Initial Cotton Bale Harbinger Of Great Crop

Honors Go to G. E. Sharp, Whose First Is Ginned Tuesday by Association—Batie Buys at 25 Cents Pound.

G. E. Sharp of southeast of Artesia won the honors for the first bale of cotton this season which he had picked Monday afternoon and which was ginned at the Artesia gin of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association Tuesday morning.

Not only did he take first honors, which he also split in 1939, but he set in motion the picking of one of the greatest crops of cotton ever harvested in the Pecos Valley, a crop which may set an all-time high for its cash value.

The initial bale, which was middling 1 1/2-inch cotton, was worth 21.75 cents a pound Tuesday, but Sharp sold it to W. W. Batie of Batie's Food Store for 25 cents a pound.

Sharp set his pickers to work at noon Monday and had the seed cotton, weighing 1,270 pounds, all picked by 2:30 o'clock and at the gin by 4 o'clock. Ginning however, was deferred until Tuesday morning. The finished bale weighed 466 pounds.

Artie McNally, manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, said the speed at which the bale of cotton was picked and its splendid quality for this time of the year indicate a great opportunity for cotton pickers in the valley, whose pay has been set by agreement of farmers at $1.50 a hundred pounds, as compared with 65 and 85 cents a year ago.

With a grave labor shortage in the valley, McNally thought the condition of the crop, the wage scale and the large size of the crop may attract many pickers to this territory. He said he believes there is an ample number of cotton pickers available to start the season, but he fears the shortage will be felt later unless there is a great influx.

McNally also said the Artesia cotton is in keeping with the government report of Tuesday, which showed an estimated production of 14,028,000 bales. This would be an average lint yield of 289.3 pounds an acre. Cotton in the Artesia locality is comparable to that, McNally said, while he predicted there will be considerable two-bale acres.

McAnally and Charles Rogers, manager of the Artesia Farmers Gin Company, both predicted ginning will be getting under headway within another ten days.

The first bale this season was far ahead of last year, when excessive rain and repeated plantings made the crop late. R. L. House of Lakewood brought in the first on Sept. 27, nearly a month after the Aug. 28 first days in 1939 and 1940.

Lt. Reddy, Clowe Nephew, Dies in Crash of Bomber

First Lt. Kenneth E. Reddy, a co-pilot on the famous Tokyo raid with Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle in April and a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Clowe of Artesia, was one of six Barksdale field fliers who died about midnight Wednesday of last week, when a twin-motored medium bomber crashed and burned in a hilly wooded section near Little Rock, Ark.

Lt. Reddy was one of nine Tokyo fliers stationed at Barksdale field, who were honored in ceremonies at the airport there the afternoon to the fatal crash during a visit of Edward Arnold and Frances Dee, motion picture actors.

The aviator, whose home was Bowie, Tex., returned to the United States after the Japanese raid on furlough, an extension of which had been granted so he could continue a speaking and lecture tour.

Lt. Reddy, who was 21 years old, was a graduate of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton. He completed his pilot training at the Stockton (Calif.) Flying Field in 1940.

Funeral services and burial were at Bowie Monday.

Mrs. Clowe left Friday for Bowie to attend the funeral services for her nephew.

President of Santa Fe Railway in Artesia With Party Today

E. J. Engle of Chicago, president of the Santa Fe System, and his party were in Artesia this morning on their way north from Carlsbad. They stopped for a short time at the local station.

With Engle from Chicago were F. G. Gurley, vice president, and C. R. Camp, secretary to the president.

Others in the party: C. R. Tucker, Amarillo, assistant general manager; H. C. Vincent, Amarillo, freight traffic manager, until recently general freight and passenger agent over the southern district; E. Kancher, Amarillo, freight and passenger agent; L. J. Cassell, Amarillo, public relations department; C. O. Hemmenway, Amarillo, head of the land department, and Dan Trahey, Clovis, superintendent of the Pecos division.

Management by Government Is Here to Stay

"Government management is here to stay and we may as well make up our minds to make the best of it," the Rev. Dr. I. L. Morgan declared Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon, as he spoke on "Our Government After the War."

The Methodist pastor admitted that it is impossible to predict what sort of government this nation or any other nation will have after the war, but that great changes are in store is certain.

In fact, he said, it is a matter of evolution rather than revolution, which has been going on. However, the change in the government of the United States is going so fast that it is revolutionary.

The course civilization will take for the next thousand years is being determined, Dr. Morgan said. The greatest discernible change in government theory, he pointed out, is the complete control over industry, which has been taking place. Government bureaus once obtaining power, seldom drop that power voluntarily, and management of industry now is in the hands of government, he said.

Only careful planning can forestall an industrial collapse after the war, the speaker declared.

Defense Activity Idea Grows Into Major Public Show

Many Groups to Take Part in Demonstration Here in October

The simple idea for a demonstration of the local defense groups in Artesia, announced last week, has grown like a snowball rolling down hill, until it begins to look like a major civilian defense and entertainment feature.

The tentative date, set for next Monday, was moved along a week over the week end, in order to allow for the interweaving of the various groups' activities, but now it is planned to postpone the show until sometime in October, when it will be presented at Morris Field.

Hugh Kiddy, a member of the auxiliary fire brigade, had the idea, when Chief Albert Richards and other firemen wanted to have a public demonstration, showing the fighting of incendiary bombs, that maybe that would take too little time to expect the public to attend. So he wondered if the State Guard might be interested in trying it.

The idea was mentioned to A. L. Bert and between the two an ambitious program was talked over, each adding further ideas. Then heads of various civilian defense groups were contacted and, "like Topsy," the thing just grew.

Major Charles Morgan and Capt. Oren C. Roberts of the State Guard saw great potentialities in the idea; N. M. Baird, civilian defense coordinator, likes the plan; Mayor Emery Carper has added his approval; W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools, has shown an interest; Mrs. Ralph G. Roberson, Jr., Red Cross first aid chairman, wants to cooperate with her group, and others have added their wishes to see the idea put over in real fashion, with the possibility the demonstration can be used elsewhere for similar performances.

Kiddy and Bert, who have named their brainchild, "It Can Happen Here," are working on the continuity and expanding the performance idea into a full evening's entertainment—all to be free.

Payroll Savings Plan Explained Here Tomorrow

An important conference on the payroll savings plan in connection with the Treasury Department's drive to enlist every business, large and small, in the plan will be held at the Carper Terrace at 8 o'clock Friday evening, it was announced by L. B. Feather, chairman of the North Eddy County war savings staff.

State war savings staff officials will be in attendance at the meeting and will feature a showing of the ten-minute film, "The Free American Way." Civic leaders, employers, and employees are invited to attend, and it is hoped that the meeting will be the basis for North Eddy County attaining a goal of 100 per cent of firms being on the payroll savings plan.

Operating on the basis of a clinic, the meeting will give those attending an opportunity of laying their particular problems before the group for attention.

"Only through the payroll savings plan can New Mexico or any other state meet its quota with regularity," said Feather. "Here's an excellent place to start our effort to get our section meeting its quota regularly," he continued.

The meeting is one of a series being held throughout the state by the war savings staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Douglas of Sacramento were in the city visiting and shopping over the week end. They brought to town a load of fine lettuce grown on their farm. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas reported fine crops, plenty of rain.

And Now It Is Army Campaign For Old Scrap

Coming on Heels of Junk Rally, Miles Proclaims Collection Drive Sept. 16 to 30—Local Committee to Help.

Gov. John E. Miles by proclamation today designated Sept. 16 to 30 as the dates for the Army's scrap metal collection campaign in New Mexico.

In his proclamation the governor declared that the need for scrap metals is so great and that shortages are so serious that blast furnaces may shut down for lack of materials.

"The U. S. Army has appealed to the people of every state and community to assist to the utmost in providing the scrap metals needed, and has offered the full cooperation of its facilities in coordinating collection activities and in moving scrap metals from collection depots," the governor's proclamation said.

Odis Holly, conservation committee chairman for North Eddy County, whose organization is to wind up a junk rally Saturday, said the Army scrap metal collection campaign may be considered a continuation of the current drive. Although he anticipated that much of the available scrap will have been collected, Holly said the new campaign will make an opportunity for the people in North Eddy County to "scratch even deeper" for the valuable metal.

"The need is now," Gov. Miles declared, in urging cooperation in the campaign.

Edward H. Oakley, state director of the Office of Civilian Defense and state chairman of the drive, announced that a program for scrap drives in every community of the state had been developed and detailed instructions are being sent to local defense councils and conservation committees.

"The country needs this metal now," Oakley said. "The manufacture of mechanized equipment for the Army requires steel, iron and various other metals found in the form of old stoves and ranges of all kinds, boilers, bed springs, pipe, iron fences, old andirons, old anvils, broken tools, steel rails, cannon, lamp posts, and the like." Oakley said that persons, firms or organizations having scrap need not donate the metals if they prefer to sell it to salvage dealers. "The important thing is to make it available for use," he said.

He said the drive is not intended to conflict with drives under way, but rather to intensify the drives and widen their scope in the hope of obtaining every possible piece of scrap metal available.

IT'S A LONG WALK TO HOBBS, N. MEX.

"The Artesia Bulldogs will play the Hobbs Eagles at Hobbs Friday evening if we have to walk," C. D. Marshall, Artesia High School principal and athletic director, declared this morning.

And it looked as though the Bulldogs might have to do just that, for only one automobile was available to take the squad and coaches to the Lea County city for the season's opening grid clash.

As none of the school buses may be used and it really is a long walk to Hobbs, the Bulldogs, keyed up for the fracas, are anxious that several automobile owners step forward with the necessary transportation.

The game is still scheduled and cancellation will not be made until the last minute—if then.

Many Tons Alfalfa Seed Being Shipped Out of Pecos Valley

E. B. Bullock is shipping out 40,000 pounds of alfalfa seed to the Middle-West today, making more than 140,000 pounds he has shipped this season, while he still has nearly 200,000 pounds of re-cleaned seed on hand. The crop is nearly all in, he said.

One of the best showings was made by Paul Terry, whose re-cleaned seed from seventy-five acres made 600 pounds to the acre. Bullock paid him $7,500 for the seed, or $100 an acre. The seed was harvested on the old Brown lease east of Dayton, which had laid idle more than twenty years.

Other farmers are making from 200 to 600 pounds an acre, Bullock said.

PROPERTY TAX DOWN

J. R. Attebery, Eddy County treasurer, notified Artesia city officials this morning that the 1942 city property tax rate is $2.8753 a hundred, as compared with $3.0411 for 1941, a saving of $.1658.

