Concert Tonight Designed to Boost Lagging Bond Sales

RAAF Band Will Present Program at High School Tonight—North Eddy Has Week to Meet Third War Loan

L. B. Feather, chairman of the North Eddy County War Savings Staff, is disappointed in the response the public is making in the Third War Loan campaign, but he has hopes that the entertainment this evening by the band from Roswell Army Air Field will serve as an inspiration to bring about spirited buying and the ultimate achievement of the quota.

The most disappointing aspect of the campaign, Feather said, is in the purchases of Series E bonds, the quota for which is $202,250 out of a total quota of $382,500 in all types for North Eddy County. With only one more week remaining in the Third War Loan campaign, little more than a quarter of the Series E quota has been met.

It seems to be the small purchasers who are falling down, Feather pointed out. Although he had not made a check-up during the current drive, he said that only about 400 families in North Eddy County made purchases of Series E bonds out of a population of eight to ten thousand persons during the Second War Loan last April.

But everyone will have an opportunity to make purchases at the band entertainment at the auditorium of Artesia High School at 8 o'clock this evening, when a splendid program is promised.

Under the direction of Chief Warrant Officer P. Loughane, the thirty-seven-piece RAAF band will present a variety program

L. B. Feather, War Savings Staff chairman, said at 10 o'clock this morning total subscriptions in the Third War Loan were $202,000, just under the quota for Series E bonds alone, which is $202,250. Series E purchases totaled $65,000, cash value.

similar to the one last December during a bond rally here. Included will be both band and novelty numbers, with lots of fun, besides the inspirational aspect of the affair.

During an intermission there will be an auction, at which various prizes will be offered, going to the highest bidders in War Savings Bond purchases. The smaller investors will have ample opportunity to get in on the bidding.

A nominal price will be charged for the concert, net proceeds of which will go toward the further purchase of War Bonds and Stamps, which also will be put up as auction prizes.

Prior to the concert the band members will be guests at a picnic supper at Morris Field.

Besides the opportunity to purchase bonds at the concert, there will be plenty of others before the Third War Loan campaign closes. They may be bought any day at the First National Bank or the postoffice. And women will be on duty again this week end at tables at the bank, postoffice, office of the Ocotillo Theater, lobby of the Carper building and J. C. Penney Company store, under the direction of Mrs. H. R. Paton, women's chairman of the North Eddy County War Savings Staff.

Feather said the staff as yet has not resorted to house-to-house canvassing, that it is preferred to have citizens make their bond purchases voluntarily, rather than put the burden on the shoulders of a few in making personal contacts.

He urged that regular purchasers prevail upon their friends and neighbors to buy.

Bank deposits here are greater than they ever have been, Feather said, and there are many citizens who could make the purchase of reasonably large bonds who are leaving their money idle on deposit.

Annual Poultry Show Will Be Saturday, Oct. 2

The fifth annual poultry show sponsored by the Artesia Future Farmers of America chapter, as the climax of the boys' and girls' poultry project, will be held at the vocational agriculture department rooms of Artesia Junior-Senior High School Saturday morning, Oct. 2, it was announced by Charles Wallis, vocational agriculture teacher and sponsor of the FFA.

At the conclusion of the show, the pens of four birds each of the contestants will be put up at auction, in order to raise funds to carry the project into another year.

Judging will be at 10 o'clock and the auction will start at 11:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend both portions of the program and is urged to bid on the chickens, which the boys and girls have raised from chicks.

The project started last spring, when twenty-six boys and girls were given twenty-five baby chicks each. They are required to show a pen of a cockerel and three pullets each, which go into the auction.

Three breeds of chickens have been raised and will be shown, White Wyandottes, White Rocks and Buff Orpingtons. The list of prizes will be published next week.

J. C. Floore, Jr., Takes His Life Here Monday

Rifle Shot Is Fatal—Services To Be 3 Today

John Clark Floore, 37, a son of Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. J. C. Floore, took his life Monday evening at the home of his parents by shooting himself in the forehead with a .22-calibre rifle.

Shortly after leaving the table, Mr. Floore went upstairs, from where a shot was heard about 6:30 o'clock. His father found him in his, the elder Mr. Floore's, room, unconscious from the bullet and slumped in a corner with the rifle barrel on his shoulder. He died about 8 o'clock.

Friends said he had been moody and depressed for some time. Sheriff Fred Hill, knowing the circumstances, said no inquest would be required.

Funeral services will be held at McClay Chapel at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church, which Mr. Floore joined April 6, 1919. Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Lowell Naylor, Bill Horner, Guy Stevenson, Garland Rodeout, Louie Burch, and A. P. Rankin.

There survive Mr. Floore his parents, his widow, two brothers, Pfc. Russell Floore, who is stationed at MacDill Field, Fla., and Charles Floore of Artesia, and two sisters, Lucille, Mrs. Phillip Kranz, of Artesia and Mrs. Floy Hartsfield of Gallup.

He is also survived by three nephews, Lt. John Hartfield, Gallup, who is now somewhere in the Pacific theater of war, and Phillip Clark Kranz and Charles Herman Floore of Artesia; an aunt, Mrs. W. H. Stephens of Roswell, and three uncles, Bruce M. Clark of Jacksonville, Tex., Will T. Floore of Fort Worth, Tex., and Sam P. Floore of Washington, D. C.

P. V. Pardon, Early Artesian, Dies in Florida

P. V. Pardon, an early-day lumberman here, died Friday afternoon at Marianna, Fla., according to a message to C. E. Mann, an old friend, from Mr. Pardon's daughter, Mrs. Anna Clark. He was in his late seventies.

Many years ago he engaged in the lumber business in the partnership of Pardon & Sipple, interests in which later were sold to Kemp Lumber Company and Big J Lumber Company.

Mr. Pardon then entered the sheep business with F. E. Turner, his share of which he sold to Turner in about 1916.

Shortly after that the family moved to Louisiana and later to Florida.

During his residence here, Mr. Pardon was one of the outstanding citizens and an active member of the Baptist Church.

He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Anna Clark and Virginia and Alice, and a son, Phillip, who is in the Army.

First CCC Buildings Arrive Here for Prison Labor Camp

The first loads of torn-down sections of buildings from the old CCC camp in Dark Canyon arrived in Artesia to be re-erected for the prisoner of war camp here to housing German labor.

Work on the camp two miles north of Artesia and east of the highway is progressing nicely.

When ready for occupancy about 800 German prisoners will be brought there from the Roswell Prisoner of War Camp to pick cotton and do other agricultural work in North Eddy County.

MOTHERS OF CARTERS ARRIVE SAME DAY

If anyone asks either Mr. or Mrs. Ray Carter if Mother is here and the answer is, "Yes," either he or she might be referring to his or her mother or mother-in-law, for the mothers of both arrived the same day, last Thursday, unknown to each other.

They are Mrs. F. M. Green of Irving, Tex., and Mrs. T. E. Carter of Pampa, Tex.

Bids May Be Awarded This Week on Airport

It is expected the contracts to build the new CAA airport west of Artesia will be let about Saturday, possibly to the firms named a week ago as having submitted the low bids.

Brazos Valley Construction Company of Texas submitted the low bid of $347,707.74 for the work listed under schedule I, that of making excavations and other preliminary work.

