Artesia Will Take Part in First State "Blackout" Next Month

Is to Cooperate With All Other Communities in Test of Wartime Conditions Over New Mexico on Date to Be Set.

WILL USE PLANES

Flights from Albuquerque and Bliss Will Try to Locate Cities.

Artesia and Eddy County will be among the essential points and areas of a statewide "blackout," planned to be held during the period between Sept. 10 and 17, under plans completed by Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton and participating state and federal agencies, with the approval of Mayor F. H. LaGuardia of New York, national director of civilian defense. The exact date is expected to be set within a few days.

Participation of the smallest communities and of every citizen is requested by Gov. John E. Miles, whose office will be the central directing agency, operating through the State Military Department and the Council of Defense, thence through municipal and county officers and, finally, the humblest individuals in the state, each of whom can really cooperate by putting out all lights and remaining at home unless detailed for certain tasks by the local councils of defense and officials.

The instructions, sent out from the office of Adj. Gen. Charlton, covers every detail of the plans for what is designed to be a model test for other states in the task of familiarizing the people with the conditions that are certain to come in event of a shooting and invasive war.

When the alarm is sounded, the lights will go out and two flights of bombing planes will encircle the state, one from Fort Bliss and one from Albuquerque, which will endeavor to locate the centers of population, using illuminating bombs and other devices employed in actual warfare.

The aircraft warning service will begin to function at once, and the game will be to locate the enemy planes as early and as accurately as possible. At many points searchlights will pierce the air when the invading planes seem to have located the towns, seeking to point out the planes as targets for the anti-aircraft guns that would be placed at many points in the state in case of actual warfare.

Every defense integer will be working during the period. At points on the state highway system all traffic will be stopped, such as the great artery between Santa Fe and Albuquerque and entering other cities and towns. Inside the municipalities, every motorist will be stopped.

Bourland Aces On Three Hole Last Thursday

Bob Bourland, medalist in the Artesia Golf Club city tournament, who dropped out of the championship flight Sunday, when defeated by Hugh Donald Burch 3-2, nevertheless made golf history last Thursday by making a hole-in-one.

The tee-shot feat was accomplished on the No. 3 hole, which is 144 yards, with a par of three. Bourland is the first player ever to make an ace on the hole since it was given its present number. It formerly was old No. 9, on which several players dropped their drive in the cup.

Every now and then an ace is made on No. 7, a shorter hole, although it is impossible to see the green from the tee.

In the match last Thursday, Bourland was playing in a threesome with Burch and R. M. (Tex) Henson.

And then Burch took the spotlight away from Bourland Sunday, when he eliminated the medalist from the championship flight.

Mrs. Frank Walker and children have returned from a two-month vacation spent in California.

More Style, Quality, Snap in Fall Clothes, Thompson Declares

Fall clothes are packed with style, quality and snap, W. C. Thompson, manager of the dry goods department of Peoples Mercantile Company, said this week, after returning home with Mrs. Thompson Sunday from the Dallas market.

Some price advancements were noted, Thompson said, but he declared values are better than have been offered heretofore. And as to smartness, Thompson said, "The designers are getting good."

LEGION PLANS SUPPER AND MEETING TONIGHT

The American Legion will meet at the hut at 7:30 o'clock this evening for a supper and the August meeting. The date was postponed from Tuesday because of the Rotary-Lions banquet.

Artie McAnally, post commander, said some important matters will be taken up this evening and urged that all members attend.

Jerkdown Steer Roping to Top Carlsbad Rodeo

Jerkdown steer roping, one of the most thrilling and sensational attractions of the rodeo arena, again will be a feature when top-flight contestants compete for honors and liberal purses at the annual Carlsbad Rodeo, fastest of them all, on Aug. 22, 23 and 24.

The annual "She's-a-Western" rodeo, formerly a Fourth of July show in Carlsbad, will open with a performance on the night of Friday, Aug. 22. Afternoon and night performances will be given on the two next days.

The steer roping contest was revived by the Carlsbad Rodeo as a special attraction three years ago after the event had been barred by law for more than a quarter century. Each year the event has attracted more attention and today ranks as a favorite with Carlsbad's thousands of rodeo fans. Carlsbad's rodeo is the only one in the entire Southwest that stages this rodeo event.

Fruits on Food Stamp List for Current Month

Further stamp aid to local farmers faced with seasonal surpluses of perishable fruits and vegetables was assured with the release by the U. S. Department of Agriculture of the blue stamp food list for August.

All the commodities named to the list by the secretary of agriculture may be purchased with blue food stamps by those families taking part in the food stamp plan. E. J. Caldwell, Surplus Marketing Administration area supervisor, announced that 29,600 low-income persons were participating in the plan in the New Mexico area.

Blue stamp foods as designated for the month of August: Fresh vegetables, including potatoes; fresh plums, fresh prunes, fresh pears, fresh oranges, fresh peaches, fresh apples; corn meal, shell eggs, hominy (corn) grits, dry edible beans, wheat flour, enriched wheat flour, self-rising flour, enriched self-rising flour, whole wheat (graham) flour, dried prunes and raisins.

Self-rising flour is interpreted to be flour which contains soda, phosphate and salt. On the July list, but eliminated from the August list, were pork and pork lard.

SANTA FE OFFICIAL IN TOWN ON TUESDAY

C. F. Abrams of Clovis, trainmaster for the Santa Fe, was in Artesia Tuesday on business.

In company with C. O. Brown, local agent for the railway, he made a number of calls about town, including The Advocate office.

Gas Company Ad Series Stresses National Defense

The New Mexico Eastern Gas Company in a series of advertisements the last few weeks has been stressing various phases of the national defense program, for form using open letters from Albert S. Johnson, president.

In the current advertisement, however, Johnson points out that "local newspapers protect the soldier," citing the publication of both sides of issues, such as in the recent case of General "Yoo-Hoo" Lear — although Johnson did not include the "yoo-hoo."

"In dictator-controlled Germany, Italy, Japan or Russia there would never have been one word in print," declared Johnson. "I wonder if you really appreciate what the freedom of the press means to you personally."

The company president has had an interesting message in each of the advertisements, to which the attention of the readers of The Advocate is called.

New Barley Is Giving Lanning Good Results

S. A. Lanning of Artesia and Frank Brdecko of Deming have reported that the barley they planted last fall gave excellent results as a winter and early spring pasture crop, according to word from State College. In addition to the excellent pasture furnished, the new variety used yielded 75 to 85 bushels of grain to the acre, after having been pastured during the winter and early spring.

The seed used was a new variety of winter barley developed by the New Mexico Experiment Station and released through the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association last fall. Farmers throughout the state, where the seed has been tried, have had excellent results with the new barley, both as a pasture crop and a grain crop.

Clyburn Wayne, extension agronomist, in discussing the new winter barley, said it is known as G2518 and by test has proved its yielding ability under New Mexico conditions; that farmers have found that by planting G2518 early in the fall, it produced pasture of very high carrying capacity during the winter and early spring months and that, by removing the stock the latter part of March, or before the barley begins to stool, good yields of grain are obtained.

All available seed of the new winter barley, said Wayne, is certified and of excellent quality. In buying the seed of the new barley, be sure that it bears the tag and seal of the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association, he said.

Seed lists giving sources of the seed of the G2518 have been mailed to all county agents and farmers may get them from their county agent, or they may write direct to the New Mexico Crop Improvement Association, State College.

Hollywood Movie Scouts Are Hot on Trail of Jack Arlen Land, 4-Year-Old Local Youngster

The likely looking youngster pictured here might become as familiar to everyone as F. D. R., or Mickey Rooney, or Shirley Temple.

The word, "might," is used advisedly, for there is an old adage about "many a slip . . ."

And it is not in the bag as yet. But it looks as though Jack Arlen Land, who attained the ripe old age of 4 years last March 14, is going to crash the movies!

At least, two major movie companies have asked for tests and Jack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Land, have had some motion pictures made of him. At present they are being developed to send to the companies.

Although Dick Land and Jackie Land—that's Jack Arlen's mother—realized they had an unusually intelligent and beautiful child, the idea of the movies did not occur to them. So they were somewhat surprised when

ALL GROUPS TO MEET ON FRIDAY

Emery Carper, mayor of Artesia and chairman of the Artesia committee of the New Mexico State Council of Defense, has called a meeting of representatives of many local organizations at 8 o'clock Friday evening at the city hall to lay the groundwork for local participation in the statewide "blackout" in September.

To be represented will be state, county and city police officers, all civic groups, the State Guard, the American Legion and Auxiliary, churches, utilities companies, Boy Scouts, the schools, Red Cross, Chamber of Commerce, women's clubs and others.

Mayor Carper said that out of the meeting the representatives of the various groups will carry the general plan to their organizations, in turn to line them up as to their part in the program.

Although he is striving to contact someone in every type of organization in Artesia, Carper said this is not an individual affair, but that all should be represented in order to help put across the statewide blackout in New Mexico, which will be a rehearsal for the entire nation.

Eleven Men in Eddy to Report Next Tuesday

Eleven Eddy County men have been sent notices to report for army service next Tuesday.

They will report to the local board in Carlsbad at 8 o'clock that morning, and will go to Santa Fe for induction into the Army.

Those selected were Lyman Lawrence Murphy, George Leroy McNett, Robert Turean Marquess, Irvin Lee Gossett, Charles C. Hutto, Walter Aaron Randolph, Duerr Harold Gaines, Billie Richard Sanders, Pablo Medina, Floyd Allen Williams, and Kermit Florice Hare.

The Military Department was advised another draft call would be made upon New Mexico in September.

Although exact figures were not received, officers estimated the quota would be about 215 men. The last call, issued in July, was for 190, who will be inducted next week.

Services Held For Lauderdale Children Here

Funeral services for Mary Frances, 15, and Lee J. Lauderdale, 7, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lauderdale of Atoka, who were fatally injured Wednesday morning of last week when struck by a Santa Fe train, were at the Church of Christ here at 2:30 o'clock last Thursday afternoon by the Rev. Allen E. Johnson, pastor. Burial was in Upper Cemetery at Hope.

