The family moved to Artesia from Oplin, Tex., about 13 years ago.

Soil Projects Are Being Viewed On Tour Here Today

A soil conservation tour in North Eddy County, jointly sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service, County Agent Dallas Rierson, and the supervisors of the Central Valley district, was under way about 10 o'clock this morning, when a motorcade left from the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association office.

It was planned to view bench leveling, concrete drop and turn-out structures, and improved irrigation systems on the John Lanning and R. G. Gooden farms, and equipment in operation leveling land on the W. C. Bradshaw, Martin Yates, Jr., and McNeal farms this morning.

The caravan of farmers, businessmen, and others was to have a barbecue this noon on the Yates river farm, furnished by the First National Bank of Artesia, with other food furnished by the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association and the Chamber of Commerce.

The afternoon program calls for viewing permanent irrigated pastures on the W. M. Jackson and J. W. Collins places, two types of leveling, an improved irrigation system, and concrete drop structures on the Jackson farm, and a three-row windbreak on the L. J. Lorang farm.

Federal Aid Airport Plan Is Explained to SENM Officials

The "National Airport Plan," under which municipalities, counties, or other political subdivisions may receive federal aid to be matched locally, in the building or improvement of airports and airport facilities, was discussed at a meeting in Artesia Tuesday afternoon by William B. Catchings, Civil Aeronautics Administration representative from Fort Worth, Tex., attended by representatives of six political subdivisions of Southeast New Mexico.

Catchings explained that under the general plan, which is to extend to 1953, progressive three-year plans are to be revised each year, in which will be set forth an over-all picture in the establishment of a nationwide system of airports, to serve both commercial and private flying.

Formal applications under the "National Airport Plan" are to be accepted starting Oct. 1, Catchings said, and he advised that those municipalities and counties contemplating taking advantage of federal appropriations, which have been made, should survey their local needs.

An appropriation of 500 million dollars has been made for the plan, to be expended over a seven-year period.

Members of the committee are A. C. Sadler, Jr., chairman, and Chuck Baldwin, Charlie Bullock, Bob Bourland, Albert Richards, Clarence Key, L. C. Pounds, and Buford Gray.

Labor Day Will Be Holiday in Artesia Monday

Artesia business houses will be closed next Monday, Labor Day, at the recommendation of the retail merchants' committee of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, which met last week and listed six days to be regularly observed in Artesia as holidays.

The committee listed two doubtful dates, Victory Day, Aug. 14, and Armistice Day, Nov. 11, about which the members desire to have businessmen and merchants express their recommendations.

It was recommended by the committee that when Christmas and New Year's Day fall on Sunday the holiday should be observed on the Monday following. However, the committee expressed the view that should July 4, Memorial Day, or other holidays fall on Sunday, they should be observed on that day. Labor Day and Thanksgiving day are set by custom respectively the first Monday in September and the last Thursday in November.

Free Enterprise Re-establishment Needed—Watson

The trend of the times is towards a greater political and social control of the lives of Americans, whereas free enterprise should be re-established, Tom Watson, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, declared Tuesday noon, when he spoke on "One Man's Opinion" at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon.

The speaker stressed government control of business and the trend of the last decade to divide the big from the little firms, an application of "divide and conquer," being used by those elements in the nation which wish to conquer business.

Business, he said, is always blamed when things economic do not go well, as in the depression of the 1930's. "It is always easy to make business the goat, as business has never fought back at its accusers," he declared.

The average businessman is too busy to answer accusations, Watson said, as he silently submits, and they grow into general belief, a business suffers.

Watson pointed out that today there are millions of citizens old enough to vote who have known no government except one in which business is controlled by bureaus.

He stressed that the youth of the nation should be taught about private enterprise, for they do not remember having lived under the "American system" of private business. The story of America should be told them, and it will be sold to the youth of today, if it is told properly, he added.

"We have the power to establish again the ideals of free men," the speaker said, declaring, "You and I were born free—into a free enterprise that works. We must

Terminal Leave Pay Application Blanks Now Available Here

Application blanks for terminal leave pay for former enlisted men have been received here by both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars posts and may be had from officers of either organization, Dr. L. F. Hamilton and Alan Thompson, the respective commanders announced.

The blanks are available at the office in the city hall of the North Eddy County Veterans' Advisory Committee, perhaps the most convenient place for the majority of eligible veterans of World War II.

Charles H. Restow, department adjutant of the American Legion, called attention to the fact survivors of dead former members of the armed forces may apply for the terminal leave pay.

Rufus E. Lee was installed Friday evening as commander of the Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 29, Disabled American Veterans, at its regular meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Other chapter officers installed were: Senior vice commander, Alan R. Thompson; junior vice commander, Bud Boggs; treasurer, King Butner; chaplain, O. D. Conner.

He was assisted by Past Commander Lake Frazier of Roswell as officer of the day and John Cummins as adjutant.

Other members of the Roswell chapter present were Past Commander Sam E. Bryan and Lawrence Staeden. Guests of honor for the occasion were John Simons, Sr., father of Donald S. Simons, for whom the chapter was named, and Will Robinson, Roswell, dean of New Mexico newspaper men.

Short talks were made by both Field and Will Robinson, each of whom emphasized "we are no kin," and by Frazier, Simons, Bryan, and Cummins.

All of the speakers complimented Bill Dunnam for his work in organizing the chapter.

The third Monday night of each month was selected as the regular meeting night of the Donald S. Simons chapter.

Refreshments were served and two new members were accepted.

Wonderful Wizards Of Washington Dope Out Sugar Dodge

William H. Black, OPA administrator from Albuquerque, has announced that sugar for sweetening fresh peaches for quick freezing is now available at the Artesia Locker Plant.

He said that in order for anyone to procure the sugar, the fruit must be frozen. However, there is no requirement that the fruit must remain at the plant in storage or in a freezing locker. It may be removed from the plant and taken home immediately.

Black said that when the fruit is thawed or a small amount of water is added, it can be put through the regular canning process.

