New Club's No. 1 Lion

FRED COLE

Pictured here is Fred Cole, No. 1 Lion of the new Artesia Lions Club, which will receive its charter at a banquet next Tuesday evening on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel.

From the smile on the president's face, if it be a criterion, the Lions are a friendly, happy bunch, who will roar only from delight in community service.

Hundred Members of Cemetery Pay Dues for Upkeep

Others Are Slow, but Work and Improvements Go Ahead

A second list of lot owners in Woodbine Cemetery who have paid their dues for upkeep of lots in 1939 has been released by the board bringing the number to about 100.

However, there still remain many who have not paid dues, Mrs. Tom Heflin, president of the board, said.

All lots are taken care of, Mrs. Heflin said, but it makes it easier when all dues are kept up. As it is, the board is seeing that all possible is done to keep the cemetery looking nice, but fertilizer is needed, which will cost money.

The board still is working on a cemetery trust fund, and as soon as it is perfected legally, lot owners will be notified, so those desiring perpetual care of lots may make provisions. A house has been purchased, to be moved to the cemetery for use of the sexton.

Those who have paid for the upkeep of their lots for 1939, in addition to a list published a few weeks ago:

Charles Rogers, Mrs. Beecher Rowan, Mrs. John Vogel, Preston Dunn, G. B. Dungan, Odd Fellows lodge, Mrs. Hester Terpening, A. C. Crozier, Jack McCaw, Mrs. Jim Simpson, Mrs. Etta Staggs, Mrs. Tom Runyan, Mrs. Mary Savoie, R. L. Paris, Hiram Netherlin, Ben Pior, Mrs. H. H. Hollarin, H. Weddige, Mrs. Sam Welch, Mrs. A. C. Purdy Store Is Opened in New Quarters Here

The Purdy Furniture Store opened for business this week in the Blocker building, which was vacated about two months ago by J. C. Penney Company. However, the formal opening was not announced by Will Purdy, owner, who said all the merchandise has not arrived.

Opening of the new store does not mean the store nor the owner is a stranger to Artesia, for Will Purdy has been in the furniture business in the Pecos Valley since 1900, part of the time in Artesia, continuously in at least one of the three cities of Artesia, Roswell and Carlsbad.

Purdy opened his former store in Artesia in 1933 in the Clayton building and sold to Everett Brothers in November, 1937. A year later, in November, 1938, he took the store back and closed it out, to make room for the Penney Company, which had leased the Clayton building for new quarters.

At present Purdy has a store in Roswell, which is run by his sons, Ed and Bill Purdy. Associated with Will Purdy here is C. E. Lanman as manager.

The Blocker building was remodeled and decorated for Purdy. The work included a new front, with large, modern windows.

Legion to Elect Officers at Meet Here on Monday

The annual election of officers of Clarence Kepple post, American Legion, will be at the hut Monday evening, C. R. Baldwin, commander, announced.

Baldwin urged that all members attend, pointing out the importance of selecting good men for the officers.

Cards are being sent out for the meeting by Oscar Samelson, adjutant, who said there will be entertainment and "eats."

Not only will the meeting Monday be of importance to the post, but the next two will likewise be important, the July meeting because officers will be installed and the August meeting because it immediately precedes the state convention.

Artesians Help State CC Group In Organization

Representatives of about fifteen Chambers of Commerce in New Mexico were organized Monday in Santa Fe into a new association, the Commercial Executive Association of New Mexico, described as a clearing house for the various chambers in the state.

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce was represented by Arba Green, secretary, and Charles Bullock, director, who drove to Santa Fe Sunday and returned home Monday evening.

The local men said the meeting was represented not only by officials of Chambers of Commerce, but by the Forest Service and the National Park Service.

Roy H. Smith, secretary of the Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce, who was elected president of the new organization, said its name was chosen with the purpose of "getting away from the idea of a state chamber of commerce."

Other officers: Vice president, Victor Minter, Carlsbad; secretary-treasurer, Frank Craddock, Jr., Portales.

The group will meet next the latter part of September or early in October in Albuquerque.

Future Is Up to Young People, Speaker Tells Artesia Grads at Commencement Last Night

Rotary Head Welcomes Lions

W. LESLIE MARTIN

W. Leslie Martin, president of the Artesia Rotary Club, this week extended his club's welcome to the new Artesia Lions Club, which will receive its charter next Tuesday evening.

"They are a fine bunch of fellows, those Lions," Martin said, "and I feel they will work with Rotary in the common cause of community service.

"In Fred Cole, the Lions have selected a splendid leader to be in charge of this, their first year's activities."

A message of congratulations and welcome from members of the Rotary Club to the Lions Club appears elsewhere in this issue.

Unauthorized Persons Collect Church Funds

The Rev. Constantino Gonzales, pastor of the Mexican Methodist Church, said this morning unauthorized persons have been collecting funds in Artesia on the pretext they were to be used in the construction of the new church.

A Spanish-American apprehended yesterday by officers admitted he had collected $40 without authorization, the pastor said. No action had been taken against him up to this morning.

The Rev. Mr. Gonzales said he has authorized no one to collect funds for the church, except Martin Yates, Jr., and E. B. Bullock.

The Spanish pastor is known to many of the business men in Artesia and his picture appeared in The Advocate recently in connection with a story about the cornerstone laying of the new church.

However, should anyone not knowing him be approached by the Rev. Mr. Gonzales for funds, he will be glad to produce identification credentials.

It is suggested that an officer be called in case a solicitor for funds for the Mexican Methodist calls, who cannot show proper credentials.

Are Preparing for M. E. Assemblies In the Sacramentos

Preparations are taking form rapidly for the intermediate assembly of the Methodist Church at Sacramento Camp in the Sacramento Mountains near Weed June 5-12 and for the young people's assembly June 12-17.