FFA Is Planning for Poultry Show Latter Part of This Month

The Future Farmers of America chapter of Artesia High School is making plans for the annual poultry show the latter part of this month, Charles Wallis, vocational agriculture teacher, announced this morning. No definite date has been set for the show.

Showing their poultry will be boys and girls, who received baby chicks last spring in the project, which is sponsored by the FFA.

Members of the FFA also are making plans to attend the state convention of the organization, which will be held at Portales Saturday of next week.

Wallis said that agriculture department of the high school has enrolled fourteen more boys this semester than a year ago, making a total of twenty-one, besides town boys in the department.

ELECTION PARTY SATURDAY NIGHT

As has been the custom for years, The Advocate will hold an election party Saturday evening at this office, bringing results of the primaries to the people of this community as rapidly as they can be obtained and compiled.

For the interests of all, election judges and clerks are asked to cooperate by phoning or bringing the unofficial count for each box in North Eddy County to The Advocate office as quickly as possible.

As many persons will be interested in the results of both the Democratic and Republican primaries, it is asked that both be made available.

An exchange agreement with other sources throughout the county and over the state will facilitate getting the returns to the general public. The first returns should be coming in by 7 o'clock.

Shorty Lindsey Dies Friday at Dixon, Missouri

William F. (Shorty) Lindsey, one of the first oil well drillers in Eddy County, died Friday at the home of his only brother, Albert Lindsey, at Dixon, Mo., where he had made his home a number of months.

After the death here of his wife on Dec. 17, 1940, he was poorly and suffered a stroke in March, 1941. He went to Missouri a short time after that.

The body arrived in Artesia Monday morning, accompanied by Mr. Lindsey's nephew, Paul Lindsey. Funeral services were from McClay Chapel at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by the Rev. Dr. I. L. Morgan, pastor of the Methodist Church. Burial was in Woodbine Cemetery by the grave of Mrs. Lindsey.

The brother is the only surviving close relative.

Mr. Lindsey and Nora Juanita Vandagriff were married at Nowata, Okla., in November, 1912, and they came to Artesia in 1923, when Mr. Lindsey drilled the old Hawkins well below Dayton, about two years before the Artesia field was opened.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey, who had no children, continued to live here until her death.

An oil well driller all of his life, Mr. Lindsey had worked in many of the fields in Oklahoma and Texas before coming here. At the time he had to quit oil field work because of ill health, Mr. Lindsey was employed by Omer and Harold Kersey.

Besides the nephew from Missouri, here from the funeral from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cummins and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Dunn of Carlsbad, all formerly of Artesia.

Legion's Collection Of Records Yields 1,137 of Many Kinds

Bill Dunnam, adjutant of the American Legion and record collection chairman, shipped off 1,137 old phonograph records this week, to be salvaged to raise funds to buy new records for men in service in foreign duty.

The records, which had been piling up in The Advocate office more than a month, were of all sizes, varieties and ages.

A casual search through this disclosed some of the "Red Seal," large-size classics through swing and jazz back to some of the old heart-tearing ballads of the early gramophone days when the Gibson Girl and pegtop pants were in vogue.

But they all were welcome, to be thrown in with millions of others the American Legion has collected nationally, so as to provide some of the newest discs for the lads away from home.

Guard Officers Urge Boys Join Up Cadet Corps

Capt. Steve Lanning and Capt. Oren C. Roberts of the State Guard talked at Artesia High School assembly this morning in regard to the Cadet Corps, seeking greater interest among the boys, of whom only twenty-six have enlisted this semester, as compared with ninety-five, when it was organized last year.

The Cadet Corps, founded last winter by the American Legion, of which both of the State Guard captains are members, is now an elective in the athletic department of the high school and carries a half credit for the year's work.

C. D. Marshall, principal, said it had been hoped that more interest would be taken, so the school later could offer an advanced course for the Cadet Corps.

The naming of cadet officers for the current year has been postponed about a month, until organization is well under way. However, there is good officer material, for both of last year's captains, Jack Perry and Donald Simon; two of the former lieutenants, Val Morgan and Lonas Young, and a number of non-commissioned officers have enrolled.

Material Will Be Available Drilling In Shallow Pool

War Production Board Grants Permission to Eddy Operators

Permission has been granted by the War Production Board for oil operators in the Red Lake-Artesia shallow producing area in Eddy County to use material required to drill and complete wells at depths ranging from approximately 400 to 550 feet.

William P. Dooley and fifteen other owners of shallow acreages made application to get an exception to the order to permit the drilling of a well to each ten-acre tract.

In a letter to Dooley from Amory Houghton, director general for operations of the WPB, the local operators were notified they are authorized to use the necessary material required for the proposed operations, with certain provisions. Each well, the letter says, shall be allotted a drilling unit of not less than ten surface acres, which conforms to provisions of conservation order No. M-68, and no part of which is attributable to or falls within 330 feet of any other well.

Not more than one well shall be drilled or located on any such drilling unit during the period in which the exception is effective, the letter says.

It also provides that the distance between such wells and between all other producing wells shall be at least 660 feet and each such well shall be drilled at least 330 feet from any lease line which separates unconsolidated interests.

The order covers the shallow acreage in sections 1, 2, and 3-18-27; 5 and 6-18-28; 17, 18, 19, 20, 30, 31 and 31-17-28; 13, 14, 15, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 34, 35 and 36-17-27.

TROUBLEFIELDS ARE PARENTS OF TWIN BOYS

Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Troublefield are the parents of twin boys born Monday morning. Both boys and mother are doing nicely.

Wintheiser Is Expected With Greater Plans

May Return Friday From Area Headquarters—Indicates Changes in Pre-Glider School to Be of Advantage.

Art Wintheiser is expected in Artesia Friday to begin active work on preparations for the pre-glider school here, he indicated in a telephone conversation Tuesday night.

He indicated to P. V. Morris, city manager, and Fred Brainard, chairman of the Artesia airport committee, that there may be new developments in regard to the school, which he will announce upon his arrival, by which the local setup will be of greater advantage to the community than plans previously announced.

Wintheiser was leaving that night for Santa Ana, Calif., where he was to confer with Army officials at the West Coast Area headquarters, and he hoped to return to Artesia with final and definite plans for the plant here, enabling him to start workmen and clear the way for an early opening of the school.

Some changes in the general plans, as announced last week, have caused a delay in starting operations here, but Wintheiser indicated in his telephone conversation that the changes would more than overcome the delay.

He said the government has allotted him a greater number of training airplanes than he previously had announced, leading to conjecture on the part of local officials and the airport committee that the school will handle a greater number of cadets than had been hoped for.

This in turn also would provide for a larger number of instructors and Army officers and enlisted men in connection with the school.

And this also makes the housing problem more acute. Already a number of houses and apartments have been spoken for, but not enough had been located to fulfill the anticipated needs.

Clyde Dunn Named Editor of Student Annual Publication

Clyde Dunn, a graduate of Artesia High School, has been elected editor of the 1943 Silver Pack, annual student publication at Eastern New Mexico College, Clarence LaRoche, director of the publications, has announced.

Dunn, also, is a nominee for president of the sophomore class.

During his freshman year at ENMC Dunn stamped himself as one of the outstanding students. He was a staff photographer on the Silver Pack staff; he wrote copy and helped edit the book. In addition to this, he found time to qualify as a member of the Greyhound tennis squad.

"It will be dedicated to all the former students of the college who are in the armed services," the editor-elect said. "At the same time, I hope it captures the spirit of patriotism so well exhibited so far in this world conflict by the state of New Mexico."

Qualifying for 1942 City Open Golf Tourney

Members of the Artesia Golf Club started this week playing qualifying rounds for the 1942 city open tournament, play in which will start Sunday, Sept. 20.

Floyd Springer, tournament chairman, said this morning all registrations and qualifying rounds must be in by next Tuesday and that pairings then will be made. It is hoped there will be at least three flights, including the championship.

B. E. Spencer, 1941 champion, will defend his title and Bob Bourland, medalist last year, also is entering.

The first round must have been played by Saturday, Sept. 26, and each succeeding round will be allotted a week. The finals are to be played on Sunday, Oct. 18.

At the conclusion of the tournament, a barbecue or similar function will be held at the course, Springer said.

AND THEN HE'S MOLESTED FIRST

As a citizen of New Mexico and the Southwest, we protest violently the use of the rattlesnake in cartoons to represent the Axis or any of the Axis partners.

We in this section have considerable respect for the rattlesnake; he always gives warning before he strikes.

GO TO THE POLLS SATURDAY—AND VOTE

We have, of course, definite ideas on how we would prefer you to vote on each of the several candidates at the primaries Saturday. And that is our God and Constitution-given privilege.

But the privilege of all of us is to vote at all—as we wish. And that is what every citizen should do; Vote as he wishes and for the candidates he prefers and at the particular primary to his choosing. It is not only a privilege, but a patriotic duty.

It is for the survival of that privilege that this nation now has men in arms on nearly three dozen fronts, ready to fight—or die if need be. It is for the survival of the secret ballot, the party system, the choice of our governmental representatives without duress.

Of all times in the history of the United States, it behooves every qualified voter to go to the polls and exercise the franchise given him by the Constitution, in order to nominate and elect the best-qualified man for each office.

Even though you do not vote our way, your voice should be heard, so go to the polls Saturday and vote as you wish—but vote!

GET IN THE SCRAP

It has been brought out the last few days that some of the steel mills are in danger of having to close down for want of scrap metal, of which there probably is enough still laying around these United States to furnish all the iron for this war, even without the use of raw ore.

That last, understand, is our crack, not statistics. Nevertheless, there are thousands of tons of old iron which could be put into use in the national war effort, as well as getting the otherwise useless stuff out of the way.

We saw where a highway truck in Missouri carrying a large electric magnet, which hangs just above the roadway, picked up an average of six pounds of iron and steel in one highway division.

If that much puncture material can be found in a mile of highway—presumed to be gravel, of which there are hundreds of miles in Missouri—just think how much could be found in the grader ditches, fence corners and barnlots and hither and yon. The total would be staggering.

It would be criminal if the steel mills would have to shut down at this time, when there is plenty of scrap to be had, if the people would just get it out.

And there is no sound argument in the fact that in some places there are huge stockpiles of the scrap, for the government knows where they are and will move them as fast as can be done. And they are being figured in the total, when it is disclosed that only a two-week supply of scrap is on hand.

Although we have had drive after drive for scrap, let's make the current one in this community produce the ultimate pound now available.

If you live in town, place your contribution on the curb tomorrow—Friday. If you are in the country, bring it in or call 725, and it will be collected.

Do it now; the Japs and Jerries aren't waiting.

