

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Speed Wheel— Folks look naturally to the airplane for speed in travel, but they're missing a bet if they don't keep one eye on the new railroad trains. American trains are taking people where they want to go in a hurry, for in the United States today, it is estimated, there are more than 48,000 miles of daily mile-a-minute runs! In fact, this country has more than one-half the world's entire mile-a-minute mileage.

Anyone who wants speed wheel can step into one of the new, fast diesel, steam, or electric rail fliers. He has his choice of 12,000 miles of 66-mile-an-hour runs, more than 4,000 miles of 70-mile-an-hour runs, and better than 1,000 miles of operation at 75 miles per hour—and up!

World's fastest scheduled run is a German diesel train which makes 109.6 miles at 82.2 miles an hour. Not far behind is an American diesel streamliner which covers 62.4 miles at 81.4 miles per hour. Two 75-mile-an-hour 15-mile runs give America world leadership among electrically-operated trains. American steam trains outrank all others in mileage and scheduled runs.

Credit for these feats goes to American progress, plus good engineering, and just a bit to American development of high-speed fuels and lubricants, both of them petroleum products. It wasn't so many years ago that trains had to stop periodically just for lubrication!

Sharing the Market— Anybody who wants to find a market in which sales are widely distributed should take a look at the gasoline business.

Researchers, looking through their statistical microscopes recently, discovered that in 1937 tax-paid gasoline consumption totalled 21,000,000,000 gallons. The biggest company in the business enjoyed 8.2 per cent of the market! The 10 biggest marketers averaged only about 5.7 per cent each!

Conservation— New conservation move among paper manufacturers is that of denking old newspapers, magazines, posters and even carbon paper and using the bleached stock to make fresh newsprint stock. It's economical and saves about $15 a ton.

The petroleum industry conserves its resources by making them work over time, too. Natural gas, which provides pressure for raising crude oil from the well without pumping, is used many times by a process of recycling. The gas is captured each time it comes to the surface and is forced back to draw additional crude oil to the surface. In some recent wells the gas pressure is maintained automatically at the most efficient level by a system of underground valves.

Elbow Grease!—Chemical action replaces elbow grease in new metal cleaners. They require no rubbing and instantly remove stains and oxides from copper, brass, bronze and other metals.

Ordinarily bright metals must be regularly and laboriously polished, as every sailor and janitor knows. In the new cleaners, however, chemical content retards the re-forming of oxide and leaves working surfaces chemically clean and free from gritty residue.

Smoke Rings— Advertising ingenuity presents a smoke ring blower as latest gadget designed to annihilate sales resistance.

Charge with a single puff of cigarette, cigar or pipe tobacco, tap gently on the side, and dozens of smoke rings emerge in stately procession, the inventor guarantees!

Petrolines— A recently developed tool produces pressure up to 1,500,000 pounds per square inch, making it possible to study the structure of the earth 200 miles below the surface.

Petroleum was called "American oil" in doctors' prescriptions when first used as a medicine.

When an Illinois farmer struck oil recently he bought seven automobiles, one for each member of the family except the baby.

Oil was first shipped overland in 1790 by Nathaniel Cary who slung two five-gallon kegs over the saddle and rode from Oil Creek to Pittsburgh, Pa., about 80 miles away. He traded the oil for provisions.

Aircraft fuel production can be increased 15 times above normal requirements with a new refining process recently perfected.

Geologists predicted oil would be found in the vast Caddo fields in Louisiana four years before the field was brought in.

Three large automobile manufacturers are building diesel-engined trucks.

Just 50 years have passed since the first recorded crude oil production in the Southwest—production of 48 barrels of oil from two wells near San Antonio, Tex., a quantity which is little more than enough to supply the annual petroleum needs of one American family today!

As early as 1867 petroleum was tried as a fuel for ships, locomotives and engines.

MEMBERSHIP TEA AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IS A LOVELY AFFAIR

A membership tea held at the basement of the Presbyterian Church last Thursday afternoon was a lovely affair with forty-six members and guests attending.

The membership tea, an annual event of the Presbyterian Women's Association, is held each year in the springtime. It is a time when members renew their pledges for more active work and when a special invitation for membership is extended to others.

The program was a play by eight of the members, who were: Meses. Hugh Kidd, Russell Rogers, Jesse Truett, R. L. Paris, Rex Wheatley, M. G. Schulze, D. C. Blue and V. L. Gates. Mrs. Ruth Tuttle sang "Not Understood," with Mrs. Wallace Gates at the piano, and the junior girls' choir rendered a beautiful number.

