Lions Club Two-Day Fight Card Looks Like Top-Flight Tourney

Scraps on Tuesday and Wednesday Evenings to Be Held at Morris Field Stadium — Start at 8 p. m.

STONE IS THIRD MAN

Will Referee Bouts—1,000 Seats to Be Available at Park.

All details for the Artesia Lions Club outdoor boxing tournament at Morris Field next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings have been taken care of and Joe Greeno, director, is growing more enthusiastic every day as reports on boxers from other cities come in.

His own boxers are showing up splendidly, Greeno said, and prospects are for a far better tourney than the one the Lions held last spring.

The Lions have announced that Dr. Glenn Stone will referee the bouts. Stone and N. M. Baird each refereed one night in the previous tourney.

Judges will be Boone Barnett of Artesia, Dr. F. C. Bohannon of Carlsbad and Jim Rallis of Roswell. C. D. Marshall will be time-keeper.

Kennedy Lands Whopper Snapper In Kaiser Lake

A huge snapping turtle caught Tuesday in Kaiser Lake by Jack Kennedy, originally reported to be thirty-two inches across the back, dwindled to a mere eighteen inches when Kennedy was contacted, detracting from the retired Spanish-American War veteran's reputation as a turtle story teller, but placing him in the category of the chap for whom Diogenes was looking.

So perhaps the customary grain of salt need not be added when it is reported that Kennedy said the turtle weighed between 30 and 40 pounds, measured thirty-one inches from the tip of its head to the tip of its tail and that its neck was six inches in diameter. It was really a whopper snapper—and that's not double talk.

Jack, who claims now to be the champion turtle catcher of the Pecos Valley—and who will be so considered until someone comes along to wrest the title from him—said the snapper was hooked through its nose, so it could not bite the line. The No. 2 hook was about forty yards out when the turtle snapped and was hooked Kennedy said.

He said it took him about fifteen minutes to persuade the big fellow to land.

Kennedy said some of the meat is to be fried and that turtle soup will be made of the remainder.

Billy Wilson, who has been visiting his aunt, Miss Mary McCaw, and other relatives here for the last three weeks, left Sunday for his home in Scottsdale, Ariz.

GAS COMPANY EMPLOYEES CONTRIBUTE TO THE U.S.O.

The local United Service Organizations committee received another $26 this week when a check in that amount was turned in from the employees of the New Mexico Eastern Gas Company.

The employees decided on their three-day picnic at Black River Village over the Fourth to pool their individual funds for the cause.

Lightning Kills Raymond Bindel At Otis Friday

Raymond Bindel, 21, of Carlsbad, son of a former Artesia business man, W. C. Bindel, and Mrs. Bindel, was killed by lightning on his father's farm four miles south-east of Otis Friday afternoon.

He was cultivating cotton with a tractor at the time of his death. Just before a rainstorm Friday afternoon he was struck by a bolt of lightning and apparently was knocked off the seat of the tractor and dragged for some distance, officers said, because his hat was found lying about fifty yards from his body.

The tractor finally killed its engine about 200 yards from where Bindel's body lay.

The victim is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bindel; five brothers, Andrew, Willie, Cecil and Gilbert, all of Carlsbad, and Joe of Salem, Ore.; two sisters, Mrs. Margaret Metlock of McAllen, Tex., and Mrs. Joe Boes of Carlsbad.

Young Bindel's father formerly was connected with the Pecos Valley Implement Company here.

Rotary Committee Appointments Are Made by Schulze

Representatives Present Report on Trip to Convention in Denver

At the regular meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club Tuesday noon, M. G. Schulze, new president who was installed the first of the month, announced his standing committees.

The program, in charge of Hollis G. Watson, consisted of reports by him and A. P. Mahone and R. N. Stinnett on the annual convention of Rotary International in Denver last month, which was attended by the three members and their wives.

Watson said it was a "war convention," with all talks touching on (Continued on last page, col. 2)

Medley No. 2, arranged by White, consisting of "Gwine to Run All Night," "Old Black Joe," "Nellie Gray," "Old Folks At Home," "The Glendy Burke," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Good Night Ladies."

"The Star Spangled Banner."

Oil, Gas Lease Sale Brings State $7,666 On Last Thursday

The State Land Office July oil and gas lease sale in Santa Fe last Thursday brought in $7,666.20 on sixteen tracts totaling 4,686.33 acres in Eddy and Lea Counties, H. R. Rodgers, state land commissioner, announced.

Of thirty tracts offered, no bids were received on fourteen, Rodgers said.

Highest bid was $5.42 an acre for 120 acres in Eddy County, submitted by the Texas Trading Company of Dallas.

Stull Carrying On Service for Foreign Trucks

For the benefit of New Mexico farmers, Earl Stull, director of the Division of Courtesy and Information, is carrying on a market service, with the aid of the extension division of state agriculture.

The service consists of bulletins showing where, when and what New Mexico products are to be had, such as peppers, canteloupes, watermelons, apples and peaches.

The bulletins are handed out by the courtesy and information stations, more than a score of them, along the state lines at the chief highway points of ingress. They are given to truckers interested in taking out a load of New Mexico vegetables or fruit, instead of leaving the state with their trucks empty after delivering whatever cargo they bring in.

In this way Stull is getting truckers from out of the state to do a good turn for New Mexico producers, enabling them to find a wider market for their vegetables and fruit.

Bids on School Building Are All Much Too High

A delay in the construction of the new elementary school and band and music room addition to the high school plant was encountered Monday, when all bids received for the work were found to run somewhat higher than the money available.

When the bids were read, it was found all were about $15,000 higher than the $62,000 made available through a bond issue voted last spring.

Action by the board of education was deferred for the present. W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools, said the board received eight general contract bids, six on plumbing and two on electric work.

It is not known how long the present situation will postpone construction, nor the course the board will take. It is presumed, however, bids may be advertised for again.

In any event, the delay will inconvenience the school system when the schools reopen in September, because of the crowded housing condition.

Orahood Will Start Series on Symbolism Of Solomon's Temple

Dr. Oren Orahood, minister of the First Christian Church, will begin a series of sermons at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening on "Solomon's Temple and Its Sacred Symbolism."

The whole of the Christian system is embodied and symbolized in the magnificent Temple of God builded by Solomon and every phase and detail will be brought out in the series of sermons and illustrated by the use of a beautiful chart picture of the temple, the minister said.

These lecture-sermons will be of particular interest to Masons and others who know something of the wonderful symbolism of the temple, said the Rev. Dr. Orahood, who extended a cordial welcome to all.

Sister of Mrs. J. W. Turknett Dies at 81 In Arizona Tuesday

Mrs. J. W. Turknett of Artesia has learned of the death on Tuesday of her sister, Mrs. Polly Edwards of Globe, Ariz., at the age of 81 years.

Mrs. Edwards, who visited in Artesia a few years ago, leaves a large family of children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Mr. Edwards preceded her in death.

Funeral services and burial are to be at Globe today.

Cotton Is Coming Better Than Was Thought Days Ago

Is Now Only About Two Weeks Behind — Bad Alfalfa Situation

Although it looked a few weeks ago as though cotton in the valley would be practically a total loss because of excessive rains and that farmers would have to depend largely on their alfalfa hay crops this season, it seems now the situation is reversing itself somewhat.

Whereas cotton was about three weeks late some time ago, after farmers had replanted, some of them several times, it has gained a week and Alfalfa Growers' Association hazarded the guess this week that if there is plenty of hot weather, it will be only ten days to two weeks late in general when developed.

On the other hand, the greater part of the first and second cuttings of alfalfa were lost because of rain, the first during the continued precipitation and floods of May and the second because of storms and showers at the wrong time.

And now that the third crop cutting time is here, the farmers are faced with an unusual hay market, on which there is little demand, McNally said. Even were (Continued on last page, col. 4)

Mrs. Craven, An Early Artesia Resident, Dead

Mrs. Frances Craven, widow of the late Joseph H. Craven, both early Artesia residents, died June 1 at the home in Petersburg, Ill., of a daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Horner, according to a clipping from The Petersburg Observer just received.

Funeral services were from the Christian Church in Chancellersville, Ill., on June 4 and burial was by the grave of her husband there.

Frances Marion Osburn Craven was born in Petersburg on Oct. 3, 1850. On Aug. 30, 1876, she was united in marriage to Joseph H. Craven of Newmansville. Two daughters were born to her, both of whom survive: Luna Craven Osburn of Manchester, N. H., and Josephine, Mrs. Robert C. Horner, of Petersburg. A grandson, Judson Osburn, Jr., lives at Pittsburg, Calif.

KNOWLES SAYS SEASON GOOD FOR YOUNG BEES

R. B. Knowles, father of Buster Knowles and Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon of the Cottonwood community, left Friday for his home in Lamesa, Tex., after spending two weeks here caring for the Knowles and O'Bannon bees.

Mr. Knowles said the quality of honey might not be so good this year due to the rainy season which has produced so many wild flowers, but that the young been crop had been greatly benefited by the excessive honey gathered on the prairies.

Cash Increase Of $100,637 in Eddy for Year

J. R. Attebery, treasurer of Eddy County, disclosed this week that the county had a splendid fiscal year closing June 30 from a financial standpoint, during which more than $100,000 more was collected than disbursed.