The low bidder on schedule II, the finishing job, was made by J. W. Craig of Iowa.

The CAA, of course, has a privilege to reject any or all bids, if deemed necessary.

There has been speculation here as to the bid of the Brazos Valley firm, which was about $95,000 lower than the next bid, as to whether the CAA would accept it on the grounds that the work could not be done for the figure submitted.

It is probable the contracts will be awarded from the bids opened Wednesday of last week at Fort Worth, or that new bids will be sought.

To Have Memorial Service Sunday For Rev. Howden

Memorial services for the late Capt. Frederick B. Howden, Jr., chaplain of the 200th Coast Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, and rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Mission in Artesia and St. Andrew's Church in Roswell, will be held at the two churches Sunday, it was announced by the Rev. Joseph H. Harvey, vicar.

The memorial services will be held at the mission in Artesia at 7:30 o'clock in the evening. Prior services will be held at St. Andrew's at the morning hour in Roswell. Friends of Chaplain Howden and the general public are invited to both services.

A War Department message of the death of Chaplain Howden came to his widow and their three children, Teddy, Alfred, and John, Sept. 11. Since then a card from a Roswell boy, a prisoner of the Japanese, to his parents told them that his chaplain died last December. There is, of course, no way to verify this or to establish the exact date of his death.

Prior to her message last month from the War Department of his death, Mrs. Howden last had word of him, when she received a letter last February that he was a prisoner of war. And that was a year since she had a letter from him.

Ted Howden, as he was known to his many friends in the Pecos Valley, came to Roswell eleven years ago to take his first charge, although he had been assistant rector in El Paso prior to that.

Besides the churches at Roswell and Artesia, he was rector of the Episcopal Mission at Glenoec. He was the son of the late the Right Reverend F. B. Howden, Episcopal bishop of New Mexico.

He was granted a leave as rector about a year before hostilities to serve with the old National Guard company from Roswell, which later was federalized. He sailed with the 200th in September, 1941, for the Philippine Islands.

The exhibit of souvenirs from the various fronts, in one of the windows at The Advocate office, started last week by S/Sgt. R. S. Nelson, has grown considerably and is attracting attention daily.

All of the items are marked to show to whom they belong and what they are.

Sergeant Nelson's item, sent to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Nelson, is a pair of wings from a German officer, taken in the Sicilian campaign.

Pfc. Monroe L. Vallego of a Tank Destroyer battalion, who was at home on furlough, brought a number of items. They are a German belt, pouches and cartridges, lifebelt light, two eagles from German caps or coats, German bayonet, gas ointment, picture of a castle in Ireland where the battalion stayed for a while, and a purse Private Vallego purchased from an Arab in Africa.

The other items were sent to his wife by J. O. Bratcher, fireman first class in the Navy, from the Southwest Pacific. They are a Jap coin and three "cateyes," shells picked up on a beach, each of which looks like a cat's eye.

Second Brother of Rex Wheatley Dies Monday in Texas

Ray Wheatley of Amarillo, brother of Rex Wheatley of Artesia, died suddenly Monday morning at the age of 68 years, the second brother to die in little more than a month. Death came to John Wheatley, also of Amarillo, Aug. 18 from complications a few days after being run over by an automobile.

There survive Ray Wheatley his widow and a daughter, Mrs. Marion Bralley of Amarillo; a sister, Mrs. C. M. Humphries, and the brother, Rex Wheatley of Artesia.

Ray Wheatley at one time was president of the Amarillo Bank & Trust Company and was a director of the Santa Fe Railway. He had been retired about fifteen years and had been poorly for some time at the time of his death.

Rex Wheatley was in Phoenix, Ariz., on business at the time of his brother's death and was unable to get to Amarillo for the funeral because of travel restrictions.

The order applies only to Army personnel.

Stoltery Fires

Stoltery cotton seemed to be anything else the last day they answered two caused by burning cushions in an automobile and in a davenport.

The fire was in the coach of Schnoor about midnight and was confined to the seat cushion and the back seat. Schnoor had left his car on Main Street across a billiard parlor. It is believed a cigarette, which alighted on the coach does not smoke.

Another alarm was at 5 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. E. K. Clark at 414 Main Street. The fire spread to a davenport and being folded in it in the house. No one was at home and was discovered by Mrs. Clark. It is believed a spark from smouldering in the furniture caused the fire.

Two hours after that alarm the fire sounded to call firemen to the new airport site and a prairie fire started and dropped in the public demonstration in connection with the Third War Loan.

OFFERED PATRIOTISM AT A PROFIT

Here's one, which we are going to let Walter Winchell write for us: We think it is ridiculous that the government, to which we all owe so much, actually offers us patriotism at a profit.

SO WE BOW TO DAILY STYLE

In attempting to set a style for The Advocate when the new term, "Victory Garden," came along, we decided to use it just that way, quoted and with capital initial letters.

AND WITH DULL KNIVES TOO

We have been intending to get around to telling you about this for several weeks, but each time something or other—which at the moment seemed of more importance, although that is purely a matter of opinion—would come along and sidetrack it.

IT'S A SURE SIGN EVERY TIME

If we had not otherwise been so informed, we would by now know that Congress has reconvened; copies of the Congressional Record again are coming to our already cluttered-up desk daily.

(Isa. 64:4) Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." (I Cor. 2:9) The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Man and his Maker are correlated in divine Science, and real consciousness is cognizant only of the things of God." Visitors always welcome.

DRUGGISTS CONTRIBUTE VALUABLE QUININE

With the compliments of the nation's druggists, more than eleven million five-grain doses of quinine are now on their way to join the war against malaria. Because seizure of the Netherlands East Indies cut off 90 per cent of the source of quinine supply, the Army called upon the nation's druggists to make contributions. An appreciable quantity of the quinine donated was produced by Germany and Japan, and it now will assist in the war to defeat those nations.

SHE WON'T STOP by shouting Whoa!

Driving on today's crowded streets and highways doesn't give a man time to say "Jack Robinson" or "Whoa" either — when he has to stop in a hurry. Good brakes are the only thing that count then. It pays in more ways than one to have your brakes in tip-top shape. The safest plan is to have your brakes inspected every 3 or 4 months. A simple adjustment then may save your brake lining for many thousand more miles. Come in and have your brakes checked on our fast, automatic Brake Tester. It is accurate and uncovers all brake troubles. Identify our shop by this Happy Bear sign.

ARMY BEBUILDS SHOES FOR REUSE

Approximately six and a half million pairs of Army shoes will be rebuilt during the present fiscal year at plants under supervision of the Quartermaster Corps, Army Service Forces, in Buford, Ga., and Hannibal, Mo. The rebuilding operation in one year will save the government approximately seven million dollars, and will conserve nearly twenty million square feet of leather. Army shoes usually are resoled twice, then sent to Buford or Hannibal for rebuilding. The rebuilt shoes look and wear like the original article and usually are more comfortable because they have been broken in.

