HELPING TO BUILD A GREATER ARTESIA

THE FORTY-FOUR

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1947

Ambassadors Of Good Will Are In Mountains

The high standard of education demanded in the peacetime U.S. Army, the educational advantages offered to young men today, and the steps taken during the war years to improve the educational standard of soldiers were the described Tuesday noon at the Rotary Club luncheon by Maj. J. Bethancourt of Roswell, sub-director of the Army.

Superintendent Kerr is to retire July 1 after serving as superintendent here the last 19 years.

Mayfield was elected to the school post here Monday evening at a meeting of the board from among more than 50 applicants, about half from within the state.

He tendered his resignation to the Lordsburg board Tuesday and was released by that body.

Artie McAnally, president of the Artesia Board of Education, said the new superintendent will be here Monday or Tuesday of next week to assume temporary duty and will become superintendent officially July 1.

When he arrives in Artesia next week Superintendent Mayfield intends to look for a house for himself and Mrs. Mayfield and their two small children. President McAnally asked that all assistance in good spirits and determined to carry the greetings of Artesia to the mountain residents.

The trip is the first of three planned for this month, with visits to Loco Hills, Maljamar, and Loving planned for Wednesday, June 25, and to Lake Arthur, Hagerman, and Dexter on Thursday, June 26, scheduled.

Arrangements for all of the trips were made by Dave Moore, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring body. In preparation for the mountain trip this week, he covered the route a week ago, advising the citizens of the various communities when the motorcade should arrive and how long the stops would be.

Co-operating with him were Harold Ulrich and T/Sgt. Preston Triplett, each of whom was in charge of a sound truck, to be used at the various stops.

Master of ceremonies for the trips is Hollis G. Watson, who urged Wednesday morning as the good-willers were departing for the mountains that as many local citizens as possible make plans to go on the two trips next week.

In order to show the friendliness of Artesia and the local merchants, Manager Moore had made arrangements for many gifts of merchandise and credit slips to be (continued last page this section)

Sessions Also Charged With Manslaughter

After James Odum, 32-year-old Negro truck driver, was bound over Tuesday at his preliminary hearing to the action of the District Court on a charge of manslaughter in the death the night of May 27 of three young people, G. T. Watts, district attorney, filed a complaint of manslaughter against Odum's employer, Homer Sessions of the New Mexico Eastern Lumber Company, on the grounds of evidence presented in the preliminary.

Miss Anna Ruth Ward, 18, and Miss Marynetta Seeley, 17, were instantly killed, and Le Ray Stem Teel, 21, was fatally injured the night of May 27, when the Teel car crashed into the rear of a lumber trailer on the highway about 11 miles west of Artesia.

Evidence presented at the hearing of Odum indicated not only that he had failed to put out legal flares, but that he and other drivers for the lumber company had not been provided with the type of flares required by law and that some of the flares provided the trucks were not of the legal type.

William McCoy, another Negro truck driver for the company, who testified Odum's truck, being brought towards Artesia, Hope and that he, McCoy, had towed Odum's truck and load of lumber to a place between Hope and Artesia, where Odum signalled him to stop because of fire. McCoy testified there was fire between the cab and the gas tanks, and that the two drivers, failing to extinguish it, dropped the dolly under the Odum trailer and then pulled the tractor away from it. The dolly folded under the trailer, McCoy said, dropping the front of the load to the highway.

District Attorney Watts then questioned McCoy as to safety precautions taken by the drivers, before McCoy towed Odum's truck-tractor to Artesia. McCoy said that he put out one battery flare ahead of the trailer and that batteries in two others he had were down. He claimed he had checked them the Saturday prior to the accident and that they were in working order at that time.

McCoy testified he had no coal oil flares—the type specified by law—on his truck at the time of the accident. He said he had none of that type since 1943.

The witness said he saw Odum put out a reflector to the rear of the load of lumber and declared he did not know whether Odum had any flares on his truck or not. He said the two were quite excited and were anxious to get Odum's truck into town, so as to have it repaired and return to the abandoned load of lumber.

Mrs. Cassie Jane Pitt and her sister, Miss Ella Jane Crockett, who were parked on the north shoulder of the highway adjacent to the trailer at the time of the accident, testified they saw only one light at the scene and that it was ahead of the load of lumber. Mrs. Pitt said they were driving towards Hope and she saw the light. She testified that she pulled off of the pavement to her right and that she saw an automobile approaching from the west. A moment later it crashed into the rear of the lumber trailer, she said.

Mrs. Pitt testified she first saw the other car at a distance of 300 to 400 yards, traveling at 35 to 40 miles an hour, and that she thought it was going to pass the (continued on last page)

Music Festival For Southwest To Be Staged In Artesia July 22

It will be the scene Tuesday, July 22, of one of 17 music festivals in the United States as Artesia enters the 18th annual "Chicagoland Music Festival," to be held Aug. 16 in Soldiers' Chicago, under the sponsorship of Chicago Tribune Charities.

The 17 preliminary festivals, to be held at Artesia and Spokane, are to be held west of the Ohio River.

A local committee, Dave Moore, manager of the Chamber of Commerce; Franklyn L. Wiltse, school instrumental music director and band director, and Preston Triplett, Army officer stationed here, announced it is intended to contact the service clubs and merchants of Artesia, asking them to assist in putting on the festival.

Committee members said it is intended the festival will attract Artesia musicians and from among whom it is intended to send some to the Chicago festival in August.

A variety of events have been planned for the various festivals, a number of which will be presented here.

They include vocal solo, choral, band, instrumental solo, accordion band, baton twirling, and dance, some of which have several subdivisions, such as mixed, men's, and women's choruses, as well as different age groups for some.

Even under the dancing division there will be various types of events, including fox trot, Viennese waltz, rumba, tango, and jitterbug jive.

As this is to be the first annual of such events the committee members said it is probable there will be only two, and possibly three, of the top contestants sent to the "Chicagoland Music Festival." The two will be the best man and woman singer, while it is possible the best twirler will be sent.

In subsequent years, the committee pointed out, with interest in more divisions, a greater number of individuals as well as groups will go on to the Chicago festival.

Tentative plans for the festival here July 22 call for preliminary (continued last page this section)

Conner Gives Out Final Notices On Uncovered Cans

Abe Conner, city sanitary officer, has given many final notices during the last week in regard to uncovered garbage cans.

He said he will cite to court those who do not comply with the city ordinance requiring that all garbage cans be covered.

The sanitary officer is giving final notice by means of red tags, which he is attaching to the illegal garbage cans. He said that on Friday alone he placed 125 such tags.

Officer Conner said that the Artesia Churches are among the worst offenders and that they must comply with the ordinance the same as individuals.

The city has been spraying garbage cans regularly with DDT in an attempt to keep down the fly menace as much as possible.

But the householders and others must co-operate with the city in order to keep flies at a minimum during the summer months, Officer Conner said.

He pointed out that during the war years the ordinance was overlooked, as garbage cans with covers were not available. However, they again put in their appearance in Artesia stores a number of months ago and are now available at present in sufficient quantities, he said.

Boy Scouts To Shove Off For Camp Saturday

Eighteen members of Boy Scout Troop 28, sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Artesia, are to leave Saturday for Camp Wilm-Ah-Pay in the Sacramento Mountains, 12 miles southwest of Artesia for a week of camping and fun. They are to return home Saturday, June 28.

The Boy Scout camp opened last Saturday for the summer, with about 90 boys registered for this week. Members of troops from Carlsbad, Dexter, Loco Hills, and Portales are at the camp at present and will be returned to their homes Saturday, making room for the Boys Scouts from Artesia and other places the second week.

The camp this year is under the direction of Field Executive Akins of Hobbs, who is being accompanied by Scoutmaster (continued last page this section)

State DAV Names Triplett Delegate To National Convo

T/Sgt. Preston E. Triplett, one of the delegates from Artesia at the department convention of the Disabled American Veterans in Albuquerque Saturday and Sunday, was honored by being elected a delegate to the national convention, to be held at Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 17-23.

