WHY NOT A STATE FOOTBALL CHAMP?

HERE IS A proposition worthy of a bit of thought on the part of all sports fans, especially the football enthusiasts, of the Artesia community.

The old idea of a statewide football play-off has popped up again, this time presented in a manner which may bring such a thing about.

Although Artesia's Gateway Bowl games were not by way of a state championship, when the movement was started a few years ago it did bring up the subject of a state winner.

We liked the Gateway Bowl and still like the idea, for it was Artesia's own baby. But it appears it has been ruled out and that the 1941 game will have to be the last of that nature.

Of course, that type of instate play is out for the duration. But how about a statewide championship playoff, somewhat after the manner of the play in Texas each year, and the way we determine the state basketball champion team?

The current feeler for a state championship in football comes from Jack E. Jackson of Lovington, whom we presume to be a school man. He has sent out questionnaires to all schools which are members of the New Mexico High School Athletic Association.

Jackson asks, "Why not have a state champion in state football?" and says:

"Already we are picking teams which might be a mythical state champion. Why not have a real champion, proven on the gridiron, in place of a myth?"

"Each year there are several top teams in the state which claim the championship and are willing to have a play-off. New Mexico is the only state we know which does not have a state play-off in high school football. But so far, our association has turned thumbs down on such.

"There are many good advantages: It will give the boys an incentive to play harder knowing there is a goal to be obtained; it will make coaches try harder to put out a winning team; it will create more interest among players, students, and fans; the more interest the fans have the better the proceeds will be at the gate. Of course, high school football is not a business, but it does have to defray its own expenses and we know teams that are not able to get needed equipment.

"We have talked with fans all over Eastern New Mexico and all favor a definite way of deciding a football championship. When there is a play-off there is no dispute about the champion and the winning team gets its glory rather than have it contested or divided.

"We have a system in basketball to decide a state champion, and it works fine. So why not have a state championship in football earned by competitive play and leave off the title, 'Mythical State Champion'?"

"If it is the desire of the schools, then we would like to meet with our New Mexico Athletic Association at its next meeting and see if they would not be willing to work out a system for a state play-off this year and the years to come."

We have talked with W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools; C. D. Marshall, high school principal and athletic director, and F. L. Green, coach, and all are agreed that the proposition has merit. However, the questionnaire has not been answered as yet, as it will require a bit of thought first.

In the meantime, let's hear a little street-corner quarterbacking on the idea. What do you think?

OUR FUN GETS US IN BAD

IN A SPIRIT of levity in last week's issue we kidded the people who attended the recent Republican and Democratic meetings in Artesia at which the respective candidates for governor spoke, pointing out that the waitresses were somewhat miffed because the guests did not tip, except for one two-bit piece.

We slipped up in one respect. We knew, and presumed everybody else knew, that the hosts at the meetings had taken care of the waitresses. So we did not include that statement in our spoutings.

And it seems the ire of members of both parties was aroused, for they feared our readers would think they had not seen to it that the girls were remembered for their fine services.

We did say, however, with the italics used only in this repeat performance: "Although it is not customary for individual guests to tip at public gatherings, the girls are in a quandry and don't know just how to jump."

It was the individuals we were kidding, not the hosts, and it happened we were a guest at both meetings, at neither of which did we, along with the others, dig down. However, had we received the same service as a private guest, we would have kicked in.

And so we want it known no offense was intended. It was our intention to have a little fun only, and in that spirit we wrote our idiotical.

MIGHT HELP KEEP MOSQUITOS OFF, TOO

A SEABEE from Artesia in the Pacific should have no trouble keeping his legs warm, should the weather turn unusually cold for the region in which he is stationed.

And furthermore he is in somewhat the same fix as a soldier we saw pictured in a magazine cartoon the other day. The soldier, talking to his buddy, had an opened package in front of him and he was holding up a bra. "Maw," he was saying, "is getting absent minded. Sis is in the WAVES."

Well, our local Seabee's wife sent him a package the other day, mailed out so as to reach him for Christmas.

And won't he be surprised when he opens it and finds therein a copious amount of leg make-up, which his wife slipped in the package by mistake!

A quitter never wins and a winner never quits.—Harve Thorn in the Harrisburg (Ark.) Modern News.

A swan flew into a 2,300-volt power line near Eastport, N. Y., and the wires snapped. Three communities were without electricity for two hours and the Long Island Duck Packing Company had to shut down. The swan, a fugitive from the Long Island Country Club, flew on as though nothing had happened.