A number of relatives of the children were here for the services. Their only brother, Corp. Hardin Lauderdale, who is stationed at Ponce Air Base in Puerto Rico, was unable to arrive here until Tuesday.

Relatives here for the funeral: Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Burch, Grand Falls, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Belknap and daughter, Breckinridge, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Lauderdale and son, Iraan, Tex.; R. G. Lauderdale, Lamesa, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hardin and daughter, Engle, N. Mex.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Watts, Dunken; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hardin, J. W. Hardin and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Jess Anderson and daughter, Hope; Mrs. Veta Mae Parick and son, Eastland, Tex.; Mrs. Barney Alderson, Royalty, Tex.; and Mrs. Foy Riley and children, Deming. All are uncles, aunts and cousins of the Lauderdale children, except Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hardin, who are grandparents.

Other surviving relatives include Mr. and Mrs. Clay Hughes of Artesia, an uncle and aunt of the children, and Ed Watson, an uncle.

Both of the children attended school in Artesia. Mary Frances would have been in the eleventh grade in the fall and Lee would have been in the third grade.

Series of Accidents in Artesia Area Continues This Week

Barham Warns That Leaf Worms Are Bad In Number of Fields

Fred A. Barham, Eddy County agent, reported yesterday that he has checked a number of fields and found some leaf worms in all patches, with some badly infested. And, he warned, they will increase rapidly unless steps are taken by farmers to control them by dusting or spraying.

The county agent recommended dusting with a sulphur-arsenate mixture, which not only kills the worms, but all other insects.

The mixture should be two thirds sulphur and one-third calcium arsenate by weight, Barham said. About 12 to 15 pounds of the mixture should be dusted to the acre.

The worms can be controlled by spraying lead arsenate, as well, he said.

GELWICK IMPROVING AFTER AN OPERATION

Bill Gelwick underwent a serious operation in an El Paso hospital Sunday evening for strangulated intestines. Word was received from El Paso Wednesday that he was doing nicely. He had been ill several days before being taken to El Paso Sunday.

Spencer, Burch Survive Second Tourny Games

In the city golf tournament, B. E. Spencer, runner-up two years ago, and Hugh Donald Burch have survived the second matches, respectively defeating Bill Bullock 1-up and Bob Bourland, medalist, 3-2.

Bullock previously won from Fritz Crawford and Bourland was conceded his first match by A. W. Harrah, who was ill.

Four other players remain in the championship flight, who up to yesterday had not played their second matches. Earl Bigler is to meet Frank Palmer, and Troy Bourland and Steve Lanning, medalist last year, are to play.

The only second match in the first flight reported played was between Neil B. Watson and A. B. McGuire, the former winning 4-3. C. D. Marshall and J. J. Terry, and Lum Richards, Jr., and Cliff Thomas are matched to play their second rounds in the first flight.

Kiddy Suffers Bad Fracture in Freak Accident

Hugh Kiddy, co-owner of Sanitary Barbers, is in a Santa Fe hospital suffering from a bad compound fracture of his thigh sustained in a freak accident adjacent to the headwaters of the Pecos River north of the state capital Wednesday evening of last week.

Kiddy, who was stopping over in North New Mexico to fish in the Pecos, as he and Mrs. Kiddy were returning home from a vacation trip, was attempting to start his stalled automobile on a hill along side the river, planning to push it and then jump in.

As the car started to roll, a wheel evidently hit a rock, changing the direction of travel and the open door knocked Kiddy off the side of the road about fifteen feet into the canyon. The car went over after progressing for some distance and was found later standing upright and undamaged in the Pecos.

Kiddy pulled himself and crawled up the side of the canyon to the road, during which he fainted several times, and, after an hour to an hour and a half, was found by some people in a car, the first to pass that way. However, they left him there, but sent help back to him from town. He did not get to the hospital until about 1 o'clock Thursday morning.

Fred Hill, Eddy County deputy sheriff, who was in Santa Fe Tuesday, saw Kiddy and reported that an X-ray picture was taken that morning, showing that the fracture had been reduced well. Kiddy probably will be put in a cast Friday, Hill said.

Pancho Villa, 13-Year-Old Spanish-American Boy, Seriously Injured When Struck on Bicycle by Physician's Car.

SKULL IS FRACTURED

Others Hurt, but None as Seriously as Is Mexican Youth.

Accidents continued in the news this week in this locality, but none was as serious as early last week when four lives were lost.

The worst accident near Artesia was about 7 o'clock Sunday evening, when Pancho Villa, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Santiago Villa, was critically injured in an accident three miles south of Artesia, involving the automobile of Dr. W. A. Glasier of Carlsbad.

The youth, riding a bicycle on the state highway without a light, had been on the side of the road and swerved in front of the Glasier car.

Dr. Glasier was driving slowly at the time, having slowed down for a dip, which probably kept the accident from being fatal.

However the Villa boy's skull was fractured and there is a possibility he also has a broken neck. He is at Artesia Memorial Hospital, where he has shown considerable improvement and now recognizes his parents.

Probably the accident of greatest interest locally, but happening in North New Mexico, was a freak mishap to Hugh Kiddy of Artesia, who broke his thigh when knocked into a canyon by his own automobile. The complete account appears in a separate news story.

Elsie Torres, little Spanish-American girl, is a patient at Artesia Memorial Hospital, suffering from a ruptured kidney, sustained in an automobile accident in the farming community southeast of town Sunday afternoon. The car, driven by an older girl, ran into a tree when an insect stung her and she lost control.

Druella Holeman, year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Holeman of Maljamar, sustained a bad cut on her chin Sunday, when she fell on a tin can. The cut, in the form of a semi-circle, extends from one side of her chin to the other on the under side. Fifteen stitches were required to close the wound.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hale were injured about noon Monday when their car collided with the car of a Mr. Lemmon of Madrid at a side road intersection with the highway south of Artesia.

Mrs. Hale, the most severely hurt, sustained a broken collar bone and other injuries. Mr. Hale's back was somewhat injured. They were taken to the hospital.

Mr. Lemmon was uninjured, but Mrs. Lemmon sustained a severe knee bruise and some lacerations.

Slips for Meat Credit Are Still Good for Pork

Meat market operators and food stamp users of New Mexico are scratching their collective heads and wondering what to do with a few hundred dollars worth of credit slips which have been issued for future purchases of pork meats and lard.

The meat of the problem lies in the fact that the federal government eliminated pork products from the blue stamp food list as of Aug. 1. Prior to that time stamp users who presented their blue stamps to meat markets for pork received a credit slip instead of cash change (giving cash change is contrary to the regulations of the food stamp plan) when the purchase price of the pork was less than the 25-cent face value of the blue food stamps.

Now, with pork meats and lard off the list and hundreds of dollars of blue stamp credit slips in the hands of stamp users, the question is: "What to do?"

NEWS GOES IN CYCLES

News always runs in cycles, as any newspaperman will tell you. It probably is more noticeable in a small community than on a national scale.

Time after time for a number of years we have noticed how the news breaks one week as compared with another week, how the columns will be filled this time with coming events, another with athletic events and another with deaths.

Seldom is there a tragedy in a community but what there will be at least one more within a few days, or weeks at the most. And more times than not, they will happen within a current publication week.

Such was the case last week. Three tragedies involving four deaths—all through accident—were enacted within little more than forty hours.

Some people say happenings of a certain nature come in threes. We do not subscribe to that as a matter of superstition. But it is a coincidental fact that it frequently is the case.

IT'S BOUGHT FROM US, NOT SOLD BY US

About every so often space for a composite advertisement of a number of Roswell or Carlsbad retail merchants is bought from The Advocate. And no sooner is the ink dry than some local advertiser begins to seek information and ask questions.

"Do you go to Roswell or Carlsbad and solicit the advertising?" "Is it done by a member of your staff?" "What do you charge them?"

The answer to the first two questions is, "NO!" The answer to the third is that when such space is bought the price is the open rate, just as would be quoted to anyone. But that merchants pay more than that is certain, for the work is done by specialty advertising agents who sell the out-of-town merchants at their own rates. Then they make up the ads in lay-out form, ask us how much so many inches of space will cost and plunk down the cash—always!

Thus the space is bought from us, not sold by us, and the copy submitted is scanned to make certain there is nothing objectionable or illegitimate.

In other words, the transaction as far as The Advocate is concerned is just the same as though anyone were to walk into any store in Artesia and offer to buy what is offered on the shelves. Our merchandise consists partly in the space we have for sale.

But we do not go out of town to solicit any retail advertising which would conflict with the advertising of local merchants.

And that's that!

PANNING THE PANHANDLE

The scope of influence of a newspaper varies somewhat with the community, the type of newspaper and its exchanges and other factors.

We do not know just where we leave off to the northeast, but it seems to be somewhat short of Amarillo. And Amarillo, in turn, seems to include in its cycle of influence Roswell, but no farther.

We have noticed in The Amarillo News time after time in its "Tri-State Press" comments reprints from the Roswell papers, as well as many others within the scope of The News.

But Artesia and Carlsbad seem to be beyond the circle, for, no matter what kind of wisecrack or editorial squib is cut loose by the Artesia and Carlsbad publications, The News just does not see them, or chooses to ignore them.

That rather hurts our feelings, especially when we occasionally make a crack about something up there in the Panhandle, or about Old Tack of Amarillo News fame.

PECOS PETE MAKES A PREDICTION

Pecos Pete, the accurate spittin' cowpoke who says his say in The Carlsbad Current-Argus, gets off many a good crack, but t'other day he concocted a honey. Seize:

"Roswell is really gettin' roused up about the Hondo River these days. A small boy and a small girl have been pulled out of its waters, barely in time to save their lives, during the past week—but that wasn't all. Yesterday, a drowned cow's corpse was pulled from the river.

"That was the last straw. Now they'll take action."

"A STITCH IN TIME . . ."

The city dads might give a little thought—and some action—to the matter of streets, which are getting in bad condition.

Still suffering from the excess moisture of last spring, bad places are showing up in increasing numbers, more than the regular maintenance crew can be expected to keep up.