CLEARING THE DESK

When Will Robinson, that grand old dean of New Mexico newspapermen, pays you a compliment, it amounts to something, for there probably is none in the fraternity in this state who has had more experience than Will in writing of all kinds. And he knows the problems of weeklies and dailies alike.

So it is with pardonable pride that we pass on to you what Will had to say in his column, "Sidelights on the News," in The Roswell Daily Record for Sept. 2 about our issue of Aug. 27, which he captioned, "Clearing the Desk."

"Not everybody realizes the amount of labor necessary in getting up the right kind of a country weekly, such as last week's issue of The Artesia Advocate for example. That number of The Advocate contained eighty-three local stories, or news items with headlines of varying sizes of type. In the same issue was something like a hundred small local items. If you don't think that it takes labor to gather and dish up a mess like that, you ought to try it once. After which you would be certain to have more respect for the country newspaper man."

Prompted by that dandy paragraph, we decided to look into the matter and figure up just what we had done, so we put a yardstick to work, roughly measured all of the straight matter, and listed it under various heads. It totaled 581 column inches.

We found that the average column inch contained forty-four words, so we took out from there and figured that the 581 inches contained 25,564 words.

Then we found that of the total effort, we personally had written 304 inches of straight matter and editorials "from scratch," amounting to 13,376 words—by the two-finger method.

Our country correspondence, which was light that week, amounted to eighteen inches, or 792 words, which we edited and copy read.

Then we compiled another fifty-three inches, or 2,332 words, for various departments, such as "What's What in New Mexico," and edited and copy read eighty-three inches, or 3,652 words, of contributed stories and columns. And that took many hours of reading and hunting.

The society desk produced 123 inches of "soc" items and locals, amounting to 5,412 words, the greater part of which we copy read, by way of sticking to a single style, something few weeklies, or dailies, as far as that is concerned, bother with.

And to all of this we could add the writing of the headlines, except for the society stories, handling the advertising and laying out of the front page.

Yes, we agree with Will Robinson that "it takes labor to dish up a mess like that." That's what we had in mind a few weeks ago when we wrote a squib about Will's daily column.

And we are especially proud that Will singled us out for his welcome comments.

The lot of the "country" newspaperman is no bed of roses. We know, don't we, Will?

WELL, IT LOOKS LIKE IT, DOESN'T IT?

A prominent local bald-pated businessman—well, it's Dic Clowe, if you must know—remarked the other day that he guessed he would have to run out to the house so as to drive in his whiskers and polish his dome because of something special coming up.

Asked the sweet young gal, "Do you really have something special to make it shine?"

PRACTICALLY A DEED

We have heard of lots of delayed things, such as delayed-action bombs, delayed passes in football and delayed mail.

But what tickles us no end is the delayed possessive, as witness one we heard the other day: "Mrs. Smith who lives around the corner in the second house's brother."

About 5,000 matches are lighted every second in the U. S.—4,000 of which are borrowed.—Amarillo News.

Due to modern science, news travels around the world with the speed of light. Possibly this accounts for the fact that we hear of naval battles eight weeks after they happen.—Omaha Morning World Herald.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate Files for Sept. 8, 1927)

Cotton is coming more rapidly to the gins and within the next few days all the gins will be running. Sixty-six bales had been ginned up to yesterday.

Construction works is progressing satisfactorily on the new Central School building and it will be ready the first part of November, it is expected.

Mrs. William Pistole and grandson, Bobby, who have been spending the summer on the Ruidoso, left last Thursday for their home in Chicago.

Ruth Graham was thrown from a horse she was riding Sunday and narrowly escaped serious injury. As it was, she was badly bruised and shaken up.

An old-time rfound-up was held on the Kaiser ranch east of the Pecos last Thursday and a large number of persons enjoyed the occasion.

Mrs. H. A. Stroup and Howard Stroup drove over to Las Cruces Sunday with Paul Stroup, who was entering State College as a freshman.

Glenn Polk expects to leave Sunday for Abilene, Tex., to enter Simon's University.

Pete Loving has resigned his position with Joyce-Fruitt and is now employed in the Magnolia Service Station.

Office Boy: "I et six eggs for breakfast this morning."
Bookkeeper: "You mean ate, don't you?"
Office Boy: "Well, maybe it was eight I et."

The chemical industry in the United States, which is already making more explosives than were produced at the peak of the first World War, will double the size of its current production this year.

There seems to be an ambition on the part of many to learn "the tricks of the trade," rather than the trade itself.

Merit System Advancement Is Rapid In State

A real career in public service is the promise of Cecil H. Fewell, Merit System supervisor, to those qualified residents of New Mexico who accept employment with the federal-aid state agencies of public welfare, public health, Employment Security Commission, and the United States Employment Service.

The Merit System is looking for the best qualified people in the state for the jobs now open. These jobs are to be filled on the basis of merit, the pay is good, and promotion is based on the ability of the employee to learn about the job above him and to assume responsibility.

Jobs to be filled, Fewell said, are district representative, salary $160 to $200 a month; interviewer, $120 to $140; visitor, $95 to $120; clerk-stenographer, $125 to $150; senior stenographer, $100 to $125; stenographer, $80 to $120; typist, $75 to $110.

"We would like to have local people fill all of these important places," Fewell said. "Not only would it give them steady positions with good pay, but in many cases the job would be right at home where travel expense would not need to be met, and where living expenses would be light."

Applicants will not find the examinations difficult, Fewell said. Of course, employees must be qualified, but the requirements are not unreasonable, and the employees are given a chance to learn as they go along.

Examinations will be held in twenty-three counties in the state this year, Fewell said, and application blanks may be secured from any of the local Department of Health offices, the local office of the Department of Public Welfare, or the local office of the United States Employment Service.

As the closing date for applications is Sept. 16, those interested are urged to secure their application blanks either from the above offices, or a request will bring them by mail. Address Cecil H. Fewell, Merit System Supervisor, 2924 East Central Avenue, Albuquerque.

LUNCHBOX SESSIONS HERE AGAIN

Readin', 'ritin', 'rithmic—and lunch boxes—are here again with the new school season and more than ever the familiar thermos and its wax-papered accompaniments will be getting the benefits of higher education. Surveys show that many more mothers are now in the war effort, and that means fewer home lunches and more lunch boxes.

Apply your nutrition knowledge to the school-bound lunch box, never forgetting that it must contain a third of a day's food requirements—must be the equivalent of a well-balanced meal.

Stew, Too

Sandwiches and fruit have lurked in lunch boxes since the painting of the first red school house. They're still the basis of a three R lunch, but you can use your imagination for their fillings beyond bread and spread.

Stew, with meat and vegetables finely cubed, goes into the thermos with the greatest of ease and will keep warm until the lunch bell rings. Soups, too, are hot stuff for thermos. Salads and puddings will keep in waxed paper wrappings as will potato salad chilled the night before or a few hours before packing.

There's nothing wrong with sandwiches for the school-bound lunch box, but even these standbys have been overhauled in the light of modern nutrition and in the inroads of war time economy.

Enriched or wholewheat bread is now a "must" for tops and bottoms of today's sandwiches; margarine which has been vitaminized with the addition of 9,000 units of Vitamin A per pound gains favor as a nutritious sandwich-bread spread.

Fillings have gone beyond the "cold cuts for sandwiches" stage. Leftover liver, rich in iron, chopped and mixed with pickle relish, is a recommended lunch box sandwich idea; cooked dried apricots chopped for a filling for brown bread spread with vitaminized margarine makes a Vitamin A sandwich healthfully different; grated carrots and chopped peanuts, blended together with real mayonnaise is another example of today's nutrition trend for lunch box sandwiches.

Remember the Yardstick

Like all well-balanced meals, lunch boxes must measure up to the nutrition yardstick, and that means milk, whole wheat or enriched bread, vegetables, fruit, and meat, fish or eggs in the lunch box every day. Think of the school-going lunch box as you would a meal at home—those ideas will help you fill it up.

Lunch Box Potato Salad

One-half cup boiled potatoes, cut in 1/2-inch cubes, 1/4 cup diced celery, 2 tbsps. diced sweet green pepper, 2 tbsps. chopped onion, 2 tbsps. real mayonnaise, 2 tbsps. vinegar, 1/2 teasp. salt, dash paprika.

Mix potatoes, celery, green pepper and onion. Combine real mayonnaise with vinegar, salt and paprika; add to potato mixture. Toss together lightly. Chill thoroughly. Makes one generous lunch box serving. To pack for lunch box, salad may be put in covered paper container, or wax paper. To prepare wax paper, cut in 8 or 10-inch square, pile salad in center, draw edges up together, roll tightly and pin or clip in place. Then wrap in paper towel or brown paper before placing in lunch box.

Sandwich Tips

Spread whole wheat bread with creamed vitaminized margarine, chopped watercress which has been combined with chopped cooked prunes.

Wrap sandwiches in wax paper or bread wrapping before placing in lunch box. If neither are available, wrap in double thickness of paper napkin.

Cream together equal portions of cream cheese and vitaminized margarine; spread generously on slices of enriched white bread. Spread strawberry jam between slices.

Spread whole wheat bread generously with vitaminized margarine. Chop raisins; moisten with orange juice and spread between slices of bread.

Spread slices of enriched white bread with vitaminized margarine. Combine hard cooked chopped eggs with chopped parsley and real mayonnaise; spread between slices of bread.

Spread whole wheat bread generously with real mayonnaise. Flake cooked salmon, combine with chopped cucumber and spread between slices of bread.

Thomas Reports County Schools In Best Shape

Eddy County schools are in the best shape in history, with a $43,000 budget balance for the school year, 1942-43, it was reported this morning by R. N. Thomas, county superintendent.

Teachers' salaries have been placed on a more equitable basis, according to qualifications and service, he said, with yearly increases ranging from $45 to $160.

Thomas said rural transportation not only is serving more rural pupils, because of the tire emergency, but that hundreds of children within the Carlsbad school district are being transported, who are not due free transportation because of the three-mile zone law.

This arrangement was made possible, Thomas said, by the wholehearted cooperation of parents with the county and city superintendents.

ENGRAVING—THE ADVOCATE

Pix Rhapsody

Intriguingly different from the former Tarzan pictures, "Tarzan's New York Adventure," showing at the Ocotillo Theatre Sunday through Tuesday, presents the uncivilized king of the jungles battling the dangers of civilization in the midst of the roaring activities of New York. Johnny Weissmuller, Maureen O'Sullivan and Johnny Sheffield desert their jungle for civilization in what proves to be their most thrilling adventure.

