North Eddy Is Still $20,000 Short in Second War Loan

Staff Hopes to Exceed $225,000 by Friday Evening, When Campaign Closes—Workers Hard at It

With only one more day to go after today before the end of the Second War Loan drive, North Eddy County has yet to subscribe about $20,000 in order to meet the arbitrary quota of $225,000, L. B. Feather, War Savings Staff chairman, said this morning.

Local rationing boards have been empowered to invoke suspension of mileage rations for speed law violators, it was announced by S. M. Graf, state director of the Office of Price Administration.

Boards Receive Power to Revoke Speeders' Gas

The director said that heretofore his agency has been powerless to act when the speed limit of thirty-five miles an hour was broken, but that enactment of speed limitation by the Legislature put teeth into the OPA orders.

One Child Killed, Another Badly Hurt by Cars

One Spanish-American child was killed and a second was critically injured in the Artesia community within twenty-four hours over the week end when run over by automobiles.

Georgia Rivas, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rivas, sustained two skull fractures and severe lacerations, when struck and run over at the intersection of Sixth and Main Streets by an automobile driven by Marshall Denney of Hagerman about 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Edwain and Joseph McGonagill, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McGonagill, students at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, arrived home Wednesday evening for a short visit with their parents.

Miss Ann Crouch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Crouch, also a student at the university, is expected home today.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were her Friday from Fort Stockton.

Mr. Cooper's wife, the former Vera Taylor, daughter of Will Taylor, and their four children live at Maljamar.

A/C Arlee Reno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reno, came home Wednesday on a two-week furlough from Ellington Field, Tex., where he just completed pre-flight navigation.

The scrap collection will be carried out by means of a detachment of 120 men and 30 to 40 trucks, under the command of Lt. Herman Harper. The group will start in at Carlsbad for South Eddy County about May 15 and then will move about a week later to North Eddy County, with headquarters at Artesia, where the men will camp.

It was brought out at the meeting by W. B. McCollum, executive secretary for New Mexico of the War Production Board, that the location of scrap in each community will be up to local committees. When it is located by the local people, the Army men with their trucks will go out and bring it in.

Also at the meeting last evening was Capt. L. P. Bloodworth, state advertising man for the campaign. Capt. Bloodworth, former secretary of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce, is well known in Artesia.

Representing North Eddy County were W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools; Arba Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; J. J. Terry, county commissioner.

The local representatives said Lt. Harper informed them that any entertainment Artesia people wish to sponsor for his detachment while working in North Eddy County will be welcome.

Changes in Faces at Local Postoffice

A "back-to-the-soil" movement at the Artesia postoffice has brought about not only new faces there, but an appeal by Jesse L. Truett, postmaster, that patrons help by seeing that correspondents address their mail properly, for the benefit of the entire force and its efficiency.

Replacing them are Mrs. Mildred Rule and Miss Anna Lopez, while Thurman Northan has been added to the force as a carrier.

The vacating of the regular clerk jobs automatically promoted to the position of regular clerk J. D. Roberts, who is on military leave.

The postmaster said there are no further vacancies at the postoffice at the present time.

In regard to proper addressing of mail, Truett said that because of the great amount which is being handled, it has reached the point where it would be difficult for experienced clerks to remember all the names of postoffice patrons, and it is more difficult for new help.

It is necessary, he said, to request that correspondents be asked to give the address at which local recipients of mail wish to receive it, using box numbers, street numbers, route, general delivery and the like. Otherwise, Truett said, he and the clerks cannot be responsible for deliveries.

School Budget Maintenance in Artesia Hiked

Total for Artesia Set at $138,013 For Year 1943-44

The budget for the Artesia schools for the 1943-44 school year was increased Saturday to $138,013 from the current budget of $127,993, at a meeting in Carlsbad Saturday of school officials with R. H. Grissom, state educational budget auditor.

The chief item of increase was for teachers' salaries, hiked from $65,057 to $76,332, which provides for an increase of approximately 15 per cent, as well as one additional teacher.

Total for the maintenance budget was set at $108,138, an increase from the present year's $95,355.

For Eddy County the maintenance budget was set at $460,000, increased from $390,160 for the current year. The principal increases in the county at large were for additional teachers and increased teachers' salaries of about 15 per cent.