His balance sheet shows that there was an increase of $100,637.63 cash on hand at the end of the fiscal year.

At the beginning of the fiscal year on July 1, 1940, the cash on hand was $209,604.40, and at the end of the year on June 30, 1941, the cash on hand was $310,242.03.

Total receipts for the year were $901,790.85 and disbursements were $801,153.22, Attebery said.

For the year ending June 30 there was only 4.4 per cent of the 1940 tax roll collected, the treasurer said.

Cotton Is Heavily Bug Infested in North Eddy Fields

County Agent Barham Suggests Dusting After Making Inspection

North Eddy County cotton fields are heavily infested with flea hoppers and a few lygus and plant bugs, according to County Agent Fred Barham. He said the infestation of hoppers averaged 20 to 50 per 100 sweeps with a fifteen-inch net and that infestation of more than twelve per hundred sweeps warrants dusting. Checks were made in the Artesia, Cottonwood and Atoka communities.

He suggested that the cotton be treated with a mixture of two-thirds sulphur and one-third calcium arsenate, a mixture successful in Arizona experimental work. He said, considering the price of cotton, it would pay farmers to dust their fields.

Pairings in City Golf Tournament To Be on Friday

Drawings for first matches in the 1941 city golf tournament of the Artesia Golf Club will be held at the course Friday evening, when a barbecue will be served.

Qualifying rounds must have been played prior to the barbecue, at which time the medalist also will be announced.

Match play will start Sunday and contestants will have until Saturday, Aug. 2, to complete their first rounds. A week each will be allowed for subsequent matches and the championship games are to be played by Sunday, Aug. 17.

Several flights are expected besides the championship flight, for which it is necessary to play thirty-six holes to qualify. The requirement for other flights is eighteen holes.

On the opening day of match play in the Artesia city tournament, a number of the local golfers probably will be in Roswell for a tri-city golf meet between Roswell, Carlsbad and Artesia. The meet Sunday will be on the Roswell Country Club course.

Mr. and Mrs. Manville Weens and two daughters, Gail and Jerry Lola, of Neosho, Mo., are visiting in the home of Mrs. Weens, parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Nickey.

Local Campaign, Sponsored by Junior Woman's Club, Will Tie in With National Effort to Overcome Shortage.

WILL MAKE CANVASS

Scouts Are to Distribute Literature and Collect Old Utensils.

The local drive for old aluminum to help meet the shortage of the national defense program goes along, which has been meeting with only fair response in Artesia, will reach a fast tempo Thursday and Friday of next week, when this community will have a part in the two days set aside for a concerted national drive.

The Junior Woman's Club, which has been sponsoring the local effort, will take the lead in the two-day campaign next week and will have the cooperation of other organizations, including the Boy Scouts, who will make the actual collections in a house-to-house canvass.

All aluminum collected will be given to the United States government for use in the building of airplanes, or any other use in the (Continued on last page, col. 3)

July 26 and 28 Will Be Defense Shopping Days

Artesia will observe a two-day sales event Saturday, July 26, and Monday, July 28, when merchants will offer United States Defense Stamps as bonuses on many purchases.

The event, the same as is being put on in many communities throughout the nation, will be known as "Defense Days" and is designed to promote the saving and purchase of Defense Stamps and Bonds, as well as to offer two citywide bargain days, when merchants, instead of taking discounts, give stamps as a bonus.

It is believed that many persons who heretofore have not been buying Defense Stamps will be started in that patriotic direction through those they receive while saving on their purchases on "Defense Days."

The Treasury Department, through the Post Office Department, gives books in which Defense Stamps may be pasted and saved until a sufficient number have been obtained to exchange for National Defense Bonds. These books will be available on the sales days for those who have not as yet started to save and to help this nation in the national defense program.

In general the bonuses on "Defense Days" will be 10 per cent in Defense Stamps. For example: A person purchases a $1 item and pays the full dollar. In return he receives the merchandise plus a 10-cent National Defense Stamp. Or for a $5 purchase, he receives a bonus of 50 cents in Defense Stamps.

Fed From Alamogordo, It Reaches Flood Stage of 11.2 Feet

For the sixth time this year the Pecos River went out of bank at Artesia and for the fourth time the highway east of town has been closed because of flood waters coming down from far upstream.

The road first was closed about 1 o'clock Wednesday morning, when a Highway Department crew cut through and placed two temporary culverts in place. Traffic was resumed again about 5 o'clock that morning.

However, the highway had to be closed again at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when the river stage reached 11.2 feet, only .2 feet below the high reached earlier in the season, and a channel was (Continued on last page, col. 4)

Trail Blazers, Pioneers, Old-Timers of Valley Honored Tonight by Artesia Band at Concert

"Trail Blazers," "Pioneers" and "Old-Timers" of the Pecos Valley will be honored at 8 o'clock this evening at the weekly band concert at Central Park, when the program largely will be melodies of an earlier day.

E. L. Harp, band director, has compiled lists of old residents under the three general headings, of which "Trail Blazers" designated those who have been in the valley more than fifty years. The "Pioneers," as classified for this purpose, are those who have been here 40 to 50 years, whereas the relatively recent arrivals, those who have been in the Pecos Valley only 30 to 40 years, are merely "Old-Timers."

The Advocate, which is sponsoring the program this evening, and the band director realize the lists as compiled are far from complete, and it is hoped to be able to add to it in the future by way of a permanent record.

But at that, fourteen persons having resided in the valley more persons have been included in the "Old-Timers" division. And then there is a fourth list, carrying the names of those known to belong in one of the other groups, but the exact length of residence in the valley unknown.

Harp, in his research for early residents, discovered that Mrs. Jim Simpson, who has been here forty-seven years, rode on the first train which pulled into Artesia. And Mrs. James L. Elliott, a valley resident forty-two years, is a daughter of W. C. Albert, the conductor on that same train.

Judge and Mrs. G. U. McCrary, with a credit of thirty-eight years here, are the first couple married in Artesia and C. E. Mann, practically a newcomer, who claims only thirty-five years, nevertheless has been in business longer than anyone else in Artesia.

Here are the lists, with the years in the valley indicated after each name, with the "Trail Blazers," (continued on page 3, column 4) than fifty years have been found for the "Trail Blazer" classification, and nineteen of the "Pioneers" are so listed. Several dozen

ALUMINUM HELPS BUILD PLANES

Although a number of old aluminum pots and pans have been contributed in Artesia towards the national defense for the building of airplanes, the surface has only been scratched.

The official national days for collecting old aluminum have been set for next Thursday and Friday, when every effort should be made locally to dig out the old aluminum utensils.

We have seen in news reels from other countries how the housewives have given practically every bit of certain metals when they were needed in the war efforts. Some gave away valuable heirlooms and pieces of artwork.

No such extremes are needed in this nation for the present and probably never will be, especially if everyone gives wholeheartedly now—just as everyone should put his whole heart into all phases of the national defense.

If that is done, the heirlooms and art pieces will be safe for the individual.

If it is not, and we do not prepare rapidly and thoroughly, there is always the possibility we might lose our right to private ownership sometime in the future.

It's such a little thing and a small way to show one's patriotism and love for America. But it is something we should do wholeheartedly.

Do it, not to help the Junior Woman's Club, the local sponsor, nor the Boy Scouts, who will assist and have been assisting—but do it to help America and democracy and liberty.

SOME MORE ABOUT DOGS

It was hazarded in this column last week that perhaps we might get something started in regard to controlling the dogs in Artesia—besides poisoning, which practice we have said and repeat is one of the most inhumane deeds a person can perform.

That dogs are becoming pests in Artesia is a fact.
That they might be dangerous, especially the unattached, stray mongrels which shift for themselves, also is a fact.

The El Paso papers reported the other day that twenty-five children recently had been bitten by rabid dogs, necessitating the Pasteur treatment, which costs about $50 each, or an outlay of $1,250 in all, not to mention the mental anguish and discomfort.

Dog pets are great things and we love dogs as well as anyone and have had a number. But when dogs get too thick and run around loose, they should be culled out. And we do not want a repetition of the El Paso experience in Artesia.

Since our editorial last week, and after prior editorials in regard to dogs, we have been approached to help do something.

And something can and will be done.
Dog licenses are due now; if you have a dog and wish to keep it, and have not paid his or her license as yet, do so at once.

Then any time you are bothered by dogs, call the city authorities; they have the power to do something about it and they have the will to do it. So that will solve the problem.

But we'll say one thing here and now: The city officials' method is not to kill indiscriminately—nor with poison! They do it humanely and legally.

WHERE SOME OF THE MONEY GOES

We have never been one to make much commotion over apparent waste of money by government agencies, for we realize there are many things which enter into bureaus and whatnot which make for lost motion and great losses.

Without saying anything about it we have observed what seem to be—and probably are—examples of throwing away the taxpayers' money.

We have said nothing when reams and reams of useless copy have come from different agencies of the government, for we realize that some newspapers will find in it something of interest to the readers. In fact, from the many stories we receive we glean some good reading for The Advocate family.

But here's what got our goat: A few days ago from Information Service, Department of the Interior, we received five identical copies of the same news release in the same envelope.

Even then we thought little of it. But when this same thing was repeated in less than a week—as we said—it got our goat!

The first time, we thought, maybe it was a clerical error, an oversight on the part of a clerk who was to have taken five stories from as many piles and placed them in a common envelope.

