

Most Detailed Explanation of Important New Labor Stabilization Program Provisions Given

A detailed explanation of the provisions of the new labor stabilization program of the War Relocation Commission of the New Mexico state—which embraces the state—was given today by Mitchell, acting state director of the WMC.

The new job control program, explained by Mitchell, became effective on Oct. 15 and vitally affects every employed citizen of the state. It contains new regulations which are synchronized with other war-time regulations in effect throughout the nation.

Increases government control of the movement of workers from job to job and from one industry to another. The new program supersedes the regional stabilization program formerly in effect in New Mexico, as well as the special stabilization program in effect in New Mexico, as well as the special stabilization program in effect for the non-ferrous metals industry.

Referral by the USES is also required if the new worker last was employed in agricultural work, and he is to be hired permanently in non-agricultural work. During agricultural slack seasons, a farm worker may be hired for temporary work not exceeding six weeks, without referral by USES or without a "Statement of Availability."

Similarly, the new employee must be referred by the USES, if he is to be hired in the non-ferrous metals industry, or is coming from a job in the non-ferrous metals or lumbering industries.

Hiring exempted from the operation of the stabilization program includes: New employees entering agricultural employment; temporary work of less than seven days' duration, or hiring for part-time work which does not constitute the worker's principal occupation; by or away from state, county, or municipal governments, or their political subdivisions, unless such governmental agencies have applied for coverage by the stabilization program and agreed to conform to the regulations of the program so far as they may under existing laws; school teachers for vacation work, or rehiring them for teaching at the end of the vacation period; domestic service, or hiring those whose last work was in domestic service.

whether they have "Statements of Availability." The list of these critical occupations which is available at all USES offices include such occupations as aircraft engine mechanics, airplane navigators, commercial airplane pilots, blacksmiths, boilermakers, refractory bricklayers, oil well cementers, coke burners, many types of engineers, oil well drillers, mining hoist engineers, installers of telephone and telegraph equipment, linemen, all-around underground miners, and many types of foremen.

Referral by the USES to new employment must be made before the worker can be hired, not only if he is engaged in one of the "critical occupations," but also if the worker is an in-migrant—that is, if he has not lived or worked during the preceding thirty-day period in reasonable commuting distance of the locality of the new employment.

Ball Says Farmers Who Require Financing Should Make Plans Now

With planting time approaching for America's greatest farm production year, an appeal has been issued to Eddy County farmers, who still may need financing, to make necessary arrangements without further delay.

Paul Ball, rural rehabilitation supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, said farmers today are in a better position to obtain necessary operating credit than at any other time in history.

"This is one year," he said, "when every farm owner, tenant, and share cropper in the land can get adequate credit for producing critical food."

"Banks and all of the different public and private credit agencies have plenty of money to lend and they are anxious to put it to work so that this nation and her allies will be well fed. It's the best year, from a credit standpoint, our farmers have experienced."

Ball explained that for those farmers who cannot secure adequate financing from the regular lending agencies, because of a lack of security or because of tenure arrangements, can obtain operating funds from the Farm Security Administration.

The application for loans received this fall and next spring by FSA, he said, are considered mainly to the extent of how much they will boost food production. This agency has streamlined its procedure and has loan money available to meet almost every conceivable farm need.

Under the new war-emergency program, part-time farmers and those residing on small tracts of land are eligible to borrow from

FSA, if they have some land and a desire to produce food, even though it is just for themselves.

Still retained in the FSA financing set-up are the standard loans to new applicants up to $2,500 for purchase of livestock, machinery, food, seed, housing facilities for poultry, and livestock and the like. Supplemental loans may be obtained by present borrowers capable for further increasing production of essential commodities.

Interested farmers may consult with the Eddy County Farm Security Administration committee concerning their needs. This committee is composed of three prominent and successful Eddy County farmers, Enea Grandi, Albert Calvani, and G. R. Brainard. Harry Petree is alternate to the committee.

Eddy County farmers who need additional financing, which they cannot obtain from any other source, and who are interested in increasing their production to feed American fighting forces and civilians and the allies, are invited by Ball to contact him immediately at his office in the courthouse in Carlsbad.

