl Spurlock, who runs a general store at Prestonsburg, Ky., has posted a sign reading: "Parasites who have taken me for a ride." There follows a list of 50 former customers and the amounts they owe him.

Our temptation to minimize the preventive aspects of religion and maximize its curative aspects spring in part from historical causes. Christianity first went out into a pagan world. Its first converts were from the ranks of those who had fallen over the moral precipice and lay bruised at the foot. Christianity picked them up and eased their pain and brought them back to sound health. And that aspect of Christianity has been emphasized more fully than any other down through the centuries.

Another popular influence in causing the emphasis on curative religion is the simple fact that rescue is dramatic. Take it in the case of fire prevention. Few people note the processes by which fires are prevented. Their whole attention is centered on the rescuing of a building from the flames after it has caught fire. Or the rescuing of people trapped in the flames of a burning building. Do not misunderstand me; they are exciting to me too. A rescue is always thrilling. But I maintain the center of our attention ought to be on the preventive side.

Why is it that when a body is badly mangled in a devastating crisis of practical trouble or moral disgrace, one always seeks spiritual recovery as an emergency measure? Why did he not feel the need of sound and healthy faith and character before the crisis? Plenty of people, when they see a young man collapsing morally, think that if a genuine religious experience could take hold of him it might save the day. Many parents who have lightly neglected religious training in their homes—were theirs not dear wholesome children? What did they need of religion? Now seeing one of these children in manhood or womanhood going to pieces, they wish that the minister might rescue him or her. Religion to them is only an ambulance or a fireengine, not noticed during the week or when in the firehouse.

There are three things that true religion can do for a person. In the first place one who takes Christianity in earnest lives in its climate and atmosphere, deals seriously with the Master's way of living, does have conferred upon him as the years pass by a kind of spiritual immunity.

"It was a great day in human history when the idea of immunity dawned in medicine. How the world rejoiced to know that no longer need they be afraid of the deadly diseases that harassed man! That they could go about their daily living immuned to such things!

So it is with the man who uses his religion rightly. Some moral diseases he is not subjected to anymore. A wholesome religion immunizes a man from the things that tear down character. "After all, religion is worth-while when you need it; but you can't have it then, if you haven't had it before."

The "Old Nut" has passed on. There will be no more "Kernels." But he was not an old nut; he was a brilliant, learned man, whose "Kernels" were words of wisdom.

Cites 'Preventive Religion' as Need

Rev. Stout Uses Parallel with Medicine and Fires in Sermon

(Talks and sermons on religion or of a religious nature, whether by clergymen or laymen, especially when they deal with the world today, are of common interest, provided they are non-sectarian, and do not preach dogma of one faith as against another.

When such a talk or sermon is delivered in Artesia and contains a timely message as was given Sunday by the Rev. Henry S. Stout, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, it may be construed as news.

Following is the gist of the Rev. Mr. Stout's sermon:)

One of the most important movements of our time is the gradual shift of emphasis from curative to preventive medicine. In the medicinal world, scientific men are laboring long hours in the perfecting of vaccines, serums, and anti-toxins for the prevention of disease. A wise family no longer regards its physician as one who merely cures a disease, but as one who is able to prevent the contraction of deadly diseases common to mankind.

In the realm of religion, however, we are not taking it so seriously. The tendency has always been to look upon religion merely as a cure for moral delinquency. In speaking of a man who had made shipwreck of his life, a man said to Dr. D. L. Moody, "What would you do if you were in his shoes?" Dr. Moody instantly replied, "Man, I would never have let myself get into such a fix."

True religion is not simply an ambulance at the foot of a precipice to pick up those who have fallen over; rather it is a fence at the top to prevent their falling in the first place.

Our temptation to minimize the preventive aspects of religion and maximize its curative aspects spring in part from historical causes. Christianity first went out into a pagan world. Its first converts were from the ranks of those who had fallen over the moral precipice and lay bruised at the foot. Christianity picked them up and eased their pain and brought them back to sound health. And that aspect of Christianity has been emphasized more fully than any other down through the centuries.

WORLD NEWS In BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

One group of hoboes who hopped a freight somewhere between Dayton, Ohio, and Miami ran into a bit of good luck—they made a yachting trip to Florida while riding the rails. Ray Barlow, Daytonian, shipped his 50-foot cruiser southward on a flat car. It had been in the refrigerator, the beds were made up, the radio connected—everything was ready to slide it overboard and go sailing. But after arriving the craft was sent for a thorough cleaning. Empty beer bottles were on the floor, cigarette stubs were strewn around and the beds had been slept in apparently by someone with boots on.