The Rev. John Rice, pastor of the Artesia Methodist Church, again will be in charge of a daily paper to be published during the junior assembly.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Church will attend the young people's assembly Friday, June 16.

A number of persons from Artesia are planning to attend one of the other of the assemblies.

The Rev. Henry S. Stout, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, plans to leave Friday for Albuquerque with Mrs. Stout, who is to go through the Lovell Clinic and enter Presbyterian Hospital.

Things Are Not Always as Rosy as Painted, Dr. Claude Dove of State College Says in His Address.

AWARDS ARE GIVEN

Paris Presents Diplomas, Kerr Scholarship and Other Honors.

Things are not always as rosy as painted by speakers at commencement exercises, one of their number pointed out here last evening.

Dr. Claude Dove of State College, addressing the sixty senior graduates of Artesia High School, rather than painting a rosy future for them, told the young people the future destinies are up to them.

In one of the best commencement addresses heard here in many years, Dr. Dove told the seniors he first graduated in 1914. At that time, he said, the speaker spoke of peace and the absurdity of thinking this country ever would go to war. But soon Dr. Dove was shouldering a rifle in France!

At a subsequent graduation in 1929, Dr. Dove said, the speaker told of prosperity and the security of America economically. Then came the depression, with its relief and government agencies.

So it would be futile to tell the graduates they are ready to face lives filled with joy and plenty, he said. Rather, he stressed, is it up to the graduates of Artesia High School and other young men and women of America to meet and attack the future destinies of the nation.

Presentation of the diplomas was made by R. L. Paris, president of the board of education.

Scholarships, honor certificates and medals were presented by W. E. Kerr, superintendent.

Maurine Everett, valedictorian, received scholarships for Eastern New Mexico Junior College, Portales; McMurray College, Abilene, Tex.; and Chillicothe Business College, Chillicothe, Mo.

To Donald Pior, salutatorian, went scholarships from Eastern New Mexico Junior College and McMurray College.

Ennice Boteler was awarded a scholarship in music from Eastern New Mexico Junior College.

Honor certificates from Alpha Phi Sigma, national scholastic society, New Mexico Normal University, Las Vegas, were awarded Maurine Everett and Donald Pior and a good citizenship certificate from the D. A. R. to Ennice Boteler.

Artesia High School student council medals: Scholarship, Maurine Everett; activities, Charles Baldwin; outstanding athlete, Asa Irbay.

An honorary science award from Bausch & Lomb Laboratories went to Marvin McCaw.

NO ROTARY MEETING

No luncheon of the Artesia Rotary Club was held Tuesday noon, the members observing Memorial Day.

The club will meet as usual next Tuesday.

NEWS CROWDED OUT LAST WEEK

Last minute advertising in last week's issue, in addition to unusual page make-up because of a two-page ad, crowded out some of the live news.

A summary of the softball activities, available oil field news and a story pertaining to Woodbine Cemetery, as well as a news-photo in regard to "Poppy Day," were among the "live copy" killed out by necessity.

The cemetery story appears elsewhere in this issue in the original form as set last week.

Explanation is made because many readers do not understand the space limitations nor the mechanical difficulties encountered at times in publishing a newspaper.

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER

The ideals of Lions International are high and Artesia should congratulate itself on having a new Lions Club, which will receive its charter next Tuesday evening.

On second thought, the fine group of members of the new organization might be deserving of the congratulations, for having the progress and civic pride in Artesia enough at heart to bind themselves together in the community's service.

Some might think one service club in a community the size of Artesia is sufficient. Perhaps it is, but surely both Lions and Rotary can and will find ample objectives for the general good to warrant their existence without overlapping.

The two in no way overlap, any more than does the work of two or more churches. Each type of organization in either case has an objective, the one the spiritual welfare of the community, the other the civic welfare. And, as in the case of the churches, Lions and Rotary, with a common objective, will work together.

Congratulations also are due the members of the new club in the selection of their officers, all men with reputations in Artesia for fair dealing and civic-mindedness.

A newspaper can speak with authority on the good to be derived by a well-working service club. Without such a club, the newspaper has to serve alone in that work. The cooperation between a service club and a newspaper can accomplish much and with the Lions to help boost, along with the Rotary Club, the Chamber of Commerce and the newspaper, Artesia should show some real results from a community standpoint.

WE'RE TAKING A TERRIBLE CHANGE

It's surprising how many college graduates know so little about one of the "three R's," 'ritin', not as professionals, but as the plain, common, garden variety of writers.

Many cannot write an intelligent summary of anything, let alone burst into any form of journalistic writing, which an astonishingly large number believe to be their forte.

Inasmuch as nearly everyone at some time has reason to submit copy to a newspaper, we sincerely believe it should be a required part of every college curriculum for students to take a short course in journalism.

This would not make journalists of them. Heavens no! For few graduates in journalism are ready to pursue the writing profession.

But they would at least realize that all typewritten copy for any publication should be double spaced and on one side of the paper only, that whatever is submitted should be signed, that no one should presume to write headlines, but that ample space for them should be left, and that no editor needs to be told, "Of course you may change it, if it doesn't sound just right." The editor will exercise his prerogative without being told. He's a poor one if he doesn't!

On the other hand, it is not to be expected that the layman knows all the accepted journalistic forms or the particular style of a certain publication. Any editor will tell you that form and style constantly are changing and few, if any, can keep up with every change. In fact, few agree on all points.

But we believe that all editors will agree that it is about time some member of the profession takes the chance which we have just taken in order to get the point across that we receive an ungodly lot of poor copy from those who should know better.

ASK A FAVOR—MAKE A FRIEND

In Benjamin Franklin's autobiography, he tells how he once converted an enemy into a friend by asking a favor of him. Learning that this man had a rare and interesting book in his library, Franklin wrote requesting the loan of the book. Later, he returned the volume with a friendly note of thanks. The incident appealed subtly to the vanity of the lender, who became kindly disposed to Poor Richard and was ever after his friend.