More detailed information as to obtaining the sugar for fruit for quick freezing may be had at the Artesia Locker Plant.

Lions Commend Council, Medics For Fly Control

The Artesia Lions Club at the regular meeting Wednesday of last week commended the Artesia City Council, members of the medical profession, and all others responsible for the control and near elimination of flies in the community this year.

A letter was drawn up by the club's health and sanitation committee, of which Charles E. Currier is chairman, addressed "To Those Responsible," which reads: "At the regular meeting of the Artesia Lions Club, August 21, 1946, upon suggestion by O. L. Wood that a hard job, well done, should not pass unnoticed, it was unanimously approved that this letter of commendation be written to all who have helped control the annual house fly menace in Artesia this summer, with special reference to the City Council and employees of Artesia, and to the medical profession as a whole.

"It is hoped that this letter will convey to those responsible the gratitude and appreciation of all members of the Artesia Lions Club for their efforts."

Legion Tag Sale And Contributions Bring in $347

The American Legion's tag sale Saturday to help keep open the North Eddy County Veterans' Advisory Committee office in the city hall grossed $315.88, it was reported by Herbert Mathis, chairman, while Bill Dunnam, VAC office manager, said an additional $32 was sent to the office, a total of $347.88.

Although the sum is not as large as had been hoped for, it will make it possible to keep the office open several months more.

Both Mathis and Dunnam said that anyone not having had the opportunity to make a donation Saturday may send a check or cash to Bill Dunnam, Veterans' Advisory Committee, Artesia.

The sale of tags Saturday was made by members of the F. W. C. Club, a group of girls.

Mathis expressed the appreciation of the VAC, American Legion and his committee to the girls and to the citizens who supported the campaign.

And, he added, the city police will continue to pursue speeders beyond the city limits, under the pursuit provisions of the law, whenever necessary.

Harvest This Year Predicted Nation's Biggest

Further improvement in U.S. crop prospects during July now makes the 1946 outlook three points above the all-time record production of 1942. It is six points above last year, Department of Agriculture reports show.
 The wheat forecast jumped 70 million bushels to a new record of 1.16 billion bushels. Spring wheat is forecast at 280 million bushels, compared with 300 million bushels last year; winter wheat, at 880 million against 923 million last year. Corn prospects went up 155 million bushels during the month to push the new corn prospects to 3.5 billion bushels, 16 per cent above last year's harvest.

 Record crops are in sight for corn, wheat, tobacco, peaches, plums and vegetable truck crops.
 Near-record production is in sight for oats, rice, peanuts, potatoes, pears, grapes, cherries, and sugarcane.

Average or better harvests are in sight for hay, soybeans, dry peas, prunes, apricots, and sugar beets.

Below average production is the outlook for cotton, rye, sorghum grain, flaxseed, buckwheat, dry beans, sweet potatoes, and pecans.
 Late summer and fall grazing prospects are only fair. The department said the fall movement of cattle is expected to be greater and earlier than last fall. Growing conditions during July were favorable for the country as a whole, although at the end of the month there was some prospect of drought conditions developing in the southern Great Plains area.

there will be less meat than the near-record supplies of last winter, according to the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

There will be more potatoes, fresh fruits, and vegetables for the balance of 1946, compared with the same time a year ago.
 There may be somewhat less chicken and sweet potatoes.

The current abundance of meat results from marketings of livestock held back in May and June.
 By October, however, a let-up in marketings and possibly larger exports will reduce U.S. civilian supplies below last year. Looking further ahead, BAE says that 1947 meat production may decline a billion pounds, or about 4 per cent below 1946. This reduction would be due to early marketing of spring pigs, an expected smaller 1946 fall pig crop, and a continued decline in cattle and sheep slaughter.

Per person supplies of milk and dairy products will be seasonally smaller during the rest of this year. However, the total per capita food consumption of U.S. civilians for 1946 is expected to be 3 per cent ahead of 1945 and 15 per cent above the 1935-39 prewar average.

MILK, EGG OUTPUT IS SECOND LARGEST

Milk production on farms declined seasonally during July, but the total production of 12 billion pounds was the second largest for any July of record. The output was down 3 per cent below July, 1945, the largest percentage decline from a year ago of any month since January.

Farm flocks laid 8 per cent fewer eggs in July than a year earlier, but 16 per cent more than the 1935-44 average. Production for the first seven months of 1946 is only 1 per cent below the same period of 1945.

The scalpel is an instrument

United Support Is Necessary to Prevent Cotton Surplus Recurrence

United support of the industry-wide program to maintain a high level of cotton consumption through research and promotion is the only real means of preventing a recurrence of the disastrous prewar cotton surpluses, Oscar Johnston, president of the National Cotton Council, said in a message to the cotton interests of Artesia and the Pecos Valley.

Explaining that although cotton's position is the most favorable in many years, the council president said that severe challenges to cotton from artificial fibers, paper, and cheap foreign growths constitute a major problem which can be overcome only through an intensification of the cotton industry's program of research and sales promotion.

"There is no question as to the tremendous versatility and adaptability of the cotton fiber and seed," Johnston said. "Our competitors are fully aware of the great initial advantage held by cotton, which last year supplied 76 per cent of the world's fiber needs.

"At the same time, the competition is spending millions of dollars annually to improve their products and to tell their story to the nation's consumers. Surely, the cotton industry can do no less than give its product the same opportunity."

During 1947, cotton will need to take advantage of every opportunity if it is to keep the pace with competing products, the council leader asserted.

"Fortunately, our industry has built solidly during the past seven years," Johnston said. "Even now legislation is pending which will provide cotton with a research fund of a size which will keep our lint and seed abreast of the competition.

"Through the efforts of the council, cotton has achieved a high position in the field of fashion. Women, who a decade ago scorned cotton except for kitchen dresses, now accept it as the smartest fabric for round-the-clock wear.

"Again, through the council, the industry has built great new markets for cotton insulation, a product which but a few years ago was in the laboratory stages. Even now the potentialities of cotton laminates as a high quality construction material are being fully explored.

