Honest Differences

HONEST AND SINCERE differences of opinions make for progress if and provided personalities are not injected into the expressions.

So often, however, when we have a difference of opinion we want to indulge in personalities; we want to get the argument on a personal basis; and we want to lambast one another instead of lambasting opinions voiced by various individuals.

That, of course, is a dangerous practice; it leads to misunderstanding trouble and hampers instead of contributing to progress.

Every individual, of course, is entitled to his or her opinion and we express these views either with or without ample knowledge to back our opinion. That is our right and our privilege.

It is always a mistake to do so, of course, if we are not familiar enough with the subject we are discussing to meet arguments, which are thrown at us after we have expressed our views.

But let's remember that honest differences of opinions, when we evade and dodge indulging in personalities, contributes to progress and advancement, but when we forget the point of the discussion and permit our remarks to become a lambasting of individuals—then we destroy instead of build.

And after all, only those, who reside and live in Artesia, are working toward its growth, development, expansion, and progress.—O. E. P.

Is No Time for a Letdown

AS THIS IS written, most of us are on needles and pins, awaiting the news of the unconditional surrender of Germany, which may come any hour, possibly—or probably, perhaps we had better say—before this appears in type.

If it has come, then we will be in the period of rejoicing or will have passed through that. If it has not come at that time, the period of rejoicing will be yet to come—soon.

But in any case, the joy must not get out of hands and no one should feel that it is a time for hilarity and celebrating. Rather it should be a time of thanksgiving that the European phase of the armed conflict has ended, but with full knowledge that the Japanese phase still must be met and brought to a successful termination.

In the latter we still will lose many fine American boys, some of whom are in Europe today. For them they will have another war to fight. The others will merely continue to fight where they are, without any letdown or breathing spell, while being shifted across the world.

Germany is licked! But the war is not over! We must remember that when the Seventh War Loan campaign opens, it will be far better that we buy War Bonds more freely than ever before, rather than let down, so that the boys in the Pacific can have all of the ammunition and food and other supplies they need, so the fate of Hirohito's supermen will have gone down in ignoble defeat, just as have the supermen of Hitler.—A. L. B.

Brake-Check Program Is Good One

THE AUTOMOBILE, annihilator of space, unfortunately also has been an annihilator of people. In 1944, about 23,400 persons were killed in the United States in traffic accidents. In the same year, 850,000 persons were injured, 70,000 of whom were permanently disabled.

The toll is staggering and sobering. But there is a gleam of hope in a program which is being undertaken by the police officers, under the sponsorship of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, to continue through June 1.

During that period, state, county, and city officers will check the brakes of automobiles involved in traffic violations.

During the brake-check program, the officers will urge all operators of automobiles to have their brakes, as well as other mechanical parts of their cars, checked and put in proper running order.

In New Mexico the law requires that brakes, lights, horns, and windshield wipers be inspected and okayed three times a year. And incidentally, one such check date, May 1, has just passed. Therefore the police in New Mexico have a routine reason, as well as a special reason, for looking your car over at this time.

But such a program as that inaugurated by the IACP should have a carry-over effect, not only during the remaining days of the war, but in postwar days, for it will educate the public in the proper care of cars, and in the prevention of accidents, when there will be millions of new cars on the road.—A. L. B.

Why the Priorities?

WITH THE REPORTS we are hearing from local essential business concerns; the reports we have received confidentially from those overseas; and with the general confusion, which has prevailed and is still prevailing, we are becoming more and more convinced the recent statement of B. Hodson Lewis, Southwestern district manager of the United States Chamber of Commerce, concerning the leadership in Washington, D. C., is true.

Lewis declared there is a small minority leadership in Washington apparently seeking to establish some of the same things in this nation that prevail in the very nations the Allies are fighting.

The average American citizen, who has followed the government activities for the past few years, has been convinced of this fact for some years. He has realized that regimentation has become a part of the government program and the practice of the government dictating to the people instead of the people dictating to the government has been and is now ruling.