It is a peculiarity of human nature not infrequently to feel more kindly disposed to those to whom a favor has been done than to those who have placed us under obligation. Franklin deliberately based his action on this.

So the next time you want to win over an opponent, you might try out this idea instead of heaping coals of fire on his head—some folks don't like fire.—Gallup Independent.

WHO'S WHO

A family who, we understand, lives in or near Torrance County had as a guest one week end a chappie from the British Isles.

During the night an owl perched in the tree outside his window and cried a long, mournful "who... who... who..."

The Englishman leaped from his bed in alarm. "I say, old man," he called out to his host. "I say... what in the world was that?"

His host listened for a minute. "Why nothing," he said soothingly. "just an owl."

"But of course, old bean," responded the Britisher, "of course it's an 'owl, but what I wish to know is what is it that's 'owling?'"—Mountainair Independent.

Camping
A week or so remains before the army of campers will be out in all their glory, and it is sad but true that campers as a class are not unduly popular.

There is of course a reason. In years gone by the tendency has been noticeable amongst campers to regard all property outside city limits as wide open spaces which are free for all.

Property rights should command respect in rural areas as much as in urban areas and who would be more enraged if rural dwellers came into the cities during the winter months and camped on city front yards without "by-your-leave" than the city dwellers themselves? Yet this is what they do each year to many rural property owners, riding roughshod over the rights of others in a great variety of ways.

Here are some of the things which make the army of campers unpopular:

Carelessness and pure laziness in closing gates, thus allowing cattle and livestock to stray and therefore causing stockmen a tremendous amount of trouble in order to round up their stock.

Camping close to stock waterings, thus preventing cattle and sheep from access to such waterings.

Camping close to running streams and permitting debris and filth to contaminate the water supplies which may be utilized for household purposes lower down the watershed. Washing the baby's diapers in a running creek is another pretty trick which is sometimes observed.

Camping upon any likely looking site without regard to the desires of the owner and without obtaining the permission which common courtesy demands.

Breaking camp without thought for those who may come after. Leaving calling cards in the shape of filthy discarded garments, blown automobile tires, pieces of rotten food, a miscellaneous collection of dirty tin cans, and many other items dangerous to health and unsightly to the eye.

Camping at spots where no provision has been made for waste disposal is another trick of the camper who only too often "takes to the tall timbers" when necessity indicates without regard to the proximity of streams or draws.

It is not intended to infer that all campers are guilty of conduct such as has been described, but it is unfortunate that a sufficient number are guilty to have brought the entire fraternity into some degree of disrepute.

If campers would only remember that property rights are as valid in the country as elsewhere, that gates found closed are supposed to remain closed, that water-sheds and streams are in fact drinking supplies and so must be protected against contamination from food and human wastes, that a beautiful site for a camp is as valuable to the next fellow as it is to the present camper, that property owners do not appreciate removing all kinds of filthy debris from a camp site after the camper has broken camp and gone his way, that unused foods should be destroyed by burning or burying or both, that tin cans and other materials of this type should be burnt first and buried afterwards, that camping is only lawful where toilet facilities are available, the army of campers would be infinitely more welcome to the facilities of rural property, both public and private.

If going camping this year, let us all try to camp in a manner which will reflect credit upon ourselves so that if we wish to return to the same spot next year we will be greeted and welcomed as campers who know how, when and where to camp.

Points to Be Considered in Preparing Fleece to Be Shown at Wool Show

Owners of sheep, who are planning on exhibiting fleeces at the wool show, which will be held in connection with the next convention of the New Mexico Wool Growers' Association, might appreciate the following suggestions made by James W. Christie, specialist in marketing wool, Bureau of Agricultural Economy, Washington, D. C.:

Shear sheep only when the fleeces are absolutely dry; remove all dirty locks before shearing by "tagging;" under no circumstances permit tags to be packed in fleeces. Be sure to remove the fleeces from the animals in an unbroken condition, rolling them with the flesh side out, as this side presents a much brighter and more attractive appearance than does the weather side. Brightness and attractiveness are very important points in judging wool fleeces. Do not roll the fleeces too tightly; a fleece which is lofty and springy is preferred. Never use sisal, rough jute or hemp twines in tying fleeces, or the fleeces will be disqualified by the judge; paper twine, and only enough to tie the fleece securely, should be used. Discard fleeces, such as burry, seedy, chaffy, cotted, black, and the like will be disqualified if entered in wool competitive shows. Should fleeces be stored between the time of shearing and the date of the show, care must be exercised to see that the storage place is clean, the room weatherproof, and the fleeces will not come in contact with excessive heat nor be subjected to moisture nor dampness. Precautions should be taken against moths since they are the natural enemies of wool and such an infestation will ruin the fleeces.

Growers entering fleeces in wool competitive shows should enter only those fleeces that contain well-defined properties and characteristics, important among which are uniformity of fineness, grade, length of staple, strength, elasticity, softness, pliability and good color.

Fleeces will be judged from the practical standpoint, that is, they will be compared on the basis of their money and utilization value with that of other fleeces that are in competition.

DEBUNKS FANCIES ABOUT RATTLES

W. T. Sweet of Butte, Mont., whose hobby for years has been the study of rattlesnakes, says a lot of the popular beliefs about the reptiles are not founded on fact.

Debunking some popular fancies, he says: Rattles do not go blind in August; they cannot stand the hot summer heat of the sun on their bodies; they do not like to fight; they will not strike unless disturbed or frightened; they cannot strike farther than half the length of their bodies and they do not always rattle before striking.

Happiness ain't something you get. It is something you have.

"Liver spots" can be about as bad as sunspots to cause a widespread disturbance!