So it might be well to launch a general street-fixing program, costing not too many dollars at most, thus saving more dollars later if the streets are allowed to go.

IT'S AN IDEA, IF IT WORKS

Seems that fenders should be cheap in Artesia because of wholesale purchase by the garages. We were distracted from our work three times within an hour the other day by as many grinding bumps. Each time at least one fender was knocked down, all in the same parking place in front of this office.

Now if we can only convince the public of the danger of parking there, perhaps we will have an exclusive place to park.

BUT HE'S USUALLY HALF OUT ANYWAY, HONEY

The p. b. d. steno down the street is worrying about the planned "blackout" for Artesia and all of New Mexico in September. She wants to know if she will have to put out the light of her life.

Caverns Attract 51,587 Visitors During the Month of July, 1941

The Carlsbad Caverns not only set a new July record for visitors, but nearly reached the all-time high registration of August, 1940, with 51,587 persons viewing the world's greatest wonder last month, as compared with a total last August of 51,711. The latter figure is almost certain to be surpassed this month, for a great increase has been shown every month this year and the heavy tourist travel is about at its peak.

Twenty-three foreign countries were represented, as well as all states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii.

Texas led the list, with 21,096 visitors from the Lone Star State. California had representation of 5,430. Oklahoma and Illinois were next and New Mexico was fifth with 2,309 persons visiting the caves.

Geographical distribution of visitors in July by states and territories:

Hollywood Movie—

 should be in pictures. Why don't you take him to Hollywood?"
 But they always just laughed that off. Now they are giving the matter serious and sober thought.
 No, they are not building air castles, nor are they spending money which may not come to be. But they are not going to pass up what looks like a great opportunity and future for Jack Arlen Land.
 Many Artesia people know the lad, although they may not know his name, nor who his parents are, for his reddish blond curly hair, blue-green eyes, marvelous features and perfect little body, chest and posture cause dozens of them to turn their heads and admire him.

And Jack is an intelligent child, a lad full of rhythm and with music in his feet.

His father, now yard foreman for the Big Jo Lumber Company, formerly was a professional dancer. Many months ago he began to teach his son ballroom and tap dancing, to which instruction he has responded with unusual ability.

Then too, he has posed for hundreds of pictures for his parents, as well as for professional photographers, at times registering certain emotions suggested by one parent or the other. It has been found he photographs well from any angle from a candid standpoint.

Dick Land has given the boy about 1,500 recordings by dance bands, from the original Dixieland Jass Band—that's the way they spelled it as "jazz" was being born—up to the present day outfits, such as the Bob Crosby aggregation. And the boy—only 4, remember—knows them all and through them knows more about the history of swing music and its development than many dance musicians. It has become a hobby with him and has helped him develop a real "Southern nigger rhythm," as his dancing father describes it.

Jack Arlen Land was born March 14, 1937, in General Hospital at Oklahoma City, where his parents lived until coming to Artesia Feb. 1, 1940.

With them at that time was another boy, Jack's little brother, Jerry Dayton Land. Then he was just an infant, but he passed the 2-year mark on March 12, just two days before Jack was 4 years old.

As yet still undiscovered, Jerry's parents believe he is equally as intelligent and handsome as his older brother. He also has that same "Southern nigger rhythm," and fair skin, blond hair, blue-green eyes and attractive features.

But the focal point at this time is on Jack Arlen Land.

Perhaps Artesia has a new juvenile movie star in the making. Maybe two! Who knows?

Gonzalez Will Preach At Bloys Meeting in Texas This Week

An invitation to attend the Bloys Camp Meeting between Fort Davis and Marfa, Tex., the week of Aug. 12 to 19, has been issued by the Rev. Constantino Gonzalez, pastor of the Spanish-American Methodist Church.

He has accepted the invitation to preach at the camp meeting and will attend during the entire session. His activities will be among the Spanish-Americans attending the meetings.

The fifty-second annual gathering is to be held in historic Skillman Grove, and is the original and widely-known Cowboy Camp Meeting. In 1890 a small group of pioneers assembled at that place for the first meeting under the leadership of the Rev. W. B. Bloys. Later an organization was formed, composed of four denominations, Baptist, Deciples, Methodist and Presbyterians. In 1904 the ranchmen, desiring to perpetuate the name of their leader, incorporated under the name of the Bloys Camp Meeting association.

NEW OIL that gives car engines GOOD OLD OIL-PLATING far Outlasts 5 other big brands in Desert War of Endurance

Oil-Plated engine proves good for more than Double the Mileage averaged by rivals in Daring Death-Test... Certified

Plenty of good old pre-streamline cars with OIL-PLATED engines still pass your house quietly... pass newer cars on the road... pass oil-inspection many a time without needing a quart. That's because inner engine parts have been kept OIL-PLATED by the strong magnet-like action that won't let OIL-PLATING quickly drain down. Even through the nights, OIL-PLATING stays up to its topmost point—on guard against wear in advance! Yet this famous OIL-PLATING—based on the Conoco Germ Processed oil patent—is merely one factor in today's great success of the new

CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
 —Lasted 5,683 miles longer than next-best oil tested in Death Valley

Conoco Nth oil invited itself straight up against 5 other representative oils in an all-out test to the death... unbiased... Certified. The graveyard was cruel Death Valley—so hot you can't sweat. 6 everyday coupes were used—all alike. Each got one 5-quart fill of some one competing oil—locked in by the Official Referee. Then under strictly equal conditions all cars sped without added oil, till engines cracked up.

The weakest oil gave up while Conoco Nth still had 8,268 miles to go... Certified. All 5 rivals together averaged 7,057 miles less than Conoco Nth oil... Certified.

Real difference—from a Real source

Two modern synthetics are in new Conoco Nth oil. Now think of modern vitamin synthetics, making up for some of Nature's life-givers lost in modern food processing. Similarly, the latest oil refining methods destroy some of Nature's life-givers. But today full life is brought back—more than generously—by the two Conoco synthetics.

One of these will make Conoco Nth motor oil keep your engine OIL-PLATED. The other will check the effect of foul leftovers caused by every engine's normal fring. This commonest of all oil troubles is now checked—inhibited—by Thiakene inhibitor... Conoco Patent 2,218,132. But why technicalities?—when you know the Certified Economy record of Conoco Nth in Death Valley. You'll never Death-Test your Conoco Nth oil, nor make your car try other proving-ground tortures. You'll still drain and refill at recommended intervals. But knowing that one fill of Conoco Nth outlasted the other Death-Tested oils—by 74% all the way up to 161%—you can figure on a long time between quarts of Conoco Nth oil. Change today—at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company—Pioneers in Bettering America's oil with Synthetics

IMPARTIAL

Latest available oil of each competitive brand bought retail by Referee.
 New stock coupes all alike; broken-in alike; tuned alike; handled alike. Engines had been taken apart for Referee—to assure same conditions for all oils. Same route for all. One fill of oil per car. None added. Engines under lock—under scrutiny—every mile.

CERTIFIED I hereby certify that the Death Valley Test and related work were thoroughly and fairly conducted. Engine Destruction occurred in each case at the mileage stated.

A New Voice Highway for National Defense

Across Nebraska, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Nevada and California, work is proceeding rapidly on a new voice highway—an all-cable transcontinental telephone line.

Cable crews are equipped with mechanical plows hauled by large tractors. The cable laying train digs a trench about 30 inches deep, feeds the cable into it and back fills the trench in one continuous operation. Protected against ordinary hazards by being underground, the cable is also insulated against rodents by steel tape wound around the cable making it "gopher proof."

Increased facilities provided by this cable are designed to meet any demands that may arise for communication between centers of industry, rail-heads, troop concentration points and defense centers from coast to coast.

Rotarians and Lions and Guests Swing to Fort Bliss Dance Band

High spot of the week's social whirl was Tuesday evening, when members of the Rotary Club and their Anns and the Artesia Lions and their Lionesses dawdled with a steak dinner on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel, unable to eat heartily because of the distracting effects of a dance orchestra from the recreation center at Fort Bliss, acknowledged to be the swiftest aggregation ever to visit here.

Between courses of the dinner members of the civic clubs and their wives and sweethearts would take a turn or two around the floor—that part of it which was not taken up by tables, for there were many persons in attendance, including guests.

The entertainment group was the same as appeared at a Rotary banquet last April 29, except that the dance band of five accomplished musicians had been augmented by three more. The group was in charge of Major Forrest Agee—he was a captain when last here—and was accompanied by two other officers, including a chaplain.

The orchestra furnished dance music during the dinner and afterwards until a late hour. And at the conclusion of the dinner music, a program was presented by the orchestra and others of the enlisted personnel before the Lions, Rotarians and ladies started in on serious dancing.

Corp. George P. Montgomery, possessor of one of the best baritone voices ever heard in Artesia, who highlighted the program in April, again favored with several solos, as well as leading the civic club members and guests in singing "God Bless America."

Montgomery also served as "stooze" for Billy Jerrell, Arkansas selectee, who did a blackface skit.

Pvt. Eugene Hurt, former president of the Texas University Glee Club, accompanying himself on a guitar, sang several solos, and Pvt. Jack Miller gave a demonstration of what could be done with chalk on blank paper, in a clever cartoon routine.

Major Agee repeated his skit of a pianist who knows nothing but "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," but can change his pace from classic to jazz, from a hymn to a march.

Featured in the orchestra were Pvt. Murray Rupp, trumpet player and leader; Corp. Felix St. Clair, violinist; Pvt. Don Reynolds, pianist; and Wilbur Meek, drummer, all of whom played solos. All of the musicians are professionals in civil life.

The Rev. Henry S. Stout was toastmaster and Howard Whitson presented the officers and men handkerchief sets in behalf of the two clubs.

Color Is to Be Outstanding in All of the New Autumn Fashions

Color is one of the most interesting things about the new fall fashions, according to the local buyers who have just returned from the markets.

The new colors tend to look hazy, whether pastels or deeper. Black, which is always a favorite, has a new appeal combined with latest color creations. The blues are favorite colors, but are in different shades than the ones that were popular last year. Brown, another leading color, ranges from the deep dark brown to a nutria color including the new one of curry. Among the greens the dark forest green is in the lead. The yellow shades are decidedly popular, going into the new khaki shades.