The story deals with the abduction of "Little Tarzan" by a circus man, bent on using him as an attraction. Weissmuller and Miss O'Sullivan start in pursuit, trail them to New York, and amid battles with circus roustabouts and police, comical experiences of the jungle man with clothes and customs of civilization, a riot in a night club, and Weissmuller's sensational dive from the Brooklyn Bridge, they finally regain the boy and, with the aid of a friendly aviator, reach their home in the wilderness again.

Tarzan In Civilized Garb

Weissmuller presents a new Tarzan as, in civilized garb he swings on power wires, scales buildings, dives from the "big top" of a circus tent and stages other thrills. Miss O'Sullivan, as Jane, wears elaborate gowns in the New York sequences. Johnny Sheffield shows his prowess with animals; with Buli and other elephants and a circus lion act. Cheeta, the chimpanzee, provides hilarious moments both in the jungle and New York, to which place she accompanies the jungle pair.

Customer: The new butcher across the street is giving you tough competition.

Butcher: That's all right. The time for me to worry is when he starts giving me tender competition.

Scrap Collections In Junk Rally Is To Be on Friday

Carper and Holly Urge That Everyone Get It In At Once

Mayor Emery Carper and Odie Holly, chairman of the conservation committee for North Eddy County, again this week called attention to the junk rally, which started last Saturday and will close next Saturday.

A citywide collection will be made with a city truck tomorrow, Friday, and everyone is asked to pile all scrap and junk on the curb in front of his house, from where it can be gathered.

Mayor Carper stressed that the city truck cannot be used regularly for this purpose, so asked that all citizens have the junk available early tomorrow.

Persons having a considerable amount of scrap to be given for the war effort may call Holly, phone 725, and an SCS truck will pick it up. That truck will also be available for a reasonable distance from Artesia, Holly said.

Persons having scrap they wish to sell may take it to the yard of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, where it will be purchased at the prevailing prices.

Mayor Carper said that although the concerted rally is being staged at this time, the drive for junk is continuous until the war is won. But he asked that all available scrap be thrown into the fight at once, so as to help keep the steel mills running now, when material is so valuable to the men in uniform and to the United Nations.

That there will be more concerted drives from time to time is certain, Holly said, but he echoed the mayor's appeal to "do it now."

One such drive is to be launched over the state in the near future, according to announcement of Gov. John E. Miles, who has named Edward H. Oakley, OCD director. That drive will be directed particularly at such heavy scrap as old cannon, tractors and machinery.

Huge Capacity Expected

Meeting defense needs of the Atlantic Coast area by proposed construction of large-capacity trunk pipelines will be something in the nature of an experiment. Calculations differ as to what may be expected in the way of performance, but it is estimated that a 14-inch line would move 95,000 barrels of gasoline a day, a 20-inch line 235,000 barrels, and a 24-inch line approximately 300,000 barrels. Transportation of crude oil, a heavier liquid, would reduce the capacity of the lines, but only fractionally. However, there are those who contend that a couple of large pipelines would free the Atlantic Coast from dependence upon tankships.

BANKS AND THE WAR

How Many Parts Make a Bomber?

STATISTICS are frequently published telling how many pieces and parts go into the making of a bomber. But bombers are made of more than pieces and parts. Built right into every one are the vision and genius of the designer, the initiative of the manufacturer, the loyalty and skill of the workers, and the cooperation of America's banks. Bank credit builds plants, pays for raw materials, finances production, meets payrolls—provides the fuel that keeps America's war-production lines rolling. If you can use war credit, see us.

The World's Richest Man Found It Didn't Pay

By Robert Ripley

Ashurbanipal of Assyria, the richest man who ever lived, was worth a trillion and a half dollars—seventy-five times as much gold as is held in the United States Treasury. Yet it availed him nothing! Neither he nor his son had the sense to use this wealth for the good of their people or for their protection.

And so it was comparatively easy for Nabopolassar and the King of the Medes to invade Assyria and enslave it. And finally, when defeat stared the great King in the face—when it was too late—Ashurbanipal, in terror, had a tremendous platform built of polished wood, in the city of Nineveh, and on top of this he heaped all of his wealth—142,000 tons of gold in 2,500,000 bricks (or ingots), each brick 7x28 inches in size, and each brick valued at 50,000 dollars. This treasure formed a pyramid of shining gold nearly one hundred feet high, and in the intervening spaces he placed all of his jewels and personal belongings—his wives on golden beds—his children—even his pet dog.

And then a great quantity of oil was bought from Mosul and poured on top of this golden mass, and when the torch was applied, the King himself walked in and laid himself down among his wives—his family—his pet dog—and everything he valued in life. And so the great Ashurbanipal, the richest man in the world, was consumed in his own wealth—he immolated himself and became part of this great conglomerated melted mass of money—and so ended the Empire of the Assyrians. And it never rose again.

I was in Nineveh a few years ago. Only a few mounds marked the spot that was the glory of Ashurbanipal.

Why? Because Ashurbanipal, who had practically all the money in the world, didn't do anything with it! And he and his country were lost.

Even his conquerors—the Medes and the Persians—made this same mistake—they came, saw, conquered, and confiscated this great golden molten mass of money that was once the king's and the wealth of the great Empire of Assyria—what did they do with it?

Nothing! They melted it into money again—and remelted it—and in generations since it has been remelted a thousand times—until, Believe It or Not, it is a mathematical fact that every golden coin used in the world today contains in it some minute particle of Ashurbanipal himself, the King who had all the money in the world but didn't know what to do with it!

What are we going to do with our money today? Enemies threaten us the same as they threatened Ashurbanipal in 626 B. C. The United States of today, like the Assyria of Ashurbanipal, is the richest nation in the world. What will it avail us, Nothing?

Surely nothing more than it did Ashurbanipal unless we do something with it. And there is only one thing to do—and that is to Buy Bonds and War Stamps and make our money directly available to our country—help our country—otherwise it will become a melted molten mass and we the people will be destroyed as Ashurbanipal was destroyed 2,600 years ago.

TOOL USERS AND TOOL OWNERS

In a recent advertisement signed by a well-known business concern, this statement appeared: "My boss has 14 Grand tied up in me."

What that slangy use of words meant was that the average employee in industry represents a capital investment—in property, plant, machinery and equipment—of $14,000. In other words, labor has jobs only when some business man, or group of investors, puts up the money necessary for the creation of jobs.

It was well said recently, by a student of economics, that men in governmental authority too often forget that while the rights of workers are being considered, the owner of the tools used by workers must also have some consideration.

After this war is over, the plants now devoted to military needs must be re-converted to peace-time activity; must be re-tooled for the kind of production they were engaged in when it became necessary to tool up for war. Labor will expect peace-time jobs then, but somebody must provide the money for re-converting and re-tooling. That money cannot be forthcoming unless enough profits or capital can be stored up to meet such requirements.

The First Job

Americans are impatient people, says the Farm Journal. Impatience never won a war. Soundly planned action, backed by enough power, wins victories. The job now is not to remake America, but to save it.

Business is like a wheelbarrow. It stands still unless you lift and push.

Normally, one out of every three Americans gainfully employed is a worker in the food industry or in an industry closely allied with it.

According to one estimate, about 500,000 tons of scrap rubber can be reclaimed annually in the United States for several years.

Dempsey Workers Plan to Get Out Vote on Saturday

In Series of Meetings Members of Club Here Rally for Popular Candidate

Supporters of John J. Dempsey, Democratic candidate for governor of New Mexico, are working hard in North Eddy County this week in order to get out the vote Saturday.

Headed by Jeff Hightower, chairman of the Artesia Dempsey-for-Governor Club, and Mrs. Hiley Johnson, chairman of the woman's division of the club, a series of meetings is being held, as workers are rallying and making plans.

Mrs. C. A. Joplin of Clovis, state chairman of the women's Dempsey workers, met here Tuesday evening at the Dempsey-for-Governor Club headquarters with the two local chairmen and other members of the club.

The men had a meeting Wednesday evening and many women workers are to get together at headquarters this evening, while a joint meeting is planned for Friday evening, on the eve of the primaries.

The club is determined to show Dempsey a big plurality in North Eddy County, the chairmen pointing out the value of the candidate as governor because of his great experience, contacts in Washington and known ability.

That Dempsey is and always has been a friend of the people of this section of the state is attested by the accomplishments here in the past, the chairmen said.

At Hope, where the citizens give Dempsey credit for the retard dam, secured when he was the state's representative in Congress, a 100 per cent vote for him has been predicted by The Pecos Valley News. And workers there are determined to make that prediction come true.

Flood Crest Is Less Than Last Year on Pecos

Although the Pecos River went on its worst rampage in a year last week, damage in this area was not great, compared with the floods of last year.

Its greatest work of destruction was north of Roswell, where nine spans of the Pecos River bridge on Highway 70 were washed out Wednesday night of last week. Traffic between Roswell and Clovis has been routed by way of Tatum while repairs are being made, which will take a month or more.

Rail traffic on the Santa Fe was suspended that day, because it was feared the railway bridge at Roswell might be unsafe. Damage to it, however, was slight.

Although thousands of acres were inundated in this area, only a small percentage was in cultivation.

The crest of the flood reached the bridge east of Artesia at 5 o'clock Friday morning, when the stage was 12.50 feet. It had dropped to 12.20 feet by noon that day and continued to fall steadily.

As it was rising, the stage stood at 11.95 feet at 8 o'clock last Thursday morning and by 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon it was 12.10 feet.

The highest record for the Pecos since the present bridge was built was during the floods in May of last year, when the crest stage was 13.70 feet. On Sept. 25, 1941, during the destructive fall floods, the peak was 13.45 feet.

Bring Ration Books When Making Canning Sugar Applications

Mrs. Bill Dunn, who is in charge of the local sub-office of the Eddy County rationing board, has asked that persons applying for canning sugar bring their ration books with them.

This is necessary, she said, and those failing to bring ration books will have to make a second trip. The new sub-office, which was opened last week, is in room 225 of the Ward building.

Mrs. W. C. Gray spent Tuesday in Carlsbad with her son, French Gray, and Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Sr., who fell at her home Monday and sustained bruises, is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Minnie Watts of Sand Point, Idaho, is a guest in the home of Mrs. G. B. Duncan.

O say can you see by the dawn's early light, what so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's last gleaming, Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous fight, O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming, and the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in air, gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.