The local Army recruiting officer is also a delegate to the department conventions of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and American Legion.

He and other delegates to the DAV convention reported the state convention next year will be held in (continued last page this section)

Salvation Army Drive Opened By Auriemma

The annual drive here for funds for the Salvation Army was kicked off Wednesday evening with a spaghetti dinner at the new Elks Lodge Hall for members of the lodge, which is sponsoring the campaign here this year.

The dinner was prepared by Baron J. V. Auriemma of the Salvation Army, who is here for his 30th annual drive.

Never before has the Salvation Army campaign in Artesia been sponsored by any organization other than the baron's local committee. But this year both the Elks and the committee will function.

The committee for Artesia and Hope consists of E. B. Bullock, Martin Yates, Jr., and Lee Glasscock, and L. B. Feather, treasurer. Baron Auriemma, who was a guest at the Rotary and Lions Club luncheons prior to the Elks dinner, last evening, pointed out that the Salvation Army is always on the job in time of disaster, as well as taking care of local problems with the assistance of home committees.

He stressed the work done recently at the time of the Texas City disaster, when the Salvation Army had many workers on the job within a few hours. Some of them lost their lives there in subsequent explosions while serving. He also pointed out the work (continued last page this section)

Rev. C. A. Clark Injured At Camp In Fall Off Truck

Rev. C. A. Clark, pastor of the First Methodist Church, is at home recovering from painful bruises and a general shake-up sustained Monday morning, when he fell off of a truckload of lumber at the Methodist Sacramento Assembly grounds in the Sacramento Mountains, of which he is general superintendent.

He was riding on top of the load of lumber, which was to be used in the camp building program, when the truck went over a bump, throwing him to the ground. He claimed afterwards he was "trying to hold the lumber down," but it threw me.

The pastor was brought home about noon Tuesday from El Paso in the Paulin ambulance, where he was taken from the camp Monday night for X-ray examination. It was feared at first that he might have broken his hip, as he landed on the ground from a height of 10 to 12 feet, falling on his hip on top of a pair of pliers, which he had in his pocket.

The ambulance, accompanied by Wayne Paulin, Rev. Cyril Stone, and Dr. C. Pardue Bunch, was hurried trip from Artesia to camp Monday evening. (continued last page this section)

Three Plays For Children Will Be Presented Here

Artesia school children have a treat in store for them when the Parent-Teacher Association, Girl Scouts, and Artesia Story League present a series of Clare Tree Major plays next fall and winter. The three organizations are beginning work this summer to bring this famous group of professional actors to warm the hearts of local youngsters.

At a meeting held last Thursday Mrs. V. P. Sheldon was elected general chairman to hear of the organization of the three groups. She appointed the following committees from each organization: Mrs. Raymond Lamb, newspaper publicity; Mrs. Curtis Bolton, radio; Mrs. John Mathis, Jr., Mrs. Fletcher Collins, and Mrs. M. A. Mapes, school publicity, and Mrs. C. P. Bunch, tickets.

The group plans to bring three well-known children's stories in play form. On Nov. 14 they will present "Alice in Wonderland," "Hans Brinkre or the Silver Skates" will be featured next Jan. 30. The final offering will be the "Sleeping Beauty," March 31.

The plays will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the high school auditorium and will be open for children from the third grade through the eighth grade inclusive. Season tickets will be priced at $1.30 and single tickets will be 50 cents.

The Clare Tree Major Theater for Children is a non-profit-making organization devoted to the presentation of plays which demonstrate and encourage the emulation of those qualities of character necessary to good citizenship and to a happy and successful adult life. They are endorsed by leaders in educational and social ideals. Unusual costumes and (continued on last page)

Bartlett, Hensley 'Bare' Facts Of Hunt In Wyoming

Ray Bartlett and Owen Hensley have decided to "bare" the facts about a recent two-week hunt they enjoyed in North Wyoming near the Montana border, as a result of which they will receive in time from a taxidermist four bear skins, one of them a grizzly.

The grizzly and a brown bear were brought down by Hensley, while Bartlett killed a brown and a black bear in baited clearings from blinds, made arrangements some time in advance of the spring season, which was timed to coincide with the period when the bears come out of their winter hibernation. It is that time, they explained, when the bears' coats are in their prime.

Bartlett used a .300 Savage, while Hensley shot his bear with a .300 Magnum, which has a terrific knock-down force, as was demonstrated when he killed the grizzly. The big fellow, which was more than eight feet long, was shot through the shoulder. The bullet, as it mushroomed, came out the bear's chest, tearing a great hole in his lungs.

The hunters related that the bear immediately stood up with arms extended, looked around, and sniffed the air. Just as he wined Hensley and his guide and looked in their direction, a second shot from the Magnum struck him in the chest and knocked him over backwards.

Another type of shot was taken by Bartlett of a yearling bruin, which, he said, came ambling along within a dozen feet of the blind in which he was concealed. Just as the young bear caught the human scent and flushed, Bartlett snapped his picture.

The men said they saw 16 bear in all while on the hunt. They also saw four mountain sheep, a number of buffalo, and many elk, moose, and deer.

Final Plans For Mountain Trip Are Made Friday At Chamber Luncheon

Pleas were sounded here Friday at the regular June luncheon of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce not only for a good attendance for the goodwill trip to the mountain communities, which started Wednesday, June 25, and Thursday, June 26.

Hollis Watson, who is acting as master of ceremonies, emphasized the importance of having a good attendance for all three of the trips, pointing out that unless there is a good crowd on each trip that the good that can be done will be lost. He pleaded for a full attendance of 75 to 100 for the mountain trip and equally as many for the other two goodwill trips.

Manager Dave Moore outlined plans for all three of the trips, giving complete details for the mountain trip. He explained that the first day's trip to the mountains includes visits at Hope, Dunken, Pinon, Weed, Sacramento and Cloudercroft. The group will eat lunch in Pinon. The goodwill group will spend Wednesday night at Cloudercroft and then on Thursday plan to visit Wimssett's store, Mayhill and Elk before returning to Artesia.

The municipal band, which is accompanying the members of

Roselawn Now Has Right Of Way To Hospital

In another step forward for Artesia, South Roselawn Avenue has been made a through street to beyond Park Avenue, the thoroughfare just north of Artesia Memorial Hospital.

Stop signs have been placed in all of the cross avenues to the hospital, giving Roselawn the right of way over east and west traffic.

Heretofore Roselawn had the right of way over Quay and Grand Avenues only, a situation which was confusing to persons not familiar with Artesia and the local traffic regulations.

Chief of Police O. T. Lindsey, in commenting on the move, stressed the fact that although traffic on South Roselawn will have the right of way and should move along, the street is not a speedway and that speed violators will be cited to traffic court.

Numerous accidents, the majority of them minor, have taken place at Roselawn intersections, frequently because a motorist on Roselawn thought he was on a through street and another motorist, who possibly was to the right of the other and had the right of way, knew it was not a through street.

Gambling 'Crack Down' Brings Fines To Four

In accordance with the new statewide "crack down" on gambling, four men were arraigned and brought before City Judge J. D. Josey last Thursday.

The men, fined $15 each for gambling, were Floyd Blackburn, T. C. Kirmey, Booker T. Miller, and Leroy Johnson.

Of the five names appearing on Saturday's docket in city court, four of them were for reckless driving and speeding.

G. L. Brandt and Rufus Jenkins were fined $7.50 and $15, respectively, for reckless driving. D. G. Gruning and J. D. Simer, for speeding, were fined $10 and $15.

The only other arrest that day was Elmer Nix for fighting, which brought a fine of $25.