For the new formal styles are much the same and as for the materials they run from cotton on up. Velvet, velveteen and satin will make up some of the more slinky models, and corduroy and gaberdine will be used for others. For the working gals the more popular than ever two-piece evening gown, which makes possible different changes, is being shown. The new fall fashions, which are beginning to come in, are being displayed on the shelves and hangers in the stores.

FSA in Eddy County Striving for Better Diets for Stronger People

Nutrition, or better diets for a stronger people, has become one of the most important sectors of the "Food for Defense" campaign of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Rosamond Deen, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration in Eddy County.

With a nutrition unit to be organized in every county in the nation, the Farm Security Administration is pledged to take its part in the program, and will work in Eddy County in cooperation with other agencies.

Staff members of FSA in this region have outlined the special part of FSA in the program as including:

Increase in the consumption of vegetables.

Changing and improving old and inherited food habits.

Inducing the production and use of more eggs, milk and vegetables and other "protective" foods.

Supplementing diets with foods to which farm families are accustomed but which are not used with best effects.

Working not only for production, but distribution, education and bridging the gap between low incomes and needs.

Linking diet necessities with the fundamental needs like longer tenure of land which will develop pastures, diversification, soil enrichment and improvement of living conditions generally.

FSA borrower-families, Miss Dean said, will be urged to grow bigger fall gardens. Every effort will be made to enrich the diets of the low-income families in our program.

"Although this campaign has become a national movement, we feel that a special obligation rests upon the Farm Security Administration," she said.

"The work of the FSA, perhaps more than any other agency, lies among the group of lowest income, among whom is likely to be found the greatest number of persons undernourished to the extent that an alarming number of its youth are found to be unfit for military service because of dietary deficiencies."

FSA employees will work to see that diets of FSA families measure up to the nutritional "Gold Standard," which includes one pint of milk a day for an adult and more for a child, a serving of meat, one egg, two vegetables, one of which should be green or yellow; two fruits, one of which should be rich in vitamin "C," found abundantly in citrus fruits and tomatoes; some butter, breads, flour and cereal, most preferably all whole wheat grain or enriched.

AUGUST OIL ALLOWABLE FOR STATE INCREASED

PLENTY OF FISH ARE FOUND CONCHAS LAKE

Visitors to Conchas Lake when its maiden fishing season opened July 1 found plenty of bass, crappie and perch but not permanent camping facilities, State Park Commissioner C. E. Hollied reported.

The state's development of a recreational area at the lake is not yet complete, he said.

NORTH-SOUTH ALL-STAR GAME TO BE AUGUST 24

The annual North-South prep all-star game will be held Saturday night, Aug. 24, in the University of New Mexico stadium, Fred Brown of Las Vegas, the game's originator announced.

Players in high school districts 4, 5, 6 and 7 compose the South team; players in 1, 2, 3 and 8, the North. Last year's game was won 13-0 by the North.

RATTLE PRATTLE

That the number of rattles on a rattlesnake has nothing whatever to do with his size or age is a hard tack fact, an eminent authority on snakes says. Rattles shed their rattles or lose them sliding through the brush. A rattler three feet long may have twelve rattles, while a rattler five feet or more may have from five to eight. To judge the size of the snake by his rattles, take the width of those rattles as the best indication of the snake's size. The wider the rattles, the larger the snake. The number of rattles, this authority concludes, indicates nothing more than it is a rattlesnake.

Little Known Facts and Sidelights on Oil Industry

Putting 'Em Together—

Little boys who once delighted in picture puzzles now are putting together the parts which comprise modern airplanes.

A pursuit plane, for instance, has 15,000 parts in fuselage and wings, plus welding. There are more than 6,000 parts in the motor, and about 190 in the propeller. There are at least 90 instruments, dials, knobs, buttons and valves for the personal use of the pilot.

Basic structure of the plane is built from factory-made parts. Flat pieces of aluminum alloy, coated with blue lacquer to prevent scratching during manufacture, go under a knife and are sliced into sizes and shapes desired. Other big machines take large pieces of metal already stamped with rivet holes and roll them to the shape of the entering edge of a wing. The edge comes out tapered so exactly that the rivet holes are perfectly located for later processing.

Presses exerting a pressure of 2,500 tons push pieces of metal down on beds of rubber and shape them to dies. Rods are cut to length, braces are chopped off accurately and are riveted or welded. Parts of the fuselage are built up on jigs, metal frames serving as molds. The upper and lower halves are riveted separately with hammers which never stop.

Wings are put together with boxlike sections, each bracing the other so strongly that even a power dive at 500 miles an hour causes no bending. Eventually wings and fuselages meet and are made one. Then the blue lacquer is washed off and a gleaming plane is ready for finishing touches and tests.

450 Miles to a Gallon—If—

Gasoline is sufficiently powerful to propel a car 450 miles to the gallon, petroleum technologists say, if means could be devised to obtain complete efficiency of consumption.

With 14 gallons of gasoline a new model of any popular make could do 6,300 miles at 20 miles per hour on a perfectly level road provided there were no power losses, through friction, heat radiation, wind resistance and a few other factors.

The trouble, it is explained, is not in the gasoline, one gallon of which contains 99,000,000 foot-pounds of potential power, but in the difficulty in building vehicles and highways which will permit complete advantage to be taken of this dynamic fuel.

Scientific progress will do much to improve operating efficiency of the motor vehicle, and also will improve the highway, it is believed, but the complete elimination of power losses cannot even be imagined at the present time—and probably not in the future.

Rarefied Math—

Fuel oil distributors who make degrees and days add up to an accident-proof system of delivery which never leaves a home-owner with an empty fuel tank got a tough one to figure out recently when they found householders living atop a mountain.

It takes more oil to keep the mountain home-fires burning, they discovered, for it is plenty cold up there. Long experience in degree-day calculations, however, made it possible for the fuel oil dealers first to "weight" the official temperature readings at the base, then with a conversion scale which shows the drop in degrees F. per hundred feet of elevation to figure their Alpine customers' consumption to the drop.

Friction Facials—

Chemical conditioning treatments for metallic surfaces in motors are what the lube oil beauticians are ordering for friction trouble. Long-term experimenting in petroleum laboratories has revealed that microscopic filings generated on metallic faces have sufficient body to scuff rubbing parts and cylinder walls become scored.

A chemical bath gives the surfaces a blotting quality and helps lubricants to cling. The treatment shortens the break-in period. Scuffing in diesel engine parts has been reduced to about one-tenth of that in untreated parts. Cylinder, piston, and ring surfaces are now being broken in from three to six hours compared with 100 hours required formerly.

Women at War—

Canadian girls are going in a big way for Canada's Volunteer Auxiliary Drivers' Corps. Girls from eight Canadian cities work in all-over uniforms and stay on the job from morning until night.

Training for these rooky chauffeurs and ambulance drivers includes practical as well as technical courses. Not until they have mastered the fundamental principles of the internal combustion engine and the function of the various parts, do they learn the rudiments of what army regulations designate as "roadside emergency repairs." Motor service experts demonstrate and teach actual mechanical work.

Newsy Nuggets—

Development of new industries is expected through the expanded application of the diesel engine to industry and application of modern techniques of housing, leading automotive research engineer reports.

New Argentina railroad will tap Bolivian oil fields.

Combination airplane and motor car is predicted by a leading automotive manufacturer.

Oil companies gave away about 150,000,000 road maps in 1940 at a cost of more than $3,000,000. Maps are corrected twice and even four times yearly.

Tractor-trailers are transferring freight to and from cars at railroad terminals.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Booker left the latter part of last week for Dallas and Fort Worth. On Tuesday they were in Norman, Okla., for the graduating exercises at the University of Oklahoma, where Mr. Booker's sister, Miss Beulah Booker, received her master's degree. They expect Miss Booker and another sister, Mrs. Frank Seay, to return home with them this week.

Curtis Bolton, accompanied by Joe Lanning of Englewood, Calif., went to Silver City the first part of this week with the expectation of entering school there in September. Curtis, who won honors in athletics as well as his scholastic work in high school, has been offered a scholarship. He visited his father, V. D. Bolton, in El Paso on the trip over and also on the return trip home.

Charles Carter, Jr., nephew of Pat Gormley of Camilla, Ga., and Miss Carter of Atlanta and Mrs. Frank B. Davis and daughter of Blakely, Ga., visited in the Pat Gormley home several days this week. They visited the Carlsbad Caverns Tuesday before returning home on Wednesday.

Boy Scouts to Set Up Services For Businesses

The Boy Scouts of Artesia have devised a means of making a little money for the troops, at the same time rendering a service for merchants at a minimum cost and maximum efficiency, supervised handbill distribution.

The Scouts already have canvassed the city, counting houses on each street and making a comprehensive map, so it can be determined at a glance how many bills will be needed for certain distribution.

The second step being taken by the Scouts is the solicitation of merchants, assuring them that bills will not be wasted and that the members can deliver them quickly, thoroughly and efficiently.

Troops 8 and 28 are to divide the work, each taking the part of the city on its side of an arbitrary line.

Frank Smith, Scout commissioner, is to serve as clearinghouse for the service, and through him merchants may obtain the service. Smith, in turn, will assign either troop, or both troops, as needed, for a certain job and at a certain hour.

It is believed the Boy Scouts, working together and dividing the city, can cover Artesia in very short order and the boys, operating on their "Scout honor," guarantee economical and honest distribution.

FRED SPENCER, FORMER ARTESIAN, HURT IN FALL

Fred Spencer of Cloverdale, N. Mex., a former Artesia old-timer and a brother of Mrs. Jack Hastie of Artesia, broke an ankle and bones in both heels when he fell from a ladder while fixing a water tank at his ranch Monday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hastie were notified. They left Monday for Cloverdale to be with him.

Spencer crawled to the house and was taken to a Lordsburg hospital.

Farm, Livestock Cash Prizes for State Fair Show a Big Increase

Cash prizes offered by the New Mexico State Fair in the livestock and farm products departments show an increase of several thousand dollars over the total of preceding fairs, according to listings in the 1941 premium book, now coming from the press.