While the sinking fund for the Artesia schools was made the same as a year ago, $16,000, a decrease was made in the direct charge budget from $16,638 to $13,875.

Approval was given to increase the Carlsbad schools' maintenance budget from $151,020 to $184,716, while essential increases were allowed in teachers' salaries, boosted from $108,850 to $132,177.

The Artesia schools were represented at the hearing by W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. L. B. Feather and Glenn W. Booker, members of the Board of Education.

Also attending from here was H. G. Watson, budget commissioner for North Eddy County.

Three Oil Wells, One Gasser Are Eddy Producers

Four new wells were added to the production list in Eddy County during the last week, one of them a gasser and the others oil wells.

The gasser was the Willis 1 of Sudderth & Hicks in SE SW 14-20-28, which was drilled to a total depth of 887 feet and gauged 4,670,000 cubic feet.

Oil well completions: A. S. Woolley, McIntyre 4-H, SE NW 3-17-30; total depth 2,985 feet; flowed 110 barrels of oil per day after shot.

R. R. Woolley, Arnold 4-B, SW NE 26-16-30; total depth 3,196 feet; flowed 114 barrels of oil per day after shot.

Dave Williams Is Well in an Italian Camp

Flight Officer Dave P. Williams of the Royal Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams of La Huerta, Carlsbad, and brother of Mrs. Kenneth Williams of Artesia, was reported last week to be well and comparatively happy, under the circumstance of being a prisoner of the Italians.

The information came through Lt. Alan Stuyvesant of New York from Ankara, Turkey, as he was set free in an exchange of British and Italian prisoners of war.

Lt. Williams joined the RAF in May, 1941, before the United States entered the war. He went with the RAF flyers to Cairo about a year ago and operated from there.

In a letter received two weeks ago by his parents, Williams said he was taken prisoner by the Italians last July, when his plane was shot down. He said he sustained no injuries. He also mentioned that the prisoners of war rely on the American Red Cross for packages, which now are arriving after long delays.

CLASPILL BOUND OVER ON FORGERY CHARGE

Jesse C. Claspill, 18, was bound over to the action of the District Court, when arraigned Tuesday afternoon before J. D. Josey, justice of the peace, on a charge of passing forged checks. His bond was set at $500.

It was alleged Claspill passed two forged checks, both bearing the name of Lock Foster and one cashed at the Mann Drug Company store here and the other in Carlsbad.

J. B. (Shorty) Cooper Reported Dead in Asiatic War Theater

J. B. (Shorty) Cooper, rancher and oil field worker in civilian life, died in the Asiatic theater of war about March 21 in the defense of his country, according to a message last week from the War Department, it was reported by his sister, Mrs. Roy Phillips of Fort Stockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips were her Friday from Fort Stockton.

Mr. Cooper's wife, the former Vera Taylor, daughter of Will Taylor, and their four children live at Maljamar.

A/C Arlee Reno, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Reno, came home Wednesday on a two-week furlough from Ellington Field, Tex., where he just completed pre-flight navigation.

Blue Food Stamps For May Valid This Week Also

Blue stamps "G," "H" and "J," totaling forty-eight points, in War Ration Book Two, which became valid for the purchase of processed foods April 24, will be good throughout the month of May, the New Mexico Office of Price Administration announced.

Blue stamps "D," "E" and "F," which have been in use since March 25, expire on April 30.

This means that blue stamps "D," "E" and "F," the April series, and "G," "H" and "J," the May series, all will be valid from April 24 to the end of the month. A similar "overlap period" was provided toward the end of last month, when the "D," "E" and "F" blue stamps for April were validated on March 25.

The purpose of the overlap period is to make it easier for housewives to shop toward the end of the month when their family books may lack a sufficient number of ration points to buy items they need.

'All-Out Revival' Of Churches Is Drawing Crowds

The first week of the "All-Out Revival," in which five of the Artesia churches are cooperating, is bringing out good-sized crowds, not only at the church services, but at cottage meetings for women and uptown meetings for men each morning.

Members of the Ministerial Alliance said more than 100 persons have been attending the combined men's and women's meetings in the mornings. There are nine of the latter in various parts of the city from 10 to 10:20 o'clock each day Monday through Friday.

