Early Negotiations Exchange Of Prisoners Is Assured

Hopes of Relatives of Boys of 200th Rise After Petition to High Places Brings Response to Local Women

Hopes for early negotiations through the government of the Soviet Union with the Japanese government for the exchange of American prisoners of war for Japanese prisoners of the United States, military or civilian, were indicated this morning by Miss Beth King, secretary of the 200th, who has been working quietly since June 3 with numerous government officials and who has just been permitted to disclose the strides made by the organization.

In response to a petition of the 200th, signed by sixty-three persons, the local group of mothers, wives and sisters of boys in the 200th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, have been assured by the office of Secretary of State Cordell Hull, Senators Carl A. Hatch and Dennis Chavez, Congressman Clinton P. Anderson and Antonio M. Fernandez, Gov. John J. Dempsey and others that every effort is being made to hasten relief for the members of the 200th and other American boys interned in Japanese prisoner-of-war camps. A copy of the petition was sent also to President Roosevelt, who referred it to the State Department for attention.

Governor Dempsey, in a letter to Miss King, said that Secretary Hull in a telephone conversation assured him "that the men on Bataan are not forgotten, and that the government is, in every way possible, trying to prevail upon the Japanese government to make the proposed exchange."

A special delegation, sent to Washington by Governor Dempsey to work on the issue, returned to the state last week. The men, Brig. Gen. Russell C. Charlton, Dr. V. H. Spensley of Albuquerque, chairman of the Bataan Relief Organization, and Blythe McCollum of Albuquerque, have as yet made no public statement, other than that they received encouraging information in Washington and that all is being done possible.

The activities of the 200th in behalf of the early return of their men and their comfort in the meantime also brought assurances from Secretary Hull "that arrangements are now in effect under which mail may be sent across the Pacific to American prisoners of war in Japanese custody and, if this is the case, that this service be expanded to include the transmission of small packages containing concentrated foods."

Hull said the S. S. Gripsholm of Sweden is expected to make a second voyage "in the near future." Members of the 200th have been led to understand the sailing date will be Sept. 1 and they are therefore urging that all relatives get letters written immediately, so they may go on the ship.

When it sails, the Gripsholm will carry a substantial supply of medical products and concentrated foodstuffs, which are being assembled. There will be available aboard the Gripsholm 120,000 cubic feet of space for relief supplies. It is advised that letters to the boys be brief and that they be written on thin paper, so as to conserve transportation space.

Oil Well Men Claim They Hear Cry For Help In Night

It may have been coyotes or something else, but Chuck and Jimmie Miller, drillers, and their tool dressers declare they heard someone calling for help on the S. P. Yates lease about midnight Monday, just as they were changing tours.

They said they plainly heard someone cry, "Help! Help!" and they answered. But when Jimmie Miller searched the lease in his car, no trace of anyone, dead or alive, could be found.

They were further mystified Tuesday morning, when airplanes circled in that area. But as yet, the mystery is unsolved.

OIL MEN WILL HAVE IMPORTANT MEET FRIDAY

The New Mexico Oil & Gas Association has called a meeting of oil operators for 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Carper Terrace, at which time an important matter is to be discussed.

PAUL KINCAID SELLS RANCH TO BROTHER

Paul Kincaid sold his ranch west of Artesia, known as the Elzie Swift ranch, to his brother, M. B. Kincaid of Big Spring, Tex., who is moving his family, Mrs. Kincaid and their two children, a son and a daughter, here in the near future. Mr. Kincaid has also leased an adjoining tract of land from J. W. Achen.

Barker Proposes Pooling of Gas For Big Game

Elliott Barker, state game warden, this week sought authorization for big game hunters to pool their gasoline next fall, so as to be able to get to the mountain ranges, by way of providing meat.

Writing to Prentiss Brown, price administrator, Warden Barker said that "an annual kill of big game is essential to prevent overstocking of game ranges," adding that an over-supply of game would provide "undue competition" for the vital livestock industry.

Saying the gas pooling plan "will not involve the use of any extra gasoline or any extra rubber," Barker asserted it was "the practical solution to the situation, and can be administered very simply."

Barker noted in his letter that Chief of Gasoline Branch Richard C. Harrison had on July 27 in a letter to the Western Association of State Game and Fish Commissioners refused to allow an extra gasoline ration for hunting trips.

The game warden said the West was "fully cognizant" of the rubber shortage and assured Brown that sportsmen wanted to cooperate to the fullest, but in order to do that, he said, "it is necessary that some provision be made to enable them to harvest the annual game crop."

'Molly Pitcher Day' Brings in $16,345 Total

Bond, Stamp Sales Saturday Surpass Carlsbad, Roswell

Observation of "Molly Pitcher Day" in Artesia Saturday, on which a number of "modern Molly Pitchers" sold War Savings Bonds and Stamps on the streets, was quite successful, with total sales of $16,345.20 in maturity value bonds and stamps.

The figure compared with sales in similar observations of $3,575.35 at Roswell and $8,442.75 at Carlsbad, the women in Artesia selling more than four times as much in War Savings Bonds and Stamps as the former city and nearly twice as much as the latter.

Mrs. H. R. Paton, chairman of the woman's division of the North Eddy County War Savings Staff, said she and the staff are very proud of the Artesia community, which never fails to do its part in the purchase of bonds and stamps.

Early Saturday morning special "Molly Pitcher Day" tags began to appear on the street, each signifying that the wearer had bought a bond or at least $1-worth of stamps.

Mr., Mrs. Tidwell Receive Card From Prisoner Son

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Tidwell have received a card from their son, Cpl. George C. Tidwell, a prisoner of war of the Japanese, from Philippine Prison Camp No. 1 Wednesday.

His was the third direct communication from local boys of the 200th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, from Japanese prison camps. And it was the first in the state received from the Philippines.

