Bulldogs Meet Hobbs Friday, First Time Since 1937

Law Regarding First Primary Elections Here

Some Electors to Be Disappointed, Not Having Registered or Declared Party Preference Prior to Aug. 15.

Many legal electors will be disappointed Saturday when they go to the polls, for they have not complied with the new registration, in whole or in part. And a number of persons in New Mexico do not understand the primary law which will be in effect for the first time on election day Saturday.

Heretofore only the Democratic party held a primary, wholly within the party and for the nomination of party candidates.

But the primary law provides for a primary election for each party, all to be held on the same day and at the same places under the jurisdiction of the state.

In order to vote at any election in New Mexico, an elector must have been registered according to the new registration law. Special days were set aside last year for registering and two additional days were provided a few weeks ago. Anyone not having registered at the times provided had until Aug. 15 to appear in person at the office of the county clerk to register.

However, if one was not registered by that date, he may not vote in any party primary Saturday, according to the law.

And if an elector, even though registered, did not declare a party preference, he may not vote Saturday. He will be eligible to vote as he wishes in November, but he is excluded from the party primaries.

It has been pointed out that many persons in New Mexico, because they are not familiar with the party system, do not realize the limitations of their voting at a primary. A primary election, persons who understand the law explain, is similar to a party convention, except that instead of party members being at some central place for a county meeting of state meeting, they are provided convenient places near their homes, where they are part of the party convention through the use of the ballot.

Therefore, they are confined to voting at only one primary—or convention—that to which they have shown preference in registering, and may vote only for candidates of that party.

But when the general election comes, a voter may vote for any candidate of any party, the names appearing on his ballot, or Australian, ballot being those who will have been nominated at the several primaries.

The polls Saturday will open at 9 o'clock and will remain open until 6 o'clock in the evening. In Artesia the polling places are the American Legion hut, city hall, Central School and the Christian Church, and a person should go to the one in the sub-precinct in which he is registered.

It is suggested that every voter take to the polls with him the receipt given him at the time of registration, in order to make sure he will be allowed to vote in case there might be a mistake on the registration books.

Quesenberry Scouts Through Artesia on Trip Over the State

It was understood, but not confirmed, that George R. Quesenberry, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, a splendid man and a good friend of the farmers of Eddy County, was through here Friday.

Quesenberry, it will be remembered, was a victim of the regents of State College a few months ago, but he never, in the eyes of the farmers nor most of the other citizens, has been placed in any blame for ceasing to be at the head of the Extension Department.

The candidate, it is understood in Artesia, is one of the most popular men in the state and is a true friend of the farmer. His recommendations here for "second in command" are of the best.

How Duke City Paper Stands for Fred E. Wilson

An editorial Monday, under the caption, "Where We Stand," in The Albuquerque Tribune, had this to say about a man who enlisted from Artesia when war broke out in 1917 and who came back to Eddy County, where he was made a public official later:

"Because we think the nation, and Congress too, is in a state of needless and shameful hysteria, we favor the nomination of any man who can take a calm view of the current scene.

"There are nine Democratic candidates for Congress, against none of whom we have a word to say. Among them are many competent and worthy persons. Our preference is an Albuquerquean, the former Judge Fred Wilson. Judge Wilson knows New Mexico, its needs, its possibilities in the national defense picture. What to our mind is more important he has a judicial mind, sharpened or perhaps leavened, by experience on the bench. He decides objectively. If ever the nation needed the benefit of an objective mind it is now, when many proponents of many causes are shouting at the tops of their voices and with little, if any reason.

"Our choice of the congressional candidates is Fred Wilson."

Christian Speaks Word in Behalf of "Dick" Attebery

H. F. Christian, Eddy County treasurer and collector, was in Artesia Tuesday conferring with J. R. (Dick) Attebery, candidate for the same office, at which time Christian issued a statement in behalf of the Artesia man.

"I have been asked many times during the last three weeks," Christian said, "whether J. R. (Dick) Attebery is qualified to and will make a good treasurer and collector for Eddy County that I think a statement from your treasurer is due you.

"It is my opinion that 'Dick' Attebery is well qualified, honest and efficient, and if you cast your vote for him on Saturday, Sept. 14, you will have no regrets."

The present treasurer said that if Attebery is elected, the office of treasurer and collector "will retain its eight years' record of efficiency, recognized by state officials, and set by Joe Johns eight years ago."

Bride: "I would like to open an account at this bank, please."

Teller: "We shall be very glad to accommodate you. What amount do you wish to deposit?"

Bride (smiling): "Oh, I mean a regular charge account such as I have at the department stores."

To New Mexico Democrats: I respectfully solicit your vote and support for my candidacy for nomination in the primary election September 14 as State Auditor.

If nominated and elected I pledge honest, efficient and courteous service; also personal handling of all affairs of the office.

I ask Democrats of New Mexico to vote for me on three records: 1. My 29 years of loyal service to the Democratic Party.

2. My reputation in business and in public office.

3. My service as Mayor of Espanola and as State Motor Vehicle Commissioner.

Boat Races Thrill Hundreds Sunday On Lake McMillan

Outboards Roar Around Course as Spectators Line Dam and Banks

More than 1,000 persons witnessed the second runabout regatta of the Pecos Valley Boat Club on Lake McMillan Sunday, when five races and a special event, as well as other water sports, thrilled the hundreds of spectators lining the dam and shores of the artificial lake.

Outstanding as a pilot was Jim Ferguson of Artesia, commodore of the club, who entered five of the events and won four. The fifth was the twenty-two-horsepower race, in which Commodore Ferguson vied with four full-powered motors, entering with his eighteen-horse motor with which he won in that class a few minutes prior.

The twenty-two-horsepower race probably was the best from a spectator standpoint, as six outboard boats roared around the three-cornered course. Taking the lead before the first of eight laps was completed, Russell Hill of Artesia crossed the finish line 200 yards ahead of "Red" Vaughn of Artesia, who was closely pressed by Vice Commodore Dwight McNally of Roswell.

Commodore Ferguson, with Rear Commodore F. F. White of Carlsbad scouting behind on water skis, staged a special race against Ed Kissinger of Artesia, who was unhampered by excess drag, and took the heat easily in a four-lap race.

Ferguson also took the thirty-three-horsepower race, with Kissinger second and Johnnie Michael of Monahans, Tex., third. Only the three boats were entered.

In the 16-horsepower race, Ferguson was first, with Ernest Malone of Cottonwood taking second. George Slaughter of Roswell came in third.

Ferguson's other win was in the free-for-all, which finished the racing for the afternoon. Kissinger took second in that heat, with Russell Hill and "Red" Vaughn of Artesia finishing third and fourth.

The afternoon's races started off with a three-lap race for ten-horsepower motors, which Raymond Smith of Artesia won. His only opponent was John Albert of Roswell.

McKay Brothers of Carlsbad, who stoved in their boat at the previous regatta and did not have it ready for the races Sunday, staged some tandem water skiing, riding behind Commodore Ferguson, with his runabout wide open.

Diner (ordering): "Bring me a plate of hash."

The waiter walked over to the kitchen elevator. "Gent wants to take a chance," he called down the speaking tube.

Second Customer: "I'll have some hash, too."

Waiter (picking up speaking tube again): "Another sport!"

Nazarene Church To Have Revival, Start Next Week

Rev. R. C. Gunstream of Clovis, New Mexico district superintendent of the Church of the Nazarene, will begin a revival at the local

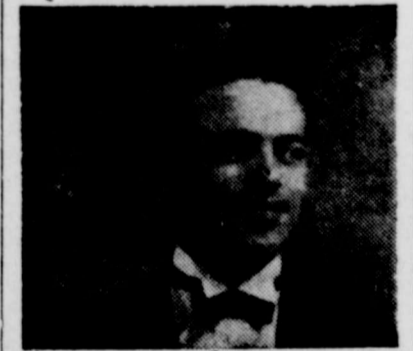

WILBUR LEVERETT

Church of the Nazarene Tuesday evening, Sept. 11.

Homer and Wilbur Leverett of Missouri will assist as special singers and musicians.

The Rev. Mr. Gunstream is one of the outstanding revivalists of the church and is a very fine speaker, the local pastor, the Rev. Lee P. Phillips, said. This will be his second revival with the Artesia church.

The Leverett brothers, with their unique personalities, mixed with their singing and instrumental music, will be enjoyed by all, Mr. Phillips said. And there will be plenty of good singing and Bible preaching for all, he said.

The Rev. Mr. Phillips said the public is invited to attend the services, which will begin at 7:30 o'clock each evening.

Plan Rodeo, Feed At Hope, Benefit Lunchroom Project

The Hope Parent-Teacher Association is planning a rodeo and chuck wagon feed at Hope Sunday afternoon, Sept. 22, for the benefit of the lunchroom project of the school.

In the main events will be goat roping, with contestants expected from Artesia, Carlsbad, Penasco and other places.

The rodeo will begin at 2:30 o'clock, with the chuck wagon supper coming afterwards.

Bulldog Boosters Elect Cole Prexy, Plan for Season

Hats This Year to Be Orange and Black—Ask for Own Section

The Bulldog Boosters reorganized Friday evening at a meeting at the city hall, with the election of Fred Cole as president and the laying of plans for the coming football season in support of the Artesia Bulldogs.

An immediate membership drive was planned, with Toney Lampus appointed chairman of the membership committee. It was decided also that the membership committee will assume the selling of season tickets for the home football games, the first of which will be Friday evening of next week, Sept. 20, against Alamogordo.

Elected to serve with Cole were: Vice president, Al Glasser; secretary-treasurer, Rev. Henry S. Stout; directors to serve with the officers as a board, Dr. J. J. Clarke, Jr., and Jim Ferguson.

Glenn Irby and A. L. Bert were named members of the publicity committee.

The Boosters decided to ask that a special section of the Morris Field stadium be set aside for the members of the organization, preferably between the two forty-five-yard lines, so they may sit together and make a good showing in their boosting activities.

The official insignia was changed from last season, when white hats and canes were the identifying regalia of the Bulldog Boosters. Hats this season are to be orange, with black bands. Canes again will be carried.

A number of Artesia people, both members of the Bulldog Boosters and others, are planning on going to Hobbs Friday evening to witness the Bulldogs in action for the first time this season. Lampus said that anyone wishing to go to the game in the status of a Bulldog Booster may apply from him, as the membership cards have been printed and will be distributed as soon as the secretary can record them.

J. B. MUNCY'S WAR "BUDDY" VISITS HIM

Jim Skinner of Ballinger, Tex., who was a "buddy" of J. B. Muncy two years with the A. E. F. in France and later in the Army of Occupation in Germany, visited Mr. and Mrs. Muncy from Saturday to Sunday.

Muncy said the two were together "all the way through," the only two men in the outfit who were together so long.

The visitor, who is connected with The Ballinger Daily News, also is a friend of the Dunn family here.

Candidates for Congress Visit Here Last Week

Artesia voters had a chance Friday and Saturday to meet three of the candidates for Congress on the Democratic ticket, when Louise Coe, Floyd T. Kennedy and Frank Patton all stopped over here.

Mrs. Coe, who was in the city Friday, is the only woman making a bid for the job and she backs up her candidacy with a record for work in the state for the people in the New Mexico Senate, of which she is the senior member.

A rancher, farmer, educator and legislator, Mrs. Coe has been actively engaged in business duties for many years. She now is serving her sixteenth year in the Senate.

Kennedy was the only one of the candidates to make an address here. He spoke from his sound truck at Third and Main Streets on several questions of interest to the public.

Speaking on agriculture and agricultural problems, he touched on farm compliance, saying, "I believe the acreage on which any one man may comply should be limited to an amount equal to that already conceded to be sufficient for an average family to produce a living, in any given area.

He pledged sponsorship of a more complete system of federal airports, if elected, said he favors generous treatment for former-service men and that their widows and orphans should be given the care and protection of a generous government, pledged his support of more generous aid to the public schools, went on record for obtaining a grant of the public domain from the federal government to the state of New Mexico for the support of state institutions, and endorsed liberal, fair and just treatment for all working men.

Patton met a number of the voters about town, but did not have a speaking date in Artesia.

County Land Use Planning Meeting Held in Carlsbad

The Eddy County land use planning committee met in the courthouse in Carlsbad Wednesday last week with the purpose of reviewing community land use reports and making plans for solving community problems. Community reports were prepared during August at community meetings conducted by Fred Barham, county agent.