There's more names for — and excuses for — just plain no-count laziness than any other thing in this whole world!

Some folks enjoy the queerest things. Guess if they knew pretty certain they were headin' for th' "bad place" they'd have to go and look in about once a week so they could keep tellin' their friends what awful things they'd have to endure!

Hennie says that these here folks that come to spend th' day are pretty generous with your time, too!

Bein' the youngest in the family is pretty tough — gettin' all th' teasin' and th' hand-me-downs, but you escape the "little Myrtle will want to do it too"—er worse yet, that you're the reason she has done it!

Maybe you can't make anybody think like you do—but a little wily maneuverin' of your own boss might put you in a position to see things from the other feller's point of view.

Farmers Are Up in Arms Over Delay in Subsidy Payments

Members of the cotton committee here are highly in favor of a statewide mass meeting of cotton farmers, cowmen and wheat farmers to discuss the delay in payment of subsidy checks long overdue, in line with an open letter from W. T. Scoggins, Las Cruces, published in The Las Cruces Sun-News Friday, in which he flayed the national government for the delay. Scoggins' open letter: "In fairness to farmers who have honestly tried to cooperate, who have been denied the free use of their own land, the government should pay all operating expenses above 3 per cent. The farmer, by any stretch of the imagination, cannot be held responsible for the long delay. "Hair-splitting over turn rows, returning weeks of work to be all done again, over some senseless farm or a few feet of variance in measuring land, unwilling to take time honored measurements or the United States U. S. R. S. surveys. One set of officials O. K. on compliance, only to have another set to require valuable crops plowed up. Office nit-wits that do not know a cotton stalk from a cockle-burr, sending out myriads of non-sensical useless compliance forms which are carefully, painstakingly and honestly observed, only to be sent back for some fancied or imaginable error. "A well established policy of chasing a man off the job just as soon as he learns it, thus nullifying all his work. Buck passing by everybody. No man given power to say yes and no; gross incompetency rampant; all power taken from our extension director; our county agent chased off the job; our state committee reduced to parrot-like men; our county committee elected by the farmers who are mere clogs in the wheel of a merry-go-round. "Confidence . . . all gone. The government's promise to pay will no longer buy bread. Subsidy payments cannot be used as security for bank loans. "We are to be checked for compliance in December, 1938, and paid, then we were to be paid in February, 1939, then March, now we are not yet paid as we move to June. Some talk now of being paid in August. In the meantime, an army of workers with new recruits added nearly every week, are eating up the farmers' 1938 subsidy. "Let us call a statewide mass meeting at State College, of cowmen, wheat growers and cotton farmers and ask for: (1) A Congressional investigation of the Administration of the Agricultural program in the Western Division. (2) To discuss a transfer of New Mexico to the Southern division. (3) To demand that all cotton and wheat subsidies be paid to the farmer when sale is made of his cotton, or wheat, as is done now in Mexico. The local committee said they have it from reliable sources that the state committee is costing in excess of $1,000 a month for only the committee and its secretary. "There must be 12 or 15 in the office in addition to the several dozen that troop around over the state, that must cost us a mint of money that come out of our checks," one member said. "We have written members of state committee to ascertain just what the committee was costing the farmers in the months of February and March. They were traveling, from every account I could get from them in those two months. I got no satisfaction to my letters. We in the Pecos Valley have had Royce Banks, acting secretary of state committee, absolutely ignore letters written to him. We are fast building a dictatorship in the agricultural adjustment program, at the detriment to the farmers and out of their subsidy. "To Scoggins he wrote: "We believe if you will check the records at state office you will find that Fred O'Chesky and Hemphill, members of the state committee, are trying to make a full-time job of that office. If you check further back, you will find both almost did that very thing in county committee jobs the year previous. "I agree we should ask for a change from the Western division to the South. All the officials in higher brackets come from states that, as you said, knew no difference in a cotton stalk and a cockle-burr. "I sincerely urge you to call a statewide meeting at Las Cruces and work out some plan to turn our program back to the farmers, so we may better get what Congress intended we get without so much expense and red tape. We will get as many farmers from the Pecos Valley to attend as possible." Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ransbarger have received an announcement from their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ransbarger, of Long Beach, Calif., telling the birth Thursday, May 18, of a daughter, Norma Jean.

- 2 The structural strength of the Ford car — frame, bracing, axles, body — makes not only for safety, but durability and long life.
- 3 Ford hydraulic brakes are exceptionally large and strong in proportion to car weight.
- 4 The Ford car is stabilized for comfortable riding. Its springbase, the distance between front and rear suspension, is 123 inches. Seats are toward the center, perfectly balanced. The car does not bob or dip and can have very little sway.

These four points — power, strength, safety, comfort — are by far the most important essentials in any motor car. They form the basic value of your investment.

With this solid foundation to build on, the Ford V-8 has been made beautiful, spacious, easy to drive. It is richly upholstered and has all the modern features which add to the luxury and pleasure of motoring.

You can see these things when you take a trial drive, but do not forget that the main value is in the things you do not readily see — quality of materials, precision of manufacture, fundamental engineering.

INSULIN

ALLOWS THE DIABETIC PATIENT TO EAT AND LIVE NORMALLY

"Diabetes is a disease in which the secretion of the Islets of Langerhans is deficient, normal utilization of carbohydrates is impaired and glucose excreted." (Joslin)

The Islets of Langerhans are island-like tissues in the pancreas. These islands supply the blood with a secretion that helps to utilize sugar taken up from the digestive tract. A large percentage of food is converted into sugar, before it can be used by the blood to feed the cells of the body. The diabetic is partially or wholly unable to utilize this sugar and slowly starves, while this life-giving food passes away through the kidneys.

Since the discovery of Insulin, a diabetic patient can be studied by his physician, and the necessary dosage of Insulin given each day. His symptoms clear up, he feels well and can live a normal active life. Many cases of Diabetes faithfully treated, eventually get practically well.

