LIVING COSTS RISE
ONE PER CENT DURING WAR
Living costs were one-half of one per cent higher on Dec. 15 than on Nov. 15, 1942, bringing the total rise for America's first war year to 9 per cent, according to the Department of Labor.

"Since the outbreak of war in Europe, the increase has been 22.1 per cent," Secretary of Labor Francis Perkins reported. "That compares with almost 35 per cent during the same period of the last war. The costs of the goods and services under OPA control rose 13 per cent from mid-November to mid-December, while prices of goods and services not subject to OPA advanced 2 per cent."

The beginning is often indicative of the end without reference to what comes between.

Inductees Preferring Navy Will Be Given Chance to Declare Choice

Inductees who actively prefer Naval service will be given preference in the choice of men for that branch of the armed forces, according to Lt. B. G. Manley, officer in charge of the Navy Recruiting Station in Santa Fe.

No promises as to branch of service may be made to any prospective or actual inductee, he explained, but the Navy, in general, will continue to prefer men who desire that branch, provided they are physically and otherwise qualified.

Preference also will be given registrants who apply for induction ahead of their regular draft order, expressing their desire to enter the Navy.

Lt. Manley emphasized however, that Navy quotas are currently limited, and as a result some inductees preferring the Navy may not be able to enter that branch of service.

The February ratio for inductees will assign about four men to the Army for every one chosen for the combined Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps.

Men entering any branch of the armed forces through Selective Service will be processed at a consolidated induction center, at which they will be given an opportunity to express their preference of branch.

They will be chosen for the various branches by a joint selection board of officers, on the basis of their qualifications, their preference of service and the quotas allotted each branch.

The Navy also is taking a limited number of volunteers from the 17-year-old group. Voluntary enlistment of men 38 years old and more is likewise open, especially in the Seabees, Navy construction battalions.

SECOND WARNING IS ISSUED AGAINST SALT ANTI-FREEZE

In his second warning in two weeks against use of anti-freeze solutions made of salt or petroleum distillate by the motorists and truckers of the Rocky Mountain region, Asa J. Merrill, regional motor transport manager for ODT, called attention to analyses of the National Bureau of Standards showing such solutions may result in costly damage to engines and radiators.

"One of these solutions, made with common salt, has been distributed widely in the mountain region," Merrill warned. "I urge every motorist and trucker with such a solution in his radiator to empty it at once. Serious hazard to the transportation system of the region can result if these solutions are widely used."

WARNS TRUCKERS TO COOPERATE

Unless there is "greater voluntary cooperation" by the trucking industry with the Office of Defense Transportation's program for interchange of information to reduce empty mileage, the government may have to take over the routing and dispatching of motor truck traffic, Jack Garret Scott of Washington, ODT general counsel, has warned.

Scott made the statement at the annual convention of the Colorado Motor Carriers Association in Denver.

He put squarely up to the carriers the responsibility for accomplishing the mileage savings necessary to pull motor truck transportation through the war emergency and cautioned that unless many competitive practices within the industry are discontinued, further mandatory action may be necessary.