Lewis' statement was made in an effort to arouse the American businessman and the average citizen for that matter, to his duty and responsibility. He was seeking to encourage Americans to have a part in their government—a part, which would destroy that leadership, which seeks to rule instead of letting the people rule.

We have all been reminded repeatedly that "Eternal Vigilance Is the Price of Liberty." And when the watchfulness is neglected then the liberty becomes less and less.

For example, we fail to understand why certain firms, concerns, individuals, companies, and corporations, which have been classified as essential and have been given certain priorities in order to obtain or secure needed materials, have to wage a battle to obtain these needed items. We say we find this hard to understand.

"THE OLD FERRETT"
A smile is better far Than forced hilarity; Its memory Lasts much longer.—A. L. B.

Of course, you read in the papers the other day about the jiggler brindle, who, about to make a parachute jump, first removed his false teeth, wrapped them in his handkerchief, and placed them in his hip pocket.

Now don't jump at conclusions; this isn't the one about the fellow biting himself!

But to get back to the story: Upon landing, the toofs dropped out of his pocket and he failed to pick them up. Later, however, he braved both American and German fire in order to retrieve them, which he was very anxious to do, not because he was hungry, but because the password for the day was "Thither."

Since we started off on non-local matters, here is a paragraph lifted from Old Tack's Kol in The Amarillo News. Screwey as is Old Tack, he alone could not have concocted this, but had to have the help of one of the boys in the shop, who pried some type and came up with:

"There isn't anything in the world I like better than home-made nographer. He cannot specify white or black or race. If a Negro is sent and the Negro is told he or preserves from Panhandle fruit and will get more of this year, evidently."

What with shoe rationing and the job storekeepers have trying to keep their stocks and ration stamps in balance, so the OPA will have no cause to romp on them, it was quite a relief the other day when an old customer came into a local store, sat down, and said he needed a new pair of shoes.

The head guy, who waited on him, started to remove one of the customer's shoes, suddenly grinned broadly, and said, "So you're the fellow."

"Spose so, but what fellow?" the customer asked.

"Well, we've been trying for a year to figure out who walked out of here a year ago with one English-cut and one blucher shoe, and you're the fellow."

The customer studied his feet. "Well I'll be darned. So I am. Say, that was a good-feeling pair I had. Let's have the other half pairs."

"Sold," said the head guy, "at half price—ration free."

Aproditie, having seen in this kol recently something about the gal who says she doesn't mind having no hose to wear, except that without 'em she has nothing with which to hold her girdle down, informs us: "Tell her not to worry. She can buy a pair of gadgets to hold it down, and more power to 'er."

So we told the originator of the tale and she informed us that we were wrong in the first place. "I didn't say I had no hose to wear. I do have some, but the problem is just as acute. They're the liquid powder kind."

Speaking about gals, one of 'em has a very pretty pair of fancy

Sands of Time

JUST A YEAR AGO

J. B. (Bun) Murphy was elected commander of Clarence Kepple Post No. 41, American Legion, at the monthly meeting Tuesday, when delegates and alternates for the annual New Mexico department convention at Albuquerque June 22-24 were also named.

Betty Smith, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Wood Smith, and Lt. Frank Schreiber, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schreiber of Bloomington, Ill., were married at St. Phillips of the Hills, Tucson, Ariz., Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. H. Walker of Artesia was chosen president of the state organization of Council of Church Women at a meeting held at the First Methodist Church in Roswell Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Cole was installed president of the Artesia Woman's Club in a beautiful installation service at the final meeting of the club for this year Wednesday afternoon at the clubhouse.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(From The Advocate Files for May 1, 1930.)

The annual convention of the state chapter of P. E. O. is in session in Roswell this week. Mrs. S. W. Gilbert, president of Chapter "J," and Mrs. R. L. Parks, vice president, attended the convention.

Miss Gladys Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Henderson, and Durwood Alden, son of Mrs. Mary Alden, were married Monday at Monterey Park, Calif.

panties—so we heered. Having seen them on the line frequently, another gal in the neighborhood became somewhat interested in them and wondered what the embroidering could be on the pink unmentionables. The owner's husband being overseas, the curious one, in a spirit of righteousness, dug out her hubby's field glasses and spent many minutes studying the step-ins as they fluttered in the breeze, trying to figure out the design.