Country's Private Passenger Cars Move to Scrap Heap at Fast Rate

The country's private passenger cars are moving into the scrap heap at a rate which demands the most and fullest observance of conservation measures to prevent disruption of essential wartime transportation services. That is the warning given by the Office of the State Engineer of the Office of Transportation.

The O.T. is charged by executive order with basic responsibility for the maintenance of automobile transportation at a level adequate to meet wartime requirements. The district manager summarized the situation:

The annual rate of passenger car scrapage has increased since the start of the war. No new cars have been produced for more than two years. The supply of used cars in the hands of dealers has dwindled. The average age of cars in use has stepped up sharply.

These private automobiles represent three-fourths of the essential wartime transportation services. Without an adequate number of passenger cars the daily transportation needs of the country cannot be met.

Transportation facilities—buses, trucks and rapid transit—can haul a small share of the essential load.

Conservation of automotive transportation has been necessary for two basic reasons: The volume of supplies—gasoline, tires and repair parts—required to maintain use at pre-war level cannot be made available with increasing production of war materials, and at the normal rate of use the time would elapse when there would not be enough private automobiles to produce absolutely essential transportation since scrapped and over-age automobiles are not being replaced. The stockpile of used automobiles has been steadily declining and now is approaching critical level.

New cars have been produced more than two years and the supply of used cars in the hands of dealers has declined sharply.

The national total of passenger cars surviving will have declined about 28,150,000 on Jan. 1, 1945, to 24,490,000 on Jan. 1, 1945. Increase of 3,750,000 represents estimated scrapage of 1,000,000 in 1942, 1,250,000 in 1943, and 1,500,000 in 1944. Of the 24,490,000 cars surviving on Jan. 1, 1945, estimated 23,750,000 will be immobilized and 740,000 will be immobilized.

Wearing out rapidly of old cars.

Efforts to maintain essential wartime transportation service government has employed various control measures. The supply of new automobiles has been restricted through production controls and tires rationing have been rationed.

The O.T. urges car owners to take the following measures:

Use your car. Four workers in a pool with alternate use of automobiles will save about 50 per cent of the wear and tear of the pool members' cars.

Drive at reasonable speeds. Keep properly inflated. Avoid curb cutting and fast stops and starts.

Use your car properly lubricated. Check battery frequently.

Small repairs made before they become big maintenance jobs. Don't board your car. If you're going to sell it to an essential worker.

General Wharton, Native of Elk, Is Sniper's Victim

Brig. Gen. James E. Wharton, who was killed by a German sniper in Europe Aug. 12, was born at Elk Dec. 2, 1894, the son of an early-day school teacher, John Wharton, and spent his first years in the country west of Artesia. His death was while commanding an Infantry division.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant of Infantry in the Officers' Reserve Corps on Aug. 15, 1917. He immediately went on active duty and was commissioned in the Regular Army in October, 1917. He was promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel shortly after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor and on March 15, 1942, he was raised to brigadier general.

General Wharton had several assignments in the United States after World War I. In July, 1921, he was ordered to Fort Mill, Corregidor, Philippine Islands. Several months later he was transferred to Fort William McKinley, Philippine Islands, where he remained until April, 1923.

Later assignments included tours of duty in Minnesota, Georgia, Washington, D. C., Kansas, and Wyoming. In March, 1942, he was named director, military personnel division, Headquarters Services of Supply, Washington, D. C. He became assistant commander of the 80th Infantry Division, Camp Forrest, Tenn., in July, 1942. He was given an unannounced overseas assignment in October, 1943.

Our Boys

Leland H. Borland, 18, was enrolled recently in an intensive course at the Electrical Naval Training School located at the St. Louis Naval Armory. Selection to attend the school was made on the basis of his recruit training aptitude tests. The complete course of study includes the practical use of electrical tools, soldering, wiring, diagramming, and repairing of telephone circuits. A theoretical phase includes principles of electricity and magnetism. Successful completion of the course will see Borland graduate with recognition as eligible to qualify for the petty officer rate of electrician's mate third class.

First Lt. Harry H. Wyatt, Jr., son of Mrs. Isla Wyatt of Artesia, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial flight while serving with a Twelfth Air Force B-25 bombardment group. He has been overseas with his present group the last five months. During this time he has received the European-Middle East-African ribbon with one battle star for the Italian campaign. Lieutenant Wyatt, a pilot, has flown at least fifty-five missions over Italy and France.

Seaman Robert L. (Bob) Barnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Barnett, has sent his parents a beautiful picture of the U. S. S. Mt. "KEEP 'EM IN THE ARMY," URGES ANNA

A soldier, whose name we cannot disclose for fear the Hillman-Browder-Rosenberg-Roosevelt forces, might bring pressure on the lad, sends five bucks to the Republican campaign fund. With it is a clipping of interest to every man and woman in the armed services in view of the argument between Dewey and Roosevelt that Roosevelt plans to keep the boys in the army because General Hershey has said, "It will be about as cheap to keep them in the armed services as to create an agency to take care of them."