BANKS AND THE WAR

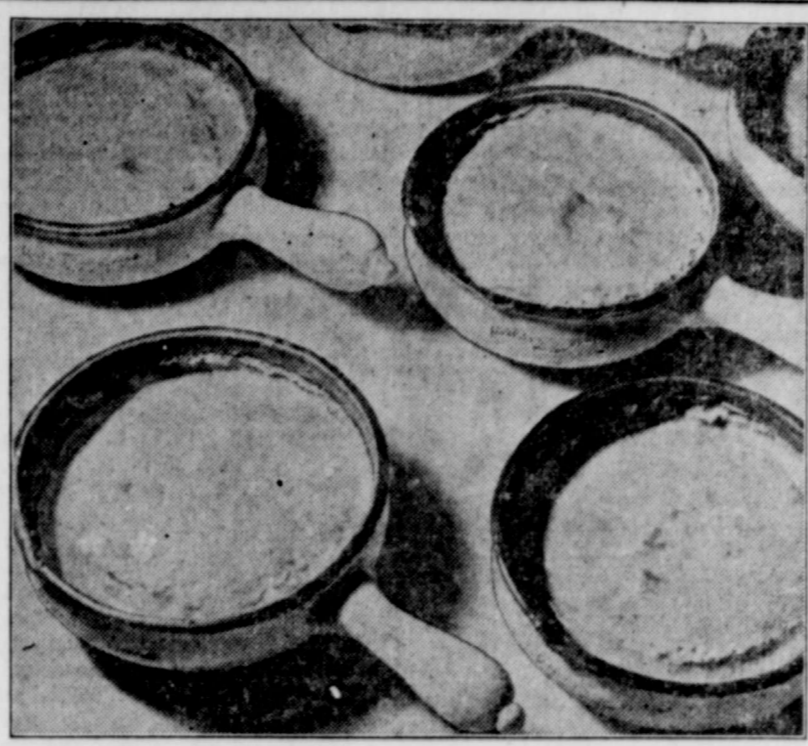

Live Without and Like It

THIS is the meaning of total war—that the home front and the fighting front pull together. It is not enough that men fight, and give their lives. This will be in vain unless the millions of Americans at home fight and give with them. Would you jeopardize Victory for a cup of coffee and another lump of sugar, for a tire and another gallon of gas? Would you want to hear again from some far-flung military outpost the words of defeat, "Too little and too late"? Or are you willing to drive less, drink less, eat less of certain foods, in the sure knowledge that we can achieve total victory only through total war?

* A Design for Better Eating

SYMMETRY, like the balanced arrangement above, is important in menu-planning, because both sides—the budget side and the nutrition side—must balance. Eating well for less money is every housewife's problem, and one way to help insure intake of vitamins is to get more into desserts. The Coffee Spongettes, above, are economical and patriotic because they use little sugar and that less-than-a-cup of leftover coffee you might once have thrown away. They're nutritious because they're rich with wholesome eggs and milk—two prime body-builders. Help your family to better nutrition, and help yourself to this tested recipe:

Coffee Spongettes

2 egg yolks
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup flour
1/4 cup hot leftover coffee
2 tbsp. butter or margarine
1 cup milk
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Combine egg yolks, sugar, salt, and flour. Add butter to hot coffee and when melted stir into first mixture. Add milk; fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered custard cups or ramekins; bake in pan of hot water in moderate oven (375°F.) until firm and golden brown, about 25 minutes. Serve hot or cold. Serves 6

SAFEWAY Homemakers' Guide

Five minutes earlier for your health's sake

If cutting down on breakfast is a question of time, and it usually is, then set the alarm for a little earlier than usual and take time for a nourishing meal. Much of the preparation can be done the night before such as having table set, the batter with the exception of melted shortening mixed for hot cakes, waffles, or muffins, or having the biscuits in their pan and waiting in the refrigerator.

PATTERN FOR BREAKFAST

If your breakfast pattern has been upset by the rationing program, remember that this meal can still be a well-balanced one. Fruit, cereal, bread in some form and that one cup of coffee supply energy, vitamins, minerals, and calories, and that grand satisfied feeling.

FRUITS

Whole fruits such as sliced oranges or baked apples are more filling and have more lasting qualities than fruit juices. Unstrained juices have the same advantage over strained juices. Vary the fruit in some way each day, and don't have too many repeaters. For example, serve apples baked, as a sauce, or fried.

CEREALS

There's a kind for every taste. Vary them from time to time for interest, and alternate cooked cereals with ready-to-serve ones. Molasses, honey, corn syrup, maple-flavored syrup and fruits and fruit sauces add a pleasant change to cereals, and help the sugar bowl too.

BREAKFAST BREAD

Toast is the morning standby, but here, variety is welcome also. Serve toast plain, as French toast, cinnamon toast, or toasted jelly sandwiches. Enriched bread gives extra vitamins that we all can use.

Women In Artesia Community Are Needed In Red Cross Work

Surgical Bandages

Workers are needed badly to fold bandages in the surgical dressing room in the Ward building, which is now open.

The rooms, in charge of Mrs. Zane Smith, who is replacing Mrs. Fay Hardean in this capacity, are open from 9 to 12 and 1:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday and from 7 until 10 o'clock Monday and Thursday evenings.

Mrs. Smith announced that the quota for the next two months is 50,000 bandages and 27,000 the quota for this month, which means at least 1,000 should be folded each day. She also stressed the fact that these bandages are for the boys in the U. S. armed forces and that 90 per cent of them are to be made by Red Cross chapters with materials furnished by the Red Cross.

Every woman in the Artesia community is urged to give as much of her time as possible, so that the Artesia quota will not be late and so that all boys on all the fighting fronts may be supplied with the needed bandages.

Knitting

Yarn for the knitting quota has also arrived and knitters are needed badly.

Those wishing to volunteer services may contact Mrs. Herbert Aude, chairman of Red Cross knitting, at 203 West Dallas, or phone 418. If it is impossible to call for the yarn, Mrs. Aude will see that it is delivered.

All garments are for the boys in the armed forces.

Home Service Kits

There is still material for a few more home service kits at the Red Cross office in the Artesia Hotel. All kits should be made and turned in by Thursday, Feb. 25.

When the course is successfully completed all aids volunteer their services to hospitals without pay for a minimum of 150 hours a year.