And then there was the gal who declared she had a truculent husband. "He was furious," she said, "that I hadn't fixed his lunch. The peanut butter and bread were right there in the kitchen and he could fix it himself just as well as I could."

Community Extension Club. Mrs. Elwin Lankford, L. C. Club president, opened the meeting with all standing for a minute of silent prayer for the boys and girls in the service, after which the Lord's Prayer was repeated in union. Mrs. Gahman led the devotions. Rollicall was then called and answered with ice box helpful hints. A lace-covered table had a May-pole and streamers extending to the edge of the table as the centerpiece, at the end of which was a corsage for each guest as she marched around. The entire house was decorated with lovely flowers. Assisted by officers of the Extension Club, served open-face sandwiches, cake, and frosted cakes to Mrs. Elwin Lankford, Mrs. F. D. Girl Scouts

Members of the planning committee for the Girl Scout day camp met Friday morning at the home of Mrs. Fred Jacobs, who is intermediate director and program chairman for the Artesia Girl Scout Association.

Plans were made for handcraft and campercraft courses, with story telling, singing, and games for the Brownies. The camp will be held in the city park from May 21 through June 1. There is to be a small fee of 30 cents, which will help provide a bottle of milk a day for each girl. Those planning to attend are urged to register, with their fees, with their leaders not later than May 15.

Those present at the committee meeting were Mrs. Vilas Sheldon, Mrs. Howard Gissler, Mrs. Carl Byler, Mrs. Glenn Collard, Mrs. Bill Royer, Mrs. George Beadle, Mrs. Gus Arnold, Mrs. Amy Fuller, who will be in charge of the Brownie Camp, and Mrs. Foch, who will direct arts and crafts for the Brownies. The Brownie leaders for day camp met at the home of Mrs. Amy Fuller Monday to complete the organization for the Brownies. Mrs. Mark A. Corbin was a visitor with this group and gave information from national headquarters concerning day camps for scouts.

The Scout and Brownie troops are busy planning Mother's Day parties. Troop No. 1, with Mrs. V. P. Sheldon as leader, had a cookout in the high school park last week. This week members began to learn tin-can cookery. They are specializing in "pioneer drumsticks" at the present time.

To encourage farmers to breed more sows for fall farrowing, the War Food Administration has raised the support price from the present $12.50 to $13 a hundredweight, Chicago basis, for good and choice butcher hogs, all weights up to 270 pounds.

According to County Agent Dallas Rierson, the new support price will become effective immediately and continue to Sept. 1, 1946.

At the same time, Price Administrator Chester Bowles has announced that there will be no reduction before Sept. 1, 1946, from the present ceiling prices of $14.75 a hundredweight, Chicago basis, for butchers and $14 for sows.

The new national fall pig goal has been set at 37,000,000 head—an increase of 18 per cent over the number raised last fall.

RECORD ON MEAT

Despite scarcities and rumors of scarcity, the War Food Administration continues to point out that 1945 meat production is expected to be only about 10 per cent less than year's record production. "This means that farmers and ranchers are still doing a bang-up job," a WFA official said.

We are also offering $2720.00 in War Bonds to our best Victory Gardeners as an added incentive toward helping "Food Fight for Freedom."

Located as we are "Along the Route to Tokyo," Santa Fe people throughout our 13,093 miles of track can "feel" this war. They are working full hours to move along the never-ending loads of guns, tanks, men and munitions.

Perhaps that's another reason why they're not only working harder on their railroad jobs, but are pretty fine War Bond buyers and Victory Gardeners as well.

? YES NO

Any man's chestful of mountain air—compared to his chestful at ground level—can't blare out as much of an oompah. For mountain air is thinned, but up in the Rockies—or out on the plains—or anywhere else right now—it's this air of Spring that's really important! It warns of danger to your car, crying for the real thorough safety of a Springtime change to Conoco Nth motor oil—a change that will OIL-PLATE your engine's insides!