"In the field of production and marketing, the council has worked unceasingly to make the fullest contribution to the development of new machines and new practices which will lower the cost of producing and distributing the crop.

"The industry and the council now are making definite progress toward rebuilding the overseas cotton markets which we once enjoyed. The council's foreign trade director soon will make a personal survey of the European markets to determine just what steps can best be taken to increase exports of American cotton."

To the average member of the industry, the cost of all this activity is small, Johnston declared. As an example, he said that the farmer is asked to contribute 10 cents on each bale of cotton ginned. This dime is paid to the ginner, who in turn relays it to the council to be put to work in building and strengthening cotton's markets, he said.

Other interests — merchants, warehousemen, seed crushers, and spinners — are making proportionate contributions, all of which go to make up cotton's war chest.

"The individual dime a bale can do little in cotton's fight," Johnston acknowledged. "It is only when every member of the industry pays in his share on every bale, that the results are apparent in great and lasting benefits to the industry. Full cooperation by all can and will assure cotton's future."

By W. J. Dryden, WNU Farm Editor.

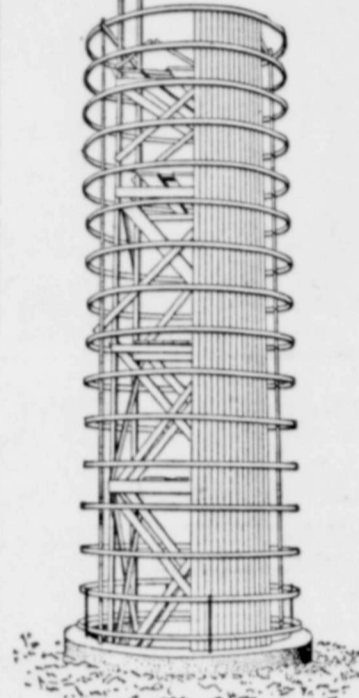

Availability of cash, labor and materials will largely determine the type of silo to be constructed. The farmer must decide whether durability and benefits will warrant high expenditures.

In building any above-ground silo several factors must be considered. The lumber must be well matched, free from large knots and doors fit tightly in order that the walls be airtight.

While octagonal silos are sometimes built, they are not recommended except for urgent financial reasons. The walls should be smooth and withstand considerable lateral strain without cracking or bulging. The exterior wall surfaces should be protected against weathering. The foundations must be large enough with sufficient strength to support the load and avoid uneven settlement and cracking. Silos must be built on well-drained locations.

Complete above silo with chute.

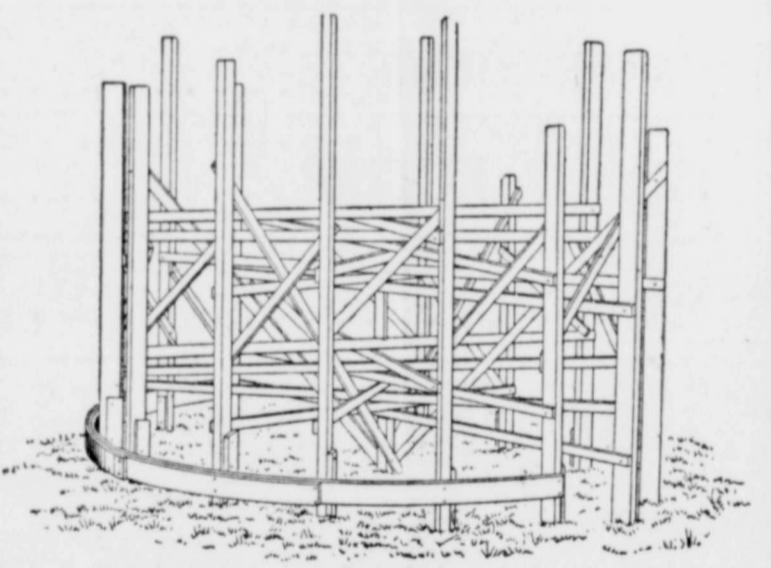

A chute to facilitate feeding and a safe ladder should be included.

As silage should be removed at the rate of 2 to 3 inches a day, the diameter will depend upon the quantity of silage to be fed daily. The height of the silo should not be less average horizontal pressure of 13 pounds per square foot per foot of depth of corn silage, which is too low for silage of sunflower, pea vine, hay and molasses, or very high-moisture corn.

While a roof is not essential, it is desirable. It adds to the stability, appearance and life of the silo, retards freezing, reduces spoilage by keeping rain and snow out, discourages birds from feeding on the silage and makes the work of removing more agreeable.

A trap door in the roof will admit the silage carrier or blower pipe. The filling door should be easily accessible from the ladder or chute. Gambrel, dome and half-pitch roofs are most economical of space and provide more headroom for maxithan twice nor more than three and one-half times the diameter. Foundations will only stand up well if they extend below the frost line and are erected on well-drained soil. In cold climates it is well to extend four or five feet below the surface; in the warmer climates, two feet will be sufficient.

mum filling. In most locations it is advisable to provide lightning protection.

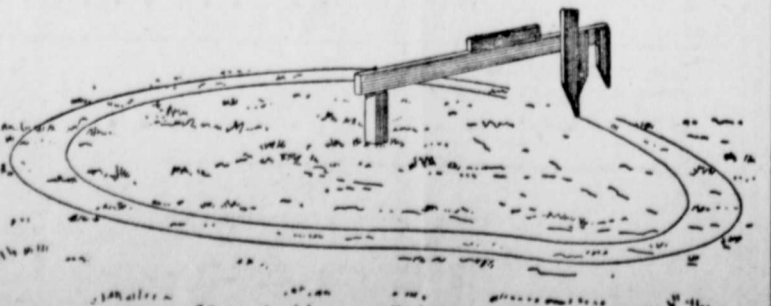

The type of material, whether lumber, plywood, concrete, cement blocks, bricks or metal will depend upon available supply, amount of money to be invested and local materials available.

