QUIT DALLYING—BOMB ROME AGAIN

Perhaps by the time this appears in print Italy will have surrendered, but as it is written Badoglio is temporizing, thus giving further aid to the Axis partners, although some Italian troops have been fired upon by Germans and the people of Italy are clamoring for peace.

And well might Badoglio temporize, for the United Nations gave him an opportunity to take his time and thus attempt to work out an "honorable surrender."

Although we dislike to see any civilian population subjected to bombing and certainly hate war and all it stands for, still we do believe that in total war, we must bomb cities and kill some civilians. We did not set the pattern; that was set by Hitler and his old crony, Mussolini. We merely are dealing out that which they by their actions declared a part of war.

We do not believe that Rome is any better than Warsaw, London or Stalingrad. We do believe that every precaution should be taken to protect the cathedrals and other shrines of the Eternal City and that the Vatican, which is an independent state, should not suffer. But we see no reason for not bombing Rome proper, especially military objectives.

That could have been avoided if Mussolini, and then Badoglio, had declared Rome an open city and had removed all defenses and military installations. Neither so chose.

So we bombed Rome and thereby caused a great moral upheaval throughout the world.

We say bomb Rome again—and again—and keep on bombing Rome until the Italians come across with unconditional surrender.

By so doing we will shorten the war and probably bring less suffering to the Italian people in the long run.

Certainly we could save American lives by crowding the surrender, for every day we delay, we allow Germany to prepare better for her defenses.

ALL HAIL SERGEANT MOLLY PITCHER

"Molly Pitcher, she stood by her gun
And rammed the charges home, Sir.
And thus on Monmouth's bloody field
A sergeant did become, Sir."

That's the spirit behind the red, white and blue Molly Pitcher tags which you will be asked to wear Saturday, when "Molly Pitcher Day" is observed in smaller communities throughout the nation. The metropolitan areas had their observation Wednesday.

All one has to do to have the privilege of wearing a Molly Pitcher tag is to purchase a War Savings Bond of any denomination or War Savings Stamps valued at $1 or more.

The gal who carried water to thirsty soldiers during the blistering Revolutionary battle of Monmouth (New Jersey), and took over her husband's cannon when he was wounded, has long been a symbol of the heroism of American women.

To turn back the history pages, "Molly" was born Mary Ludwig, on a farm near Trenton, New Jersey, in 1754. She was married to John Hays about the time of the Revolution, and moved to Carlisle, Pa.

In Revolutionary days it was not unusual for wives to accompany their soldier husbands to battle. They washed, mended, cooked, and cared for the wounded. So Molly went to war with John.

During the Battle at Monmouth Court House, she carried water to the men, all day and into the night. The men calling "Molly! Pitcher!" gave her the name by which she is known to history.

On one of her trips from the well, Molly saw her husband fall at his cannon. She promptly took his place, and fired shot after shot until the battle was won.

For her heroism Molly Pitcher was made the first woman sergeant in the Army by General Washington.

That's the spirit behind the red, white and blue Molly Pitcher tags you will be asked to wear Saturday. Everyone cannot be a Molly Pitcher, or fight on the battle fronts. But everyone can help do the fighting by providing the necessary funds.

Hope we see you with a tag on Saturday!

IT'S THE HUMIDITY, NOT THE HEAT

As this is being written Monday afternoon it is sweltering hot and the weather is the principal topic of conversation—except for the war. And it has been thus for a week.

But we wonder whether the majority of local people who are exercising their great American privilege of griping and grumbling really are suffering from the heat. Many of them knew much worse climates before they came to New Mexico—and you must remember that there are more here from elsewhere than native sons.

Where we came from it was far hotter feeling at ten degrees less temperature than it ever seems here.

There's an old saying something about "it's the humidity; it ain't the heat."

And so it is. We will admit it has been more humid here the last few days than usual and therefore we have sweltered. But we have been able to sleep nights. That is more than we were able to do weeks on end when we lived in the Middle West.

So really, it's not so hot, is it? Just stop to remember those old days before you came to New Mexico and then confine your griping to something else, such as reasons why we all are not putting out more effort towards winning the war.

Counting sheep at night no longer is a good way to put yourself to sleep—you're too likely to get to worrying over how many ration coupons they will take.—Amarillo News.

How time flies! Only a few more months until it'll be time to start wishing it was summer again.—Amarillo News.

In these days of slacks, what do you suppose has become of the fellow who used to "hide behind his wife's petticoats?"

SHE WON'T STOP by shouting Whoa!