Sands of Time

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(From The Advocate Files for Sept. 20, 1928) R. L. Paris loaded out a carload of alfalfa seed Monday. It was sent to Roswell for recleaning before being shipped out. S. S. Ward brought into town this morning the first of his 1928 alfalfa crop produced on the Flying H. They are of unusual quality. He estimates the production will be 4,000 to 5,000 bushels. Martin Yates was appointed by Gov. R. C. Dillon on a committee of New Mexicans to represent the state at the international petroleum exposition at Tulsa Oct. 20. Ray Bartlett, manager of the Majestic Theater, entertained the faculty of the Artesia public schools at a line party last evening. The Artesia Woman's Club held its first meeting after the summer vacation yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. J. Clarke. Buster Knowles of the Cottonwood left this week for Alamogordo, where he will attend the blind school. I. P. Johnson, a farmer living north of Artesia, has demonstrated that you don't have to go to East Texas, where the sand is knee deep, to grow a big watermelon. Mr. Johnson did it right in our own Pecos Valley. He brought to the First National Bank Monday a seventy-six-pound watermelon and presented it to J. E. Robertson. Walter H. Tuchsens, after an argument with a group of men, reported to Phoenix police the loss of his wallet containing $47 and valuable papers. The subject of the argument: How easy it is to pick pockets. Invest some pay Uncle Sam's way.

WORLD NEWS —in— BRIEF FORM

From Near and Far, Some Timely, Some of Human Interest

John Towbery of Philadelphia is ready for the return of pleasure driving. He painted the interior of his car top a heavenly blue, and added lots of stars. He hooked up an insulated ice bucket to his heating system for air conditioning, with a spigot for ice water. John likes music, also. He has an automatic record player in the glove compartment that plays ten polkas without stopping. All he lacks is gasoline.

In San Francisco the meeting of the city board of supervisors droned on. Two front-row spectators went to sleep—audibly. Board President Jesse C. Colman cleared his throat, glanced at the buzzing sleepers, and appointed a committee to investigate the acoustics of the board chambers.

San Quentin, Calif., prison workers, turning out ration books for 8,000,000 Californians, thought of everything. One applicant, sending in blanks for herself and her husband, added a note: "Baby expected in July." Back went an extra ration book—with a two-way name, Mary Joseph. And on the father's book the convict wrote: "Congratulations."

Wilbur Landis of Lancaster, Pa., will have to wait a while longer for his overalls. Mrs. Landis washed them and hung them out to dry. A bird built a nest in one of the pockets, so she left them there. Now there are three eggs in the nest.

In Kansas City, O. R. Stevens, 62, hired to prepare recruiting posters for street display, was locked into the basement of the Maritime Service quite by accident. Stevens called the military police, who referred him to the city police, who referred him to the Fire Department. The night wore on. The phone began to ring. Stevens answered queries about the Maritime Service as best he could. By the time firemen rescued him through a transom he'd recruited two seamen by telephone.

Young Roy Nelson was riding in a Salt Lake City bus—he had to—when he spotted a youth pedaling a bicycle. It was the one stolen from Roy. Roy leaped from the bus, pursued the youth on foot, later enlisted the aid of cruising police, and finally rode home on his own bike.

Subscribers to the Orfordville (Wis.) Journal, a weekly newspaper, had to get along without their newspaper one week. The editor, Ward A. Stewart, and his wife, announced they would be busy supervising detasseling of corn and would not have time to get out the paper.

Warrant Officer Stephen I. Bass, training with Army flying cadets at New Haven, Conn., has set a new record for low flying. Bass was flying a Link Trainer, one of those plane-like devices that keeps an "altitude" record without ever leaving the ground. When he looked over his record, it showed he's been flying 400 feet under ground.

C. B. McKeever of Kansas City rented a safe deposit box to a new customer—who promptly picked up the box and started away. McKeever hastened to explain the box had to stay in the bank vault, to be safe. If he couldn't take the box home, the deal was off, the man declared. "The bank is crazy if it thinks I'm going to come down here every time I want to put something in that box."

Protests against a blaring radio flooded the Los Angeles police complaint board. Hurrying to the neighborhood, police located the trouble causing set. It was in a police station vice squad office.

Late for an appointment in Kansas City Forrest F. Dobbs explained apologetically that he was ordered off a plane at Wichita, Kan., to make room for a priority patron. The man who had been inconvenienced by the wait said he understood. He admitted he was the Wichita priority.

Kansas City detective received the following blackout orders: "At the signal, pin your badges on the outside of your overcoat." They all were coatless—and perspiring. The orders had been copied from those used last December.

The roof-rendering snores of Bolo, huge English bulldog mascot of the Fort MacArthur reception center, at San Pedro, Calif., brought a ban against his sleeping in the barracks. Buddies of Pvt. Paul J. Brown, a cook, claimed Brown's nocturnal wheezes were just as potent, and arranged a contest. Bolo was placed under Brown's bunk, but after ninety minutes of competition crawled out and slunk from the barracks. Brown's pals said. Brown now has private sleeping quarters, too.

The Boston Rationing Board, which has often been asked to interpret OPA directives issued through it, is looking for an interpreter itself. The board recently asked all Boston merchants to file schedules of ceiling prices. Charlie Lee, laundryman, complied with the order—but, his list was submitted in Chinese.

To settle a fishing argument, Howard H. Sell of Pocatello, Idaho, appealed for aid. The attorney general responded: "We are of the opinion that it would be unlawful to fish for trout from the back of a camel."

Bulges under the blanket covering a baby girl didn't look right to customs officers at a border station below San Diego, Calif. Investigation disclosed a pair of shoes—much too large for baby. Inspectors fined the parents the value of the shoes—and confiscated the footwear.

At Kearns Field, Utah, a private invariably bought two bottles of Utah's 3.2 beer. He poured them together before he drank—and explained, one day to a bystander: "I'm used to 6 per cent beer."

Mrs. Dolly Briggs of Los Angeles told police she pinned $4,500 in cash to her slip and laid it on a chair while she bathed. Slip and $4,500 were gone when she returned. Grocer B. A. Dinsmore, in Hollywood, placed a bright half-dollar in his cash register as a decoy—then hid $235 beneath packages on his shelves. Thieves took the $235—but left the decoy.

A marine on leave in Chicago capture a Yankee—and it was no mistake. Cpl. Leo E. Nordman, 25, formerly a cowboy from Albuquerque, and Miss Virginia Yankee obtained a marriage license.

At McGregor, Iowa, Betty Eichendorf lost a valuable diamond in the muddy Mississippi River, then at flood stage. So when the water level dropped to three feet, Herman Kranert went to the spot. With a mud shovel and wire hook, he fished up the ring in fifteen minutes.

Arthur E. Cummings and his wife read quite a bit about being good neighbors with Latin America, although they said it seemed to be mostly just talk. So, when Col. Vicente Peralta was transcribing to Los Angeles from San Francisco as Mexican consul general of the Pacific Coast, and couldn't find a house, the Cummings moved out and gave him theirs. ehTye'r ap53e tD cmfwy theirs. They're living temporarily at a seaside resort.

A Springfield, Ill., housewife trudged all over town to buy an alarm clock, then went to a movie to rest. In a dramatic scene in the movie a nurse reached for a button to call a doctor and simultaneously the newly-purchased clock, snug in its box, sent shrill tones ringing through the hushed theater. The woman beat a hasty exit.

Rudolph Janec, 60, complained to Superior Judge John C. Lewie in Chicago that ten days after he hired a housekeeper he married her and then had to do the housework himself. He was countering the plea of his wife, Florence, 49, for support payments while her divorce bill and his cross-bill for shoes are pending. Judge Lewie denied support money after Janec said he spent $3,000 on his wife in the three months she lived with him.