Amendment Is Of Interest to New Mexican Farmers

Eliminates Percentage Requirements Pertaining to Acreage

An amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, recently passed by Congress, is of particular interest to cotton and wheat farmers of New Mexico, according to Royce Banks, acting state executive officer. This amendment eliminates the provision in the law requiring that 80 per cent of the cotton and wheat acreage allotment be planted in order to qualify for payments on 100 per cent of the acreage allotment.

"The state conservation office," said Banks, "received a telegram from Norris E. Dodd, director of the Western Division, stating that the provisions of the New Mexico Handbook will be changed in order to incorporate this new provision of the law into the handbook. The new provision of the law is applicable only in the event that the farm is not idle in 1939."

"Our office," said Banks, "has received a definition of an idle farm from Norris E. Dodd, which provides that a farm will be deemed to be idle in 1939 if the county committee determines that such farm is idle within the usual meaning of the term in the community in which the farm is located. The definition also provides that the county committee shall consider as idle any farm where normal operations are not carried out on the farm in 1939 by the owner or a bona fide tenant residing on or near the farm."

Normal cropping operations shall not be deemed to have been carried out on the farm, according to Dodd's definition of an idle farm, unless in 1939 an acreage equal to not less than half of the acreage in the soil-depleting acreage allotments for the farm is seeded for harvest, harvested, summer fallowed, or seeded to legumes, grasses or small grains for pasture in 1939, except where the state committee determines that such cropping operation was prevented by uncontrollable natural causes.

Poppies Provide Employment for Disabled Vets

Profitable employment for hundreds of disabled war veterans has been provided by the memorial poppies which will be worn on "Poppy Day," Saturday, May 27, in tribute to the World War dead, explained Mrs. Raymond Bartlett, poppy chairman of Clarence Keple unit No. 41 of the American Legion Auxiliary, as the auxiliary women prepared for the annual observance of "Poppy Day" in the Pecos Valley.

Poppies have been made this year at seventy-eight government hospitals and auxiliary workrooms in fifty-one departments, where disabled veterans unable to do other work have been given employment during the winter and spring months. The work has been restricted largely to veterans receiving little or no government compensation and to those with dependent families. The bulk of the money earned has gone to the support of families left in need when the veteran father became disabled, Mrs. Bartlett said.

The poppies which will be distributed in the valley on "Poppy Day" were made at Albuquerque, where many disabled veterans have engaged in shaping the little red memorial flowers under the direction of the New Mexico department of the auxiliary. Materials have been supplied by the auxiliary and the workers paid at regular intervals from auxiliary funds. Poppy earnings have been a great boon to many veterans' families in New Mexico during past months.

The disabled veterans are the only paid workers in the auxiliary's poppy program. The women who distribute the flowers serve as unpaid volunteers and all contributions they receive go to the rehabilitation and welfare work of the American Legion and Auxiliary.

Scuderi Uses Air Lift With Success On Indian Wells

Jack Scuderi of Artesia, who last year built and since has been operating a machine of his own design for cleaning water wells, was employed by the government for three weeks cleaning wells on Indian reservations in the neighborhood of Gallup, N. Mex.

One well, the flow of which had diminished greatly, after treatment with his air lift, developed a flow about twice as great as ever before, he reported when he returned to Artesia Saturday.

While working at Gallup, Scuderi visited Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sartin, formerly of Artesia. Sartin is employed by the government there.

Mrs. W. H. Ballard has bought the Mrs. Effie McCaw property on West Main, obtaining immediate possession.

WORLD NEWS —In— BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

The wool situation in the United States for the new marketing season was reported last week as more favorable than last year despite some irregularity in domestic prices, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Smaller carry-over of wool into the new season, extension of the federal loan program to the 1939 clip, prospects for a much higher rate of mill consumption during first half of 1939, and recent firmness in wool prices on foreign markets were listed as favorable factors.

When the British Admiralty's wooden ship, "Research," sails for the Indian Ocean in October she will be "all wood and whiskers." In order to make vital surveys of magnetic variation, all magnetic articles will be eliminated, including razor blades. The crew of 32 will therefore grow beards.