It is estimated that Italy has water power sites that would yield nine million horsepower, but only half of this has been harnessed.

"FOOD FIGHTS FOR FREEDOM"

Yes, Food Fights for Freedom! The very course and length of the war depend on it. It can shorten the war. It can write the peace. If we make the best possible use of it. That means we must cut out waste—use every crumb, every drop. We must stretch the available food supply by eating plentiful nutritious substitutes for scarce foods. Let's remember: every time our armies win a victory, across the seas, that means there'll be less of some foods at home—not more. Each of us can help!

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion. Creomulsion goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-carrying mucus and heal raw, tender, inflamed mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood bark with special process with other tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to give you a bottle of Creomulsion with understanding you must like the way it quickly relieves the cough, permits rest and sleep, or you are to lose your money back. NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Jenkins have received a notice that their son, Dennis, who has been at Camp Wallace, Houston, Tex., is now in the Air Corps, an aviation cadet, and is being sent to St. Louis this week.

A/C Dale S. Hannah, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Hannah of Artesia, has completed his basic flying training at the Pecos (Tex.) Army Air Field. He will now proceed to another station for his last phase of flying training before he receives his wings and commission. Cadet Hannah is a graduate of Artesia High School, class of '40, and is a former student of the University of Oklahoma. He enlisted into the Air Corps June 26, 1942.

For his cool courage and utter disregard for personal safety in helping to save the life of a comrade who might otherwise have perished, Rex Beach, U.S.N.R., aviation machinist's mate first class, whose father, J. W. Beach, resides in Artesia, was presented the Navy and Marine Corps Medal by the president of the United States, the Eleventh Naval District has announced. Surviving the take-off crash of a Navy bomber loaded with bombs during flight operations on Guadalcanal last February, Beach and the plane's pilot labored for ten minutes in the flaming wreckage to extricate an unconscious crew member, Navy officials said. Beach's citation accompanying the medal reads: "For heroic conduct on occasion of the crash of a Navy bomber to which he was attached. When the plane struck the east end of the runway of Henderson Field and burst immediately into flames, Beach, although himself was suffering from cuts on both hands, gallantly remained behind in the blazing wreckage in order to assist in the rescue of a radio gunner who had been jolted into unconsciousness by the crash. Facing imminent danger from the detonation of four 500-pound bombs carried aboard the plane, he and his pilot labored frantically for ten minutes to extricate the helpless man, eventually dragging him clear and taking cover in a fox-hole to protect him against the violent shock of repeated explosions."

Brothers delivered between 400 and 500 steer calves in the first of this week. The steers were trucked in from the Springs ranch, as dry weather places prevented driving them across country.

A few out-of-state hunters, and Forrest Warren left Monday for the Sheldon Ranch headquarters for the deer-hunting season.

J. M. Story had as her dinner guests Friday evening Judge Mrs. G. U. McCrary, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hise Myers, and Mrs. C. Blocker.

At San Diego, Calif., an auctioneer selling confiscated goods sold four pounds of coffee for 80 cents—then discovered ten pounds of sugar had to go with the coffee. The only bidder who had two sugar stamps handy got both items for 40 cents.

They do things alphabetically at the Altus (Okla.) Army Flying School, assigning to each instructor five cadets whose names begin with the same letter as his own. When Instructor Jimmy H. Smith stepped out one morning recently to call the roll of his charges. It went like this—Lynwood C. Smith, Donald J. Smith, Andrew L. Smith, Lloyd Smith, Howard G. Smith. Impressed, Lieutenant Smith called over Lt. Anne M. Smith, the field's first WAC arrival, and the whole lot of them had their picture taken with the group's training plane, "The Village Smithy." The photographer was T/Sgt. James R. Smith.

When Major M. T. Tung of the Chinese Air Force arrived in Northern Ireland, unable to speak English, U. S. Army officer figured it would be tough finding an interpreter for him. But they reckoned without Pvt. Walter B. Smith

Cotton plantations in the Greenville, Miss., area have a new trade outlet. The Washington County Chamber of Commerce reports the sale of 25,000 souvenir cotton bolts to soldiers at the Greenville Air Field during the last year. Now they are seeking to purchase 20,000 additional bolts to fill the demand of Army men wanting to send home "a touch of the South."