Wiley Williams of Graceville, Fla., has enough relatives to start a community. He says he has more than 3,000 living nieces, nephews, great, great-great, great-great-great nieces and nephews. Williams, aged 69, is the youngest son of Andrew Elton Williams, who reared a family of 22 children. Each of the 22 children—save one who was killed by lightning—had families of 8 to 18 children.

They finally got Joe Fuentez into an automobile, but they had to steal his horse and buggy to do it. Fuentez, who always has refused to ride in gasoline vehicles, reported at Oliva, Calif., his horse and buggy stolen and police soon located them in Anaheim. They told Fuentez he'd have to go there to claim his property, so the horse enthusiast at last accepted a ride in an automobile.

Workmen repairing the exterior of a hotel in Quincy, Ill., found a wallet on a ledge above a window. It contained papers showing it was lost by Ralph M. Wind of Springfield, Ill., in 1930.

At Baton Rouge, La., city fire chief Robert A. Bogan says fires have increased 60 per cent since women started smoking.

King George VI has informed the British parliament he had been "happy to accept" as an "expression" of Anglo-American good feeling President Roosevelt's invitation to visit the United States during his royal Canadian tour next spring. The monarch made the announcement from the throne in the House of Lords in an address opening the fourth session of the current parliament. He did not disclose how the North American trip would be made. It will be the first time a British sovereign has ever set foot in the former colony. President Roosevelt was "very happy" over news that the king and queen of Great Britain will visit the United States next year, a statement said.

The death ray that could be used to attack armies becomes more and more difficult to make as science progresses. For every lethal form of ray, science sooner or later finds that nature herself has set up barriers to protect her children. The neutron is an example. This is the newest ray, the deadliest, the first one to penetrate very far from its generator. It is made of a stream of primordial particles of matter. It can be seen as a bluish transparent flame, shooting a foot or more into the air. Beyond the visible end it can be measured for 50 feet or more. It is dangerous only at 50 feet.

Hopes for the Future of Wild Waterfowl Depends on Safety of Restored Areas

Coming Back

"Old Greenhead"

In an article published in the Nov. 10 issue, Jay N. (Ding) Darling, former chief of the Bureau of the Biological Survey, said winged proof that wildlife restoration pays is seen in the flight of ducks this year.

Prospects for the season this year are greater than since 1929 and long strides have been taken since 1933, when extinction of ducks, geese and brant in North America seemed certain, Mr. Darling said.

But, he cautions in another special article, our hopes for the future are founded on the estimates of wildfowl hatched and reared in the great restored areas, forever safe from the criminal exploitation of drainage sharks. Upper and lower Souris, Bear River, Crescent Lake, Lake Bowdoin, Waubay, Valentine, Malheur, Sand Lake, Mud Lake, Nine Pipe and Pablo—hundreds of thousands of acres of sun-baked mud, of sterile, dusty flats from which cheated settlers had been starved out and are now rich with new life.

Linking the breeding areas with the wintering ground are chains of federal refuges—upper Mississippi, Pea Island, White River, Mattamuskeet, Cape Romain, the vast sanctuaries of the Mississippi Delta region.

Not only has an emergency been met, but safeguards have been set up for the years to come. There should be a back-log of breeding stock that is almost immune to gunfire, completing the annual cycle of migration and breeding on government refuges, while the young of each successive year go adventuring along new routes. Banding returns show that this is precisely what is happening.

If our capital is safe, we may proceed to declare rational dividends. It used to be said that 75 per cent of the waterfowl crossing the United States in migration originated in the Canadian provinces. This ratio is being radically upset, with grain-growing in Alberta taking up 16,000,000 acres in 1935 as against 600,000 acres in 1906; with drouth still rendering large areas unproductive of wildfowl. The Dominion of Canada is co-operating with American sportsmen in Ducks Unlimited in restoring breeding grounds in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Waterhen Marsh, consisting of 11,000 acres, is a typical project, recapturing an abused region to restore one of the finest canvasback nesting areas in the north. The Canadian Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration has included wildfowl restoration in a water conservation program that starts out with an appropriation of $3,500,000. When Ducks Unlimited has succeeded in duplicating in Canada what the Biological Survey has done for the nesting areas of the United States the old duck hunter's dreams have a good prospect of coming true.