Wise Selection Of Foods Furnishes The Essential Vitamins

Vitamins are attracting everybody's attention these days—yet vitamins are not even mentioned in the official nutrition food rules of the government.

Groceries are still "groceries" to Uncle Sam. Very wisely, the government's nutrition program, designed to encourage the eating of healthy foods, has avoided the pitfalls of highly technical discussions of food elements.

The government isn't trying to make nutrition experts out of housewives or grocers. Instead, through the official food rules chart, it is furnishing the grocer, the homemaker and her family with the practical application of the complex facts of nutrition—in simple, understandable form.

The chart lists the kind of foods which are needed every day to build and maintain health. Grocers are urged to stock and promote the sale of these government-recommended foods. Housewives are urged to buy them. And every man, woman and child is urged to eat them. It's as simple—and important—as that.

Prominent in this list of government-recommended foods are cereals made from whole grain or values. "Restored cereals" are restored to whole grain nutritive simply cereals to which vital nutritive elements—thiamin (vitamin B1), niacin and iron—have been added, restoring the original whole-grain food values of these elements. These ready-to-eat cereals are the same, tasty, appetizing food so long familiar to the American family. They're the same except that they've acquired additional food value through the magic of nutritional science.

Milk and fruits—there's nothing technical about those words—also appear on the government's nutrition food rules chart. And that means that when you combine ready-to-eat cereals with milk and your favorite fruit, you're getting three types of essential nutritional foods recommended for daily consumption by your government.

YOUR JOB AT HOME

Now that men—and women—all over the country are taking shifts in war plants, homemakers are becoming lunch-box conscious. The vital thing to remember when packing these boxes is to provide a balanced meal, in easily handled form. Sandwiches are necessarily the backbone of any "itinerant" meal. And because they do go into the lunch box every day, vary them.

A little imagination is a good substitute for a well-stocked shelf of sandwich spreads. You're familiar with the family's tastes and what food values in season, a light sweet of some sort, and piping-hot coffee. When a worker's been moving at a win-the-war-through-production rate, nothing will hit the spot like a cup of good coffee. It will pep him up, dispel fatigue, and refresh him—if it's good coffee. And if it's coffee! No filler or adulterated properties of coffee. Don't mistake the coffee that is available at your ration coupons by adding cereal or some other foreign substance. You'll just ruin your coffee you can get and be wasting your ration allotment. Buy a member, too, to read the label on the package of coffee you buy. If it's not all coffee, it must be so marked. But even it's only part coffee, it counts for all coffee on your ration ticket. Be sure you're getting your fair share. In making coffee for lunch boxes—or for regular meals—measure water and coffee accurately. These days coffee is too good to waste.

Don't throw away smeared pieces of bar soap when the floor becomes hard to handle. It's the steady put them into a glass jar, and add water. The next time you wash dishes you'll have a convenient liquid soap.

The Kitchen Front

Cook vegetables in their skins—save the valuable vitamins!

It is simple enough to conserve both vitamins and minerals of the root vegetables by cooking in their skins. Carrots, beets, turnips, sweet potatoes, potatoes and so forth may be scrubbed, cooked in a heavy pan or kettle with a minimum of water; bring water to a full boil, then reduce the gas flame to simmer and cook vegetables until pierceable. Keep the pan tightly covered, of course. Skins may be slipped off easily before seasoning and serving.

Many Attend Farm Meeting Last Evening

M. Gilmer of the regional office of the Farm Security Administration at Amarillo last evening advised the farmers of North Eddy County to get together and cooperate in working out figures of farm labor which will be necessary here this year, when he spoke at a meeting in regard to the 1943 Triple-A program at Central School. The meeting was to have been held at the Artesia city hall, but it was moved at the last minute to Central School, when more than 200 farm men and women showed up, far more than could be accommodated at the city hall. Gilmer suggested that after the farmers of North Eddy County have arrived at a labor figure, setting forth the absolute requirements for the area this season, that the FSA be contacted. The FSA in turn, he said, will try to find a way to provide the labor. Fred A. Barham, Eddy County agent, showed two movies, "Food for the Home Front" and "The Battle Is In Our Hands." He also explained rationing and how farmers may go about meeting their war goals. Frank Seeman, chairman of the Eddy County USDA War Board, talked on changes in the 1943 program from the 1942 program, war goal allotments and crop insurance requirements. The 1943 range program was explained by Roy Forehand, range member of the AAA office.

The Artesia gin has handled 2,855 bales and the Española gin, 2,996 bales up to this morning. McAnally said there will be some ginning scattered out probably for the next ten days. Charles Rogers, manager of the Farmers Gin Company, reported 2,600 bales of cotton ginned and said there remains about one more day's ginning to be done sometime within the next few days. MR. Arizona state law requires locomotive to sound steam whistles at grade crossings.