The gun crew on a merchantman at Philadelphia says Jimmy is the next best thing to radar. The 7-month-old monkey mascot was born during a bombing raid on North Africa. Now, long before there's any other sign of planes approaching, Jimmy begins making monkeyshines and then heads for a life raft. He hasn't given a false alarm yet.

Mrs. Marie Striker, who works at a war plant in Los Angeles, says she can't find a place to live. Major A. Martin, master of ceremonies at the dedication of the new Woodrow Wilson Army General Hospital, Staunton, Va., made a "slip of the tongue" when he introduced Virginia's Gov. Colgate W. Darden, Jr., as "Kentucky's" first citizen. Governor Darden isn't so sure it was a "slip," though. Neither is Martin. After all, perhaps the gentleman isn't mistaken, Darden said, "because Kentucky was carved out of our great commonwealth." Martin chuckled. "That wasn't a mistake at all. Some friends of mine from Kentucky were on the platform, and they wanted me to somehow, anyhow, say something about Kentucky, so at the first opportunity, I just said 'Kentucky!'"

Carl Maare stopped at an insurance office in Lamar, Mo., to insure his newly-purchased car. "Come on, it's raining," he said to the agent after the policy had been written. "I'll give you a ride home." He didn't though; his car has just been stolen.

Nearly 900 teachers have taken other jobs since the last school term, according to R. J. Mullins, executive secretary of the New Mexico Educational Association. Terming the teacher supply problem one of the major ones confronting education in the state, he said the turnover since last term had amounted to 25 per cent on the basis of reports from 97 of 105 school superintendents. This number compared with a 33 per cent turn over in teachers for all of last year, he said.

Save Deer Skins And Fats for Use of Military

The State Game Department has called attention of all big game hunters to the fact that deer and elk hides are urgently needed for military use.

Hunters are urged to channel their deer skins into the trade, so that they may be processed and used for the armed forces.

The warden gave important instructions relative to the handling of deer skins: "To be of value it is imperative that all skins be properly cared for in the following described manner: Pieces of meat and fat should be removed from the skin.

When the hide has cooled, spread it hair side down, being sure to straighten out all folds and laps. Select a location that has a slight incline so that brine will drain away properly.

"Cover thoroughly every part of the skin with salt. Rub the salt over the skin, especially into the folds and creases. Cover the salted skin with paper so it will not dry out too rapidly.

The warden also urged all hunters in the name of the war necessity to save every bit of fat that can be trimmed from the entrails of game animals, and surplus fats from the carcasses. "Take a flour sack along," he said, "and save this fat and turn it in to your butcher as you would other fats or greases."

Barker also added the "Ten Commandments of Gun Safety" as a further reminder of safe practices. They are:

- Treat every gun with respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety. Carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp, and home. Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions. Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger. Never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot. Never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it first. Never climb a tree or a fence with a loaded gun. Never shoot at a flat hard surface or the surface of the water. Do not mix gunpowder with alcohol.

The "magnetic attraction" that seems set up by a certain synthetic in Conoco Nth oil—patented—enables it to OIL-PLATE. All good plating forms a staunch protective surface, and that gives you the idea of OIL-PLATING. Now think of any OIL-PLATED part in your engine facing another OIL-PLATED part...double OIL-PLATING in between—plus Conoco Nth oil's regular-type liquid film that's extra strong! You can't get more protection than that, while with overweight oil you'd only invite needless drag and dangerous "absentee" lubrication in starting cold. Don't risk it. Consult Your Conoco Mileage Merchant for your lightest grade of Nth, and face Winter fully confident, with your engine OIL-PLATED. Continental Oil Co. Dread Engine Acid is Fought by OIL-PLATING Normal combustion always leaves acids inside of your engine when it stops. Formerly it seldom stood idle long. Soon mileage and speed heated your engine enough to oust acids. But nowadays rationing may force long rests, while corrosive acids gnaw. To combat corrosion, metals are plated. You combat acid corrosion with your engine OIL-PLATED. CONOCO Nth MOTOR OIL