When it happened a second time we felt that perhaps every newspaper in the country received five copies of each release.

Now when we weed out the many reams of stuff which comes to our attention each week, we might happen to find it to our pleasure to use either or both of those Department of the Interior stories.

But what in thunder are we to do with the other four copies of each?

Offhand we do not recall the exact number of newspapers in the United States, but it occurs to us it is in the neighborhood of 10,000. Just multiply two sheets, the length of the stories we received, by four, the number of extra copies, by 10,000, by the number of times that might happen, lay the sheets end to end—and you have a lot of wastepaper.

The whole art of getting along with people probably can be traced back to the one principle of saving face—preserving your own dignity and importance, and at the same time showing the other man that you recognize his dignity and importance. Pay him a delicate compliment appropriate to the situation, and you win his cooperation instead of his antagonism.—Milton Wright in Your Life Magazine.

Back in the horse and buggy days there was a song called "Over the Hills to the Poor House." However, it took longer to get there in those days than it does via the present day automobile route, if you get what we mean.—Greenleaf (Kas.) Sentinel.

Sunday service, 11 a. m.

Wednesday service, 7:30 p. m.

"Life" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 20.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord will command his loving kindness in the daytime, and in the night his song shall be with me, and my prayer unto the God of my life."
(Ps. 42:8.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible:
"For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."—(Rom. 8:6.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook:
"The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its al-mightiness and immortality."

Visitors are welcome to these services.

WHAT'S WHAT in NEW MEXICO

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State," Gleaned from Many Sources

The Raton fire department was on the job all right, but the woman who called in to report the fire gave the wrong address. In the time it took for the firemen to find out where the fire was, a small coal shed was destroyed and a house was partly burned. The damage was small.

John Canady of McAlister designed the first load of wheat for the Tucumcari area this season and received a milling company's bonus. That was on July 1 and since then several loads have been rolling in. A bumper Quay County harvest was expected to be in full swing by this week.

The Raton unit of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary have announced plans for building a modern home containing club and lodge rooms and "the largest dance hall in the city."

Coronado, equine star of last year's Cuarto Centennial, was presented to Governor Miles by the New Mexico Mounted Patrol. The big white gelding led the parade of conquistadores in the Coronado pageant. It was bred six years ago in West Texas.

United States fish and wild life trappers set a new record by taking 7,995 predatory animals in New Mexico in the year ending June 30. E. C. Cates, district agent for the service, said the previous high catch was 5,241 in the previous year. He said the total catch has increased almost yearly since the program began in 1916.

New Mexico shipped 12,321 cattle during June as compared to 9,433 in the same month a year ago, but 10,000 head less than last month. The New Mexico cattle sanitary board announced the total for the first half of the year was 6,896 under 1940's six months total of 132,876. June shipments by districts included Las Vegas 42, Tucumcari 1,061, Roswell 1,432, Carlsbad 1,361, Lovington 317, Clovis 1,889 and Hobbs 348.

Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton has set a tentative mid-August date for the state's projected civilian war games and asked communities to delay local demonstrations and carry them out as part of the state-wide mobilization. He indicated State Guard officers at their three-day training school in Santa Fe later this month would study methods of carrying out the proposed test of state defense measures. As a test of civilian-organized aircraft warnings and effectiveness of city blackouts, Charlton said the U. S. Army Air Corps might take part in the state mobilization.

Dental students in New Mexico have found some patients who can't do a thing about it if they pull the wrong tooth. Forty-eight convicts at the state penitentiary have acquired new teeth or fillings as a result of a new policy of the state dental board adopted for this year's examination of applicants for dentist's licenses. To provide actual case work, arrangements have been made with Warden John B. McManus for them to work at the penitentiary.

Gail Carter, director of the school tax division of the Bureau of Revenue, back in Santa Fe from his recent conference with dairymen in Albuquerque, evidently is responsible for this "quip" in The Santa Fe New Mexican concerning the conference: "When Director Gail S. Carter of the school and use tax divisions of the State Revenue Bureau had a powwow with the dairymen in Albuquerque, he told them that, unless they complied with the letter of the law, he was going to have to get hard with them, or something to that broad general effect. "You just ain't human," piped up a voice in the audience. "Well, I've got a birth certificate anyhow," replied Carter."—Albuquerque Journal.

Happy days are here for those musical souls who always wished they could play some instrument, but couldn't. Miss Mildred Vandenberg, director of recreational music in Los Angeles schools, is giving six free lessons in harmonica playing to all Silver Citizens interested. The purpose is to enable those who are interested to have a good time with music.

A substantial increase in New Mexico tourist traffic was indicated by the State Tourist Bureau's one-day June count of incoming automobiles. The daily tally showed 5,353 cars and 14,482 passengers, compared with 4,804 cars and 13,223 passengers for June of last year.

The Chaves County treasurer reported disbursements of $867,559 and receipts of $775,645 for the year ending June 30. The county's balance at the end of the year was $167,149, against $279,063 at the start of the year. Tax collections for 1940 were $383,099, or 93.21 per cent.

New Mexico automobile accidents took twenty-four lives in June, State Safety Engineer W. R. Eccles reported. The victims were divided evenly between New Mexico residents and visitors from out of the state.

Independent retail operators in New Mexico enjoyed a banner sales month in May, the Census Bureau reports. Albuquerque retail stores were up 25 per cent in dollar sales over May a year ago. Roswell stores were up 9 per cent. Stores in towns of 2,500 to 5,000 were up 14 per cent, and stores in towns less than 2,500 were up 8 per cent. For the first five months of the year sales for the whole state were up 10 per cent over the same period in 1940, and May dollar sales were 12 per cent over those for April. Motor vehicle dealers showed the largest single gain of 37 per cent, with the furniture group next with 20 per cent. General and food stores were up 11 per cent, clothing stores 12 per cent.

George Curry, New Mexico's territorial governor from 1907 to 1910, has decided not to accept the state's offer of a $50-a-month custodianship at the old Lincoln County courthouse museum, Governor Miles said. Curry did not want to leave his Hot Springs home for so small a salary and without having complete charge of the museum, said the governor. The last legislature, in appropriating $600 a year for a custodian, urged that the appointment go to Curry, although his name was not mentioned in the bill. The governor said he had considered nobody else for the position.

The September issue of New Mexico Magazine will feature the State Fair, Editor George Fitzpatrick has notified fair officials. The fair will be depicted in the 4-color cover of the magazine, reproduced from a painting by Wilfred Stedman, Santa Fe artist. The issue will also carry special articles telling of the fair.

Larry Briggs, vice president of the United States Eastern Amateur Ski Association, praised New Mexico ski runs in a visit to the state last week and said there were only one or two areas in Massachusetts which would compare with them. Briggs is assistant professor of education at Massachusetts State College and head of the junior ski committee of the National Ski Association. With Frederick A. Baker of the Forest Service he visited La Madera ski area in the Sandia Mountains, as well as ski areas in the Santa Fe National Forest. He also will inspect ski runs in other Southwestern states before returning to the East.

The new undersecretary of interior now is John J. Dempsey, former congressman from New Mexico. Dempsey was sworn in to succeed Alvin J. Wirtz, taking his oath in the office of Secretary Ickes. After leaving the House at the end of the last session, following his unsuccessful race for the Senate against Dennis Chavez, Dempsey was appointed to the Maritime Commission by President Roosevelt. He resigned that post for the Interior position.

Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton announced that July 18-20 would be dates of a State Guard officers' training school at Santa Fe armory. Regular Army and State Guard officers will serve as instructors.

Melrose firemen have launched a public campaign for funds to purchase an inhalator for public use. Receptacles for receiving contribution were placed in surrounding communities.

The lure of fish in Conchas Lake, New Mexico's newest fishing spot, is getting fishermen into trouble with the Fish and Game Department. Game Warden Elliott Barker said two men have been arrested with seventy pounds of bass and two others ignored warnings they already had the legal maximum. Rebuking the "unsportsmanlike fishermen," Barker added: "It is not pleasant to have to haul people in, but there is no alternative. We are going to prosecute heavily from now on."

The state truck mileage tax was modified to exempt trucks crossing the state line carrying unprocessed agricultural goods to market. "The slight loss in revenue will be far offset by benefits to farmers," said Earl Stull, director of the port of entry administration.

When the Army gets ready to call out a reserve officer, it usually sends out notices, asking how much time they will need before reporting. One reserve officer up at New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, just for the sake of putting something down, wrote "ten hours," in his blank. He received his notice to report the other day. It gave him ten hours to report for duty at San Antonio, Texas. He made it, by taking a plane.

Belen school authorities were notified that a $100,000 WPA project to erect a new high school building had been given presidential approval. Construction is expected to start in the near future.

Miss Lorena Higgins is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Chester Russell and their daughter, Miss Dora, this week at their cabin at Sacramento.

Misses Josayle Bunting, Guinivere Ellis, Georgia Lee Williams, Shirley Bartlett, Ola Fay Mahon, Melba Jo Hall, Anna Jane Johnson and Billy Sue Barnett spent several days last week at the Bartlett cabin at Sacramento. Mrs. Boone Barnett and Mrs. George Williams accompanied them to the mountains and Mrs. Buddy Welch remained there with them.