A. Hnuilik, father of Sgt. Richard Hnuilik, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. King, parents of Cpl. George F. (Tony) King, Jr., heard from their sons about three weeks ago. Those cards were the first received by any relatives of boys who were in the Philippines when they fell.

Corporal Tidwell has a brother, Pvt. Bryan C. Tidwell, who also is a prisoner of war of the Japs. George was so reported by the War Department last January and Bryan in February.

The card received yesterday was the first word Mr. and Mrs. Tidwell had of either son since they received their notifications.

It read: "Health good. I am injured. I am well. Best regards to all. George."

Cpl. Jess J. Whitted Is Transferred to Osaka Camp, Japan

Cpl. Jess J. Whitted, a member of the 200th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, who has been a prisoner of the Japanese since the fall of the Philippine Islands, has been transferred to Osaka Camp, Japan, according to a letter from the War Department to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul N. Whitted.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitted received a telegram from the War Department last Jan. 20 informing them that Corporal Whitted was a prisoner of the Japs, the first word of him since the capitulation of Bataan and Corregidor last year.

Several other local boys have been transferred to camps in Japan in recent weeks, according to messages to their parents.

Local Racers Make Denver Take Notice

Artesia racers took nine out of twenty-one honors in the annual regatta at Denver Sunday, Aug. 1, staged by the Mile High Post, Racers from Abilene, Tex., carried home the same number of trophies as the Artesia men, while host racers won only three.

Bob Ferguson topped the Artesia racers, with two firsts, while his father, Jim Ferguson; W. A. (Pappy) Gray, commodore of the Pecos Valley Boat Club, and Buford Gray took one first each.

Places made by members of the local club: Sixteen-horsepower service runabout, W. A. Gray first, Bert Shipp second; twenty-two-horsepower service runabout, Bob Ferguson first.

Free-for-all service runabout, Jim Ferguson first, Ralph Barr second; service hydroplane, Bob Ferguson first.

Thirty-three-horsepower racing runabout, Buford Gray first, Ralph Barr second; racing runabouts up to sixty-horsepower, Buford Gray third.

The regatta was the best ever staged at Denver, according to the Post, which said automobiles were parked for two miles on all sides of Sloan's Lake.

Besides racing outboards, the only events in which the Artesia men took part, there also were inboard races, a sailboat race and other water events.

Horton Sees Great Changes Coming in Oil

When the regular speaker was unable to attend the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday noon, Charles Gasking presented a "pop program," in which he called on various members for a few words.

Chief pinch hitter was Nolan Horton, superintendent of the Continental Oil Company refinery, who gave an interesting short talk on refineries.

He explained how the refining business, after steadily but slowly advancing for years, had shown great developments in the last five years.

Only comparatively recently, he said, has refining progressed from the old physical methods of manufacture to chemical changes, through which vastly improved products are being made. Horton said he believes there are even greater changes in store in the industry, which will bring about premium fuels, and the public will be the beneficiaries.

The Rev. J. Basil Ramsey gave his life history in a series of autobiographies of members.

Paul E. Harward of El Paso, district manager of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, was in Artesia from Monday to Wednesday on business.

Watts 'Reads Riot Act' to Spaniards Over Cutting Affair

District Attorney Issues Ultimatum, After Dismissing Case, to Behave or Find Dances and Gatherings Stopped

T. Watts, district attorney, Tuesday afternoon issued an ultimatum to the Spanish-Americans of Artesia, to conduct themselves in a more proper manner at and after their dances and other entertainments, will see that they no longer are permitted to hold them.

"Read the riot act" at the session of the arraignment before Justice of the Peace J. D. of three Spanish-American in a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, growing out of a cutting affair about 1:30 o'clock morning of last week.

Charges against Jesus Garayzar, Raymond Alvarez and John were dismissed by Watts, he, the court and counsel defendants had struggled through two hours of testimony, many witnesses, no two of whom told the same story.

Watts had all witnesses pointed out that the cutting in which Lorenzo Navarrete, 15-year-old boy, was wounded was the second here within weeks and that he would be for no more. Both of them, he, were after Spanish-American dances.

Eddy County is spending too much money trying to keep peace between the Spanish-Americans and execute after battles, Watts said he is promised to see that affairs stop.

Watts warned a number of individuals in the crowd, defendants witnesses alike, that they had stop carrying knives, or other weapons, which might be used to testify either honor or in garbled stories.

Watts said he would see that you know your knives away and take yourselves," Watts said, "If you cannot live peacefully here, there are forty-seven states. You might as well get out, because I will stand for your foolishness."

District attorney admonished young Navarrete to stay from dances and late gatherings. "You are too young to be in this cutting business," he said.

Death Comes to F. Allen, Old Resident, Friday

William Frank Allen, a resident of the Artesia community since 1904, died at 10 o'clock Monday night at the home here of his wife, Mrs. Crowell Allen, after being seriously ill since July 4. He would have been 82 years old Aug. 24.

Funeral services were from McChapel at 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon by the Rev. C. A. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial was in Woodbine cemetery by the grave of Mrs. Allen, who died Nov. 21, 1939, and grave of his mother, the late Henry Allen.

Survivors were John Simons, R. Ragsdale, J. C. Jesse, W. Thompson, G. C. Kinder, and McCaw.

Allen is survived by his son and two grandchildren of Artesia and two brothers, M. W. Allen of Stonington, Calif., and J. W. Allen of Marillo, Tex. J. W. Allen and daughters, Mrs. Beulah Murray and Mrs. Birdie Murphy, arrived here Sunday evening after services and returned to Artesia Tuesday. Knowing of the death of W. F. Allen, they had not received the message telling of his death.

William Frank Allen, a son of Mrs. Henry Allen, was born in North Carolina Aug. 24, 1861. As a young man he moved to North Carolina and there on Feb. 26, 1888, he married Mary Cook, the golden wedding anniversary of which they observed in 1938. To them were three children, the son, Crowell Allen, and two who died in infancy.