Some of the problems considered were livestock feeding, soil and water conservation, health, housing, farm leases and home beautification. The four basic county maps prepared by program planning members also were worked over and some recommendations made. These four maps are on present land use, recommended land use, physical feature map and problem area map.

Immediate action is planned on some of the problems, while others will be solved on a long-time basis. Considerable enthusiasm was shown at the meeting and it is believed that much good can be done by the planning committee during the year.

AN EXPLANATION OF POLICY

It is the policy of The Advocate to keep its front page free of advertising. But it likewise is the policy of The Advocate to offer for sale any of the good merchandise found in the shop or in the newspaper space. Therefore the front page is for sale—provided an advertiser is willing to pay the price. And the price, in order to keep the front page free of advertising, is placed at a figure which is considered nearly prohibitive. So whenever an advertisement does appear on the front page, it should be understood that the advertiser believes in the great advertising power of this newspaper and of the additional advertising power of page one—and is willing to pay the traffic.

Artesia Squad Is Primed To Meet Old Foe

Ready to Journey to Lea County for Fray This Week.

The Artesia High School Bulldog gridders meet the Hobbs High School Eagles on the Hobbs field Friday evening in the curtain raiser of the 1940 season for both teams.

Hobbs has not been on the Bulldog football schedule since 1937, when the Eagles crushed the small-ed Artesia lads under a 31-to-0 score. The next season the Bulldogs did not schedule a game with the Hobbs aggregation. The home boys had lost all their larger boys by graduation and the school believed it would be better to leave Hobbs off the schedule, rather than to turn smaller boys loose against the big and heavy Hobbs gridders.

This season the Eagles have seventy boys out for varsity football, while the Bulldogs have but twenty-six. The Hobbs line averages 192; the Artesians barely tip the scales at 162 pounds.

In Coach Joe Greeno's starting backfield Friday night there will be Ray Lewis at right half and R. D. Wright, a new backfield recruit, changed over from end; while Bob Ferguson will be in the full-back slot and Bill McCasland will call signals from the quarterbacking post.

In Line Coach Allan Thompson's part of the starting squad will be Eugene Scoggins at center, Jim Powell and Jim Manley or Junior Foster as guards. Doane Watkins and "Buddy" McCrary will hold down the tackle pobs with Vance Haldeman, last year's all-district tackle, who has recently been moved out to end, and Raymond Kennedy working at end posts.

Coach Nelson Tiding's Eagles use a single wing and depend largely on power plays, for they have a powerful ball club, while the Bulldogs use the Notre Dame system and, as they are a comparatively light team, have to depend more on deception than power.

When approached as to what the prospects for a victory are Friday night, Greeno said that although the line averages about five more pounds as to the man than it did last year, all of the boys need experience. There are just two lettermen back from last year's line and one of them is playing a new position. As to the backfield, there are two lettermen back in there again this year and it looks pretty good. The boys are showing a lot of fighting spirit and they will be hard to beat.

County Is Being Considered for Mattress Project

Eddy County is being considered for a mattress project of the Surplus Commodities Corporation, said G. R. Howard, chairman of the Eddy County ACA, today.

If this county is selected, it will mean that eligible families will be allotted sufficient cotton and mattress ticking with which to make a mattress for each two persons in the family up to three mattresses, he said.

It is a part of the program of the Surplus Commodities Corporation to distribute surplus agricultural commodities to the lower income groups. Cooperating with the corporation are the various agricultural conservation committees, whose normal duties are to administer the various agricultural programs, and the Agricultural Extension Service.

Cotton and mattress ticking are supplied to the county agricultural conservation committees by the Surplus Commodities Corporation. These supplies are in turn given to eligible families who have made proper application to the county committees. The Extension Service supervises the making of the mattresses.

So far, more than 110,000 bales of cotton have been used for this purpose, Howard said.

is Honesty a Handicap in the Governor's Office?

Among the flood of letters reaching Seth Alston's headquarters in Albuquerque is the following from a pioneer San Miguel county livestock grower:

"Las Vegas, N. M. Aug. 29th, 1940

"Mr. Seth Alston, Albuquerque, New Mexico. Dear Friend: I received the folder; enjoyed the pictures, will read it all later. A lot of our people are going to want you for Governor. But some of the old line won't. You are too damn honest, and the honest man, sometimes has a real handicap. I am for you until hell wont have it. Good luck. Your friend,

(Signed) RALPH C. CURRIE, 714 Columbia Ave. Las Vegas, N.-M."

To the above Mr. Alston replied: "Dear Mr. Currie: "Many thanks for your letter of the 29th. I note your attitude toward honesty. I think that is the best slogan you can use. Should they not stand for honesty, God help them. Hoping you will continue with your good work, I remain,

Sincerely yours, SETH ALSTON."

Republicans of New Mexico NOMINATE SETH ALSTON FOR GOVERNOR

Nominate Alston and he will be elected. His election will mean not only honesty, but efficient, business government for our state at a time when such government is needed.

Where We Stand

Reprinted by Friends of John Miles From An Editorial by Ed Shaeffer in The Albuquerque Tribune, Sept. 4, 1940

There is nothing to be said for the two per cent political assessment on state employees. Nor is there anything to be said for levies on municipal employees in behalf of the candidacy of one man who controls jobs. Both practices are wrong.

Disclosures the past few days of cancelled checks issued by the Democratic chairman do not reveal much that is new. It has long been known that the two per cent collection was in effect. It was known that expenditures were made from the fund. That these expenditures were made by check is fair evidence that they were in order, as such expenditures go. You can't very well cover up with a check.

We should say that party payment for a governor's luncheon for newspapermen, one of the "exposures," was a plausible party expense. The governor, we assume, represented the party; was considered the party symbol and we suppose the luncheon did the party no harm. Checks to the governor's wife covered expense accounts to a national Democratic Women's meeting. We can't seem to become greatly excited about that, either. Nor, on the basis of information so far made public, about other expenditures of party funds. The fact that party funds paid state radio stations for broadcasting a state executive's report on his administration seems surprising only in view of the fact that national networks contribute such time free when the national executive makes similar report. It appears to be the ordinary political stuff, not particularly spiritual, nor particularly mendacious.

The major effort, obviously, is to smear Governor Miles, and the inspiration is clear. So we may as well drift into a little analysis.

The Tribune did not support Governor Miles two years ago. Indeed it fought him vigorously. He at one time thought and said "unfairly." We thought we were fair, as probably everyone does. But that's a matter of opinion and we could be wrong.

We supported the governor's opponent, Clyde Tingley, for something like 15 years in his various public performances and ambitions, as city commissioner, mayor, governor. A man of tremendous vitality, he did things, built material things. He ignored, as is perhaps natural, the fact that he was aided by taxpayers' money, and lots of it. The belief grew on him that he, personally, gave these things to the public. He went into the governorship at a most opportune time, when the Federal treasury was shoveling out the money. We can't sit in judgment on who got most of the money for New Mexico, whether it was Tingley, Hatch, Chavez or Dempsey. Certainly all did their bit. And claimed as much as possible. Who wouldn't, and why not?

Granting all the credit there is, or distributing it in the fairest manner possible, it was undeniable and is undeniable that during the Tingley administration highways were built, schools were erected, the Crippled Children's Hospital was built. The same progress has continued during the Miles administration and, according to as yet uncontradicted evidence, at much less cost. It has been the era of New Deal largesse. We have been spending ourselves back into prosperity. The Government has been putting out, and we might as well get ours. You can't fight that philosophy any more than you can expect a child to turn down a piece of candy because he wonders if his parents can afford to buy it. We're all children, all pretty self centered and selfish.

Came a time in the midst of this delightful spending when Mr. Tingley remembered that he could not run again for governor. You know what happened. A campaign and a special election in the effort to change the constitution so that a governor might go on and on forever. The Tribune would have no part of that. It looked like a very dangerous attempt at self perpetuation in office, which is not a part of the American scene and we hope never will be. Nor would the people of New Mexico have any part of it. They scotched the scheme by a heavy majority, thereby proving themselves capable of self government and alert to the dangers of over eager public servants who seek to become public masters in perpetuity.

Two years ago, and through no help of ours, for we opposed his candidacy, John Miles became governor. We supported Albert Mitchell, not to his gain, for he lost. And he was, and is, an able man. But that was the democratic process. It was right. The people elected the man of their choice. There could be no complaint; nor was there any from this newspaper.

So we, a newspaper dedicated to an unpretentious effort to do the right thing as we can see the right, sat back and watched the new governor perform. And he did perform. Not spectacularly nor with bombast but quietly and, for the major part, efficiently. Mistakes he made and will continue to make. We have yet to see human perfection but we do relish a season of humility. Mr. Miles bore no ill will, and if he should have borne ill will we suppose The Tribune should have been Number 1 on the list. And so we come to this:

We are heading into perilous times. We are going into a period in which the rights we have always assumed as our own are being challenged by men with eager ambitions. Do not fool yourself about this. It is a time for the opportunist; it is a time for the petty dictator who thrives by virtue of the power given him by his neighbors. Governor Miles has evidenced no appetite for that sort of thing. He has the gift of humility. It has always been important—never more so than now.

Because we think he has made a good governor, has displayed no ambition to rule or ruin, has listened and counselled and has acted as most any of us would in the circumstances, we advocate the re-nomination of John Miles. Knowing that we are talking only to Democrats, we also know that Governor Miles will remain a Democrat whether he wins or loses. We do not believe that John Miles aspires to dictatorship. Nothing in his record indicates it.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

FINAL WEEK OF AUGUST REVIVES MEMORIES OF BUSINESS PIONEERS

By W. R. Boyd, Jr.

Executive Vice-President, American Petroleum Institute

The last week of August, like the third week in April, is an historical period in American business life.

It was on Aug. 27, 1859, that the Drake well, reputedly the first American well commercially drilled for oil, successfully was completed on the bank of Oil Creek near Titusville, Pa. Throughout the whole of that last week in August, 1859, the commercial production of oil and its future possibilities were the subjects of popular conversation. The folks then did not know it, perhaps, but they were beginning to envision a future of revolutionary changes in their ways of life, in their nation, and in their world—all because of petroleum.

The third week in April was an equally important period. It marked the completion by Benjamin Silliman, Jr., professor of chemistry at then Yale College, of his report on the first serious study in the new world, at least, of the possibilities, commercial and otherwise, of oil. On April 16, 1855, Prof. Silliman filed his report with a small group of New Haven, Conn., business men, and convinced them of the advisability of proceeding with plans still in the discursive stage to drill for oil on lands they held in Pennsylvania. The Drake well, completed four years later, was evidence of their faith.

Accurate Prophecy—
Prophetic was the professor's report, stating:

"It appears to me that there is much ground for encouragement in the belief that your Company have in their possession a raw material, from which, by simple and not expensive process, they may manufacture very valuable products. It is worthy of note that my experiments prove that nearly the whole of the raw product may be manufactured without waste, and this solely by a well-directed process which is in practice one of the most simple of all chemical processes."

On the strength of the report, the group began developments which culminated first in the completion of the oil well at Titusville, Pa., then in the revivification along American lines of an industry which had been operating since prehistoric times, and finally in the daily use of petroleum in one form or another by every person in the civilized world.

Crude oil was being used to a degree for illumination and lubrication when the Silliman report was filed. The more widely employed vegetable, fish and animal oils were becoming insufficient and proving to be inefficient for the needs of increasingly mechanized industries. Crude oil was being produced in many parts of the world, and it had been for centuries. Yet production, like utilization, was limited, and men feared the supply likewise was inadequate.

Persistence Wins—

The story of the completion of the Drake well now is widely known. "Colonel" E. L. Drake, former store clerk and railroad conductor, possessed of an ability to get along with people and with an instinctive persistence which brooked no discouragement, borrowed both the tools and the labor of the salt-well drillers and drove through to success with what the countryside called "Drake's Folly."

Not dissimilar methods had been used in drilling wells for oil by the Chinese, the Burmese, and possibly by other peoples hundreds of centuries before Drake. Yet Drake's crude drilling tools tapped something more than an oil pool. They unleashed a compelling force, which, coupled with American business genius and drive, made a world oil-conscious and inaugurated an unending exploration of the continents for a commodity which has become the lifeblood of the machine age.