Patented Conoco Nth oil includes an added life-saver—an extra ingredient. This product of long costly research adds little to price, but it bonds protective lubricant to metals direct, in the form of OIL-PLATING—an extra that goes even beyond Conoco Nth oil's great liquid film to curb grinding wear!

Another great quality of OIL-PLATING is its resistance to acids. They're always part of combustion, but they can't freely corrode OIL-PLATED parts. Save those parts to save oil and gasoline—to conserve power and your battery—to fight carbon and sludge. It pays to remember that exactly what you want is Conoco Nth oil—today. ## Mrs. Foster Succeeds Mrs. Cole, as Successful Woman's Club Year Ends

Mrs. E. J. Foster was installed president of the Artesia Woman's Club at the regular meeting Wednesday afternoon. She succeeds Mrs. Fred Cole, who has served well the last year, one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

The new president has served in many capacities in the Artesia Woman's Club over a period of years, as well as being president of the Parent-Teacher Association, and is well qualified for the position, those who have worked with her are agreed.

During the last year she has been second vice president and as membership chairman.

Serving with Mrs. Foster the coming year will be: First vice president, Mrs. Stanley Blocker; second vice president, Mrs. Oren C. Roberts; recording secretary, Mrs. J. D. Smith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Rowland; treasurer, Mrs. Hollis G. Watson.

Mrs. Foster was beautifully gowned for the installation in a lovely white formal.

She appointed Mrs. T. L. Archer custodian, Mrs. Fred Cole parliamentary, and Mrs. Fred Jacobs chairman of the Literary Division.

The officers of the last year, in colorful formal frocks, rivaled the lovely spring flowers used in decoration of the clubhouse. They sat in a large semi-circle at the front. With Mrs. Fred Cole, retiring president, presiding, they gave their reports in turn.

At the close of the installation, Mrs. M. A. Corbin, in behalf of the club, presented both the outgoing and incoming presidents beautiful bouquets of pink and white carnations.

This has been an outstanding club year, the reports showed, with 175 in the Senior Woman's Club, 101 in the Junior Woman's Club, and 20 in the Sub-Deb Club. The attendance has been good, averaging 70 at regular meetings.

One of the major projects of the last year was the installation of a heating plant in the clubhouse, which has been long needed, and the laying of linoleum in both rooms and the kitchen.

The club is having a cookbook published, of which all club members will be proud for years to come, officers said.

It was reported that Woman's Club members have all been actively engaged in war work in most every phase, especially in the sale of War Bonds.

The program the last year has been on "The Idiology of Our Allied Nations." Some outstanding speakers and other features were presented.

At the close of the meeting Wednesday, a lovely springtime fine arts tea was given, at which was displayed a wonderful array of paintings by local artists, tapestry needlework, and flower arrangements. Music during the tea hour was furnished by Mrs. Glenn Caskey and Mrs. D. M. Schenberg at the piano, and Mrs. Donald Bush, who rendered a group of springtime songs.

The tea table was laid with a lovely handmade lace cloth. The centerpiece was a doll, dressed as a miniature artist, with paintbrush in hand, standing before a miniature easel. This was on a large, round mirror, surrounded by yellow and orchid pansies. The centerpiece was flanked on each side by tall, yellow tapers in crystal holders.

A chrysalis punchbowl, from which orchid colored punch was also on a large mirror, surrounded by pansies.

P. T. A. Board Members Give Reports Tuesday

At a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association Tuesday evening, a program was given in which members of the executive board were introduced for reports.

Mrs. Wallace Hastings, parliamentarian, passed out copies of the proposed by-laws, upon which action is to be taken at the next meeting, which will be in September.

The sixth grade was presented by Mrs. I. L. Spratt in a light operetta of a model town. At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Glenn Worthington, president, gave a talk on the goals of the P. T. A.

Mrs. Tom Franklin, program chairman, then introduced W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools, who gave a brief talk on the needs for a parent-teacher group.

He said in part, "People are more concerned about material, rather than spiritual things. There is a definite need for an organization such as the P. T. A. that will try to do something for the children of New Mexico, since in this state one child out of every five does not go to any school."