Driving on today's crowded streets and highways doesn't give a man time to say "Jack Robinson" or "Whoa" either — when he has to stop in a hurry. Good brakes are the only thing that count then.

It pays in more ways than one to have your brakes in tip-top shape. The safest plan is to have your brakes inspected every 3 or 4 months. A simple adjustment then may save your brake lining for many thousand more miles.

Come in and have your brakes checked on our fast, automatic Bear Hydraulic Brake Tester. It is accurate and uncovers all brake troubles.

Midsummer garden plates

Now's the time of year to take a careful look at the fresh vegetables on the market, for varied menu inspiration. The ways you can serve these garden treats are almost limitless—and they do wonders for lazy appetites.

COMBINATION SALAD PLATE—A whole meal on one plate! Arrange shredded greens on large plates. Lettuce, other salad greens, or crisp, raw spinach may be used. In the center of each plate, place large tomatoes hollowed out and filled with chopped egg, meat or chicken salad. Around the tomatoes, arrange a circle of chilled, cooked peas, then another circle of sliced, pickled beets. Pass the salad dressing separately. Hot cheese biscuits or toasted cheese sandwiches are delicious with this. And custard or pie fits in well for dessert.

MIDSUMMER PLATTER—At one side of a large, heated platter, place pastry shells filled with creamed, sliced, hard-cooked eggs and peas. In separate groups place mounds of sauteed, shredded cabbage, broiled tomato halves and broiled fresh peach or apricot halves. Serve with toast or crackers, and follow with a fruit bread pudding.

HOT WEATHER SALAD PLATE—Place in separate lettuce cups a generous serving of potato salad, chopped spiced beets and cottage cheese, and cooked, green string beans. Garnish with cucumber and carrot strips. Serve your favorite dressing separately, and pass a plate of oven-hot muffins. Apple pie and cheese will polish this meal off.

MORE GARDEN SPECIAL IDEAS You'll find more delicious food ideas in Julia Lee Wright's article this week in Family Circle Magazine. It is entitled Victory Garden Specials... and real specialties they are, too. Get your copy from your Safeway today.

About twelve couples of the Continental Colony enjoyed a dancing party at the Woman's Club Saturday evening, naming as honor guest Mr. and Mrs. Fay Hardeman, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Weimar and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Palmer, who are leaving the city.

Mr. Hardeman is being transferred by the Continental Oil Company to Lake Charles, La.; Mr. Weimar to Ponca City, Okla., and Mr. Palmer is entering the University of California to finish his degree in chemical engineering.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS

At a meeting of the executive board of the Junior Woman's Club, held Friday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. Wallace Hastings, Mrs. Glenn Booker and Mrs. Mark A. Corbin were re-elected to serve a second term as sponsors of the club.

Bi-laws were amended for one meeting a month, instead of bi-monthly meetings. Mrs. C. A. Meisinger reported progress on the program for next year and Mrs. W. B. Gelwick reported on the budget.

A membership tea will be held in the near future, with announcement to be made at a later date.

Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Roberts returned this morning from Ponca City, Okla., where they were called Saturday, because of the sudden death of Mrs. Roberts' brother-in-law, Charles Bowen. Mr. Bowen, who had reported for work, suffered a heart attack and died immediately.

More Workers Are Needed At The Red Cross Rooms

A desperate appeal for more Red Cross workers to fold surgical dressings during the last two weeks has brought results, as reported by Mrs. Harold Crozier, chairman.

Eighty-four women reported during the week, spending 213 hours at work and folding 3,589 bandages. Mrs. I. C. Keller topped the list with eleven hours of service.

July closed 5,000 short of the set quota, which must be made up during August. If 200 women of the Artesia community would report regularly the quota could be finished on time and the burden not so heavy for a few. Hundreds of women have not reported for as much as an hour of service. There is a quota for every month; men are being wounded every day; bandages must be folded every day. Report to the air-conditioned rooms in the Ward building and do your part on the home front.

WHAT'S WHAT —in— NEW MEXICO

News Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned From Many Sources

Weather observers at the Carlsbad Army Air Field decided to have a picnic, so they consulted the stars, wind and whatever else weather observers consult, now all military secrets, and decided on a date. Accompanied by their best girls, the observers departed on the designated day to the picnic spot, spread the cloth, unpacked baskets—and then it rained!