It Is Not Too Late to Plant A Fall Garden

"It is not too late to make your plans to plant a fall garden," says County Agent Dallas Rierson. "There are some vegetables that can still be planted for a crop this year. These include snap beans, beets, carrots, turnips, radishes, cabbage, peas, lettuce and spinach."

Rierson said snap beans are a very nutritious and easily-grown vegetable that will produce if gardeners plant two months before the first killing frost. "But," he warned, "be on the alert for the Mexican bean beetle, and spray or dust with rotenone, cryolite, or calcium arsenate as soon as they appear."

Table beets or red beets, the county agent explained, are another easily grown, quick maturing vegetable that can be expected to produce an abundance of food. In the warmer parts of the state these may be left in the garden and used as needed.

Turnips, radishes, and carrots are root crops which should not be omitted from fall gardens. The tops and roots are tolerant to rather severe frosts and roots can be left in the ground for later use.

Rierson said that cabbage is another cool season crop which will mature and provide fresh green vegetables for winter consumption. He explained that it can be stored in a basement or pit and will keep well.

In general, he declared, the firmer the heads before bursting, the better they are likely to keep. Good early maturing varieties are Golden Acre and Jersey Wakefield.

The county agent said that leaf lettuce will produce quicker than the head type. He declared that Imperial 44 is one of the best heading varieties and Black seeded Simpson and Grand Rapids are two good leaf varieties.

HEMPHILL SAYS SHIFT IN FUNDS NEEDED

Each New Mexico county has been allocated a portion of the Agricultural Conservation program funds for conservation work throughout the year. This fund has been used to set up individual allocations on farms and ranches throughout the state, according to intentions expressed on farm plan sheets.

C. V. Hemphill, director of the Production and Marketing Administration, said that unforeseen changes in farming and ranching operations may result in these allocations being too large in some cases and too small in others. He urged all farmers and ranchers to review their original plans on conservation practices and notify their county ACA committees if their final intentions disagree with original plans. This will permit the shifting of funds among farms and ranches, thereby obtaining the maximum conservation work in 1946.

WOOL CROPS SMALLER; STOCKS REAPPRAISED

The 1946 crop of shorn wool production, estimated at 298,976,000 pounds, is the smallest since 1927 and 7 per cent below last year's production. Nine per cent fewer sheep have been shorn than last year and 20 per cent fewer than the 1935-44 average. The highest since 1933-34, compared with the 10-year average of 7.98 pounds.

Meanwhile, the Commodity Credit Corporation has announced that its older lots of wool are reappraised in a three-year program which includes reappraising 1943 wools owned by C.C.C. in keeping with prices for owned wools of the years 1944; downward price adjustments of prices of shorn wool are averaging about 5 cents a pound and adjustments in prices of wools which are deteriorating in age.

TAGUA NUTS SUPPLY BUTTONS AGAIN

Tagua nuts, the most used material for button manufacture, are again being imported in large quantities from Equador according to Mrs. Pearl Gettison, clothing specialist at M. College.

The tagua is a palm tree growing in the jungles of Panama, whose large, hard, egg-shaped nuts are sawed into flat layers and shipped to the United States to be colored and shaped into buttons. The finished buttons are colored and shaped into buttons. The finished buttons are colored and shaped into buttons. The finished buttons are colored and shaped into buttons.

Need for Hay, Pasture Seed Quite Urgent

The demand for hay and pasture seeds is still far in excess of current supplies and farmers are urged to harvest every pound possible to meet requirements in this country and in areas being rehabilitated abroad. Provisions of the Agricultural Conservation Program to encourage seed production are continued for the 1946 program, with a special congressional appropriation supplementing practice payment funds to help farmers harvest low-yielding acreage.

Farmers cooperating in the AAA conservation program may earn a practice payment to $3.50 per acre for harvesting alfalfa, red clover or alsike clover, the three seeds most needed. In addition, the 1946 AAA conservation program provides payments of 7 cents a pound for alfalfa and alsike clover and 9 cents a pound for red clover or seed sold into commercial channels. The poundage payments are more than double the 1945 rates, giving evidence of the urgent need for farmers to save clover and alfalfa stands for seed harvest even though low yields are in prospect.

U.S. Cotton Crop Is Figured at About Nine Million Bales

The 1946 U.S. cotton crop of 9,290,000 bales is 3.1 per cent more than the small crop of last year but 3 1/2 million bales below the 10-year (1935-44) average.

The American-Egyptian crop for 1946 is estimated at 2000 bales, compared with 4100 last year and a 10-year average of 22,600.

Prospective lint yield per acre is 247.9 pounds, compared with 251 pounds for 1945 and a 10-year average of 243.2 pounds.

With acreage abandonment equal to the 10-year average, acreage for harvest this season would be around 17,991,000 acres — only 4.4 per cent more than last year's harvested acreage, which was the smallest since 1885.

Only one person in ten over 21 years of age has perfect sight.

It is almost impossible to find a person 40 years of age, man or woman, who has perfect sight.

The average individual has approximately 3500 square inches of skin.

There is a slight difference in the length of every person's legs.

His Farm Fields Are Factories

U. S. FARMERS have made our fields into factories.

We live better than people in other countries because our farmers get more out of the soil.

The steel industry takes pride in the way it has helped bring about this improvement in farm practice. Tools of steel—from the plow-share to the giant combine—have multiplied in number and increased vastly in quality.

Fifty years ago the typical farm in America used about 3 tons of steel. Today the figure is nearer 17 1/2 tons.

That is a measure of the modernization of agriculture and an indication of the interdependence of steel and farming.

We no longer have separate "farm production problems" or "industrial production problems." We have but one set of problems for everybody.

If strikes, for instance, restrict the supply of farm implements and supplies through work stoppages, or make their cost prohibitive, America is out of gear.

Anything which tends in this direction is bad for the farmer—and finally for everybody.
Farmers know it. Everybody else should know it.