While it is the hunter whose duck stamp purchases finance much of the Bureau of Biological Survey's work in protecting wildfowl, restoration means a lot more than improved shooting. On the lower Souris, in North Dakota, 112 species of birds nested last summer. Such rare species as the long-billed curlew of the Great Plains region and the trumpeter swan have been saved from extinction by the new breeding refuges and new reservoirs of water are back where unless drainage removed nature's most precious element.

Wildfowl have not "come back." They have been rescued from extinction by a gigantic effort. Scientific measures, applied on a continental scale, are overcoming the results of man's habits formed when the supply of game was unlimited.

On a score of fronts, America's outdoor resources are still in jeopardy. Wildfowl are a conspicuous index. Their swift decrease pointed to the disasters that attend ruthless exploitation, drainage and waste. Their slow return demonstrates what can be done to make amends for our criminal destruction.

Tract in State Oil-Gas Lease Sale Sets All-Time Record of $107 Acre

Oil and gas leases offered last Thursday at Santa Fe in the November sale of the commissioner of public lands brought unusually good prices, including one tract which topped any price received heretofore by the state. All but one of thirty-one tracts offered sold.

The lease on tract 16, 160 acres in SE 1/4 36-16-36, sold to Skelly Oil Company, Tulsa, for $17,129.68, which sets the new record. This is at the rate of $106.93 an acre. Twelve bids were received on the tract.

By comparison, tract 28, 679.52 acres in SW 1/4 2-25-34, NE 1/4 NW 1/4, SW 1/4 36-25-34, sold to Dorothy Heard, Santa Fe, at the minimum of $1 an acre, a total of $679.52. The same purchaser likewise bought the lease on tract 24 at the minimum.

The cotton report as of Nov. 1 of the Crop Reporting Board shows an indicated production of 12,137,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight in the United States, of which 103,000 bales are listed for New Mexico, and an indicated yield of 219.7 pounds of lint cotton per acre on the 26,449,000 acres estimated to be harvested this year.

Jan. 1 Final Date In Range Program

In Order to Qualify for Payment Must Qualify Before Jan. 1

Range-building practices, in order to qualify for payment under the 1938 range program, must be completed before Jan. 1, it is pointed out by Royce Banks, acting state AAA executive officer.

Each year requests are received to make payment for performance of a range-building practice which was not completed within the calendar year in which prior approval was given by the county committee, Mr. Banks said.

"In order that operators participating in the 1938 range-conservation program may understand the reason payment cannot be approved for performance completed after the close of the calendar year," Mr. Banks said, "I call attention to the provisions of the appropriation act which states compliance must be carried out during a specified period of time, Nov. 1, 1937, to Dec. 31, 1938, inclusive."

In New Mexico, the state committee designated Dec. 10 as the date that county committees should have their range compliance forms completed and mailed to the state office, with an exception in the case of ranchers who are still working on their projects and who have filed a request for an extension of time, and this request has been forwarded to the state office by the secretary of the local county conservation association. It is anticipated by Mr. Banks that most of the reports of performance will be in the state office by Dec. 10.

He called particular attention to the fact that range-building practices must be completed before Jan. 1, in order to qualify for payment under the 1938 range program.

Mr. and Mrs. Boone Barnett have as their houseguest Mrs. Barnett's mother, Mrs. H. L. DeBerry of Wilson, Okla., who will visit in Artesia for about a month.

Off the Dole, on the Payroll
By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Breeder-Feeder Association