There also are a number of others who have been here many years and whose names belong in one of the above classifications. However, time did not permit contacting all of them, nor completing the list, which The Advocate would like to do and so asks that all others who have lived in the valley at least thirty years register at the office, as well as those whose names are given below without the years of residence. Here they are:

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hastie, Mrs. W. S. Williams, D. S. Martin, Mrs. E. M. Wingfield, Mrs. Lowell Naylor, S. O. Higgins, George McGonagill, M. A. Collins, Mrs. Laura Welch, Dr. H. A. Stroup, Dr. Chester Russell, Mrs. Nora Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Pete L. Loving, William Kissinger.

Roy Buck, William Benson, Carl Brown, Frank Runyan, Bryan Runyan, Billy Albert, Judge and Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, Tom Whitted, Charles and Irvin Martin, A. D. Hill, Earl Collins.

The band director expressed his appreciation for the assistance of the many people in securing the names as listed and said that within the next few months the names of "Trail Blazers," "Pioneers" and "Old-Timers" of the Hope, Weed, Mayhill, Elk and Pinon communities will be added and headed by the communities in which they live.

The program next week will be all-Spanish-American. At that time "Zacatechas March" will be dedicated to Mrs. Martin Lopez, who was 109 years old June 7.

What do you know about women? Are they more affectionate? Taftful? Ticklish? Better liars, bosses or drivers than men? Dr. Donald A. Laird, famous psychologist, explains many curious notions about the misunderstood ladies. Read his diverting and challenging article in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Los Angeles Examiner. 29-1tx

Pix Rhapsody

By Mary Jane

When William Powell and Myrna Loy are billed together, audiences are sure of laughs. But never was the promise of laughs more bountifully filled than in "Love Crazy," their latest "man-and-wife" adventure, playing at the Ocotillo Theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Miss Loy becomes jealous of Powell and decides to divorce him. Powell discovers that a wife can't divorce her husband if he's crazy, so sets out to convince her and all sundry that he's mad as a March hare.

His method takes the form of a series of screwball antics such as chewing up phonograph records and digging a hole in Fifth Avenue. But when the alienists are called in, the antics fool them and they take his craziness seriously and commit him to an asylum. Then Powell's struggles to extricate himself from his own web of deceit make him look all the crazier, until he finally escapes, dressed as a woman, to work out his salvation and be reconciled to his wife.

Powell's debonair handling of the absurd situations is engaging and hilarious, and Miss Loy's performance as the wife, as usual, leaves nothing to be desired. Gail Patrick plays the "other woman" convincingly, and Jack Carson adds comedy as the rival for Powell's affections after his separation. Florence Bates also garners laughs galore as Powell's mother-in-law.

Jack Conway directed with deft skill. It is his first work with Powell and Miss Loy since "Labeled Lady." Contributing excellent support are Sidney Blackmer, Sig Rumann, Vladimir Sokoloff, Donald MacBride, Sara Haden, Kathleen Lockhart, Fern Emmett, Joseph Crehan and George Meeker.

THOMAS FAMILY RETURNS FROM BOSTON CONVENTION

R. N. Thomas of Carlsbad, county superintendent of schools, Mrs. Thomas and sons, Jimmie and Roy Newton, and Mrs. J. D. Hampton returned Friday from a trip to Boston, where they attended the National Education Association convention.

They also visited Niagara Falls, Nashville, Canada, New York, Annapolis, West Point and many other places.

The convention, which had as theme "Democracy and the New World Order," was attended by about 15,000 educators from all over the United States.

Mrs. C. A. Sopp Honored at Tea Friday Afternoon

Mrs. Olen Featherstone was hostess at a beautifully appointed summertime tea Friday afternoon complimenting her mother, Mrs. C. A. Sopp of Brandon, Manitoba, Canada, who is here visiting for the summer.

The new Featherstone home was decorated with Shasta daisies and gladioli and harmonizing summer flowers. The table was covered with a linen cloth and centered with a bouquet of sweet peas and white tapers in silver holders. Mrs. Ralph Pearson and Mrs. Clarence Pearson poured during the afternoon. Dainty sandwiches were served from the buffet, centered with Shasta daisies and pink tapers in silver holders.

Those assisting in serving were Mrs. C. C. Dannenbaum, Mrs. H. H. Bryant, Miss Barbara Wheatley, Miss Marguerite Nelson and Miss Jessie Sopp, a sister of Mrs. Featherstone.

Mrs. Featherstone, dressed in a white suit with a corsage of sweet peas, received her guests. Mrs. Sopp wore a figured sheer summer dress and a corsage of pink and yellow roses.

About 150 guests called during the tea hours.

Junior Club Members Afternoon Tea Series

Mrs. Hugh Parry, president of the Junior Woman's Club, will entertain club members and past club members at her home in a series of two teas, the first from 3 to 5 o'clock this afternoon and the second Friday afternoon.

On these occasions members will answer a questionnaire, which will give their preference of departments in the club, their training and qualifications, as well as experience which best fits them for work this coming year.

In August a membership tea will be held, to which prospective members will be invited.

At a meeting of the executive committee at the home of the president last Thursday afternoon, a revision committee was named with Mrs. Wallace Gates, chairman, and Mrs. C. C. Dannenbaum and Mrs. Hugh Parry. This committee will revise the constitution of the club, which is just one year old.

The Artesia Junior Club, which is one of the most active in the state, considers the "Summer Playtime" project its most outstanding achievement. Boys and girls are taught how to play and how to develop their bodies and minds that they might be better Americans. While the number of children who are attending these playtime supervised periods is very gratifying, there are trained workers available to care for more children than are reporting.

Mrs. McCaskey Pupils Give Recital Tuesday

Mrs. Glenn McCaskey presented her music pupils in piano and voice recital Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Booker. Relatives and friends enjoyed an interesting program during the evening.

Those taking part in the program were Kay Tess Booker, Sue Ann Booker, Bruce Caskey, Shirley Sue Feather, Lavern Grimlan, Patricia Nugent, Robert Ohmness, Pauline Vandagriff and Mattie Frances Vaught. Miss Helen Louise Wells assisted the group with several violin numbers.

The Booker home was attractively decorated with garden flowers. At the close of the program, Mrs. Booker served an iced drink and cookies.

MR. AND MRS. DANNENBAUM HOSTS AT DINNER TUESDAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dannenbaum were hosts at a dinner on Tuesday evening. Lovely garden flowers were used for the house decorations.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Parry and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Plattor of Artesia and Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Lewis of Carlsbad.

B. & P. W. LUNCHEON AT HOTEL MONDAY

The Business and Professional Woman's Club met Monday at the Artesia Hotel for a 12 o'clock luncheon.

Members present were Mrs. Mattie Fullilove, Mrs. C. O. Fulton, Mrs. Lockett Trigg, Miss Irene Van Osdel, Miss Abbie Durand, Miss Mary Corbin, Miss Mary McCaw, Miss Florence Dooley, Miss Beth King and Miss Juanita Denton.

Mrs. W. S. Cooley Complimented With Honeymoon Shower

Mrs. William S. Cooley, a June bride who before her marriage was Miss Lelia Cooper, was complimented with a "Honeymoon Shower" Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Jesse L. Truett entertained informally in her honor.

Roses, summer lilac, gladioli and Queen Ann's Lace were effectively used in decorating the living rooms of the Richards home.

Mrs. Cooley, who was invited at last minute to substitute at bridge, listened to each guest tell of her honeymoon and in turn as hers was the most recent was asked to tell of her own honeymoon.

A tea cart laden with a lovely assortment of gifts was wheeled in before the honoree who opened them and passed them to be viewed by others.

A refreshment course of dainty sandwiches, cakes and colored mints and iced punch was served on sparkling crystal, buffet style. The guest list included about 25 friends and neighbors.

Lt. J. S. Thorpe Weds Miss Jewel Saturday

Lt. J. D. Thorpe, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. B. Thorpe of Artesia, and Miss Fay Jewel of Grady, N. Mex., were married Saturday at the Methodist Church in Galveston, Tex.

Lt. Thorpe, who has been stationed at Fort Bliss since January with the Coast Artillery and Anti-Aircraft, received his degree from New Mexico State College, and received his commission in the R.O.T.C. He was recently transferred to Camp Wallace at Galveston, Tex., where he will be an instructor.

The newlyweds will be at home in Galveston for the present time.

LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS ON MONDAY AFTERNOON

The American Legion Auxiliary met Monday afternoon at the hut for the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. C. R. Baldwin, second vice president, presided at the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. Frank Smith, president. Mrs. William Linell was leader of the program and delegates who attended the convention at Ruidoso gave reports. Miss Shirley Bartlett and Miss Georgia Lee Williams, accompanied by Mrs. L. C. Anderson on the piano, sang several songs.

Mrs. J. L. Briscoe, Mrs. William Linell and Mrs. Lewis Story, co-hostesses, served refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Berry and children, J. W. and Frances, and Mrs. Burnice Simpson of Pine Bluff, Ark., are here visiting in the home of Mr. Berry's and Mrs. Simpson's brother, J. W. Berry, and Mrs. Berry for a week. They expect to visit other relatives here and in Santa Fe before returning home.

Mrs. Hopkins Is Noble Grand of Rebekah Lodge

Mrs. T. C. Hopkins was installed noble grand of the Rebekah lodge at a regular meeting at the lodge hall Monday evening. Mrs. Ernest McGonagill, district deputy president, and Miss Ina Cole, marshal, were installing officers.