Steel mills need all the scrap iron and steel they can get. The shortage is serious. Farmers can get extra dollars and help increase steel output by sending worn-out machinery, etc., on its way to the furnaces. AMERICAN IRON AND

Miss Wanda Starkey, Jack Rowland United in Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Wanda Starkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Starkey, became the bride of Jack Rowland in a beautiful double-ring ceremony at the First Baptist Church on Wednesday last week. Rev. S. M. Morgan heard the vows before an altar decked with stative and pink and lavender asters. Tall white tapers set on either side of the altar were lighted by Miss Christine Wise before the ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Sharlene McGowan of Cross Plains, Tex., sang "I Love You Truly," "Oh, Promise Me," and "At Dawning." She was accompanied by Mrs. L. L. Spratt, who also played the traditional wedding marches.

Miss Starkey, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in a baby blue suit with white accessories and carried a bouquet of white carnations and orchids. For something old, she wore a ring, which was a gift from her grandfather to her mother; her ensemble was new, and a pair of blue garters, borrowed from Miss Rita Baker, served as both borrowed and blue.

Miss Jimmie Starkey, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She was becomingly gowned in a royal blue velvet frock with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of red roses.

F/O Marvin Russell attended Mr. Rowland as best man. Ushers were Raymond James and Pat Cacy.

Mrs. Starkey chose a navy blue afternoon dress with accents of white. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Andy Klapper, mother of the bridegroom, wore a powder blue creation with white accessories, and a yellow corsage completed her ensemble.

A reception for the couple was held immediately after the wedding ceremony at the F. E. Pennell home. Pink and white roses accented the beauty of the house.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, centered the lace-covered table. A selection of tiny pink flowers encircled the cake. After the bride and bridegroom cut the first piece, Miss Clydene Carr of Carlsbad served and Miss McCowan presided at the punch-bowl. Miss Rita Baker kept the guestbook.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland left for Spokane, Wash., and will make their home there after the wedding trip.

school at Albuquerque, is home for a three-week visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Hedges, and family and friends.

Miss Addia Mae Bates, who is in nurse's training at Lubbock, Tex., is home for a visit with her mother and sister in Lake Arthur. Mr. and Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon and their houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. Whit Knowles, are visiting the O'Bannon ranch in the Sacramento Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knowles were honored with a wedding shower held at the Cottonwood School gym Friday night. Mrs. Burl Arbogast, Mrs. A. C. McGuire, Mrs. Whit Knowles, and Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon planned the evening. The gym was attractively decorated with colorful summer flowers and a large number of chairs placed in a semicircle seated almost 200 guests. Inside the chairs, a table was piled high with gifts. After everyone had arrived and was seated, Mr. and Mrs. Knowles were brought in and seated at the gift table. A mock wedding was carried out with Mrs. Eva Crook as the bride, garbed in a window curtain veil and carrying a bouquet of green corn stalks. The bridegroom was Bill Bowman, who was prodded toward the altar with a wooden shotgun in the hands of Jake Dodson, who was attired as a farmer. Rev. Chester Rogers performed the mock ceremony, which was not completed, as the bridegroom left for parts unknown during the reading of the vows. The lovely gifts were opened and admired and everyone signed the guestbook, which was in the hands of Mary Frances O'Bannon and her brother, G. W. O'Bannon, who are a niece and nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Knowles. The hostess served refreshments of iced tea and doughnuts to the guests after which Mr. and Mrs. Knowles furnished music for dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Taylor spent Sunday, Aug. 18, at Ruidoso and attended the steer roping contest. Mrs. Ed Taylor and daughter, Jo Ann, who had been in Ruidoso several weeks, accompanied them on their return home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pearson and family spent a few days in Ruidoso recently.

Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Pearson and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pearson went to Temple, Tex., last week, where Ralph Pearson was to undergo treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice Brownell of Hamilton, Mo., visited last week with Mrs. Brownell's brother, Charlie Powell. Mr. Powell accompanied his guests through the Carlsbad Caverns on Monday of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Knowles, who recently moved to Colby, Kan., are in the Community on business and visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Whit Knowles of Beaumont, Tex., visited Mr. Knowles' sister, Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon, and family and his brother, Walter Knowles, and Mrs. Knowles at Lake Arthur last week.

Richard and Chester Wheeler of Albuquerque are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rogers.

Mrs. John Kentz was hostess at a lovely pink and blue shower last Thursday. The double shower honored Mrs. Joy Cogdall and Mrs. Mack Reynolds and was held at the farm home of Mrs. John Lane. The shower came as a surprise to both the women as each had been invited to a shower for the other one. The opening and passing of the gifts consumed the greater part of the evening and after a few games had been played the hostess served a light dessert course.

Miss Dorothy Ann Nihart, a nurse at St. Mary's Hospital at Winfield, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. John Nihart and family, also of Winfield, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Nihart, last week. Miss Nihart has returned to Winfield, while Mr. and Mrs. Nihart have gone to Hobbs to visit relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Nihart will move this week to Weed, where Mr. Nihart will be coach in the high school this year.

Mrs. J. T. Keesee was the honoree at a pink and blue shower at the home of Mrs. O. B. Bradley Tuesday afternoon of last week. The pleasant afternoon was spent playing games. Mrs. W. J. Laymon, mother of the honoree, presided over the clever guestbook which, in addition to the persons' names, provided a space for a bit of advice to the baby or to the mother. Mrs. Keesee was presented a fishing pole and a pretty pink and blue cradle full of gifts, and was told to go fishing. After the opening and viewing of the lovely gifts, the hostesses, Mrs. Bradley and Mrs. J. R. Porter, served refreshments to Mmes. J. A. Keesee, M. C. Mayberry, W. D. The course of instruction for the school will include lectures on practical arrest problems, riots and unlawful assemblies, the collection and preservation of evidence, automobile theft and burglary investigations, frauds and rackets, and an exhibition of foreign guns of World War II, as well as an outdoor firearms demonstration.

The instructors in this training school will be representatives of the FBI and the New Mexico State Police, as well as representatives of Hobbs.

State Plants Pheasants in Valley Areas

The State Department of Game and Fish reported that 1000 pheasants 12 weeks old were planted in the Artesia-Roswell area the first week in August and that 500 were ready for planting in the Middle Rio Grande Valley, from the department's game farm at Carlsbad. An additional 2500 young pheasants were on hand at the hatchery, to be distributed later.