Which would be fine except that no modern locomotive has a steam whistle. Rep. W. C. Rosenbaum of Gila County told legislators. They use air whistles. He's introducing a bill to make 'em legal. An Astorian who prefers anonymity is rounding up some more paper money to bake in his oven. It multiplies that way. He hid some bills there once. They were badly charred, so he sent the remnants to the treasury department. And

Eddy County Farmers Need Not Be Hampered for Want of Funds

Eddy County farmers are mobilized for war production and those who can add to their output of needed supplies need not be hampered in doing so for lack of funds, according to Paul W. Ball, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration.

"No American farmer," said Ball, "should be hindered by lack of operating funds this year. Banks and private credit institutions are expanding their credit facilities to fit food production requirements and the federal government has ample credit facilities to meet the particular needs of farm and ranch producers."

The county supervisor said assistance can be given to the Farm Security Administration to those farmers who lack the required security for other loans but whose family labor and land could be put to fuller use in the war program if the funds were available.

He said that funds are immediately available to small operators for the purchase of farming equipment, feed, seed, livestock, household needs, building repairs, for land rental, clothing, necessary medical care, sanitation facilities and many other needs.

"Farm Security Administration loans this year," he said, "are being directed especially to any small farmers who with such financing can become qualified as essential farm producers, under the war-unit rating, by adding to their livestock or poultry or increasing their production of war-rated crops."

Farm and ranch operators who cannot get adequate financing from any other source are urged by Ball to contact him immediately at his office in the courthouse at Carlsbad. Ball can also be contacted on each Wednesday of each week at the city hall or the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association office in Artesia. He cautions against delay in making application for loans because this is the year of all years when operators should have their money on hand at the moment it is needed.

Delinquents Have Until Feb. 15 To Clear Charges

The general public has lent wonderful support to local boards in assisting them in locating registrants in their board areas who are delinquent, Brig. Gen. Russell C. Charlton, state director of Social Security, said.

A survey, which was just completed, shows that there are still many men who are subject to military training who cannot be located, mostly for the reason that they have failed to report their change of address to their local boards. The greater majority of these cases are caused through lack of knowledge of the Selective Training and Service Law, yet this is a violation just the same, and as such is subject to the penalty of the law, which is a fine of $10,000, five years in the penitentiary, or both.

The government has extended to Feb. 15, the time allowed these registrants to report to their boards and clear their delinquency charges. In the meantime the public is asked, as a patriotic duty, to report the known whereabouts of any delinquent registrant to his local board.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Richards went to Socorro Tuesday, where they expected to close a deal for some real estate in that area. They were accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Fannie Bruton.

AYACUCHO, DECISIVE BATTLE FOR LIBERTY

At a time when heroic deeds of the battlefield are adding pages to the glorious tradition of American bravery, the anniversary of the Battle of Ayacucho on Dec. 9 recalled to Americans throughout the hemisphere an epic struggle which brought to a successful conclusion the long wars of independence and terminated Spanish rule on the American continent.

A South American statesman once said that the fight for American independence began at Lexington on April 19, 1775, and ended at Ayacucho on Dec. 9, 1824.

By December of 1824, Spanish forces clearly had their backs to the wall. Bolivar had routed them in Venezuela and Columbia, San Martin and O'Higgins had liberated Chile and pushed up the coast to Lima, Peru. General Sucre was now readying his troops for the climactic struggle, after having defeated the Spaniards at Pichincha in Ecuador.

Strategic planning by Sucre and Bolivar placed the patriot army on the high plain near Ayacucho in central Peru. Across the valley the Spanish forces camped in full view. As the morning of Dec. 9 dawned, General Sucre reviewed his troops, distinctly inferior in numbers. From their position retreat was impossible and they all knew they must win or die. Sucre cried to his men: "Upon your efforts today depends the fate of South America. This shall be a day of glory that will crown your long struggles."

Inspired by the thought of final victory and complete independence, the patriot army charged. They wavered. Riding in front of his infantry, 24-year-old General Jose Cordoba dismounted, killed his horse with his sword, and shouted to his soldiers: "I now have no means of escape; we must fight it out together." When asked by his men with what step they should advance, Cordoba replied with the immortal words which live yet today in the hearts of Latin American youth: "What step? Forward, with the step of conquerors!"

Furiously the patriots charged up the hill, forcing the Spaniards to retreat. After fierce fighting, Viceroy La Serna and his general, Canterac, were captured and the battle was over. South American was emancipated. Bolivar said of Ayacucho: "Just as Waterloo decided the destiny of Europe, so Ayacucho decided the destiny of America."