The men are meeting from 9:30 to 9:50 o'clock each morning on the same days in business houses. Both types will continue through Friday of next week.

Businessmen's services were held Monday at McClay Chapel, on Tuesday at the C. G. Morrison & Company store, on Wednesday at the Purdy Furniture Company store and this morning at The Hub.

The meeting tomorrow morning is to be at The Advocate office and on Monday at the Sprouse-Reitz store. Meeting places have not been selected beyond Monday.

Revolving services are being held at 8 o'clock each evening at the Church of the Nazarene, First Presbyterian Church, First Christian Church, First Methodist Church and First Baptist Church. The revival will continue through Mother's Day, May 9.

The pastors of the Baptist and Methodist Churches were fortunate in obtaining the services of visiting pastors for their "All-Out Revival" services and are having meetings also at 10:30 o'clock each morning. Dr. McKinley Norman of Dallas, Tex., is preaching at the Baptist Church and Dr. T. Edgar Neal of Vernon, Tex., at the Methodist Church.

Evangelist to Speak Sunday at Men's Mass Meeting Here

Dr. McKinley Norman, state evangelist of the Baptist Church for the state of Texas, and who is in Artesia for the "All-Out Revival," will address a union mass meeting of men at the First Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Work Starts in North Eddy

Work started this week on the roll board which will carry names of men and women of North Eddy County in the armed and auxiliary organizations who are serving their country in World War II, and the committees of the Artesia and Rotary Clubs is anxious to complete as quickly as possible a complete list of names.

Members pointed out that only names will appear on the roll board, with no designation as to respective branches of the county.

Though ample space will be provided on the board to add new names as more men and women enter the service, it is desired to complete the list as early as possible before the board is closed. To this end, the committee members ask that the names of persons whose names should be inscribed be sent in as soon as possible.

AN AVIATION CADET WRITES HIS UNBORN SON "Preflight," Maxwell Field, Ala., publication, recently printed a letter written by Aviation Cadet Robert A. Keyworth, 25-year-old

Dear Son, I have no way of knowing as I write this that you, my yet unborn child, will be a boy.

The country which in a few short weeks will claim you as one of its newest citizens is fighting for its existence.

Twenty-five years ago when I was born, the world was also at war. I grew up during the peace that followed, totally unaware of the pain and sacrifice that had gone into the winning of that peace.

In this matter, my son, my ignorance equalled by ego. This was the state of mind I found myself in when the men who now seek to destroy my country—and yours—plunged my world into the horror of total war.

I speak to you across the years which lie between us so that you will not be a partner to the derision and contempt in which many of your contemporaries will inevitably hold my generation.

Even as I write these lines, the dreams of many are fading in their hearts, supplanted by the nightmare of war and all that war can mean to a man and a woman.

For these dreams of ours, and of the men and women who came before us, built this country, made your country, my son, the last asylum for the decent man who desires not the sun but only a chance to work for a place in it.

There are so many things I had planned telling you when you and I first began to talk—man to man—how I met your mother and how I loved her with all my heart from the first wonderful moment.

Forgetting all else, my son, if you choose, remember what I say to you now. The army in which I am a soldier provides a chaplain's corps to minister to the spiritual needs of men in uniform wherever on the globe they may find themselves.

... The knowledge that I cannot be close to your mother when you draw your first breath gives me the greatest anguish I have ever known.

My faith allows me to look forward to the wonderful years that will come for us with victory and to the good things we will share together. God grant that this will be so.

Men in Classes II-A and II-B May Be Replaced

The manpower shortage, due to mislocation, is now acute. Consequently, employers who now have employees deferred in Classes II-A and II-B will be expected to replace the greater portion of such registrants within a reasonable time, New Mexico Selective Service headquarters announced.

It is the responsibility of the employer to undertake and maintain a training program for individuals who, due to dependency, physical condition or sex, are not expected to be inducted into the military service, to replace those persons now eligible for military service who are carried by Selective Service Boards in Classes II-A and II-B.

Replacement schedules of big corporations, such as aircraft, tank, shipbuilding and other like wartime industries, are, through replacement schedules and training programs, replacing as high as 65 per cent of the men classified in II-A and II-B during the next six-month period, and 85 per cent during the next year.

