From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

It made Mrs. Marian Fearn angry when she slipped and fell on an icy sidewalk and broke her ankle. As she awaited help, she noticed a large bump pushing out her stocking at the point of fracture. Still vexed, she clenched her fist and struck it. The blow set the break. Doctors praised her for "excellent work."

In Kansas City a man whose skin had turned a deep purple was admitted to General Hospital for treatment. His sister explained he had been drinking heavily and his wife had locked him in the house and taken away his supply of whisky. But he drank anyway. He drank, in turn, bay rum, shampoo liquid, witch hazel, perfume, spirits of ammonia, rubbing alcohol, hair oil and then ate 100 aspirin tablets. Still thirsty, he topped it all off with a bottle of black hair dye. After a long session with the stomach pump, his skin tones faded to pale purple. Physicians said he would recover.

Clyde Tudor, 17-year-old high school boy of Buckeye, Ariz., told Sheriff Lon Jordan he wound a 20-foot length of rope around his neck, stuffed a handkerchief in his mouth, tied his hands in front of him and jumped into an irrigation canal—all because he thought "my girl friend would like me better." Residents of a cotton camp heard his cries as he struggled in four feet of water and rescued him. He apparently suffered no ill effects.

A police magistrate in Moline, Ill., ruled that making faces at one's neighbors is not disorderly conduct. Mrs. Julius Blair, who had two neighbors arrested, told the court "ugly and alarming" faces made through a window of her home by the defendants made it impossible for her to enjoy her meals. The magistrate ruled against Mrs. Blair and fined her $5 for contempt because her language in describing the offense did not please the court.

A freshman economics professor at Texas Technological College picked up his class roll and cleared his throat. "Barrier," he called "Here!" "Blocker . . . Ball . . . Carpenter . . . Carver . . . Mason . . . Wood . . ." Somebody tittered and a ripple of laughter followed. The instructor paused and eyed the class over his spectacles, knitting his brows forbiddingly. "Headstream . . . High . . . Lowe . . . Lamb . . . Lyon . . . Amos Miracle . . . Andy Morris . . ." he continued. "Henry Ford . . . Jimmy Walker." That did it; everybody howled. Desperately he scanned the remaining names. "Kidwell . . . Rasberry . . . Turnipseed." This would never do. He wiped a moist brow and said sternly: "If this ridiculous noise must occur every time I read the roll, I shall have to number you or have you answer with the name of your home town." With a faintly reflective smile he folded the roster. His own name was Root.

Cotton pickers in the United States received an average of $1.12 a hundred pounds of seed cotton in 1927, only 41 cents in 1931 and 57 cents in 1938.

Among "laboratory equipment" required in University of New Hampshire's home economics course are a half-dozen 4-year-old youngsters during the fall study of child development, five 3-year-olds for winter classes, and five 3-year olds during the spring. And a cat is on the university of Vermont payroll at $16 a year. His duty is to catch mice that may invade the university greenhouse. Frightened of children, the nameless black feline prefers to associate with faculty members.

In England, about 500,000 young women are employed in clerical posts. Approximately one-half of this number are shorthand typists.

An inch of rainfall provides 100 tons of water to an acre. Twelve inches of snowfall equal one inch of rain.

Giacomo A. Santoro of Santa Monica, Calif., is about to become his brother's father-in-law and stepfather to his sister-in-law. The future Mrs. Santoro will become her daughter's sister-in-law and her son-in-law's stepmother. Santoro, 40, obtained a license to marry Lois Albright, 47, and his brother, John, was licensed to marry Mrs. Albright's daughter, Almira Dorothy Bright, 23. So John's mother-in-law will be his sister-in-law.

Indiana state policeman Kenneth Marlin halted a slightly intoxicated motorist and ordered him to park. At that moment he received an emergency order to go to Muncie, many miles away. "Stay here until I get back," commanded Marlin.

THE ADVENTURES OF OZZIE

Marlin returned several hours later. The motorist was there—sober, too.

S. F. Stone, Kansas City filling station attendant, found himself confronted by two bandits who ordered him to go to the cash register and "hand over the money." "I won't," Stone replied. "If you're going to rob you'll have to take it yourself." "Get in the washroom, then," a bandit snapped. Stone did, locking the door behind him. Then he smiled happily. All the station's receipts were in his pocket.

Fullerton Crew
Is Transferred
Back to Coast

The Fullerton Oil Company is transferring back to California this week about eighteen men, who were brought here last July when the company began operations in the oil fields of Eddy County. Another half dozen will leave in about two weeks. The company is not "pulling out," but will continue operations, contracting the work of oil well drilling. Hence the transfer will make little if any change in the number of workers or citizens of Artesia. R. E. Hix is to remain here in charge of the company's interests. The crew which has been here just completed the company's fourth well, the Johnson No. 4-A, drilling all with a rotary outfit since the middle of last July, the first rotary ever used in the fields here.

PNEUMONIA
PNEUMONIA is a germ disease that develops quickly. Pneumonia does not always follow influenza or a cold, but lowered resistance may give pneumonia germs a better opportunity to lay hold. Pneumonia is an infection resulting from the pneumonia germ, in the lobes of the lungs.
Because, almost entirely, this pneumonia germ is combatted by a substance manufactured in the body to resist this poison, maintain bodily resistance during winter months. If below par physically, consult your physician, for underlying organic causes. Healthy, full-blooded, nourished bodies rarely contract pneumonia, so the chief method of prevention is to keep up the blood count and bodily resistance, get plenty of rest, stay away from those who have "flu," colds or pneumonia and avoid allowing the body to become chilled.
The Treachery of PNEUMONIA calls for constant supervision of a competent physician, and experienced nursing.