Neither the future of America nor of petroleum could have been more than a vision in Drake's day. All the sciences, and much of the knowledge of the nature and possibilities of oil, subsequently have been developed. Certainly it was not known that geological and geographical factors had given America leadership in the world of petroleum. These were revealed only when American business men grasped opportunity and made their country and their industry predominant.

American genius in business enterprise stimulated the ancient petroleum industry once the commercial production of oil was begun in 1859. Discovery and development of the nation's oil supply were financed by private capital which in this country always has been free to invest in the industry. The industry grew rapidly after 1859 because for the first time informed individual initiative could be utilized. There were obvious opportunities for growing trade in a young country rapidly moving toward complete mechanization of industrial operations. In other countries the same developments were taking place, with the single exception that government ownership, control, or restrictive regulation of oil sources tended to delay and to discourage petroleum operations.

Other factors also were helpful in America. Here the interest in petroleum geology and technology began to formulate petroleum sciences. Here competition began almost as soon as oil came from the Drake well. Means and methods had to be discovered to reduce oil operating costs to levels which invited the participation of small business. The same factors brought prices to levels which encouraged and inspired consumption.

Important Factor—

Possibly oil-minded people, for whom perhaps Col. Drake and Prof. Silliman cast the mold, comprised still another important factor. Certainly there were available then, as now, people of the type necessary to the operations of a petroleum industry—investors willing to take risks, business men capable of profitable management, engineers able to develop new methods and new equipment when the old proved inadequate, and technologists keen to disclose the scientific aspects of operations, and thereby point the way to continued progress.

History has not aged greatly since 1859 and the days of Silliman and Drake, yet sufficient time has passed to reveal two fundamental errors in their reckonings. Petroleum refining no longer is a "simple and not expensive process." It is complicated and utilizes the most expensive types of equipment. However, as the professor predicted, "the whole of the raw product may be manufactured without waste," and from petroleum has derived "very valuable products" now numbering into the thousands. Drake erred in thinking that oil might be obtained by drilling shallow wells. He found

Stockmen to Discuss Problems On Ranch Day at State College

How finicky is a cow about the grass she eats? Will a flexible stocking plan result in more efficient use of range feed? Will range cows fed a phosphorus supplement drop more, and heavier and healthier calves?

These and many other ranchmen's questions will be answered when New Mexico State College and the Forest Service play hosts to Southwestern stockmen at the annual "Ranch Day" on the college and forest ranches near Las Cruces. Date set for the occasion is Oct. 14, and every rancher in New Mexico, West Texas and Arizona is being invited to attend.

Prof. J. H. Knox of the committee in charge of arrangements has announced a program which will include talks by outstanding Southwestern cattlemen, brief discussions of range cover and reseeded, flexible stocking, rodents, grass palatability, and supplemental feeding by members of the college department of animal husbandry, and brief talks by representatives of the Soil Conservation and Forest Services. Most of the talks to be given are being planned as explanations of the results of different practices which will be demonstrated on the range to the visitors. Cattle handled under different management plans will be so placed that ranchers will be able to examine them closely at different stops during the day.

In recognition of the importance of selecting good range bulls, guests of the day will be invited to judge a class. After the judging, a ranchman will outline important points to be observed in selecting the herd sires.

Plans for the day call for the "Ranch Day" group, many of whom it is expected will come to Las Cruces for the Coronada Estrada on Oct. 11-13 and the quarterly meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association on Oct. 15. Lunch will be served at ranch headquarters. In addition, a campus program for women visitors is being arranged.

ROUGH JUSTICE

Justice of the Peace Joseph B. Herr of Litzitz, Pa., feels he has a right to sing the blues.

In a single week he—
Skinned a shin; burned himself; tried to hoist a porch post and it fell on his foot; accidentally penned himself on his roof when a window shut down and a neighbor had to release him; was stung twice by a wasp and barely escaped a third sting by shedding his trousers.

oil at 69 1/2 feet. Today the industry regards 2,000 feet as a "shallow" well, customarily drills to 7,000, and has drilled more than 15,000 feet!

Chickens

Why does a chicken cross the road?

Everybody knows the answer to that one by this time. It wants to reach the other side. You cross the road for the same reason.

The number of chickens killed while crossing the road has decreased in the last ten years. But the number of pedestrians killed has increased!

Are chickens smarter than we are?

Contrary to popular belief, Johann Gutenberg printed seventeen successive editions of a little Latin grammar, known from the name of its author as the "Donatus," before he started work on the great "Gutenberg Bible."

THE NAVY RATION

According to latest figures the state of New York produces approximately a fourth of all the printing done in this country. Illinois comes second with a production of 17.5 per cent; Ohio is third, with 7.9 per cent of the total output. The five leading printing production cities, in the order named, are New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and Cincinnati.

Traveling Salesman: "Don't tell me your troubles, sister. Just give me some roast beef!"

Wedding Announcements, printed or engraved—The Advocate.

The ration of the American Navy is superior to that of any other navy in both quantity and quality. It is extremely doubtful if the service will ever become afflicted from an outbreak of any of the acknowledged dietary diseases, such as scurvy, beri-beri, pellagra and the like.

Before Johann Gutenberg invented printing as known today, every book in existence had to be hand-lettered by a scribe. It took a scribe several years to hand-letter a book the size of the Bible. Bibles were thus so expensive that few churches could afford to own a copy.

Villalobos and his Strange Cargo

IN 1521, two years after Cortez and his conquistadores marched on Montezuma's capital, a Spanish ship sailed from Santo Domingo for the shores of Mexico with a strange, but important, cargo.

The boat was not loaded with soldiers in mail, with explorers or priests—but with Andalusian cattle. The shipper was Gregorio de Villalobos.

Little is known about Villalobos or his ship, but this cargo started the cattle business in this country, for the cattle increased and spread over into what is now territory of the United States.

In like manner the beginnings of today's telephone service were modest. In June, 1875, there were but two telephones which talked imperfectly between two rooms in the same house.

Today there are over 21,000,000 telephones in this country. From your telephone you may talk easily, naturally, to anyone in almost any village or hamlet in this country, and in normal times to telephone users in sixty foreign countries. The telephone not only makes pleasant and easy your voice visits with friends or relatives in other cities, but it facilitates the functioning of business as well.

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

There's no doubt about it, moths will eat tobacco—says Miss Tassie Fleming of Wilson, N. C. Miss Fleming was getting ready to pose for photographers in connection with the North Carolina Tobacco Exposition and Festival when she discovered that her cured tobacco skirt, which made such a hit last year, had been riddled by moths.

Life's most embarrassing moment for Giovanni Evangelisti of Rochester, N. Y., came in a crowded downtown street as he waited for a street car. A passing automobile's door handle tangled in his trousers and neatly wished them off in full view of hundreds of passers-by. The apologetic driver piled trouserless Evangelisti aboard and rushed him home for replacements.

J. C. Bond's automobile and a mule met on Murder Creek bridge near Monticello, Ga. The mule disputed the right-of-way, backed up to the car and injured Bond with flailing hooves. A passing motorist rescued Bond and took him to a hospital for treatment.

In Seattle a telephone caller complained to police that a blaring radio drew his attention to a residence across the way. Inside the window, cool as Godiva, was a young woman reading intently. Investigating officers reported: "Disturbance quelled. Turned off radio. Lady got dressed. When we left she was still reading her book."

At 74, Charles H. Grubb of Cumberland, Md., is passing out cigars again for the second time in fifteen months. His wife, 38, has given birth to a second daughter. Their first was born in May, 1939.

Private Thomas E. Deiter, whose joke was that he had come through recent war games in upper New York "without being wounded," went on the casualty list the other day. He was brought to a hospital in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., suffering burns administered by barracks mates who liked jokes, too. They gave him the "hot foot."

For three years Wallie Traylor of Portland, Ore., hoarded his pennies until he had enough for a bicycle. Then he lost his bank on the way to the 'cycle shop. After two more years he had saved enough to purchase a bicycle. Just a week later, he rented it for 25 cents to a stranger. Bike and stranger disappeared.

At Charlestown, W. Va., a yellowed county order, drawn on a bank which no longer exists by a sheriff who has been out of office twenty years, stumped Cashier Herman Willis of the People's Bank. Then he submitted the paper to Sheriff Richard J. Madison, who approved a new order. The payee got his money—$1.

The fellow who lifted a two-gram vial from a World's Fair exhibit in New York is in for a huge surprise—and a big sneeze. The harmless-looking bottle contains ragweed pollen and, if opened, could cause an "ach-ooo" of considerable proportions even for a non-hay fever sufferer, the exhibit director said.

At Waco, Tex., county officers, after questioning a man in connection with Coryell County cattle thefts, filed away this alibi: "Why, I couldn't have stolen cattle there that night. That night was the night I stole three cows near Wort-ham."

One pig didn't go to market because it was buried in a corn crib near Boxholm, Ia., for nearly a year. The animal, weighing only fifty pounds, was found alive in the crib by a boy hunting pigeons. Its only moisture came from rain or snow leaking into the crib. The pig was covered when the corn crib was filled and sealed.

A Rocky Mount, N. C., policeman put his trousers on a chair in his bedroom and tumbled in. Came a thief in the night who climbed the porch, removed a flower pot from the window, entered the bedroom and stole a pistol and $24. The cop reported it to police.

Neighbors, finding a hose attached to the exhaust of an automobile, summoned Deputy Sheriff George Minielly at Portland, Ore. Minielly shut off the engine, kicked the hose loose and started to break into the house. The owner, strolling up at that point, halted proceedings with the explanation: "Just fumigating."

Only three men have ever held the permanent rank of full admiral in the United States Navy—David G. Farragut, David Porter and George Dewey. The present admirals hold their rank for the duration of time they are in command of special assignment. Upon relinquishing their particular command they revert back to the permanent rank of rear admiral. There is no permanent rank above that of rear admiral.

The Fullerton, Calif., engraver for the new city hall cornerstone has changed his estimate of the cost. He just learned some of the names he'll have to struggle with—Mayor Hans H. Kohlenberger, City Clerk Fred D. Hermalhalch, and Councilman Walter H. Muckenthaler.

First Pedestrian—I wish I had the money that was paid for all of those cars going by.

Second Pedestrian—I wish I had the money that is still due on them.

The officer came up on a colored driver who was giving his horse a severe beating, trying to make him pull.

"Don't whip him that way," the officer said. "Talk to him."

So the darkey turned to the horse, dropped his whip, and in conversational tone, began:—"Mistuh hawse! Ah comes fum New Orleans. What does you come fum?"

IN LEAGUE WITH THE BABIES

WHEN LITTLE girls wore copper-toed boots and tight-waisted dresses, and little boys wore kilts—what of the babies? Swathed in yards of clothes. Scrubbed with unknown soaps. Few of them expected to live during the dreaded second summer. Many of them suffering countless ailments because nobody knew what to do.

A glance back only a generation or so is enough to reveal how fortunate babies are today. Now there are soft, cool soaps . . . every aid in food that care and knowledge can prepare . . . sensible, light little clothes . . . and such knowledge of sanitation and control of disease that every little baby should live and grow.

Mothers are indebted to advertisements for their news of these nursery aids . . . Just as they are indebted for news of fascinating menus, fadeless curtains, sprightly dinnerware. Constantly, ways are being devised to make life happier, more comfortable for baby, the whole family. Laboratories clean and bright are scenes of goods being tested—being made safe and pure. When the testing is over, the perfecting done—advertisements hasten the goods to you.

No longer marvel (the next time you buy something widely known) at how fresh, immaculate, fine it is. These are qualities you can be sure of in buying advertised merchandise . . . qualities you MUST be sure of in buying for the health of babies, children, anyone.

It is surprising how timely and vital the news in advertisements can be! Read them regularly.

WHAT'S WHAT —in— NEW MEXICO

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State," Gleaned from Many Sources

New Mexico's 1940 property tax roll has been set at $315,380,593, a gain of $2,434,207 over 1939, Paul Harris, chief tax commissioner, announced. The total included $143,217,366 in corporate valuations, up $884,349, and $172,163,227, up $1,599,858, in other property assessments. Among the corporations, railroads and mines showed a drop—attributed by Harris to abandonment of trackage, closing of the Terro metal mine and a slump in the coal industry. Corporate valuations included: Railroads $76,273,014, down $87,853; telephone and telegraph $5,203,122, up $88,231; mines $39,952,236, down $609,267; banks $2,157,004, up $142,568; public utilities $19,631,890, up $1,300,000.

Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton revealed that he, U.S. Senator Chavez, former Lieut. Gov. Hiram Dow and State Unemployment Compensation Commission Chairman Roy Cook all escaped being aboard the Pennsylvania central airliner which carried twenty-five persons to death in the East. The officer said his own original reservation had been on the fatal westbound flight from Washington, but had been changed because of his wish to take an earlier, daylight flight. The others were all intending to leave for the West on the same line that day," he said, "but all luckily missed the plane that crashed."

Beseiged by requests for the new Coronado stamp, Assistant Postmaster D. C. Etchells of Albuquerque set up a miniature version of the postoffice and hired a force of eighteen stampmakers. More than 72,000 covers from persons asking for first-day cancellations had been received—and Etchells expected that many more would come in before the stamp officially goes on sale here Saturday. The stamp commemorates the 400th anniversary of Don Francisco Vasquez de Coronado's explorations in the Southwest. Most of the stamp requests thus far have come from philatelists in Eastern and Mid-Western sections of the country. The stamp depicts Coronado and his captains astride their horses, the grandsons of many a wild mustang that later raced across Texas and New Mexico plains.

Mine workers in the Raton district are circulating petitions addressed to the Santa Fe Railway urging it to restore the use of coal burning locomotives, especially on the Raton division. Nearly every one being contacted, business men and citizens, is signing the petitions, which contain hundreds of names.

The Clovis Bi-State Fair will have a free gate this year. Directors decided on the new policy in order to get an increased attendance for exhibitors and amusement shows on the grounds.

New Mexicans, many of whom attend the "Sun Carnival" and the "Sun Bowl" football game in El Paso are interested in the fight El Paso has made to keep the All-Year-Club of Southern California from appropriating the name of "Sun Carnival." The name has been chosen to tie in 300 events in Southern California, and a national advertising campaign has been planned. An El Paso committee which recently conferred with the California club got no satisfaction out of the club, whose officers said they already had arranged an advertising program to attract visitors to Southern California that uses the appellation, "Sun Carnival." El Paso has been using the name since 1935.

New Mexico colleges will train 200 budding airplane pilots in the coming school year, four times the number last year, Gov. Miles was advised. The word was received from Harlee Townsend, chairman of the state aeronautics commission, who has been conferring with Civil Aeronautics Authority officials on the program in Fort Worth. In addition to the schools giving training last year, the CAA has

Sands of Time

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(From The Advocate Files for Sept. 10, 1925)

Three possible extensions to the present proven area will be watched with interest by operators for the next few days. Chief interest is in the wildcats, which may extend the present field.

Many prizes are being offered for the three-day fall festival, including those for the parade.

Roswell turned out 100 strong to visit the oil field yesterday, according to an estimate made by authorized courses for 30 students at New Mexico Military Institute, 20 at the School of Mines and 20 at State Teachers College. Other new quotas: University of New Mexico 60, including 20 advanced; State College 30; Eastern New Mexico College 20, and New Mexico Normal 20. The state also has been allotted 30 non-college students, 10 each at Santa Fe, Roswell and Hobbs. Townsend advised the Governor he expected a like program would be made available later for Farmington.

Not all the brave men are enlisting in the armed forces. Says The Gallup Independent: "Some of the office-holders who run for reelection 'on their record' are at least brave men."

Jim Bob Gregg, 25, former publisher of the Santa Ana News, died at his home there Wednesday last week of a malignant brain tumor.

A "Believe-It-or-Not" story from The Roswell Record: A car side-swiped a truck near there that was laden with 300 cases of eggs valued at $1,700. And not an egg was broken, according to the driver of the truck. Sgt. Scroggins of the state police said he didn't look at every egg, but saw no evidence that any was broken.

Gov. John E. Miles has advised that two new road projects in the Alamogordo vicinity would be started in a few days, and construction on the Cloudercroft-Alamogordo highway would begin within ninety days. He said widening and oiling of Highways 70 and 54 from the State School for the Blind, through the city and to points about one and a half miles south would start soon, the projects to total about $24,000. The Cloudercroft-Alamogordo route, to be constructed over a new survey through dry canyons, is to be started with $202,000 in the first project, with the state taking over certain forest highway work in the northern part of New Mexico so that all forest allotments may be concentrated on the Cloudercroft road. The new route is expected to shorten the distance by eight miles.

The New Mexico state police pistol club, 1939 state champions, last week elected new officers for the fiscal year 1940-41. Re-elected president, ex-officio, was state police Chief Tom Summers. New officers were Sergeant H. K. Dalbey, vice president; Patrolman K. K. Miller, secretary-treasurer, and Captain A. B. Martinez, range master.

The unemployment compensation commission cited an increase of $200,000 in payments to the jobless fund in August as an indication of rapidly improving business in the state. The collections reflected gain in payrolls, officials said.

Only 997 tourists visited the Carlsbad Cavern Wednesday of last week for the first time in sixty-six days the cave travel dropped under the 1,000 mark.

Pecos Valley Compress, Roswell, Is Available to Cotton Farmers

Established in 1921, the Pecos Valley Compress Company in Roswell has for sixteen years made cotton storage available to Pecos Valley farmers. It has bonded storage facilities for 50,000 bales.

The wasteful and uneconomical practice of shipping cotton to ports is discouraged by the Pecos Valley Compress Company in Roswell, which advocates the patronizing of a home Pecos Valley industry, especially when it saves the cotton grower money.

The company points out that an appallingly wasteful practice has been employed by the American farmer in the indifferent manner in which he has cared for his products after spending time and money in producing them.

In late years it has become necessary for the farmer to adopt business-like practices. County farm agents, state colleges and the Department of Agriculture have judiciously urged crop rotation and diversification, balanced feeding, better care of livestock and other practices as a means of bolstering farm income, but in the Southwest hardly enough emphasis has been placed on the correct care of cotton.

A commonly accepted, and at the same time quite expensive, practice has been to leave ginned cotton in an open lot, where it is exposed to wind, rain and all other elements which damage the cotton and lower its value.

The Pecos Valley Compress Company storage rates are so low that it is a business proposition to the farmer to use the facilities offered. With a charge of only 15 cents per bale per month—including insurance—no one can afford to leave a bale of cotton worth from $40 to $50 in the weather, where it can be damaged from $5 to $15, to say nothing of the danger from fire and theft.

For your protection, the Pecos Valley Compress Company is spending $30,000 for a sprinkler system, which will give added safety for your cotton and at the same time lower the insurance rates.

The warehouse is bonded and as such is accepted for government loan cotton. Because of the nearness to the farmers of the Pecos Valley, the Pecos Valley Compress Company can assure you better time in obtaining cotton loans, with quicker returns. A cotton shipment to port will take from 30 to 40 days to obtain a loan.

With the Pecos Valley Compress Company located in the valley, it makes a concentration point for cotton grown in this section, thereby making a better cotton market here.—Advertisement.

Claud Simpson, secretary of the Roswell Chamber of Commerce. The purpose of the trip was of an educational nature.

Edd Amonett of Roswell on Tuesday won the state golf championship at the Country Club there, defeating Toney Otero of Albuquerque.

Interest in the festival queen has increased the last few days.

but has not as yet reached high pitch. The candidates: Glenda Gray, Peggy Mitchell, Lois Burns, Lorita Linell, Virginia Attebery, Lois Hnuelik and Maxine Rowan.

Ground has been broken for the foundations of the Flynn, Welch & Yates and Continental Oil Company refinery buildings east of the tracks.

Numerous injuries in the oil field the last few weeks serve to emphasize the need of a hospital here.

Two liquor raids the last week netted seventy-six bottles of cognac, eleven cases of beer, forty-three bottles of iced beer and a large quantity of liquor and mash.

The twenty-ninth annual session of the Artesia schools formally opened Tuesday morning. The total enrollment reached 694 on Wednesday and the probable total will be more than 700.

Director R. Brewer and members of the Rotary Juvenile Band are much pleased with the response made by the public at their last concert, given in City Park band stand Thursday, Sept. 3.

A bag of the drug plant, marijuana, which has caused so much trouble and excitement in the northern part of the state was taken in a Mexican restaurant in Carlsbad Friday.

Plans are under way for two new public improvements, which if completed before the end of the fall season will make the year 1925 stand out as one of the real years for Artesia. A plan for the installation of a street lighting system has been submitted to the city dads and the paving of Roselawn is under consideration.

RECORD NUMBER PERSONNEL

The U.S.S. Lexington, one of the Giant aircraft carriers, with 2,202 officers and men on board, has at the present time what is probably the largest number of officers and enlisted personnel ever to be attached to a single man-of-war on duty at one time.

Band Uniforms Ordered, to Be Delivered for the Institute Game

Measurements Taken for Forty Members and Director on Friday—Delivery to Be Made in Time for Fray Oct. 4.

ARE ORANGE, BLACK

Striking Pattern Picked to Dress Up Artesia High School Musicians.

The Artesia High School band will march on to the gridiron of Morris Field the evening of Friday, Oct. 4, in spanking new, beautiful, orange and black uniforms—it is hoped—for the first time in the history of the school that all members are properly uniformed.

A forty-first new uniform will be seen, that an especially made outfit for E. L. Harp, director.

The uniforms should be here in time for the game between the Artesia Bulldogs and the Colts of New Mexico Military Institute, for they were ordered Saturday and the company which submitted the low bid and was awarded the contract stipulated they would be delivered in ample time for use on that date. Measurements were taken Friday.

In fact, the company said it will strive to have the uniforms in the hands of the school earlier in the week, so the band may attend the opening day of the Eastern New Mexico State Fair in Roswell, Wednesday, Oct. 2.

Although the uniforms were ordered, the job of underwriting them has not been completed. The committee still must raise several hundred dollars, but the members, checking over the prospect list, believed they saw the drive "over the top" when all have been called on. So, in order to get the uniforms at the earliest possible date, they were ordered.

The committee members expect to complete the drive within the next few days, so as to have the necessary sum in the bank when the uniforms arrive.

Five bids were received for furnishing the uniforms. All were studied as to price and quality before the contract was let.

The uniforms, as ordered, will be black with orange and gold trimming. Pocket flaps, shoulder straps and the back panels of the collars will be orange, piped in white. Ornamental cords on the left arms and sleeve chevrons will be orange. Sam Browne belts will (Continued on last page, col. 3)

Regular Army to Take Part in Fair at Roswell Oct. 2

The "opening gun" of the Eastern New Mexico State Fair to be held in Roswell Oct. 2-5 will be more than a figure of speech this year. A detachment of the Regular Army will be at the fair all four days with a complete array of modern army equipment, giving demonstrations on its use.

With ninety-three men, twenty-six horses and motorized armament, the unit will participate in the opening day's parade and put on a special feature at the rodeo which will be held the first three afternoons. Demonstrations of the use of the modern equipment will be given at the fair grounds throughout the four days.

A larger entry list than at any of the previous seventeen exhibitions is indicated by the advance reservations. This is true in the farm products division, the Hereford section, sheep, dairy cattle and hogs department, and the 4-H Club department.

The superintendent of practically every department is already calling for more space. The rodeo each of the first three afternoons will be one of the big entertainment features, and specialties have been arranged for day and night at the fair grounds.

"Old-Timers Day," on which those who have been in New Mexico thirty years or longer will be special guests, will be held Friday, Oct. 4.

MEN 21 TO 35 TO REGISTER OCT. 16

The signing Monday of the Conscription Bill, passed Saturday by both houses of Congress, means that all men from 21 to 35 years, inclusive, in Artesia, as well as in the nation at large, will be required to register for draft into military service on Wednesday, Oct. 16, which day was set by President Roosevelt when he affixed his name.

The chief executive at that time called upon the governors of the states to provide suitable places for registration and urged local election officials and "other patriotic citizens" to man the registration boards.

Employers were asked to give employees sufficient time off to present them selves to fill out the forms.

The law requires that all who will have reached their twenty-first birthday on Oct. 16 and have not passed their thirty-sixth birthday on that day must register.

It has not been announced just how the registration will be handled in New Mexico, nor is it known how many men it will affect.

But there will be no favorites as to registration, for all men of the proper ages of all walks of life will be required to present themselves on Oct. 16.