Pipo, the hippopotamus in the Madrid zoo, lost about 2,000 of his 6,000 pounds because of compulsory fasting during the Spanish civil war. Zoo officials disclosed also that many animals had died of malnutrition, including all the zebras, eight lions, two wolves, an elephant, panther, tiger, leopard and 14 monkeys.

A tree 19.9 feet in circumference, believed to be the largest in the Rocky Mountain region, has just been discovered by United States foresters. How old the tree may be, no one can estimate accurately, the Forest Service said. It is limber pine and is growing in the Medicine Bow National Forest, 22 miles south of Saratoga, Wyo. Its height is 48 feet. Previously a limber pine in the San Isabel National Forest of Colorado, 18.9 feet in circumference, was believed to be the largest.

Crude oil production in the United States during the week ended April 15 averaged 3,494,500 barrels a day, an increase of 1.5 per cent over the previous week and 3.2 per cent over the corresponding week a year ago.

Apprentice Jockey Gus Dye of Boise, Idaho, riding leader of the Tanforan meeting at San Francisco, brought in five winners in a row the same day last week. The mark was one short of the Tanforan record set last year by Basil James of Sunnyside, Wash.

The number of cattle on feed April 1 this year was larger than the previous year, but the number is still considerably below the average for the pre-drought years. Reports from feeders in April show that for the corn belt as a whole, 65 per cent of the cattle on feed in January would not be marketed until after April 1.

Postmaster General James A. Farley is scheduled to be in Amarillo May 17 for the dedication of the new postoffice. And if he can stay astride a Texas paint pony for 10 seconds he can take it back to Washington—no strings attached. Gene Howe, author of the famous "Tactless Texas" column in the Amarillo News, appealed for a $1,000 horse. He advised the man who wants to sell one to get in touch with Mayor Ross Rogers, general chairman of the Farley reception committee. His postscript was: "Of course, they should understand that this particular $1,000 horse should be sort of offered to Mr. Rogers reasonable like, the owner should be willing to donate everything above $150 to $200." Howe explained that to avoid any danger to the postmaster general, reared on the sidewalks of New York, being tossed from a paint pony's back, there would be five attendants handy—one for the head and one for each of the four legs. He must stay on the horse 10 seconds to get full ownership. "All Mr. Farley will be asked to do is to climb on the horse by himself," Howe said.

Mrs. Owen Haynes and small son, Bobby, of Artesia, and Mrs. Andrew Weir of Richland Springs, Tex., returned Friday after visiting in Texas for the last month. Mrs. Haynes and son visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Yeats of Carrizo Springs and Mrs. Weir, who is making an indefinite visit with her brother, Joe Richards, and family, visited her home folks at Richland Springs.

School Buses to Be Uniform in Color in Future

All school buses of the nation, including those of New Mexico, eventually will have all-steel bodies and be painted in one yellow-orange color, under terms of an interstate agreement, reported by J. T. Reece, state director of school bus transportation.

He returned last week from a New York meeting at which department of education representatives of each state conferred with chassis and body manufacturers. It was agreed, he said, that the nation's school buses should be standardized in the future to make for safer transportation and more economical production.

The new buses, painted in "national school bus chrome" (orange-yellow) will be supplied for replacements as current equipment is retired.

New Mexico now has 972 school buses, of which 182 do not have all-steel bodies. These latter will be the first to be replaced, Reece said.

Dr. and Mrs. Wainright Miller went to El Paso Sunday for a brief visit with their home folks and transacted business while in that city.

FIRST NATIONAL Service

The real verdict on First National service must come from our customers. If they are satisfied they will tell others. In fact, most of our new friends now come to us on the recommendation of old friends.

The men and women on the First National staff know that the responsibility rests upon them to "make good." They realize that there is still plenty of room for improvement, and they are devoting their best efforts to that end.

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State." Gleaned from Many Sources

A series of classes to instruct service employes in how to be helpful to tourists has begun at Taos with Tourist Bureau Director J. A. Bursey as instructor. Classes will be held at Raton, Clayton and Las Vegas. Sponsored by the vocational education division, the program aims at telling restaurant workers, hotel employes and service station attendants how best to interest tourists in New Mexico.

This is the tale of a calf which would have no tale at all if she hadn't had three tails. Jerry Drunk, Santa Fe dairy manager, displayed a two-day-old calf with two more tails than most calves started their careers with. Two of the tails were where tails should be. The other sprouted out between the calf's shoulders. The calf was in excellent health and spirits. The mother, a prize milk producer, was a little baffled.