General Sucre and his officers received the defeated leaders in a spirit of honor and courtesy. The terms as agreed upon permitted the Spanish generals to keep their

Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned From Many Sources

When the Roswell fire department was called out to a fire in a house the other afternoon, they picked up one of the men and carried it around for a while. Finally his conscience got better of him and he set it on the ground. Later when he was out, he went out to the hen, and there was the hen, sitting on the side of the fire. It took some persuasion to get the hen from returning to the station with the boys. They had roast hen at the station for the past few days either.

John B. Pickett, the 6-foot-10-inch former director of the new State Safety Bureau, has been released from his temporary position as stamp clerk in the State Liquor Control. Pickett was released Jan. 15, in what is said to be an economy move. He was placed on the staff on a temporary basis several months ago when there was need for added staff.

Why the Navajo Indian arrived at Gallup the other day with an Army of supporters, the result of mutual interest of a non-Navajo-speaking Navajo and a non-English-speaking Navajo to get together. Pinned to his chest was a note of interest in the Navajo language, ending, "Will someone date the first time on the first train notice. Use 'Lahachukal.'" The Navajo application it came all right—although consideration of it is fifty miles from any State. Engaged on the Navajo Reservation of February.

State's first fur sale of this year brought in $5,950.11. Beaver brought $3,735, an average of $1.10 a pound.

The U. S. Marines have authorized opening of a district recruiting induction headquarters in Santa Fe for New Mexico and seven other counties, including El Paso.

John J. Dempsey says that the sale of the government to the facilities of the New Mexico State Mines for military purposes did not contemplate discontinuance of the institution. He noted on reports from Socorro that the chamber of commerce protested any plans to close school. Excess space at the school, Dempsey said, might be used by the government to reduce taxes and maintain the school.

The fifth consecutive month the Mexico Series E bond purchases have exceeded their quota, the savings staff reported. Primary sales reports indicate the bond total reached $1,193 in January. The quota set $1,700,000.

Gasoline tax collections in January representing December sales, totaled $246,588, a 45.06 per cent increase from January, 1942. State Engineer Burton Dwyre the drop in collections would be a 65 per cent decrease in use to the road fund as compared with a year ago.

New Mexico school children salute the flag and pledge allegiance under penalty of expulsion. Georgia Lusk, state school superintendent, said. She said the board of education had renewed its stand on saluting, and had moved to raise the salaries of teachers in the lower income brackets, and adopted a policy of issuance of war emergency stamps. The board authorized authorities to expel students refused to salute the flag and allegiance when required to do so by governing authorities, Lusk said.

Appointment of Floyd W. Lee as director of New Mexico reclamation on the executive committee of the National Wool Growers Association was announced last week.

Robert L. Bates, member of faculty at New Mexico School of Mines, has just published a section of "The Oil and Gas Resources of New Mexico," covering reports of substantial deposits and exploitation of the resources in the state. The report, largest ever issued by the State of Mines and Minerals, points out that one of the most significant developments in the state has been the drilling of deep test wells in San Juan and Lea counties.

Commissioner H. R. Rodden outlined a four-point program for the sale of state lands. These points were: lands shall be sold to persons who are interested in lands, and who are interested in land sales will be kept absolutely at a minimum; no land of any nature shall be sold to any person unless it is first determined that the monies received from them can be safely and profitably invested, and until it is determined that the purchaser will pay a price for the lands which shall be satisfactory to a committee appointed by the commissioner to appraise the lands. Rodgers' policy announcement was made public in a letter to Frank Rand, Santa Fe publisher, who attended a recent conference on land sales as a representative of the New Mexico Press Association.

B. B. Manley, in charge of the district Navy recruiting station, announced the elimination of El Paso and seven Southwest Texas counties from the Santa Fe recruiting district. Manley also said selective service inductees who actively prefer naval service would be given preference in the selection of men for that branch. Preference also will be given registrants who apply for induction ahead of their regular draft order.

"Scott's Scrap Book," a syndicated daily cartoon by R. J. Scott, last week disclosed the area of Italy as about the same as New Mexico. On the same day a picture of the bell in San Miguel Mission, Santa Fe, was pictured, with the notation it probably is the oldest bell in the United States.

Price ceilings were lifted Saturday on Indian handicrafts. S. M. Graf, state OPA director, announced. The exemption, Graf said, would affect 1,200 silversmiths, 10,000 Navajo blanket weavers, 500 Indian basketmakers, several hundred Indian potters and numerous other Indians who make ties, jackets, moccasins and belts. "Not only is the price ceiling on these products unfair to the handicrafters, who may depend upon the income for a bare subsistence," Graf said, "but it also presents a problem of enforcement incapable of solution, due to the home-and-hand-work nature of this native industry."