Rehearsal of Junior Musicians Held at Woman's Club Here Sunday

Karl Sitska, noted conductor, held final rehearsals Sunday afternoon at the Woman's Club building of several dozen junior musicians of the Pecos Valley in preparation for their participation in a large mass concert to be given Monday at the New Mexico State Fair, Albuquerque.

The young musicians, representing Artesia, Carlsbad and Roswell, are pupils of Ted R. Best, who has been teaching in the valley the last two and a half years.

Some of the same students, who were here Sunday rehearsing under the famous musician and will play under his direction at the State Fair, last year attended the Golden Gate Exposition at San (Continued on page 5, col. 1)

School Editors Are Invited to ENMC For Fall Convention

High school editors and others interested in high school publications and all high school principals have been invited to Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, for the fall convention Saturday, Sept. 28, of the New Mexico High School Editors' Association.

Included on the program, besides talks by prominent newspaper men, will be an Edgar Bergen-Charlie McCarthy-Mortimer Snerd take-off by three talented college students; musical numbers are being arranged by Martha Cantrell of Portales High School, an officer of the association, and a special luncheon at noon at the college, which will stand all the expenses of the convention.

Ted Sallee of Roswell High School is president of the association, Miss Cantrell is vice president and Joan Collier of Forrest is secretary-treasurer.

Miss Lela Bess Mann left Monday for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will begin her junior year at Occidental College. She was accompanied as far as El Paso by her father, C. E. Mann, who returned to Artesia Tuesday.

Legion Department Head Leaves For National Convention

Charles Morgan of Artesia, New Mexico department commander of the American Legion, is on his way to Boston, Mass., with a delegation of officials and delegates to the national convention, which will be in session there next week.

He left Tuesday, stopping off in Clovis to hear Wendell Wilkie, Republican candidate for president, speak Tuesday afternoon, and went on from there with the New Mexico delegation.

Mrs. Ben Prior of Artesia, past department president of the American Legion Auxiliary, and Mr. Prior left Monday for Boston to attend the convention.

Military Rites for Tom James at San Diego on Saturday

Former Artesia Driller, Service Station Man, War Vet, Is Stricken Fishing

Military funeral services were held at San Diego, Calif., at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning for Thomas Emmet James, 52, former Artesia service station owner and oil well driller, who died in Naval Hospital, San Diego, Wednesday night of last week as the result of an emergency operation. Burial was in Fort Rosierans Cemetery, Point Loma, Calif.

A newspaper clipping from there says Mr. James became ill while fishing on Oceanside Pier. He was given medical attention and was rushed to the hospital, where an immediate operation was performed, and, despite a gallant fight to retain life, he answered the last call.

First Meeting of Drum, Bugle Corps Is Held on Friday

First steps were taken at the American Legion hut Friday evening for the formation of a Sons of the Legion post and the formation of a boys' drum and bugle corps.

Because of the Artesia-Hobbs football game at Hobbs, only a small number of eligible boys turned out, but they were quite enthusiastic and all promised to "talk it up" so as to have a good turnout at the next meeting, to be Thursday evening of next week.

At that time it is hoped to begin teaching the boys to drum, as well as to lay foundation plans for a Sons of the Legion post.

Recent item in The Advocate: "A. C. Bush, formerly of Artesia, who now lives at Oilfield, claims he has one for Ripley."

"He says that a pack rat climbed on the differential of his car, ate its way through the floor and built a nest under the rear seat."

To which The Carlsbad Current-Argus commented: "If we knew Mr. Bush better, and were sure he wouldn't be offended, we'd say something about the rat being a living can-opener."

Recruiting Officer For Army Is Here Today and Friday

Red Cross Warns Of Dangers From Carbon Monoxide

In a warning pointing out that 800 persons annually lose their lives as a result of carbon monoxide poisoning, the American Red Cross has set down the following rules for motorists and householders to observe with the advent of cold weather:

Remember that carbon monoxide is colorless and odorless.

Do not run an automobile engine in a closed garage, nor sit in a closed parked car with the engine running.

If there is an odor of illuminating gas, ventilate the premises and get competent advice from your gas company.

Use a flashlight, not match nor candle, in attempting to locate a gas leak.

Use care when boiling liquids on a gas stove so that they do not boil over and extinguish or partially extinguish the gas flame.

Avoid the use of tubing to connect gas heaters, especially in sleeping rooms.

Do not leave a gas flame burning low in a room where one is sleeping.

Make certain that furnace pipes are not clogged, and that there are no holes in drafts or dampers, as carbon monoxide gas is also found in smoke from fires and coal stoves and furnaces.

Injuries Will Put Grid Team Members Out For Season

The Bulldogs lost two first stringers for the rest of the present grid season, when Doane Watkins, right tackle, and Curtis Bolton, right half, were injured in practice scrimmages this week.

Bolton sustained a fracture of the left ankle when tackled while carrying the ball Monday afternoon. The Bulldogs will miss the running of Bolton Friday evening if the going gets tough, sports fans believe.

Watkins, largest boy on the Artesia squad, had a recurrence of an injury to his right shoulder which kept him out of play most of last season. He was hurt when blocking in practice Tuesday afternoon. Vance Haldeman, last year's all-district tackle, who has been playing end, has been shifted back to his regular position, and will start at the right tackle post against the Tigers.

Little Juarez Girl Dies After Operation For Appendicitis

Minnie Juarez, 5-year-old daughter of Jessie and Romana Juarez, died at Artesia Memorial Hospital at 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning from an operation for appendicitis performed Tuesday of last week.

Funeral services were from the Spanish Methodist Church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Constantino Gonzalez, pastor. Burial was in Woodbine Cemetery.

Besides her parents, the little girl is survived by three brothers, Louis, Dannie and Junior. She started to school this fall and, after one day, was forced to drop out because of illness.

Another Gasser In Eddy Fields, Second in Week

Wills & Abell, Hale No. 1, Makes 6,000,000, But Is Cased Off to Drill Ahead—Carper, Keohone & Sanders Is Completed.

The second sizeable gasser in a week was struck in the Eddy County oil fields when Wills & Abell, Hale No. 1, in SE SW 12-20-30, made an estimated 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas at 1,540 feet, coming only a few days after the J. O. Wood, Root No. 1, in NE NW 12-17-29, drilled into a pocket last week at 2,575 feet.

Rearrangement Adds To Appearance and Space at Batie's

The appearance of the entire Batie Grocery store has been improved and the space somewhat enlarged by the rearrangement of the meat department and the erection of a new walk-in cooler, which extends the building to the rear.

After erection of the new cooler, which is 9 x 10 feet, the old cooler was torn out, giving more space to the market. Then the whole department was moved towards the rear wall, giving a larger amount of space for the grocery department.

And to set the whole thing off, a fifteen-foot electric refrigerator display box, next to the largest built, was installed.

Artesia Bulldogs Poised for First Home Game Friday

Will Meet Alamogordo in Attempt to Avenge Last Year's Defeat

The Artesia High School Bulldogs will take to Morris Field for their first home showing of the present grid season at 8 o'clock Friday evening, when they will meet the strong Alamogordo Tigers.

The Bulldogs are out to avenge the 19-to-0 defeat the Tigers handed the Artesia boys in the season opener for both schools last year at Alamogordo.

From all reports the Alamogordo team will be as strong as, if not stronger than, it was last year, as the Tigers lost but one starter of last year's squad. The Tigers use the Warner system with a single or double wing and an unbalanced line.

Van Antwerp Studio Moves to Ed Stone Building, West Main

The Van Antwerp Studio has been moved from Main at Roselawn, where it shared quarters with the Otis Jewelry Store, to 415 West Main Street in the Ed Stone building.

Lawell Van Antwerp was forced to find new quarters when the jewelry store closed a few days ago. However, the new location gives him a better studio set-up, without sharing quarters with another firm.

A few changes were made in the store room for his convenience and in order to build darkrooms, and the studio now is ready for patrons.

Boys and Girls to Have Annual Poultry Show on Sept. 28

The Boys' and Girls' Poultry Club, sponsored by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce and cooperating firms, will hold its second annual poultry show Saturday, Sept. 28, in the vocational agriculture department of Artesia Junior-Senior High School.

After the show the chickens will be auctioned off in order to continue the project next year. The remainder of the members' flocks will belong to the boys and girls. The public is invited to attend, both to see the displays and to bid on the prize chickens.

The list of prizes to be awarded was not available this week, but will be published next week.

WHO HAS CORNER ON KITCHENWARE?

Somebody seems to be getting a corner on the organization kitchenware around here, for two groups the last week have reported the disappearance of such. No one is blamed; it is just a case—or cases—of someone borrowing and failing to return. But in each case the missing article is badly missed.

First reported was a forty-eight-cup coffeepot, taken from the kitchen of the Methodist Church. And the women are quite anxious for its return.

A fifteen-gallon kettle belonging to the American Legion is missing too. It was borrowed some months ago by the Artesia Golf Club for a feed at the course. Then it was borrowed by a couple of fellows for some other function, but no one remembers by whom.

Now the Legion is anxious for the Golf Club to return it, because of the annual barbecue and dance this evening, and the Golf Club is anxious for the fellows to return it there, so as to make the Legion boys happy.

However, the barbecue will be held this evening, kettle or no kettle.

What if Germany Wins? Bruce Asks At Rotary Meet

Economic Boring in Is Most to Be Feared, History Teacher Says

Two questions of vital interest today, "Can England hold out?" and "What might happen if she doesn't?" were asked Tuesday noon at the weekly meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club by J. Clark Bruce, Artesia High School history teacher, who warned that an economic boring in is most to be feared.

The speaker explained that England has not been invaded for 900 years, but that the twenty-mile strip of water which has been a barrier heretofore no longer is as great as it used to be, but still is somewhat of a barrier.

The situation as it stands today, Bruce said, is that the Germans have ships and troops ready for an (Continued on page 5, col. 3)

County Land Use Planning Meeting Held in Carlsbad

A county land use planning meeting was held in the court library in Carlsbad Friday to complete the county land use planning report and maps. At this meeting Roy Forehand was elected chairman of the county committee and Mrs. Ralph Thayer of El Paso Gap was elected vice chairman.

Fred Barham, county agent, told committee members that he had received word that members of all the county land use planning committees in the state would be asked later to help in making plans to further the national defense program. Committee members should be able to give valuable assistance to the national defense group, as each committeeman is well acquainted with the problems and resources of his community and the county, Barham said.

Dean Earl of the Forest Service was present and worked with the El Paso Gap committee members on problems relating to the forest.

Ted Merrill, assistant extension economist, will summarize the community reports and maps and prepare them in final form to be sent to the state land use planning committee.

Is Senate Candidate—Miera Over Alston for Gubernatorial Race.

Incomplete, unofficial returns from the first state-wide primaries in New Mexico Saturday give Senator Dennis Chavez an estimated majority of about 2,500 votes over Congressman John J. Dempsey for the Democratic nomination for senator, and Gov. John E. Miles swamped former Gov. Clyde Tingley 2 to 1 in the gubernatorial race.

Although returns from the Republican primary are not nearly as complete as those for the Democrats, incomplete returns indicate Albert K. Mitchell, his party's candidate for governor in 1938, carried the senatorial race by a large majority over Richard C. Dillon. Maurice Miera led Seth Alston more than 3 to 1 for the Republican nomination for governor.

In the race for Democratic nomination for congressman, to succeed Rep. Dempsey, incomplete returns gave Clinton P. Anderson a narrow lead over Frank Patton, with Fred Wilson, former Eddy County man, in third place.

Waldo Rogers showed a slight advantage over Herman Crile of Roswell, "father of Herman Crile, Jr., of Artesia, for Congress on the Republican ticket."

In Eddy County Rep. Dempsey ran up a majority of 1,035 votes over Senator Chavez in the senatorial race, with all boxes except Queen and Otis heard from. The vote was 2,151 for Dempsey and 1,116 for Chavez. Early returns in the state at large gave Dempsey a considerable lead, which later boxes cut down and gave to Chavez.

The most one-sided race in the county was between Gov. Miles and Tingley, the former polling 2,765 votes to 710 for the latter, a plurality of 2,055, or practically 80 per cent of the total.

The governor did even better in Artesia, where he took all but 10.7 per cent of the votes, probably the greatest majority in any municipality in the state in that (Continued on page 5, col. 1)

Unemployment in New Mexico Drops To Low for Year

Unemployment in New Mexico has dropped to the lowest point since 1939, reports released by the Unemployment Compensation Commission of New Mexico revealed.