The department reported that 161 chukar partridges had been planted in the Rocky Arroyo Game Refuge in Eddy County and that an additional 340 chukars will be planted there soon. With a heavy planting planned for next week, the department said it is hoped to determine whether the birds, through heavy planting, can be established in that area.

season were not announced and probably will not be until the game commission meets the last week of this month, but sportsmen believe it will be in December this year, as it was last year, instead of in October as it had been in prior years.

Dates for the dove season have not been announced, but it is presumed they will be Sept. 1 to Oct. 10, inclusive, as in recent years. Nimrods have observed a heavy local dove crop, which is usually augmented late in August or early in September, when they begin to migrate.

Bids Called for On Highway 83 In Lea to Line

The State Highway Commission has called for bids for a highway improvement project in Lea County on that part of State Highway No. 83 extending east from Lovington to the Texas line.

This is another link in this state highway, which enters from Texas and extends across the Pecos Valley and over the Sacramento Mountains. Work is in progress at the present time on some 15 miles of this highway at a point 34 miles west of Artesia. Another part of the highway beyond the mountains in the vicinity of High Ralls also is to be constructed under the National Forest road program.

The 13 miles in Lea County would be improved under the call for bids. The Public Roads Administration twice refused to concur in the awarding of the bids on this project on the grounds that the bids were too high and there was no pressing need for the work.

Governor Dempsey and State Engineer Fred G. Healy took issue with the Public Roads Administration over the project and Governor Dempsey said that politics have been played to prevent federal aid on the project.

FEED DEALERS REPORT PRICES TREND DOWNWARD
A downward trend in the price of feeds was disclosed here this week by Frank L. Wilson of Wilson & Anderson and E. B. Bullock, some as much as $10 a ton.

Both commented that after the OPA regulations were first removed there was a skyward trend, but that feed prices have naturally leveled themselves off and now the trend has started down. And they both expressed the hope it is indicative of a general leveling off of all prices, rather than an exception to the inflationary trend which has been noted.

Stains From Perspiration Can Be Eliminated

Summer garments that hang unworn in the closet because of underarm perspiration stains can sometimes be reclaimed.

These stains often come out with ordinary washing or dry cleaning. For yellow perspiration stains—wash with soap and water, bleach in the sun. For stubborn stains, sponge with hydrogen peroxide.

For fresh perspiration stains—dampen with water and hold over fumes from bottle of ammonia water. Have white vinegar ready to stop the action of the ammonia, if color begins to change.

If stain fails to react to ammonia, sponge with vinegar.

Perspiration odor can sometimes be removed from garments not ready for the laundry or dry cleaners.

One can save all of this time and trouble though by preventing stains. Use deodorants and dress shields with garments dry cleaned. This must be a continuous job. One trial won't do the job.

State's Bumper 1946 Peach Crop May Be Wasted

A large percentage of the bumper peach crop in San Juan, Rio Arriba, and Lincoln Counties may go to waste unless truckers, shippers, and buyers cooperate to move it immediately, A. M. Hauke, economist of the New Mexico Extension Service, said.

San Juan has started to harvest 25,000 bushels of peaches; Rio Arriba 6500, and Lincoln, 45,000. Hauke said the market has been slow in all three counties and urged truckers, buyers, and shippers to contact San Juan, Rio Arriba and Lincoln County extension agents in order to market within the next weeks.

The peach crop for New Mexico is estimated to be a record-breaking 170,000 bushels, Hauke said. "None of this high-quality fruit should be allowed to spoil," he said.

Mardis Says, 'Let's Can This Summer's Fruit'

"As fruit crops are large and canning supplies other than sugar are adequate, let's can this summer's fruits to eat next winter," says Doris Mardis, home demonstration agent for Eddy County. She continued:

"Again this year we will follow the wartime rule of using one pound of sugar to four quarts of home-canned fruit, or a half cup of sugar to a quart jar of fruit. To make sugar go further in canning, light-colored corn syrup may replace up to a third of the sugar. Proportions for moderately thin canning syrup are: Two cups fruit juice or water and a cup of sugar, or two-thirds cup sugar and a half cup corn syrup to the two cups fruit juice or water.

"Sugar is not necessary to keep the home-canned fruit from spoiling but it does help to retain the flavor. It also helps protect the color of the fruit and to keep it from getting mushy. But rather than let fruit go to waste, put it up without sugar. Do not try to stretch canning sugar with molasses, sorghum, or with strongly flavored syrups, or brown sugar. They overpower the fruit flavor. Instead use such sweeteners as these for cooking and table use and thus spare more sugar for canning. And do not use saccharine in canning. It will give the canned fruit a bitter flavor. "Fruit butters are the spreads in which sugar goes furthest, since they make the most of the natural sugar in the fruit. A fruit butter stretches sugar almost twice as far as jam or jelly. A pound of sugar will make eight to nine jelly glasses of fruit butter. Tart apples, apricots, grapes, peaches, pears, and plums are fruits most commonly used for butters. "And, last remember that you can keep fruit and save sugar by drying. Though drying does take time and attention, dried fruits such as apples and peaches are old-time favorites.

GUATEMALA'S BARRIOS

Justo Rufino Barrios has been called one of the immortals of Central America, one who stands as a symbol of progress and unity.

As, for instance, Kansas was named for an Indian tribe, "people of the south wind," while Oklahoma is Choctaw for "red people," and Kentucky is for "wild rushing channel."

California means "land of oven's heat," but Maine was named after an ancient province in France and is not Indian. However, Montana is aptly named, as the word means "mountains."

It is said that Oregon obtained its name from oyerun-gan, a Shoshone word meaning "place of plenty," or from wau-re-gan, Algonquin for "beautiful water."

Colorado, meaning "red," was probably named for the earth coloring in certain sections of the state.

Nevada, meaning "snow clad," was named for its high, snow-capped peaks.