The clipping reveals that General Somerville hurriedly rounded up all the general officers in the Pentagon building recently. There was a great surprise and treat in store for them.

When they arrived, Anna Rosenberg was there to give them a talk. Anna, if you have forgotten, is the woman who was Roosevelt New York regional director of Social Security, at $7,500 a year. A congressional investigation has revealed that Anna was also raking down on the side around $30,000 to $50,000 a year in addition to her salary, by handling certain claims or cases with the proper New Deal officials in Washington.

After a few preliminaries, Anna got right down to business. Anna is a special advisor to the President and had recently returned from a 17-day tour of France, whether at the taxpayers expense, is not revealed. She told the officers before the boys are discharged, they must be "reorientated." They are spiritually and mentally unfitted to be plunged back into civilian life, she declared.

There's another declaration as to the Roosevelt's administration's plans when the war is over for the boys. It comes from one of the most influential members of his unofficial family. Thanks, soldier, we hope your fiver helps stop it.

DEMPSEY RAIDS PUBLIC SCHOOL FUNDS

That's no idle statement or campaign boloney, either. We have the proof from no less an authority than the New Mexico Education Association. We offer it because Governor Dempsey has been boasting and bragging how much better off the schools have been since his party took over state affairs 14 years ago. Mr. Dempsey also claims politics in the schools were eliminated, or practically so, during that period. Let's see about that.

First, let's not forget the "mistake" timber deal of "Hardwood" Ray Rodgers, which the Taxpayers association estimates cost the school children between $150,000 and $200,000; the textbook scandal, which nicked those same little public school kids for some $90,000, and the loss of accredited standings of many New Mexico schools and colleges, because of politics being injected into the schools. Governor Dempsey has failed to take full credit for those accomplishments.

DEMPSEY'S $510,342.59 SAVING

Governor Dempsey claims that during the 14 years his party has been in power, it has saved up $1,300,000 in the General Fund and that Carroll Gunderson, Republican candidate for governor, is amazed. Who isn't? They are amazed at the way he got that money.

But granting you did have that much, Governor, it isn't much of an accomplishment. Take Colorado, for example, six years after GOP governors succeeded New Dealers, they paid off TWO MILLION DOLLARS of debt and have around EIGHT MILLION BUCKS IN THE STATE TREASURY.

From a population standpoint, New Mexico is half as large as Colorado, but your gang has been in twice as long, Governor, therefore we should have at least seven or eight million dollars in the treasury, instead of a measly $1,300,000.

Back to the schools, though, which you claim you want to discuss. You claim the state closed the 32nd fiscal year, June 30, 1933, with $510,342.59 in the general fund. Where did that money come from? Was it through savings your administration had made? It was not. Most of it you had transferred from the public schools funds.

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION PROTESTS

According to a bulletin sent out by the New Mexico Education Association, dated August 9, 1944, you took $277,859.82 (school money) from the Casual Deficit Fund and $95,000 from the EMERGENCY SCHOOL TAX FUND. If our third grade arithmetic is functioning properly, that totals up to $372,859.82, which you have taken from the public schools of New Mexico. Deducting the school moneys from your so-called general fund of $510,000 (round figures), our second grade mathematics, reveals you have only $137,500 (round figures) in the general fund.

Now, Governor, because you have tried to "hornswoggle" and deceive us, we have our doubts any of the figures you have given us are correct.

HOW THE MONEY WAS TRANSFERRED

Some people will wonder, Governor, how you were able to take this money from the public schools and put it in your general fund. Here's how our informants state you did it. You are president of the State Board of Finance and all members are appointed by you.

Now, isn't it a fact, that at least two members of this board—and possibly three—had no previous knowledge of this proposed transfer of funds? Neither did they consent to or approve it. They did not even have the chance. Isn't it a fact that you and a member of the board appointed by you made the transfer in the name of the board?

EDUCATION ASSOCIATION WRITES GOVERNOR

Under date of August 8, did not the New Mexico Education Association write you as follows:

"Reference is made to our correspondence concerning transfer of funds from the State Casual Deficit Fund and the administrative fund of the SALES TAX DIVISION. Our association is DEFINITELY committed to the policy of conservation, protection, and effective use of all revenues and sources of revenues currently available to public schools, and hence I am calling this matter to your attention.