In addition to money appropriated by the fair commission, supplementary cash prizes are being offered this year by a number of the livestock and farm organizations. The American Hereford Association, which has been a regular donor at previous fairs, will add 25 per cent to cash prizes in the registered Hereford classes. The American Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association has volunteered substantial added cash awards. Other added money awards, as well as ribbons and medals, are being offered by the Hampshire and Corriedale Sheep Associations; the United States Duroc Breeders Association and the American Poultry Association.

The fair commission has increased the cash awards for individual farm, orchard and garden products and increases also have been made in the home economics and domestic science divisions.

Farmers and orchardists, whether exhibiting individually, or in connection with their county exhibits are urged to have products that are likely prize winners, as harvest time approaches.

JACK KENNEDY CATCHES SEVENTEEN IN ONE CAST

Jack Kennedy, who broke into print a few weeks ago as the champion turtle catcher in these parts, now tells a fish story without cracking a smile. He claims he caught seventeen fish the other day with a single cast!

But he admits they previously had been caught and brought to gaff by Mrs. Kennedy, then had herded themselves out into deep water when their stringer came loose. He did not say how many he caught otherwise while Mrs. Kennedy was providing for the table with the nice string.

WORLD NEWS
—in—
BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

A dozen members of Tennessee's 117th Infantry are asking the question: "Who's Frances?" Post cards have been arriving daily from Elizabethton, Tenn., addressed to members of the first battalion. All conclude with this bit of affection—"With love, Frances." But who's Frances? No one seemed to know.

At Wenatchee, Wash., a truck turned over and spilled seven tons of peas—fresh frozen—on to the pavement. The Highway Department, resourceful in an emergency, trundled out its snow plow and saved the mushy mess—fast turning into soup under a 90-degree sun.

Louise Sherman of Chicago is aiding the defense drive; she sold the Army an air rifle. The toy gun, which fires BB shot, was purchased by the 124th Illinois Field Artiller at Camp Forrest, Tenn., for $1. Miss Sherman said a captain told her it was needed to chase razorback hogs and cows from in front of tanks as they maneuver over mountain roads.

Early Wilmington, Del., taxpayers received an extra dividend. The city added a cold bottle of soda pop in addition to the usual 5 per cent abatement for paying in July. Hot weather made the drink as attractive as the discount.

Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., soldiers have been asked to quit enclosing "get acquainted" notes to the laundry girls in their bundles of dirty shirts and socks.

When the Army drafts Edward J. Finley the Weekly Tigard (Ore.) News goes too. He's the paper's (1) publisher, (2) editor, (3) linotype operator and (4) pressman.

Martin Warshafsky wants the Superior Court in Los Angeles to change his name. An admirer of (1) Will Rogers (2) Copernicus and (3) Christopher Columbus, he'd like to sign his name just plain Rogers C. C. G. Rock. That would stand for Rogers Copernicus Christopher G. Rock—G. for Grubstake.

At Camp Robinson, Ark., winners of an Army quiz contest were to receive free soft drinks—officers of the 110th (Nebraska) regiment buying. Forty-two soldiers lined up at the canteen. It was a tie. Those suspicious officers still aren't convinced.

Mayor Reginald H. Sullivan of Indianapolis blames this one on the heat. When his secretary opened an official-looking envelope from a federal department in Washington, he found a neatly-folded sheet of baby-blue paper inside. The paper was blank.

At Kansas City, Kan., it's the parking problem again—only this time it's planes. City dads leased the airport to the Army and now there's no room for private planes. Hangar rent at nearby fields has doubled.

A tear gas salesman who demonstrated his wares to law enforcement officials produced plenty of action but failed to get an order. While showing a tear gas bill it discharged and fragments of the shell slightly wounded two men, including Sheriff Andrew Lom. A few minutes later a gas grenade discharged in the hand of an officer, who suffered severe burns. Police Captain Clarence Grognat said local authorities were not interested in the salesman's products.

Gerard Darrow, 9, Chicago's star "quiz kid," knows all the facts, but when they toss hypothetical problems on international politics at him, he slips. Gerard, who was in Cleveland helping raise funds for improving the zoo, was a guest at a banquet where he answered such questions as: What plants eat animals? — "The sea anemone eats fish." What bird wears "glasses" and looks clownish? — "The spectacled eider, a member of the duck family." How many toes has the two-toed sloth? — "Ten." Then someone asked if there were "any bird big enough to carry off Hitler? . . . "Who's he?" asked Gerald with sincere curiosity.

A white Persian cat owned by Mrs. Mary D. Montgomery of West Point, Miss., fraternizes with Mrs.

Montgomery's goldfish. When Tabby gets thirsty, she drinks from the fish bowl. The fish swim to the surface to watch. Once Mrs. Montgomery's tiny pet turtle climbed out of the bowl. The cat, Mrs. Montgomery says, gently picked it up with her mouth and dropped it back.

Two women autoists, bidding for a single parking place, staged a "I-won't-leave-until-you-do," strike at Winston-Salem, N. C., while on-lookers offered advice, brought refreshments and collected enough money to pay the fine of one of the contenders. The argument lasted two hours. They got tickets—but somebody else got the parking place.

At Albany, Ore., 12-year-old Donnie Van Eaton finished his lunch, lit a firecracker and tried to toss it in the air. It stuck to his jam-covered fingers. Donnie sustained minor burns.

Juan R. Quintana of Phoenix, Ariz., put his spare change in pig banks for a year and a half. Fined $50 for reckless driving, Quintana took the banks to court and dumped the contents on the bench. Justice of the Peace Harry Westfall called it square for $42.17.

Emory and Ernest Hicks are twins of Birmingham, Ala., but haven't dressed alike for thirty-five years. Emory decided to buy a new suit to wear to a twins' convention in Chicago. When he boarded the train he found Ernest in a new suit, too, just like Emory's.

Another symbol of the freer and easier era is doomed to extinction in Philadelphia. The board of health has banned the open, communal sugar bowl which formed the centerpiece of so many restaurant tables. Says it's unsanitary.

At Portland, Ore., Patrolman T. C. Freiberg said the drunk he found sleeping against a parking meter was willing to go to jail but he refused the officer's haste. "He said he dropped a nickel in the meter and still had 30 minutes parking time to go," Freiberg reported.

Privates Churchill and Goebels showed up at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., in the group of 245 selectees bound for Camp Polk, La. Fellow soldiers asked Pvt. Joseph Goebels of Chase, Kan., if he and Pvt. Clarence Churchill of York, Neb., might be planning a little private war. "Only," said Goebels, "if Churchill attempts to say his home state is better than mine."

A 34-year-old man found asleep in a ransacked Philadelphia machine shop blamed the weather for his plight. Accused of burglary, the prisoner told police he'd assembled some things with intention of stealing them but decided to take a nap and wait until it stopped raining outside.

Eight years ago Henry Jefferson Hite of Huntington, Ind., carried walnut and poplar planks into his basement to work on a hand-craft job. Months later, it was done. The other day, at 84, he died at a daughter's home in Bluffton. And he profited from his handiwork. He was buried in a casket he had fashioned for himself.

Eyota, Minn., doesn't owe an Iota. This small South Minnesota village is free of municipal debt after paying $2,000, the last installment on its $5,000 well and pump contract for a year and a half ago.

Sheriff's officers at Merrill, Wis., sought Elmer Schneider on a worthless check charge but couldn't find him in a two-hour search. On their way home the deputies stopped when a man waved them down to ask help in getting his car out of the ditch. The man was Schneider. Deputies put him in jail.

Take it from the girls of Port Matilda, Pa., Uncle Sam's soldiers have learned a lesson about "yoo-hooing." Greeting thirty truckloads of soldiers passing through there with a chorus of "yoo-hoos," the girls got only smiles in reply.

President Signs Bill To Pay Damages to Mr., Mrs. J. W. Johns

A House bill introduced by Congressman Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico to pay to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Johns of Artesia $1,500 for personal injuries sustained in an automobile accident involving another automobile driven by a WPA official has been signed by President Roosevelt. Final action on the bill authorized the secretary of the treasury to pay the claim.

The bill, passed by the House early in July, was sent from the Senate to the White House last week.

The accident was at Weatherford, Okla., Nov. 18, 1938, before Mr. and Mrs. Johns moved here from Kansas City to manage Artesia Memorial Hospital.

NEW BOOKLET TELLS OF APACHE FOREST

Copies of a new twenty-four-page booklet on the Apache National Forest, which lies in New Mexico and Arizona, were received for distribution by the Forest Service's regional offices in Albuquerque.

The booklet, which was prepared by the regional informational division, was printed by the Government Printing Office in Washington and tells of the timber, grazing, wildlife, water and recreational resources of the 1,500,000-acre reserve.

Why meat is a "weapon" for winning wars. More than one expert believes it is as important as bombers or tanks. Read why in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Los Angeles Examiner. 32-1tx

Work of 410 Distressed German Seaman at Fort Stanton Camp Follows Ship's Schedule

(Vance Johnson, staff writer of The Amarillo Daily News, recently visited the converted CCC camp at Fort Stanton in the White Mountains, where 410 distressed German seamen are camped for the duration, from which visit came the following feature, published in The News July 25.)

The resonant notes of a steel gong, struck with the distinctive timing of a mariner's clock, float out across the valley at Fort Stanton, N. Mex., as the glimmer of day tops the desert sage. Two able-bodied seamen relieve two others of the early morning watch. One bell, two, four and seven—an exotic touch added to the limitless desert, where time is meaningless. At eight bells Captain Wilhelm Daehne strides to his shabby office and takes a seat beneath a picture of Adolf Hitler. Almost immediately his first officer arrives; the captain snaps to his feet. "Heil Hitler!" "Heil Hitler!"

A staccato of German, and the first officer departs. Captain Daehne turns to the trifling stack of papers with which he must occupy half his day.

No Life of Raeder
Thus the day begins on the desert as nearly as possible as it begins every morning aboard the North German Lloyd liner, Columbus, before Daehne scuttled her off the coast of Virginia a year and a half ago.