Representatives of marketing cooperatives in New Mexico will meet in Albuquerque Feb. 11 to consider organization of a federal cooperative marketing association for New Mexico. Plans for the meeting are being worked out by Glen Grisham, Farm Security Administration area supervisor. Expected for the meeting are delegations from Taos and San Juan Counties and from cooperatives in Socorro, Valencia, Torrance, Otero and DeBaca Counties and from the Espanola Valley Cooperative Exchange, the Sacramento Valley Cooperatives Association and the House Potato Growers Association.

The Diamond A Ranch of Roswell won first prize last week on fine wool in the annual wool show held in connection with the fortieth New Mexico Wool Growers Association Convention at Albuquerque. Among the other awards was second in fine French combing wool, which went to Jess Corn of Roswell.

Floyd B. Rigdon, publisher of the Carlsbad Current-Argus, was named first vice president of the National Rodeo Association in the final session of its annual convention in Oklahoma City last week. The association named Ernie Barnett, Del Rio, Tex., as all-around cowboy for 1942, which carried with it an award of $315 and a silver-mounted saddle.

The New Mexican said, that state auditor's records showed the suspension of payment of $112.50 a month to D. A. McPhearson, Jr., Albuquerque district attorney who is on duty with the Navy in Hawaii. A $200 monthly assignment by McPhearson to acting district attorney Quincy Adams was continued "in effect," the paper said.

VITAMIN QUESTION BOX

Q. Can vitamins make me more attractive?

A. Vitamins can't give you curly hair or a perfect figure, but they can mean a softer, clearer skin if your troubles are caused by vitamin deficiencies. Good health, one of the best beauty aids, is often reflected by an improved appearance.

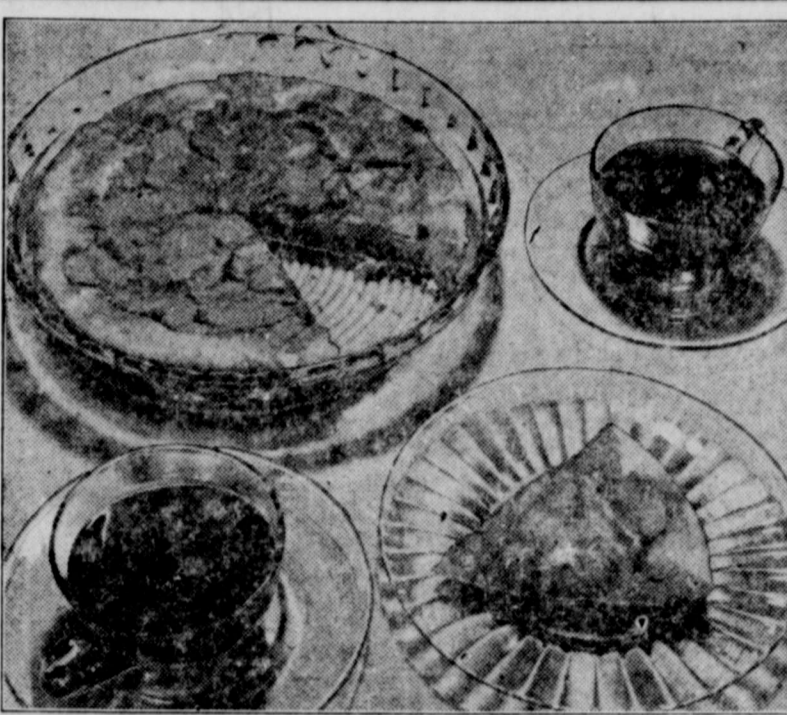

Q. What vitamins do we need?
A. Daily minimum requirements established by U. S. authorities have been officially adopted by the medical profession for six vitamins—A, B, C, P-P, C and D.

Q. Are minerals essential?
A. Minerals, like vitamins, are essential food constituents. Least likely to be abundant in your daily diet are calcium and iron. Phosphorus is important, too.

Q. What can be done when children refuse to eat?
A. If a child is well otherwise, a "picky" appetite can often be materially improved by supplementing meals with vitamins and minerals in tablet form.

Do you have questions about vitamins and minerals? Get the answers by writing to the Vitamin Question Box Editor, Grand Central P. O. Box 667, New York City. New Mexico has eight of the 616 squadrons in the Civil Air Patrol, organization of "flying minutemen" helping defend the nation. This was shown in a report on CAP activities, submitted to the House by Representative Summers. His figures showed the national enrollment Oct. 31 was 62,979. Now, he said, the number is about 67,000. New Mexico had 326 enrollees. Maj. Harllee Townsend, Jr., is New Mexico wing commander.

At Daytona Beach, Fla., the patrolmen knew their prisoner, arrested for disorderly conduct, had a penchant for running away, so they handcuffed him before putting him in the police car. Sure enough, while they were stopped to investigate a street argument, the prisoner dashed into the night. Before another night had passed, in came their prisoner to the police station, asking that the cuffs be removed. He had filed them down so deep he couldn't file them farther without cutting his wrists. The cost of the handcuffs, $15, was included in his $35 fine.