Other officers installed to serve with Mrs. Hopkins were: Vice grand, Mrs. B. B. Thorpe; warden, Mrs. W. S. Hogsett; conductor, Mrs. Ralph Duncan; inside guardian, Mrs. Lee Glascock; outside guardian, Mrs. Leon Barker; right supporter to the noble grand, Miss Mary McCaw; left supporter, Miss Ina Cole; musician, Mrs. Clyde Dungan; right supporter to the vice grand, Mrs. Frank Thomas, and left supporter, Mrs. Mattie Fullilove.

Preceding the installation of officers, the members enjoyed a birthday supper. Mrs. J. M. Story and Mrs. Nellie Cogdell were the honored guests. About thirty-five members were present.

Miss Conley Gives Homemakers Plans For Balanced Diet

"Strong and alert nations are built by strong and alert people. Strong and alert people are built by abundant and well-balanced diets," Miss Vernita Conley, home demonstration agent, said this week.

No nation achieves total defense unless all of its citizens are well fed. To be well fed means more than filling the stomach with food that appeases hunger. It is more than getting the food that barely protects the body from disease due directly to poor diet. It is having each day the kind of food that will promote abundant health and vitality. Miss Conley said.

"Total defense means sacrifice. Sacrifice means that living costs have already increased, and will be higher. Therefore, more than ever we should plan to put into full force the live-at-home program, and this is how," Miss Conley said.

1. Grow fall gardens where land and moisture are available and where they can be cared for.
2. Grow subirrigated gardens where water is scarce and the soil conditions are suited to subirrigation.
3. Grow frame gardens, either surface irrigated or subirrigated, where weather conditions are unfavorable for ordinary gardening. Use the frame garden for late fall, winter, and early spring vegetables.
4. Plan and build storage rooms and cellars having them already.

"In meal planning there are several factors which the housewife should always take into consideration; the foremost of these is the health of her family," Miss Conley said. Other considerations are economy and the best utilization of available food stuffs. It is important to know the dietary value of the foodstuffs which are most commonly found in a home or community, she pointed out.

In the event that the housewife feels that the diet of her family is not all that it should be, then she should begin to consider ways and means of supplementing it. Perhaps it will mean raising new vegetables in the garden or building a frame garden, or even increasing the amount of certain vegetables used in the diet and serving them more frequently. Miss Conley suggested, and added that in some areas of New Mexico, diets are low in vitamin "C," a deficiency which causes scurvy, a disease which causes sore gums, internal hemorrhage, nervousness, a feeling of general weakness and other disorders. This can be prevented or corrected by the use of citrus fruits, or tomatoes and tomato juice, or raw cabbage, the demonstrator said. Citrus fruits are the best source of vitamin "C," but in the event that they cannot be obtained tomato juice and raw cabbage will do just as well.

To be sure of having a year round supply of these foods will require considerable planning, initiative and hard work. A canning budget usually makes a good beginning. By this means it is easier to be sure of having sufficient canned foods to last from one year to the next.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilmore returned home Tuesday from a two-week vacation, the first week of which they spent at Ruidoso. The second week they visited relatives of Mrs. Gilmore in and near Monday, Tex.

Loans by Credit Association Are Up for First Half

Farmers and stockmen of Eddy County helped swell the loan volume of the Roswell Production Credit Association for the first six months of 1941 to the largest half-year figure in the credit coop's history, according to G. R. Brainard of Artesia, a director.

Reporting $648,299.05 loaned during the first six months of this year, Brainard said a good share of it went to finance seasonal operations of Eddy County farmers and stockmen. The 1941 figure is $163,108.37 over the 1940 figure of $485,190.68 for the same period.

Some of the increase, he said, can be attributed to farmers' increasing production of certain farm commodities to aid the national defense program.

Since the Roswell association was organized by farmers and stockmen in the spring of 1934, it has loaned $6,578,195 to finance livestock and general farming operations in Eddy, Chaves, Lea and Lincoln Counties.

Loans made by the 525 production credit associations in the United States reached two billion dollars July 10, according to word received by Brainard.

Martin Paulson, a farmer near Newton, Iowa, has the distinction of receiving the loan which contained the two billionth dollar. It is understood that the Newton Production Credit Association, of which Paulson is a member, is planning a special observance for July 23.

THAT FELLOW'S STILL TRYING TO CATCH FISH

Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Corbin returned home Sunday from Eagle Nest, where they fished two weeks.

Mr. Corbin's catch included a can of sardines sent to him by his son, Andy Corbin, who feared the elder Mr. and Mrs. Corbin might be hungry for fish. And, it is rumored, the elder Mr. Corbin was hungry for fish, thus suffering slightly from indigestion, so hungry was he that he failed to remove the can.

Lightning struck two trees about 100 yards from the little girl, knocking her to the ground. She was unconscious more than an hour and was not approaching normal until about 10 o'clock that evening.

Mrs. Foster and the children have been at Ruidoso the greater part of the time the last month.

Mrs. Florence Hastings and Miss Ila Hastings and Mrs. Delbert Swindle and her mother, Mrs. Blocker, who is visiting here from Brownfield, Tex., were week end guests of Mrs. Hastings' daughter, Mrs. E. J. Foster and children at Ruidoso.

Clearance for Oil Is Approved By Truck Men

Representatives of companies which truck crude oil from Southeast New Mexico fields approved in general Friday a proposal to require issuance of clearance certificates in and through the state, at a conference at the Artesia Hotel Friday afternoon with John M. Kelly, state geologist and secretary of the New Mexico conservation commission.

The certificates would be demanded under authority of the commission.

Truckers who attended the conference expressed the opinion the action would prove beneficial to them.

The meeting was called because the commission wished to learn the reaction of the truckers before taking final action at an executive meeting Aug. 25.

Kelly said that out of the conference Friday came several suggestions for minor adjustments which will be considered at the executive meeting.

It was suggested Friday that a similar conference be held with oil operators prior to the August meeting.

Little Foster Girl Is Knocked Down by Lightning on Sunday

Betty Jean Foster, 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Foster of Artesia, had a close call from lightning at Ruidoso between 6 and 7 o'clock Sunday evening during a severe electric storm when she was rendered unconscious by a bolt.

Lightning struck two trees about 100 yards from the little girl, knocking her to the ground. She was unconscious more than an hour and was not approaching normal until about 10 o'clock that evening.

Mrs. Foster and the children have been at Ruidoso the greater part of the time the last month.

Mrs. Florence Hastings and Miss Ila Hastings and Mrs. Delbert Swindle and her mother, Mrs. Blocker, who is visiting here from Brownfield, Tex., were week end guests of Mrs. Hastings' daughter, Mrs. E. J. Foster and children at Ruidoso.

Mrs. F. E. Waltrip, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Flint, and son, Travers, of Shreveport, La., are here for an indefinite visit in the Flint home. Mr. Waltrip accompanied them over and returned home.

Vegetables Are On Food Stamp List for July

During July all fresh vegetables available on local markets can be purchased with blue stamps by families taking part in the federal food stamp plan, according to an announcement made by E. J. Caldwell, area supervisor of the Surplus Marketing Administration.

More than 8,000 public assistance families in New Mexico participate in the plan, and by placing all fresh vegetables on the blue stamp list, it is expected that considerable increase in the consumption of seasonal local surpluses of perishable truck crops will result.

In addition to all fresh vegetables, which includes all varieties of potatoes, other commodities available to blue stamp users during July are:

Shell eggs, fresh oranges, fresh peaches, pork lard, pork meats (except cooked, or packed in glass or metal containers), corn meal, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, prunes, wheat flour and whole wheat (graham) flour, and raisins. Families taking part in the food stamp plan use blue stamps to secure any of the above commodities from their certified neighborhood markets. Orange food stamps, which participants purchase through their welfare agency, are exchangeable at local certified markets for any and all foods for human consumption.

With each dollar's worth of orange stamps purchased, the participant receives free a certain amount of blue stamps which are restricted to purchasing the above commodities only.

Neither type of stamp can be used to procure beer, wine, liquor, tobacco or household items.

Market Service Helps Producers In New Mexico

Livestock producers of New Mexico who want assistance in marketing their cattle and sheep during the current marketing season have been advised by Alfred Triviz of the State College Extension Service to list the location, date ready for sale, number, kind and class of their stock with New Mexico county extension agents.

"This is the third season that the marketing news service has been in operation," Triviz said. "This year, the Extension Service issued its first report on June 15 and will issue a monthly report on the fifteenth of each succeeding month until the season is over."

Last year, the report, which goes to prospective buyers in twelve states, carried listings of 62,511 head of cattle and 224,189 sheep. Feeders and dealers who have requested to be placed on the mailing list are in New Mexico, California, Colorado, Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri.

In explaining the operation of the marketing service, Triviz said that in each county in which stock is listed, the county agent prepares a county summary which is sent to State College. At the college the state list is prepared, which is released to the mailing list.

"All New Mexico producers," Triviz said, "are invited to take advantage of this free service, which is designed to assist them by informing prospective buyers of available stock."

ANNOUNCE CONSERVATION EMPLOYEES IN STATE

The state oil conservation commission announced as a "complete" list of its employes the names of eight persons, including three stenographers. In 1940, the secretary of state's office officially listed seventeen oil conservation employes in addition to the state geologist, who serves as a commission member.