Ponce de Leon named Florida after Pascue Florida, meaning "feast of the flowers," a Spanish celebration, and is not Indian, as some believe.

The state of Connecticut was named after a river. Connecticut means "river whose water is driven in waves by tides or winds."

Massachusetts was the first state to receive an Indian name. It was named after a bay and means "near the great hills."

Washington and Indiana are the only states technically American in name. Washington was christened after the first president. Indiana was so named because large tracts there were purchased and settled by the Indians.

Iowa means "sleepy ones," while Texas is an Indian name meaning "friends," as is Dakota.

Arizona means "place of the small springs," not "arid zone," and Idaho is derived from an Indian word meaning "gem of the mountains."

The Indians had two translations for the word, Wyoming. One of the nation. Advanced legislation replaced old-fashioned unpractical Spanish laws, primary education was proclaimed free and compulsory, modern normal, vocational, and secondary schools were established, highways and telegraph lines as well as railroads were constructed, and hospitals and banks were founded.

Finally, lands were distributed for the development of agriculture and new ports were opened.

In the international field one of the outstanding events in Barrios' 12-year-regime was the settlement of the boundary question with Mexico. Negotiations were being carried on at Washington in 1882, when the dispute suddenly took on a threatening aspect. Barrios immediately came to the United States and shortly was able to reach an agreement with the Mexican government, thus putting an end to the controversy.

With an iron hand, Barrios ruled Guatemala despotically but shrewdly. In 1885 he had succeeded in making it an outstanding country of Latin America. But one of his dreams still remained unfulfilled, the re-establishment of the Union of Central America.

Towards this end he worked unceasingly in spite of the opposition of two of the members of the projected union, Costa Rica and Nicaragua. When he took the decision of achieving by force what could not be obtained by friendly consent, and finally mobilized an army for that purpose, El Salvador, too, turned against him and, joining forces with Costa Rica and Nicaragua, invaded Guatemala.

Personally leading his troops against the Salvadoreans, General Justo Rufino Barrios fell mortally wounded, on April 2, 1885, at Chalchuapa. Thus died a man whose stubborn will and dynamic impatience were, in spite of his errors, always directed towards his country's greatness.

After the death in 1865 of conservative General Carrer, who had ruled the country despotically for 25 years, his successor Marshal Cerna, tried to continue the same regime much against the will of the majority of Guatemalans.

Deported to Mexico, Miguel Garcia Granados, prominent member of the opposition, joined forces with Barrios in 1871 to organize an uprising, the younger conspirator having already attempted several unsuccessful coups. Together, Garcia Granados and Barrios led a victorious insurrection and with the advent of the liberals, Garcia Granados became president and Barrios was made commandant general of the western military district.

The reforms directed against the clergy soon produced disturbances, however, that Barrios had to suppress energetically, even to the extent of waging war on Honduras, which was giving support to the conservative partisans.

Once the country was pacified, Garcia Granados called for presidential elections and Barrios emerged the winner.

Inaugurated in June, 1873, Barrios immediately set to work to introduce reforms in Guatemala. He surrounded himself with the most competent men of his time, and with their aid he was able successfully to put into effect a number of important measures which contributed to the progress of the nation. Advanced legislation replaced old-fashioned unpractical Spanish laws, primary education was proclaimed free and compulsory, modern normal, vocational, and secondary schools were established, highways and telegraph lines as well as railroads were constructed, and hospitals and banks were founded.

Trail Dust

By DOUGLAS MEADOR

We light the candles of tomorrow from the flickering fires of yesterday's hopes. The music of new dreams is tuned to the echo of the past's retreating spurs; an old prayer becomes silt in the passing river of time.

Happiness is a commodity which may be paid for at the time of purchase, or obtained through credit that is secured by a mortgaged on the future. Interest is based on the quality of happiness and the length of the loan.

Torn by the wind, the dawn's pink flesh quivered and tried to hide its hurt behind the golden sails of a cloud. The plains were drained of life. Retreating down the trackless path of the sky, the moon sought escape like a betrayed lover. A strand of black smoke bent south from the flue of a distant farm house. Sunlight spilled across the land, flowing over the empty pavement and down the bleak lister furrows, to wash into the estuary of years the promises and dreams that had dared to survive beyond the passing night.

New warmth rises from the earth and rouses the sleeping grass to stretch tiny fingers through its brown blanket. Spring measures green dresses for the trees, and white blossoms burst from their secret buds in the red clump of wild plum bushes. The lullaby of new birth is in the song of the wind.

Driving phantom herds across rolling prairies of cowboys make camp gather around bright shine through the waterholes in the Milky Way. Crowds the light of stars in the riders listen in ment to a new ranges across the must shake their machine is used to flings and hold them ing iron.

Wealthy and require so little to friendship that its become lost in opinions.

Take a Taxi Executive's word for it!

New Silvertowns "Meet Taxi Requirements"
 "Rain or shine, year in and out, 24 hours of the day, taxis serve the public," says Mr. Thomas A. Ballantine, President of Yellow Cab, Louisville, Ky. "Safety, dependability, and economy are the watchwords of successful taxi operation. B.F. Goodrich Silvertowns meet these requirements."

Safety, Economy, and Mileage choose the tire that WEARS PREWAR TIRES
 The taxi fleets that tested the new Goodrich Silvertown before it was offered for public sale was Yellow Cab, Louisville, Ky. In addition, it was tested on police cars. B.F. Goodrich test fleet over millions in all kinds of weather under severest conditions, and even at high speeds.
 The tests supported Mr. Ballantine's findings... their wider, flatter tread gives better traction and surer, safer grip. The stronger cord body means fewer punctures and service stoppages. And in the new B.F. Goodrich radio quiz "Detect and Collect" with Lew Lehr at M. C. on ABC network, Saturday evening.

Every DAY IS Cleaning DAY at SOUTHERN UNION

You have only to look at your walls and drapes to see how clean your Natural Gas really is...

Housekeepers usually give the house a superficial cleaning daily and save the heavy work for seasonal cleaning. But, at Southern Union, the heavy work comes day by day... hour by hour. Every cubic foot of natural gas that comes into your home is thoroughly "scrubbed" between the gas well and your home meter. Why?