New Mexico, not having many industries of sufficient size to warrant replacement schedules, must handle this matter on a basis of individual Forms 42-A.

It will be necessary for the Selective Service System in New Mexico to begin taking persons in Classes II-A and II-B as rapidly as can be absorbed without injury to the effectiveness of the essential activities in which they are employed.

State headquarters realizes the entire group cannot be withdrawn, as many, such as doctors, dentists and skilled professions, cannot be replaced due to the fact that the length of time required to train such persons prohibits the employer from training a replacement.

However, employers are warned that registrants who are replaceable and should be replaced under the policy of the Selective Service System and who are now in Classes II-A and II-B, will be withdrawn at a much more rapid rate than in the past, and it is the employer's responsibility to have replacements trained and available when these men are taken into the armed services.

Bill Paris Is One of OU Seniors Developing New Wood Waste Plastic

Bill Paris, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Paris, a senior chemistry student at the University of Oklahoma, Norman, is taking part in research, which not only is interesting, but which may prove to be profitable in the war effort and commercially, the conversion of sawdust into useful plastics.

Recently he sent his parents a disc of plastic, similar in appearance to hard black rubber, which seems to be extremely hard.

Working under Robert Hardin, young Paris and two other students are helping to develop the new process, which promises to be profitable and commercially practical.

The process consists, roughly, of digesting wood with acid under temperature and pressure, drying, grinding and mixing with chemical binders and molding.

The utilization of wood waste is not confined to the use of sawdust, as chips from the trimming of lumber, edgings, slabs and other waste wood also can be used, as long as they are free of dirt and bark.

Outstanding value of the use of such wood waste, Prof. Hardin pointed out, is the fact that it is abundant, is widely distributed and is available at low cost.

Such plastics can easily be made in dark colors, as the acid, or aniline digestion turns the wood residue of the digest to dark brown or black, Paris and his associates have found. However, when pure wood cellulose alone is used and certain precautions are taken in the process, a variety of colors can be made. This fact already is utilized in several commercial plastics, where pure wood cellulose is used for a filler for the wood plastic.

OLD-TIMER COMES BACK HERE ON SHORT VISIT

George Foster, one of the early pioneers of this locality, who now lives at Flagstaff, Ariz., was here last week over the week end renewing old acquaintances and looking after property.

He came here in 1898 and punched cattle on the open range. He later filed on a section west of what now is Artesia, which place he still owns.