Allen and his family moved to Artesia in February, 1904, and lived here the remainder of his life. For a number of years he was in the Artesia community and retired about twenty years ago because of failing health.

Kettle's Back at Legion Hut and Major's Happy

The large aluminum stew kettle, which went "AWOL" from the American Legion hut, has reappeared there, it was reported by Major Loren E. Neeley, custodian, major domo and charge d'affaires.

Whether it went, or whence it came, the major knows not. Nor has he any idea who had it or when it returned to the hut. But it is there and he is happy again.

Major Neeley attributes the reappearance of the Legion's kettle to a news squib in last week's Advocate.

"It pays to advertise," the major said, "even if it's free advertising."

Prospects for Band Seem Very Good At Central School

Several students are planning to join the beginners-junior band two weeks from Monday, when school opens, E. L. Harp, director, reported. If they cannot sing or hum a tune, they will be requested to try out later.

Harp said any student attending Central School or in the fifth or sixth grades may try out for the free band classes. Seventh and eighth-grade beginners interested may confer with their principal or teacher when school opens, he said.

There is one Negro boy in the beginners' band, whom the director says is doing nicely and he believes he finally may have an "Easy Street" quartet. There also are ten Spanish-American boys and girls making good progress and indications are favorable for a North Hill band in the future.

ARTESIA STORES WILL CLOSE LABOR DAY

Artesia merchants have agreed to close their stores on Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 30, it was announced by Arba Green, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, after polling owners and managers.

REAL ESTATE CHANGES HANDS IN VICINITY

The C. C. Pior residence property on Texas Street was sold to W. A. Jones one day last week and the next day it was sold to D. B. Shira.

Other changes were a six-room house on Missouri Street, sold to Herbert Howell by Pablo Alvarez; the Gray Ranch in New Mexico near Signal Peak, sold to Frank Watkins, and the Ollie Marrs farm to W. H. Wise, Loco Hills. The transactions were made by the Zumwalt Realty Company.

Artesia Lions Would Eliminate Fly Menace

A move to eliminate the fly menace in Artesia was started Wednesday noon at the weekly luncheon of the Artesia Lions Club, when Fred Cole spoke on the subject of the open garbage can.

He suggested as one solution of the problem, which is a threat to the health of the community, the use of wooden garbage cans covers.

Wesley Sperry read an article from Fortune Magazine on electronic tubes, in which it was brought out that electronic tubes are playing a great part in the prosecution of the war and that they will be in even greater use after the war.

Tom Williams, chairman of the sight conservation and blind committee, announced that an investigation is resumed, as soon as possible, to determine whether any pupils need glasses, leading to corrective steps on the part of the club.

Emmet Merriman, publicity chairman, was instructed to inspect the Lions Club markers on the highways leading into Artesia and to have the weeds cleared away adjacent to them and have them painted if necessary.

Board Members Say Tire Outlook Is Pessimistic

The tire situation is a pessimistic one, George E. Currier and J. S. Ward, local members of the Eddy County Rationing Board, said this week, after receiving a summary of the state of affairs from James L. Harper, state tire rationing representative.

Harper said that synthetic passenger car tires are nowhere in sight as far as the consumers are concerned, yet there is less than a thirty-day supply of grade No. 1 tires. The reason the synthetic production lags is that the process is entirely different from that used with crude rubber. The synthetic rubber, of which there is truly enough, a good supply now, is a soft plastic, and not rubber at all, Harper pointed out. A man who formerly made twenty tires a day, can make only four and a half now, until the process is perfected and becomes familiar, he said.

Eligibility for grade No. 1 spare tires is limited now, Harper announced, to those few such as doctors, nurses, law enforcement agencies, fire fighters, mail deliverers and others in the original Class 503-D-3 group, who are essential to the welfare of the community. Other persons will get grade No. 3 tires for spares, if the quota is available, or none if there is none.

Even grade No. 3 is precarious now. In July there were 1,666,000 grade No. 3 tires, with 1,700,000 certificates outstanding. It is estimated that 5,000,000 will be needed before Jan. 1.

Currier and Ward quoted Harper as saying the only substitute will be the "twilight" tires, which are the rejected trade-ins. These will cost the dealer 50 cents and the consumer $1. Of course, Harper pointed out, one cannot expect to get much rubber for $1. The consumer will pay for the necessary repairs to make the tire usable, with the understanding that the repairs are temporary and that no permanent repairs are possible.

Harper said dealers are authorized to pull out of their supply piles those tires which have been checked by the state tire examiner, who checks tires against certificates every thirty days. These will be branded with a "1" or "2" type of tire with a "1" or "2" heated pipe, on the sidewall. Tires so branded are not fit for permanent repair and are not guaranteed.

Harper said that on July 1 there were 1,200,000 truck tires on hand and 1,000,000 certificates outstanding. It is estimated that for the remainder of this year 200,000 tires will be needed each month. This means that for each certificate issued, a new truck tire must be built.

Miss La Verne Schnoor is here from Illinois, visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schnoor.

AT LAST, A "MAN BITES DOG" STORY

The quintessence of the average editor's dreams is that he will be able to find and publish a story of the type which has come to be known as "Man Bites Dog."

We found one last week in an advertisement! By no stretch of the imagination is there a "bite" in the ad or story, and certainly none of the principals can be likened to a dog. It was the ad placed and paid for by Local No. 876 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, employees of Malco Refineries, Inc., in which they expounded their faith in the War Labor Board and the fairness of that body's deliberations.

Then they went on to point out that the union members believe in abiding with the rulings of the WLB, intimating their distaste for the actions of other unions. And they went on to congratulate Malco officials for their fairness, cooperation and assistance.

Truly it was a "Man Bites Dog" story, one worthy of the news space we gave it and of the additional space necessary to congratulate the members of the union on their attitude and their willingness to spend money to tell the world about it—which we hereby do.