Thomas A. Edison—Feb. 11, 1847—Oct. 18, 1931 A Man to Remember When Production Means Victory

Today—on February 11, 1943—nearly a hundred years after his birth, the memory of Thomas Alva Edison burns as brightly for all Americans as the incandescent lamp which he invented. Today, the lights which guide our boys on land, at sea and in the air... the lights which enable our war plants to go full speed ahead... the lights in our homes and schools and on our streets are the descendants of Edison's great invention. In these—and in a thousand other ways—the achievements of Thomas Edison are helping to speed America's Victory... to make peace more worth the winning.

Mail Restrictions To Men in Navy Are Announced

Delivery of parcel post packages and unnecessary second and third class matter to servicemen overseas has been restricted by the Navy with the release of new rules designed to save cargo space for important war materials, the Eleventh Naval District headquarters announced. The restrictions are similar to those issued recently by the Army.

While recognizing the importance of mail in the lives of men in the service, it has become impossible to increase cargo space for mail because of limited sea and air shipping space, Navy officials said.

In announcing the new postal regulations, Navy officials pointed out that the use of V-mail affords fast, safe, mail service and represents a saving of 80 per cent in cargo space over ordinary mail.

Designed to insure prompt service and to save cargo space, the new restrictions are:

Parcel post packages in the future will not be accepted which weigh more than five pounds and measure more than fifteen inches in length and thirty-six inches in length and girth combined. Only one such parcel will be accepted in one week.

Inappropriate second and third class matter such as advertising circulars will not be forwarded to men overseas.

The Navy also called attention to the order which prohibits the forwarding via parcel post of any perishable matter to men on foreign duty.

Santa Fe System carloadings for the week ending Feb. 6, were 20,834, compared with 22,310 for the same week in 1942. Cars received from connections totaled 12,067, compared with 9,622 for the same week in 1942. Total cars moved were 32,901, compared with 31,932 for the same week in 1942.

Santa Fe handled a total of 30,136 cars in the preceding week of this year.

Believe it or not, but the story in going around that a detail of eight enlisted men was assigned to move the post library at Camp Davis, N. C. The men carried out the assignment, but left one book. Its title was: "You Can't Take It With You."

Two young men from Artesia, Cadets O. R. Gable, Jr. and Bob Pistole, were members of a recent class at Randolph Field, Tex., which sent another large group of fledgling warbirds into the air. In about fifteen weeks they will receive their pilot's wings. At that time some of the graduates will enter single-engine schools as potential fighter pilots and those destined to become bomber pilots will be enrolled at twin-engine schools. Cadet Gable is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Gable of Artesia. He attended North Texas State Teachers College, where he was photographer for college publications. He spent four months in the Field Artillery before entering the Army Air Forces. Cadet Pistole, 21, is the grandson of Mrs. William B. Pistole of Artesia and formerly was an aircraft assembly worker in Burbank, Calif.

Pvt. Jose M. Estrada, son of Mrs. Maria M. Martinez of Artesia, is one of a number of newly-inducted selectees who have arrived at Fort Knox, Ky., for training at the Armored Force Replacement Training Center preparatory to duty with the newest and fastest-moving land force of the Army. For the first six weeks of the twelve-week training period the men will be taught the fundamentals of soldiering. During the second six-week period, the men may find themselves in one of the following companies: Special training, light tank, medium tank, scouting and patrolling, mortar, anti-tank, machine gun, assault gun, reconnaissance. Upon graduation from the training center, most of the men will go into an armored division, while those showing exceptional ability will be sent to the Armored Force School at Fort Knox to become technical specialists.

Ensign Richard W. Wheatley, 29, of Artesia is among 478 Naval Reserve officers scheduled to graduate today from the indoctrination school at the U. S. Naval Training School, Tucson, Ariz. He and his fellow graduates were to be addressed today by Capt. John H. Skillman, (SC), U. S. N., officer in command of the Eleventh Naval District Supply Depot at San Diego, Calif. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Wheatley of Artesia, Ensign Wheatley was an engineer for a power company in San Diego, Calif., prior to entering the naval service as an officer. He graduated from Artesia High School in 1931, and later studied at Occidental (Calif.) College, receiving a bachelor's degree in 1936. While attending Occidental he lettered in track.

Revival at Assembly of God With Pitts Is In Fourth Week

The fourth week of the revival at the Assembly of God Church at Fourth and Chisholm Streets is bringing continued interest, as Wayne Pitts, traveling evangelist, holds meetings at 7:30 o'clock every evening.