It is no life of Raeder the captain and 410 of his crew lead at Fort Stanton, where they are interned for the duration. Time creeps, into a routine all too familiar to Captain Daehne. He spent four years of the last war in an Australian internment camp.

Work at the camp progresses according to ship's schedule, and there is much work to do. The Columbus' eighty carpenters and technicians created comfortable living quarters out of the dilapidated CCC barracks into which they moved last March, and the seamen landscaped the grounds so attractively that they already outshine the U. S. Marine Hospital, just across an arroyo to the east.

Captain Daehne and his first officer assign work exactly as they did aboard ship. Chefs prepare all meals and do most of the baking, an exception being pumpernickel, baked in an El Paso bakery by their recipe. Stewards maintain the mess hall; barbers provide free haircuts—and shaves for a nickel—an improvised shop furnished with two old swivel chairs. Chief Purser Hans Tielbaar is purchasing agent. Before German credits in the United States were frozen by executive order, he made frequent trips from camp to make his purchases; now that the Reich can no longer pay the bills, he places his orders with the Army quartermaster at El Paso.

Twenty-four hours a day, seamen in pairs keep watch—for goodness knows what—on the mess hall porch, the nearest thing resembling a deck found on the desert. Twenty-four hours a day the U. S. Border Patrol maintains a less ostentatious, yet equally relentless, watch on the watchers.

Because they are not prisoners, technically, the Germans enjoy many privileges which would be rescinded if the United States entered the war against the Reich. Captain Daehne and his officers have complete sovereignty over work and activity at the camp, and the men have a surprising amount of freedom, both within the barbed wire enclosure and in a specifically designated area on the outside.

Sports Competition Hot

They may hike as far as seven miles up into the foothills of the White Mountains, and be away from camp most of a day. Refusal of hiking privileges, eagerly sought by most of the men, provides Captain Daehne's most effective method of enforcing discipline. Most of the men own cameras and take pictures of everything that comes within range. Many have acquired pets since they reached Fort Stanton. There are dozens of dogs and cats and one man is the proud possessor of a burro.

During off hours, the younger men compete in a wide range of sporting events—from swimming and diving (in a large pool they dug by hand) to boxing and tennis and soccer. This summer they staged their own "Fort Stanton Olympiad," which included most of the Olympic field games, as well as bridge and pinochle. Officers, of course, did not participate but one man suggested that Captain Daehne, who was the lightweight boxing champion of his Australian camp in the first World War, might well have emerged the tennis champion if he had chosen to compete.

Pinochle and bridge—and beer—follow hikes and field games. Strong drinks are verboten, but each man is allowed three bottles of beer a day—if he has the money to pay for it. The percentage of teetotalers soon will sharply increase, because cash money is running low. Before the president's freezing order, each man received $2.50 a week from the German government; that ended when the United States government assumed responsibility for maintaining the camp.

Once a week the ship's orchestra plays a concert and movies are shown as frequently as bookings are possible. They saw "Blitzkrieg in the West" and numerous news reels distributed in this country by Dr. Goebbels' propaganda ministry. Other movies come from German-American societies in New York.

Nazi Fervor Strong
Each barrack has a radio, and German shortwave broadcasts are the most popular. Many of the men receive American newspapers, and still more subscribe to German publications. Letters from home arrive every two weeks—uncensored unless they pass through British hands.

Whatever their reactions to German successes in the war, they carefully keep them to themselves. "We agreed international relations shall not be discussed here," one Border Patrol inspector said. "We have observed no demonstration whatever in the camp; even on Hitler's birthday, the only celebration was a soccer game."

Strong Nazi fervor among the men, however, is obvious. The swastika, painted with crayon or water-color in lieu of flags, hangs above the doors in all the barracks. Hitler's picture is everywhere. The men "heil" at first meeting every morning. Most of the men are young—youths who grew up under the Hitler regime. Bronzed by the desert sun, hardened by work and constant athletic training, they would be excellent timbers for German raiders preying on British shipping in the Atlantic. This the Britons fully realized when the Columbus was scuttled.

The U. S. S. Tuscaloosa picked up 578 survivors of the Columbus and took them to Ellis Island. The British agreed to safe passage home for all not of military age; a few others obtained work in German consulates and 413 were transferred to Angel Island in San Francisco Bay. Three went A. W. O. L. The British refused safe passage for the others and they were transferred, after several months, to Fort Stanton.

Relations apparently are amiable between officers and men of the Columbus and the Border Patrol inspectors, and the inspectors say the Germans have "gotten along well" with the Americans they have met.

But they have no love for the United States Navy.

Many of the men fervently believe they would have reached Germany with the Columbus if the Tuscaloosa had not "collaborated" in circumstances which led to the scuttling.

The Tuscaloosa, they say, followed the Columbus "many hours" (Captain Harry A. Badt of the Tuscaloosa, at the time, said sixteen hours) before they came in sight of the British destroyer Hyperion 400 miles northeast of Norfolk, Va., on Dec. 18, 1939. Complying with instructions from Berlin, Captain Daehne ordered the cocks opened and the ship set afire. This took twelve minutes, the men say; twenty minutes later the Columbus' last lifeboat pushed away, and within forty minutes from that time the Tuscaloosa arrived on the scene.

"We thought it strange," one officer said, "that the Tuscaloosa's galley stood by, with dinner waiting for the whole crew."

Most of the younger men at Fort Stanton doubtless would leap at any chance to serve the Fatherland, abroad or in the United States. Rumors of escapes have swept southern New Mexico's desert country several times, but the Border Patrol insists none have occurred.

Rules Rarely Broken

"Two or three men went beyond the borders of the hiking area, but we believe they made an honest mistake," an inspector told me. "Once, two men were reported walking over a hill several miles from here and we immediately began an extensive search for them. But a check at the camp revealed none missing."

To a casual visitor, the men appear complacent and as happy as the circumstances permit. They are defeating the oppressive inflexibility of confinement with hard work and carefully planned recreation programs. Inspectors say infraction of camp rules and fights between the men are rare. Wise counsel of Chief Purser Tielbaar, who spent five years of the last war in a Canadian prison camp, and of Captain Daehne apparently convinced the crew of wisdom in accepting their lot without argument.

Border Patrol surveillance is the least noticeable aspect of camp life. Except for three inspectors on duty at the entrance, I saw only one other guard in half a day. But I was told the Germans are constantly watched. A mounted guard who stays out of sight, for instance, follows every hiking party outside the barbed wire.

During the first two months authorities granted the Columbus' officers permission to leave camp unescorted. They purchased all their own supplies. But friction developed after Roswell police arrested Staff-Captain Kurt Ruppert and Purser Tielbaar—"because of a misunderstanding," an inspector said—Washington withdrew these privileges. Now the officers are accompanied by an inspector when they go to nearby Captain to purchase canteen supplies.

Inspectors worry more about the possibility of outside meddling, by curious natives or by Nazi agents, than the likelihood of escapes. But I can say with authority that the possibility of outside interference is negligible. A stranger with no apparent business hasn't a chance in that desert country.

Entire Desert on Guard

On my way to Fort Stanton, I got off a train at Carrizozo, a sun-baked village about forty miles distant. The railroad agent and two Spanish-American boys on the platform eyed me with unconcealed suspicion! Two men in uniform gave me a thorough look-over, and one of them jotted something down in a notebook.

Two blocks uptown, I stopped to pass the time of day with a filling station operator. He was affable enough until I asked him something about Fort Stanton.

"I don't know nothing about that," he snapped. "In this country a man learns to 'tend to his own business.'" He wheeled away and left me alone among the pumps.

I am sure he telephone the Border Patrol because a scout car soon came by.

Everybody, it seems, has assumed a self-appointed job of seeing no one leaves Fort Stanton, and that no one without legitimate business gets near there. The Border Patrol maintains day and night vigilance for hundreds of miles around; every train—passenger and freight—is thoroughly checked. "Suspicious" travelers are questioned.

But even if a man escaped the camp, and eluded the natives and the Border Patrol, it is extremely doubtful that he could get away.

"Where could a man go?" one oldtimer asked me. "If he goes one way, there's the Capitans, and if he goes another way there's the White Mountains—and anywhere

Household Hints

Salt water helps keep cut flowers fresh. Use a teaspoon of salt for 3 cups of water.

When buying new towels carefully look over the selvages to see that they are firmly and closely woven.

Apple stuffing perks up baked spareribs. Make up about 3 cups of your pet stuffing and add a cup of chopped raw apple.

Browned or fried bananas make enticing partners for baked or browned meats, fish or fowl. When the bananas are nearly done sprinkle them lightly with lemon juice and nutmeg or mace. This improves the flavors.

Grated horseradish-apple sauce gives zest to meat and fowl dishes. Mix equal portions of grated horseradish and grated raw apples, season lightly with salt and pepper, add ¼ as much vinegar and serve in a small dish.

Wash goloshes and rain boots as quickly as convenient after they become soiled. Use warm, soapy water and a soft brush or cloth. Rinse in warm water and wipe as dry as possible, then set out to finish drying. Be careful not to get water inside the goloshes.

Leftovers go high hat when used up like this: Shape leftover mashed sweet or white potatoes into 3-inch balls. Scoop out the centers and quickly spread with melted butter. Bake until well browned, fill with creamed peas, or fish or fowl or mushrooms.

A six-inch band of soft linen or cotton, hemmed and basted onto the upper end of a comfort, saves soiling the comfort. The band can be easily removed, laundered and rebasted onto the comfort. This is especially helpful on children's bed coverings.

Turn pancakes only once. If turned several times, they will be flat and tough.

Dip your cookie cutter frequently in flour to prevent it from sticking to the dough.

A pitcher with wide spout is advisable for pouring waffle or pancake batter on a hot griddle.

A speck of powdered cloves gives extra punch to creamy chocolate pudding.

Put half a cup of raisins, chopped dried prunes or figs into the apple mixture the next time you make apple cobbler.

One ton of dried raisins is equivalent to four tons of fresh grapes.