TAKE YOUR PICK AND PLACE YOUR BETS

All of last week we kept an account of headlines, which we happened to spot on the front pages of our daily exchanges, having to do with the drafting of fathers.

We thought we would list some of them for you, with only the comment that if they were enough to set an editor wild, what do you suppose they did to young fathers facing the draft? Here they are: "Pre-Pearl Harbor Fathers Face Call." "Fathers Not Need Until After October." "Ban Is Lifted on Drafting Fathers Due to Shortage." "Draft of Dads to Go Slowly." "Fathers Stand Little Chance of Being Officers." "Father Drafting Delay Promised." "Fathers Likely to Be Drafted in Fall, Unofficial Check Shows."

HATE TO DISAPPOINT YOU, BUT WE'RE NOT SHE

No, we must admit with our customary modesty, we are not the Glamour Gal, nor is any other member of The Advocate force.

We hastened to tell you that right off the bat, for some of the many persons who are asking, "Who is the Glamour Gal?" have pointed inquiring fingers at us.

As you all know, we are not a gal. And—woo, woo—we make no claims as to glamour. We conducted a column for many years and know how it is done. And if we ever revive it, you will know who is the author thereof, we are sure.

But the identity of the Glamour Gal is veiled in mystery, which probably is as it should be, for it makes her kol all the more interesting to speculate as to the author's identity.

Nice reading, isn't it, our new department, "Snappy Shots"?

SPEAKING OF GALS—WELL, THERE'S GEORGIE

Speaking about gals, the smiling voice which you have heard over our office telephone a large percentage of the time the last two and a half years and the equally smiling face which goes with the voice, and which has adorned our editorial office for the same length of time, are both missing, have been the last week and a half.

The reason is that Georgie Pate, the owner of the voice and contenance, which both sparkle with personality, has changed careers—from a society reporter to a student at Baylor University, where she is studying to become a nurse.

Georgie was always a ray of sunshine in the office, no matter how things went or how glum everyone else might be. And she accomplished that in spite of the fact that she could not help seeing our mug every time she glanced up. Gosh, perhaps we have been wrong all this time; maybe she was amused, rather than happy. But we think not!

We are certain that Georgie will make the grade, for she is intelligent, quick-witted and willing, as well as the possessor of a super-duper personality.

As much as we all miss her and will miss her, we're for Georgie and wish her the greatest of success.

FOR THE ATTENTION OF POTENTIAL ADVERTISERS

Who says people don't read The Advocate?

One of the local pastors told us last week—as he hastened to make some changes in his church notes—that the Sunday prior thirty-nine members of the congregation (think he must have been bragging a bit, for that is a good-sized congregation in itself for this time of year) had called his attention to the fact that the title of a sermon long since delivered and digested, and possibly forgotten, was still running.

AND PERHAPS IT'S A WORSE PUN

When he first took over the reins of the Italian government from Mussolini, we thought Badoglio was going to be all right and that he would help save his countrymen and we could do business with him. Now it seems he is just a Bad-oglio.

GOSH, DOES ITALY HAVE A KING?

We are informed by "The Lyon's Den" in The Amarillo News that Lt. Finis Farr reports the king of Italy's first act, under his restored powers, was to cut one foot from the height of all balcony railings, which were built at the level of Mussolini's shoulders—so that now, at last, the king's face will be visible.

Sands of Time

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate Files for Aug. 9, 1928)

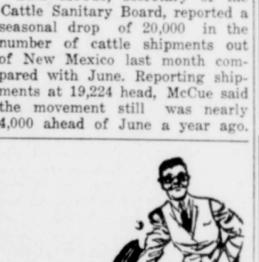

Mrs. Albert Richards was elected vice president of the New Mexico department of the American Legion Auxiliary at the annual convention in Santa Fe last week.
Harry Carder and family left Monday to spend a few days in the mountains.
Judge G. U. McCrary and Dr. J. J. Clarke returned Tuesday from Albuquerque, where they attended a meeting of the state Democratic Committee. Indications there were that sentiment for a Democratic candidate for governor has simmered down to Dr. Clarke and Bob Dow of Santa Fe, attorney general.
H. R. Rodgers, principal of Lower Cottonwood School, returned Friday from Austin, Tex., where he attended summer school at the university.
More than 200 carloads of alfalfa hay have been shipped out of this section to date.
The Artesia Fire Department last month received a bonus of $1,147 from the state comptroller's office, representing a return on a percentage of fire insurance premiums collected during the last year.
Shipments for the first six months of 1943 were 177,460, an increase of 32,524 over the same period last year. Shipments by districts for June included Las Vegas 212, Tucumcari 905, Roswell 1,520, Albuquerque 28, Gallup 23, Santa Fe 267, Carlsbad 1,369, Lovington 306, Clovis 4,803, Hobbs 413.
Lt. Gen. George S. (Old Blood and Guts) Patton, Jr., wrote from Africa hastily for his favorite prescription for chapped lips, relates his sister, Anne W. Patton. She sent it to Sicily and if the lotion doesn't reach him any faster than his airmail letter reached her, "Maybe I should have sent it to Berlin!"
The military police headquarters called police in Chicago. The reason: Headquarters had been entered and two wrist watches belonging to military policemen had been stolen.
Sam McCue, secretary of the Cattle Sanitary Board, reported a seasonal drop of 20,000 in the number of cattle shipments out of New Mexico last month compared with June. Reporting shipments at 19,224 head, McCue said the movement still was nearly 4,000 ahead of June a year ago.

WHAT'S WHAT in NEW MEXICO

Briefs of the "Sunshine State" Gleaned From Many Sources

More than fifteen head of cattle died suddenly since July in the Spring area. An outbreak of anthrax, a deadly infectious disease, is feared.