New Mexico's pig population will be the greatest in history this year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of State College predicts. Pigs farrowed this spring totaled 99,000, the bureau reports, and estimates that 15,000 will farrow this fall. Spring pigs totalled 74,000 last year. This year's crop was 34 per cent greater than in 1942. Average fall pig production is around 8,000. Anticipated fall crop is about 108 per cent of the 1942 production.

One hundred enlisted men have arrived in Socorro from the specialized training and replacement center at Baton Rouge, La., and have been assigned to the New Mexico School of Mines for the Army course in basic engineering. This is the first detachment of men to arrive for the Army specialized training unit at the School of Mines.

State Land Commissioner H. R. Rodgers announced that the July oil and gas lease sale of the state Land Office totalled $87,417. Forty-seven of the fifty tracts offered were bid in under competition, Rodgers said. Most of the acreage leased was in Lea County and the highest per acre bid was $63 for an 80-acre tract, Rodgers reported. The land commissioner also announced that the office has issued order placing all of townships 12 to 15 inclusive, south of ranges 28 to 21 east, in the "statutory restricted area," which makes competitive bidding mandatory on leases in that section. The area is in Southeast Chaves County.

Lt. B. G. Manley, head of the New Mexico Navy Recruiting district, received a new assignment, and in a statement expressing his thanks to the people of the state he declared they had "made our job considerably easier." Manley, whose successor the Navy said is not yet known, was detached to the Bureau of Ships effective Aug. 1. He headed the station in Santa Fe since its establishment May 16, 1942. New Mexico enlistments, he said, surpassed the Rocky Mountain average and are "on a par with the national average."

State Game Warden Elliott Baker announced that New Mexico's allocation of federal funds for wild life restoration under the Pittman-Robertson Act was $19,961. Barker said New Mexico's share was part of a national fund of one million dollars and that state grants were figured on the basis of the area involved and the number of hunting licenses sold. The $19,961, Barker said, will constitute 75 per cent of the money to be spent by New Mexico on Pittman-Robertson projects, with the state making up the remaining 25 per cent. The Pittman-Robertson Act provides the funds for purchase and improvement of land and water to build up wild life. Source of revenues is the ammunitions tax.

Teaming of Jon Hall with Maria Montez and Sabu having proved a successful combination in Walter Wanger's "Arabian Nights," the trio was again chosen by Universal to co-star in "White Savage." The Technicolor production has a South Seas locale and comes Sunday through Tuesday to the Ocotillo Theater.

Hall, whose movie career has been closely identified with exotic South Sea backgrounds, is aptly cast in the role of the daring Tahitian shark hunter, Kaleo, who captures the love of the spirited Princess Tahia, portrayed by Miss Montez.

The handsome actor himself was brought up in Tahiti, although a native of Fresno, Calif., and his own family history is as picturesque as his screen adventures.

Hall's maternal grandfather, Capt. Charles Chapman, founded the Tahitian branch, sailing his own schooner into the harbor of Papeete, to become, ultimately, one of the most respected traders in the South Seas. Today the actor's relatives still living in Tahiti are prominent in its white colony and important in the industrial life of the Islands.

The Albuquerque Tribune said it had learned from well-informed sources in Washington that Clinton P. Anderson Congressman may emerge as the Democratic party's choice for vice president on the 1944 ticket. "The local congressman during his second term has been close to the Roosevelt administration and sources said he 'met with favor' from men in high Washington positions," the Tribune said. Anderson's "availability" is looked upon with favor because he would give the Democratic ticket a national "balance" with Roosevelt—if he should run—from New York and Congressman Anderson from the West, the Tribune said it had learned.

There's been a change

There's been a change in the housewives... as well as in the work they're doing. In years past, when the lights went out, timid little voices would call for a trouble man—who'd rush out and replace a fuse. Today—those self-reliant women simply take a 15 ampere fuse to the fuse box, and replace it themselves... knowing it's another war time task they have learned to do. It saves you inconvenience, too—and precious time... not to have to wait for someone to get into a car, drive out there, and do the job for you. And it saves man hours of work—precious tire rubber and gasoline, too—all vital to our war effort. If you aren't sure as to the correct procedure of replacing a blown fuse, stop in, for an interesting and easy demonstration.

Technical Laboratory Aids as Well as Federal, Officials

Bryce, special agent in charge of the El Paso field division of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said in discussing the laboratory facilities of the FBI in Washington, that experts conducted by the FBI, not only in matters of internal security as well as the examination phase of the laboratory work is the examination of handwriting and the FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has made this service available to all duty constituted enforcement agencies, local as well as federal.