On Monday, Joe Sessum, Domingo Salas, T. C. Kinney, and George Lyon each were fined $25 for the same offense. The same day six names appeared on the city court book for drunkenness.

They were Andrew Gibson, Vernon Nivens, Tony Silva, Arvedo Gutierrez, and Carmen Ramirez, each fined $15. Simon Rodriguez was given two fines of $25 each (continued on last page)

Our Own Interest

ONE OF THE IMPORTANT FACTS concerning life is learning to live with ourselves and to live together.

There also is another important fact—learning to work together. This not only applies to the individuals within the communities, but it also applies to various communities in the same county, the same district in the county and within the state.

It has always seemed to us that we lose count of ourselves in New Mexico because we work too hard for ourselves and not enough for our state, district and our county.

For instance, Artesia and Carlsbad are both in the same county. What benefits Artesia benefits Carlsbad. What benefits Carlsbad benefits Artesia. What benefits Eddy county benefits Artesia.

For too long, we can't help from feeling, these communities have opposed certain things, but for the good of both. But there appears to be growing and developing an appreciation of the fact that the problems of Artesia and Carlsbad are common problems and when one solves the problem of the other, both gain from this fact.

For instance, Carlsbad and Artesia work hand in hand for the common good of Eddy county they are working for themselves. Rather than for the good of the county in which they live.

Artesia is one of the wealthiest counties in New Mexico. It ranks high in wealth; in automobiles; in natural resources and in financial resources. It has a perfect right to make its demands on the various counties of the state.

Carlsbad and Artesia work hand in hand for the common good of Eddy county they are working for themselves. Rather than for the good of the county in which they live.

We sincerely hope that we will continue to work together and to plan together and to build together.

We can gain far more by aiding and helping each other and making our demands together than we can ever gain by doing it as individual communities.

Our own interest should be our own county and not the state. In the final analysis, we can both win and profit from our own efforts.—O.E.P.

Education Offered

IT WAS A DAY and time when a youth found it impossible for him to go to college because of the lack of funds or because he was the bread winner of his family. His youngsters, of course, have gone to college. This fact. They have managed to find work and long hours to earn sufficient money to pay their expenses. The world applauded them for their achievement.

Today the youth, who is willing to take advantage of the government. Not only that, but he can receive help for dependents if he has dependents. He can learn while he serves in the armed forces.

When the war is not officially ended, the bill of rights applies to all youths engaged in being discharged from the service. It is a right for a youth to enter the armed forces, serve that time and if the war has not ended during his two-year enlistment, he can with his discharge qualify for education. If single, he draws as much as $50 per month. If married, he will draw $90 per month. Uncle Sam, besides paying him for his services, will reward him approximately $5000 for education.

Of course, the war has not been ended. However, if the war ends, the youth will receive credit, month for month, of education he served while the war had not ended.

Who is unable to enroll in college because of lack of finances, this appears to be a real opportunity.

Enrolling is taking a chance, but the war may end. But on the other hand, the years after the truce, the war will be officially. It could be another two years.

Nothing is lost because he is paid for his services. Plus he can receive in service. Plus he does serve his two years and he has paid for a college education.

Local institutions grow in service and expand in direct proportion to the business, which they enjoy.

The fellow, who pays his bills promptly and on time never has to worry about his credit.

Pedestrian Lanes

WE ARE GETTING TO BE quite a little city here in Artesia. And more and more are we stepping forward in city ways.

For instance South Roselawn Avenue has become a through street, with stops indicated at every intersection, not only at Quay and Grand Avenues, which was confusing.

And then there is the extension of the zone on Main Street in which U-turns are prohibited. Furthermore, it will not be long until the new parking meters arrive and are installed, along with which will be the painting of lines between the meter spaces.

And that is what we are leading up to—paint judiciously applied elsewhere.

And that elsewhere is at the intersections in the downtown business section, making lanes for pedestrians for their safety.

After that a campaign should be launched to persuade pedestrians to use these lanes—which will be tough on us, as we are among the worst offenders. But it's a good idea.

We presume that City Manager P. V. Morris, after reading this, will, as usual, give us the merry ha-ha and inform us that the painting of pedestrian lanes already has been planned and that, again as usual, we are a little behind the hounds.

But it's something which should be done, not just because Artesia is growing and becoming more of a city every day, but because of safety to the public.—A.L.B.

That's The Law

WHEN A CITY ORDINANCE, a county ordinance, a state law or a federal law is placed on the statute books, it is the law.

And once such a law goes on the books there is no one, who has the authority to grant any one person or many people the right to ignore that law.

It is true, of course, that officers can refuse or neglect to make arrests. It is also true that judges can release those arrested and charged with violations of the law. But there isn't anyone, officer, district attorney or judge, who can grant an individual the right to ignore or violate a law.

Under our system of government laws are supposed to be observed or enforced.

It is true, of course, that every consideration should be extended to all individuals. The public should be given ample time to be advised that laws are to be enforced. They should be informed that the law must be observed, and warned if it isn't then arrests are to be made.

But once it is definitely decided that a law is to be observed then it should be observed or it should be enforced.

Officers expected to enforce laws should be given encouragement; they should be given consideration; and they should not have to tolerate political interference as long as they are doing their sworn duty.

And so it is in Artesia. It has been announced repeatedly that drunken drivers will be arrested, fined and have their license revoked. That is a known fact. Those, who ignore the law, have no reason to complain when they have to pay the penalty.

It is also a well known fact here that the two-hour parking limit on Main street is to be enforced. When that law is ignored then the individual can expect to pay the penalty.

Complaints are registered right and left about speeding. Citizens and drivers know the law. They testify to this when they are given their drivers' license. When they ignore this law then they can expect to be fined.

And so now the law, an ordinance passed and approved by the city council, prohibits "U" turns on Main street between the railroad crossing and Sixth street. This has been the law for some weeks. It has been announced repeatedly that it is the law and that it is to be enforced.

Let's discontinue the practice of ignoring our laws. Let's either observe them, enforce them or remove them from the books.

Laws are adopted to protect all individuals. If we do not observe them or enforce them not only this protection is destroyed but we are encouraging a practice, that of ignoring laws, which sooner or later leads us into trouble.—O.E.P.

Not Mushroom Growth

ARTESIA CAN BE PROUD of its growth and its population of 7351 population as shown by the new census in the city directory.

Many, of course, had estimated the population of 7500 to 8000. They may be a little disappointed. However, when a community almost doubles its population in the brief period, which it has required for Artesia to show this increase, the city can be proud.

There is no mushroom growth connected with this increase in population. The city has not enjoyed any war industries; it did not have any army camps and does not have anything, which resulted in a boom.

It has been a steady growth over the years since oil was discovered back in 1924. The population was only a little over 2000 at that time. But there has been a steady growth and increase as the oil operations have continued and as there has been an increase in agriculture and livestock production.

The growth is expected to continue. There will be slight changes up and down in the population but many are predicting that the new federal census, when it is taken, will show even a greater growth in the years ahead.

Many are predicting when deep oil is found that the growth will be extremely rapid and they are looking ahead to see Artesia grow into a city of 15,000 to 20,000 population. That may be too optimistic yet the fact does remain that everyone believes Artesia will continue to grow and expand.

And we as citizens need to aid and help in every way possible to continue this steady growth and expansion of our city.—O.E.P.

Local institutions grow in service and expand in direct proportion to the business, which they enjoy.

The fellow, who pays his bills promptly and on time never has to worry about his credit.