The new list, in addition to State Geologist John Kelly; Carl B. Livingston, chief clerk and legal advisor; Roy Yarbrough, oil and gas inspector; Ray Miller and Roy Langston, oil and gas scouts, Artesia; Roy Davis, clerk; Mary Simpson, Norma Bell and Mary Goddard, stenographers.

BELIEVE IN BIG FAMILIES

White bass are so prolific that they spawn as many as 500,000 eggs. In comparison, black bass and many other species of game fish spawn as few as 20,000 eggs.

Mrs. Wayne Norris of Lake Arthur underwent a major operation in a Carlsbad hospital Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Hugh Elvin, of Clovis, is here visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. M. A. Lapsley, and Mr. Lapsley.

Mrs. O. O. Askren of Roswell visited her daughter, Mrs. Neil Watson, and Mr. Watson and children on Wednesday.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Scrambles of Spring—

New Yorkers rush for straw hats in the spring, and for subway seats the year-round. This spring they'll have the satisfaction of knowing, providing they get either a skimmer or a seat, that it is made from oil.

The actual product is vinylidene chloride, chemical cousin of vinyl acetate used in synthetic rubbers and safety glass. Prepared in the form of long, thin strips, this new plaster can be woven into durable seats for subway cars, buses, and even summer furniture.

The product is malleable, which means it can be forged and drawn, like metal. It resists fire and chemicals, but readily accepts color.

It may be another spring before woven plastic gets into the straw-hat trade. In fact, it may take that long to think up a spellable, pronounceable name for it!

Smoother Sailing—

All the safety devices that can be put on a boat will not make it safe if Jack Tar steps into the bight of a rope as he dodges a swinging chain. Brooding on this interesting quirk in human behavior, oil-tanker safety engineers decided to put the problem of accident prevention squarely up to the mariners employed by one oil company.

Safety committees, which include the captain and the officers aboard each tanker, go into huddles regularly, inspect the ship, discuss the findings, and consider any suggestions that have come from the crew. And the result? Safety-consciousness from galley to bridge has stimulated the invention of any number of ingenious sea-safety devices. Also the crews have won an award for the lowest number of injuries per million man-hours of work.

Oil-fired Dam—

Three gargantuan oil burners, each with a capacity of 990-gallon oil burning capacity per hour, "oven-fried" a miniature mountain of mud—425,000 cubic yards of it—into an impervious dirt core for a dam in the White River Valley Gorge, Washington, recently. Heating reduced moisture 10 per cent.

Plastics At Last!—

Folks in Vermont and Mandalay who patch their roofs with oil cans are in for a rude awakening. Unlike the gal all dressed up with no place to go, the old, familiar container is dating industriously in a brand-new, plastic, bargain dress, processed partly from oil-borne products.

Test-tube magicians call it cellulose acetate butyrate. Chosen for its tough, moisture-proof qualities, this transparent, lightweight, unbreakable plastic cuts freight costs, provides glamorous packaging and easier handling for dealers, service station attendants and householders.

Home Is Where the Trailer Is—

Thousands of defense workers who are finding jobs are discovering simultaneously that they have no place to hang their hats. The answer is trailers, thousands of them, equipped with light and other living facilities, shipped in trucks to industrial centers and powder plants where new workers await permanent housing. Cost of the temporary homes is estimated at $1,000 each, after they get rolling.

Within the plants, a new portable, fire-fighting trailer for emergency use will cut loss of time and material substantially, it is believed. The new unit has six fifty-pound carbon dioxide cylinders, which deliver their gas through a 100-foot half-inch hose. Also, there are two two-and-a-half gallon water extinguishers which siphon water fifty feet.

Nature Scooped—

Mother Nature was scooped at her own racket recently. It took her several hundred million years and an endless variety of materials to make coal and oil, whereas a petroleum chemist has done the job in a couple of hours!

It is too early yet to know exactly what the experiment really means, but there will be changes, and big ones, too, if he proves that all kinds of vegetable matter—such as potatoes, sugar, molasses, seaweed, and cotton—readily can be transformed into coking coals, asphalt, natural gas, and petroleum.

The chemist utilized a high-pressure "bomb" in which were reproduced the extreme temperatures and pressures believed to have been employed by Mother Nature through vast geologic upheavals to create coal beds and oil fields. Chambers in the bomb boosted pressures to 7,000 pounds per square inch and heats to 700 degrees Fahrenheit. The combination of heat and pressure forced the plant material to yield oxygen and hydrogen, converting them into the prolific family of hydrocarbons.

Crude oil, produced in two hours as against 400,000,000 years, could be cracked into various products, such as gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oil. The experiment was said to indicate a closer relationship between oil and bituminous coal, which now appears to be the child of carbohydrates.

While the earth's crust contains enormous supplies of coal and oil, Mother Nature having been long at the job of manufacturing, scientists explain it is comforting to know that additional, and limitless, sources of supply may be found in plant carbohydrates.

LOVING, McANALLY TO ATTEND SCOUT CAMP

Ormand Loving, first mate of the Sea Scout ship in Artesia, will be one of the leaders at a six-day exploration trip to Philturn Rocky Mountain Scout Camp in North New Mexico under the auspices of the Eastern New Mexico area council.

Robert McAnally of troop No. 8 here is the only local boy who has signed up to go on the trip, which is for senior Scouts. The trip will be limited to sixteen boys, of whom nine have signed up.

Compregnated Wood, New Material, Being Watched by Army and Navy

Representatives of the Army, Navy and aircraft manufacturers have followed with interest a process of compregnating wood, which may be useful in producing a smooth, tough and durable material for fuselages and wing covering for airplanes, developed at the Forest Products Laboratory, Madison, Wis., a research unit of the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

In making this product, thin sheets of wood were treated with resin forming chemicals and then compressed by means of heat and pressure into a material impossible to make by the old method of treating wood so that it can be molded. The new method differs from ordinary gluing in that the resin chemically binds together the wood cells when the wood is pressed.

The Forest Products Laboratory test samples showed the new material to be as smooth and as hard as glass and practically free from warping and shrinking. Although machining much harder than wood, but easier than steel, it can be tooled to any desired shape. Chemists at the laboratory report that the material is highly resistant to alcohol and water, indicating it being more resistant to weather than paint or lacquer.

The smoothness of the material as well as its good molding properties increase its potential value in plane construction because of the constant effort to get great speed by reducing wind friction. The material could be used to advantage in making propeller blades varying in specific gravity from one end to the other or even in molding the propellers to their final shape. There is a distinct possibility that the propellers can be molded to the finished dimensions, thus eliminating the exacting lathe work that has been necessary heretofore.

Several other types of uses are also possible for this new material. It should be highly satisfactory for flooring and paneling in houses. The hard finished surface should be very resistant to marring and grain raising. The upkeep cost should be negligible as no finish, other than the high polish obtained in the molding, is necessary.

PIOR BOWLING TEAM WINS AT CARLSBAD

The Pior Rubber Company bowling team from Artesia took three straight games and the high individual score over the Cavern Bar team of Carlsbad in the Carlsbad City League last evening.

Ed Wilson of Artesia held the high score of 553 for three games.

Miss Nona Glasscock left Monday for Portales, where she will visit several days while her mother is in Illinois.

Miss Mary Wooly of San Fernando, Calif., is here visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Berry for several days.

Mrs. H. L. Deakins, a sister of Mrs. F. C. Hart, and children of Longview, Tex., arrived Tuesday to visit several days in the Hart home.

BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

Ingeborg Hubert, 16, of Berlin is the bride—by proxy—of a German soldier in Africa. She was wed to Corporal Kurt Berg in a ceremony at the town hall, a sun helmet of the type worn by soldiers resting at her left. At the same hour Berg's captain performed a similar ceremony in Africa.

Twelve-year-old Bob Scott and a pal discovered a cave near Bear Mountain, N. Y. Inside were pieces of Indian pottery and ceremonial objects including a peace pipe. James D. Burrigaf, archeologist at Bear Mountain Museum, reported the relics dated from the Algonquin period, preceding the Iroquoian period, and were the most important Indian discovery in years.

Mrs. William E. Mahoney of San Francisco was trying to explain to the judge why her husband had been speeding. He was very tired, she said, wasn't feeling well, was in such a hurry to get home he didn't realize how fast he was going. As she paused, 4-year-old Anne Louise Mahoney put in brightly, "Daddy was trying to see how fast his automobile would go!" The fine was $2.50.

Maybe the person who tried to mail a postcard in a fire alarm box at Spokane, Wash., had a good excuse at that. When firemen arrived, they found this note written to a Seattle address: "Baby girl born, weighs eight and a half pounds, is 21 inches long. I'm awful tired and cranky. Taking 2 o'clock bus."

At Cape Girardeau, Mo., when Mrs. James Allen, secretary of the Church of the Nazarene congregation, opened an envelope from the collection plate, she gasped for the pastor to confirm her finds. Inside were a $500 bill and a $100 bill—anonymous gifts.

Speaking of bottlenecks, two 4-year-olds really created one at automobile parking lots in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Just to pass the time, they started to collect car keys and had fifteen sets before they were detected. Frightened by police, they wouldn't tell where they got the keys. It took the law an hour to straighten things out.

