HELPING TO BUILD A GREATER ARTESIA

First Two Bodies Of War Dead On Way Home

The bodies of the first two of the war dead from the Artesia community to be returned from the battle theaters are in the United States and are on the way home for final burial.

They are Pvt. George Price, son of Ed Price of Artesia, who was killed at Hickam Field, Hawaii, during the initial attack of the Japanese on Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, and First Lt. Osborn Keller, son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Keller of Artesia, who died in the Fiji Islands Dec. 24, 1943.

Although the parents of the two young men had been notified of the bodies of their sons were on the way home, they had received no word up to Wednesday morning as to the probable time of arrival.

Ed Price said funeral services for his son will be from the First Methodist Church at Lake Arthur the day of arrival and burial will be by the grave of Private Price's mother at Lake Arthur, the family home before coming to Artesia.

The United Veterans Club of Artesia is making arrangements for a military funeral for Private Price, with special functions assigned to members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans.

Although the funeral will be at Lake Arthur, Mayor A. P. Mahone of Artesia has requested that the Artesia business houses close from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock the afternoon of the funeral as a token of remembrance and honor to the half hundred boys from this community who were killed or died while in the service of their country during World War II.

Mayor Mahone said it probably will be impractical for businesses to close for all such funerals and that the action for the funeral of Private Price is to be construed as honoring all of the local boys whose bodies will be brought home for final burial.

The body of Lieutenant Keller is not to come to Artesia, but rather will be buried in the National Cemetery at Fort Bliss, his parents said.

It is presumed the bodies of Private Price and Lieutenant Keller will arrive respectively at Lake Arthur and Fort Bliss the same day.

Private Price was born near Zena, Okla., June 16, 1918, and was 23 years old at the time of his death. He came to the Pecos Valley with his parents in 1920 and lived at Lake Arthur, where he graduated from the high school, and Artesia until enlisting in the Army Jan. 3, 1940.

He trained at Fort Bliss and on the West Coast and was sent to Hawaii in February, 1940.

There he was serving as a gunner with the 72nd Bombing Squadron at the time of his death.

Lieutenant Osborn Keller, only child of I. C. and Frances F. Keller, was born at Hope June 30, 1916. He came to Artesia with his parents in 1919 and attended from Artesia High School in 1932 and then took a year of graduate work in the school before entering the University of New Mexico, from which he graduated in 1938.

He was employed a year by the university and then became associated with the accounting firm of Linder, Burk, and Stephenson, for whom he worked in the Hobbs office until enlisting in the Army Jan. 9, 1941.

After training at Fort Sill, Okla., he was promoted to sergeant early in 1942 and was sent to Fort Benning, Ga., for officer training. He graduated from there May 1, 1942, as a second lieutenant.

Artesia had taken possession of ball on the Bulldog 30, when they fumbled. And then in a down the field with four consecutive first downs and with John Sudderth, and "Cot" Marsh carrying the ball, the Bulldogs battled to the Hobbs 20 yard line, where the Eagles possession of the ball after down.

Eagle kicked from behind goaline on first down, and Wiskin, spinning in "reverse sh," hit the ground on about

Seismograph Crew Of 35 Seeks Homes Here Two Years

Places for 35 families are being sought for a seismograph crew of the Magnolia Oil Company, with prospects the crew will work out of Artesia two years.

It has been pointed out the presence of the seismograph men and their families here over that long a period will mean much to the community and that every effort should be made to house them.

The crew is to come to Artesia from Lovington, out of where the members have been working the last 18 months.

Persons having places or knowing of suitable places for the members of the crew and families are asked to call Dave Moore, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Lions Pressbox Is Dandy, Its First Use Friday Shows

The new pressbox at Morris Field, built for the press and radio by the Artesia Lions Club, is par excellence, according to the members of those two media who occupied and used it Friday evening at the Hobbs-Artesia football game.

If there be anything wrong with it—as it turned out—it may be a little small, as it was a trifle crowded Friday, with representatives of two radio stations, KWEP, Hobbs, and KSPV, Artesia, the public address system, and the press crowded into its 14-foot length.

Lined up with elbows on the full-length desk ledge were eight men, including three spotters, five men handling the three mikes, and the representative of The Advocate. The Hobbs press was not represented at the game—at least not in the pressbox.

The others in the 7x14-foot room were radio and public address engineers.

But the visibility was splendid, with the entire west front glazed. Besides, there are windows at the north and south ends adjacent to the front of the pressbox, for studying plays at the far ends of the field.

The interior, which had not been completed in time for the game Friday, is lined with sound-proof wallboard. Three overhead lights illuminate the pressbox, and there are six electric outlets for the amplifiers. Besides, there are two telephones, one tied into the local phone system and the other leading to the foot of the stairs of the box.

All in all, it is a splendid pressbox, one which is ample for any event staged in Artesia, as long as the members of the various media co-operate as they did Friday.