Belief of the State Department "felt kindly toward New Mexico's 1940 Coronado Cuarto Centennial" was expressed by Governor John E. Miles of New Mexico. Miles conferred with Under-Secretary Sumner Welles, urging the Department of State approve the $250,000 sought by New Mexico's congressional delegation for the celebration. Although Welles was non-committal, Miles said he believed the official "felt kindly toward the celebration."

Blacktopping of the new highway stretch of approximately 27 miles between Hobbs and Carlsbad will be probably the first, or at least one of the first, blacktopping jobs in the state this year, according to T. B. White, assistant district highway engineer.

With vast respect for New Mexico's brand of basketball. Ned Irish, promoter of Madison Square Garden, invited the New Mexico Aggies to again show their wares before New York throngs next January. The invitation bracketed the Aggies against Long Island University for Jan. 10 for a single game. The Long Islanders, winners of the national tournament in the Garden last winter, put the Aggies out in the first game by coming from behind in the second half. On next January's Eastern trip, the Aggies will stop off at Philadelphia to play Temple University, one of the top-ranking quintets of the East for several years. The Temple game is scheduled for Jan. 11.

Plans have been completed for the first annual Fourth of July rodeo celebration to be held in Portales. It will be staged July 3 and 4. Directors of the association have set the guaranteed purses of the show in excess of $1,600; each event with guaranteed purses of $100, $60 and $40. Plans for grand champion premiums have not yet been set. The show will be held in the new $10,000 rodeo arena just completed.

Preliminary examinations leading to a flood control survey of the Upper Pecos started Monday. The survey is under the technical direction of the Soil Conservation Service, and information gathered, it was pointed out, may be integrated in the comprehensive data on Pecos water resources which the national resources board plans to collect.

Recruits are being sought for the Eighth Corps Area Citizens' Military Training Camps, according to Major L. G. Frantz, in charge of recruiting for this section, which embraces New Mexico. Any young man who is physically fit, an American citizen, who has reached his seventeenth birthday by the date camp opens but has not passed his twenty-ninth birthday may attend. Camps for this section will be held: Camp Bullis, Tex., July 6 to Aug. 4; Fort Bliss, Tex., July 6 to Aug. 4; Fort Logan, Colo., July 6, Aug. 4; Fort Sill, Okla., July 3, Aug. 1, and Fort Huachuca, Ariz., July 6 to Aug. 4.

Twelve elk arrived at Santa Fe last week from the federal game refuge in good condition, Jimmy Johnson of the State Game Department reported. They will be placed on the Carson National Forest. Later, New Mexico will make repayment in antelope.

Another $50 bass was pulled from the waters of Elephant Butte Lake recently by Colonel West of the 7th Cavalry, Fort Bliss, Tex. Landing the prize fish on his first experimental throw, the colonel said it was the first fish he ever caught. The bass, tagged by authorities, was the fourth prize fish this year. It was planted about a mile above Elephant Butte Dam and was caught at McBray Canyon, five miles up the lake.

"Are you guilty?" asked Police Magistrate Lorenzo Gutierrez, Sr. of the girl before him charged with parking in a prohibited zone. "Yes, AD—STATE — your honor," replied the defendant, Rosie Gutierrez, his daughter. "One dollar, please," decreed the magistrate, reaching into his own pocket for the fine.

R. B. Coombs, office deputy of the State Game Department, reported the state was enriched by $3,412 by its regular sale of furs last week. The department sold 337 beaver skins, with prime pelts bringing a top of $15; 75 bobcat, 16 fox, 10 badger and 11 assorted others.

The state highway commission has approved sale by the finance board of $2,500,000 in highway debentures — $875,000 to the state treasury and the rest to private bond houses.

President Roosevelt has been invited by Governor John E. Miles to personally dedicate the $16,000,000 Conchas Dam in New Mexico, which is slated for completion in August or September. The president said he would like to if possible for him to get away.

A buff leghorn hen, owned by Robert Lebow of Milnesand, must read newspapers, for she has become a martyr to the perennial contest for a day's egg production. According to Lebow, the hen went to work early one day last week, laid two normal eggs in succession, then set out to do a real job. She continued laying eggs, but the shells were soft. After he twelfth egg, which was about the size of the tip of a man's thumb, the hen died.

Illinois Well No. 3 proves the Artesia oil field. Complete confidence has been restored to all who have doubted the results in the Artesia oil field. Henceforth the Artesia field will be known as a producing and not a wildcat field.