Last week we discussed the folly of keeping livestock and poultry "on the dole"—just enough feed to keep them alive. Everyone will agree that they don't pay until they are on the payroll, which means placing them on a producing ration. Thinking of the farm as a factory turning raw materials into commercially finished products, the livestock may be considered both as machines and labor. As machines they transform materials into new forms; as labor they do part of the work for themselves. As machines they must have all the raw material for which they have the capacity; as labor they must work regularly at the job, if they are to pay a manufacturing profit to the owner. It is the owner's job to see that the raw material is supplied as needed, in the proper combinations, in productive quantities, and at regular hours so that there will be no idle time for the machines and laborers. If it takes twenty-five pounds of feed daily to keep a cow giving a gallon of milk, she must have more feed to produce two gallons, and still more for three gallons. Authorities estimate that twenty-five pound hens can get along on seven pounds of digestible nutrients a day, but it will require nine pounds for the same twenty hens in full laying. Since no feed is totally digestible this means that allowance must be made for the indigestible waste materials in the feed, which varies widely in different feeding materials. Production for sale, whether of eggs or milk, comes from the surplus of feed above a living ration. The substance of this theme is to take the animals and fowls off the dole and put them on the payroll. The quicker the feed is turned into a saleable product the better the chance of profits—always with the reservation that the ration is properly balanced for the purpose it is intended, and that it shall be supplied at the rate at which it will be most efficiently utilized. It is a common saying that "a fat hen won't lay," but it is certain that a poor one can't lay. The "fat hen" theory is putting the cart before the horse—the hen gets fat because she isn't laying, and therefore turns her food into fat instead of into eggs. This may be her own fault (lack of laying capacity) but it is just as likely to be because the feed she gets is better adapted to fattening than to egg production.

Now is a good time to start the light weight turkeys on full feed for the Christmas market. Ross M. Sherwood, chief of the Poultry Husbandry Division, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, quotes a man who has handled a great many turkeys as saying that "my records show that the profit in turkey raising is almost in direct proportion to the size of the birds." In other words it costs about the same to raise a small framed turkey to the finishing period as a large one, and the latter has a larger capacity for putting on edible meat. Since a pound of turkey is practically always worth more than the several pounds of feed required to make it, the bird which will use the most feed in the finishing period is the best market for the feed. Whatever the size of the skeleton, it is only the fat turkey which will bring the top market price.

CHICKBURGER IS NEW SANDWICH TREAT HERE
"The Chickburger," a new treat in the sandwich field, has put in its appearance in Artesia at Sy's Cafes Nos. 1 and 2. Protected by patent, the sandwich employs chicken, deliciously concocted into a "burger," which certainly is pleasing to the palate. Among theatergoers from Carlsbad here Sunday to see "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" were Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Myers, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Dunnam and two daughters; Mr. and Mrs. Neil O. McKim and children, Mr. and Mrs. Francis G. Tracy and Jimmy Lewis.

Texas Also After Predatory Animals In Dead Earnest

Catch in September Totals 3,293, Including 1,115 Coyotes, 137 Bobcats

Over in Texas where they are bothered by predatory animals the same as in New Mexico, C. R. Landon, district agent for the Texas Predatory Animal Control Association, reports that 111 men working 3,293 days took 1,315 predatory animals in September. The catch comprised 1,115 coyotes, 137 bobcats, 62 wolves and one mountain lion.

A. L. Parker, working in Webb County, led the force with 61 coyotes and seven bobcats. In Northwest Texas, Frank Hoyle took 50 coyotes and one bobcat in King County, and R. E. Norton in Shackelford County led in the red wolf area with 11 of these animals and one bobcat.

Relating experience of some of the trappers, Mr. Landon said: "Claude L. Hill of Tilden, Tex., reports catching a bobcat earmarked and with a collar bearing the name of J. Knight, McKinney, Tex. Another bobcat similarly marked but with a small 'L' on his collar was taken by another hunter in the same vicinity. Hill reports these cats were said to have been turned loose on the Henry Martin ranch on the 21st of December, 1935, evidently by men hunting with hounds for sport.

O. W. Cates trapped an old female coyote on Jack Boyd's ranch near Aspermont. "This coyote had crippled or deformed feet which caused its tracks to be very similar to that of a dog and was commonly called the old dog by the ranchmen. This animal's teeth were practically worn off and it would tear up three or four sheep for each one killed. Three government trappers had worked after this coyote for a year or more. Cates set his traps on a Tuesday, caught two more coyotes Wednesday and a third one Thursday, cleaning out the pasture.

W. F. Delong caught an old dog wolf on Ross Green's ranch. Mr. Green said this wolf had killed in his pasture for the last three years. On several occasions his mates had been killed but the old wolf always escaped.

On July 29 while working on a prairie dog crew under the direction of Darwin Ivy on the W. T. Johnson ranch twenty miles southwest of Van Horn, Frank Wyckoff was bitten by a rattlesnake. A member of the crew bound Frank's leg securely above the wound, another ran up with a shovel in one hand and a bottle of bisulphide (highlife) in the other, killing the snake with the shovel and pouring a half pint of carbon on Frank's leg. When Ivy arrived with the car he cut the wound with a knife, allowing it to bleed freely, then applied kerosene.

