One of the larger gifts towards furnishing the new city hospital is $1,000 from the Continental Oil Company, which just has been acknowledged.

As work on the building draws to a close, the main worry of the city dads is completing the furnishing of the fine hospital.

A number of local organizations have furnished rooms, but there still remains furniture and equipment to be bought, for which funds are needed.

The sooner the job is done, the sooner the people of the Artesia community will have available the use of the hospital. Contributions, large or small, will be gladly received.

Robinson Tells About Features Of the Hospital

Describes the "Gadgets" Which Make It One of Most Modern in Southwest-Speaks at Weekly Rotary Luncheon.

A description of the fine, new, thirty-bed city hospital was given Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary luncheon by the man who is best acquainted with all of the modern features, as well as with the building-B. G. Robinson, superintendent of construction. The Rotarians, who have taken a great interest in the hospital, were surprised at some of the "gadgets" "wrinkles" included in the plant, by way of making it one of the most complete and up-tolate in the Southwest.

Robinson especially described the air conditioning and plumbing features of the building. The air conditioning plant, he said, has two units, one for the operating room, the other to handle the rest of the second floor.

The unit serving the operating room does not re-circulate air, Robinson said, but it expels the air through ducts, thus carrying off the odor of antiseptics, as well as the dangerous, explosive gasses of anesthetics.

A large fan controls the prinyear was slashed a little more cipal air conditioning unit, circulating about 2,700 cubic feet a proved total in a hearing held by minute, which gives a complete change at least every half hour. Robinson said the air is filtered before being re-circulated and, if the humidity is too low, a fine jet of water is automatically released into its stream to supply the correct amount of moisture.

Although water is used to hufiscal year showed the county op-

> Insulation for the air conditioning and heating plants are provided on the second floor by means of 5,000 square feet of 31/2-inch rock wool, the speaker explained. And the second floor has double windows, providing about an inch of dead air between panes.

The plumbing system, which cost about $4,000, includes ducts to an 18-inch attic from each connection, the odors being carried off from there by means of a motor-driven air turbine. Robinson said.

The hospital has 3 tubs, 4 showers, 20 lavatories, 8 toilets and 3 slop sinks. Robinson said the building. which is of reinforced concrete construction, is fireproof throughout except for joists in the second

JACKS MAY BE SMALL, BUT WEATHER'S FINE

One of the daily cartoons depicting world wonders told recently about a giant jackrabbit killed by a Dr. Pence of Minot, N. Dak. The rabbit, the cartoon declared, weighed 118 pounds and measured six feet two inches in length!

Such cartoons claim to be true, and to be able to back up all statements, so we will have to believe it.

We do know too that jackrabbits in the Northern states are larger than those in New Mexico, for we have seen them and once killed one which was larger than any yet seen here by us.

The thing which rather gets us, however, is that photographers in the Southwest have to fake pictures of large jacks for the benefit of those who would send post cards "back home" to the folks, when we are supposed to have whoppers. One thing we don't have to fake is a statement of the size of rattlesnakes in these parts. Maybe the rattlers keep down the big jacks. | 8 p. m. But the thing of more importance which does not have to be faked is a statement of the climate. We recently made a trip to our old stomping grounds in Western Illinois and Northeast Missouri. The weather was delightful when we arrived, but it warmed up during our visit. The temperature was not nearly so high as it has been in Artesia, but the humidity was stifling, so intense it felt as though some unseen something were pressing on one from all directions.

We were not dry for three days or more, the perspiration oozing out by the pint-and remaining on us to help give us a dandy sum-

All of our old friends asked us about the intense heat of the New Mexico desert, to which we knowingly laughed.

For we knew-but could hardly convince anyone-that the heat here amounts to nothing, that the arid air soon evaporates the perspiration, helping to keep one cool.

And to top that off, we have not seen a night here when one does not need covers, even early in the night, but in the Middle-West we have gone weeks on end practically without sleep, for the nights were nearly as hot as the days and one's bed seemed like a stove top.

That gets you down, but when one can sleep nights he doesn't mind the daytime heat so much-even if it did get hot, which we will not admit about the Pecos Valley.

GETTING A LIFT FROM THE DUMPS

As we have pointed out before, a newspaper usually gets it in the neck if and when something goes wrong, whether it be a typographical error or a misstatement of fact, but that when a story is as it should be and pleases those involved seldom is a word said.