Up and Down Main Street

APPROCIATED UP AND DOWN MAIN
WELL BE BACK

This will be our last regular "Up and Down Main" for the time being and written as a resident of Artesia. By the time this is published we will have moved from Artesia to Las Cruces to make our home. That, however, does not mean we have sold our interests in Artesia. We will still own The Advocate and will continue to operate it along the same lines we have followed for more than two years. When we came to Artesia on April 1, 1945, we declared we were here to serve Artesia and North Eddy county. We pointed out it would be our purpose to aid and help in the growth and expansion of the Oil City of New Mexico. It has been fun watching the city grow and expand; to make changes; to make improvements; and to move forward among the cities of the state. We are indeed happy to have had a little part in this and to contribute our little toward this development. We are deeply grateful for the kind words, which have been expressed to us by citizens and business people here. We are grateful for their splendid attitude and their comments to us on learning our work will carry us to Las Cruces. We deeply appreciate their approval of the plans for the future and for business, which they have given us. We know we are leaving The Advocate and The Advocate Publishing company in capable hands and we hope and trust that the confidence shown us will be continued in the days and the weeks ahead. We shall continue to strive to serve in every way that we can and to do a good job with The Advocate and with the work, which is entrusted to us. We shall strive to see that The Advocate grows and expands as the city grows and expands. We want to see Artesia grow into the finest city in the state. We want to see The Advocate grow into the best newspaper in the state.

Clarence Key just waiting to see what we were going to say about him in this column this week. Ray Bartlett and Howard Whitson talking over the situation. Ernest Thompson reminding the Scouts they are to go to camp next week. Neil Watson headed down Main street. C. D. Hopkins explaining he couldn't go on the goodwill tour because he is going to be out of Artesia. Ted Wilkowsky discussing the trip and expecting to make part of it. Charlotte Jacobs busy at Carter's cafe. Bill Linell and Wayne Paulin just looking for someone to pay for their coffee. Garland Stuart up from Carlsbad for the week end visiting with his friends. Murle Sharp waiting on customers at the Star Grocery and trying to aid them. Dave Moore all enthusiastic about the goodwill tour. Hollis Watson making that final plea for a good attendance. Ben Wilson doing a favor for a friend. Dr. John Clarke, Sr., and Dr. John Clarke, Jr., both busy at their offices. Charles Mann returning to the drug store. E. A. Hannah listing some property, which he will offer for sale. Bill Terpening plenty busy at the Artesia Laundry. Folks discussing the increased tax on cigarettes, which does not go into effect now until July 1. Those with legal to be published reminded this rate has been increased since June 13. Ralph Petty waiting on customers at the pharmacy. Elwood Kaiser plenty busy at Mann-Kaiser's Electric shop. Owen Hensley and Ed Everetts waiting on customers down at the Midwest Auto Supply store. A. C. Sadler discussing the unpacking of dishes and explaining he always breaks them. Mrs. Mittie Hamill declaring she was always working so hard and looking forward to that promotion. Mrs. Marie Fletcher busy at Marie's. Roscoe Wilson visiting with friends and then leaving on Sunday for his home in Gridley, Calif. That was Up and Down Main this week.

We have already taken certain steps and have installed additional equipment and machinery to endeavor to bring this about. We are looking to the future when more newspaper, more printing stock and more merchandise will be available. We shall try to plan in keeping with the growth and development here. And although our residence will be in Las Cruces we hope and expect to return to Artesia often to continue to watch the growth and expansion here. We hope to aid in any way that we can. Our interest in the future of Artesia will be just as great, if not greater, in the days and weeks ahead than it has been in the past. The fact that we are keeping our business interest here, we feel, indicates this rather clearly. We feel just as many others in Artesia feel—that the future is extremely bright. We too feel that more production of oil will be found in the shallow fields. We also feel it is only a matter of time until deep production is found and we know when this happens the growth will be great and it will be rapid here. We would like to participate in this growth and this expansion when it occurs. Many brag and boast of their future and of the present. Artesia hasn't participated to any great extent in this. It doesn't have to. It has the payroll; it has the work; it has the businesses; it has the improved city; it has been and is a fine little city. Plans for the future mean that the city will continue to grow and expand because its citizens have learned to work together for the common good and for the welfare of all of its citizens. Artesia has the reputation of being one of the finest little cities in the state and over the state New Mexicans feel its future is bright. And we shall look forward to our visits here and to the renewing of acquaintances with the friends we have come to know during our residence here. And we shall stand ready and willing to aid and help in any way that we can in this future growth and expansion of Artesia.

Almost 230,000 disabled veterans of World War II now are in training under the provisions of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16). Approximately 50 per cent of those in training, or 128,877, were enrolled in recognized colleges, universities, and other educational institutions. The others were taking on-the-job training in business and industrial establishments. Since the beginning of the vocational rehabilitation program in March, 1943, about 8500 disabled veterans have been declared rehabilitated.

Sands Of Time

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(Taken from The Advocate files of June 16, 1927)

An interesting account of the arrest of the De Autremont brothers, Ray Roy, and Hugh, told of their being moved to Oregon for a murder trial. The boys were charged with the murders of four trainmen during the infamous Siskiyou Tunnel train robbery in Oregon, Oct. 11, 1923. A detailed account of the arrest of the boys was given.

A two-column picture showed song writers Wolfe Gilbert and Abel Baer of New York hard at work writing a song called "Lucky Lindy," in honor of Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, who completed the first solo air crossing of the Atlantic Ocean and landed in Paris, France, June 16, 1927.

In the local news it was discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Will Taylor of Malaga had been in Artesia on business and that Paul Stroup had been to the Artesia Sacramento Camp on a vacation.

In an ad for Lowery-Yeyes Automobile Company, a touring car (really a slick buggy) could be had for only $525, also the price of a roadster. A coach sold for $595, while the Sport Cabriolet was $715. And in the higher price brackets was the Imperial Landau for $780.

TEN YEARS AGO
(Taken from The Advocate files of June 17, 1937)

The Valley Theater held its formal opening Saturday, June 19, 1937. Bill Bartlett, son of Ray Bartlett, was the manager of the new cinema.

Twenty-five cars and Doc Loucks' school bus left town Wednesday on a goodwill tour into the hills west of Artesia. (No doubt some of the bright red hats and ties worn by the good-willers can still be unearthed in the attic around town.)

Life Sentence

Of Smith Upheld
In Cornett Death

The New Mexico State Supreme Court last week upheld the life sentence of L. O. Smith of Artesia for the murder of Dr. Craig Cornett, Artesia osteopath, here Aug 3, 1945.

Smith, who was convicted of first-degree murder in Eddy County District Court, carried the case to the Supreme Court.

"The verdict under the evidence could easily be one demanding the death penalty," wrote Justice Daniel K. Sadler, affirming the lower court's judgment, which was handed down by Judge James B. McGhee, now a Supreme Court justice.

The opinion was unanimous except for Justice McGhee, who did not participate.

Smith was convicted of fatally shooting Dr. Cornett in an Artesia cafe, after previously accusing him of intimacy with his wife.

Dream On

Dream on, young lady. Dream of what tomorrow holds in store for you and those you love. Dream of the home and family that will be yours... of the happiness the years so richly promise.
 But wait! Are day-dreams enough!
 They merely give us visions of things hoped for—as yet unseen. Like the sculptor, who brings from rough-hewn rock the graceful lines of his once-untried dreams, we must shape and mold the character which will measure up to ours.
 And even this is not enough!
 To find the tools and skills with which to fashion the fullness of our dreams we must sit at the feet of the Master Sculptor, and learn from Him the art of fashioning life.
 The Church reveals these priceless truths of God. The Church shows us how to use them... how to bring the real beauty out of life's roughness... how to improve each all-important detail until our dreams come true. Make the Church your workshop for molding a great tomorrow!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Miss Janice Mann Becomes Bride Of Charles Thomas Gettys Saturday

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS GETTYS

One of the most charming events of the summer was the marriage of Miss Janice Meredith Mann, who became the bride of Charles Thomas Gettys in a ceremony performed Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church.

The church was illuminated with a profusion of candles in seven-branch candelabras of graduated height interspersed with arms of pale pink peonies and white snapdragons against a background of fern and palms.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, C. E. Mann, wore a white satin wedding gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long, fitted sleeves, which came to a point over the hands, and a sweeping skirt which ended in a short train.