The percentages are being lowered each succeeding year, and how thankful we should be. You can remember when there were numbers of typhoid cases every summer, either in your family or within your personal acquaintanceship.

What has cut down this percentage? Nothing but Medical Science working with vaccines and serums, through public education and municipal avenues to purify water supplies, carry off waste and remove the cause of that wasting and fever-racking disease.

Fleeing a tornado near Clyde, Texas, parents of these babies were killed, their automobile tossed a quarter-mile away. Hours later a telephone lineman heard a child's whimper in a roadside ditch. There he found 3-year-old Jesse Donald Rutledge, water up to his chin, holding his 3-month-old brother Daryl's head above water. Relatives being unable to care for the orphans, Red Cross workers arranged a maintenance fund to support them until they are 16. A Texas college promised scholarships and ranchmen started a herd of cattle for their benefit. The Red Cross will help the boys make adjustments as they grow older.

Texas Also After Predatory Animals In Dead Earnest

Catch in September Totals 3,293, Including 1,115 Coyotes, 137 Bobcats

Over in Texas where they are bothered by predatory animals the same as in New Mexico, C. R. Landon, district agent for the Texas Predatory Animal Control Association, reports that 111 men working 3,293 days took 1,315 predatory animals in September. The catch comprised 1,115 coyotes, 137 bobcats, 62 wolves and one mountain lion.

A. L. Parker, working in Webb County, led the force with 61 coyotes and seven bobcats. In Northwest Texas, Frank Hoyle took 50 coyotes and one bobcat in King County, and R. E. Norton in Shackelford County led in the red wolf area with 11 of these animals and one bobcat.

Relating experience of some of the trappers, Mr. Landon said: "Claude L. Hill of Tilden, Tex., reports catching a bobcat earmarked with a collar bearing the name of J. Knight, McKinney, Tex. Another bobcat similarly marked but with a small 'L' on his collar was taken by another hunter in the same vicinity. Hill reports these cats were said to have been turned loose on the Henry Martin ranch on the 21st of December, 1935, evidently by men hunting with hounds for sport.

"O. W. Cates trapped an old female coyote on Jack Boyd's ranch near Aspermont. This coyote had crippled or deformed feet which caused its tracks to be very similar to that of a dog and was commonly called the old dog by the ranchmen. This animal's teeth were practically worn off and it would tear up three or four sheep for each one killed. Three government trappers had worked after this coyote for a year or more. Cates set his traps on a Tuesday, caught two more coyotes Wednesday and a third one Thursday, cleaning out the pasture.

"W. F. Delong caught an old dog wolf on Ross Green's ranch. Mr. Green said this wolf had killed in his pasture for the last three years. On several occasions his mates had been killed but the old wolf always escaped.

"On July 29 while working on a prairie dog crew under the direction of Darwin Ivy on the W. T. Johnson ranch twenty miles southwest of Van Horn, Frank Wyckoff was bitten by a rattlesnake. A member of the crew bound Frank's leg securely above the wound, another ran up with a shovel in one hand and a bottle of bisulphide (highlife) in the other, killing the snake with the shovel and pouring a half pint of carbon on Frank's leg. When Ivy arrived with the car he cut the wound with a knife, allowing it to bleed freely, then applied kerosene.

Livestock, Range Report Has Rosy Winter Outlook

Should Go Into Cold Weather in Better Than Normal Condition

The New Mexico Livestock and range report compiled as of Nov. 1 and just released by Fred Daniels, statistician, United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Las Cruces, shows range in Eddy County is extra good, with plenty of feeds and stock water.

The stock likewise is in good shape, the report says. Wether lambs are all sold at 6 cents and ewe lambs are being held to restock.

Most cattlemen will cut to comply with the Taylor Grazing Act, the report predicts.

Livestock throughout the state is going into the winter in better condition, and range and feed supplies in all conditions are ample for normal winter requirements, according to Mr. Daniels. His general livestock and range report follows:

Ranges generally over the state are better at this time than for several years. Range feed is fairly uniform in all counties and only a few instances are reported where the range feed is short, due to insufficient rainfall. In extreme southern parts of southwestern counties winter weeds have not begun to sprout because of a shortage of rainfall during October. The good condition of ranges at this time is due largely to the general rains received during September and also to local rains the first half of October. Range feed has had advantage of a late fall. Early frosts were confined to high altitudes and killing frosts occurred in lower altitudes after Nov. 1. Hay and other feeds were generally ample in all localities for needs during the coming winter. The condition of ranges is reported at 89 per cent of normal as compared with 90 last month and 88 per cent a year ago.