In San Francisco, Walter Wilson, hotel night clerk, told a hold-up man he had a key for the till, but none for the safe. "I can't be bothered with small stuff," the bandit sneered, and walked out.

Mrs. Joe Bohney, a great-grandmother, appealed to Salmon, Idaho, police and to her husband when a porcupine invaded her garden. One policeman had appendicitis. The other said he didn't have his gun. Hubby was in his be-kind-to-animals mood. So Great-Grandmother Bohney whacked the animal with a shovel and threw it into the river herself.

Henry Bresler, worried about losing his $1,170, sat down on a street corner in San Francisco and took off a shoe, intending to put the money in it. A woman snatched the cash and ran, he told police. Bresler, with one shoe off and one shoe on, couldn't catch her.

At Ramapo, N. Y., Chief of Police Abe Stern was summoned by a group of women who nervously reported seeing a secret army-clad in ghostly white—assemble in a nearby valley, execute a series of marches, then disappear. The chief trained his field glasses on the valley. White objects began to move and the chief relaxed. The army turned out to be 200 geese and ducks—walking on a convalescent home lawn picking up crumbs left by patients.

Tall tales, rivaling those of Paul Bunyan, are being recounted by Kermit Langdok of Wisconsin, FWD service engineer attached to the U. S. Army in a technical capacity in the building of the "American Burma Road," the Alcan Highway from Dawson Creek, Alberta, Canada, to Fairbanks, Alaska. Langdok is at home on a furlough after spending more than nine months aiding in the building of one of the most romantic roads in history.

Among Langdok's experiences was bathing outdoors in 30-degree - below - zero weather. Of course, the catch is that he bathed in a warm spring where the water is always at body temperature and the bathers are protected from the chill winds by a canvas shield. He a llssoet hameiat cmfwy cmfwy also tells of workers on the road, who found petrified fish that looked almost real but are of solid stone.

Another experience in the difficult task of constructing 1,600 miles of new road through Canadian mountain wilderness, swamp, and muskeg, was revealed when an entire section of the road began to move forward and a 100-mile detour was necessary.

These tales sound almost unbelievable but Langdok says they are not only true but that they are not unusual in the tremendously tough job of forcing a highway 1,600 miles long in only eight months so that a wartime supply route would be available between the United States and Alaska by way of Canada.

Langdok's task on the Alcan Highway is to keep more than 350 four-wheel-drive trucks operating in their various tasks. While the road is now open, the big job still ahead is one of improvement, straightening, grading and maintenance. FDW trucks are used on twenty-four-hour convoy duty; some are equipped with snow-plows and help keep the roads open, and others are equipped with all manner of road building, maintenance, telephone, light, and power construction equipment and are doing their bit to help bring victory closer.

There's a bushel of wheat that has gone all-out for the war. It has been sold and resold successively until $121 has been collected on it for the USO and smokes-for-soldiers funds in Des Moines, Iowa. And the final purchaser, a milling concern, milled the bushel into flour, and it will be served in the form of rolls at a Sunday USO breakfast for servicemen.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

BOLIVIAN TIN IS STRATEGIC WAR MATERIAL

The once-fabulously wealthy silver mines of Bolivia, which in the Spanish colonial days yielded immense treasures to hordes of adventurers and explorers, are now engaged in producing a far more humble, but equally as vital element—tin ore. Tin is a necessary substance in the manufacture of essential war weapons and equipment, and is one of the most important contributions of Latin American countries to the war effort—more valuable today than ever before, with the Malayan States, the other principal source of tin, in enemy hands.

Bolivia is sending to the United States almost the total output of her great tin-producing mines, which are high in the "Cordillera Real," 12,000 to 20,000 feet in altitude. Because Bolivia is a landlocked country, without ports and shipping facilities of its own, uniqueness has been achieved in conquering the difficulties of transportation in moving its products to shipping ports on the Pacific coast.

The building of the aerial cable tramway at the Caracoles mines is one of the most spectacular engineering feats ever attempted. Sixteen thousand feet above sea level, this six-mile, double cable road is perhaps the highest one of its kind in the world, supported by half a hundred giant towers. Huge steel buckets, filled with ore, speed over this cable system from mines to mill. The route traverses snow-covered Andean peaks, yawning ravines, and almost perpendicular mountain sides.

Still another phase of transporting Bolivia's tin to the world markets is the arduous mountain route which must be covered from mills to shipping points. Half a century ago, sturdy, sure-footed llamas loaded with heavy ore carried their burden over the Andes in true caravan style. But modern railroads have long since tapped the mineral regions of Bolivia, and a network of connecting lines now permits a constant and quickened flow of products to the Pacific ports of Mollendo, Arica, and Antofagasta.

Potosi is the leading producer of Bolivian tin, mining about half the annual production. The wealth of this district has been legendary and fabulous, from the century of its "silver age," when its riches were proverbial, and reckless, adventurous men flocked to explore the "silver soul" of the adobe town on a barren terrace, 13,000 feet above the level of the sea. In short, Potosi was in colonial days a parallel with our modern "boom towns." In 1545, thousands of Spaniards and Indians crowded the steep mountain trails by mule and horseback; prices of hard-gained necessities soared; flour and eggs were more valuable than silver; silver dust flowed through markets of the narrow streets of the little town in wanton indifference.

Thus, the wealth of the town and the resources of the mines were quickly squandered, and today, the far less radiant tin substance is being taken from the lodes which in a dim past yielded a more fabulous treasure.

Before the war, Bolivian ores were shipped to England, other refineries, and re-exported to the United States. Now, ever, smelters have been built on the Texas seacoast, so that the raw and finished products are received and shipped to the United States. More precious, perhaps, the silver wealth of Potosi, whereas its silver was formerly recklessly, its tin are hoarded with far greater care for every available ton is to supply armed forces with tin, tin ore, and tin products, and to provide preserved foods which must be shipped to our fighting men and allies.

Tank Destroyer Boys Relate Anecdotes of African Experience While Home on Leave

The six North Eddy boys of a Tank Destroyer Battalion were at Camp Henry, Va., along with a number of other boys from the 1st Tank Destroyer Division. They are now home on leave.

One dark night the boys were going someplace with their tanks without lights, when suddenly they heard a terrible racket and turned on their lights and found that they had run into an Arab house and run over a small boy, cutting off both his legs. He died.

At one place they found a good spring on a cliff eighteen miles from camp and fixed up a bathing place. Every evening they went in trucks eighteen miles for baths. Once their heating arrangement broke down so their water was ice cold.

There are poppy fields in Africa, as well as in France. The French there have fine farms with cemented irrigation ditches as long as ten miles.

The English talk much faster than we do and sometimes so funny you can hardly keep from laughing in their faces.

In Ireland the soldiers sometimes had to march on bogs, which are like springs, making them more tired than anything else.

In Ireland Monroe Vallejo was in the same county here his great-grandfather lived.

Near them in Africa once, a large place had been marked off on account of the many mines and booby traps buried there. None of them was supposed to go there, but a few decided they would try to dig up some. One man stepped on one and threw himself to the ground and fell on two more, so was very seriously wounded.