"And the Star Spangled Banner

IN TRIUMPH SHALL WAVE

O'er the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave"

Read those words again and again. You've sung them a thousand times — perhaps too automatically, unthinkingly. You learned them first when you were a small child, raising a thin voice in school. You learned them by heart. But is their meaning alive in your heart today? The land of the free and the home of the brave! That is how the young patriot, Francis Scott Key, described these United States. And one hundred and twenty-eight years later we fight again to keep it free. Today it is still the home of brave young millions of men who have reached around the world in the globe-circling war which can only end in making every man's land a free land! But the fight will be long, and the sacrifice will be great. Lives will be given, homes broken, and loved ones torn from each other's arms. For this is a war of the people, just as ours is a flag of the people — its stripes an ever-flying banner of glory; its stars an ever-bright beacon of liberty. And this is a nation of the people, a nation as such only so long as we all make it ours, only so long as we take an interest in its government and in its functions. We do this by electing men and women to represent us in the county, state and nation, men and women who are charged with fulfilling our wishes in government. If we do not take an interest in our public officials and have our say as to who will represent us, then we are neglecting our duty as citizens of the greatest nation on Earth. While our boys are fighting, that the Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave on the Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave, more than ever we have an obligation to perform on election day in the exercises of our franchise of the ballot.

It Is Your Duty To Vote Saturday!

Army Glider Pilot Training Article of Special Interest Here Because of Pre-Glider School

(An article, "Glider Pilot Training," in the July issue of Army Life, official publication of the Recruiting Publicity Bureau of the Army, is of special interest to the Artesia community at this time, with preparations going forward for a pre-glider school. This article is reproduced here in its entirety, although some few regulations and steps in procedure have been changed since it was written.)

From the bed of an ancient dry lake in the California desert, the U. S. Army Air Forces operates a glider school for instruction in motorless flying and in the tactics and technique of glider warfare.

The glider is rapidly taking its place in the ever-increasing importance of air power to modern war. Primarily developed for sport, the glider has proven its military worth in several engagements of this war, as a means of swift, silent troop and supply transport.

The acceptance of the glider as an arm of the Army Air Forces opens new opportunities for flying service to men between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five who want to fly but are unable to qualify as Aviation Cadets. Glider pilot training is now available to men who fall slightly short of the educational and physical requirements for Aviation Cadets, and for men who are above the Aviation Cadet age limit of twenty-six years. The training includes instruction in flying a light power plane.

Men with the necessary qualifications will be accepted for training as Aviation students after enlisting as privates in the Army Air Corps. Upon completion of training, all of those who are graduated from the training course will be rated as staff sergeants, with the increased pay of flying status.

A limited number of glider students who show outstanding ability will be selected for commission as second lieutenants in the Army of the United States. When commissioned, these men will be in the same pay status as other flying officers.

Man has always longed to challenge the flight of birds. Earth-bound, he first sought to release himself, so the Grecian mythology tells us, by building cloaks of birds' feathers and, spreading them wide, leaping from high cliffs. Since then, gliding has evolved into a science, and has contributed much to the study of aerodynamics.

Today, glider flights are long, silent, controlled sweeps in which the gliders may be piloted or power-plane-towed to their given destination. Without the roar of a many-thousand-horsepower engine, one can hear the sound of the wind, hissing as it slides over the smooth surfaces of the fuselage and wings. Every curve of the glider is smooth and graceful. A motored craft is driven through the air, but a glider is air-borne. Gliding is a utilization of Nature's force, a sensing of the slightest rise or fall of the eddies and currents of the air.

These are some of the reasons of the glider's popularity as a peacetime sport; in time of war, it is recognized as a weapon of offense. A man in a glider is a silent hawk, directing his machine as he rarely could control a parachute, straight to his destination behind the unwarned enemy lines. The glider may be a transport, part of a troop-carrying train behind a power plane, to be released at the battle point and soar swiftly down with its fighting men and supplies.

There are other plans for the use of gliders by the Army of the United States. Where, and in what manner and for what purpose, cannot be revealed. The enemy will find out for himself, the hard way, when the gliders arrive.

Applicants for glider pilot training are divided into two categories: Class A, men who have had flying experience, and Class B, beginners. These glider pilot applicants who have had no previous aerial training (Class B) will be given a ten-week course, the first five weeks of which will be spent in learning to fly light airplanes. This will be followed by three weeks of dead-stick landing prac-

Party Primaries In State Will Be Held on Saturday

Twenty-four Polling Places in Eddy County, Four in Artesia

Eddy County voters will go to the polls at twenty-four places Saturday for the biennial party primaries in New Mexico in order to nominate Democratic and Republican candidates for the general election in November.

The polls will be open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the afternoon. Primaries of both parties will be held at the same polling places, with separate ballots for each.

Only persons who were registered by Aug. 11 will be eligible to vote and each must have declared a party preference in order to be accommodated.

The twenty-four polling places represent eleven precincts in the county, but in four precincts there will be more than one box.

Carlsbad heads the list, with nine boxes, while Artesia has four and Malaga and Oilfield have two each. The other precincts are Hope, Lakewood, Loving, Dayton, El Paso Gap, Otis and Cottonwood.

Polling places in precinct No. 6, Artesia: Box A, American Legion Hut; Box B, city hall; Box C, Central School; Box D, Christian Church.

Other polling places in North Eddy County: Precinct No. 3, Hope School; No. 4, Lakewood School; No. 7, Dayton, Atoka School; No. 10, Cottonwood School gymnasium; No. 11, Oilfield, Box A, Oilfield School, and Box B, Sherman Memorial Church.

Leaders of both parties and supporters of all candidates stress the importance of every qualified voter to exercise his franchise Saturday, in order to have a representative voice in the affairs of the county, state and nation, especially at this time when millions of men are in arms, ready to fight for the preservation of that franchise.

Red Cross Will Record Wartime Work, Activities

A call to the photographers of America to lend their talents in recording the wartime work of the American Red Cross at home and abroad has been issued by national headquarters of the organization in Washington, D. C., C. J. Dexter, chairman of the North Eddy County Red Cross chapter, said.

In inviting the cooperation of photographers, Dexter said, the Red Cross will sponsor a national photographic competition with War Savings Bonds having a maturity value of $5,125 as awards. Funds for the awards are being provided by the Photographic Society of America and other friends of the Red Cross.

Amateur and professional photographers are eligible. The competition will be open Oct. 1 and close Dec. 31. Monthly competitions will be held in October, November and December and will be judged by men and women prominent in the photographic world. Grand awards will be decided by a national jury of photographic experts and will be announced next February 1.

BABY CHICK BUSINESS CONTINUES TO BE GOOD

Frank Wilson of Wilson & Anderson pointed out this week that many hundred baby chicks still are being obtained, somewhat unusual this late in the season. At the moment several customers were waiting to receive chicks for which they had contracted.

Wilson said that many people are raising chickens this year, who have not done so heretofore, as the nation's food production is being stepped up.

The five-week elementary course will be equivalent to that given by the Civil Aeronautics Administration and will be sufficient to qualify a man for a private airplane license. Upon completion of the eight weeks of training at the airplane school, two weeks of actual glider flying instruction will be given at the glider school.

Applicants who have had aerial experience (Class A) will be given six weeks of instruction. Their (continued on last page, column 1)

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned From Many Sources

Crops and livestock in New Mexico were reported in good-to-excellent condition last week in the regular weekly summary by the U. S. Weather Bureau and State Extension Service. Rainfall for the week was spotty but it benefitted ranges in eastern sections. Heavy precipitation, ranging up to two and three inches, was reported in the mountains bordering the Pecos Valley. The report said that some broomcorn was being pulled in Curry County and winter wheat was being planted in that area. The condition of cotton was reported as "very good to excellent" and in the San Jose and Middle Rio Grande Valleys, carrots were being harvested.

The State Land Office announced it had been advised of a movement by four small sawmill managers to name their little community in Western Catron County "Rayrodders." H. R. (Ray) Rodgers, state land commissioner, indicted by the Santa Fe County grand jury on a charge of falsifying office records, is to go on trial at Albuquerque next week. The Land Office said it had received the following telephoned statement from the four men: "State Land Commissioner H. R. Rodgers has co-operated with and helped us more than we can express by words; and in order that we may better express our appreciation, we have named our town 'Rayrodders.'"

Vegetable growers and packers of Bluewater Valley in Central New Mexico have done their bit to help American prisoners in the Philippines. A bannered freight carload of carrots, donated by the Bluewater Valley folks was en route this week to New York to be sold at auction Sept. 9 for benefit of the Bataan Relief Organization.

An appeal from an Army airfield in New Mexico to furnish instructors for an intensive nine-week course in Spanish and Portuguese to be given 1,000 men at the field has been received by Dr. Edward Eyring, president of New Mexico Highlands University. Deploring the lack of such teachers Dr. Eyring said, "This request serves to emphasize the lamentable fact that New Mexico institutions of higher learning have failed to train adequate numbers of romance language instructors."

The University of New Mexico suggested to its football opponents a mutual agreement against scouting of games this fall. George White, director of athletics, said the move was made in the interest of economy during the national emergency, but added: "We think it would be a good idea and that football would be better if it were that way all around. Now is a good time to start it." White said he understood the non-scouting was the first to be made of so sweeping a nature by a Southwestern school. The university is a member of the Border conference and its football team in addition to circuit games is scheduled to meet Nevada and Colorado universities, and Loyola of Los Angeles this fall.

Brig. Gen. R. C. Charlton, state director of Selective Service, in a memorandum to all local boards in the state, outlined the new service men's dependent's allowance act. The new law carries two classifications: Class A—married men, with or without children, which provides for mandatory deductions from the service man's pay; and Class B—single men with dependents, which provides for a payment schedule which is optional with the soldier.

A tabulation by the War Production Board showed that New Mexico received $88,517,000 in major war supply and plant contracts from the beginning of the defense program until June 30. The figure did not include contract awards for less than $50,000 or contracts for foodstuffs.

P. J. Vidal, chairman of the state highway commission, said that 10 1/2 per cent of the Highway Department's $22,000 monthly Santa Fe payroll was being invested in war savings. The payroll includes the administrative offices, drafting room, planning survey, Tourist Bureau, accounting department and traffic service, employing a total of 126 persons.

Gross gasoline tax collections of $435,197.49 for August were reported by State Highway Engineer Burton Dwyre, who said this was a 24 per cent drop from gross collections of $574,263.53 in August, 1941. Dwyre said the net to the Highway Department last month was $178,138.07, a decrease of 50 per cent from the August, 1941, net of $356,525.10, but holding rather constant to monthly nets for this year. Refunds last month amounted to $112,804.72, compared with $70,309.98 in August a year ago.

Joe Kline of Gallup, father of 34, said, "I'd of had my own army if all my sons had lived." In his forty-one years of married life, he has had twelve children by his first wife and twenty-two by the second Mrs. Kline. Of fifteen sons, only four are living. Kline is 62.