The school board has discussed a plan for enlarging the school plant and installing a cafeteria or lunchroom at each school, he said, and he disclosed the recreation work of both boys and girls will be carried out this summer and the swimming pool will be opened under city management.

Officers who have been installed for the P. T. A. are: Mrs. Glenn Worthington, president; Mrs. L. A. Former Prisoner Of Japs to Speak At First Baptist

Miss Pearl Todd, who spent 23 years in China as a missionary, will speak at the First Baptist Church at 10:50 o'clock Sunday morning and 8 o'clock that evening.

Miss Todd went to China in 1921 and worked in a girls' school at Che Fu in North China. This certain section has not been destroyed, as other parts of North China have, as the Japanese had occupied three sides of the town. They dropped only enough bombs to make the people submissive. In 1941 no news came in from the outside, boats were not allowed, and the Japanese set up camp just outside the school walls.

As the school was preparing for the annual revival to begin at 4 o'clock, Dec. 8, 1941, Miss Todd was called to the office of the Japanese government at noon of the same day and was told of the attack on Pearl Harbor by Japanese officials. She was then given a week to clear the school of the 200 students and turn over the keys to become a prisoner. Eventually she had to sign the property away on the threat of death. The property consisted of a four-acre plot with the school, dormitory, and residences enclosed by a wall, and belonging to the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention.

Miss Todd was a prisoner until August, 1942, when she was exchanged. She said there was plenty of food, probably because they were slated for the first exchange. Miss Todd told of money being frozen, and finally changed into Japanese national currency, with 20 per cent profit to the Japanese. She related many miraculous deliveries from "The Great Japanese National Government," as they called themselves.

ODT Gives Methods of Breaking In Synthetic Tires for Long Wear

Shortages of carbon black and other tire components; the early advent of hot summer weather in this territory; and needs of the armed services for heavy-duty tires and rubber products—until both wars are won—make it imperative to get every possible mile out of synthetic heavy-duty tires, the maintenance section, Highway Transport Department, Office of Defense Transportation, announced through District Manager Paul C. LaRue.

To get maximum service from synthetic tires, commercial motor vehicle operators must start at the beginning by taking special care in "breaking in" new tires and tubes. Synthetic rubber tread has less resistance to heat than the pre-war natural rubber tread. Synthetic rubber tires do not have extra capacity to withstand overloading, over-speeding, under-inflation, and other abuses, normally absorbed by natural rubber tires, LaRue said.

"Different characteristics of synthetic rubber cause tread and tire casing to become much hotter, in use, and make them more vulnerable to failures due to abuses. The strength of synthetic tire casing is greatly reduced when the casing is continuously overheated for any reason. A short period of severe overheating may cause the synthetic tire to blow out or otherwise fail.

"In addition, synthetic tire tread rubber stretches less easily than natural rubber, and if new synthetic rubber tires are not broken in carefully, cracks may develop in the tread rubber which will cause rapid breakdown of the whole tire."

The ODT "seven suggestions for breaking in, to get best results in use of new synthetic rubber truck tires are:

Break in new tires carefully for at least one month, under light loads, before using them in fully loaded positions. Two methods are: Where same size tires are used on front and rear wheels, always mount new tires on front wheels and use there for one month or more, before rotating to rear wheels; where different size tires are used on front and rear wheels, any tires for rear wheels should be broken in by first running them on some vehicle in slow or short run service, or in lightly loaded service, for at least one month.

Keep tires inflated to air pressures specified by Tire and Rim Association or manufacturers. Do not bleed any air out when tire is warm, even though gauge pressure may be above these values. Use ODT-recommended, comparative air-loss system, in checking and inflating tires.

Reduce or distribute pay load on vehicle so each tire does not carry an excess load.

Keep road speeds to 35 miles an hour or less.

After the breaking in period, rotate tires to more heavily loaded wheels and properly mate for use.

To properly mate tires for dual wheels, measure actual tire sizes. The rolling size of a tire can be determined by measuring diameter of inflated tire with a large caliper or by measuring circumference of center of tread with a measuring tape. After tires have been measured, mount largest tire in outside position.