Once about ten boys on a reconnaissance trip went two miles behind the German lines in a jeep, left the jeep and walked two miles more to see if a bridge was in good condition. Then they sat down a while watching through their glasses some Germans on a hill. The Germans with their glasses were watching the Americans and motioned them to come on but the Americans said no.

Soon the Germans fired a shot at the Americans, who thought it was about time to leave, crawling as close to the ground as they could. Then the Germans started a cross fire with machine guns. One boy gave out and stopped. Another missed him and went back and helped him till they all arrived back at the jeep. They piled in and all got safe back to their camp.

The champion women welders of the Richmond and Oakland, Calif., shipyards have been matched in a contest—and blood will flow freely. If Richmond's representative, Miss Gora Leoclots, 20, loses, her co-workers will donate 500 pints of blood to the Red Cross blood bank. Oakland supporters will give 100 pints if their candidate, Miss Edne Slocum, loses.

Loan Committee Will Close War Loan at Fair

The New Mexico War Loan Committee will close its Third War Loan campaign with an exhibit at the State Fair, opening Sept. 26, that is novel to fair visitors. The fair's large industrial building, with 20,000 square feet of floor space, has been used in past years for displays of the implements of peace. Farm machinery, merchandise displays and agricultural exhibits overflowing from Agricultural Hall have filled the building.

This year the one-time industrial hall has been re-named "Victory Hall." It will be filled through with the implements and equipment of war. Fair visitors will see at close range practically all of the equipment required by the air forces now carrying the war into Hitler's European fortress and into the home waters of Japan.

Kirtland Field, the huge Albuquerque air base, is lending the committee sample of high altitude flying suits, oxygen equipment, parachutes, and bombs ranging from 100 to 2,000 pounders.

From the Albuquerque Air Depot Training Station are coming two huge four-motored bombers, one to be placed on each side of the main entrance. Inside, the training station will install a complete field hospital unit, a field kitchen with men in charge to show it in operation, the repair equipment that goes with every force of fighting ships.

Each item in the huge display will be labeled with its production cost in War Bonds, thus bringing home to the people of the home front clear realization of why huge sums of money are required to carry on the war into the enemy camps.

In every other building and in every other detail, fair exhibits will be designed to show the need for food production now and preparation for the peace days to come.

Thoughts On The Care And Use Of Meat

I've been buying meat only two or three times a week presents some real problems in how to keep meats at home, and what kinds to buy so they will keep.

I've discovered one simple little formula. When I shop, I buy a quick-cooking meat for use that very evening and a longer-cooking good-keeping variety for the next night or two.

Sometimes, when they're available, I get chops or ground meat to use right away. At the same time, I get lamb or beef ribs for long cooking, and wieners or sausage to keep.

Any meat that I want to keep for a day or two without cooking, like larger pieces of beef, pork, veal or lamb, I handle this way: After unwrapping it, I cover it loosely in wax paper and pop it right into the refrigerator. I've learned that if it's wrapped too tightly, it may spoil.

Some, I know, store meat in the freezing unit of their refrigerator, or else have a special container for meat. I've tried putting meat right in the freezing unit, because it keeps well for a long time there—but I had a terrible time getting it out again unless I defrosted the refrigerator.

I've been preparing meat for our dinners in a variety of ways, recently. Here are some of the ideas I have found specially good.

Oven Barbecued Ribs—Use breast of lamb or pork spare ribs allowing about a half pound per person. Place whole or half rack of ribs in pan, meat-side up, and cook it about one hour in a 400° F. oven or until brown and done. Turn when half-way through cooking and season with salt and pepper.

KIDNEY SAUTE—Allow 2 lamb kidneys per person. Wash and slice thinly; flour heavily; saute in bacon drippings or other shortening until brown. Add water to cover; season to taste with salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce. Cook until tender over low heat, about 20 minutes. Serve over hot toast, biscuits, rice or noodles.

Last week The Carlsbad Daily Current-Argus ran a story about the opening of the pheasant season in New Mexico and early the next day a hen pheasant was seen seeking sanctuary in the shrubbery in front of Dr. L. H. Pate's office on North Canyon.

The Most Reverend Amelo Giovanni Cigognani, the apostolic delegate, will be presiding prelate at the installation of Edwin Vincent Byrne as Catholic archbishop of Santa Fe on Sept. 23, church officials announced. Monsignor Joseph Giraud of Santa Fe was designated the prelate to assist the delegate.

Gov. John J. Dempsey informed the governor of Nebraska that he would wager a 100-pound sack of pinto beans against a fat Nebraska pig that New Mexico would exceed its quota in the Third War Loan campaign by a larger per capita amount than Nebraska or any other state. That challenge in turn brought one to Governor Dempsey from the governor of Colorado.

Revenue totalling $166,078.79 has been collected from the sale of tobacco tax stamps and dealer permits since the tobacco tax law went into effect July 15, Victor Salazar, state luxury tax director, said. These funds have been held awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court on a mandamus action, which seeks to force a referendum on the tax. Other revenue reports for August announced by Revenue Commissioner J. O. Gallegos, follow: Motor vehicle receipts, $23,619.23, off $12,000 from preceding month. Drivers' license receipts were $4,628 compared with $4,441 in August of last month. Income taxes received during July were $37,299.37 against last year's $3,898.33 for the same month. Gasoline tax collections were $378,484.47 compared with $434,591.49 a year ago.

An increase of between 200 and 250 per cent in wildcat operations in New Mexico was noted by John Kelly, state geologist. "It is the best year for wildcatting since 1937," he said. Wildcat operations are currently being conducted in San Miguel, Rio Arriba, San Juan, Chaves, Eddy and Lea Counties.

Gov. John J. Dempsey announced that arrangements have been made with the University of New Mexico to monitor messages from American prisoners of war as sent out by the Japanese short wave broadcasting station in Tokyo. "In the past," Dempsey said, "many of these messages have been missed and others were only faintly received by individuals."

For this reason I discussed with Carl Whittaker, liaison officer for relatives of the members of the 200th Coast Artillery, of having these messages received at a central place by a station capable of picking up these reports."

As a part of its post-war planning activities, the State Highway Department will make a survey of the origin and destination of traffic in the Las Cruces vicinity. State Highway Engineer F. M. Limbaugh said. A similar study recently was made in the Santa Fe area.

Party Lines Save Copper for Fighting Men

Copper that ordinarily would be used for telephone lines has been going into bullets, planes, ships and tanks. In places where facilities are crowded your cooperation in sharing a party line is helping the war effort. For good service:

1. Please answer calls promptly.
2. Avoid long conversations.
3. If you have a number of calls to make, allow time between so others can use the line.

Red Cross Will Begin Work on Dressings Monday

The surgical dressing room at Red Cross headquarters, at the new location in the Clark building on Roselawn, will open and be ready for work Monday, Sept. 27. Supplies are here and work must begin in full force in order to fold the quota of dressings assigned to this chapter. All Red Cross instructors are requested to meet at headquarters at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

All women of Artesia and the surrounding communities who have been folding the dressings are urged to begin at once and give as many hours each week as possible at the dressing rooms. Other women who have not yet given of their time on the home front are invited to begin next week. There will be instructors each day to teach the new workers. Hundreds of women have not folded a bandage, while others have been compelled to give in some cases far too many hours of their time in order to meet the quota. With new fronts being opened and our fighting men being wounded by the multiplied thousands, the quotas assigned must be met, it was announced at Red Cross headquarters.