Young Men and Women of Artesia Are Returning Home From School

A number of the young men and women of Artesia who enrolled in colleges from the East to the West Coasts last fall have graduated, receiving their degrees with majors in many different fields of study. Others have been working toward higher degrees, while many have only begun in their college careers. Some have returned home, others are expected and a few will continue their studies this summer.

Miss Florine Muncy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nevil Muncy came home from Las Vegas Friday and returned there Wednesday. Miss Muncy, who will begin her junior year's work this summer, works part time on the Daily Optic there in the classified ad department. Miss Margaret McCrory, daughter of "Rusty" McCrory in the Oil Field, who also attends the New Mexico Normal University in Las Vegas, visited her home folks from Friday to Wednesday. Miss McCrory works part time at a theatre while attending school. Justin Newman and J. P. Fleming, who were also college students in Las Vegas, returned Friday to spend the summer at home. The four students were brought home by "Buddy" McCrory, who drove to Las Vegas for them.

Miss Peggy Brainard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reed Brainard, returned last week from Berkeley, Calif. Miss Brainard was a member of the graduating class at the University of California. Rules Amendment Of Ranch Program Approved by AAA

Pertains to Repair of Broken Dams, Division Director Announces

An amendment of rules for ranchmen of New Mexico who are cooperating this year in the AAA range conservation program has been approved by N. E. Dodd, director of the Western division of the AAA.

This amendment provides that "under no circumstances shall the repair of broken dams, constructed under previous programs, be approved for payment. However, an old dam, constructed prior to the inauguration of the range program, may be repaired; or an existing dam, where an operator has received payment under previous range programs for construction of a dam up to the limit of his range building allowance and the county committee, with the approval of the state committee, determines that the purpose of the range program can best be attained thereby, can be enlarged."

Hoy Connelley, state range examiner, when asked about the amendment, called attention to the facts that all measurements for the fill of the existing dam must be made and recorded with the county committee prior to the doing of any work on the dam in 1939; that the county committee must determine that the present location of the existing dam is the most logical site; that its completion will contribute to range conservation, and that all construction shall be of a permanent nature and in accordance with approved specifications.

Boy Scout News

Between 200 and 300 Boy Scouts will accompany Robert Ripley, author of the famous "Believe It Or Not" cartoon, on a trip through the Carlsbad Caverns Friday. Mr. Ripley will broadcast from inside the caverns.

Every precaution will be taken to insure the health and safety of Boy Scouts who attend Camp We-Hin-Ah-Pay, which opens for the first period Sunday, June 4.

A detailed plan for the prevention of accidents was worked out at a recent meeting of the health and safety committee of the Eastern New Mexico Boy Scout council, including a continuation of the use of the transportation check sheet, which has been successfully used for a number of years. On the check sheet, the scoutmaster must state the type of vehicle in which his Scouts will be taken to camp, the condition of the vehicle and the qualifications of the driver. All sheets must be approved at council headquarters.

All possible sanitation measures will be employed at camp and a registered nurse will be in attendance at all times. Every boy must have a physical examination by a registered physician before being admitted to camp.

About fifty Scouts are expected to attend the first session of camp, June 4-11, and about seventy-five will attend each of the next two sessions, June 11-18 and June 18-25. The camp is located in the beautiful Sacramento Mountains near the town of Weed.

Tentative dates for the cruise of Sea Scouts of the Eastern New Mexico area Boy Scout council in the Pacific Ocean off the California coast have been set for Aug. 2-16.

The cruise will be limited to twenty-one Sea Scouts and four officers. Sea Scouts must have had at least two months service and be of at least apprentice rank. The trip to the coast will be made by bus and the entire cost will be approximately $50 a boy.

The cruise will be made in three 28-foot cutter sailboats to be furnished by the Long Beach Sea Scouts. Each boat will be in charge of an experienced seaman.

Miss Wanda Story, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Story, underwent an appendectomy by local doctors in St. Francis Hospital in Carlsbad Sunday night. Miss Story's condition is reported good.

latest of equipment for the correct manufacture and freezing of ice cream and organized their factory along the most sanitary line.

With the development of the ice cream industry from its infancy only a few years ago, there have come many and varied changes. The contest for supremacy was first developed along the line of furnishing ice cream of any old kind, just so it was sold at a cheap price. This era has passed away and the manager of this firm is largely instrumental for this change of policy in this part of the state.

With this foundation, they purchased only the very purest of ingredients and consequently their product is the best that can be secured on the market. This ice cream is sold in seal tight containers and every precaution is taken for its richness, purity and safety of delivery so that you are assured that it will always be found in the best of condition.

Realizing that the public taste has been developed to such an extent that it has become epicurean relative to ice cream, they set about the establishment of an institution that was thoroughly modern and in keeping with the demands of the day. They purchased and installed the very

If the public could only comprehend how these products are manufactured by this company—could they understand how absolutely pure and health-giving they are—there would not be a family in this vicinity which would not be a patron of this concern.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Industrial Woodsmen—

Chemists who tap the spruce trees for synthetic vanilla are the industrial descendants of those who extracted syrup from maples. In lignin, the stuff which holds the cells of wood pulp together, they're finding many useful compounds.

Recently, they succeeded in combining lignin with hydrogen through the use of heat, pressure and a catalyst, copper chromium oxide. Distillation produced, at different temperatures, wood alcohol and compounds suitable for use in the manufacture of low-priced plastics, solvents, insecticides and water-resistant lacquers.

Developments in "wood chemistry" are furnishing many new outlets for wood pulp and sawmill wastes. Ground into "flour," the pulp is one of the most important ingredients in the plastic equipment for radios and telephones. Sawdust mixed with mineral cements is used in making flooring, tiles, stuccos, plasters and insulation materials. Sawmill wastes offer an ideal cheap source of raw material for the manufacture of "synthetic" structural products.