To illustrate the value of this examination, several cases were cited in which the work of the FBI Technical Laboratory have been utilized to solve expressions, scrawled on textbooks intended for use in Georgia's public schools, led to the conviction of a man on charges of interstate transportation of obscene literature, employed by the publisher of the books, the subject had the criminal notations at the packed the books for shipment.

In a case involving a Columbian woman who boasted she could write "in two or three handwritings." She styled "German Spy Number" and wrote threatening letters to Governor Bricker of Ohio. She apparently relied on her ability to escape detection, that when examined by the FBI Laboratory, was revealed for her being positively identified as the extortionist.

In Memphis, Tenn., the testimony of an expert from the laboratory established that the signature of a murder victim's will was a forgery. This fact led to the conviction of two persons in a murder case.

In the case of check passers, too, the FBI identified through handwriting examinations. One of the thieves and accomplices in this category was re-identified through specimens submitted from Chicago. He admitted passing worthless checks totaling approximately $100,000 more than 700 different checks in the past year.

One of the most dangerous and vicious gangs in the business recently broken up by the FBI and positive identification of its ringleader. Eighty checks were returned to the laboratory from nine states, and identifications effected, not only of the ringleader, but also of the check writers, typewriters and papers in the preparation of the checks.

In the case of the extortionist, who wrote threatening death to several of the laboratory's outstanding screen writers, this case thirteen letters were written to prominent writers, and all were identified as the work of the subject.

Over seventy-nine specimens of handwriting taken from the laboratory, and submitted in a recent extortion case were examined by the laboratory, and made the positive identification of the writer of a threatening letter to the son of an Illinois man. When confronted with the findings of the experts, the extortionist confessed.

It is pointed out that these are a few of many types of examinations the FBI Laboratory makes as a service to local and police agencies. Fraudulent checks are searched through the Fraudulent Check File, and experts have identified more than 100 per cent of the checks returned by local law enforcement agencies. Other facilities include chemistry, microscopy, photography, firearms identification, toxicology, and other types of examinations made free of charge. Examiners go out to test their findings without local authorities.

Deer Folks:

(Capt. Henry S. Stout, former pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Artesia, has written Postmaster Jesse L. Truett by V-mail, giving his address, so friends may write to him. The address cannot be given here, other than to say that he is in the Southwest Pacific, but the postoffice will forward any mail addressed to him. His letter:)

In the press of my duties I find it most difficult to be able to write to the folks back home as I would like to. However, I determined to find time to write you a brief note to say I haven't forgotten you and your fine family. Have been hearing about your boys and their progress. Occasionally I receive a letter from someone there and thereby get some news.

Things are going along right well with us out here. The living conditions are not the best in the world, but we have long since learned to put up with them. As yet I haven't found a big cobra in my bedroll, but you can bet your bottom dollar I do some fine reconnaissance before turning in. There have been three fairly good sized ones killed in camp so far, two about 15 feet and one 18 1/2 feet. Their hides are curing in the sun now, which in my humble opinion is as good a place for them as could be. In fact, all of their tribe ought to be in the same fix. I can tolerate the big ants and mosquitos, but not the snakes and spiders.

Jess, would you mind having your forwarding address in your office changed to my present address. Have been getting some mail addressed to me there in Artesia and it had been sent to Camp Roberts, a place I haven't been for a good long time now.

Give my personal regards to Mrs. Truett and your boys and you, with every good wish, I am Sincerely,
Capt. Henry S. Stout, Chaplain.

James J. Connally, former state WPA administrator and former treasurer, was named business manager and treasurer of New Mexico School of Mines, Arthur B. Thomas, president of the board of regents, announced. Thomas said Connally was appointed at a board meeting in Santa Fe. He said the board action carries the full sanction of Governor Dempsey.

The chief constable of a small town was also an expert veterinary surgeon. One night the telephone rang. The chief constable's wife answered.

"Is that Mr. Jenkins?" asked an agitated voice.

"Do you want my husband in his capacity as veterinary surgeon or as chief constable?"

"Both, madam," came the reply. "We can't get our bulldog to open his mouth, and there's a burglar in it."

PAN-AMERICAN UNION BUILDING

Thirty-three years ago, on April 26, 1910, a distinguished assemblage, headed by President William Howard Taft, dedicated to the cause of peace and good will between the American republics the imposing white marble structure which became the permanent home of the Pan-American Union in the nation's capital.

The value of the Pan-American Union building and grounds was approximately $1,000,000. The building proper was made possible largely through the donations of Andrew Carnegie, the United States government contributing the building site, and Latin American countries giving the remaining financial quotas.