In mating outer and inner tire, the following differences in sizes should be used as limits: Inside tire should be not more than 3/8 inch less in diameter than outer tire. In terms of circumference, inner tire should be not more than 1 1/8 inches less, in circumference, than outer tire. This method permits different makes of tires to be mated, as this rule takes into account the chief thing involved in mating tires, namely, actual size of mated tires.

Check size of mated tires periodically, about every 5000 miles and rotate, to keep differences in sizes within limits given above. This check can be made on a dual tire axle by laying a long straight edge across the top of all four tire treads, at hub height. This straight edge check will show differences in radius of inflated tires. The radius of any outer tire should not measure more than 3/16 inch larger than the radius of its mated inner tire.

It was emphasized the best reason for following these rules is to save tire casings for recapping. Any lack of sound tire maintenance effort on the part of truck and bus operators helps aggravate the tire shortage and the laying up of trucks because of the shortage of new tires.

SHOULD MARKET WHEN IN SLAUGHTER CONDITION

Because of the critical need for beef, New Mexico ranchmen should market their cattle as soon as the animals are in slaughter condition, A. D. Woofler of the State AAA Committee believes.

"Orderly livestock marketing is always good business," the Socorro county rancher says. "Right now, in view of probable transportation jams in the fall, orderly marketing is essential."

Many Farmers Take Advantage of Federal Insurance on Crops

More than half of the cotton farmers in Dona Ana, Sierra, Chaves and Eddy Counties are now preparing their land for the 1945 cotton crop with the mental comfort afforded them by federal crop insurance. They will not lie awake at night worrying about unavoidable losses which might occur from hail, flood, and other natural causes.

According to W. Leslie Martin, member of the State AAA Committee, more farmers are protected with cotton crop insurance this year than in 1943. "We cotton farmers," said Martin, "worry a lot about shortage of labor, farm machinery, and other agricultural necessities, but it is indeed a relief to know that we have reasonable protection against unavoidable hazards."

According to Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County ACA Committee, 90 per cent of the cotton farmers are protected by federal crop insurance in Eddy County.

A Ft. Worth motorist fined $25 in city court told the judge: "That's too high; that's above the ceiling. I'm going to call O. P. A." He did. The fine remained $25.

Salute to New Commander-in-Chief

It is said of President Truman that as a youth he could plow the straightest row of corn in his county. C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the State AAA Committee, says, "Let's give him every possible assistance in keeping the row straight and true."

The company had recovered the car after it had been stolen from a previous owner who had collected theft insurance from the firm. But the insurance agent isn't so lucky—he didn't have insurance. Lt. The Germans may be supermen, but they apparently aren't very tall. Lt. Nels A. Anderson, Jr., six-foot, one inch lieutenant, wrote his parents in Topeka that he looked all over Germany while with the First Army and still hadn't found a bed long enough for him. CARBON PAPER—The Advocate.

Buell D. Shives of Denver, a foreman at Hill Field, Utah, lent his spare tire to a stranded motorist who promised to return it pronto. Shives waited, but no tire. Then he saw in Hill Field's newspaper an account of a motorist who borrowed a tire, then couldn't return it because the slip of paper on which the benefactor's name and address were written had gone through the family wash. Shives got his tire back from the motorist, W. R. Sanders of Murray, Utah.

After Mrs. Shirley Bernstein lost a diamond ring in a Chicago Loop theater, attendants turned up the house lights full blast to help the search. Detective James Traut stepped in. "You've got to give diamonds the right kind of light," he said, dousing all the lights and using his flashlight. After a few minutes' search, the faint ray spotted the ring. "Moonlight is still better," commented Traut.

At the new location the partners will have the latest type of mechanical equipment for rebuilding engines and lathes for any type of machine repair.

Prior to occupancy by the company, the building will be used this Saturday evening for a benefit dance given by the American Legion, which was invited by Strange, Barnett, and Woerndel to "break in" their new home for them as a contribution to the post's building fund, for which net proceeds Saturday will be used.