New industries built on "shavings" will bring chemical plants to the forests, it is believed, where abundant raw material will be gathered from rotating crops of fast-growing trees.

A leading automotive manufacturing corporation reports 4,000 new jobs resulting from its development of diesel engines.

In a diesel locomotive plant 3,000 men have jobs that did not exist five years ago. In another plant where diesel engines are manufactured in smaller sizes for stationary industrial power requirements and mobile needs such as in trucks, buses, tractors, steam shovels, portable power units and small cruisers, 500 more new jobs have been created.

Farm Relief—
Tractor manufacturers' contribution to agricultural relief is the one-man harvester.

This automatic hired hand, in one operation cuts, threshes, separates, cleans and bins more than 100 varieties of grains, beans and seeds, from red kidney beans to bird seed!

Plenty of Nothin'!—
Two young men in Rochester, N. Y., with plenty of nothin' decided to make a concentrated study of it! Creating as complete a vacuum as possible they emerged with an entirely new and startling chemical method called "molecular distillation."

Oil, they discovered, would flow over a heated surface separated from a cold surface by the vacuum. They discovered, also, that molecules jumped from the hot surface to the cold surface — something that had never happened before. Now they use it for taking vitamins out of cod liver oil. Vitamin molecules do the jumping. Possibilities for further adaptation are apparently endless.

Gas Gets Busy—
Among the industrial contributions to better living at the World's Fair are a gas compound used in modern refrigeration, an experimental home air cooling unit operated by natural gas, and an automatic gas laundry which needs no tending.

With expanding service in the home anticipated, natural gas is also finding wider application in industry. New plants in the Southwest are installing equipment for the use of natural gas as fuel from nearby sources of supply. Steam power plants used some 172,500,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas which generated about 12,650,000,000 kilowatts per hour of electric energy in 1938. In the same year 180,000 more customers were served by manufactured and natural gas companies.

Make Up in Defense!—
Lurid-white "cosmetics" used by some oil-well and petroleum-pipeline workers (male) put to shame the most flamboyant of make-up artists among the gentler sex. The oil-workers' facial adornment, which makes them look like a cross between a ghost and a circus clown, is put on with no hope of improving nature's defects, however. It is used for defense.

Petroleum geologists, searching for oil, have discovered many fields beneath the waters of the Gulf of Mexico off the shores of Louisiana and Texas. Building a derrick foundation under these difficult conditions made it necessary to use cased, water-resistant timbers. Crews working on and around these timbers soon found that they absorbed and radiated intense heat, causing painful facial inflammation and burns. Pipe-line workers, coating the pipes with a black water-and-corrosion resistant, had the same trouble.

To protect themselves, they now daub their faces liberally with a zinc oxide preparation that gives them a bizarre appearance, but saves blisters and infections. Pipe-line workers may frighten a few cows and farmers; the oil-well workers startle only the sea gulls.

Petrolines—
Untiring oil producers are "stripper" wells, with pumps which start automatically at 9 a. m. and shut down at 5 o'clock at night.

China plans large-scale development of oil deposits discovered recently in the Sikang Province.

Fifteen Years Ago Today

(From The Advocate Files of May 30, 1924)

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce went on record at its last meeting as endorsing the action of the county commissioners in securing a county agricultural agent.

Twenty-eight seniors graduated from the local high school this week. The diplomas were delivered by Dr. Skeen, president of the school board. Carl Henderson was voted to be the best all-round student.

Miss Nellie Gray and her brother, Buford, arrived last week from Faber, Mo., to join their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Gray, here. Buford was a member of the high school graduating class. Miss Gray has been elected to teach the third grade here next year.

Mrs. Alf Coll and children left Monday morning to spend the summer at their cabin on the Ruidoso.

Will Purdy, Mrs. Purdy and son, William, were visitors here Monday. Mr. Purdy is an old-timer in the Pecos Valley, having run a furniture store in Carlsbad before moving to Roswell where he now conducts a like business.

Miss Leah McClay is expected home from Redondo Beach, Calif., where she taught school this last school term.

Those who received the highest grades in their class for the school year in the grades were: Jean Wheatley, third grade; Fern McCaw, fifth grade; Ruth Bigler, sixth grade, and John Clarke, Eighth grade.

Eddy 4-H Clubber Wins Scholarship Of $50 for Work

Richard Birchell Is One of Four Honored in New Mexico

Scholarships, to be used at State College, recently were awarded to four 4-H Club members, including Richard Birchell of Eddy County, by the New Mexico Extension Service. These scholarships are for $50 each. The awards are made by a committee of state office workers who base their selection on the previous record of the club member, his financial need, and his personality.

The other winners of the 1939 award, to be used during the school year 1939-40, are: Billy Gaskill, Luna County; Refugio Romero, Santa Fe County, and Marjorie Abercrombie, Quay County. Alternates for the awards are Travis Hughes, Quay County, and Frankie B. Swinford, Curry County.

Young Birchell has been a club member for three years and has successfully completed eleven projects, besides establishing an excellent record in his three years of club work. He is now president of his club. His school record has been outstanding, both in scholarship and in school activities.

Billy Gaskill has been an active club member for three years. In 1938 he carried a livestock-agronomy project and placed first in the state contest sponsored by the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association and the Eastern New Mexico Livestock Association. The calf which Billy fed last year placed fifth in the Southwestern Livestock Show held in El Paso. Billy also had a fine record in his hezari project.

Refugio Romero, a club member for eight years, has completed ten projects. She has been president of her 4-H Club for two years and has acted as leader in her community. It is through her efforts that there is such splendid 4-H work in that community, the Extension Service said. Refugio has an unusually good school record and is valedictorian of her class.