This coyote didn't have a chance. While repairing a fence near Parsons, Kan., M. Fletcher saw a herd of cattle surround the coyote in an almost perfect circle. Two horses inside the ring attempted to trample the beast. Fletcher joined in and as the bewildered coyote came close he killed it with a hammer. Fletcher collected $1 bounty.

David C. Witmer of Mount Joy, Pa., still has a live remembrance of his 1911 graduation day at Millersville Normal School. In keeping with a custom of graduates, he took three goldfish home with him, and one is still normal and healthy after thirty years in a barnyard watering trough where it has grown to seven and a half inches.

At Salt Lake City, whoever rifled John V. Bollwinkel's car must have grave plans for the future. The thief took a suit, traveling bag, draftsman's tools and fifteen sketches of a cemetery.

Claude Eskew, Independence, Mo., barber, went fishing—and pulled out an owl. Eskew was waiting for the fish to bite. Behind him sounded a derisive hoot. So, just for fun, he cast a plug toward a hollow tree. Out flew the owl, still hooting, but hooked by a wing.

Phillis Anderson's voice was good enough to make her the Eastern winner of the American Legion's oratorical contest for high school students. But when the hometown, Morristown, N. J., Legion honored her at a dinner and presented a pearl necklace and four U. S. baby bonds, Phillis couldn't talk. She had been making so many speeches her larynx was strained.

Max P. Cosgrove of Omaha liked dogs, but he wants his two pet New Zealand rabbits back anyway. In their pen he found an Airedale and a Boston bulldog, both of good breeding. The owners may have same, Cosgrove announced, by returning the rabbits.

At New Burnside, Ill., Pat, an Airedale dog, has put an alarm clock out of a job in Mrs. W. C. Peterson's home. For three years the animal has been awakening her daily at about 4 o'clock by touching her cheek or arm with his cold nose.

The straightest line between two points also is the most unromantic, Pueblo, Colo., city officials have decided. They removed some of the winding tree-shrouded lanes in the City Park because there was "too much loving going on." Now lovers don't go there any more.

Dr. A. G. Prill of Scio, Ore., caught a blackbird. But that is only part of the story. It was an albino with pink eyes.

Emergency arrangements were made for the birth of a baby on a streetcar in Los Angeles and traffic on the line was tied up for nearly half an hour. Mrs. Feleta Hinojosa, 29, fainted. The motorman, a family man, said it was better not to move the car. So while he sprinted to telephone the police hospital, the conductor transferred twenty passengers to another car. An ambulance, surgeon and nurse came and took Mrs. Hinojosa to the hospital. It developed that the arrangements were premature, and Mrs. Hinojosa was given a free ambulance ride home. She told attendants she did not expect her baby for weeks.

As Indianapolis firemen arrived at a burning apartment, Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, 39, emerged from a smoke-filled stairway clad only in pajamas and a bathrobe, but triumphantly carrying a new summer hat. Firemen said she wanted to return to rescue a new pair of shoes, but they restrained her.

An Ellwood City, Pa., youth, called in the draft, eyed his wardrobe with a calculating gleam and then acted. Before leaving for the induction station he spent considerable time painting several signs which he fastened to all his clothes. The signs—for benefit of two younger brothers—read: "Keep away from these clothes. I am only going away for a year."

Among those who recently visited V. D. Bolton in El Paso were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanna and children and Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Biggs of Dallas, Tex., left Monday after spending the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Pottorff and daughter, Linda Marie. Mrs. Biggs is a sister of Mrs. Pottorff.

Naval Reserve Offers Ratings Men 18 to 50

The Navy recruiting service is now authorized to enlist men in the Naval Reserve in the rating for which they can qualify, or as apprentices for training in the popular trades. Married men are accepted, provided they can support their dependents on the pay of the rating for which they can qualify. The enlistment period is for four years for men more than 18 and under 50 years old, and minority enlistment for young men of 17.

An applicant cannot be informed as to the rating or pay grade for which he could be enlisted until he has called at a Navy recruiting station for an interview, preliminary physical examination and a test on the subjects covered by the rating in which he desires to enlist. After the interview, and upon completion of the tests, he can be told the rating in which he may be enlisted, pay to start and the like and will not be obligated in any way to accept it.

This authority to enlist men in petty officer ratings in the Naval Reserve, with pay starting at $60 a month, and to enlist them as apprentices for the trade training they desire, has been granted because of the urgent need for additional trained men during the present emergency, and it may be cancelled completely, or for certain ratings, at any time.

The nearest Navy recruiting station is located in the Elk's building in Carlsbad.

PAINLESS FISHING

Fish suffer little if any pain when hooked. There are very few nerves about the jaw which could cause that sensation. Some bass have been known to be hooked two or three times in the same day by fishermen using the same type of bait. Fish, no doubt, have a sensation of discomfort, but not as great as that of the higher animals.

Miss Laura Lou DeLouche left Tuesday for Dallas, Tex., to visit her sister, Mrs. J. J. Simpkins, for several weeks.

Vox Populi

To The Advocate:

The pastoral letter, which was read Sunday, July 6, from every Roman Catholic pulpit throughout Greater Germany, placed the lives of more than 200,000 priests, nuns and brothers in jeopardy. It followed by less than a week the message of Pope Pius XII.

The Roswell Daily Record on July 7 printed extracts from the letter as follows:

"Some forces presently are working to dissolve the union between Christ and the German people. . . Existence or non-existence of Christianity and the church in Germany is at stake. . . Your bishops are at their posts. . . Be assured that the bishops are speaking openly because as teachers of the faith and defenders of the rights of the church, they are instilled with a sacred duty to do so."

The 96,000,000 population of Germany are estimated as fully one-half Catholic.

The Gestapo may be very busy in the near future. Yet knowing this, these men have dared to obey Christ's command, "Take up thy cross and follow me."

Let us withhold judgment of the German people until we see which cross they will choose: The Calvary cross or the Swastika cross.

Respectfully, J. W.

NINETY-POUND RAILS ON SANTA FE ROUTE

The Santa Fe Railroad is installing ninety-pound, heavy-duty rails on its line between Clovis and Carlsbad, it was reported this week.

The heavier rails, weighing ninety pounds to the foot, replace the lighter rails which have been in service over most of the route in the past. A part of the route has already been strengthened with the installation of the heavier rails.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. What is a U. S. Defense Savings Bond?
A. This bond is proof that you have loaned money to the United States government for national defense. Your bond bears interest at the rate of 2.9 per cent a year, if held to maturity (ten years).
Q. Why should I buy Defense Bonds?
A. Because money talks. To dictators it speaks defiance. To friends of freedom, it says, "Here's my hand!"
Q. What is the price of a Defense Savings Bond?
A. For the smallest bond, you pay $18.75. The bond will increase in value in ten years to $25. For $75, you get a bond which will increase to $100; other bonds are in proportion.
Q. What will the government do with the money I pay for my bond?
A. Your money will be put to work at once in the national defense program to protect the freedom and safety of the United States, and of all its people everywhere.
To purchase Defense Bonds and stamps, go to the nearest post-office or bank, or write for information to the treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

Nazarenes to Begin Revival in Artesia Wednesday, July 23

The Church of the Nazarene will begin a revival Wednesday, July 23, to last through Aug. 3. The Rev. R. M. Hocker of El Paso will be the evangelist. He will be assisted by Mrs. Hocker, who will have charge of the special music. The Rev. Mr. Hocker is pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in El Paso and is one of the outstanding holiness preachers of the Southwest, the Rev. Lee P. Phillips, local pastor, said. His messages are very timely, helpful and instructive and are based upon the Bible. The public is invited to all the services, which will begin at 7:45 o'clock each evening.

New Mexico Eastern Gas Co. July 16, 1941. Dear Friends: In no way can the morality of a nation be more effectively destroyed than by the poisoning of the minds of its youth. The tyrants know this well. Hitler, Mussolini, and Stalin each has his 'youth movement,' teaching children from an early age to hate peace, to honor conquest and cruelty. Yesterday's members of these organizations are today's men—soldiers on the march, spreading destruction and misery over Europe. The United States also has a youth organization. But of what a different type! The Boy Scouts of America, an independent, non-political organization, for many years has trained millions of American boys to be self-reliant, patriotic, God-fearing citizens. These boys are taught that the weak should be helped. . . . that the word Mother is sacred . . . that there is a God . . . that there is a brotherhood of man. If the boys of Germany, Italy, Russia, and Japan had been taught these principles, I firmly believe there would be no war today. We must give effective support to the Boy Scout movement. We must make certain that the boys of today—the men of tomorrow—are decent, fair-minded citizens, true Americans who will cherish and preserve the "American Way of Life." Sincerely, Albert S. Johnson, President.

Are You Helping Run the Machine? Over and under the multitudinous rolls of modern newspaper presses, cotton fabric tapes lead the first web of paper. It is snaked into place, an electric button is pushed, and the slow hum of the turning rolls mounts to a roar as other fabric "leaders" guide into waiting arms the printed copies of the first edition. Cotton "leaders" are indispensable to much of today's machinery. Mechanical threshers of wheat and corn convey the stalks on wide aprons of cotton fabric. Ore from mines ries to waiting freight cars on endless belts of cotton canvas. Sheets of fabric carry wet pulp to the rollers of paper and wallboard mills. The cotton industry itself is a gigantic machine, meshing a million wheels and gears and rollers, producing goods for all the nation and a livelihood for 14 million of its people. The tapes which lead through its intricate parts are consumer preferences, the strong consistent preferences of you and me and our neighbors. When we buy cotton we build America's future. Aluminum Drive national defense to which it might be put.