For more than three decades this edifice has been the center of cultural, industrial, and economic activities carried on among the nations of the western hemisphere. Also, it has been one of the chief beauty spots and attractions of Washington, drawing national and international dignitaries, as well as tourists, school children, club women, and artists of cultural fame.

When one enters the bronze doors of this home of the Americas, he leaves behind him the distraction and turmoil of a busy city. Opening immediately off the vestibule is the central courtyard, a true patio which would warm the heart of even a Latin American visitor. The effect of a tropical summer garden is maintained throughout the year, with palm trees, bananas, coffee, rubber, and other exotic tropical plants and foliage. A constantly flowing fountain centers the garden, and benches are provided for visitors, many of whom take this opportunity to rest and enjoy the peace and beauty surrounding them. The patio is covered by a sliding glass roof which in warm weather is opened to the sky—and then indeed does the patio become a true South American retreat.

Known to thousands of Washington officials and visitors is the stately and lofty Hall of the Americas, opening centrally off the gallery, a great assembly room which is the scene of important and brilliant international public gatherings. Always displayed prominently in the magnificently columned Hall is the group of flags of the Americas. Here, Latin American diplomats may be hosts at large receptions, and lectures and programs by visiting artists are presented.

Equally as imposing is the Governing Board Room, which opens off the hall, rich in its color scheme of gold and brown. Chairs surround the conference table and bear the name and coat-of-arms of each of the participating countries in the union. In this room, the diplomatic representatives of the other American republics and the secretary of state of the United States meet at regular intervals to discuss Pan-American questions of mutual interest—a truly international conference with absolute equality of each state as the basis.

Sculpture and ornamentations of the entire building are the work of renowned artists. Statues, friezes, medallions and panels are de-

Penasco Soil District Will Be Dramatized

The history and achievements of the Penasco Soil Conservation District will be featured in a dramatic program to be broadcast at 8:30 o'clock Monday evening, August 9, over radio station KOB of Albuquerque.

The fifteen-minute program will trace the development of ranching and irrigation farming in the Penasco Valley west of here, emphasizing such dramatic incidents as the building of the Hope retard dam and the disastrous flood of September, 1941.

Although local cooperators in the Penasco Soil Conservation District will not appear on the program because of the difficulties of wartime travel, their achievements in soil conservation and in production of food for war will be highlighted in the broadcast.

The script has been prepared by the regional information division of the Soil Conservation Service with the assistance of John W. R. Engholm, district conservationist of Artesia.

The board of supervisors of the Penasco district is composed of D. W. Carson, chairman, Hope; Bernard Cleve, vice chairman, Elk; Bryan Runyon, secretary, Hope; Robert Parks, Hope, and Bryant Williams, Hope.

Says International Understanding Is Necessary for Peace

The fourth object of Rotary, to encourage and foster the advancement of international understanding, was applied to the shaping of a peaceful post-war world by the Rev. C. A. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist Church, at the weekly meeting of the club Tuesday noon.

Part of the mess today, the speaker said, is due to unfairness at Versailles, while had it been fair instead, he contended, a Hitler might not have been developed. After the war, the Rev. Mr. Clark said, there must be mental disarmament before there can be physical disarmament.

COLLARD LIKES CITY, BUT NOT ARTESIAN WATER

Glenn Collard, formerly of Graham, Tex., near Fort Worth, has been here several weeks as accountant in the office of Flynn, Welch & Yates and the New Mexico Glycerin Company, replacing Jack Clady, who had been with Flynn, Welch & Yates since 1925, and who recently moved to the West Coast.

Collard, a single man, likes Artesia, except for the hard Artesian water, to which he has not become accustomed.

News Shorts

Talk about faith in the fire ladders: Engine Company No. 3 of Hartford, Conn., reported that it was called to a North End tenement to put out a fire in a mattress. The occupant of the mattress, despite a slightly-burned arm, stayed in bed while the firemen poured water on the blaze.

At Chambersburg, Pa., the prisoner Police Chief J. H. Dodson was bringing to town hoped to keep out of jail, but the chief's car broke down, he and his prisoner thumbed their way to the courthouse too late for the session, and the prisoner must wait a week—in jail—to make his plea at the next session.

The Salt Lake City Ration Board wrote Johnson Auto Metal Works asking why it was ten months behind in filing maximum service prices. The board received this answer: "No ceiling. No bottom. No shop. Boss gone fighting. Men gone fighting. Dog gone fighting. Old Man Johnson."