The revival will continue through this week and possibly longer. The Rev. Orel Boteler, pastor, has extended a cordial invitation to the public to share in the meetings.

Springfield, Mo., is holding its breath, waiting to learn what citizen will receive its 1942 man-of-the-year plaque. The breathing may be delayed quite a while, too, the chamber of commerce admits. It can't get a plaque.

Planning a "Victory Garden," Work to What Fred Barham Says

Fred A. Barham, Eddy County Agent

Success in garden growing the best of seed secured from the sources should be planted. There is any doubt about the growing they should be care-tested before planting time. The garden should be near the house for convenience, and also be able to irrigate water. Select a well drained mellow site or loam soil for the garden. Low, wet, heavy soil is bad. If soil is adobe, it may be improved by a heavy application of manure. A soil dark in color, by reason of plenty of decomposed matter in it, is preferred. A dark soil warms up quickly in spring, holds moisture well, and furnishes an abundance of food for growing vegetables. Select a spot that has a good exposure and is away from growing trees. Vegetables should be planted in the early morning sun. Be sure to choose a place for a garden that is more than two feet deep and shade the ground. Select the garden spot, remove the rubbish, manure it with a spade or shovel. Winter manure will assist in the decay of manure and will leave the bed mellow for spring planting. Take a rich soil to grow good garden vegetables. Annual manure of barnyard manure should be made to keep the soil in the state of high production. It is best when the manure is applied in fall and plowed under. Two hundred pounds of stable manure to the square rod, or 30 tons per acre is about right. If manure is used, care must be taken not to use too much. It is probably impossible to use commercial fertilizer this year, as little is available. If barnyard manure cannot be applied in the spring, a smaller quantity should be used and it should be well rotted before it is applied. It is not possible to plow the garden until spring, plow or spade it eight inches deep and work surface down immediately with row, drag, rake, or hoe. This fills up the air spaces, holds moisture, and firm the seed before planting.

Gardens in most communities in Mexico will profit by protection from sweeping winds, either by a board fence or a break of trees and shrubs. If trees and shrubs are to be used, they should not be located so close to the garden as to cause serious competition, and the break itself is, of course, undesirable. If only a limited amount of manure is available, it is possible that breaks should be made of brush rather than of trees. On a whole, however, trees, or a combination of trees and shrubs, should be used, and if a good garden break should be planted less than 75 to 100 feet from the garden.

What Is Income Tax?

WHO MUST FILE A RETURN
Every single person must file a Federal income tax return whose gross income for the year from all sources was $500 or more; that is, as much as $9.62 per week. Widows, widowers, divorcees and married persons separated by mutual consent are classed as single persons.

Every married person, living with husband or wife throughout the year, must file a return if his or her gross income, together with any income of the spouse, was as much as $1,200 for the year; that is, as much as $23.08 per week. If husband and wife both have income, they must both make a return. Such return may be made separately, or, if they are both citizens or residents, they may make a joint return. A joint return may be made by husband and wife even though one has no income, and a joint return is advisable in the case of persons, one of whom has no income, who marry during the year, since the personal exemption attributable to each spouse during the period of pre-marriage status is allowable in a joint return.

A return if his gross income is equal to or greater than the amount specified above for his classification, not even the President of the United States, the vice president, federal judges, or members of Congress.

Moreover, all income from whatever source, unless specifically excluded by statute, must be reported in the return. The types of income specifically exempt are listed in the instructions accompanying the return form.

A person whose gross income does not exceed $3,000, and consists wholly of salary, wages, dividends, interest, or annuities, may make a simplified return on Form 1040A, in which the tax due may be readily ascertained by reference to a table contained in the form.

A husband and wife living together on July 1 of the taxable year may file separate simplified returns if the gross income of each is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3,000, or they may file a single joint return on that form if their combined income is from the prescribed sources and does not exceed $3,000. A taxpayer may not, however, file a simplified return if the other spouse files a return on Form 1040.

AP PRICE CUT TO . . . IMPROVE SALVAGE GRADE

In order to speed larger quantities of better-grade, quickly handled iron and steel scrap to the mills for conversion into the elements of war, the value of mill scrap, mixed junk has been raised to a ton, L. J. Todhunter, regional salvage manager for B, reports.

The action was taken by the Office of Price Administration by raising the ceiling price for miscellaneous scrap. The reduction was made in an effort to encourage preparation of mixed junk by breaking into the more than 100 different types of metals and by combining light sheet metals into blocks for easier handling by mills.

The result of this action is that scrap dealers of the mountain region will not be able to pay farmers and others of the public as high prices for miscellaneous junk they have been paying," Todhunter said.

Notes for the production of replacement parts for farm machinery have been increased materially, the A. Miller, regional director of the War Production Board, reports.