To answer, we suggest that you look at the inside surface of a radio tube. It seems impossible for a grain of dust to enter, but through some quirk of nature dust seems to get anywhere and everywhere. And so it is with Natural Gas... along the line, even under pressure, dust and sediment creep in at connections, etc. So, Southern Union has installed what are called "scrubbers" to take the dirt out of your Natural Gas... just one of the many "behind-the-scenes" services that you never see.

This scrubbing means steady burning, full benefit from the gas you use, no sluggishness, and longer life to your gas appliances. It is one of the ways your Gas Company has to improve "nature's most perfect fuel."

Wills Brings in Eddy Oil Producer, Stakes Two More Adjacent Locations

Of two completions in the Eddy County oil fields the last week, one was a producer, while the other was plugged and abandoned.

Two new locations were made, both by Neil H. Wills, who brought in the producer. They were Wills 17, NW SW 13-20-28, and Wills 18, SW SW 13-20-28.

The producer was the Wills 16, SW SW 13-20-28, which pumped 48 barrels of oil per day, after shot, from a total depth of 812 feet.

Plugged and abandoned was the R. F. Munsen, State 1, SW NE 36-19-28, at a total depth of 1447 feet, because of a hole full of sulphur water.

F. A. Miller and D. A. Miller of Artesia, who are interested in the Eidal No. 1, a rank wildcat in the Estancia Valley of Torrance County, report the well drilling ahead below 700 feet, with a 20-inch hole.

Interest Grows in Proposed Series Of Concerts to Be Presented Here

With interest growing in the proposed series of concerts to be presented here this year the enrolling of members in the Artesia Concert Association is continuing with the expectation that some 400 members may be secured.

The campaign for members opened last week with a fine response and with indications no great amount of difficulty will be encountered in securing the required 250 or the goal, which the association has set, of 400.

The membership campaign ends Saturday. All desiring to secure memberships are urged to contact one of the members of the committee before or not later than Saturday.

It also was announced there would be no single admission tickets sold to any of the concerts, which are to be presented. Only those who purchase memberships in the association and who are automatically members of the association, will be admitted to the various programs presented.

Those who desire to attend and enjoy the concerts, can only do so by purchasing memberships.

Many, it was said, have stated when contacted they would buy single admission or individual tickets when the programs are presented, but it was pointed out this can not be done because no single admission tickets will be sold or will be available for any of the programs.

Grady Booker is general chairman of the association while Mrs. Fred Cole is chairman of the membership enrollment. Mrs. Clyde Parrish is secretary of the organization.

Memberships are $3 each and these memberships may be secured from any of the officers of the association or from any of the various workers. Those conducting the membership campaign include Mrs. Howard Whitson, Mrs. Tom Sively, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Oscar Pearson, Mrs. H. C. Golden, Mrs. Johney Cockburn, Mrs. J. T. Caudle, Mrs. Bert Bidwell, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mrs. Dave Bunting, Mrs. A. R. Company, Mrs. Donald Teed, Mrs. Stanley Carper, Mrs. M. A. Mapes, Mrs. W. R. Ferguson, Mrs. Fred Pool, and Mrs. Glenn Caskey.

One of the concerts to be offered will be that of Jacques Cartier. This concert has already been selected. The other two or more will be chosen from the artists from the Southwest, who are to appear in concerts this year. Cartier is a nationally concertized actor-dancer of Santa Fe. He will present an Indian program entitled "The Proud Heritage."

Among the concert artists offered this season on "New Mexico Concerts" are:

Myron Taylor, tenor, formerly Metropolitan Opera singer; now on the music faculty of North Texas State College, Denton.

Priscilla Robb, contralto, of the University of Colorado faculty, Boulder, Colo.

Johana Harris, wife of the noted composer, Roy Harris, and gifted pianist of Colorado College, Col-

Microfilm Machine Has Been Installed By Artesia Abstract

The Artesia Abstract Company has recently installed a Recordak microfilm machine for the purpose of photographing records. The camera was installed in the county clerk's office in the courthouse at Carlsbad and the reader in the abstract office here.

The camera company representative from Denver, Colo., made the installation and demonstrated its operation.

After the prints are made they are sent to Chicago for development.

This is the only microfilm machine of its size this side of Denver, and is the same kind of machine which was used by the government in photographing V-Mail during the recent war.

en-year period, not more than 100 million dollars of it in any fiscal year. Amounts not spent in any fiscal year will carry over to 1953, Catchings said.

However, he said, the appropriation allocated to the present fiscal year, which will end July 1, is $43,260,000. And of that $667,735 has been allocated to New Mexico.

Catchings pointed out that no state needs more airport facilities than New Mexico, because of the present inadequate facilities and the great distances involved in Southwestern travel.

In order to provide more refueling and emergency fields, the program needs more airports, he pointed out.

The program involves the building and improving of airports, airport buildings, and lighting, the removal of air navigation hazards adjacent to airports, easements, and the like, but does not provide for the building of hangars, which, he explained, may be made to pay for themselves.

All such airport building or improvement must be for the public use, the CAA representative said.

Catchings said a CAA engineer has been assigned to New Mexico to assist in working out the plans for the state, which will be coordinated with those of other states, while regional plans also will be coordinated, so as to establish the nationwide system of airports.

In order for a political subdivision to receive the federal aid under the plan, the local funds must be made available through bond issues or other means, the CAA man said.

Salvation Army Drive May Bring In $2300 Total

Baron J. V. Auriemma, representative of the Salvation Army, who is making his annual appeal here at this time, said response has been gratifying and that he expected to have collected about $2000 by today and that it appears surrounding territory will surpass the total of $2300 achieved a year ago.

The baron is accompanied this year by Francis Donnell, public relations representative of the Salvation Army for the Border Division.

The men reported they collected about $350 at Hope Saturday afternoon, with the assistance of Lee Glascock of Artesia, who served as the Hope committee man.