Rooms, $200 to $300 a month; washing, $20 for a dozen pieces; apples, $5 each; eggs, $1 apiece; loaf of bread, 75 cents. Don't rush to the OPA—those prices were charged back in 1950 in the gold rush days of San Francisco. The Chronicle printed the list with a survey of today's restaurant prices.

Cpl. Lyle Rodgers, former Laurel, Mont., cowboy, now in the Marine Corps, was all excited over his first glimpse of South Sea isles—and what happens? "There were a lot of cattle," he reports, "and everybody thought a Montana man ought to handle them." So he rode herd on island short-horns, cut out the dogies and did his own branding. He even found a saddle—labelled: "Made in Billings, Mont."

Good or Bad Will Result From Efforts, Wheeler Tells Lions

Members of the Artesia Lions Club heard an interesting discussion at the weekly luncheon Wednesday noon on "The Rebounds of Life," by the Rev. J. T. Wheeler, pastor of the First Christian Church.

In his talk the Rev. Mr. Wheeler followed the theme that whatever one puts out, either good or bad, it will come back to him in kind.

He stressed the attitude of an individual to people in general.

Business and Pleasure Shared By Thompsons

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thompson returned home Friday from a three-week trip, on which they combined pleasure with visiting markets and buying fall merchandise for the clothing department of Peoples Mercantile Company.

Mr. Thompson, a partner of the company, said they bought on the Dallas, Wichita, Kan., and Kansas City markets. By covering several markets, he said, they feel they have adequate merchandise for the fall season. Many of the items have started to arrive.

Between Wichita and Kansas City Mr. and Mrs. Thompson spent a week end at Pittsburg, Kan., where they visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Collins, parents of their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Carey Thompson. Their son, Lieutenant Thompson, had a fifteen-day leave and was in Pittsburg at that time. He was promoted to captain from first lieutenant June 15.

On Sunday, July 25, all four grandparents and Lieutenant and Mrs. Thompson attended the Methodist Church there, where their little daughter, Barbara Delaine, who was born June 3, was christened.

On the three-week trip Mr. and Mrs. Thompson also visited their daughter, Lt. Gladys Thompson, and her husband, Major Cecil R. Edwards, at Fort Sam Houston, Tex.

They said their trip was delightful, but that they encountered heat far worse than the Artesia community has been having.

NEGRO, WITH LEG BROKEN, IS IN DITCH ALL NIGHT

Jeff Johnson, a Carlsbad Negro, lay all of last night in the ditch under the bridge north of the Ansley Garage & Machine Shop on the north highway, suffering from a broken leg, which he sustained about 9 o'clock last night when he stepped into the ditch. He was found at 6 o'clock this morning by Roy Watson and was carried to the garage, from where he was to be moved to Carlsbad.

Johnson told officers he did not know there was a bridge at that place and did not see it, for there is no railing, but as he walked along the side of the highway fell into the ditch. His right thigh was broken just above the knee.

"Twenty Fighting Men" Will Be Shown At Theaters Here

A special picture, "Twenty Fighting Men," will be shown at the Ocotillo Theater Friday and at the Valley Theater Saturday in addition to the regular programs, through the courtesy of Wilson & Anderson.

The movie, which shows how the average farm can produce sufficient more food for twenty fighting men, is a well-filmed short story, made in connection with the project of leading feed companies of the nation to inform the farmer on how he can raise more for less.

Although it is a non-commercial film and carries no advertising, it was made for Purina Mills, whose products Wilson & Anderson handle. That and other large feed concerns are wholeheartedly cooperating in the national campaign.

We Have Faith in Bargaining With The War Labor Board

The Regional War Labor Board Office at Denver, Colo., has notified Malco Refineries, Inc., and the International Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 876, of Artesia, bargaining agent, that our request for approval of a voluntary wage or salary rate has been approved. The ruling reads:

"Wage scale as shown in Schedule 'B' attached to application submitted by applicant company and union, as found in their June 30, 1943, amendments to the 1943 agreement, is hereby approved, effective July 1, 1943."

We do not believe in un-American activities, such as some labor union groups have resorted to, obtaining equitable wage adjustments in keeping with present prices and living costs.

Rather, we believe in giving our Government and the War Labor Board time to consider a case—whether ours or any other group's—and to abide by the decisions rendered.

We wish to congratulate and thank Malco Refineries, Inc., for the friendly and cooperative manner in which our application for wage increase was received.