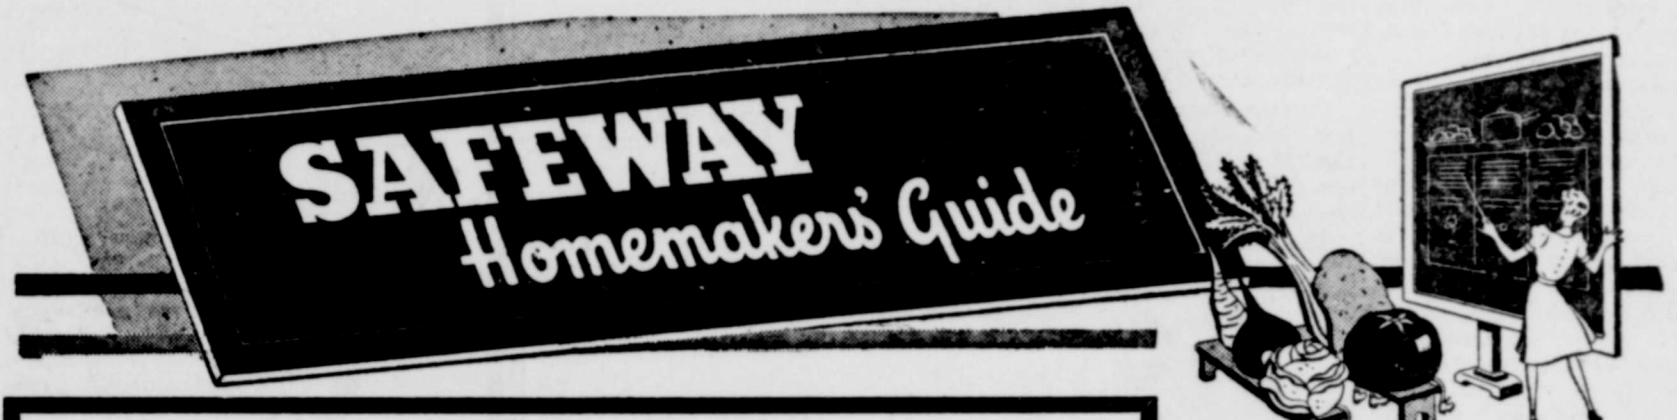

Paris and Earl Stafford, both senior chemistry students, are studying the use of bois d'arc and blackjack oak, while Miss Freda Mae Meyer, the third of the trio of experimenting students, concentrates in the manufacture of a cheap, commercial plastic from yellow pine.

The Forest Products Laboratory at Madison, Wis., is interested in the work of Prof. Hardin and the three seniors, as the government experimental station is confident that the processing of wood for plastics, as being developed at the University of Oklahoma, has a definite future, as other plastics still are too expensive to warrant the manufacture of large articles from them.

SAFeway MEATS "LIVER? SURE IT'S GOOD!" One thing you may have discovered during these past weeks is that frequently your meat men had good quantities of such items as liver, kidneys, hearts, sweetbreads, brains. One way you can cooperate in the war effort is to learn more about these relatively unfamiliar cuts. Many of them may be new to your table—but they all have the high nutritional value of meat—and can be deliciously prepared. Remember, on the bottle front and the home front, meat is a fighting food. Pointwise pointers on vegetables. Camouflage vegetables in casserole dishes, in souffles, omelets, or serve them in over-size salads and as ample garnishes. MIXED VEGETABLE TAMALE—Combine 2 or more kinds of cooked, drained, diced vegetables in a well-greased casserole, season with salt and pepper and top with a layer of corn meal muffin batter. Bake in a hot oven (400° F.) for about 25 minutes or until done or topping is golden brown. CARROT STUFFED ONIONS—Fill uncooked onion cups loosely with shredded raw carrots, season, and steam with a small amount of water in a Dutch oven or tightly covered sauce pan. Serve with the main course as a vegetable and garnish. VEGETABLE SALADS—If the salad is generous enough in size, it may serve as both the vegetable and salad. Raw vegetables, of course, preserve all of the valuable minerals and vitamins. The flavor and texture of cooked vegetable salads are heightened by the inclusion of at least one raw vegetable. A CHANCE TO SCORE YOURSELF Use Julia Lee Wright's "Check Yourself Quiz on Vegetable Cookery" in this week's Family Circle to see how you score. It also gives valuable information on getting the most from canned, frozen and fresh vegetables. The Family Circle is free at Safeway.

Miss Mary Lou McConnell Bride of Collis McKinney in Portales Sunday

A marriage of interest to people in the Artesia community was that of Miss Mary Lou McConnell to Collis McKinney at the First Presbyterian Church in Portales at 8 o'clock Easter Sunday morning.

Miss McConnell, a niece of Mrs. R. G. Knoedler, formerly of Artesia now of Clovis, who made her home with her uncle and aunt the last several years, is a graduate of Artesia High School and was active in young people's work at the Presbyterian Church here.

The church in Portales was beautifully decorated in a profusion of flowers, with an archway arranged of tulips, snapdragons and ferns.

The bride was lovely in a white taffeta wedding gown, with which she carried a bride's bouquet of Easter lilies and white sweet peas, tied with white satin ribbons. For something borrowed she wore a string of pearls, an heirloom bracelet for the something old, and a lucky sixpence was placed in her slipper.

Mrs. Clinton Hastings of Portales, matron of honor, chose for the wedding a pink gown and carried a bouquet of lavender sweet peas. Miss Frances Knoedler of Clovis and Miss Bonnie Poff of Portales, bridesmaids, wore blue chiffon dresses and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas.

Mr. McKinney was attended by Quincy Nelson of Austin, Tex. Ollie McGaha and James Johnson of Portales were the ushers.