Women have had a short rest period while waiting for supplies and again while waiting for the new rooms to be opened. Now work must be rushed. Names and hours spent of each worker will be given for publication for the next few weeks. See that your name is on the list.

Rooms will be open on the following schedule: Monday, 1:30-4:30 and 7-10 p. m.; Tuesday, 9-12 a. m. and 1:30-4:30 p. m.; Wednesday, 1:30-4:30 p. m.; Thursday, 9-12 a. m. and 1:30-4:30 p. m.; Friday, 1:30-4:30 and 7-10 p. m.

Artesians Attend Old-Time Roundup At O'Brian Ranch

The occasion was one celebrating the seventieth birthday anniversary of Mr. O'Brian, an old-time rancher, who recently returned to New Mexico from Texas and purchased the McIver ranch. It was a regular Western, featuring a two-piece string orchestra, violin and guitar, with familiar tunes, which are associated with the jingle of spurs and the lowing of cattle. It was an occasion for many rancher and pioneer cowhands to get together, one which Mr. O'Brian thinks might be revived in the West again.

Pix Rhapsody

It was not surprising that Erich von Stroheim, who has played more military roles than any other film star of his time, should go back into a uniform when he resumed his Hollywood career recently.

The man, so vividly remembered for his striking characterizations of arrogant Teutonic officers in World War I, was a natural choice to do the first screen portrayal in the present war of Hitler's Field Marshal Erwin Rommel. He's seen as Rommel in Paramount's thrill-packed, intriguing story of adventure behind the rout of the Afrika Korps, "Five Graves to Cairo," which is coming Sunday through Tuesday to the Ocotillo Theater with Franchot Tone, Anne Baxter and Akim Tamiroff.

Von Stroheim was a Russian officer in "Foolish Wives," an Austrian in "Wedding March," a German in "Grand Illusion," a Serbian in "Ultimatum," and he even made up as a Chinese in "Les Pirates du Rail." In one of his last French films, "Rappel Immédiate," he played an American Army officer.

As a matter of fact, wearing the U. S. Army uniform was not a new experience to von Stroheim, even before he became an actor. Shortly after he came to America from Austria, where he had been a cavalry officer, he enlisted and served for three years in the First Cavalry Regiment of the U. S. Army. Still in France at the outbreak of this war, von Stroheim would have donned a French Army uniform, if he'd had his way. He volunteered his military services to the French government to fight against the Nazis, whom he abhors, but he was not accepted because of his age.

Ration Book Census Shows New Mexico Population to Be 509,962

The population of New Mexico was estimated at 509,962 by H. L. Galles, Jr., state OPA ration director, who released official figures showing the number of new ration books mailed to New Mexico residents.

Galles said the new Ration Book Three had been issued to 509,962 New Mexicans, including 26,267 books issued to Indians through the Window Rock, Ariz., Indian agency and 11,655 issued through the United Pueblos Agency at Albuquerque.

The official federal census of 1940 gave New Mexico a population of 531,818.

Galles gave these figures as the estimated population of New Mexico cities of 5,000 or more, based on the number of ration books issued:

Albuquerque 68,218; Santa Fe 21,676; Roswell 20,865; Clovis 15,189; Carlsbad 14,639; Las Vegas 13,544; Las Cruces 11,253; Gallup 11,102; Portales 9,105; Hobbs 8,890; Deming 7,736; Raton 6,855; Silver City 6,360; Alamogordo 6,814 and Tucumcari 5,692.

Galles said the Hobbs population estimate was something of a surprise, as the city was listed in the 1940 census as the fastest-growing town in the nation. Population then was set at 10,619.

Number of war ration books issued by counties:

Bernalillo 72,197; Dona Ana 28,009; Santa Fe 27,263; Chaves 27,014; Eddy 25,836; San Miguel 24,414; Curry 21,319; Grant 21,102; Rio Arriba 19,831; Lea 15,922; Colfax 15,715; Valencia 15,118; Roosevelt 13,806; Taos 13,638; Otero 11,020; Torrance 10,453; Quay 10,243; Socorro 9,543; Mora 8,778; Luna 8,505; Sandoval 7,800; Union 7,645; Guadalupe 7,441; San Juan 7,199; Lincoln 7,051; Sierra 4,541; Hidalgo 4,114; Catron 3,734; and Harding 3,657.

A Chicago Navy officer, now on duty at a Southern base, sent his small son to Sunday school down there, he related in a letter to friends. The boy's first assignment was to learn the Ten Commandments. His father asked if he intended to complete the homework. "Gosh no," the boy exclaimed, "why should I? We're only here for the duration, and I won't need them back home in Chicago."

The more bonds the less bondage.

Enough Stoves Will Be Available for All Essential Needs

Enough rationed stoves will be made available to care for all essential needs, residents of New Mexico have been assured by the state OPA office.

Rationing of most type of domestic heating and cooking stoves, which burn coal, wood, gas or oil, was made necessary because nearly all large stove manufacturers have converted their factories to the manufacture of implements of war.

After the first quota period, Aug. 24 to Sept. 30, when reports on number of eligible applicants are available from local boards, quotas will be adjusted on the basis of demonstrated need.

Two young ladies were walking down Fifth Avenue. Suddenly one cut loose with a piercing shriek. "Look," she cried in amazement. "What's so terrible?" asked her friend. "They're only midgets." "Thank goodness," said the other girl, greatly relieved. "I thought for a minute they were rationing men."

Bulldogs Down Roswell Coyotes 6-0 In Season Opener

The Artesia High School Bulldogs pulled one out of the hat Friday evening, when they took the Roswell Coyotes in the season opener 6 to 0 in de Bremond Stadium at Roswell, the first time the local lads had defeated the Chaves County team in fourteen years.

Coach Wayne Riddle made good his prediction that the Bulldogs would break the traditional winning streak of Roswell, when Izzy Juarez trotted thirty-three yards in the second quarter for the only touchdown of the game.

Sucking in the Roswell defense on a double reverse, Juarez ran around end close to the sideline and then doubled back to cross the line nearly under the goalposts.

The play was a climax to a march down the field by the Bulldogs from their eighteen-yard line, with four consecutive firsts-and-ten. The last two of them were made by J. B. Champion on first downs.

The Bulldogs were aided in the parade down the field by a fifteen-yard penalty against the Coyotes for roughness. The attempt for extra point was blocked.

Artesia's touchdown march followed the Coyotes deepest penetration into Bulldog territory, resulting from the recovery of a Bulldog fumble on the Artesia sixteen-yard line. But the nervous Roswell youngsters just didn't have the offensive strength to take advantage of the break and lost the ball on downs after four plays and a five-yard offside penalty resulted in a net loss of two yards. Near the end of the third quarter, the Coyotes again invaded Artesia territory when Ernest Fresquez returned a punt twenty yards to the Artesia thirty, but once more they lacked the power to drive on to a score.

The Riddlemen are ready to meet the Ysleta (Tex.) Indians in the first home game of the season on Morris Field at 8 o'clock Friday evening, determined to keep up the good start made at Roswell last week.