A number of pieces of aluminum have been placed in a special pen by the city hall, placed there for the Junior Woman's Club, but the club and members of the local defense council hope that many times more will show up next week during the drive.

C. G. Macy, coordinator for New Mexico, has enlisted the services of the Boy Scouts over the state to make house-to-house canvasses. Macy said they are to call at each house in the city, distributing circulars to be furnished by the Mexico Council on National Defense, asking the householders to assemble any articles containing aluminum on their front porches the morning of July 24.

The Scouts in trucks, which will be furnished locally, will collect the articles and deposit them in the Junior Woman's Club pen at the city hall, from where final disposition will be made later.

Members of the Junior Woman's Club and the local defense council have asked that all civic and fraternal organizations and churches cooperate with the Junior Woman's Club in the drive.

Mrs. Hugh Parry, president of the club, suggested that persons living in the rural sections bring their old aluminum to town at the first opportunity and toss it in the aluminum pen. Those coming to town prior to the two-day drive should bring the articles then, she said.

Ray Bartlett, manager of the Ocotillo and Valley Theaters, announced the theaters' participation in the national aluminum days, July 24-25.

On the first afternoon, Thursday, July 24, the management will admit to the Ocotillo Theater any child under the age of 12 years for one aluminum pot or pan or other medium-sized article.

The aluminum collected for admission to the theater that afternoon will be added to the articles collected by the Boy Scouts and otherwise as part of Artesia's contribution in the drive for national defense.

This community hooks up directly with the great drive for aluminum scrap, in which it is hoped to collect the 20,000,000 pounds necessary to meet the immediate shortage which threatens a bottleneck in the manufacture of airplanes. It takes 10,000 pounds of aluminum to meet the uses of that metal in each fighting plane. The United States government is asking the help of every citizen in collecting the estimated 20,000,000 pounds that can be gathered in this country without serious embarrassment to anybody.

Gov. John E. Miles is deeply concerned in the success of the drive, and has already asked all patriotic citizens to take part.

Cotton Heavily

lygus bugs and plant bugs injure the cotton crop in five ways, Barham said:

1. Reduce the total amount of the crop by causing abnormal cotton plants and heavy shedding of the squares and small bolls.
 2. Reduce the grade and value of the lint on account of the staining which follows the attacks of the boll-feeding species.
 3. In cases of heavy infestations it renders a certain percentage of the crop "impickable" and valueless through the almost complete destruction of many bolls.
 4. Reduces the value of the seed for planting or milling, as many seeds are injured in early development and fail to mature. Many of the faulty seeds are also broken in ginning and become mixed with the lint.
 5. Causes much dissatisfaction among the cotton pickers by slowing down their work and hence reducing their pay.
- The dusting should be done with a "nozzle-per-row duster" when there is no breeze, and it is best if there is dew present. The rate of application should be from eight to twelve pounds per acre.

Shorty Reopens His Cafe at Same Old West Main Location

Shorty's Cafe was opened Saturday by P. J. McCullough at 110 West Main Street, the same location where he formerly ran a restaurant.

The eating place was discontinued in February, 1940, when a new building was contemplated at the location. When the improvement did not develop after a few months a grocery store was operated at the place for some time. Vacated again, "Shorty" now has reopened his cafe using the entire front with a neat, shining eating place.

"Shorty" is an experienced chef, who has been cooking a number of years and Mrs. McCullough is experienced at waiting on the trade.

Pecos Goes

cut through to one of the new box culverts, the one farthest east, which is complete, so as to relieve the backed-up water.

The river stood at 7.5 feet at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon and rose steadily until 7 o'clock that evening, when it reached 11 feet. Several times during the next day it reached 11.5 and then slightly subsided, going to 11.2 yesterday morning, when the road first was blocked.

Construction on the east box culvert of the west bridge approach is complete and pouring is well advanced on the second one. Excavations on the other two is complete, as is the most of the steel work.

Opening the east culvert Wednesday afternoon presented a problem, for the fill over which traffic is to go had not been built. However, it was put to good use and it was thought by relieving the pressure water would not reach the others on which work still has to be done.

The flood water, it was understood, came from Lake Alamogordo, which was fed from flash floods, automatically opening the flood gates and allowing many thousand second-feet of water to spill down towards Artesia.

Other heavy rains between here and the lake added to the flood waters, but rains in this community Sunday night, measured at exactly a half inch on the New Mexico Eastern Gas Company gauge, had no effect here. That rain, incidentally, followed by exactly a week the record of 2.50 inches, which fell Sunday evening, July 6.

Cotton Coming

the farmers to have hay to sell, the demand is very light because of lush pastures and good feed elsewhere. The usual Louisiana and South Texas market is not what it formerly was, McAnally said, as acreages in hay there have been increased as non-soil-depleting crops, thus losing the market to this area.

Cotton acreage in the state has been estimated by the Department of Agriculture about 11 per cent above normal. Locally, however, McAnally estimated there may be a slight reduction in acres in cotton, possibly 5 per cent, as very few farmers failed to replant. Those few who did not replant cotton, put their acreage in feed.

In making his guess that cotton now is only about two weeks late, McAnally pointed out that cotton in blossom on the Fourth of July is considered about normal. And this week, slightly less than two weeks after Independence Day, there are lots of blooms.

In making a general outlook on the agriculture situation, E. B. Bullock was asked about wool, which, he said, is not moving at this time. He termed it in a "waiting attitude" and said that the average clip is worth 35 cents a pound in the valley, the majority of sheep men holding for more. The majority of lambs have been sold at this time, most of them bringing 8 to 8 1/2 cents a pound, Bullock said.

Lions Club

keeper and Fred Cole will announce the fights.

It was reported this morning that about 1,000 seats, including ringside, will be available for the fights, which will start at 8 o'clock each evening with a preliminary bout. The first evening's preliminary will be between Jimmie Evans and Billie Feather, Artesia Junior High School boys. A fast scrap also is promised for the second-night preliminary.

Greeno said this morning the class "A" lightweight division promises some of the best scraps of the tournament, with four strong contenders signed up. They include Orlando Nunez of Carlsbad, Abel Lujan of Roswell, Johnnie Nihart of Lake Arthur and Kit Carson of Artesia, any one of whom might carry off the honors. It makes no difference how they draw for opponents, Greeno said, there will be three real lightweight fights. Nihart and Lujan have whipped each other at least three times.

James McCasland of Artesia, Bill Williams of Carlsbad and Tommie Bloodworth and Tony Mendez of Roswell make up a foursome in the featherweight class who promise about as much action as the four mentioned in the lightweight division.

Greeno said Bob Ferguson of Artesia looks like the favorite in the middleweight division. He won the championship here last spring, but would have had Byron Price of Carlsbad to contend with had not Price, champ in other tournaments, broken his jaw at the potash mines. However, Ferguson will have some snappy competition in J. R. Trujillo of Roswell and Sylvan Le Doux of Carlsbad, Greeno said.

Another boy to watch will be Harvey Nelson, who will fight under the Lake Arthur colors, but who has been working out under Greeno with the Artesia boys. He is a twin brother of Harry Nelson, who three years ago won the national A. A. U. championship at Hobbs.

In the bantamweight division there are two fellows to watch, Dallas McCasland of Artesia and Andy Purcells of Roswell, Greeno said.

The local coach and tournament director said there are many boys in class "B" who should put up good scraps, probably some as good or better than those in class "A."

Greeno listed as the class "A" boys on the Artesia team: Fly-

Illinois, resided on a fruit and alfalfa farm east of Artesia from 1907 until Mr. Craven's death in 1914. At that time she moved to Artesia and occupied the house on West Main Street of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Judson Osburn, who had moved to Carlsbad shortly before. Mr. Osburn was a prominent early attorney here and at Carlsbad.

Mrs. Craven left Artesia in 1920 to make her home in Havana, Ill., with her other daughter, Mrs. Carl B. Chandler, now Mrs. Robert C. Horner.

At the time of her death, Mrs. Craven was mentally alert and keenly alive to the interests about her. Among those interests were such organizations as the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Illinois State Historical Society and the Woman's Club. For the last several years she had been engaged in compiling data and writing the history of her ancestors, all of whom derived from the state of Virginia. Some of these manuscripts are to be given to the National Antiquarian Society at Worcester, Mass.

In her earlier years she was deeply interested in the activities of the Christian Church, of which she was a member, and at one time served as the national president of the Women's Christian Board of Missions.

Two years ago, in her eighty-eighth year, she sat to Baroness Violet Beatrice Wenner, internationally famous portrait painter, for a portrait, which has twice been shown at exhibitions and recently won an award at Springfield, Ill., at the convention of the National League of American Pen Women, of which Baroness Wenner is a member.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Dexter plan to leave Sunday for Los Angeles.

FAMOUS CARTOONIST REPORTS ON THE BULBSNATCHING SITUATION

Steig "Bulbsnatching to me is a serious matter," explains William Steig. "When I think of millions of kids doing homework in dim light—when I'm told that one school child in five already has poor eyesight—I wonder if right-size bulbs aren't just as important as right-size shoes?"