Dr. Sharp, state veterinarian, said that fifteen head of cattle on the Clyde Berlier ranch, ten miles south of Wagon and laboratory specimens from the Department of Animal Industry, indicated the disease anthrax. However, the Department reported to Dr. Sharp they were continuing further and would have a final report in a few days. Barker said several head of cattle have died on the ranch and nearby ranches that he had instructed livestockmen in the section to inoculate their cattle immediately.

New Mexico postoffices sold car-use stamps through 81, compared with 73,138 last year. J. A. Werner, Albuquerque revenue collector, reported the internal revenue office had an additional 800 stamps the same period.

New Mexico probate judges may receive remuneration for marriage ceremonies where the bridegroom offers a monetary gift, provided he has no fixed schedule of fees, according to an opinion of the attorney general's office State Comptroller C. R. Set-

More than thirteen tons of trout were planted in New Mexico streams during the year ended June 30, the State Game Department reports. State Game Warden Elliott Barker said the fish numbered 2,003,861 and ranged from 1 1/2 to 10 inches long with an average of 3 1/4 inches. He said the fish were produced at a cost of $45,352 in the state's five fish hatcheries.

New Mexico will have $19,691 for wild life restoration projects under the federal Pittman-Robertson Act this year, State Game Warden Elliott Barker reported. Allocations to states are based on the area involved and the number of hunting licenses sold.

A Grant County tobacco dealer was the first to pay a penalty for having unstamped cigars in violation of the tobacco tax law, Director Victor Salazar of the Luxury Tax Division said. Salazar said eight boxes of cigars were confiscated by inspectors, but were returned to the dealer in accordance with the law, after he had affixed proper stamps and paid a penalty of 50 per cent of the cost of the stamps.

Col. Thomas Boles, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, predicted August visitors to the caverns would total 14,000, with approximately 5,000 under the total for July a year ago, but Colonel Boles is optimistic about August.

The Santa Fe Railway estimated that nearly 2,000 carloads of snap beans, carrots, cabbages and head lettuce would be shipped from Central New Mexico truck districts this year.

August daily crude allowance of 110,000 barrels for New Mexico was fixed by the State Oil Conservation Commission and two affecting Lea County fields approved, State Geologist M. Kelly reported. Kelly said the orders as follows: Lim-

Dangers of Oven Canning Are Stressed by Extension Service

The New Mexico Extension Service warns home canners against the oven method of canning food. Oven canning—at any time a slow and unsatisfactory way of applying the heat necessary to can food safely—has developed wartime hazards, Mrs. Dorothy Hanny, extension nutritionist, explained. Serious accidents to persons and property as a result of misunderstanding of canning techniques may occur.

Exact temperature control is necessary for home canning, and oven regulators that cannot be serviced because of war conditions may add to the hazard. The jar cap on a new wartime jar—with glass top, rubber ring, and steel screw band—needs careful adjustment to allow escape of steam during canning so jars will not break. If the band is not given a quarter turn-back after the cap is first screwed down, the glass may shatter during processing. Any type of home canning jar cap, screwed down too tightly before processing, may ruin the seal even if no accident happens.

Cold packing of food also may cause difficulty. The Extension Service recommends the hot pack—that is, heating the food to boiling and filling it boiling hot into hot jars for immediate processing. Mrs. Hanny explains that even hot packed foods expand in jars during processing and give off steam that must escape to prevent explosion of the jar. There is a special hazard in an oven, because ovens have no device to relieve the forces of such an explosion, and the oven and oven door have to take it. In a water bath canner, force of an exploding jar is slowed down by the surrounding water and a pressure canner has a safety valve to let off steam when pressure is too high. Added disadvantages to oven canning are: Juice bubbles out or steams away; peaches and pears are likely to darken. For the vegetables that need high heat to kill bacteria, oven canning is not safe. Even though the oven goes to 250 degrees F. or higher, food inside the glass jar stays at about the boiling point. And the boiling point of water is not sufficient heat to kill dangerous bacteria in a reasonable time in beans, peas, corn, and other non-acid vegetables and meat.

For home canning of both non-acid vegetables and meat, the Extension Service recommends only a steam pressure canner, and for fruits and tomatoes the boiling water bath.

In San Francisco, Mrs. Bessie Jefferson accused Lawrence Fortine, 70, of planting her cat, and other cats, in his "Victory Garden." She told Municipal Judge Twin Michelson that Fortine spread crumbs in his yard to entice the cats and Fortine then stalked the tabbies and slit their throats.

State Fair Premium Book and Catalog Is Being Distributed

The 240-page, 1943 premium book and catalog of the New Mexico State Fair, received during the current week by thousands of exhibitors and prospective exhibitors at the coming fair, Sept. 26 through Oct. 3, lists 12,400 separate cash premiums for livestock, farm and garden products, home arts and home sciences displays. Premiums range from 50 cents to $100. The total offering is approximately $30,000. Both in number of premiums and in total cash awards offered, new high records are set. The book carries an attractive cover in colors picturing the State Fair entrance gates and the Sandia Mountains in the background.

While the major portion of the book is devoted to listing of awards for livestock and farm competitive displays, the program of entertainment features reviewed briefly in the catalogs make it plain that attendants at the 1943 Fair will have plenty of amusement.

The supply of premium books is limited, the fair manager said, and urged that those wishing copies of the book advise the fair office, Box 1693, Albuquerque, as soon as possible.

The city of Roswell has purchased another lot of War Bonds to the maturity value of $15,000, buying them through the Roswell Building & Loan Association. This association has sold more than $900,000 in War Bonds and hopes to pass the million-dollar mark before long. The purchase makes the city the owner of War Bonds to the maturity value of $110,000.