Coach Riddle, after watching the Bulldog - Coyote game, has eliminated some of the weaknesses of the Artesia lads and has developed them further along both offensive and defensive lines.

The probable starting line-up, as announced by Riddle: Line—E. Lapsley, lg; L. Traylor, lt; R. Jones, lg; B. Phillips, c; B. Morris, rg; D. Vallie, rt; L. Dungan, re.

Back—J. Lower, lb; I. Juarez, rh; C. H. Taylor, fb; J. B. Champion, qb.

C. D. Marshall, athletic director, asked that fans who have purchased tickets please use the west gate at Morris Field Friday evening and that those wishing to purchase tickets enter by the south gate.

Beef Cattle Exhibit Will Be Feature Of New Mexico State Fair This Year

New Mexico is a range livestock state, more than 90 per cent of the total are of the state being used for range livestock purposes, growing range cattle and sheep, says Ivan Watson, acting extension animal husbandman of the New Mexico Extension Service.

Approximately 50 per cent of the total agricultural income of the state is from beef cattle. Cattlemen over the state have asked, "Why shouldn't an outstanding beef cattle show be a part of the New Mexico State Fair, which is being held at Albuquerque, Sept. 26 to Oct. 3?"

As an inducement to cattle growers to place their stock on exhibit at the fair, a total of $2,632 is offered in premium money in the open classes: Hereford classes, $1,016; Aberdeen Angus, $840; Shorthorn, including polled strain, $654; fat steers, $122.

There are five premium awards in each class, with top money of $20 for first place in the Hereford classes; $15 for first place in the Angus classes, and $12 for first place in the Shorthorn classes.

In the junior department, $511 in premium money is offered in the various classes of fat, feeder, and breeding cattle. Judging and placing of awards will start at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, Sept. 28.

The junior department classes, 4-H and FFA, will be judged during the morning, and the open classes in the afternoon.

Good livestock shows are made by strong competition, Watson said. Breeders are encouraged to participate, and those interested in the judging to attend.

In San Francisco a light passenger car and a five-ton truck collided. Police Inspector Emmett E. Kelly said the heavy truck skidded across an intersection, turned over on its side and scattered its load of plumbing equipment for yards around. A fender on the car was smashed.

Enrollment in all Santa Fe public schools, with the exception of one grade school, has shown a decline this year over last, R. P. Sweeney, superintendent, reported.

Sam Abernethy's the Chief Rumor-Spiker in our town. If a stranger gets off something like—"I hear they've sunk the S. S. Bumblebee," Sam starts pinning him down. Did he really see it? Where's the evidence? Because Sam knows, like the rest of us, that nine-tenths of the "inside news" passed around by careless folk isn't rumor—it's lies plaited by the Axis to destroy American morale. Take those rumors about drinking in our Army Camps. Actual, official facts from the government's own Office of War Information showed there wasn't a shred of truth in 'em. The boys enjoy a glass of beer occasionally—same as a lot of us do! And from where I sit, they're proving themselves the healthiest, best-disciplined bunch of fighting men in history, like the OWI report stated. That's good enough for me.

Deer Folks:

(Here is a personal letter from Ed L. West, pharmacist's mate second class, who is attached to the U. S. Naval Hospital at San Diego. As a large portion of it is of general interest and he mentions various local boys, those portions are being passed on here.)

Have just been reading my copy of The Advocate, so thought I would drop you a line, seeing as how Uncle Sam pays the postage and I borrowed the paper. My folks send me the paper every week, and I sure do enjoy reading it, finding out who was married, who had a baby, or a divorce, etc.

No fooling, Pot, if the home folks read The Advocate as thoroughly as we service men do, then it is a well-read paper.

I don't know who your Glamour Gal is, but I sure like the "Snappy Shots" column. Whoever writes it, surely gets around.

I saw your note that Herb Matthis was a patient here, so I grabbed a phone and got in touch with him. We had a big time, talking over PW (pre-war) times in Artesia.

I saw Clyde Dunn the other day. He is attending Hospital Corps School; should graduate before long and probably will be assigned here, for a while anyway, if they don't do him like they have me. They put me in charge of the mortuary and forgot about me, I guess. Nine months in one place sure makes you an old-timer in the Navy, in wartime anyway.

By the way, I saw one of the La Bodie twins several weeks ago. He was in the hospital, in from the South Pacific, but was ready to go back to duty the next day. It is surprising how our Artesia people get around.

Well, Pot, it is chow time, so I guess I'd better go get my navy beans. Remember how you used to get them for breakfast? Well, we still do.

When you get the gang around after coffee, tell them howdy for me. Stay right in there on that War Bond drive, boy. I sure liked that big ad last week.

Bye for now, Ed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferron E. Cummins of Lake Arthur have received a card from their son, Sgt. Ferron E. Cummins, Jr., who is in Philippine Military Prison Camp No. 2. ### More Copper Wire Is Now Made Available

One of the most important and significant actions in the War Production Board recently was the new regulation under which more copper wire will be made available to the general public.

Leslie A. Miller, regional director of WPB, announced in Denver that retailers, electricians, radio repair men, and others who sell copper wire to the public may purchase limited quantities and sell it to the public without restriction.

Any retailer or repair man may order up to $100 worth of copper wire for delivery during any calendar quarter.

If he needs more, he may determine as accurately as practicable the dollar value of the copper wire he sold as a retailer or used as a repair man during 1941 and he may buy in any calendar quarter one-eighth this amount.

Three million pounds of copper per calendar quarter have been earmarked for this program.

Civilians must use this with care. WPB officials pointed out, as it will be needed to cover all essential repairs for general public use.

In selling copper wire under the new regulation (CMP regulation No. 9), retailers need not pay attention to any preference rating other than AAA or a farmer's certificate to purchase under priorities regulation No. 19.

Retailers and repair men may buy copper wire from other retailers or repair men without certifications or other formalities.

They may not use the procedure established under the new regulation to obtain copper wire in excess of inventory limits established. Retailers are requested not to sell to persons who may buy it under other CMP procedures.

GUN COVERS PROTECT BIBLES ON LIFE RAFT

Bibles, which are placed on every life raft and life boat on Army transport vessels, are being protected from the effects of salt water by the same type of cover that protects pistols, rifles, and machine guns in landing operations. Curiously enough, the covers used for pistols are of exactly the right size for copies of the Bible, and have been adopted by the Chaplains Corps as a standard protective covering for them. The covers were developed by the Quartermaster Corps from a pliable, transparent, waterproof film known as vinyl. They are buoyant enough to float the Bibles if they are accidentally dropped overboard or washed out of the rafts in heavy seas.

Noxious Weeds Controlled by Winter Method

With many soil conservation districts becoming more interested in the control of noxious weeds and plants, results obtained from the experiments with winter treatment are attracting much attention, says J. T. Stovall of the New Mexico Extension Service.

The general belief has prevailed that chemical treatments were of little or no value if applied during winter months. However, fourteen plots were given the standard carbon bisulphide treatment, which consists of two ounces of the chemical placed in holes six inches deep, and eighteen inches apart in staggered rows. This treatment was given when the ground was frozen from one to four inches deep and, in some cases, where snow was as much as ten inches deep. Later, in May and June, a careful check was made to determine results. Each of the plots was dug and carefully examined for signs of live roots, but in every instance results were the same—100 per cent kill.