For something old, the bridal gown was chosen. The dress was worn by two of the bride's sisters, Mrs. Barnett and Mrs. White, at their wedding. Something new she wore a stunning Equestrian bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Cole, a niece of the bride, wore a beautiful Colonial style gown of delphinium blue lace with a full peplum, fitted bodice, and a dropped neckline edged with ruffles.

Two 4-year-old nieces of the bride, Sharon Barnette and Ramona White, were flower girls. They wore floor-length dresses of pink tulle posed over pink tulle. Their upswung coiffures were set off by tiny pink rosebuds.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God Himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else." (Isaiah 45:18.)
The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "God creates and governs the universe, including man. The universe is filled with spiritual ideas, which He evolves, and they are obedient to the Mind that makes them."

THE CASE OF THE Waiting Phone

There it lays ... the waiting phone. Mother's in the kitchen fixing supper. Sister is in the bedroom with a mystery. Brother Joe is still at band practice. And there lays the phone. Yes, it's waiting on Dad. When the phone rang, he was down in the basement removing the ashes from the furnace. Naturally he was dirty ... and disgusted. So, now while the phone waits, he is having to brush the ashes off his clothes and washup before he can answer.

Of course, the call may be unimportant ... maybe it's only Joe wanting Dad to come after him. After all, the evening is frosty cold.

The point is ... the phone wouldn't have to wait ... Dad wouldn't have to remove the ashes or have any other disagreeable jobs about the furnace IF HE CONVERTS TO NATURAL GAS HEATING. With automatic controls, the house stays at the right temperature from the beginning of winter until spring ... without worries ... WITHOUT WORK.

THE TIME TO CONVERT TO NATURAL GAS IS NOW ... so your home will be comfortable when the first fresh norther hits.

Central furnace systems can be converted in a matter of hours. Floor furnaces and circulating heaters can be installed immediately. Ask for the FREE SURVEY.

Highlights Band Concert Are Solo, Vocal Quartet

The second in the series of summer concerts by the municipal band, held last Thursday evening in Central Park, was enthusiastically received by a fair-sized crowd.

No announcement of the date for the third concert was made at that time, nor was a date set at rehearsals this week, because it was pointed out, a date two weeks hence would fall close to the Fourth of July. It is probable the next concert will be dated sometime the week after Independence Day, the exact date to be announced later.

Highlights of the concert last week were three vocal quartet numbers by Virgil Hopp, Howard O. Miller, A. Lynn Myers, and Ross Albert, and a clarinet solo by Tony King.

The band's new tympani, which were expected to be here for the concert and for which appropriate music had been selected, failed to arrive. However, new chimes and a huge gong were here, and were used in the concert.

Members of the band were somewhat disappointed that more of the listeners in cars did not get out and enter the park, as had been suggested.

The band, with Conductor Franklin L. Wiltse, at present is in the Sacramento Mountains on the annual good-will trip, for which special rehearsals were held the first of the week.

Postponed Model-

(continued from page one) first prize will be a class "C" gasoline engine, second, a class "B" engine, and third, a class "A," while in the rubber-powered class the first prize will be a carbon dioxide powered engine. Many other prizes also are being offered.

The committee said there are three general classes, one each for solid models, rubber-powered models, and gasoline-powered models. And the gasoline class is broken down into free-flight and control-line models, and each of them into models using "A," "B," and "C" engines.

All models are to be judged separately on workmanship and detail and, in the case of flying models, on speed or length of flight. The rubber-powered models are to be judged on length of flight. They are to be hand launched.

The committee rules are that free-flight models are to be set for 20 seconds of powered flight and the length of sustained flight. Control-line models are to have 50-foot control lines and will be judged on speed.

Although the contest will be at the municipal airport, it is impossible to announce in advance just where on the port it will be conducted, Bayer said. He pointed out that the end of some runway will be designated at the last minute, so located as not to interfere with the air traffic pattern being used at the time.

No admission charge is to be made for the contest, and the public is invited to attend.

Bayer asked that everyone attending observe a limit's line which will be established, and beyond which no one is to go, except contestants, judges, and other officials of the meet.

Salvation Army-

The baron said he hopes contributions this year here and at Hope will exceed the $3500 collected last year, as the demands on the Salvation Army are great.

Should he fail to contact anyone during his brief stay, he asked that those wishing to make contributions send them to L. B. Feather at the First National Bank.

Baron Auriemma said that in the last year, since his 1946 campaign here, he traveled more than 17,000 miles by airplane, singing to members of the armed forces and veterans in hospitals.

Weekly payroll books now available at Advocate.

Nazarene Trio Appears Here On Tuesday Evening

Representatives of Pasadena College, one of the seven Nazarene Colleges in the United States, were at the Artesia Church of the Nazarene Tuesday evening, as part of an educational tour of the college sends out each summer.

The group representing the college here was the Smith-Cummings Trio, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith and Miss Katherine Cummings.

Their presentation consisted of a musical and vocal program, a sermon delivered by Mr. Smith, and an interesting showing of scenes about the Pasadena College on colored film slides.

There are seven Nazarene educational zones in the country, each with a college for headquarters. The Pasadena College is headquarters for the Southwestern Nazarene education zone and the Smith-Cummings Trio members are this year's representatives for the college. They travel in a station wagon bearing the name of the college.

The group covered the state of California during the school year and then branched out to visit Arizona, New Mexico, the western part of Colorado, and a few points in Texas during the summer months. On these trips they raise funds to support and expand the educational facilities of Pasadena College.

Their next stop was in Carlsbad, from where they were to travel to El Paso and East Texas before returning to the northern part of New Mexico and the eastern part of Colorado.

Fishermen Will Tell Their Yarns, Even If Seem To Be Big Ones

"Maybe some real old-time fishermen wouldn't brag about it, but we will," was the comment made by Tom Franklin regarding the 35-pound catfish caught with "just an old backin' up" crawfish by Harold Waston, nephew and partner of Franklin in the A. & D. Market & Grocery. The 35 pounds of fishsteak was caught on a tributary of the Brazos River near the Possum Kingdom Dam below Graham, Tex., by Watson last week.

And of course, the big one got away, but "the six we caught weighed 150 pounds, the largest one being 31 pounds," was the story told by Chester Mayes regarding the catfish catch made by C. L. Hefley and Mayes at Red Bluff Monday.

The new state commander of the DAV is Paul Pompeo of Dawson, who will be the other national delegate besides Sergeant Triplett.

Delegates to the department convention, the first three of whom were accompanied by their wives, were Commander Leland Wittkopf, Sergeant Triplett, W. C. Cunningham, Bill Dunnam, Bill Boggs, Antonio Cardenas, and Joe Sosa.

Sessions Also-

She and her sister said there was no one else at the scene until a few minutes later, when Kenneth Bates drove up. They both said Bates was flagged down and that he then placed his truck behind the trailer and wrecked passenger car so as to put the light on them, and then he drove the women's car into Artesia for help.

Bates' testimony as to his arrival and action was the same as the women had given. He said he saw no lights in the highway as he approached. However, he said, he saw a reflection from the rear of the Teel car. He said he drove to the left of the trailer and stopped ahead, and that he then pulled to the rear so as to put his lights on the accident.

Until he had passed the trailer, he testified, he saw no flares. Then he saw one ahead of the load of lumber, but that there was none along side or behind that he saw.

W. L. Fulton, who was left in charge later by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Mulcock, told of seeing one flare only and that ahead of the trailer. He said that K. J. Williams, Artesia trucking contractor, who took a truck to the scene, attempted to pull the loaded trailer off of the highway but could not move it. He said Williams then rolled it over to the south shoulder, out of the way of traffic.