There has been a slight increase in improvement of condition of cattle over that reported a month ago. Improved range feed has been reflected by improvement in flesh. The heavy fall shipment of cattle is at its peak at this time. Steer calves are being sold rather close. There is possibly a heavier holding of heifer calves for replacement, and also to increase herds where ranges permit. Weights of calves are generally heavy and about equal to those of a year ago. Prices during the last month are reported somewhat stronger than during September. Very few cattle have been put into feed pens for late winter feeding, and prospects are that the number fed will be about like that of a year ago. The condition of

Mr. and Mrs. Paris Davis and son, Lawrence, visited relatives in Hobbs Monday.

Carol and James Womack of Carlsbad spent Friday, Saturday and Sunday with Jimmy Lee Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Standard visited Mrs. Walter Pepper, while Mr. Pepper and his brother, "Shorty," were deer hunting.

Mrs. Preston Comp and daughter, Marie Katherine, were guests at the home of Mrs. Comp's mother-in-law, Mrs. N. Comp.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Woods of Lovington were guests of Mrs. J. L. Standard Wednesday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Akins and family of Hobbs returned home Sunday. They were visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Standard and family spent Sunday in Lakewood with relatives of Mrs. Standard, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Mitchell and family.

Marvin Brothers has been "strutting his stuff" since Sunday afternoon, when he became the proud father of a daughter weighing four pounds. She has been named Tressia Inez Brothers. Mrs. Brothers and baby are in a hospital at Carlsbad.

A number of people from here went deer hunting. Those returning with deer were: Buddy McCrory, 5-point; Shorty Peppers, 8-point; Jack Peppers, 8-point; Lee Standard, 9-point; Edwin McGonigal, 10-point, and Alex McGonigal, 10-point. J. L. Standard also returned with three baby lynx cats, which he plans to keep as pets.

New Mexico's tax on beer, wine and liquor amounted to $59,455 during October, according to a monthly report released by W. R. Meador, chief of the liquor control division of the State Bureau of Revenue. Amounts received from the sale of liquor stamps during the month were $6,886 from malt beverages; $6,014, wine; $46,574, spirituous liquors.

Cattle and calves is reported at 91 per cent of normal as compared with 89 last month and 90 per cent a year ago.

All classes of sheep have shown some improvement in condition during October. Improved range and other feeds have made it possible for sheep to increase in weight. Fall shipments of lambs and other sheep is heaviest at this time. Lamb shipments possibly will not equal those of a year ago. Increases in market prices of sheep have been reflected in late sales of lambs over the state. The number of ewe lambs held in most cases will about maintain the usual number of breeding stock. The condition of sheep and lambs is reported at 92 per cent of normal compared with 90 last month and 92 per cent a year ago.

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State." Gleaned from Many Sources

Collections totaling $42,316, by the succession tax division of the State Revenue Bureau for the last fiscal year show a decrease of $130,487, says an audit report given out at the state comptroller's office. Uncollected taxes were $4,059 at the end of the year, a decrease of $3,133. These are taxes levied against estates as to which proceedings are still pending in the probate court. With disbursements of $2,482 for the year, the division transferred a balance of $989 from its administrative fund to the state's general fund.

Seniors and varsity football players from the high schools of New Mexico have been invited to attend the Homecoming celebration at New Mexico State College on Friday, Dec. 2, as guests of the Aggie Alumni Association. The guests will see the Aggie football team tangle with the Bulldogs from Drake University of Des Moines, Ia. This inter-sectional contest promises to be a gridiron classic in which the Hinesmen will match their skill against the strongest opponent they have faced this season. The high school students will be given an opportunity to visit the various buildings on the campus before the game. A free lunch will be served the guests at noon.

The National Park Service at Santa Fe has been studying ancient fingerprints in an effort to trace the origin of the early inhabitants of Casa Grande, near Coolidge, Ariz. Service officials at regional headquarters said large prints from adobe ruins in the Casa Grande National Monument were sent to Detective W. E. Lynch of the San Diego, Cal., police department, for analysis. The makers of the prehistoric fingerprints, Lynch reported, were descended from "several generations" of manual workers, and probably were related to the negroid or mongoloid types.