This winter treatment has several advantages, according to Stovall, which are: Treating can be done in the slack season of the year; preparation of the land or area is not necessary; tamping of the holes may not be necessary end, if not, will save considerable time and labor; treatment is early enough in the season that crops can be seeded the following year, thereby saving one crop; eliminates much of the "spot work" often required when summer treatment is used; less volatilization of material, and a sharp decrease in the fire hazard.

This does not alter the situation insofar as summer treatment is concerned, but it does mean that a great deal more ground can be cleared up during the calendar year.

One precaution that must be taken is to stake carefully the infested area during the growing season.

It will be forwarded immediately to his former pupil, who was here up to about three years ago, at the training station, where it will be introduced by the station band.

Perhaps the Maritime Service will soon have its own anthem, hymn or march, the same as all of the armed service branches.

Penney Sells 400 Per Cent of Bond Quota in July

Henry J. Morgenthau, secretary of the Treasury, has just telegraphed the J. C. Penney Company congratulations on the magnificent job of War Bond selling which the company 1,610 stores turned in during the month of July.

The Penney Company sold eight and a half million dollars in War Stamps and Bonds in July, 1942, to set a high record for the chain and department store business. This year, in an attempt to surpass the 1942 figures, a quota of ten million dollars was set. The complete report for July, which was forwarded to the secretary last week, announced the amazing total of $42,335,816.85, or four times the quota set for the campaign, and very nearly five times the figure of the preceding year.

In this one month, Penney stores sold 25 per cent more in bonds and stamps than in merchandise. In terms of war equipment, this means 500 fighter planes, 200 light tanks, five destroyers, and five submarines.

News of this July achievement, together with the Secretary's telegram of congratulations, were released at a time when the Penney Company was engaged in an all-out endeavor to go over the top again this September in the Third War Loan drive.

While the Company average of Bond sales for July amounted to 125 per cent of its merchandise sales, individual stores and individual states turned in far greater percentages.

Altogether eight Penney associates sold more than half a million apiece in War Bonds and Stamps. The average Penney associate sold more than $1,000 in bonds and stamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren moved here in November, 1917, and remained about a year. They returned here in November, 1929, and made their home here since. Mr. Warren farmed the greater part of the time here, but worked for some time in the oil fields. The last year he was employed on the ice dock of the Southwestern Public Service Company.

L. B. Feather Urges Rotarians to Get Behind War Loan

L. B. Feather, chairman of the North Eddy County War Savings Staff, as guest speaker at the Rotary Club weekly luncheon Tuesday, urged the members to get behind the Third War Loan drive, which is falling behind.

At that time only about $55,000 of the quota of $202,250 of Series E War Savings Bonds had been subscribed in North Eddy County, he said.

He explained that there also are a number of types of bonds besides the Series E, some of which are only being sold during the current drive, which are advantageous to businessmen.

Feather called attention also to the bond rally and concert by the RAAF band at the high school at 8 o'clock this evening.

Burglars Cart Off Bottled Goods in Night

Burglars broke into The Cantana Bar about 3:30 o'clock Saturday morning and carried off between $200 and $300 in stock, as well as about 50 cents in pennies from the cash register, all which had been left there.

Up to this morning no definite clue had been found by officers as to the identity of the burglars, other than tire marks at the rear of the tavern, where a truck evidently was backed up.

Entrance was gained by the rear door, which was smashed. It is believed a heavy timber or pipe was held between the truck and the door by one burglar, while another applied force with the motor.

The men were heard at work by Mr. and Mrs. Adrain Fletcher and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carter, but all thought it was a truck and men with legitimate business.

J. C. Floore

John Clark Floore, known familiarly to his friends as "J. C." or "Little Coke," was born Aug. 6, 1906, on a farm at Sheldon, Tex. He came to Artesia with his parents in 1913 at the age of 7 years and lived here since. He attended the Artesia schools and graduated from Artesia High School in 1924.

Mr. Floore and Viva Owen were married April 4, 1937. They had no children.

At the time of his death Mr. Floore was an employee of Malco Refineries, Inc. He had been working for the company at the refinery here since April, 1940.

He was employed some years ago by Peoples Mercantile Company for five years, after which he operated a truck line of his own about two years. After that he was employed in the oil fields by Flynn, Welch & Yates about two years before going to the Malco refinery.

Mr. Floore's brother, Pfc. Russell Floore, arrived by airplane in El Paso early this morning from MacDill Field, Fla., and was expected to arrive in Artesia in time for the funeral this afternoon.

Naylor Warns Public Not to Touch Any Bombs

Elmo Naylor, local bomb reconnaissance agent for the Office of Civilian Defense, has received from the Dallas office a warning to the public not to touch any practice bombs, which have been dropped accidentally outside of bombing ranges.

Practice bombs are not dummy bombs, the notice said. They contain a small bursting charge of explosive material and therefore must be considered dangerous.

Naylor pointed out that two of the bombs which were dropped in the demonstration at the new air-

Bond Is Good As Movie Pass Here Monday

"Free Movie Day" will be observed in Artesia Monday, as throughout the nation, it was announced by Ray Bartlett, manager of the Ocotillo and Valley Theaters and chairman of the film industry's War Activities Committee.

On that day the purchase of a War Savings Bond of any denomination at the theater office or box offices will admit the purchaser to either theater.

"Free Movie Day" is part of the nationwide campaign on behalf of the Third War Loan in which the film industry is taking part as a member of the all-American team working with the War Finance Committee. The arrangement was made possible through the cooperation of the Distributors Division of the War Activities Committee, of which William F. Rodgers is chairman and L. C. Griffith is Third War Loan Campaign chairman for the motion picture industry.

The distributors agreed to forego their percentage rentals for attractions played on that day and the motion picture theater exhibitors, in turn, offer free admission to their theaters.

Beacon Earns

The scorebook summary said: "The Artesia Hi Beacon staff members merit praise for their efforts to inform and entertain student readers. The alert, progressive attitude they have displayed should go a long way toward solving the problems presented."

Excerpts from notations in the scorebook: "Ad staff merits special consideration for zeal in making publication of paper possible . . . commendable wartime editorial policy . . . glad to see you remember boys in service."

Mrs. Bildstone said that The Beacon staff not only remembered the boys in service last year, but that they are in receipt of numerous letters from the boys, all asking that they be sent copies of this year's school newspaper.

However, Mrs. Bildstone said, journalism has been sidestepped at Artesia High School this year in favor of other subjects, deemed more essential in training young men and women for their part in the war effort. So she is teaching only English this year.

The award is a direct compliment to the staff of The Beacon both semesters last school year. The editor the first semester was Lewis W. Story and the second semester, Alfred Waller. Miss Helen Watson was assistant editor both semesters. The business managers the first semester were Allen Mills and Bill Brock. Mills and Jack Rogers were business managers the second semester.

post site Sunday by the low-level method were not detonated. These, he said, were dangerous to approach.

The procedure would be to report to the bomb reconnaissance agent, the nearest police officer, or an air raid warden. In the last two cases the agent would be notified and it would be up to him to go to the scene.

Naylor asks that anyone finding a bomb, or knowing of one, notify him or an officer or air raid officer at once.