A skeleton found in the Manzano Mountains east of Albuquerque has been identified as that of Selsa Lucero of Los Duranes, who disappeared nearly two years ago while hunting pinon nuts.

The Carlsbad Caverns and Fort Bliss have at least one thing in common—bats. Major Carroll D. Paul said he arose earlier than usual the other morning and noticed a few bats swooping into the attic of an old brick building on the post. Then more and more followed until a complete flight entered the building. "There must have been thousands," said the major.

Efforts are being made to establish housing projects for farm labor at Roswell, Artesia, Hatch, Mesilla Park and La Union, Senator Dennis Chavez said. He reported plans called for probably 250 houses at each place through the Farm Security Administration.

Brig. Gen. R. C. Charlton, state director of Selective Service, announced that "in order not to break up established families, local boards will not call married men with children up for induction until orders to do so have been received from Washington.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Howard Houk held that retired teachers may be called back to work during the war emergency "without forfeiting their rights to be again retired as they were originally."

An Eddy County District Court injunction prohibiting several Chaves County farmers from pumping water from the Pecos River above McMillan Dam was upheld in a unanimous Supreme Court opinion written by Justice Birkley.

New sales tax licenses were issued to 218 firms during August, compared with 510 license suspensions, making a net loss for the month of 292. Director G. S. Carter announced. During the first eight months of 1942, there were 3,694 licenses suspended, compared with only 1,658 issued.

A perfect score of 125 misses made Bombardier Cadet Herb Chalsky, New Haven, Conn., somewhat of a hero at the Albuquerque base. The score wasn't made from a bomber. Chalsky was a one-man committee to obtain girls for the bombardiers' pre-graduation dance tonight. He obtained 'em.

Auditor S. W. Balling of Albuquerque advised the state comptroller that the Spanish American Normal School closed the last fiscal year with a surplus of $13,388.22 and no unpaid obligations. Balling said he was impressed with the school's financial condition and it's "efficient, economical operation" over the eighteen months covered by his audit.

A total of 754 births were registered in New Mexico for the month of August.

tered in New Mexico for the month of July against 313 deaths, Dr. J. R. Scott, state director of public health, reported.

After a poll of members, the New Mexico Health Association has cancelled its annual convention because of the war. The meeting was to have been at Raton in October.

Two New Mexico women reserves in the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps, have been ordered to active duty. They are Mrs. Mabel Ruth Carr of Albuquerque, who said that her husband has been reported missing on Bataan; and Miss Wilma H. Strickland of Las Cruces.

New Mexico state school tax collections for August totalled $403,371.60, compared with $402,923.49 in August, 1941, School Tax Director Gail S. Carter announced. Last month's total compared with $392,978.95 collected during July, of this year, a gain of $10,392.65 or 2.6 per cent. August's compensating tax collections came to $51,066.54, against $34,284.85 in August a year ago and $393,118.04 in July, 1942. Severance tax collected last month totalled $56,719.17, a sharp drop of $21,084.27 from the $77,803.44 collected from that source in August, 1941. Last month's figure, however, was up 6.87 per cent from the $53,970.35 in severance tax collected in July of this year. The decline in severance tax receipts from the same month of 1941 was attributed by Carter to the sharply curtailed transportation of New Mexico oil due to the wartime shipping restrictions. The 48.9 per cent increase in compensating tax receipts last month over August, 1941, was set down as due largely to contractors' huge shipments of materials and equipment into New Mexico for work on war projects.

Mr. E. P. Chase,
Attorney General,
Santa Fe, N. M.

Dear Ted:-

I have just learned of your very prompt and proper acquittal by the District Court. I knew of course, that it would have to be a 'clean bill of health' when the whole truth was brought out.

The pity of it all is that a man may be subjected to such things as an indictment and Court trial, because of political hatred of some group or individual who could not dictate his official ~~xxxx~~ acts.

It has occurred to me that maybe some of this was brought about by your action in April 1941, when as Democratic Floor Leader in the Senate I asked you for an official opinion on Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 85. The Direct Primary Law was in grave danger of being abolished; in fact ~~waxx~~ was scheduled to be killed and your official opinion written to me on April 4th, 1941 on that most important matter was largely responsible for the death of the bill that would have sent us back to the old 'PACKED' convention system, where common folks like myself would't have a voice in selecting our candidates.

I know a lot of people who say that you saved the Primary Law, by your thorough study of the bill and your diligent inquiry into the law as affecting the constitutionality of the bill before the Senate.

More power to you, I'm still for the Primary, and I'll be back in the Senate in 1943 and I hope I may call on you for ~~xxxxxxxxxxxx~~ any other official legal advice that I may need.

If there is any one in the Cow Country that aint already for you for re-election, let me know who it is and I'll saddle up and lope over to see him.

With best wishes, I am,
Your friend,

Burton Roach

P.S. You will just have to excuse all the stenographic errors. The fellow who wrangled this typewriter got invited off on a Jap hunt with most of our other men and I just dont seem to be ~~mix~~ able to qualify.

JAMES W. STAGNER, Special Master. 37-4t-40

Dere Folks:

Aug. 21, 1942.

Dear Mom, Dad and All: I received two letters from you today. One was dated July 13, the other Aug. 14. That's the first word I've heard from you in two months. I was really glad to hear Paul Dean got a furlough. I wish I could get home for a while, but the way it looks now that will be in the dim future.

I made my rate July 16. I am a ship's cook, third class, that is what the "S. C. 3c" is after my name. I'm drawing $93 per month.

How is everything there? I guess it wouldn't seem the same now that all the kids I know are in the service. Maybe we can all have a reunion when the Japs are taken care of—and I hope it isn't too far off.

You hear the saying, "A sailor has a girl in every port." Well it's slightly different here. There are about 500 sailors to every girl in Honolulu, so you see how it goes. Gosh, I wish you would write often—don't wait for me to write. There isn't much I can say when I do write. I can't say where we go or what we do. I can say don't worry about me. I'm safe enough.

My best buddy's name is Jimmie. He and I go ashore a lot together. The other day we made a trip around the island. It really is beautiful. Wish you could see it. I have an album full of pictures of the Islands. Someday I'll show them to you.

Tell Pansy, Boyd and Freida to write. Remember "letters from home" are as important as "dollars for defense." They help the morale of the service men more than anything else.

Well, so long for now, Jimmie Hoover, S. C., 3c, c/o Fleet P. M., San Francisco, Calif.

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

NUMBER 60 ★ 3 wonderful bunches for 3 wonderful lunches ★ New Safeway policy that saves you money ★ How one Dad got to a ball game

Clip this column and put it in your cookbook under "hunches for lunches"

It takes very little longer to prepare an interesting, well-balanced noon meal than it does to eat whatever the refrigerator happens to offer. Besides, with the "keep fit" program on throughout America, you owe it to Uncle Sam to make lunch as much as a "Victory" meal as breakfast or dinner. Here are three menu ideas that were planned and tested by the Safeway Homemakers' Bureau.

LUNCHING ALONE

- Grilled Open-face Cheese Sandwich on Whole Wheat—Stripped with Bacon
- Sliced Tomatoes with Favorite Dressing
- Baked Apple with Cream
- Oatmeal Cookies
- Milk or Tea

NOTE: It's well to be prepared for days when you chance to eat home alone. Cheese, bacon, and oatmeal cookies can easily be kept on hand; tomatoes can be scalded and stored in the refrigerator ready to peel; and extra baked apples make good solitary desserts.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S LUNCH

- Vegetable-beef Soup in Large Soup Plates
- Whole Wheat Crackers
- Peach, Pear, and Cottage Cheese Salad
- Whole Wheat or Enriched White Bread
- Butter
- Jam-filled Cup Cakes
- Milk

NOTE: With an hour or less for lunch, school children naturally want food to be ready the minute they get home and don't want to be bothered with complicated dishes. Soup, salad, and dessert meals like the one above are nutritious, quick to prepare, and easy to eat.

HE-MA- LUNCH

- Sliced Beef or Lamb Sandwich with Piping-hot Gravy
- (Use left-over roast; reheated gravy)
- Combination Vegetable Salad
- French Dressing
- Cup Custard with Crushed Fruit Sauce
- Molasses Cookies
- Coffee or Milk

NOTE: Husbands who come home at noon want food that will stay with them till dinner. Plan hearty entrees like hot meat sandwiches, casseroles, and scalloped dishes, and be sure there's one of his favorite desserts.

Prepare Now for V-I-C-T-O-R-Y AFTER VICTORY

The problem of changing from war work, after World War I, to peacetime production, plunged us into a long and grim depression.

Rural America felt this depression five years ahead of industry and business. We tried to warn labor and capital but they would not believe the warning and insisted the rainbow and the pot of gold at the end would last forever.

Finally, the bubble broke and the storm came. We had 12 million unemployed, the domestic market for farm production was gone, and even the smaller export market survived only when we loaned Europe the money to buy our products. Farm income was reduced, mortgages increased and many farmers lost their farms while industry, big and little, was at its wits' end to survive.

To Prevent a Worse Depression.
Our problem is to prevent even a worse depression at the end of this war. Every industry, big and little, has been retooled to produce airplanes, tanks, cannon and weapons of war. Millions and millions of dollars have been spent for this purpose.

When this war is ended it will take the same millions of dollars to turn these industries back to peacetime production.

Lessons of World War I.
We learned after World War I that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture prospers. We know now that our country cannot prosper unless agriculture, business and industry, and labor are all prosperous. Whatever our personal feeling may be, the fact remains that all of these groups taken together make up our domestic market which consumes over 90 per cent of our total production.

Labor can purchase its maximum of farm products if each worker has a permanent job at good wages. The employer can pay good wages if he has something useful to manufacture and some one has the desire and the money to buy it. Jobs at good wages depend upon an employer who is making the money necessary to pay the wages.

Farm Prices Reflect Good Business.
This makes it plain that with employers and business busy in useful undertakings, with all workers employed at good wages, farm prices will be good and consumption at its maximum.

The key to the situation is that employers shall have the cash money at hand to change from war manufacture to peacetime activity with the least possible delay when this war ends.

Our United States Senate is searching for a plan that will produce maximum revenue to the government to insure victory; provide a fund at the end of the war big enough and quickly enough to convert business and industry from war work to peacetime necessity, but without the government having to borrow and lend the money for this purpose after the war is over.

Here is a Simple, Practical Plan.
For the solution of all these problems there is one simple plan of outstanding practical value, based on the idea that war profits from all companies, big and little, should be used for this purpose.

The tax rate on war profits is figured at about 90 per cent. Business and industry, big and little, would be permitted, however, to deduct from their taxable war profits 20 per cent of such profits, provided the deduction is used to purchase United States Recovery bonds.