Artesia 20-30 Juniors Defeat Loving Sunday

On the rebound from a 9-0 drubbing at the hands of Roswell the week before, the Artesia 20-30 Club's junior baseball team defeated the Loving juniors Sunday 20-15. A nice-sized crowd witnessed the game at the Copoco diamond and saw a spunky Loving nine stage a last inning comeback to narrow the margin of defeat.

The Artesia sluggers, with a hot case of first-inning jitters, got off to a bad start and trailed 3-2 as the game went into the second inning. In that period, Loving ran in two more tallies but in the Artesia half of the second inning, the locals tied up the score 5-5.

From then on it was Artesia all the way as the 20-30 juniors scored in each inning, while allowing only one more run up to the ninth inning. In the first half of the ninth, the Loving boys tried desperately to save the game but the 26-6 lead was too much to overcome. They did tap the Artesia relief pitcher for nine runs, however, before the side was retired. This game comeback closed the margin to 26-15.

The battery for Artesia: Foster and Booker pitching, Cauble catching. Artesia's record stands now at two wins and one defeat with victories over Carlsbad and Loving, and one defeat by Roswell.

The following games remain to be played this season: June 22, Hobbs there; June 29, Roswell here; July 6, Loving there; July 13, Carlsbad there.

Big Music-

(continued from page one) events throughout the day in the auditorium of Artesia High School, with a big show staged in the evening at Morris Field, similar to that put on here a number of weeks ago for high schools in this area. A nominal admission fee will be charged for the evening show only.

The festival will not be confined to high school students, but will be open to individuals and groups from all ages and types. The only division chairman for the local festival named by the general committee as yet is Mrs. William Ellinger, who will be in charge of twirling.

Individuals and groups from throughout the Southwest are being invited to enter the festival here and to write Manager Moore for applications.

Army Standard-

(continued from page one) read or write. These men were schooled and many were put through the fourth grade in three months, through a sound adult training program.

But today, he said, none is admitted to the Army unless he can pass certain requirements, with none making below 70 out of a possible 150 in a test being taken. Even old-timers, who cannot make more than 70, are being weeded out of the Army today, because the soldier today must know more than how to handle a rifle, the major said.

General Eisenhower and the War Department are concerned with men who will be equipped for civilian life after discharge, he concluded.

Major Bethancourt was introduced by T. Sgt. Preston Triplett, recruiting officer for Artesia under the major.

'June Teenth' Is Being Observed Here By Negroes

Negroes of the Artesia community are observing "June Teenth" today, the regular June 19 holiday in commemoration of the freeing of the race from slavery in the United States, with a barbecue, baseball, and a dance planned.

The barbecue was to be served at 12:30 o'clock at John Henry's Place on Church Street, free to everybody.

KIDDY ALSO RECEIVES 'NATIONAL QUALITY AWARD'

Hugh Kiddy has received a "National Quality Award" from the National Association of Life Underwriters as one of the nation's life underwriters "who conduct themselves according to the highest standards of ethics and who maintain a high standard of competence by means of continuous study and practice."

Announcement of Kiddy's award came a week after a similar announcement that John A. Mathis, Sr., had received a "National Quality Award."

Gambling-

One arrest that day was made for reckless driving. For that, W. C. Tidwell was fined $15.

Tuesday a reckless driving charge brought a fine of $15 to be imposed on Truman Jacobs.

All three persons appearing in court Wednesday were there for speeding, each paying a $10 fine. They were Selmon Urban, C. H. Black, Jr., and J. A. Watkins.

Rev. Clark-

(continued from page one) There the physician ordered Rev. Clark to Alamogordo for X-ray examination, but there was no X-ray available, so he was taken to El Paso.

The plucky and portly Methodist preacher, who is in his last year of active service before retirement, ordered that the ambulance be stopped at Skinnie's Drive-In as it was passing by during the noon hour Tuesday, so he could be marked present for the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club, of which he is a member, and which was in session there.

Rev. Clark was on his feet again Wednesday and it is expected he will be able to return to the Methodist Sacramento Assembly next week.

Roselawn-

(continued from page one) sey feels the erection of stop signs the entire distance from Main Street to Park Avenue will result in many fewer traffic accidents on Roselawn.

Another safety move instituted during the last week was the placing of signs on Main Street at the intersections of Roselawn Avenue and Fourth Street telling motorists: "Stop when pedestrians are crossing." The signs show they were erected by the Police Department.

No U-turn mushrooms are now in place on Main Street from Second to Sixth and the city hopes soon to have stop signs erected at entrances into Main where they now are missing.

Boy Scouts-

New equipment has been added at the Boy Scout camp this year. The dining room has been reconditioned and a new cooking stove has been installed, along with a water heater and butane gas.

The Troop 28 Boy Scouts are looking forward to a full week of activities, which have been planned by the staff. Among them will be a hike to the rim, from where can be seen the White Sands, as well as mountains in Mexico.

A firing range has been provided, where the boys will be instructed in marksmanship. Overnight hikes, with camp-cooking Teel, and was released on $2500 bond.

Contest For Bus Patio And Shop Draws Attention

The "What Shall We Name It?" contest offering a $10 award, sponsored by O. J. Carson, manager of the local bus depot, is drawing considerable attention.

The award is being offered to the person who suggests the most original name selected for the sandwich shop and dining-dancing patio which has been recently annexed to the bus depot by Carson.

The open-air patio, a beauty spot on the corner of Roselawn and Quay, which features colorful umbrella tables, music, fine shrubbery enclosing the patio, and bright floodlights illuminating the setting at night, opens directly off from the bus depot building and sandwich shop, which offers a galaxy of food and drink items, served either in the clean attractive shop or on the patio.

There have been a number of names suggested, but the contest is still open and the decision will not be made until the night of July 4. At that time the selection and award will be made and a ceremony will be held officially naming the sandwich shop and patio.

Mr. and Mrs. Noah Buck of Cottonwood, celebrated his 19th birthday Sunday, June 8, at the home of his parents. A surprise luncheon, served by a sister, Mrs. Tommie Smith, was prepared in honor of the occasion. The dining table, covered with a beautifully decorated birthday cake. The afternoon was spent at Cottonwood Dam, where the guests enjoyed swimming. Those who took part in the celebration were Miss Marilou Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley House, Mrs. Mary Davis and son Larry, Bob Smith, S/Sgt. John W. Leonhardt, Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Noah Buck, and Miss Jerry.

Mrs. Mattie B. Higgins, 80, widow of the late Tom Higgins, died Thursday, June 12, at a hospital in Fort Worth, Tex., after undergoing an intestinal operation. Funeral and burial services were held in Fort Worth. Mrs. Higgins was a resident of Carlsbad several years before moving to Texas 22 years ago. She was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Buck, pioneer residents of this community. She is survived by two sons, Irvin and Valle, and a daughter, Patsy; four brothers, Eugene Buck, Texas; L. R. Buck, California; John Buck, Las Cruces, and Louis Buck, of Oklahoma; four sisters, Mrs. Dora Seaylock, Mrs. Maude Nelson, Mrs. Mary Sims, and Mrs. Leila Rosson, and several grandchildren. Among her surviving nephews are Noah, Roy, Charlie, John, and Jimmie Buck, all of Cottonwood.

The Cottonwood vacation Bible school, sponsored by the Artesia Baptist Church, completed its classes Friday and as a closing activity held a picnic supper Friday evening at the Cottonwood School gym. The school ran for a period of two weeks. About 70 young people and adults were present for the picnic, which was in charge of the Bible school teachers. The children brought sandwiches and the church furnished ice cream and cold drinks. An informal demonstration of the work done in the school was given and consisted chiefly of singing and devotion services. One of the outstanding aims of the teachers was to instruct the children in showing a devout attitude in the church. Perfect attendance certificates were presented to 45 children. Exhibits shown at the affair included art work and projects carried out by the primary and preschool departments, assisted by four of the teachers. A Gospel film was shown at the close of the evening. The children were transported to and from the school during the two weeks by a large bus, which was driven by R. H. Trivitt.