But-and we have mentioned this before also-sometimes the editor receives a slap on the back in behalf of the staff for a job

Such was the case last week in regard to a certain news story which required some careful statement of facts.

A representative of one of the parties concerned came to The Advocate office for the express purpose of thanking the staff for the method in which the story was handled, with the statement the facts as given were 100 per cent correct.

On the other hand, the visitor said, other reports were about as nearly 100 per cent wrong or distorted as could be. We are sorry other reports did not come out as they should, for we find ourselves in a cramp at times and can understand the other fellow's feelings in such matters. But we do appreciate the fact the chap came in the office and thanked us for our careful handling of the matter and its correctness. Such things give us a renewed supply of pep and further determination to continue to strive for perfection—though seldom attaining it.

MAYBE THAR'S SILVER IN THEM THAR HILLS

Time after time correspondents and potential correspondents have been told that they must sign anything sent in as news. Otherwise it receives no consideration other than a tip, in case the supposed news sounds like a good story.

We will admit that at times a person may forget to sign such a fact, and also trying to do our news account, which would be rare. But last week we received what very best to raise this average purported to be a red-hot news story about a new silver find in the even to a higher level? The church Sacramento Mountains, which not only was not signed, but had a signature cut off the bottom, below the words, "Yours truly." The loops of three letters remained on that portion of the sheet above what had been the signature.

A thing like that puts a newspaper on the defensive, for it might at 11 o'clock with music by the tales will present a program in be construed that the person having written the account believes he choir and a timely message brought the interest of the home at the 11 should not have done so, and does not wish to be identified, or it by the pastor. "I Couldn't Do Without My Check Book"

"I'd feel lost without my check book," a business man said. "It's like the woodsman's blazed trail or the captain's log of the sea. I can tell how things are going with me financially.

"Every important item of expenditure is shown on the stubs of the check book. I pay bills quickly and without effort. No time or money is spent getting money orders. There is no worry about paying bills a second time. My cancelled checks take care of that.

"I can tell you there are a good many conveniences that I'd rather give up than give up my check book."

The amendment, which was introduced by Senator Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico, is of particular importance to cotton farmers of this state, according to Royce Banks, state executive assistant, AAA.

Known as Senate Bill 1569, the first section amends subsection (e) of section 344 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, by striking out "for 1938 and 1939" and in serting in lieu thereof "for 1938, 1939, and any subsequent year." This particulor section of the law is commonly known as the Hayden amendment, or the '60 per cent rule."

The second section of the law amends subsection (g) of section 344, and extends the provisions whereby an additional 4 per cent of a state's cotton acreage allotment is added for the purpose of making adjustments. HOUSANDS of motorists have subjected 1939 Chevrolets to the Mileage Meter test. In cars with gauges feeding a measured quantity of fuel to the engine, these thousands have seen how the 1939 Chevrolet stretches out each gallon of fuel to make it go farther-extra miles farther.

What about oil? The fact is that the 1939 Chevrolet is unbelievably economical of oil-because the oil stays in the engine.

As to upkeep and tires-every motorist knows of Chevrolet's traditional record for low cost of maintenance.

At the conclusion of his talk, the superintendent of construction thanked the city council for cooperation in the problems encountered in the construction of the hospital, which, he said, had been accomplished without the aid of an architect since before last Christmas.

H. G. Watson, mayor of Artesia and a member of the Rotary Club, "fired the compliment back" at Robinson for his untiring work on the hospital, in the face of delays and making the construction of the best under handicaps.

Prior to closing his talk, Robinson complimented his men-well, at least 75 per cent of them-for getting the job done under the much-laughed-at WPA, and the explained that the job has not taken so long, when one considers that the government allows eighteen working days a month.

Considering that feature of the program, Robinson said, one should realize that only 226 eighthour working days have been used in the construction of Artesia's hospital, which compares favorably with a contractor job.

Labor, he said, has cost $17,536, which likewise would be but little more than a contractor would have paid for a similar job, not a waste of the people's money.

Some of his men have developed themselves on the hospital job, Robinson said, to a point where they have purchased tools for their occupation and at least one man, through the experience he gained, has been successful in getting a contract on another government

The five-minute speaker was Pot Bert, who recounted the progress made during the last year in building in Artesia, as shown by the building permits issued in the office of the city clerk. The permits show at least $123,000 in improvements under permits in the city, probably totaling $300,000 in actual expenditure, based on tax-