SPAWN WITH THE WIND

Despite intense scientific investigation and speculation, nothing is known of the spawning of the sailfish and his cousins, the several species of swordfish. Neither sailfish nor swordfish are ever caught in a spawning condition. Furthermore, it is a rare occasion when a sailfish under three feet long is caught. Where they spawn is still one of the greatest mysteries of the ocean. Fishing contests, held on Florida's East Coast, in which prizes are awarded for the smallest sailfish caught, have rarely produced a sail under three feet.

Where the swordfish spawns and where the young swordfish spend their time is also unknown.

Dear Friends:

Your local newspapers protect this soldier as well as all other young men in the service.

I know you have been reading in your newspaper of the controversy that is raging as to whether General Lear was justified in punishing the soldiers who were supposed to have made remarks to some girls on a golf course. Our papers have been publishing what General Lear had to say about the incident and in the same issue what his critics had to say. Only from reading both sides of this question are you and I in position to form an opinion as to who was right. We were not present.

In dictator-controlled Germany, Italy, Japan or Russia there would never have been one word in print. You would never have known that anything happened, even if your son had been one of the soldiers punished.

The greatest protection your son in the service has is a free, uncontrolled press. If he is not properly fed, clothed or cared for when sick, or if he receives unjust punishment, your newspapers will tell you the truth about it.

I wonder if you really appreciate what the freedom of the press means to you personally?

Sincerely,
Albert S. Johnson
President

TALL • SHORT • MEDIUM • The No. 6

Handles Them All

Every farmer who has seen the No. 6 corn binder working in the fields likes the ready way it adapts itself to any crop. The knotted assembly can be quickly adjusted for tall, medium, or short corn. 3 sets of gathering chains at 3 different levels keep the corn moving smoothly to the knoter. The largest drive wheel used on any binder insures good traction.

Of course, the No. 6 has no packers to thresh the ears off the stalks, and is properly balanced eliminating excessive neck weight.

Tourist Bureau Says Attendance Shows State's Growing Prosperity

Travelers in New Mexico show great diversity of tastes, with more than half of them taking advantage of the scenic grandeur and recreational facilities offered by the forests, parks and monuments, according to the New Mexico State Tourist Bureau.

Actual attendance records attest to the growing popularity of New Mexico's national and state monuments and Carlsbad Caverns National Park.

New Mexico's 1940 tourist figures showed 4,513,873 non-resident visitors. Of this figure, more than 2,500,000 visited the seven national forests, the eight national monuments, eight state monuments and the national park.

Carlsbad Caverns claimed a lion's share of the attendance among individual attractions, with 2,159,590 visitors for the calendar year. Attendance for the first six months of the current year has shown a 40 per cent increase over 1940.

Leaders among the national monuments in the state were White Sands with 62,630 visitors, Capulin Mountain 40,525 and Bandelier National Monument 14,828. The first two are among the most easily accessible in New Mexico, being situated on main highways.

Among the state monuments, El Palacio, the old Palace of the Governors in Santa Fe, was far in front of the others with an attendance of 66,690 for the year.

All of New Mexico's state monuments, with the exception of Lincoln—where Billy the Kid staged much of the bloody drama of his violent career—are set aside to preserve remnants of the Spanish conquest and the work of intrepid Franciscan padres.

The national monuments embrace geological, archaeological and historical wonders, dating from pre-historic times to as late as the seventeenth century. All, with the exception of Gila National Monument, are accessible by highway.

The seven national forests, five of which are situated wholly within New Mexico, cover more than eight million acres, comprising 11 per cent of the state's total area. The diversity of recreation offered within their cool boundaries is almost unlimited.

A majority of the best trout fishing streams in the state rush down the mountain slopes covered by the national forests, and many of the most popular dude ranches are adjacent to the forest boundaries, offering pack trips, hiking and picnicking in both wilderness and developed areas.

Pix Rhapsody

The old adage of "Mamma knows best," is not always true. Take, for instance, the example of Astrid Allwyn, glamorous and piquant screen actress who has a featured role in support of Judy Canova, Francis Lederer, Raymond Walburn, Slim Summerville, and Eddie Foy, Jr., in Republic's new mirthquake of laughter, "Puddin' Head," which opens a three-day run Sunday at the Valley Theater.

All the members of Astrid's family were of the scholarly type. Her five sisters and one brother graduated with honors from the Springfield, Mass., schools. But Astrid barely passed in several subjects.

"Naturally," she says, "I was almost ostracized by the others for my unorthodox behavior. Besides, I was something of a tomboy, and to cap it all, spent much of my time 'producing' musical shows in which I did a song-and-dance act. I actually was on Broadway a year before my people knew of it!"

But the film city road was a rocky one. Although she had a minor part in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" at MGM, work was none too steady. But slowly she rose from minor parts to second leads with such stars as Constance Bennett and Dorothy Mackail.

In 1934, she was tested for a minor role in "Servants' Entrance" with Janet Gaynor, and the test was so impressive that she was given a featured role and a long-term contract.

Miss Allwyn is now free-lancing, and finding her services in demand at all studios. In all, she has appeared in seventy-two films. More recent ones include "Love Affair," "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," "Honeymoon in Bali," and "Meet the Missus."

Miss Allwyn is unmarried, and lives quietly in her home in Beverly Hills. She plays tennis, swims and rides, and between pictures likes to go night-clubbing. However, when she is working, she always goes to bed before nine o'clock.

Her favorite companions are Gretchen and Tyl, her pet schnauzers. When she needs relaxation, she plays the piano or has a massage. Her favorite writers are Ibsen and Somerset Maugham.

Study of Pecos Is To Be Made Before Texas Suit Action

The views of water users all along the Pecos River in New Mexico are to be heard by the state's interstate streams commission before action is taken in a threatened suit by Texas.

A. T. Hannett, attorney for the commission, said after a closed conference with a Carlsbad delegation that a series of hearings could be conducted for delegations from Artesia, Roswell, Fort Sumner and other communities on or near the stream.

Texas has threatened a suit against New Mexico unless an agreement can be reached over distribution of Pecos River waters. Texas water users contend they are not getting an equitable amount of the stream, which originates in New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Galton Tate of Ridgling, Tenn., parents of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Carroll, and a sister and brother-in-law, Mrs. Joe Wiley and Mr. Wiley, of Hickman, Ky., are here visiting. They expect to visit the Carlsbad Caverns and White Sands and other interesting places in New Mexico while here.

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned from Many Sources

Roy H. Smith says kindness to tourists pays dividends—in more ways than one. The Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce secretary cited the case of P. Stuelar Lee of Buffalo, N. Y., who remembered Smith's courtesies of two years ago, brought his fiancée to Tucumcari and had the wedding performed there instead of at the Grand Canyon in Arizona.

At Gallup, Margaret Rodriguez, 11 months old, was stricken from infantile paralysis several days ago, the first case of the disease reported in that area in many years. The infant was placed under the care of a Gallup physician pending her transfer to the Carrie Tingley Crippled Children's Hospital at Hot Springs.

John Lohse of Raton, at one time a German soldier in South Africa, said he once did a stretch in the same jail with British Prime Minister Winston Churchill—but didn't know about it until thirty-nine years later. Lohse said he read in an American magazine several months ago that Churchill, at that time a reporter for an English newspaper, had been jailed during the Boer war just before Christmas of 1902. At that time, Lohse said he was captured by the Boers and placed in the same guardhouse.

Tourists, to your list of what to watch for, add this one from Gallup, in the heart of the Southwestern Indian country: A Navajo squaw—wearing moccasins, long shirts and head shawl, and a papoose in stoic repose on a herbage—buying a compact at a Gallup drug store. A young Indian buck, long-haired and wearing a silver concha belt, selecting perfume at a counter.

Presidential approval of a $53,148 WPA allotment for construction of a new Santa Rose junior high school was reported from Washington last week by Mayor L. A. Thornton.

Grant County is back in the business of mining meerschaum for fine pipes. A. Downs, Kan., firm is operating a deposit of almost pure hydrated magnesium silicate on Sapillo Creek, fifty miles east of Silver City in the Black Range. Eleven men are employed. Years ago 100 men worked in a meerschaum mine in the same vicinity and produced meerschaum which had a wide market. The light porous mineral also is used to make inexpensive toys and ornaments.

A 1941 New Mexico lamb crop of 1,277,000 head, 90,000 less than in 1940, was indicated by the Department of Agriculture report for July 1. The New Mexico figure compared to the largest crop of record in the thirteen Western states with an estimated 22,723 lambs, or an increase of 1,051,000 over 1940.

Carlsbad is to have a new armory under a $108,000 allotment. Adj. Gen. R. C. Charlton said Sale of the old armory will provide the state's share of the project.

New Mexico law prohibits the operation of mining machinery which requires blasting while men are working in the mine, Assistant Attorney General Howard Houk held. The opinion was written for State Mine Inspector Warren Bracewell, who reported that some operators had engaged in on-shift blasting on the contention it was legal. Houk admitted the law in question was "not entirely clear," but he noted that recent legislation given a bill which would have permitted on-shift shooting if the mine inspector approved. Therefore, he concluded the intent was to prohibit such blasting, a practice which has been held detrimental to the health of miners. It may be permitted only in emergencies.

Comptroller C. R. Sebastian isn't sure that field agents of the tax commission will be able to obtain any great amount of additional collections in Socorro County, where delinquencies had run to more than 50 per cent. Two agents working on the problem, however, have worked up many tax sale certificates and tax deeds and Sebastian said their work would clear up the records "so we know where we stand."

New tax ledgers are being set up for county treasurers to enable them to tell at a glance the tax condition of any property in their jurisdiction. Instruction in handling the new system, which obviates a search of old files, was given to treasurers and deputies from Santa Fe, Torrance, Mora, Taos, Rio Arriba and San Miguel Counties in a school being conducted by the state comptroller. Authority to set up new tax accounting procedure was given by the last legislature.

Former Governor George Toledo of Jemez Indian Pueblo is dead. He was 65. Leader among his people for nearly half a generation, Toledo died July 30 at his home, the United States Pueblos Agency announced.