Speed Is Urged By Experts In Disease Control

All possible speed in the fight to eradicate foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico has been recommended by the Department of Agriculture's advisory committee, which urges that a protective fence be erected along the Mexican-United States border to prevent the unauthorized movement of animals across the line.

Grave concern was voiced about the surplus cattle in Northern Mexico, which normally move into the United States as feeders. Under the law, these cattle cannot now be exported to the U.S. as long as the disease is present anywhere in Mexico. Pastures and feed supplies are insufficient to support the animals and, unless relief is given soon, the disturbed economic situation in this area will seriously endanger the success of the disease-eradication campaign. An investigation was requested to find a way to help the Mexicans market the meat from those surplus animals.

Shipments from the United States under the program total 130 carloads of equipment, including trucks, jeeps, earth-moving equipment, tractors, and disinfectants. Nearly 100 USDA employees are in Mexico working with Mexican government representatives.

Agricultural Appropriations Cut Will Reduce Technical Assistance

House action on the agricultural appropriations bill now pending in the Senate, indicates that Soil Conservation Service expenditures for technical assistance to farmers and ranchers in New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, and Colorado will be reduced by only about 13 per cent in the next 12 months, Cyril Luker, Soil Conservation Service regional conservator, announced. Pointing out that the much-publicized reduction of around $100,000,000 in the department's "soil conservation program" does not refer to the work of the Soil Conservation Service, Luker said that the proposed budget reductions for SCS operations would amount to $5,437,000 for the entire service and around $500,000 for this region. The reduction of "soil conservation funds," which was vigorously debated during the recent House deliberations, referred chiefly to payments, made by the Production and Marketing Administration, to farmers for carrying out various soil improvement practices. Work of SCS is confined to providing soil conservation technicians who give only technical help to farmers and ranchers in soil conservation districts, he said. This cut, if sustained by the Senate, will unquestionably require some reduction in SCS personnel and with 28 new soil conservation districts, including more than 14,000,000 acres voted in these four states during the last year, services will have to be spread thinner, Luker said. If new districts continue to be organized at this rate in the coming 12 months, proposed budget cuts will make it difficult to give new districts much assistance, he added. However, in spite of reductions, every effort will be made to maintain essential technical aid to soil conservation districts already functioning, he said, pointing out that there are now 209 such districts operating in the region, including a total of nearly 112,626,000 acres.

SCS has already made many moves toward increasing efficiency during the last year as evidenced by a 76 per cent average increase over the previous year in amount of soil conservation applied. This was done, he pointed out, with very little increase in personnel. During the first five months of 1947, the average increase in applied soil conservation has been 50 per cent over last year. Farmers and ranchers bore the cost of this work in themselves and SCS provided only technicians, small amounts of uncommon grass seed and plants, and loan of a few pieces of equipment, some of which has been purchased from military surplus. Surveys to determine conservation benefits were made in 30 areas throughout the nation in 1946, two of them in this region, Luker said. In the Safford and Duncan valleys of Arizona, 110 farmers estimated that soil and water conservation practices as outlined by SCS had increased the value of their farms by 24 per cent. They also said that the cost of operations had been decreased 27 per cent and that a saving of about a sixth in irrigation water had been made. In the vicinity of Simla, Colo., the survey revealed a 42 per cent increase in gross income per acre on 84 farms and ranches where soil conservation practices had been in effect.

Two additional programs of SCS, with smaller budgets, were cut more heavily by the House action, Luker said. These were the research program and the management program on a few tracts of government owned land which have been turned over to SCS for rehabilitation. Eddy County Extension Agent

At their annual state meeting, to be held July 10-12 in Raton, delegates of the New Mexico Association of Home Extension Clubs will select an award to be given next fall to the outstanding woman 4-H Club leader in New Mexico. This is the first year that such an award has been made. Presentation of the award will be made in October, when all leaders' annual reports for 1947 will be turned in. About 300 clubwomen from all counties of the state will be guests of the Colfax Women's Advisory Council at the Raton meeting.

The celebrated cotton bag, that versatile container, that has won acclaim as a unique dress provider of the day, started in an entertaining style show presented before the members of the Leader-Training School at State College on the evening of May 29.

Mrs. Pearl C. Gehl, clothing specialist of the New Mexico Extension Service, was in charge of the revue. Made entirely from cotton sack material which first was used to package chicken feed, dairy feed, flour, and other products, this wardrobe was modeled by some of the 4-H leaders. The wardrobe also included "sack cloth" wear for various age groups from the tot to the housewife.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that a program under which mules will be purchased for the Mexican government will be initiated. The purchases are being undertaken as a service to the government of Mexico and will be on a reimbursable basis. The mules obtained under this program will be used to replace work oxen which are being destroyed as part of the foot-and-mouth disease eradication campaign in Mexico.

As E. E. Anderson, poultry specialist of the New Mexico Extension Service, sees it, egg production the remainder of this year will probably run moderately below the last half of last year, and egg prices will probably average higher. Farmers will have much less feed trouble than they had in the spring and summer of 1946, Anderson says. And they are likely to sell off fewer chickens the remainder of this year. Last summer and fall they got rid of one out of 10 of their hens and pullets. They probably won't cull that much this year.

System Which Turned Tide May Be Wiped Out

"The farmer-committee system of the Agricultural Conservation Program which served the nation in combatting depression, which turned the tide against soil destruction, and which geared farm production to the requirements of war and re-establishment of peace is on the verge of being wiped out by proposed cuts in agricultural appropriations," said Chairman Roy Forehand of the Eddy County ACA Committee.

"Scrapping of the farm program and the committee system will put an end to a 13-year struggle for a democratic farm program administered by farmers and ranchers." Forehand said that because of wartime damage to the soil, the nation needs to re-emphasize, not reduce the effectiveness of the conservation program. Farmers and ranchers all over the nation geared their production machinery to the highest peak to produce food and fiber needed in such great quantities all over the world during the war years. Now that they are, in the words of the House Appropriations Committee, "self-reliant," the committee proposes to weaken the farmer-operated conservation program this year and bury it next year.

"In spite of our present high agricultural income and the fact that farmers and ranchers are in a sound economic position," the chairman continued, "we need to look further ahead and plan for the time when agricultural production will catch up with consumption; when surpluses will materialize and agricultural stability will again be endangered by fluctuations in prices." Forehand emphasized the need for the protection offered by government price supports and other features of the Agricultural Conservation Program which have represented one of agriculture's greatest assets during the last 13 years.

Pig Production Increase Goal Asked By USDA

A 1947 fall pig production goal asking for an increase of 15 per cent more sows than were kept a year ago was recently announced by the Department of Agriculture, according to Arthur M. Hauke, extension economist with New Mexico A. & M. College.

Such a goal would result in a fall pig crop of nearly 35 million pigs for market in 1948, compared with the 1945 fall pig crop of about 31 million head, which are now coming to market, Hauke explained. And such an increase would result in a total 1947 pig crop of about 85 million head, or five million more than were produced in 1946.

The 15 per cent increase in the 1947 fall pig crop is being asked for to assure adequate meat supplies for 1948, the economist said. No difficulty regarding feed supplies appears likely if the average corn yields are maintained, as an average corn crop this year plus the corn carried over would provide sufficient feed for finishing out a fall pig crop of 35 million pigs and taking care of other livestock needs. Hauke pointed out that unless the consumer buying power expected for next year fails to materialize, it is not likely that hog prices will decline to the price support level.

Top 4-H Winners Raise Domestic Crop Of Fowl

Forty-three state winners in the 1946 National 4-H Poultry Achievement activity raised a total of 90,680 fowl during their club work, which ranged from three to 10 years, the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work has announced.