Proceeding the entrance of the wedding party, Miss Margaret Harlan, accompanied by Mrs. J. O. Anderson at the piano, played several appropriate violin numbers, and Mrs. Edwin Cain sang "Because" and "At Dawning." The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" was played by Mrs. Anderson, as the bride entered the church on the arm of her uncle, R. G. Knoedler, of Clovis who gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Knoedler and Mrs. T. E. Livingston were the adopted mothers for the morning, as mothers of the bride and bridegroom reside in Illinois and South Carolina respectively and were unable to attend.

A reception was held immediately after the wedding at the Woman's Club building. A lavender and yellow color scheme was carried out in the room decorations. Several piano numbers were given by Miss Beatrice Owen. The wedding cake was cut by the newlyweds and served by Mrs. Charlie Little, with Miss Norabeth Easley presiding at the coffee table.

Receiving the guests were the bride and bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Knoedler, Miss Bess Dohoney and Mrs. Livingston. Miss Mary Robinson was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. McKinney attended Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, after graduating from Artesia High School, and has been a member of the faculty of Lindsey School, Portales, the last three years.

After Sept. 1 the young people plan to make their home near San Francisco, Calif., where Mr. McKinney will enter a Presbyterian ministerial college.

ONLY GOD CAN GIVE - BUT HITLER CAN TAKE AWAY THE SACRED RIGHTS OF MOTHERHOOD!

Let's get the truth about the "Master Race" from this sensational expose of life under the Nazis... life in which love is but a tool of the State; where hate and fear and force stalk the romance of every girl and boy!... It's drama such as you've never seen before, from the flaming book, "EDUCATION FOR DEATH."

Based on an amazing and factual account of the educational perversions in which the German youth of today is being drilled, RKO Radio's "Hitler's Children," which will be shown at the Valley Theater Sunday through Tuesday, presents a romantic dramatized version of this account in a manner that promises to electrify every audience with its revelations.

Tim Holt, Bonita Granville, Kent Smith, Otto Kruger and H. B. Warner head the cast of this unique offering, inspired by Gregor Zierner's best-selling "Education for Death." Smith plays the head of the American Colony school in Berlin and Miss Granville that of his American pupil and later his assistant, with young Holt as a German-American youth imbued with Nazi ideas—ideas, however, which do not keep him from falling in love with the girl.

As Hitler's "Herrenvolk" teachings become more widespread, the girl, because of her German descent, is taken from the school and sent to a labor camp, while Holt, now an officer of the Gestapo, interferes with Smith's efforts to rescue her.

Matters reach a crisis when the girl, unable to endure the barbar-ity of the Nazi scheme of things any longer, runs away from the camp. The boy, held partly responsible for her actions, is forced to supervise the flogging to which she is sentenced as punishment—but he too rebels at this cruelty, and is himself sentenced to death. How the boy seeks at the last moment to redeem himself and warn his former associates of their folly, provides the powerful climax of this sensational offering.

Otto Kruger as a Gestapo sponsor for Holt, and H. B. Warner as a heroic outspoken German bishop are also featured. Erford Gage has a strong role as a drillmaster for German youth. Lloyd Corrigan has a sympathetic role of impressive sort.

Mrs. Walter Dube of Brady, Tex., spent the Easter holidays here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mahon.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Raver of Estancia spent a few days last week with Mrs. Raver's brother, Ralph G. Roberson, and family. Mr. Raver, a former construction employee, was inducted into the Navy Saturday.

Miss Mary Emmons who has been an apprentice operator at the A. T. & S. F. office here the last six months was transferred Wednesday of last week to Becker, N. Mex., where she has a full time position.

From where I sit...
by Joe Marsh

Friday nights, a bunch of us fellows all get together over at Bill Webster's place.

We don't play cards; we don't sing or carry on.

We just sit quietly over a glass or two of beer and talk about world affairs and local politics, and what not.

You mightn't think that just setting and talking would be so much fun. But it is.

And it's wonderful how friendly talk over a glass or two of beer can bring out the best in people—good sense, for instance, and good fellowship, and tolerance.

From where I sit, there ought to be more of this quiet talk over a glass of beer. Helps folks understand each other—and be more friendly to each other in these trying times.

Student at University of Mexico Calls Rationing Liberal

Why, you people know what rationing is." is what Philippe Meyer, an old refugee engineering student at the University of New Mexico, said when he returned from Paris, France, after a long trek to America.