Recovery bonds would be a special kind of bond for this purpose only. Recovery bonds could not be sold or borrowed upon during the war, and neither would they pay any interest. They must be held by the purchaser until the end of the war.

The day the war is over these bonds would automatically start to bear interest, could be bought and sold, and become the same as any other government bond. The purchaser could sell them or borrow upon them to obtain the money to change his business and plant from war production to peacetime production when and as he needed money to do this job.

Profits for Peace-Time Recovery.
In other words, business, big or little, would be required to contribute 20 per cent of its own war profits to provide the money to change its own plants back to peacetime production.

The fairness and equity of such a plan is perfectly plain. Each company, by using 20 per cent of its own war profits to buy Recovery bonds, builds its own backlog to bridge from war production to normal peacetime activities. Big companies and small companies will buy in proportion to their size and needs until the war is over. In the meantime, our government receives the maximum in revenue to produce for victory, and we, the people, have established security against the worst depression of all time.

With such a plan adopted and in operation, we can all give our maximum to the war effort, secure in the fact that when the war is over we can quickly and safely go back to the paths of peace. The necessity for such a plan is so apparent, the evils of depression so grim and widespread that we, the people, can well afford to take time out to support our senators and congressmen in this effort to bypass another depression.

A Plan to Protect Agriculture After This War

For years the tragic results of the expansion of food-producing acreage during World War I has haunted American agriculture. Every farmer, as a matter of patriotism, interrupted his rotation of crops to produce food and more food for our armies and our Allies. Now again in World War II, to feed our soldiers and our Allies and to serve the special demands of war industry, we are dislocating our normal production as a matter of patriotic service. It seems plain that by the end of this war American farms will have created a tremendous surplus production power which ordinary peacetime requirements will not absorb. By the end of 1942 our overall average increase production over the average for the last 10 years will be more than 21 per cent. How then can American agriculture side-step a post-war farm tragedy even worse than that following World War I?

Experiments in Rubber and Other Products.

Our Government is now experimenting with domestic sources for rubber. Some sixty thousand acres are devoted to the production of guayule and its possibilities as a source of domestic rubber. Emergency plants for the production of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber from oil and alcohol are now springing into production.

We have learned how to make paper from slash pine and starch from potatoes. We are learning how to raise medicinal herbs which we formerly imported.

Denied the use of kapok which we imported from the East Indies and used in life preservers, we have discovered that the floss from milkweed makes better life preservers than kapok ever did. Factories have been built and several thousand acres are now devoted to raising milkweed intensively.

Already we are producing tung oil successfully. Thousands of acres will be needed before we can supply even our present domestic market.

Luckily, we have at hand the National Farm Chemurgic Council, an organization of research chemists from our several industries who compare notes and gain new enthusiasm in the research for new uses of old crops and new crops which can be cultivated in America. Our government has established regional research laboratories.

More than fifteen thousand different kinds of plants grow in the natural state in the United States. We use less than three hundred of these plants. Farm chemurgy will not be complete, nor the post-war problem of agriculture solved until every plant is re-examined in the light of modern science and made to serve its part in contributing to the comfort, happiness and security of our America of the future.

A Plan That Deserves Support.

The United States Senate is considering a plan which will require the use of 20 per cent of war profits during the war for the purchase of Recovery Bonds by each company in order to have available the necessary cash to quickly change their business and industrial plants back to peacetime activities at the close of the war and to adjust the employment of their normal number of factory workers.

This percentage of war profits could also be used in a broad plan of research by industrial chemists to develop new uses for products of the farm by our domestic industry. If our industry has the knowledge and the money in hand to convert an all-out war effort to peacetime production, maintain employment and launch the new products discovered by science, we have a reasonable chance to absorb our farm surplus even in the post-war period.

Depression hit our rural areas longer and harder than our industrial areas. Our hope for the security, happiness and prosperity of Rural America is at stake. If we can develop this practical plan for taking care of our surplus in the after war period, we can go forward unafraid in an all-out production effort for the winning of this war and in providing the food necessary for starving people in the after war period. We will know that we have provided an ever-expanding America with new crops and new uses. Worth thinking about.

Agriculture and Labor

"Agriculture has excellent reasons to take concern for the welfare of labor," says Wheeler McMillen. "The situation after the war is over will be of particular importance to farmers. Men earning good wages full time are much better customers than men without jobs. Men steadily employed under satisfactory conditions are far less likely than men without work to become the prey of men who agitate for strange kinds of government. Agriculture ought not, therefore, to develop hostility toward labor and toward labor organizations as such. A wiser course would be to try to use agriculture's influence for correction of those abuses which do no good either to laborers, farmers or the nation."

America's Real Stimulant

"In the United States, every man's value is determined by his activity, and every man is given the opportunity to develop his abilities. An American's real stimulant and pride consist in being a self-made man, in fighting, and in winning the fight."—Javier Prado.

The relationship of these invaluable contacts in the future administration of the Governor's office is of vital importance and will merit first consideration among thinking voters on election day.

New Mexico's economic life will be vitally affected in the critical war and post war period decisions made in Washington. Dempsey, as your Governor, pledges that New Mexico will secure recognition when Federal aid must be secured if we are to retain maximum efficiency in our schools, the maintenance of our highways and development of natural resources.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

My dear Jack:

It is with regret that I have received your letter of resignation as Under Secretary of the Interior. I appreciate the valuable and distinctive services that you have rendered in two important administrative posts, and I am confident that, in leaving the official family, your interest in Federal problems will not lessen.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Under Secretary of the Interior,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Jack:

It is with regret that I learn the President has accepted your resignation as Under Secretary of the Interior. However, as I further understand you are to run for Governor of New Mexico, I wish you the best of luck.

Your departure from official life in Washington will be a distinct loss, felt the more keenly by those of us who have been closely associated with you in recent years.

Your administrative judgment and business ability have been missed by the Maritime Commission since you resigned as a Member to become Under Secretary of the Interior.

Your broad experience in, and understanding of, national affairs certainly will prove most valuable in your further service to the people of your own state.

I join with your host of Washington friends in wishing you the future success you so justly merit.

Honorable Jack Dempsey,
Under Secretary of the Interior,

Dear Jack:

I have noticed in the press that you are resigning as Under Secretary of the Interior to become a candidate for Governor of New Mexico.

Through my association with you while you were a member of the House and while you have served as Under Secretary of the Interior, I have come to deeply regret your leaving Washington.

While a Member of the House you diligently and ably looked after the interests of your State and as Under Secretary, in a larger and broader sense, you have represented all the people of the entire United States.

Of course, I wish you well in your race for Governor.

THE RESIDENT COMMISSIONER OF THE PHILIPPINES
TO THE UNITED STATES
WASHINGTON, D. C.

June 24, 1942.

The Honorable
John J. Dempsey
Santa Fe, New Mexico

My dear Jack:

Having just been officially informed of your resignation as Under-Secretary of the Interior, I want to take this opportunity to express to you my appreciation and the appreciation of the Philippine Government for the interest you have always taken in Philippine matters during your incumbency.

Furthermore, I feel that it is only fair to make of record the spontaneous and disinterested service and the efficient help you have given our country during all the time that you have been holding important positions in Washington. As a member of Congress and of the Committee on Insular Affairs, you helped pass the Philippine Independence Act, which was one of the greatest events of our national life. Later, you visited the Philippines for the inauguration of the present Government.

As a member of the Maritime Commission, just prior to the outbreak of the war, you gave us unlimited assistance in the difficult work of procuring adequate tonnage to transport our products to this country. Later, in the Department of the Interior, you helped me most decidedly in my efforts to obtain a substantial loan for the Philippine Government to finance the sugar crop and otherwise alleviate the crisis caused by the shortage of beetroot.

Anticipating this conflict, I recall, you were one of the few in Congress who voted three separate times in favor of providing appropriations to strengthen the defenses of Guam.

In view of all this, it is a sincere pleasure to thank you for all of your courtesies and kindnesses in the past, and to wish you the best of luck in all future undertakings.

With kindest personal regards, I am,

Sincerely, your friend,

THE SECRETARY OF COMMERCE
WASHINGTON

Dear Jack:

I am sorry not to have had an opportunity to see you before you left Washington, but I have been out of the city for ten days.

I am sorry you are leaving. Our associations when you were in Congress, when you were a member of the Maritime Commission, and later when you were Under Secretary of the Interior, have always been most pleasant.

You are one of the best public servants that it has been my privilege to meet and know. I shall miss you, but wish you a continuation of that success with which you have always been blessed.

Dear Jack:-

Please accept my thanks for your letter of recent date congratulating me on my successful fight to raise the minimum base pay of the men in our armed forces to $50 a month.

I remember your splendid support of veterans' legislation during all the years of your service in the House, and your letter of congratulation shows that you still retain a most sympathetic interest in the defense of our country.

As a Member of the House, you had a 100 per cent record in support of legislation in the interest of World War veterans and their dependents. The millions of ex-service men and their families throughout the country owe you a lasting debt of gratitude for your loyalty to their cause.

With kindest personal regards and my very best wishes, I remain

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

Louisville — Because she had treated them so handsomely while entertaining them week ends, four Fort Knox soldiers gave a party for Mrs. J. H. Edmondson of Louisville at a hotel and gave her a cup inscribed "To Our Darling Mom." "They are like real sons to me," she said. "They called me up on my birthday and sang, 'Happy Birthday,' and reversed the charges just like your own children would do."

When the Scranton, Pa., city pound picked up Chee-Chee, a Belgian shepherd, it earmarked her for induction at the Army dog-training center. Soon after she was put behind bars to await shipment, she produced a family of four pups. Chee-Chee has been deferred.

At Stockton, Calif., signaling for a left turn can be a painful chore. Mrs. Colombo Fanucchi, bicycling downtown, held out her arm to signal. The arm went through the open window of a passing automobile and was broken.

Where there's smoke—! That's what the Kansas City, Kan., fire department thought, too. Pulling up to Armour's packing plant, the firemen found smoke billowing from a whole corner of one of the buildings. They grabbed their hose and axes—and broke into the smoke house.

The Caldwell, Idaho, city council, studying superfluous ordinances, found one law providing a $2.50 payment to the first teamster to reach the fire hall after the alarm sounds. They're repealing it in haste, before someone starts cashing in.

At Salt Lake City, all is confusion in the Chamber of Commerce office. An applicant for enlistment in the Navy gave as his reason "I got sick of Salt Lake City."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Unlysses Robearge of Los Angeles were rather apologetic about accepting that $100 bond for having the largest family at a patriotic rally. "I just wish we could all have been here," said Mrs. Robearge. Only fifteen attended; three of the older children couldn't make it.