The winners comprised 30 boys and 13 girls. They won $2118 in cash prizes on their poultry exhibits, which brought the estimated value of all their 4-H projects to $271,700. Incomes from their poultry projects alone ranged from $448 to $20,700.

Last year's state winner in New Mexico was Wayne Watkins of Tatum. During eight years in 4-H Club work he raised 800 fowl. Merit awards are again offered this year for superior records in 4-H poultry and egg production. The activity is conducted under the direction of the federal and state extension services on county, state, and national levels. Awards include sterling silver medals for five winners in each qualifying county, an educational trip to the annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for the state winner, and $25 U.S. Savings Bonds for four cowinners. Ten state winners chosen for national honors each will receive a $200 college scholarship.

County winners were named last year in Eddy, Bernalillo, Curry, Dona Ana, Guadalupe, Quay, Roosevelt, San Miguel, Sierra, Socorro, and Union Counties.

Salaries range from $2644 to $5905 a year for the standard work week of 40 hours. Applicants must have a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university and at least three years of dietitian experience.

Consumption of fluid milk in the first part of 1946 declined as production increased.

United States dairymen have 67,278 herds containing 5,300,000 cows in artificial insemination societies in 1946, according to E. Anderson, dairy specialist of the New Mexico Extension Service. The total number of cows in these associations Jan. 1 was 1,120,000.

Artesia's Ministers Speak

(Rev. Cyril Stone)

There was a cartoon which appeared some time ago which was at the same time amusing yet sad. It was a drawing of a group of very wealthy people coming out of a beautiful, rich church. The minister stood in the doorway greeting people as they passed by. One woman said to another, "He does remarkably well. It is very difficult to preach to people like us without offending us."

We become quite clever at adjusting the Gospel to our conveniences. Where it is too severe, we make it more tolerant. When it demands what would cause discomfort, we decide that Jesus never meant us to take that command literally. When the ethics of Christianity would cost us money if we adopted them, we quiet our conscience by saying that it is impossible to live without compromising anyway. We ignore the fact that Christ said, "No man can serve two masters for he will love the one and hate the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon!" We not only believe that we can serve two gods—we serve 50.

After a while, we wonder why it is that our religion does not mean as much to us as we had been told it would. We listen to the saints tell of the joy and inner calm they know and of the unspeakable glory shed upon their lives, but we listen with vaguely comprehending minds and we look with unseeing eyes upon their truth. I am troubled with the number of people who believe that the Christian life is just not being bad. How many people come to the minister and tell him that they do this and they do that but that their conscience does not bother them, and surely it cannot be called wicked. No, it is not wicked, but it is even worse. It is the dullness of a life only half committed to Him, and hence a life that is neither black nor white, but only a dull gray.

The evidence of such thinking and doing is at hand on every day in the week. Dr. Kirkley Mather, who is at the head of the geology departments in one of our best known universities, says that if we continue to use our petroleum resources at the present rate that they will be depleted from all supplies in 90 years. The exploitation by mankind in his selfish, greedy rush holds no thought whatsoever for the generations of men who must live after us. Nature has been centuries in the making of our resources, but man with a dulled conscience has reduced them in one century, to the danger point.

We find that it is easier to serve God in a very small way when we use the basic and most precious natural resource He has given us—the seven inches of the earth's crust which is the productive topsoil. America's soils are capable of producing adequate food for its people and a goodly portion for other peoples of the world when necessity demands. To America has been entrusted some of the most productive land in the world, and we who are Americans cannot afford soil depletion by erosion. Every man must hold the land in trust not only for this generation but also for future generations. If we allow erosion to continue at this present rate for two or three more generations, America, the land of plenty, will fail to produce enough food, clothing, and shelter for its inhabitants.

Not only does this lack of consideration appear in the use of the land, but it is now appearing among us in the use of the only substance that will ever cause the land to produce—water. The past, present, and future of every community has depended on its water supply, and when men exploit this necessity, they are reducing the possibilities of the future and are jeopardizing the welfare of a city, which cannot help but affect a state and a nation.

The responsibility for the conservation of the soil and other natural resources for the future well-being of the nation is God-given. For the care of our children, and their children, let us recall that God is the owner of all things, and we are only administrators of that which has been entrusted to us for our use.

Guy and Carr Attend Show of New Chevrolet Truck Line

Chevrolet will soon present a new line of commercial cars and trucks, Clyde Guy of the Guy Chevrolet Company said upon his return from El Paso, where he witnessed a show of Chevrolet dealers in this area, in company with Jess Carr, his sales manager.

"Without doubt, the new line of Chevrolet trucks is the finest ever offered to the American public," Guy said. "In style, comfort and hauling efficiency, the vehicles set new standards which are certain to secure the endorsement of all truck owners and drivers."

The new line of trucks will be shown in Artesia within the near future, the exact date to be announced later, Guy said. Truck owners and operators and all others interested in truck transportation will be welcome, he said.

Deadline For 1946 Conservation Program Has Been Set June 30

Eddy County farmers and ranchers were reminded this week that June 30 is the last day for completing applications for payment under the 1946 Agricultural Conservation Plan.

Nearly all applications are in, and many of the operators already have received their payments for the federal government's share of the cost of the soil-hardening and soil-building practices carried out under the program. However, a few cooperators who took part in the program and reported the completion of their practices by Dec. 31 have not yet returned their application forms.

Any farmer or rancher who is in doubt about whether or not his 1946 ACP application has been signed should visit or telephone the county office at Carlsbad before the June 30 deadline to make sure.

LIABILITY POLICY

ON YOUR CAR!

THE NEW FINANCIAL RESPONSIBILITY LAW IS NOW IN EFFECT. Under this new law, ANY MOTOR VEHICLE OWNER OR DRIVER who is involved in an accident resulting in damage to property of, or personal injury to another, no matter how slight, may be required to furnish and THEREAFTER MAINTAIN with the Commissioner of Motor Vehicle Department, proof of financial responsibility in the future.

Your operator's license and car registration may be suspended unless you properly report any accident in which your car is involved.

There are two ways you can prove your financial responsibility and avoid having your driving license suspended, either by a Liability Policy or DEPOSITING WITH THE COMMISSIONER OF MOTOR VEHICLE DEPARTMENT $11,000.00 in cash, securities and bonds.

The cheapest and safest way is to see Pete right away and have him write you a Liability and Property Damage Policy. That will save the day for you. Follow the crowd, car owners, as many others have already done. A policy written now may save you much embarrassment later.

Growers To Receive Cotton Pool Proceeds Not Already Redeemed

Cotton growers who did not redeem their 1943-crop cotton under loan have a tidy sum of more than six billion dollars coming to them, according to C. V. Hemphill, state chairman of the Production and Marketing Administration Committee. CCC will begin immediately a pro rata distribution of the money, which represents proceeds from sale of the pooled cotton.

Recommendation For Poultry Committee Research Submitted

Production and marketing of poultry and eggs come in for their share of attention in research recommendations submitted by the USDA Poultry Advisory Committee.

The committee's recent report emphasizes three fields of production research which should receive first consideration: Broaden the scope of study on the efficiency and economy of selecting breeding stock to improve egg production and quality, visibility, and carcass quality; increase research on the nutritive requirements of poultry, since feed is more than half the cost of poultry production; and seek more economical sources of protein, since protein is the most expensive part of the poultry diet.

Marketing recommendations include: High priority should be given to research on ways and means of eliminating present heavy losses in quality and quantity during the marketing process; more basic information should be obtained on the nutritional value of poultry products; and markets should be expanded both here and abroad through the development of new food and other uses for poultry and its by-products.

Land is usually in best shape for terracing after the crops have been gathered and before breaking is started.

The end to be attained in the 1947 observance of National Farm Safety Week—July 29-26—is to have every farm family take some time out during the week for a discussion of how they can live and work safely.