The fourth recipient of a scholarship, Marjorie Abercrombie, has been a club member for five years and has completed eight projects. She has won several awards at county exhibits on her project work. Her school activities have

State Ports of Entry Are Tourist Minded Under the New Legislation

New Mexico's revised port of entry system is "absolutely tourist minded," Earl Stull, chief, said after an inspection of the ports.

"Instead of feeling that they are being imposed upon," he said, "tourists now are showing a disposition to want to stop at the registration stations.

"Our men greet them with hospitality, give them road information, tell them the best places to fish, the finest sights to see and the most convenient stopover accommodations.

"They appreciate it."
Improving tourist relations was one of the two main objectives of the last legislature sought in overhauling the old, complaint-ridden system. The other was to facilitate the free flow of farm produce across state lines.

That, too, is working out to the satisfaction of nearly all concerned, Stull said.

The new law provides that vehicles laden with farm produce may enter New Mexico without paying special license or mileage tax, provided they return with a load of New Mexico produce, and provided the other state gives New Mexico reciprocal treatment.

"While this measure was drawn to give positive encouragement to interstate trade," said Stull, "it must be emphasized that it does not permit out-of-state operators to haul in commodities and peddle them in competition with New Mexico farmers and business men."

Stull said the new law had not been in operation long enough to determine definitely the attitude of neighboring states toward the reciprocal trade feature.

He expressed confidence, however, that "agreements can be worked out" with other states to bring about a mutually beneficial interchange of farm products.

NEW PASTOR AND WIFE TAKE UP DUTIES HERE

been noteworthy and she has an excellent scholarship record.

Experiments in Growing of Flax Being Made Here

Experiments with flax on a half dozen or more farms in Eddy County are being encouraged by Fred Barham, county extension agent. If the plant is found to flourish and produce well, new industries of linseed oil and flaxseed meal manufacture may spring up here, he said.

The plants are not of the variety used for producing fiber, but are grown rather for the seed. Barham says experimental planting totals about sixty acres, no one farmer having more than 10 acres.

S. J. Lanning, Jr., of Artesia, W. J. Bindel, C. P. Pardue, Carl

Martin and Harroun Farm are among the planters. Hail damaged the Harroun flax, but the plants are rallying despite that set-back, Barham said. Prospects for the undamaged plants are good, he added.

DAREN'T START DRY

EVEN if this is the camel that holds all records for going-without-more-drink, how long could he last if he had to start dry? Your car and your engine oil can't last either if you keep starting dry this Summer. But how can you help it?

You can't... not with any of these oils that are always in a rush to drain down to the crankcase completely.

You certainly can help it though, by getting your engine OIL-PLATED.

NEVER all down in the crankcase, no matter how long or how often you park your car, OIL-PLATING is lastingly close-knit to every inner engine surface by the action of Conoco Germ Processed oil. Patented Germ Processing creates the strong "power of attraction" that fastens non-detachable OIL-PLATING throughout your engine. Does chrome-plating drain down at a standstill? Neither does OIL-PLATING. Therefore actually in advance of starting, OIL-PLATING is ready to slide every working part into easy motion, without rasping dryness. And since OIL-PLATING doesn't fly off or fry up it helps your engine to shatter the record for going-without-more oil. That's why you want to OIL-PLATE today with Germ Processed oil, at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

Candling of Eggs Is Insurance in Compliance of Law

Is Only Way Producer Can Be Certain They Are Fit For Food

The recently amended egg law states that no one shall offer an egg for sale that is unfit for human food. The only way a producer can be absolutely sure that all eggs he offers for sale meet this requirement is to candle them, says E. E. Anderson of the New Mexico Extension Service, or he can take the eggs to a dealer who will candle them for him and pay for the edible eggs only.

Some dealers refuse to buy any but candled eggs. Under such conditions, the producer encloses a certificate with the eggs, giving his name and the date the eggs were candled. The law requires that all eggs purchased for resale must have been candled within a reasonable time before being sold.

No license is needed by either producer or dealer to buy or candle eggs, nor does the producer need a license to sell eggs. However, all dealers who sell in lots of one case or more are required to procure a license.

Dealers must place a candling certificate in every case of eggs sold, giving date of candling, name of state and license number of the firm or person for whom the eggs were candled, and stating whether the eggs are fresh, processed or cold storage. Retailers selling loose eggs must mark the container with a placard stating date candled and whether fresh, processed or cold storage. This same information must appear on the carton when sold in that form.

In order for eggs to be classed as "fresh," they must have no defect that would make them unfit for human food. In addition, they must be clean and sound of shell, with an air cell not more than one-quarter inch, in depth.

An amendment to the law requires that every case of eggs brought into the state shall have been candled and the candling certificate shall show where said eggs were produced, the state and place, and by whom the same were candled. The original certificate, or a copy, must accompany the eggs until sold to the consumer.

Report of Board Gives Estimates Of Cotton Crop

Final Figures for New Mexico Show 94,000 Acres Last Year

Revised estimates of the 1938 cotton crop in New Mexico by the crop reporting board show there were on July 1, 1938, 97,000 acres in cultivation from which there were 3,000 abandoned, leaving 94,000 acres harvested. The yield per acre in 1938 was 489 pounds compared with 490 pounds in 1937. The 1938 production was 96,000 bales of estimated 500 pounds each, as compared with 163,000 in 1937 and 111,000 in 1936. The 1938 production was the smallest for the state since 1935.

The board, in revising statistics of acreage, yield per acre and production of the 1938 cotton crop, estimates the area in cultivation in the United States on July 1 to have been 25,018,000 acres; the area harvested 24,248,000 acres; and the yield of lint cotton to have been 235.8 pounds per harvested acre. The report of the Bureau of the Census, published on May 18, placed final ginnings for the 1938 crop at 11,944,340 equivalent 500-pound bales.