Only 244 initial claims for unemployment benefits were received in the entire state for the week ending Sept. 7, the report showed. The figure was even lower than that of the prosperous business month of December, 1939, when 290 claims for benefits were received.

Benefit claims have declined steadily since the first week of July, when 570 jobless workers filed for jobless insurance payments. The week ending Aug. 31, when only 280 claims were received, was the lowest previous seven-day period, the report disclosed.

Despite the fact that August normally is a period of seasonal business decline, unemployment figures for that month were lower than those of all other months of 1940, except April and June. Only 1,457 claims were received during the entire month of August, compared with 1,267 for June and 1,424 for April.

Jobless insurance checks issued during the month totalled 12,917, representing $115,978 in benefit payments.

Only twenty-one initial claims were received during the month awaited final determination in the administrative office.

OUR FINAL WORD ON THE SUBJECT

We had hoped that after the last gun was fired in the political battle prior to the primaries we would have no more to say on political subjects until possibly the general election campaign gets warmed up.

But under the local circumstances we hardly feel we can cut it off so abruptly, especially when we feel we were somewhat responsible for the results in Artesia of the Democratic gubernatorial race.

We are positive that Governor Miles would have whipped Tingley by a vast majority here even had the former governor not come to Artesia Monday of last week, browbeaten us and told us that he didn't want any votes here.

On the other hand we believe that had we had one more week to work on it—we and the others who immediately went to bat—that Clyde Tingley might have had his wish.

As it was he polled ninety-four votes here—we are sorry to say—to 805 for John E. Miles. That is about 10.7 per cent of the vote.

Since the primaries we have been told that some of those who did vote for Tingley would not have done so had they known about his loud discourse directed at Artesia and The Advocate and its editor in the lobby of the Artesia Hotel.

The sad thing is that we must admit there are a few people here who do not read this splendid newspaper. Or, if they do, they missed our editorial. That shouldn't be done, for sometimes we do have something to say.

Next we wish to congratulate Governor Miles for the splendid vote the people of New Mexico gave him and the great percentage he polled, even though the state at large did not back him as nearly 100 per cent as did the good people of Artesia.

And then we wish to dismiss Tingley, consign him to the bonnyard and pass on to a more pleasant thought.

A LETTER TO THREE SONS

Under the above caption a letter was written by Henry Hoke to his three sons and was originally published by him in his The Reporter in New York City. Since that time the letter has been reprinted many times and has been commented on favorably by numerous prominent men.

The letter is full of real Americanism, as well as good thoughts to the youth of America at this time. We suggest that the adult readers of this department pass on to as many boys and girls the following, as originally published by Mr. Hoke:

Dear Boys:
It won't be for very long I can call you that. You have grown fast. It seems so short a time since we built the trains in the cellar... and packed them away to hold for little future-fellows. The world moves so fast these days... we've all had to grow up quickly... and you must look at your new world with eyes more mature than mine when I professed youth.

It's time for us four to have a "bull-session" and find out where we stand. I'll put my end of it in a letter because:

- Habit has made that the best way to express my thoughts.
- A session like this might have interruptions—what with radio, telephone, dances, business and other incidentals of living.
- I've found that other fathers are worried about the same identical thing that bothers me... so maybe we can develop an idea that might be helpful to others sons.

What's It All About?

Those mimeographed sheets you've been getting in school (stuck under your door, etc.)... and those doubtful doctrines discussed (sometimes approved) by teachers and newspapers and your elders... have mixed-up your thinking until it's no wonder you wonder what all the shoutin's about.

- You have been told, for instance and among other things, that: Capitalists and imperialists are trying to push us into war. (War-mongers)
- Our Government is rotten from the bottom up—and especially at the top. (Political incompetence)
- Youth is given more chance of expression in the Nazi, Communist or Fascist scheme of things. (Revolution)
- That you should be satisfied with everything as it is—and should do nothing to alter or stop the changes being made around you. (Isolationism, Unpreparedness and "it can't happen here")

It's all very alluring and smooth. The letters are signed by high sounding titles... such as the American Student Union or the Student Christian Union or the Students Alliance. The fellows who talk to you sound sincere... and they have a line of dope long and loud enough to stop your breath.

What are you going to BELIEVE? That is the real problem of youth. What is the one thing that most worries the fathers of fine sons? I'd say... the Indifference of Youth to the whole problem of this new world you face so calmly. You know that we have not tried to dictate your thinking or your actions... and far be it for me to start now. You have heard so much. You three are a lot less indifferent than other sons whose reactions I've learned. You are grown-up enough to take the role of "guinea pigs" in this session.

Maybe (and it is most plausible) Life has been too easy for all of us. Maybe youth has had too many busses to take them to school; too much hot water without chopping wood; too much "finger-tip" music and news without shoveling a path through the snow to the town hall or to the debaters around the stove at the corner store. Too much freedom and leisure and vacation... without having to fight to keep the Indians away from the playground clearing. Too much solicitude for shorter hours of work... without realizing that work is fun and that leisure is satisfying only when truly earned. Maybe that is the cause of the Indifference. Is it? You answer. Maybe the blame falls on us fathers.

Could it be possible that we fathers have let American Youth down? So that in such a short while since this country began you are forgetting how and why it was founded? All around us forces that are not soft have changed the thinking and the maps of the world. They now want to include us. There is no appeasing such a lustful appetite.

It is your world ahead. You can help make it what you will. I can only offer you some suggestions.

Four Suggestions

First: I don't believe there is a single father in this America who wants to see his sons forced into a war. I don't believe any American (official or plain citizen) wants fine, clean boys like you to be slaughtered. Weigh those rumors of war mongering carefully. They smell... fishy.

Second: I nominate you three boys as charter members of a new club to be composed of American Fathers and Sons. Let's call the new club: "The Hi-Timers." (It's high time we're doing something about this America of ours.) Get it? My friend Col. Allison Scott, business executive and Army Reserve Officer, suggested that lu-lu of a name. Let's have many sober and serious sessions to find out what all the shouting is about. Let's weigh calmly and sincerely all those foreign claims that America is no good... and that we need a regimented life economy of Nazi or Fascist dictation. What does that mean? Briefly... State or "over-lord" dictation of all thoughts and actions. You have seen what happened to those who were not prepared to fight against it... in Czechoslovakia, Austria, Poland, Holland, Denmark, Belgium and France. You have heard what happens to the free people who fall under the march of brutality. Dictation of thought and action. Would you want that in America? Isn't it Hi-Time we fathers and sons get together and find a solution? Find out what we want. Find out whether we believe that America is worth fighting for. It is your America.

Third: I don't want to be sappy in this session. I don't want to do any flag-waving vaudeville stunt for you. We'll dispense with the reading or singing of "The Star Spangled Banner"... but Good God Almighty boys—do your share in all your contacts from this minute on to change the Indifference of Youth into a deep and sane love of this free country you inherit.

Peter, you are seeing the hills, vales, canyons, deserts, beaches and people on your vagabond summer trip. Hearn, you see more than the ordinary through the eyes of your camera. Jack, you have your eyes in the sky with your love of planes... seeking distant horizons.

What do you think of America? Isn't it great? Are you going to let these foreign propagandists lull you and your friends to sleep or into thinking there is Utopia at the end of a bloody rainbow of lust and murder and regimentation? Or conversely, are you going to let some of the crackpots which exist and flourish in a democracy flim-flam us with theories that we shouldn't work (and regiment ourselves if necessary) to protect this country of ours from the enemies of our peaceful pursuits?

Go out into your world and talk militant patriotism and love for free America. Fight by your words and your devotion the indifference which has been planted in your youth by skillful designers of disruption. You might also suggest to your boy friends that they work on indifferent fathers.

Fourth: In these changing days—read both sides of all controversies. Be skeptical of obvious propaganda. Search for the motives behind the appeals you receive. Study the history of this country—not as you studied in school—but as an absorbing, personal guide to your future. Read, study, analyze, weigh—and look at this land of yours objectively and patriotically. If we all have to go to training camps to prepare ourselves for possible protection—let's do it gladly. Let's say it's Hi-Time we all are willing to get away from ease, and to work a little overtime to keep safe the land that has given us this ease and work.

It is your America, Boys. It belongs to you and your boy-and-girl friends. It belongs to you and the kids who may some day unpack and rebuild the old trains.

I've got to get back to work. I leave the rest of the session to you. Call the first meeting of The Hi-Timers to order, Organize it, promote it (by direct mail if necessary). But above all... be a Hi-Timer, and by your courage and example destroy the INDIFFERENCE OF YOUTH.

Change that Indifference to Fire and Faith and Hope for a Free America. You can do it... and the fellow who knows you can do it is YOUR DAD

THIS WEEK

The fall of the year came spinning around the north half of the world and found nothing more deadly in America than a barrage of GOPEEPS and counter Democra-cks. Fall came too late to Europe because Europe fell in the early summer—the leaves have been ripped away by a hail of lead and the grass on Europe's ground has already died under rolling tanks and hobnailed boots. But fall brought with it hope—hope for England—hope that Nature would stop Hitler where France and other failed. But it can only be a hope for a reprieve till 1941, when spring will usher in the second year of these new Roaring Forties.

And this week saw politics getting up steam for a twelve-cylinder climax on Nov. 5. And there's nothing peculiar about referring to these campaigns in terms usually applied to mechanics, because this is the "Machine Age of Politics." Control was once vested in the man with the biggest club; now the vested man with the most clubs has control.

Some of the town's younger generation will achieve success in their respective lines of endeavor, but the best that can be hoped for others is the No-bell Prize, or perhaps even the Pool-kibitzer Prize.

Clyde Tingley finally found a good use for his big mouth. He can put his foot in it.

Anyone interested in knitting these socks are requested to call Mrs. Irvin Martin, club president, and arrangements will be made for the yarn which is furnished.

Miss Shirley Feather and Lewis Story, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace Gates at the piano, played a delightful violin duet.

The club will hold a rummage sale Saturday Sept. 28. All members and friends of the club are requested to call Mrs. Fay Harde-man, chairman of finance, if they have contributions.

First Meeting of Legion and Auxiliary Held On Monday

A musical program, quite different from any ever before presented at the American Legion but here, was enjoyed Monday evening at the first joint meeting of the Legion and Auxiliary of the season, which was attended by about seventy persons.

"The Appealing Power of Music," a reading with musical background, in part of which the audience took part by joining in the singing, was presented under the direction of Mrs. M. C. Ross, who also played the musical score. The reader was Mrs. Walter Seawell and the singers were Mrs. Fred Cole, Mrs. Frank Smith and little "Fid" Hamill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Hamill.

In the program the Legionnaires and members of the Auxiliary were carried along on a journey through life by means of music of many moods.

The same program was presented by the group Monday of last week at a meeting of the Auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Oscar Samelsson and is to be given soon at a meeting of the Rotary Club.

The program Monday evening was preceded by a covered-dish supper. Hostesses were Mmes. J. M. Story, Charles Gaskin and Walter Douglas.

 race. Gov. Miles polled 805 votes at the four boxes to ninety-four for Tingley. However, in Oilfield Miles received all but five of 101 votes. Tingley's five votes were in Oilfield box 11-B, with none recorded in box 11-A.
 Only two offices were contested in the Democratic ranks in Eddy County and there was none on the Republican ticket.
 For state representative from the nineteenth district, Eddy and Lea Counties, Jesse I. Funk led the four candidates, two each from each county, both in Eddy County and the district.
 His nearest competitor in Eddy County was Don G. McCormick of Lea County, who was high man in Lea County and second in the district, making Funk and McCormick the probable candidates. The incomplete vote for the two counties: Funk 2,693, McCormick 2,264, Malcomb L. Madera of Lea County, 2,100, L. C. Hannah of Eddy County 1,346.
 The other county contest was for Eddy County commissioner, district 2, which J. J. (Judal) Terry of Cottonwood won by an unofficial count of 1,786 to 1,384 over C. E. Mann of Artesia, former commissioner.