New Mexico yucca is filling a war need for hard fiber, formerly imported from the Orient, C. W. Botkin, chemist for the Agricultural Experiment Station at State College, reported. Two carloads of yucca, shipped from New Mexico for manufacture of a special hard fiber paper for the Navy, brought $40 a ton, F. O. B. Another native plant, molina, a broom fiber, commands the same price. The demand for both products is limited, he said. Should a plant for the extraction of fiber from thick-leaved yuccas in Kingman, Ariz., prove successful, there is a possibility that similar plants may be erected in New Mexico, Botkin said.

New Mexico finished the 1942-43 fiscal year in the black by $614,078 in its general fund, Governor Dempsey reported. The governor also declared departments and institutions had been asked to get along on the amounts budgeted for them by the State Board of Finance and to effect any savings possible in the current fiscal year to build a reserve to help finance post-war projects for returning veterans. Saying the general fund surplus could be used by the Legislature to help finance or match federal post-war project funds, the governor said if the war ended before the next Legislature met he would call a special session to make the money available for such purposes. Red Cross Workers Call for More Women to Fold Surgical Dressings

Mrs. Harold Crozier, chairman of the Red Cross surgical dressing room, located in the Ward building over Peoples Mercantile Company store, reports that many more women are needed to fold bandages.

The number who have reported during the last three weeks has been very gratifying on some days, but not enough are reporting to meet the quota. The weather is hot, but the rooms are air-conditioned; women are canning, but bandages must be folded, said Mrs. Crozier.

The Artesia chapter is 3,000 behind on the quota. Surely there are those in the Artesia and surrounding communities who will report for work and help finish this quota, said Red Cross instructors.

There were 2,279 bandages folded last week, which is 1,310 fewer bandages than were folded the week prior. There were eighty-two women reported this week, who spent 207 hours, only two less than the number who reported last week and only six hours less time.

Instructors reporting during this last week were Mmes. Floyd Springer, Harold Crozier, John Runyan, E. N. Bigler, Fred Jacobs, L. P. Evans, I. C. Keller, D. M. Schneberg, J. W. Webb, S. E. Chipman, L. B. Feather, Rodger Durand, H. R. Paton, Loyd Simmons, W. H. Gilmore, and B. E. Thorpe.

Others reporting were Mmes. A. W. Boyce, W. H. Ballard, A. C. Crozier, C. T. Hegwer, W. B. Gelwick, F. O. Ashton, F. G. Van Winkle, Robert Setterlund, Robert Anderson, Nevin Baird, Charlotte Runyan, E. A. Metzger, I. L. Peary, William Linell, W. C. Gray, J. D. Josey, D. R. Wahlberg, Elmo Naylor, E. B. Martin, Effie Wingfield, Vera Kuchan, Charles Dungan, F. E. Painter, Lewis Story, S. P. Yates, Ernest Shafer, M. A. Lapsley, Mrs. O. J. Carson, and Mrs. Triplett.

Misses Ruth Bigler, Irene Powell, Jodie Sears, Peggy Brainard, Maxine Bunting, Dorothy Bob Company, Florence Dooley, Frances Emmons, Lora Mae Robertson and Grace Rhoads.

Mmes. J. W. Johnson, Ernest Harvey, J. K. Hyder, M. A. McLehn, Carl Lewis, Emery Carper, R. L. Paris, B. E. Spencer, Arthur Halpert, H. C. Adams, J. D. Sharp, G. B. Dungan, J. W. Hilliard, C. R. Sharp, and George King.

Mrs. L. P. Evans, chairman of special volunteer service in the local Red Cross chapter, has announced that local organizations, which want credit for hours of service of members of their organization, must first register their membership with the staff assistant chairman at Red Cross headquarters and make arrangements for the tabulation of these credits, otherwise the chapter will not feel responsible in any way for this data.

There is still a supply of yarn for those who knit. A call is also being issued for all finished garments to be returned in at once.

Rena D'Arcy Wilkes of Roswell, a graduate of Artesia High School, was among a group of women from thirty-one states who graduated into full duty status with Uncle Sam's Army Air Forces as the Woman's Flying Detachment at Avenger Field, Sweetwater, Tex., Saturday. Activated by a common love for flying, the feminine pilots, who have chosen this method of sharing in the war effort, will go immediately into the job of serving as non-combat flyers for the nation-straddling network of the Army Air Forces Transport Command. The women graduates will fly on a civil service status. Mrs. Wilkes learned to fly at Wink, Tex., in 1939. She has two brothers, both in the service, Pvt. Charles G. D'Arcy, stationed at Camp Haan, Calif., and Robert D'Arcy, who is in training at Bob Washburn College, Topeka, Kan., in the Naval Training School.

7 Ways To Wear Out Your ELECTRIC REFRIGERATOR

- 1—PUT steaming hot foods in the refrigerator. This increases the inside temperature and overworks the motor. You should give hot foods sufficient time to cool.
- 2—OVERLOAD your refrigerator with too much food. This prevents proper circulation of cold air.
- 3—LET a "blanket of frost" collect on the freezing unit. When frost is more than one-fourth inch thick, it's time to defrost. In hot weather, frost collects faster.
- 4—USE a sharp instrument to pry ice trays free. You may puncture the freezing compartment and cause serious damage. Remove ice trays carefully.
- 5—RUN your refrigerator on "high" longer than necessary when you are freezing desserts or other foods. When the freezing is finished, you should turn control to normal.
- 6—PERMIT a heavy accumulation of dust and lint to remain on the condenser. This shuts off cool air and requires extra work for all refrigerator parts.
- 7—TRY to fix your refrigerator yourself when trouble develops. You'll save money, and may save your refrigerator, by calling a reliable refrigerator service man.

J. T. Stovall Explains What Soil Conservation District Can Do

(By unanimous vote of persons casting ballots a new soil conservation district was created in North Eddy County and South Chaves County. As the general public does not understand all about soil conservation districts, Fred A. Barham, Eddy County extension agent, has furnished two papers by J. T. Stovall, acting extension soil conservationist, "What a Soil Conservation District Can Do" and "What a Soil Conservation District Cannot Do" the former of which is reproduced below. The "cannot" side will be given in the near future.)