Misses Ella Brown and Marjorie Wingfield were honorees at a picnic at the Pecos River bridge Friday evening. Mrs. Landis Feather was the chaperone.

Plans are under way to make a permanent road to the oil field. A state representative to the Highway Department and district engineer will be here the first of next week.

Cold weather last Thursday and Friday nights is said to have done considerable damage to crops in this section. Alfalfa is reported to have been damaged to the extent of 80 per cent. Fruits have also been damaged.

Make Pastures Go Further

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary Breeder-Feeder Association

Farmers of the Southwest are adopting pasture rotation at a gratifying rate, but a great many still allow the livestock to range at will all over one large enclosure. The result is good for neither the pasture nor the animals. Parts will be overgrazed—the most palatable grass, the areas nearer water and shade—while other parts grow rank and coarse and when forced off the preferred grass by its shortage, the stock will find the neglected forage both less nutritious and even less palatable than if it had been grazed at the proper stage of growth.

IMPURE WATER-MILK-FOODS CAUSE TYPHOID FEVER

Typoid Fever is another CONQUERED disease, because Medical Science has definitely learned the cause and prevention. There is no longer necessity for anyone to have it, if he will immunize himself with anti-typoid vaccine. Typoid fever is a serious and wasting disease, "fought out" between the typhoid germs and the bodily forces, with the intestines and blood as the battleground.

TYPHOID germs enter the body, in nearly every instance, through water which has been contaminated through faulty drainage, unclean milk or UN-COOKED food. When in doubt about the water you drink in strange places, it is best to go thirsty or boil it thoroughly. Be just as careful about milk and foods, especially salad foods served uncooked.

The sure way for protection is to take a course of TYPHOID VACCINE, consisting of three weekly injections, that will completely protect you, for from three to five years. In these days of travel and being forced to eat and drink in all kinds of places, it is especially advisable.

TO THE PUBLIC

To Whom Concerned: The story continues to circulate that my interest in Mr. W. R. Hornbaker's election as a director of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers' Association is that he may resign, which is being used as political propaganda, and that I am to become his successor. I am anxious to go on record that my interest in his election is prompted entirely because of his well-recognized ability; and that under no circumstances would I entertain a place on the Board. Besides, if I did have any such aspirations, I would come out openly and announce.

W. T. HALDEMAN.

Will Make Loans To Wool Producers

Available on 1939 Production on Same Basis as Last Year

The Commodity Credit Corporation has announced that loans to wool and mohair producers upon their 1939 production have been made available on substantially the same basis as the loans were made in 1938, according to Royce Banks, acting state executive officer of the AAA.

The loans will be available upon the security of negotiable warehouse receipts issued by warehouses approved by the corporation. Loan values will be determined by appraisers employed by the corporation in accordance with a schedule of classification and values for scoured or clean wool. It is estimated that the loans on the principal classes of wool will range between 15 and 22 cents a grease pound, basis Boston. In determining the loan values on wool stored at points other than Boston, adjustment will be made to reflect the proper transportation cost there. Loans to producers are expected to average 17 to 18 cents a grease pound.

Loans on mohair stored at Boston or Texas points will be 30 and 20 cents, respectively, and 1 cent a grease pound less for mohair stored at other points.

The loans will be available from about April 15 to Oct. 31. They will bear 4 per cent interest and will mature 10 months from date, but in any event, not later than May 31, 1940.

Indians Launch Campaign for Voting Rights

New Mexico Pueblo Indians have launched what may prove to be a legal warpath for establishment of the state voting franchise for Indians in New Mexico.

At an all-pueblo council at the Domingo Pueblo, attended by Indian Commissioner John Collier, delegates from the various tribal pueblos took a strong stand on the issue but the council held a decision in abeyance to permit further discussion.

The proposal took the form of seeking the New Mexico franchise through a decree from the United States Supreme Court. The state constitution awards the franchise to everyone but "Indians untaxed." Advocates of the franchise based their views largely on what they asserted was opposition by New Mexico politicians to the interests of the Indians.

Speakers cited the land question as typical, in which opposition has been expressed to additional grants of federal lands to the Indians.

"If this policy continues to be advocated by politicians who should we not get the franchise and protect ourselves?" was one question phrased at the council meeting.

Several speakers declared the Indian could legally vote due to the "Indians untaxed" provision in the state charter.