County Leads New Mexico in Majority Given to Democrats

The greatest percentage of majority of any county in New Mexico was given the Democratic party candidates last week by Eddy County, it was disclosed by L. R. Conarty, chairman of the Democratic central committee.

In Artesia and Carlsbad the vote was about 67 per cent Democratic.

The Democratic majority this year was only a little less than those of stronger Democratic years. It compares with 70 per cent in 1934 and 73 per cent in 1937.

"The big majority for the Democratic party," said Conarty, "shows that the people of Eddy County are too intelligent to be misled by unscrupulous and muckraking politicians."

"Eddy County continues to be near the top in the Democratic counts year after year, and I am sure that the new administration will be more friendly to this county than others have been."

FIRE DOES NO DAMAGE

A truck and manure pile fire behind Dunn's garage at 1:10 o'clock last Thursday afternoon was quickly extinguished by the fire department. There was no damage.

The severance tax division of the State Revenue Bureau finished the last fiscal year with expenditures $10,011 less than the budget estimate, says an audit report given out at the state comptroller's office. The division was able to transfer to the state's general fund at the end of the year $18,495 out of its administrative fund. It is allowed 3 per cent of its collections for administrative expenses. Severance tax collections amounted to $749,908.

The State Industrial School for Boys at Springer has been excellently managed, says an audit report given out at the state comptroller's office, for the last fiscal year. With a daily average population of 69.56, the annual per capita cost has been reduced to $47.95, the lowest figure for the last three years. The cut, says the report, has been largely due to greater farm productivity. Total expenses for the year were $33,385, and the institution finished the year with an excess of revenue over expenditures of $3,169.

As 1938-39 Commercial Cotton Supply Reaches New High, Consumption Shows Marked Decline

The world commercial cotton supply for 1938-39 was expected to reach a new high, with an indicated 51.4 million bales, whereas world cotton consumption shows a material decline, according to an outlook report from the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Agricultural Economics, Las Cruces office.

The indicated supply of about 51.4 million bales, the report continues, is 3 per cent larger than the record supply of the previous season and 29 per cent greater than the 10-year (1927-28 to 1936-37) average. This would be the third consecutive season in which world supplies reached a new high.

The world carry-over of cotton of 23.1 million bales on Aug. 1, was 9% million bales larger than a year earlier and 4% million bales larger than the previous peak of 1932. This marked increase in carry-over, however, is largely offset by a sharp reduction in the United States crop and some decline in foreign production, the Department of Agriculture says.

The world supply of American cotton is expected to total about 25.7 million running bales, which is materially larger than that of the previous season and nearly one-fifth larger than the 10-year average, but 2 per cent less than the record supply of 1932-33. The estimated 1938 domestic production is 34 per cent less than the record harvest of last season and 8 per cent below average, yet the reduction this year was less than the increase in carry-over.

At the beginning of the current season, the world carry-over of American cotton totaled 13.65 million bales, compared with 6.2 million bales a year earlier. It was 62 per cent above average and considerably larger than the previous peak reached in 1932.

Despite a prospective decline in foreign production of commercial cotton, the indicated 1938-39 world supply of foreign cotton is now estimated at 25.7 million bales of 478 pounds net weight. This is 47% larger than the record supply of the previous season, 40 per cent above the 10-year average, and two-thirds larger than in 1932-33. Such a supply would make the sixth consecutive season in which the supply of foreign cotton reached a new record high.

World Carry-Over Is Large

The world carry-over of 9.4 million bales of foreign cotton on Aug. 1 was 33 per cent larger than the record carry-over a year earlier, 64 per cent above average, and nearly twice as large as in 1932. Although the 1938-39 foreign production of commercial cotton, now estimated at 16.25 million bales, is 10 per cent less than the record crop of last season, it is 29 per cent above the 10-year average and 55 per cent larger than the 1932-33 crop.

Present estimates indicate that much of the decrease in the 1938-39 production will result from a sharp decline in the Chinese crop and a greatly reduced Egyptian crop. While a substantial proportion of the net increase in foreign production compared with either the 10-year average or with 1932-33 has occurred in the larger producing countries, the increase which has resulted from the marked expansion in many other countries has also been important.

Should the acreage planted to cotton in the United States next spring total about the same as in 1938, this acreage with abandonment, yields per acre and bale weights equal to the average for the last 10 and 5 years (ending with 1937) would give a 1938 crop about 9/10 to 1 1/4 million running bales smaller than the present estimate of the current season's production.