African Troops Find Thrills in Game Hunting

CAIRO, Egypt—American Red Cross field men serving with the U. S. Army Transport Command in Africa have solved the recreational needs of the servicemen by organizing wild game hunts.

According to Red Cross Assistant Field Director William H. Waller, Benton, Illinois, the American soldiers have hit upon a new method of bagging game, and the trustworthy Army jeep plays a big part in the hunt.

"Three men in our group have a new method of getting their game, especially gazelle," Waller said. "They find what looks like a good spot, and wait.

"Then two of the men creep into the center of the area, and lie low. When they get set, the third member of the hunt gets into his jeep, and starts driving in a circle around the two men.

"If there is any game around, the jeep is pretty sure to get it moving, and the boys in the center have a chance for a sporting shot."

Waller said that most of the game bagged by this group is given to the civilian population. Game available includes gazelles, boars, kudus, leopards, wild hens, grouse, quail, rabbits and doves.

"In other words, it's a hunter's paradise," Waller said, "especially if you have a good jeep handy."

Philippe is an ardent De Gaulist. When he arrived in Albuquerque he registered with the draft board but was deferred in order that he might go into his third year of engineering study.

After almost two semesters in an American university, Philippe made comparisons. "In France you go to college to study, not to have a good time," he said. "There is no social life, no student government at French schools. But then he added diplomatically: "American colleges with their fun? Oh, that's okay by me."

Ranks of Navy Seabees Are Thrown Open to Skilled Men in 18-38 Group

Ranks of the Navy's famed Seabees have been thrown open to skilled construction men in the 18-38 age group, as well as those between 38 and 50½ years, the Navy recruiting station in Santa Fe announced.

Applicants of Selective Service age may be assured of entering the Seabees by first obtaining a physical examination and professional interview. If found qualified for Seabee enlistment, they are given letters to their draft boards, which enable them to volunteer for induction with certainty they will be assigned to the service of their choice.

Skilled construction men, if found acceptable otherwise, are recommended for rates in the higher pay grades—up to chief petty officer, which carries base pay of $126 a month, plus allowances bringing the total to nearly $200.

Above all, they will serve their country in jobs which they are well qualified to perform. They will operate overseas, near front-line combat areas, building, repairing and guarding the Navy's shore installations.

Men of 38 years and more may enlist as before — directly into rates for which found qualified. Seventeen-year-olds, if disqualified for general service because of colorblindness, may also go into the Seabees as helpers.

Full information may be obtained by writing to, or applying at, the recruiting station in Santa Fe, or at the nearest recruiting substation. At least two letters of work reference are required.

Professional interviews are given by Lt. (jg) John A. Calmer, Civil Engineer Corps. He formerly was in charge of important construction work in Southern California.

Applicants with trade skills in the following professions are especially desired:

Blacksmiths, bulldozer operators, carpenters, draftsmen, concrete workers, crane operators, divers, rock drillers, electricians, telephone and switchboard men, gas and diesel repairmen or skilled general mechanics, pile driver foremen, pipefitters, pipelayers, plumbers, hatchmen, powdermen, riggers, roach machine operators, sheet metal and steel workers, water tenders, welders, rope and wire spicers.

Although a relatively new branch of the service, the Seabees have seen much exciting action in this war. Without their skilled

Demobilized Army Glider Pilots May Enlist in Navy

Demobilized Army glider pilots may enlist freely in the Navy within fifteen days of their discharge from the Army, the Navy recruiting station in Santa Fe announced.

Men so taken into the Navy will be enlisted as apprentice seamen, but they will become eligible for higher pay grades in the Navy's aviation branch upon completion of basic indoctrination. Lt. B. G. Manley, the officer in charge, emphasized.

He also stressed that discharged glider pilots would lose their right of free enlistment if they waited longer than fifteen days after discharge. Beyond that time, they will have to go through Selective Service, and in all probability they will be reassigned to the Army.

Such men will be given "every consideration" for assignment to aviation duties in the Navy, which has a well-established enlisted pilot program. Recently many enlisted Navy pilots have been promoted to commissioned rank.

Eligible glider pilots should apply at their nearest Navy recruiting station or substation.