The acreage harvested in 1938 was approximately 27.9 per cent smaller than the harvested acreage in 1937, and 31.6 per cent smaller than the average harvested acreage for the period 1927-36.

Production in 1938 of 11,843,600 bales is about 7,093,000 bales or 37 per cent below the 1937 crop of 18,946,000 bales and 9.5 per cent below average production in the 10-year period 1927-36.

In revising the cotton acreage for 1938, consideration was given to the cotton acreage as measured by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. In consideration of these measurements it was necessary to lower the acreage for 1938 and in a few states for some earlier years. Slight reductions in acreage were made in Mississippi for 1937, in Tennessee for 1936 and 1937, and in Arkansas for 1935, 1936 and 1937. No changes were made in the statistics of total bales produced and ginned.

The yield estimates of the states involved were raised, offsetting equal percentage decreases in the original acreage estimates. The revised estimates for these states and for the United States were made a part of this report.

Believe It or Not, Ripley Will Go on Air From Caverns

Will Originate Broadcast There Friday Night for Hook-up

Believe it or not, one of the strangest broadcasts in the history of radio will be made in Eddy County at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, when Robert Ripley goes on the air from the Carlsbad Caverns.

Ripley, creator of the famous cartoon, "Believe It or Not," will originate his weekly broadcast in the cave, 750 feet below the surface of the Guadalupe foothills.

Col. Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, predicts the broadcast over a hook-up of eighty-five stations will increase interest in the caverns, resulting in more tourists making the underground trip.

Ripley is to be accompanied on his trip to the Carlsbad Caverns by Gov. John E. Miles and 200 to 300 Boy Scouts of the Eastern New Mexico area.

The cartoonist visited the caverns several months ago, leading to the unusual radio set-up for tomorrow. In announcing the broadcast when he was on the air last week, Ripley called the Carlsbad Caverns "the most beautiful spot in the world"—believe it or not!

Cut Is Shown in State Death Rate Of Infant in '38

Lowest Mortality Since Records Were Established by Department

The lowest infant mortality rate in New Mexico since establishment of records by the State Health Department was reported for 1938.

The 1938 rate, said Miss Cathryn Arjer, department statistician, dropped to 106.7 from 121.7 for each 1,000 live non-Indian births from 1937 to 1938.

With 13,662 live births in New Mexico in 1938, the drop in infant mortality represented the saving of the lives of 205 children due to improved health measures.

There were 100 fewer infant deaths from diarrhea and dysentery, most virulent baby-killers, in 1938 than in 1937 and the same number from unknown causes without medical attention.

This accomplishment was made possible through the aid of a personnel financed by the United States Children's Bureau and Public Health Service in cooperation with the State Health Department and district units, said Dr. E. B. Godfrey, state health director.

The improvement primarily has been brought about by more intensive work in the field, he said. The figures show forward strides in sanitation, widowery, facilities, pre-natal and infant care.

The New Mexico rate, though still among the highest in the nation, has decreased steadily since 1929, when the figure was 140.2.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. McDonald went to Ruidoso Monday and expected to visit El Paso before their return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Irby were guests of Mrs. Irby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Bullock, Wednesday.

County Welfare Board Is Formed At Meeting Here

A meeting to organize a county welfare advisory board was held Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce office in Artesia, to serve as a clearing house for various civic organizations in the county which do welfare work.

It will continue to help with crippled children's work, as well as consider new welfare problems and present them to organizations that can handle them. The group will also strive to acquaint the clubs with all the facilities available to the needy.

Dr. O. E. Puckett, district health officer, suggested that the board include in its objectives better housing conditions, improved sanitation through screening and sanitary privies, and better water supplies in sections where the water is not absolutely sanitary.

Officers selected by the group: Carl Folkner of Artesia, chairman; Mrs. F. W. Thacker of Carlsbad, vice chairman; and Mrs. Jack Perry of Carlsbad, secretary. Mrs. Perry was formerly secretary of the crippled children's committee which formed the nucleus for the new board.

Those attending the meeting were: Fred Barham, Mrs. Charidee Donaldson, Miss Esther Johnson, Miss Vernita Conley, Mrs. F. W. Thacker, Carl Henderson, Elmer Perry, Mrs. Jack Perry, Dr. O. E. Puckett and Paul Ball of Carlsbad; Mrs. Jess Truett, Mrs. Grove Kennerly, Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green and Carl Folkner of Artesia; Mrs. Irvin Cox and A. M. Autry of Hope, and Miss Vivian Graham, district welfare worker, from Roswell.

The next meeting will be held in the welfare office in Carlsbad June 23.

Try Kerosene to Kill Dandelions

Extension Service Suggests Its Use in Controlling Weed Pests

Lawns and weeds go together, particularly lawns and dandelions, says F. F. Whitley of the New Mexico Extension Service. Experiments have been carried on for several years in an effort to find a successful method of controlling these weeds, especially dandelions.

The Oregon Experiment Station, in reports on a series of tests, finds kerosene gives the best results in controlling lawn weeds. The kerosene is applied without mixing with any other material. One application at the rate of three quarts to 130 square feet of ground gave a 90 per cent kill. This remedy, however, should be applied on a cloudy day or after sundown, in order to avoid damage to the lawn grass itself. More tests were made in the late summer or fall but fair results were secured also when applications were made from May on through the year. Just how effective the control would be in the spring is difficult to say, but a test could be made on a small scale on part of the lawn.

Where infestation of weeds in the lawn is not serious, home owners may stick to the common method of digging up each plant.

From time to time efforts have been made to control dandelions by applying certain material through squirt cans, as it is a simple matter to place the remedy in the heart of the plant. Reports concerning the efficiency of gasoline and carbolic acid are often conflicting. However, it was observed recently that one gardener was having success with the use of creosote. This was applied with a squirt can direct to the center of each plant. Common creosote sheep dip was being used.