 Youngsters from all parts of New Mexico, all members of the Junior Musicians of America, will play under the direction of Sitska in Albuquerque.
 About fifty young musicians from the valley are expected to take part in the concert at Albuquerque.
 Besides the several hundred expected from all parts of New Mexico, it is expected the mass concert will include also young musicians from Colorado, Texas and Arizona.
 Among numbers rehearsed here Sunday by the boys and girls, to be played Monday at the State Fair, was "Hail New Mexico," a march composed by Leon I. Baker, a member of the Institute of Educational Music, sponsor of the Junior Musicians of America.
 Sitska, probably the most distinguished musician and conductor ever to visit Artesia, was formerly of the National Opera in Prague. He was conductor of the Russian Imperial Ballet at one time.
 "I am sure," Sitska said, "from our performances that the coming State Fair mass concert will surprise New Mexico people by its excellence and that it will bring national attention."

Artesia Bulldogs

 Coaches Joe Greeno and Allan Thompson have made some changes in their Bulldog ball club since the Hobbs game. Vance Haldeman has been moved back to his tackle position from right end, which he played in the opener. Eugene Scoggins has been changed back to end, where he lettered last year, and Gene Connor will probably start at the pivot post Friday evening. Connor has been playing second string center, but since Scoggins has been moved, he will be varsity center at least until Phil Mooney, recent transfer from Indiana, will be eligible. Buddy McCroby, who did such a nice job at tackle in the Hobbs fracas, has been moved over to a guard and will probably start in that position against the Tigers.
 A bad case of first game jitters and several unrecovered fumbles cost the Bulldogs their opener to Alamogordo last season. Artesia outplayed the Tigers on the offensive, making six first downs to four for Alamogordo, but gained ground was lost time after time through fumbles. The Tigers scored in every period other than the first and converted after the touchdown in the second quarter.
 The Artesia school band, assisted by the alumni band members, will give its first thirty-minute gridiron program before the football game Friday, beginning at 7:30 o'clock.
 Although the new band uniforms will not be delivered in time for the game, the band and majorettes are planning to be ready to put over a maneuver which will enable them to be better prepared when the uniforms come in. Clyde Dunn will assist in the maneuver with his unicycle.
 The following numbers are included in the thirty-minute band program: "God Bless America," by Berlin; "Orange and Black March," by M. L. Lake; Feist Popular-Standard Medley No. 2, "Tiger Rag," by LaRocca; "Gridiron Glory March," by Whistler; "Azalia Overture," by Fulton, and "The Star Spangled Banner."

THE FIRST U. S. NAVAL FORCE

The first United States naval force consisted of several open whale boats, which on June 17, 1772, under the command of Captain Abraham Whipple, rowed down Narragansett Bay and burned the English armed schooner "Gaspee." The men of this force were volunteers who were determined to defend their country, although no organized navy then existed.

What If—

 invasion, when and if the time comes. The bombings have been preliminary to such an attempt and as to their success, no one can judge, because the truth cannot be learned. Bruce hazarded the thought that the bombings have not been as successful as was hoped for, else they would have started to invade.
 The longer such an invasion is held off, Bruce said he believes, the longer the English will be able to prolong the war.
 Although some writers maintain Germany has a superior air force, it is said the British have shot down many more planes than they have lost, Bruce pointed out.

At present the weather factor may be a point in England's favor, he said, for the annual period of fog, rain and high winds usually sets in the latter part of September, which should make it more difficult for Germany and easier for England to hold out. And he pointed out that the longer England holds out, the more material assistance she may expect from the United States. Therefore, Bruce said, if England can hold out the next two weeks, she will have a better chance of holding out until spring and with more help from America will have a better chance to win.

In England's favor, Bruce said, is the fact she still rules the seas, to the disadvantage of Germany. Too, England has filled up the gaps in her merchant ship losses with merchant ships from the countries conquered by Germany. And the English ability to maintain morale, which seems to be holding up well, is giving the people greater determination, especially since Buckingham Palace was bombed.

"But what if Germany should win?" the speaker asked.
 There is too much of the alarmist idea in the United States, Bruce said, that an imminent invasion of this country or hemisphere will follow the capture of England, if that is done. But, he pointed out, this cannot be taken seriously because when Germany finishes with the present European conflict, she will be in no position to start on the biggest nation in the world, being sapped of her own resources, food and fighting equipment; the United States still has 3,000 miles of water, which is much greater than England's twenty; the United States now is in the midst of a defense program, which in a few years will put the nation in a position so that no other nation would attempt to invade it.

The greatest thing to fear, with the continuance of the defense program, is not invasion of armed forces, but an economic boring in, especially to South America, where Germany already had started such a move before the European conflict started.
 D. I. Clowe was the five-minute speaker and explained how a Rotary Club may go about winning the Charles Andrews Memorial award, which is given to some club in the district each year for having attained certain excellence in attendance and programs.
 Two former Rotarians, Howard Whitson and J. K. Wallingford, were welcomed back into the club after having been inactive for some time.

ADMIRALS OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY

Only three men have ever held the permanent rank of full admiral in the United States Navy—David G. Farragut, David Porter and George Dewey. The present admirals hold their rank for the duration of time they are in command of special assignments. Upon relinquishing their particular command they revert back to the permanent rank of rear admiral. There is no permanent rank above that of rear admiral.

Suggestions for Camping Trip Are Made by Service

Forest Men Tell Several Things to Make Outing More Comfortable

People who are thinking of vacation in the terms of a camping trip at this time of year would do well to consider some of the valuable suggestions offered by the Forest Service for making such a trip pleasant and agreeable.
 The first, and probably most important, suggestion has to do with avoiding some of the annoyance suffered from mosquitoes. Camp should be set up well out in the open where the breezes can strike and sweep the mosquitoes away. It should not be placed in deep timber, a wet meadow, nor close to a stream or lake. A net may be worn if a person is particularly sensitive to mosquito bites. A good mosquito repellent may be prepared by mixing one part oil of citronella, one part spirits of camphor and one-half part cedar oil. The mixture may be diluted with olive oil and applied to the hands and face.
 Since comfortable sleeping conditions are more than important to those who are unaccustomed to sleeping on the ground, the Forest Service suggests folding cots which, while not noted for warmth, can generally be used in this climate. Possibly the best combination is an air mattress with a regular sleeping bag or a down comfort. Plenty of good quilts and soft blankets will always make a good bed. Considering the frequency of mountain showers, a tent or at least a "fly" should be on the "must have" list.
 Matches in a waterproof box or lightly capped bottle, a flashlight and a man-sized ax, as well as a shovel, should be included in the equipment.

Another suggestion for those who don't wish to bother with a camp stove, a fairly efficient substitute can be made by filling a large coffee can half full of sand or dirt and pouring in a cup of gasoline. For draft, punch three or four holes in the can just above the level of the sand.

Tourist Travel in State Is Upward During Last Month

The volume of tourist traffic entering New Mexico during August averaged approximately 6,000 cars a day and brought at least a temporary end to the slump which began the middle of May and continued through July and August, according to Joseph A. Bursey, director of the New Mexico State Tourist Bureau.
 Bursey based his statement on results of the week-long traffic count taken from Aug. 18-24.
 During this period, Bursey said, a total of 41,678 motor vehicles were counted, compared with 41,815 during the week's count in August last year. While the count shows a decrease of 137 vehicles, there was probably an actual increase, the director said.
 In previous years, he said, the seven-day traffic count has been taken during the Gallup Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial. This year the dates of the ceremonial were advanced. The traffic count began after the ceremonial was over. For this reason, the count at Gallup showed a decrease of 1,745 cars from last year's check.
 Raton this year led all stations in the volume of traffic with 5,372 out-of-state vehicles. Other leading stations were: Gallup 5,232, Anthony 4,602, Texico 4,448, Hobbs 3,687, Clayton 3,297, Lordsburg 2,545, Road Forks 1,573, Cedar Hill 1,270 and Malaga 1,268.

SUBMARINE NAMES

As all Navy men know, submarines are named after fish, but there is one which had its name changed. The "Permit" was originally called "Pina." Then someone discovered that it was the habit of that fish called pina to bury its nose in the mud at the bottom and remain there. Almost immediately the submarine's name was altered.

Artesia was represented by a number of citizens Tuesday in Clovis, when Wendell Willkie, Republican candidate for president, stopped briefly on his speaking trip to the West Coast.  Aboard a special train from Carlsbad on the Santa Fe were M. E. Baish, William Dooley, Dr. H. A. Stroup, M. Murphy and Harvey Yates.
 Known to have driven to Clovis to hear Willkie were Howard Williams, Lum Richards, Jr., B. E. Spencer and Elmo Naylor.

 However it happened, Miss Lane wished mention made of the fact she did not authorize use of her name, nor was she for Senator Chavez in the race.

Bulldogs Drop Season Opener To Hobbs Eagles There Friday

Artesia Is Snowed Under by Score of 31 to 0—Getting Ready to Meet Alamogordo Here Tomorrow—First Home Game.

The Artesia High School Bulldogs were crushed under a score of 31 to 0 Friday evening in their grid season opener against the strong Hobbs Eagles on the Hobbs field.

It was Hobbs all the way, with the Eagles scoring early in the opening period and following up with four later tallies, while the Bulldogs were unable to penetrate the powerful Lea County grid machine.

The first Hobbs touchdown came when the Eagles took possession for a first-and-ten on the Artesia 15-yard stripe after crashing their way from their own 48-yard line with two successive first downs. Bill Clemens, Hobbs fullback, raced around right end to the Artesia nine-yard line on first down. Two plays later Husteen, Eagle right half, scored over right guard from the six-yard line. Clemens' kick for the extra point was good. The first period ended with the score remaining 7 to 0.

The Eagles scored early in the second stanza, when Husteen again carried it over into Artesia pay dirt from the Bulldog three-yard line on a line plunge. Clemens' try for conversion was low between the goal posts.

Another Hobbs tally came just before the first half ended. Captain Clemens lugged it over right tackle for the counter from the six-yard line after the Eagle aggregation had powerhoused down the field from the Bulldog 40-yard stripe in three straight first-and-tens. The kick for conversion was wide of the posts.

The half ended with the score 19 to 0.

Captain Clemens ran back the second half Artesia kick-off at the beginning of the third quarter through the whole Bulldog eleven, scoring after making a beautiful 88-yard run. Husteen's try for conversion was again wide of the posts.

The Bulldogs braced and started their only real ground gaining offensive of the game, marching down the field from their own 12-yard line to the Hobbs 27-yard line, after making four successive first-and-tens. On first down Wright threw a pass intended for Raymond Kennedy, Artesia left end, but it was intercepted by Husteen, who ripped off a pretty 80-yard broken-field run, scoring after going through the complete Artesia team again. The score remained 31 to 0 when the try for extra point again went wide.

Hobbs substituted frequently in the late stages of the game and the Bulldogs were gaining ground fast, when the gun went off ending the contest. The ball was in the Bulldogs' hands on the Eagles' 25-yard stripe.

Bobby Ferguson, Artesia fullback, was the only consistent ground gainer in the Bulldog backfield. Buddy McCrory showed up well in his tackle slot, making the lions' share of the tackles and recovering what might have been a costly Artesia fumble.

Captain Ray Lewis, Bulldog right half, was hurt late in the

SAFETY SERVICE

Scientists have developed a floor sweep from cottonseed hull bran that is not only more efficient but also distinctly more economical than ordinary sweeping compound. Protected by U. S. Patent No. 2,198,013, the product is now being distributed commercially as a brand new use for one of cotton's abundant byproducts. A clean sweep for cotton, in one sense, is now a reality.

There is one accumulation, however, which will take plenty of sweeping to clean out. We refer to the more than 12,000,000 bales of price-depressing carryover which now hangs over the cotton belt. This is approximately a year's production, a pile that will take plenty of sweeping to move.

But we can begin our own clean sweep for cotton. We can give cotton a clean sweep in our household white goods, in our personal wardrobes, in the bags in which we buy our groceries, in our cooking fats and salad oils and table spread. By giving cotton a clean sweep in our individual purchases, we can begin to sweep away the surplus.

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State," Gleaned from Many Sources

State Engineer Thomas McClure announced Friday that professional engineer and land surveyor licenses had been granted the following six applicants: Earl F. Puckett, Artesia; J. H. Sanford, Colorado Springs; Alvis F. Denison, Albuquerque; Franklin E. Scott, Gallup; Carroll E. Withers, State College; and C. M. Woodbury, Roswell. Licenses as professional engineers only were B. F. Kelley of Roswell, and Hugh P. Haynes, Albuquerque.