A cold Indian crawled under a timber bridge on State Road 55 near Cuba, and built a fire. Pretty soon the Indian wasn't cold any more, and the bridge was blazing cheerily. Now the State Highway Department is calling for construction of a non-inflammable concrete culvert to replace it.

July sales tax collections, totaling $374,285, topped the division's previous record, set last June, by $11,834. Director G. S. Carter announced July, 1940, receipts were $312,222. The compensating tax brought in $36,856, compared with June's record of $48,297 and for July, 1940, $35,547.

Inclusion of occupational diseases within the scope of the state workmen's compensation act, was foreseen as a possibility due to a Supreme Court decision. Labor Commissioner Vincent Jaeger, in his annual report for the last fiscal year, cited a decision awarding compensation to a truck driver made ill while in the course of his employment. Noting that occupational diseases were not normally covered by the compensation act, Jaeger foresaw the possibility the decision might open "an entire new field" in administration of the law. The report stated, also, that $99,026.99 was paid New Mexico workmen in compensation last year, slightly above the preceding year, and that the department handled 218 wage claims to collect $15,206 in back pay. About a dozen labor disputes likewise came under the action of the department. Jaeger found the mining industry produced 14 of the 24 fatal accidents reported to the Commission in the year, the largest single category.

Eighteen years after his escape from the New Mexico penitentiary, Esias Garcia is to finish his sentence. Convicted in Quay County of burglary, he escaped four months after starting his sentence in 1923. He subsequently was convicted in Colorado and on Aug. 1 left the Colorado prison to be extradited for conclusion of his unfinished term in New Mexico.

Printed copies of the 1941 session laws were received last week by the office of Secretary of State Jessie Gonzales. They are to be sent out to public officials free of charge, and to attorneys and others requesting them at prices fixed by law. The complete volume was printed in 560 pages, as compared with 730 each for the session laws of 1937 and 1939.

A fund of $123,510 to enable tenants to purchase farms tentatively was set for New Mexico by the Farm Security Administration last week. Congress appropriated $50,000,000 for the purpose in the nation. The FSA said this should provide loans to approximately 9,000 families for the purchase of farms on easy payment terms, payable over forty years with interest at 3 per cent.

State employees have been asked by Governor Miles to share part of the state earnings with national defense, in the purchase of savings stamps and bonds. Speaking to hundreds of state workers at a national defense day ceremony, the governor said, "I ask you only to make an investment in your own security."

The State Highway Department had a little Indian war on its hands the other day. Redskins of the Jemez Pueblo blocked realignment of State Road 4 through their reservation and were demanding $2,700 cash for a right-of-way, Highway Engineer Burton Dwyre reported. "We made four or five surveys and spent a lot of money trying to get a route the Indians would approve," he said. "Finally, we found what we thought was a satisfactory location and let the contract. Now the Indians are asking to be paid for the right-of-way and won't let the contractor in to do the job."

A forty-mile rural electrification extension through the communities of Causey, Garrison, Lingo and Pep near Portales last week brought electricity for the first time to some 100 homes. The project is being followed by another fifty-mile REA power line extension from Floyd through Elida and Kenna, which is to be energized soon.

A dollar-a-year man, G. S. Carter received a check for 4 cents Wednesday of last week, half a month's salary as state sales tax director. He went on the dollar-a-year basis with the Revenue Bureau when he assumed his $5,000-a-year post as chairman of the state public service commission. Running both jobs, he is getting $5,001 a year.

A $13,077.47 catch in the last fiscal year was taken in fur pelts by trappers for the State Game Department, Warden Elliott Barker reported. The take included skins of 1,160 beaver, trapped under state permit.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cole and daughter, Hattie Ruth, left Friday for a ten-day vacation trip in Missouri.

indicated by the affiliation of the Carlsbad Rodeo with the Rodeo Association of America. The show will be staged under the rules of the R.A.A.

Elmer Hepler, Carlsbad rancher and former champion cowboy, again will direct the arena for the Carlsbad show. He has served as judge at many leading rodeos, including Denver, Fort Worth and El Paso.

Stock for the three-day show will be furnished by Jernigan Brothers of Hope. Their stock, especially their bucking horse string and wild Brahma bulls, is rated by cowboys as the "toughest in this country." Jernigan Brothers' stock was used at the recent Silver City rodeo.

Carlsbad's three-day thriller, expected to lure a record crowd to the Cavern City, will be under the sponsorship of Carlsbad Rodeo and Races, Inc., headed by Floyd (Skipper) Rigdon, Carlsbad publisher and rodeo enthusiast. The organization, result of a merger of the Carlsbad Goat Ropers' Club and Carlsbad Celebration Association, started business with $10,000 subscribed by 100 business men and ranchers who purchased stock in the corporation.

tor vehicle must stop instantly when the alarm is sounded, every business house must turn off its illumination, all street lights will be doused and house lights, except hospitals, which must be shielded from the outside by blinds. During the period of darkness all persons not assigned to a place in the general system are asked to stay on their own premises, and will find it safer and better to do so.

All county, municipal and institutional police will be on duty, and these will be supplemented by elaborate corps of volunteers, each assigned to a particular district, to see that darkness is complete and to guard against looters that have always to be contended with at this time. Of course sufficient details will be assigned to the patrol of the utilities, waterworks, gas centers and oil depots, which would be first attacked by invading bombers.

All radio stations are asked to get off the air during the period, during which non-use of all utilities, telephones and the like, which would require the use of lights, is earnestly requested.

At many points there will be fire drills, using bonfires collected and set off by Boy Scouts, and there will be complete mobilization of the emergency fire fighters, the State Guard, the reinforced police forces and sheriff's staffs, each of whom will have definite duties assigned by the local Councils of Defense, all of it designed to simulate the procedure in event of a real wartime invasion.

Complete instructions are being sent to all local Councils of Defense, and every newspaper and public agency is being asked to cooperate in spreading the statewide "blackout" which is approved by the national government, and will have the full cooperation of the air forces and all phases of the military establishment. It is expected to be fully operative in all communities of 5,000 or more, but smaller points may cooperate to the extent of their abilities.

Exact date will be sent out to the Defense Councils shortly.

FOOD ADVOCATE'S Dorothy Ames Carter

Know You're Hungry Two Ways?

Can you be "full" but not "fed?" Yes! says science, for there are two kinds of hunger—hollow hunger and hidden hunger. The first is easy—just eat, eat, eat; the second means that you can be "full up" on any one given food but not necessarily correctly fed on the foods your body needs. For instance, you can be full of watermelon as a pickaninny but still have missed a good part of your protein, necessary calories, vitamin B-1—catch on?

The summer eating habit of "going light" may be the mustacheoed villain of the piece; meat is the hero-to-the rescue. Exaggerated but to the point are these questions to ask your self: How many more holes of golf do you play in summer than in winter? How much more tennis do you play in July than in January? How much more swimming, riding, running, playing, gardening and walking do you do in warm weather than in cold? More, of course! If anything, then, you need more vitamins, proteins, carbohydrates, and minerals in summer than in winter to match increased activity.

No need to stalk the guilty with magnifying glass and finger print kit; no need to ponder the problem with brows in a wrinkle. One constructive thing to do is to be sure and include meat in summer menus, for meat provides nine of the thirteen food essentials you need to "keep you going" in high; meat is needed for its complete proteins, its vitamin B-1 that gives you a healthy appetite, vitality and general good health; meat — all kinds of meat — is almost completely digestive, about 98 per cent so.

But you don't have to slaver over a hot roast all day; you can satisfy both hollow hunger and hidden hunger with the easier kind of meat dishes. A platterful of cold cuts turns a trick, as do the quick-in-a-wink meats — frankfurters, sausage, hamburger patties, chops, steaks (and there are thrifty chops and steaks, you know), and others.

Ham and Potato Scallop
2 cups diced cooked ham, 2 cups diced cooked potatoes, 1/2 cup diced celery, 3 tbsps. peanut butter, 2 cups thin white sauce, 1/2 cup bread crumbs, salt and pepper.
Arrange alternate layers of ham, celery and potatoes in greased baking dish. Melt the peanut butter in the white sauce and pour over the layers. Sprinkle with crumbs, then bake in moderate oven (350°F.) for 35 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Special Hamburgers
3/4 lb. ground beef chuck, 1/4 lb. ground pork, 1 teasp. salt, 1/4 teasp. pepper, cream to moisten, 1/2 cup finely minced onion, 2 tbsps. Worcestershire sauce.
Mix ground meat with seasonings and cream. Press hamburger into very thin flat cakes. Put two cakes together with a filling made from the finely chopped, raw onion mixed with the Worcestershire sauce. Press the edges of the cakes together firmly. Brown on both sides in a frying pan, then reduce heat and turn meat as often as possible for even cooking. Serves 4.

Lamb en Brochette
2 lbs. lamb shoulder, 1 teasp. dry mustard, 1 teasp. vinegar, 1/4 teasp. paprika, 5 tbsps. salad oil, 1 cut clove garlic, salt and pepper.
Have lamb shoulder cut into one-inch cubes. String on a wooden skewer. Make a marinade of the mustard, paprika, vinegar, oil and garlic. Pour over skewered lamb and let stand for one hour. Broil in the same manner as chops. When done, remove to a hot platter and serve at once.

Luncheon Salad
1 pound bologna, 2 1/2 cups cooked elbow macaroni, 1 cup grated raw carrots, 1/4 cup finely grated onion, 1/4 cup diced pimiento, 1/2 cup cooked green peas, salt and pepper, mayonnaise, salad greens.
Dice bologna. Combine all ingredients except mayonnaise and greens; chill thoroughly. Just before serving add mayonnaise and istration, supplied the answer when he announced that outstanding blue stamp credit slips prior to Aug. 1 can be accepted by meat markets in exchange for pork products as previously defined until all such slips have been redeemed by meat dealers.

Place sausage links in cold frying pan. Add water, cover and cook until links are browned. Remove from frying pan. Pour off all but 4 tbsps. of fat. Add drained hominy and seasonings; heat thoroughly. Add beaten eggs and milk. Cook only until the eggs are set. Turn out on platter; arrange links over the top. Serves 6.