In a recent discussion it was recommended that all farmers and ranchmen institute simple conservation practices for the protection and building up of the land and for the needed, increased production of vital crops and livestock. It has been brought out that many of the practices needed on individual farms and ranches will require additional help in the form of technical assistance and heavy machinery as well as community planning and cooperation. In those cases the soil conservation district is the logical medium, and the first question suggested is: What can a soil conservation district do?

Generally speaking, a soil conservation district can work on any problem arising in an area or community, or on an individual farm or ranch that will make the unit, community, or area more productive or a better place in which to live. In short, the district lays out its own program of work and from time to time amends or changes this program of work to meet the changes of the times and conditions.

Since a soil conservation district is a political subdivision of the state, it is in an advantageous position to request assistance from any county, state or federal agency in the form of technical assistance, equipment, materials, and financial aid.

The enabling act passed by the federal government permits a soil conservation district to ask for technicians of the Soil Conservation Service. These federal employees are loaned to districts at no cost to the district. Also they may request the loan of heavy machinery.

This machinery is loaned to organized districts, and proper care and repair is the only cost the district has for the use of this machinery. While the individual pays the cost of operation on his farm or ranch.

Many new grasses, shrubs, and trees have been introduced and started through the organized districts. These materials being furnished by the Soil Conservation Service, experiment stations, and land grant colleges.

In cases where individuals are not in a position to make needed improvements or repair damages caused by floods and the like, a soil conservation district can ask for material and financial aid. Today many families of New Mexico are still on their lands producing a living because of such assistance. Two striking examples where such assistance was secured are on the Hondo and Gila Rivers after serious floods.

Through educational meetings and demonstrations, improved methods of conservation of soil, water and wildlife resources are brought to a community, and assistance is given anyone wishing to plan and carry out any phase of this type of conservation.

Individuals as well as communities are assisted in the formulation of plans for assistance in improving farm and ranch land. In short, a soil conservation district is in a position to help with almost any problem that may arise in a community or on a farm or ranch.

We find soil conservation districts cooperating and working with other federal agencies, but never interfering with their programs. In many cases where their functions and workings overlap, we find the closest cooperation between these soil conservation districts and the Forest Service, Grazing Service, conservancy districts, irrigation districts and ditch companies. In a great many cases, the soil conservation districts contract with such organizations to do jobs, such as laying out and building new ditches, both for irrigation and drainage, the construction of dams, building stock watering ponds and many other jobs to numerous to mention. In all cases where there is no overlapping of areas, there is no conflict of functions, and each organization works with the other to accomplish its purposes at the least possible cost to the land owners.

In closing, there is one point, and one point only, to remember about what a soil conservation district can do, and that is: The land owners in the district suggest and lay out the program of work. There is no agency or organization with authority to force a practice or program on the district, yet there are many sources of help available to the organized districts, if these districts desire such help and ask for it.

Petroleum Is Vital Factor in Winning of War—And the Peace

soldier whose kit is e with a Carlisle-type e will find that the inter- e package is coated with e wax. Many a fighting e, salves, and oth- e pharmaceuticals contain at least e petroleum ingredient.

The petroleum industry makes it possible to give our submarines an edge on the enemy. When one of our subs surmerges it leaves no oil or grease on the water's surface to tell the enemy where it has submerged. Instead, our submarines may employ a grease, to lubricate exposed surfaces, which sinks below the water's surface.

Our combat vessels and transports could not operate without petroleum products. All of our steam-propelled ships use petroleum fuel oils. Other vessels use gasoline or diesel fuels obtained from petroleum. Bearings and gears in all vessels are lubricated with petroleum oils or greases.

Smoke screens used afloat and ashore employ at least one petroleum ingredient, and the flame thrower gets its value from the use of a burning petroleum product.

Used in the Air
No airplane could perform satisfactorily in cold and hot climates if the petroleum industry had not years ago developed so-called high-viscosity index oils. These oils lubricate satisfactorily at temperatures as low as minus 40 degrees F. and as high as 150 degrees F. Such oils, in addition to being used as lubricants, are used also as hydraulic mediums in recoil mechanism of guns, for operating gun turrets, and for operating the elevators which lift airplanes to the flight decks of airplane carriers. They are used also in the struts and other hydraulic mechanisms of airplanes. An oil of similar characteristics is necessary to lubricate the tiny ball bearings employed in portable radio transmitters and other instruments used for war purposes. Such bearings have a diameter of 0.1063 inch and it takes 10,667 of them to weigh one pound. Despite their small size they must maintain their accuracy of 1-10,000 on an inch. The oil helps them to do it.

But how can an airplane operate satisfactorily in low and high temperature climates if some of its working parts require grease? The petroleum industry has made special greases available which retain their plasticity at the North Pole and do not run like water in the tropics. Such greases are used to lubricate control bearings and the bearings of magnetos and other parts.

In Production
Every airplane engine shipped abroad or stored in America is treated inside and out with petroleum rust preventives. Similar products are used in plants which make the engines and in other plants where precision parts are made. One of these rust preventives does its job even if the part is coated with water. It first displaces the water.

If an airplane runway is made of asphalt the chances are it's petroleum asphalt. This product, in another form, is used as an adhesive and waterproofing agent for the spiral-type paper-board containers in which shells are shipped.

In America's war plants the job of the petroleum industry is not only to supply the needed products but also to make them in needed quantities. Without these products we could not produce our bullets and shells, torpedos and guns. Our tanks and trucks and ships could not be manufactured unless the petroleum industry supplied the needed cutting oils, lubricants, special fuels, furnace atmospheres, solvents, and other products. In fact one type of petroleum solvent is essential in the paint which is used as a primer coat of our airplanes and tanks.