Although it seems probable that the world carry-over of American cotton on Aug. 1, 1939, may be somewhat larger than a year earlier, such a crop would probably result in a 1939-40 world supply of American cotton not greatly different from that of the present season. The indications are that the carry-over of foreign cotton may increase somewhat, although it is quite possible that this may be about offset by a further decline in production.

Total world mill consumption of 25.4 million bales of cotton in 1937-38 was 15 per cent below the record consumption of the previous season but was 8 million bales larger than the 10-year (1927-28 to 1936-37) average and the third largest in history. Of the 4.6-million-bale decline in world consumption last season, American cotton accounted for 2.2 million bales and foreign cotton for 2.4 million bales.

Partly as a result of larger supplies and lower prices of American cotton relative to foreign growth, last season's consumption of American cotton outside the United States represented a slightly larger proportion of the total mill consumption of all growths than in the previous season. But, despite this, the quantity of American cotton consumed in foreign countries last season was slightly lower than in the previous season and the smallest since 1923-24. It was 27 per cent below average. Largely because of the marked recession in general business conditions in the United States, domestic consumption of American cotton was smaller by nearly 2.2 million bales or 28 per cent than the record consumption of the previous season and was 6 per cent smaller than the 10-year average.

Jap-China Conflict Reflects

The decline of about 1.5 million bales or 50 per cent in cotton consumption in China last season, chiefly because of the conflict with Japan, was equal to about two-thirds of the total decline in the mill consumption of foreign cotton. In most other countries, consumption for the year ending July 31, was not materially below that of the preceding season, despite marked decline during the latter part of 1937 and the first half of 1938.

Cotton consumption in the United States during the first two months of the current season averaged considerably above the average for 1937-38. Furthermore, stocks of cotton textiles in channels of distribution were considerably below a year earlier. These factors, together with an expected improvement in domestic business conditions and consumer incomes, should result in a substantially larger United States consumption of cotton in 1938-39 than occurred in the last season.

The weighted average price of 8.4 cents per pound received by domestic cotton producers for lint in the 1937-38 season was 3.9 cents or 32 per cent less than in the previous season, the lowest since 1932-33 and one-third less than the average for the 10 years ending July 31, 1937. In August and September this year, farm prices of line cotton averaged about 2 per cent less and cottonseed approximately 9 per cent more than in the 12 months ending July 31, 1938. Should prices continue at about present levels during the next few months, this together with the fact that the quantities of cotton and cottonseed available for marketing during the current season are estimated at about one-third less than last season, would result in the gross farm returns from the 1938 cotton crop being materially less than the comparatively large returns received from the large 1937 crop and the smallest since 1932.

Farmers' 1938-39 returns from the disposition of their cotton crop will be supplemented by about $265,000,000 of government payments with respect to cotton, compared with $72,000,000 of such payments last season. Nevertheless, the total farm returns from the 1938 cotton crop, including government payments with respect to cotton, may be substantially below those of the previous season and considerably smaller than the 10-year average.

With the large 1937 crop and despite substantially lower prices, total farm returns of $795,000,000 from line cotton during the last marketing season were $31,000,000 larger than in the previous season, the largest since 1929-30, and only 1 per cent less than the 10-year average. Cottonseed prices were also much below those of 1936-37 and the lowest since 1933-34. Gross farm returns of $123,000,000 from cottonseed, while lower than in the previous year, despite the large marketings, were larger than in any other year since 1929-30 and 19 per cent larger than average.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt of Mayhill passed through en route to Carlsbad, where they were going for the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Mulcock and baby daughter of Artesia visited Mrs. Mulcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Williams, Sr., part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reno and family spent Sunday in Artesia with relatives. They also attended the show, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," while there.

The road work is progressing nicely. A lot of the points are being cut down, which will do away with many of the curves and low places where water would collect during rains and snows.

The mountains were visited by the coldest weather this year on Sunday, Nov. 6, the "Weather Man" giving us some sleet and ice and quite a lot of snow and the thermometer dropping down to zero.

A number of the stockmen were busy the latter part of the week rounding up their cattle and getting ready for shipping, which was made by truck. We don't want to do any boasting, but we bet there are a lot of folks who look forward to this time of year so they can get some of the nice beef to eat that leaves this part of the mountains, for they surely are nice and fat.