Bloomfield, Ind., redheads, beware: You'd better keep out of the woods during the squirrel-hunting season. Auburn-haired Mrs. Dexter Days, 19, is in a hospital recovering from bullet wounds—fifty-three pellets entered her body from face to ankles—suffered when an unidentified hunter spied her through trees and mistook her for a squirrel.

Wichita, Kan., auxiliary police men, practicing traffic direction at a downtown intersection, had expert coaching. A group of small boys kept up a steady barrage of criticism and instruction. They were members of the school system's junior traffic patrol.

At Arkansas City, Kan., the Selective Service Board always gets its man. Glenn N. Houston was making an ocean trip when his questionnaire, after a long delay, caught up with him. He filled it out, then added a note: "I'm in the Army, fighting the Japs in the Southwest Pacific."

Sam Weinstein, Dallas, baker, blames the war for his $25 fine for selling loaves of bread that were too large. State law prescribes sixteen-ounce loaves; one of Weinstein's weighed 19 1/2 ounces. He said his baking pans were too large—and he can't get priorities to buy smaller ones.

At Fargo, N. D., Mayor Fred Olsen, attending the North Dakota water conservation meeting was called upon to make a speech. "My remarks to the water conservation group will necessarily be brief," the mayor said, explaining that he had to get home to pump out his flooded basement.

The Marines have the situation well in hand on the recruiting front too. They enlisted Irving Paul Adams and Shannon Lowell Doss at Little Rock, Ark., after the two had worked six months as civilian clerks in the Army's recruiting office.

Theodore Osuchowsky of Philadelphia doesn't like Indian givers. He cashed a fellow shipyard worker's paycheck, then set up drinks in a taproom. Afterward he found the check had been taken from his pocket. Policemen arrested Osuchowsky's friend trying to re-cash it in a store a few blocks away.

Seattle police tried to have an auction, but it was too successful. "How much am I?" began Sgt. Harvey O'Brien, holding up one of several unclaimed tires. He never finished his question. In a few seconds the bid was up to $6. "Wait a minute," begged the sergeant. "I bid $7," yelled a woman. "Wait, there's a ceiling. I can't accept more than $4.45." "To hell with the ceiling," a woman shouted. "I bid $7.10." Police called the whole thing off and gave the tires to the rationing board.

Ardmore, Okla., Farmer J. B. Pettit went out to plow, but harvested a honey crop instead. A swarm of bees settled on his plow. Calmly he scrapped the bees into tin pails. Now the swarm buzzes and manufactures honey in a hive he made for it.

Any Reading, Pa., woman who can lift a twenty-eight pound plank, balance herself on a stepladder and swing a paint brush can pass the entrance exam of a school Warren F. Ruth is starting. Ruth, a paperhanger, says his male employees have left for the war—so, girls, the line forms on the right.

When the Tennessee Valley Authority completes its giant Fontana Dam in 1944, there won't be any Japan—that is Japan, N. C. The unincorporated mountain town will be fifty feet beneath the waters of Fontana reservoir. Japan is in Graham County near Bryson City, N. C. TVA officials don't know how the village came by its name.

A Los Angeles employe reported to police the theft of a 16-gauge shotgun. From the information desk of Aimee Semple McPherson's Angelus Temple.

They'll ask the Seattle police to make him walk, next time. Twice now pajama-clad Jimmy McDaniel, 3, has scooted away from home before his parents awakened in the morning. The last time, police found him two miles away on a borrowed tricycle. Said his mother: "He's thrilled to death at his ride home in a police car. We're afraid he may make a habit of it."

No, the Connecticut Highway Department marker, greeting what tourists there are left on the Ethan Allen Highway, isn't transplanted Russian signpost. It reads "Naromiyoknowhosunkatankshunk Brook," and it's an Indian word meaning "Water from the great hills."

At Spokane, Wash., Patrol-car Officer John Domit drove away after tagging a woman motorist for running through a traffic light—and she pursued him. He stopped. The woman smiled brightly and handed him the flashlight he'd left on her running board. Domit tore up her ticket, and she drove away—pursued by Domit. Domit handed her the purse she'd left on his running board while he was tearing up the ticket.

Director Frank Schade of the New British (Conn.) Fresh Air Camp announced proudly that 175 children gained a total of about 800 pounds during the camp season. Then he checked up on himself. He'd lost six pounds.

Trainsmen arriving at Conocidia, Kan., from Frankfort discovered a car was missing. The freight train had broken at Frankfort and in recouping the crew overlooked a car of tools which had derailed and rolled down an embankment.

You won't believe it, but—S. D. Pitts, a bee-fancier at Memphis, Tenn., came home and found a swarm of bees in the backyard. Excited, he got down on hands and knees to search for the queen bee so he could hive them. The bees swarmed right spang on the seat of his pants.

At Chattanooga, Tenn., Mary Nesbitt, a 17-year-old carrot top, can beat men at their own games, but her favorite hobby is jitterbugging, and she loves to cook. The willowy Miss Nesbitt is one of those natural athletes you read about, to whom male competition holds no fears. Mary has pitched four games of softball for a man's team in a city league, winning two. In addition Mary has pitched her team to two exhibition game vicories. A year ago she moved to Chattanooga and, failing to find a girls' team handy, started playing softball with neighborhood boys' teams. From there she was recruited by one of the men's clubs in the city Class B loop.

More than 100,000 members of the American Legion are back in active military or naval service in World War II, and more than 300,000 sons and grandsons of Legionnaires are serving with the nation's armed forces, says Brig. Gen. James A. Drain, past national commander. General Drain estimates that 60 per cent of all local draft boards are members of the Legion.

Lt. Paul Franken has donated to United States Army men at battle stations comforts purchased from royalties from his mother's play, "Claudia." He said Rose Franken was contributing half the royalties of her play touring the Australasian capitals.

"How's your father coming along with his dairy farm?" "Grand. He makes all the cows sleep on their backs." "What's the idea?" "So the cream will be on top in the morning."

One large company has made plans to salvage some four million pounds of waste paper this year.

American Bluejacket Now One of Best Paid Fighting Men in World

(This is the third of a series of four articles designed to give the readers of this newspaper a clear, concise picture of the naval service and to aid the men eligible for military service in making their decision as to which branch of the nation's military service can best use their talents.)

The American Bluejacket is now one of the highest paid fighting men in the world. The new pay bill has greatly increased the pay for every rating in the Navy.

Below is a scale which shows the base pay for each rating:

Apprentice seaman, $50; Seaman, second class, $54; Seaman, first class, $66; petty officer, third class, $78; petty officer, second class, $96; petty officer, first class, $114; chief petty officer, acting appointment, $126; chief petty officer, permanent appointment, $138.

Under the new law, apprentice seamen, seamen second and first class, and petty officers third class may contribute for their dependents $22 a month from their pay. To this amount the government will add $28 a month for a wife, plus $12 a month for the first child and $10 a month for each additional child. For other members of the family, who are proved to be dependent, the government will also contribute $15 a month for one parent, $25 a month for two parents, and $5 for each other family dependent up to a total of $50.

But what about the apprentice seaman who has no dependents, say a young man of 19 or 20? He will draw $50 a month for the first two months, then he is automatically advanced to seaman, second class, with a raise in pay to $54 a month. By the end of his first enlistment, he can receive seven consecutive pay raises and promotions, and be earning several times as much as when he signed up.

In addition to this, he—as well as men of all ratings in the Navy—is furnished quarters or allowances for quarters; wholesome, hearty meals, the best medical and dental care in the world, comfortable bunks to sleep in, rugged outdoor activity—that sort of life will keep any man in fighting trim and ready for anything.

You won't have a chance to go "stale" in the Navy. You'll have your share of recreation, too. He-man sports that will put in shape, keep you on your toes. And the finest men in the world for your shipmates. Men you'll be proud to work with, live with, serve with. Men you'll be proud to call your pals.

The fourth and concluding article of this series will appear in an early issue.

Glider School—

training will begin at the airplane school with a four-week dead-stick landing course, one of the most interesting and worth-while types of aerial training. Upon completion of this training these Class A students will receive two weeks of instruction in glider flying at a glider school.

The two-week glider course will be given to all students. The first week of gliding will be in sailplanes of the type that has broken all national distance and altitude records. These planes can fly hundreds of miles across country and reach altitudes up to 20,000 feet. The second week will be devoted to the use of operative-type gliders, with emphasis on airplane towing, formation and night flying.

All applicants accepted for glider training will be enlisted in the Army Air Corps as privates, with flying pay. They will be rated as Aviation students, and will be eligible for $10,000 Life Insurance policies at Government expense for the period of training. These policies may be continued at the holder's expense after graduation.

Many innovations in glider flying have been made to convert this onetime king of sporting thrills into a capable military weapon. The full possibilities of motorless flight are still in the exploratory stage, both for military use now and for future peacetime aviation. Those who will help—and benefit by—this progressive branch of the Army Air Forces will be glider pilots who are training now. The Army Air Forces offers new flying and fighting opportunities as a glider pilot in the Army of the United States.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig Cornett left last Thursday for Santa Fe, where on Friday and Saturday they attended the annual convention of the New Mexico Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons. They stayed over Sunday to attend the annual Fiesta and returned home that night.

Accomplishments of the local chapter of the Junior Red Cross the last year were reviewed at high school assembly this morning by C. D. Marshall, principal, who also is chairman of the organization for North Eddy County.

Want Him As Their Representative

in CONGRESS

New Mexico will elect two Congressmen this year. Naturally many of the thinking people of our State are wondering about these men who are asking to represent us in Congress.

Our country is at war. Our country has got to win this war. The type of men we elect to represent us in Congress will play a great part as to how long it will take us to win this war.

W. W. Nichols, one of the candidates for Congress, believes that politics should be taken out and sensible, efficient business judgment should be put behind our war efforts.

We the undersigned business men and stockmen have known W. W. Nichols personally as an outstanding citizen of our county and state for the past thirty years. Mr. Nichols worked his way while attending college and has had legislative experience.

He is honest. During his thirty years experience with the public no one has ever questioned his integrity. He is capable. He has the courage of his convictions and sound judgment. He knows New Mexico, its people and its problems.

We believe Congress needs more men of this type, and we especially need W. W. Nichols representing us from New Mexico.

A. H. F.

All of us know the meaning of A. E. F. and R. A. F. However, there is another important alphabetical war unit—the A. H. F., meaning American Home Front.

Every woman has a big job on the American Home Front. She must plan her meals to conserve food and electricity. She must conserve her electrical appliances, which can not now be replaced.

By maintaining the A. H. F., you are cooperating with your government to win the war.