"It is my opinion, based on the attached memoranda, that the transfer of $277,859.82 from the Casual Deficit Fund, and $95,000 from the administrative fund of the Sales Tax Division of the State General Fund, was in error, AND THAT THESE MONEYS BELONG TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS."

The memoranda referred to included among other things citation of the laws concerning this transaction of the Governor's.

DID YOU INTEND TO MENTION THIS, GOVERNOR?

Let's see what The Magdalena News says about politics in the schools.

"Judging from the yawp that is going up from Hot Springs newspapers, that town has ALSO suffered from the effect of political activities in school matters.

"In this immediate section of New Mexico then we have these results from the activities of politicians in school affairs, after promising solemnly to refrain from such activities:

"La Joya school, one of the best in Socorro County, has been well-nigh ruined. Socorro, a few years ago, lost her accredited standing; State College, one of the best colleges in the southwest, is left in turmoil; San Antonio school is in a mess; Hot Springs High School, which its patrons fondly hoped ranked very high, is dropped from the accredited list."

FROM THE FARMINGTON TIMES HUSTLER

"Political influence subversive to the best interests of education was blamed by North Central for the dropping of State College (from the accredited list). Much the same charge was made back when Farmington was dropped from North Central list. Educational systems must be kept free from the influence of politics. Education and politics belong in different spheres entirely."

Those are just a few comments from newspapers on the period which you praise so highly. Do you want more, Governor? We have them and expect to accommodate you.

The writer of this column is scheduled to speak over KOB, Albuquerque, Monday evening, Oct. 23, 6 to 6:15 and will participate in a Veterans program that same evening from 8 to 8:15. One of the other participants will be Joe Kirkpatrick, a discharged veteran of this war—the Roosevelt war to those who insist it was a Hoover depression. We'd be honored to have you listen in.

GUNDERSON RECOMMENDS HOPE-PENASCO ROAD

Carroll Gunderson, Republican candidate for governor, and Governor Dempsey are wrangling over roads. Gunderson wants farm-to-market roads to come first; Dempsey says first place should go to "super-duper" high speed roads. The latter, it is stated, will miss every town and city in the state by one to five miles.

Over KOB, Albuquerque, Sept. 28, Gunderson said: "I'm told that my opponent, Mr. Dempsey, was surprised when I made a talk at Artesia, I said I was opposed to super-speed highways, since that area is oil country.

"In the first place, I DID NOT say I was opposed to taking advantage of every cent of Federal road aid. In the second place, it is possible Mr. Dempsey doesn't know immediately west of Artesia there is the rich farming and livestock district around Hope and Penasco, and that access to shipping points from this area is extremely difficult, because of inadequate farm-to-market roads.

"ONE OF THE FIRST THINGS I SHALL URGE UPON THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION IS CONSTRUCTION OF ADEQUATE ROADS FROM THAT AREA TO ARTESIA."

Gunderson also mentioned roads into other rich farm and ranch sections of the state.

The regular meeting of the Cottonwood Woman's Club will be this afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. E. Green. The program for the October meeting will be a sewing machine clinic. All members having trouble with their machines were to bring them to the meeting. Members are to name a nominating committee for the election of officers, which will be at the November meeting. A county council of Extension Clubs will be at the city hall in Artesia at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

M. Woody made a trip to Artesia last Thursday to purchase parts for the oil heaters at Cottonwood School. The oil pipes which run in to the stoves from the tanks outside have been dug up and cleaned out. Dayton Reser has donated some old belting for swinging seats and more of them soon will be in operation. Because of rain the first of the week, the chopping of weeds in the school yard was delayed. Quite a number of children were out of school last week because of muddy roads and the buses could not run. The school children will receive their report cards this week end for the first time since the opening of school. The seventh and eighth-grade children are practicing a geography play to be given at an assembly at a date to be announced.

War has proved the value of considerate driving. And now this fine national habit keeps spreading.

There's been a fellow-feeling about cars. When it comes to even a dented fender it's no longer a question of who's to blame, but of sparing one another from costly slow repairs—and footwork. Some such spirit has been making live-and-let-live driving so general. It's only logical to be fully as thoughtful of your engine. You'll exercise wise foresight by having it OIL-PLATED.

You can defy internal acid corrosion... engine suicide!... by means of OIL-PLATING. You can do it by changing to popular-priced patented Conoco Nth motor oil—energized to surface your engine's interior with an acid-resistant shield of OIL-PLATING. This is the result of the special Conoco Nth ingredient developed by costly pioneer research. And while fluid oil alone goes draining down to the crankcase, OIL-PLATING remains as closely attached as if it were chromium plating—keeps on serving its special purpose of hampering contact between corrosive acids and metals!