Dr. Elbert L. Little, Jr., in charge of the U. S. Forest Service Experimental Station at Tucson, Ariz., predicted a small spotted pinon nut crop in New Mexico and no crop in Arizona. Little said chief production in New Mexico would be from trees in the Cibola, Santa Fe and Carson National Forests.

The American Legion's 1941 State Convention Corporation, organized by the Ruidoso host post, (as chartered by the State Corporation Commission last week.

"The Land of Enchantment" will be the slogan on New Mexico's 1941 red-on-yellow license plates, El Boletin, state penitentiary inmates' newspaper, said last week. In addition to the line calling attention to the state as a vacation spot, the plates also will bear the traditional Zuni sun symbol. El Boletin said preliminary stamping and cutting operations already have been started in the prison plant.

The state land office Tuesday of last week sold oil and gas leases on six tracts of Eddy, Lea and Roosevelt County land for a total of $3,707.85. State Land Commissioner Frank Worden announced. Largest sale was $1,150 for a 280-acre tract of northern Lea County land purchased by the Humble Oil and Refining Company. The state had offered fifteen tracts, but received no bids on nine.

The postal service spent thirty-one years to take a postal card to La Luz, and now officials have set out to hunt for Mrs. C. R. Phillips, to whom it was directed. Mrs. Jerry Carter, La Luz postmaster, said the card was posted in St. Louis Aug. 8, 1909, and was mis-sent to Houston, Tex. Mrs. Carter said the card was from Mrs. Phillips' brother and carried the message he was "homesick."

The Highway Department announced that the last remaining unpaved stretch of U. S. 64 between Santa Fe and Taos would be surfaced within a month.

Con W. Jackson, president, announced the second quarterly executive board meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association would be at Las Cruces Oct. 14-15 during the annual "Ranch Day" given by New Mexico State College.

The Federal Housing Administration has released figures showing New Mexico families had received FHA home financing loans totaling $9,390,838 by the end of June. Of the total, $2,630,063 went to 5,005 families for improvement of property. Loans to finance home ownership went to 1,893 families and total $6,760,775.

An increase of 9,000 bales was forecast by the Department of Agriculture for New Mexico cotton this season with a total expected harvest expected to be 11,000 bales. Fred Daniels, statistician of the marketing service, said the gain was shown despite a drop in indicated acre yield to 501 pounds as compared to 523 pounds last year. An increase of 1,343,000 bales for the United States as a whole was reported over the amount indicated a month ago, and nearly a million bales more than the 1939 crop.

New Mexico collected $181,527.54 in franchise taxes during the fiscal year ended last June 30, an increase of $5,909.26 over collections for the 1938-39 fiscal period, state corporation commission Chairman Robert Valdez announced.

New Mexico celebrations got a prominent position in the September issue of "Travel News," issued by the United States Travel Bureau through the Department of Interior. The feature story in the first page of the travel publication told of the Navajo Tribal Fair to be held late this month. Another story told of the various other Indian celebration to be held in New Mexico this fall and the calendar listed all the state's entertainment activities.

Liquor, wine and beer taxes brought the state a total of $45,359.86 during August, a decrease

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

New Low—
Humans are worth less than 20 cents in the chemical market, researchers say. A Western service station operator got a new quotation recently.

Two boys walked into his station, explaining that they had run out of gas. They wanted a nickel's worth.

"O. K.," said the operator, "but what will you deposit on the can?" The boys figured a moment and then the taller one said, "How about my friend here? I'll call for him on the way back."

He was told to skip it; no deposit necessary.

Busy Bees—

Honey bees, age-old examples cited to the less industrious, really are working these days. In fact, they're an industry! Their output is measured in thousands of pounds of honey.

No free and easy life for bees in industry. They're kept in colonies of 15,000 to 20,000 on carefully selected, isolated, and fenced 50-foot square plots, located about four miles apart. The land is leased from the owners, who are released as rent fifty pounds of honey.

The bees of industry take their vacation in winter, asleep. If the winter is mild, however, the bees do less hibernating, more eating, which means that honey of which the hives are robbed two or three times annually, in part must be returned. Otherwise, the busier bees eat their fellows.

Sideline business is raising queen bees for the colonies.

Call Out the Diesels—

Diesel tractors, seasoned veterans at the tough job of blazing industrial trails, are answering industry's call to arms. Their blustering roar echoes over White Horse Pass as they swing by on daily runs hauling thousands of tons of mining machinery to rich radium and gold deposits discovered recently in the remote and hitherto almost inaccessible northern wilderness. To many an early gold seeker in the Klondike Rush, White Horse Pass was the end of the road. It's just another up-and-down grade to diesel-tractored trains.

On distant Midway and Wake Islands in the Pacific airplane bases were developed with tractor-built runways, harbor landing fields, building sites—even windmills! Along the precipitous cliffs that border the Pacific, tractors have carved out roads which are part of a vast network enabling American motorists to travel comfortably and quickly to distant cities.

Principal prime mover in the building of farm-to-market roads, tractors have pulled the farmer out of the mud in more ways than one. Tractors have helped to lay of $7,804 from the August, 1939, receipts, Tom Jernigan, State Liquor Control Division Chief, announced.

August revenue from liquor, wine and beer taxes totaled $45,359.86, down $7,804 from the August, 1939, figure, State Liquor Control Chief Tom Jernigan announced.

Col. D. C. Pearson, superintendent of New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, has offered the school's cooperation in connection with plans by a Hollywood motion picture, Gov. Miles' office announced. Preliminary negotiations have been under way between the governor and the company, but the a vast network of oil and gas pipe lines beneath the country's surface. Today, they're doing a similar job in the pampas and jungles of South America. On the mid-western plains tractors plow, seed, and harvest. In the forests they turn on a dime and stand fast while felling the "ripe" trees, leaving young timber unharmed.

The harnessing of rivers to make fertile and tenable millions of acres of land, to supply electric power, to eliminate floods, and to supply great metropolitan areas with an adequate, sanitary, wholesome water supply has been one of man's oldest and greatest contributions to social progress. Crowning achievements are today's awe inspiring feats of dam construction. The track-type tractor helped to make these dreams come true.

Multum in Parvo—

What is heralded as the world's first liquid gas plant is being constructed at a cost of $1,000,000 near a large Eastern city to insure the residents of a reserve supply of natural gas for heating and cooking in winter, and as a protection against wartime emergencies.

Engineers figured the city's people would need 150,000,000 cubic feet of gas in reserve. Storing that much gas would require thirty huge tanks and thirty acres of land. So they plan to compress the gas under 600 pounds pressure and then change it into a liquid by cooling it to minus 250 degrees. As a liquid, with about the same consistency as water, the gas will occupy only three small tanks—or one six-hundredth the space! Danger from fire or explosion is eliminated.

It is estimated that the gas can be liquefied by boiling with ethylene and ammonia, at the rate of 4,000,000,000 cubic feet in twenty-four hours. It can be returned to gas, at the rate of 72,000,000 cubic feet in the same period, by heating with steam.

Veterans At Work—

Many of the wells in the twenty-two oil-producing states were drilled in recent years but substantial production still comes from the wells of the original oil state, Pennsylvania, which were brought in over a half-century ago.

Rapidly expanding knowledge of the characteristics of oil pools, or sands, is making it possible to keep old fields on production, to revive those believed near exhaustion and even to re-open wells shut-in for years because they had stopped producing.

Added knowledge is making it possible, also to take a much greater percentage of the oil from the ground; by better spacing of wells, the fullest utilization of underground pressures, and by chemical treatment of the sands.

executive's office said Col. Pearson had advised the governor the school would "be delighted to cooperate. It will be an easy matter for us to furnish uniforms, cadets, horses and ground space," he wrote.

New Mexico collected $181,527.54 in franchise taxes during the fiscal year ended last June 30, an increase of $5,909.26 over collections for the 1938-39 fiscal period, State Corporation Commission Chairman Robert Valdez announced.

August land office revenue totaled $230,761.05, a decrease of $13,462 from the August, 1939, figure, State Land Commissioner Frank Worden announced, adding, however, that revenue for the first

Industry Ready to "Keep 'em Rolling" for Defense

Graphic illustration of the way in which one of America's greatest industries gears its activities with the United States Army for national defense is found at Little Falls, Minn., where the greatest peacetime maneuvers in the history of the country are being held Aug. 3—Aug. 24. To "keep them rolling," Chevrolet, one of the largest suppliers of motor transport equipment to the nation's armed forces, has set up through one of its dealers, the Bert Baston Motor Co., of Minneapolis, a complete parts and service headquarters in the military reservation at Little Falls. More than $10,000 worth of parts is maintained at this depot, where three service representatives are on duty 24 hours daily to service Chevrolet equipment in use. The 85,000 troops in actual combat maneuvers will use 1,180 Chevrolet transport units, including officers' cars, reconnaissance cars, hundreds of trucks adapted to special uses, and military ambulances. Upper left in the photo shows army transport crewmen servicing an ambulance. Upper right is the Chevrolet parts and service headquarters tent, where service experts are always on duty. Lower left is Lieut.-Col. R. F. Rossberg, of the Minnesota National Guard Quartermaster Corps. At lower center, an officers' car used by the major-general in command of the Little Falls encampment is being serviced. Lower right is an interior view of the Chevrolet parts tent, showing completeness of stock.

eight months of 1940 was up more than $200,000 over the comparable 1939 period. Greatest loss in August revenue was reported in oil and gas lease rentals, which totalled $67,420.78, a drop of $24,426.19 from the 1939 receipts.

The unemployment compensation commission cited an increase of $200,000 in payments to the jobless fund in August as an indication of rapidly improving business in the state.

Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton announced that headquarters company of the national guard 104th anti-tank battalion had been assigned to Santa Fe. The city, he said, has 125 young men who are eligible and eager to sign up. Although the preliminary estimate of the company's complement was sixty men, he predicted that would

LET'S STOP EVEN IF WE DON'T NEED GASOLINE

Comfort means calmer, safer driving. More economical driving, too. So let's stop for comfort. And from door-knob to drinking cup, every Conoco comfort facility shows fine regard for one's feelings.

Or if tires are down a bit, let's stop. Correct inflation not only helps to save tires, but gasoline, and why toss away a single bit of the mileage to be had out of Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline? It gives you long jumps between pumps, but in between you might as well stop for Conoco comfort and things. Please accept this invitation from Your Mileage Merchant.

Consumers These Days want to know what they really get for their money. The certified Conoco Mile-Dial will easily report every mile you get out of Conoco Bronz-z-z gasoline. Ask for your Mile-Dial—free while they last—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station.

be white. Trousers will be black, with wide orange stripes down the outside, also piped in white.

The West Point type of hat was ordered. The hat will have a black band at the top and bottom, with the rest gold and with a gold or orange plume.

Majorettes will be dressed in orange uniforms trimmed in black and there will be two clown majorettes with orange and black domino suits.

Director Harp is planning his band seating arrangements and maneuvers so as to take advantage of the contrasting colorings of the band uniforms and the majorette uniforms to get some striking combinations for spectators.

Military Rites—

No. 41, American Legion, of which Mr. James formerly was an active member, and the Legion Auxiliary, of which she was a member, said that Tom James, as he was best known to his many friends here, suffered perforated ulcers of the intestines, which burst while he was fishing. He managed to walk home, the letter said.

The clipping continues: "Mr. James was known for his pleasing personality, his puns and his jokes. He was a daily fisherman on the pier and was known to all sportsmen."

"Mr. and Mrs. James came to Oceanside nearly a year ago from Artesia, N. Mex. He was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., and was a disabled World War veteran."

"He is survived by Mrs. James, affectionately known as 'Jerry.'"
Tom James worked a number of years in the oil fields of Eddy County as a driller, the greater part of the time for Carper Drilling Company. A few years ago he and Mrs. James purchased the service station business at City Garage, which they operated as Tom & Jerry Service Station. Several months before leaving here they sold out to Jack Kennedy.

Mr. and Mrs. James moved from Artesia to Louisiana, but Mr. James found the climate there did not agree with him and they moved to California.

Mr. James took a quite active part in the American Legion here and was serving as a vice commander of the local post at the time he and Mrs. James moved away.

In her letter to the Legion and Auxiliary, Mrs. James expressed thanks to all here who by word or deed had expressed their sympathy in the death of Tom James.

Mr. James was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Gussie Izard and an uncle of Carter Izard of Artesia.