Many industries formerly dependent on imported products have turned to the petroleum industry to keep them supplied. One example is the cold rolling of steel. The industry used to depend on palm oil to lubricate the rolls. Now that palm oil is hard to get, a petroleum oil is available and, it is said, does a better job.

Petroleum alcohol is used in the manufacture of smokeless powder, and another petroleum product makes the powder less likely to absorb water.

The petroleum industry not only is playing a major role in winning the war; it will at war's end, make America the largest rubber producer in the world.

If there is one outstanding example of the efficiency of private enterprise it is the petroleum industry. It not only started long ago to look into the future, it has spent millions of dollars of its own money and is spending more millions now to make sure that American manufacturers, our Army, our Navy, and our air forces will always have more and superior petroleum products than those of any other country.

Developments in Industry
The petroleum industry originated pipeline transportation. Geologists make new discoveries which, in the end, benefit the entire industry and the nation. Refinery research may result in the introduction of new products by one company. But that company does not necessarily use those products exclusively and "freeze out" other refiners. In fact, the reverse is true. Not long ago one petroleum refiner made available to others, forever and free of charge, the details of the manufacture of Buna synthetic rubbers.

Catalytic cracking processes, by which 100-octane fuels are made, may be used by all refiners.

Additives which give almost any oil superior properties—detergency, lower pour point, higher viscosity index, oxidation resistance, and greater film strength—are offered to all oil refiners so that they may compete with the very ones who developed the processes.

If it were not for the ability of the petroleum industry to supply needed products American shipyards, steel mills, munitions plants, chemical factories, and many other production enterprises would have to close down. Not a machine could be operated. We'd lose the war.

There'll always be a U.S.A. and places you long to drive to!

Just as sure as Victory comes you'll long to ease this war strain by going places... wondrous Yellowstone again... sea-swept Cape Cod... the vivid Southwest... even Alaska perhaps. Your boy... your hero out of Africa or Iceland—or cloudland—can take spells at the wheel with you. The mileage your car is kept from making now, it can make then—but not if today's restricted mileage and speed sacrifice your engine to acid!

Acid that's greedy for metal is left over after combustion ceases in any engine. When you used to start often, and make long runs, thoroughly heating the engine, the acid mostly took leave. It wasn't the steady danger that it is today, with car usage restricted. But you can tame rampant acid by OIL-PLATING your little-used engine with Conoco Nth motor oil. Patented Conoco Nth brings your engine this oil's "magnet-like" effect—created synthetically. And that's how OIL-PLATING is held close against steepest inner engine surfaces, much like any good anti-corrosive plating... not all promptly draining down to the crankcase... not leaving fine surfaces all unfortified... hence not allowing free play to acid.

New engine parts—new cars, too—would still be scarce if the Axis folded this minute. Do your best to assure today's vital trips as well as tomorrow's richly-earned tour, by OIL-PLATING your engine now. Get Conoco Nth at Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

Yetter Is Awarded For Suggestion of New Safety Gadget

E. E. Yetter, formerly of Artesia and now employed by Certain-teed Products Corporation at Pantex Ordnance Plant near Amarillo, Tex., received an "Award for Initiative and Patriotism" recently in recognition of an idea which he submitted in the plant's suggestion system.

Yetter's meritorious suggestion was that a simple safety device be installed on bomb racks to prevent serious accidents in handling bomb casings.

The government-owned war production plant is engaged in loading explosives in demolition bombs and encourages employees to offer ideas which will promote safety, improve quality, reduce cost, conserve material, save time, increase production, or improve methods or working conditions in some manner.

Oliver Vandagriff, who is stationed at Lowery Field, Denver, came in on a furlough Friday to visit his father, John Vandagriff, a week.

Prisoner Exchange

Hopes for relief of the men who are prisoners center on Russia, which is morally bound to both the United States and Japan, members of the 200th have been assured.

Here is the petition, which brought action from many quarters after individual letters and letters over the signature of officers of the 200th seemed to be of little or no avail:

"We, the undersigned, are good Americans who believe in our country and our government for which it stands, and we are mothers, wives, and sisters of boys who fought so undauntedly on Bataan and Corregidor in the Philippine Islands.

"Our boys are now in the hands of our most dreaded and treacherous enemy—the Japanese, and the government of Japan. Some of our boys have been reported prisoners of war and several have died in prison camps, and there are still some who are among the missing.

"We, herein, urge and request you to investigate the possible negotiations, which were alive at one time, to exchange our soldiers through neutral channels. It can be done and it must be done—they fought long and hard in battle, and they are still fighting although captured, but this time for mere existence. We did not send them ships of supplies and many planes like we promised.

"We want you to contact the State Department and all other governmental branches and actually do something about this situation, and make and reopen negotiations for an exchange of prisoners of war, even if we do have to exchange five Japs for one American. Do you not think one American is worth ten Japs?"

"Therefore, we, parents, wives, and sisters of soldiers who are prisoners of war of the Japanese government, request you to act for us to urge immediate relief and repatriation of these boys and save them from diseases, famine and death.

Goat Ropers Stage a Good Show on Sunday

Four good races and a number of top roping events marked a Western show staged Sunday afternoon by the Artesia Goat Ropers' Club at the club arena and track.

Troy Fort of Lovington carried off both the $10 and the $5 calf roping jack pots, while Joe Welch, outstanding Carlsbad cowboy, took second in both events.

Welch won a matched calf roping contest, in which all contestants roped six calves, and he took the free-for-all eighth-mile horse race, in which James Felton won second.

A horse belonging to Dave Bunting took the 440-yard matched race from Millard Deering's horse, while in the 400-yard matched race, James Felton's horse beat the entry of Guy Stevenson.

"Red" Vaughan took the honors with his horse in the matched eighth-mile race, with "Dude" Dunn's horse second.

The results of a "kids' free-for-all" were not recorded. The treasury of The 200th was swelled somewhat through profits from the refreshments concession.