These unavoidable acids of combustion—always had—reach their worst in cold weather, when there is rarely heat enough to get rid of acids. Hence they linger inside—aplenty. But every OIL-PLATED surface is armed against the spread of acid corrosion. That's why you want Conoco Nth oil now... from Your Mileage Merchant's Conoco station. Continental Oil Company

WINNSBORO BLUE GRANITE
"The Silk of the Trade"

And here are the reasons why:
(1) It is superbly beautiful because it is made up of the finest of precious stones and gems.
(2) It is most lasting because it is composed of the most durable minerals known.
(3) The inscriptions on it are clearly legible because of the marked contrast between cut and polished surfaces.
There are many granites which have a surface resemblance to Winnsboro Blue Granite, but they do not possess its durable qualities and lasting beauty. Write for Free descriptive literature.

Miss Helen Jean Evans Bride of Lt. Claude William Keys in Home Ceremony on Saturday Afternoon

Miss Helen Jean Evans, younger daughter of Mrs. L. P. Evans and the late L. P. Evans, and Claude William Keys, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Keys of Mentor, Ohio, were married at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

It was a beautiful home wedding at the Evans home at 1113 West Richardson Avenue. Wedding vows were exchanged at an improvised altar before the fireplace, which was banked with small palms, white and yellow 'mums, and pink gladioli.

The Rev. C. E. Jameson, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Carlsbad, officiated, reading the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. A. C. Sadler, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a gray street frock and a street frock and a corsage of red roses. Lt. Roy E. Oldrup, stationed at the Roswell Army Air Field, was best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, A. C. Saddler, Jr., was born and reared in Artesia and is prominent in social circles. She is a graduate of Artesia High School and attended Southern University of California, Los Angeles. She chose for her wedding a two-piece chocolate brown wool ensemble, with which she wore brown accessories and an orchid corsage. For the traditional something old she wore a brooch, which had been handed down from her grandmother Evans and which had been worn by her sister, Mrs. Sadler, and by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carolyn Evans, at their weddings, and for something borrowed, carried a small white Bible.

Lieutenant Keys, the eldest of four sons, attended Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, before beginning Army service two years ago. He graduated with a class of bombardiers at the Roswell Army Air Field, after which he was made a bombardier instructor at the same field. He has been stationed at Roswell about seventeen months.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sadler for members of the wedding party. A three-tiered wedding cake was first cut by the bride and bridegroom and served from a table beautifully appointed with silver, crystal, and roses.

Wedding guests included the immediate family of the bride, Mrs. L. P. Evans, who wore a smart two-piece ensemble of black tea and when we got back we sat down to tea—and had some fresh strawberry jam, bread and butter, cake, and cheese.

We had had almost two perfect days of weather, but it began to rain while we were having tea, and it didn't seem that it was ever going to let up, so we put on our raincoats and started back. It was even fun riding in the rain. We got back to home base safe, sound, after a wonderful time, took after the bikes back, and I went to the house tired but happy. We figured that we had cycled over forty miles in the two days.

Last evening Lu Clarke and I had been invited out to dinner and bridge at a charming lady's home, one of the ones whom I played with a couple of Sundays ago. She and her husband, who is a surgeon of some repute, have a beautiful home, and they are among the very few who yet have maids — poor thing she is having an awful time running this home with only two; she has always used four. Well, I wish you could have seen the brass in her sitting room. Shine! I suppose that it has been cleaned by a maid every week for years and I thought I had a shine on the few pieces that I sent home—but mine was plumb black in comparison.

Had a delicious dinner and she had made strawberry ice cream for us Americans. It was really more of an ice than ice cream, but with fresh strawberries so it tasted very good. The doctor was busy and could not play, but she had another one of the uppercrust in and we had a nice time.

We didn't eat until about 8 o'clock and it was after 9 before we even got around to playing, and I was just getting so I could breathe again when in came the maid with tea! Well we took out time for tea. Got that down and got them back to playing bridge, and I know we hadn't had two hands until she rung for the maid and I'll be damned if she didn't order beer and ginger beer to be served. We had had beer with our dinner. I'll desay there is never a glass of water drunk by an Englishman, never. So we took out time for another beer. But what I want to tell you was that it was served in pewter mugs with glass bottoms—and the reason that the mugs have glass bottoms in them was that in days of old a man could tip his mug for the last drop and yet keep an eye on anyone that was about that might be wanting to stab him or something. I surely hope that I can find a couple of these to send home; they are wonderful. And the glass in the bottom of this mug was just as clear as window glass — you could keep an eye peeled for your foe and drink your beer at the same time.

Love, Russell.