Vets Want Guard Armory Centrally Located In City

The Veterans of Foreign Wars at the monthly meeting Monday evening and the Disabled American Veterans on Tuesday evening passed resolutions prevailing upon the Artesia City Council to choose a central location for the proposed National Guard armory and warehouse.

At both meetings it was brought out that the armory when built will be available for public use and could be employed for many community events.

Members of both the VFW and DAV said their own building, the Veterans Memorial Building, can serve and is serving for many functions and is helping to fill a need in the community, but that it is not adequate for all needs.

Should the National Guard armory be built too far from the center of the city it would be unhandy for conventions, large meetings and the like, and would not be employed to any great extent as a community center, it was pointed out.

Members of the two groups said they understood several locations have the tentative approval of the city.

A nephew, Chester R. Buckles of Mahomet, Ill., was the only relative here for the funeral services which were in charge of Paulin Funeral Home.

Hobbs High Charged With Using Varsity Men Against Artesia 'B' and alleged that some of them were members of the Hobbs varsity squad, who met the Bulldogs on Morris Field Friday evening, defeating Artesia 7-6.

It was understood among sports fans that Coach Kenneth Lance entered a complaint with the game officials at Hobbs Saturday night and that they replied in effect that they "were running the game."

When no attempt was made to eliminate members of the Hobbs varsity team from the game it was decided at the end of the half to forfeit the game and bring the team home.

Many Artesia fans were at the game and joined in the charges that some of the players were being used illegally.

No one has been found who did not agree with the decision of Principal Green and Coach Lance in refusing to continue to play and in bringing the team home for the safety of the players and in defense of good sportsmanship.

Proposed Band Trip To Mexico Gains Interest

The great interest being shown throughout the nation in the International Good-Will Band, which was inspired by E. L. Harp of Artesia and which is to make a trip to Mexico in January, has been demonstrated in considerable correspondence received here by the retired band conductor, but a recent letter from Miss Lois Grinhaus, 17-year-old clarinet player of Shawano, Wis., is typical. It reads:

"I wish to take this opportunity to extend my sincere congratulations to you and to all the others who are making this excursion possible. I wonder if even you realize what can be gained from this program."

"Those who are fortunate enough to attend will not only gain a broader knowledge of music and the experience of traveling, but also something far greater—good fellowship."

"Perhaps it is because my ambition is to make foreign service my career that I look to this trip from such an aspect, but I believe that this experience will do much to strengthen the alliance of three great nations—Mexico, the United States, and Canada."

"Good luck to you and to the students who participate, and may this be only the beginning of a tradition. Thank you for helping today's 'teen-agers put the world back in one piece.'"

Plans Being Completed For 20-30 Subdistrict Meet Here

Final plans are to be made this evening at the weekly meeting of the Artesia 20-30 Club for the entertainment of delegates to a subdistrict meeting here Saturday and Sunday, at which district Gov. Joe Bonfield of Hobbs will preside.

All of the activities for the meeting will be at the Veterans Memorial Building, except for a breakfast Sunday morning, which will be at the Artesia Hotel Coffee Shop. It was previously announced the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel would be the scene of some of the sessions.

Registration for the visitors will be from 1 to 7 o'clock Saturday afternoon and evening.

A barbecue banquet will be served at 7:30 o'clock in the evening, after which there will be a dance at 9 o'clock.

The Sunday activities will start off at 8:30 o'clock with a breakfast at the Coffee Shop.

The delegates will then go to the Veterans Memorial Building for the business session at 9:30 o'clock over which Governor Bonfield will preside.

Doyle Hankins Is Named President Of Kiwanis Club

Doyle Hankins was elected president of the Artesia Kiwanis Club at the weekly meeting last Thursday noon, at which the members of the Bulldog varsity squad were special guests.

Members of the Kiwanis Club again pledged their entire support of the Bulldogs and encouraged them in playing the game.

VFW Initiates Eight As Formation Of National Guard Is Discussed

Ministry Work Is Outlined By Wilson At Meet

An interesting vocational talk on the ministry, in which he enumerated four categories of work done by the clergy, was given Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon by Rev. Harry M. Wilson, pastor of the First Christian Church.

He said the categories are preaching, leading in public worship, pastoral work, and administration. But, he said, many preachers are overburdened with administrative work, leaving them not enough time for the other phases of their duties.

Theological seminaries have been more and more preparing their students to serve in the larger communities, with the rural churches neglected, while they give more emphasis on training men to be social minded, Rev. Wilson said.

Martin Yates, Jr., Rotary president, announced that H. C. Pannell of Lovington, 115th district governor of Rotary, will pay his official visit to the Artesia club Tuesday noon, Nov. 18.

Eight new members were initiated into the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the monthly meeting Monday evening at the Veterans Memorial Building, at which the planned formation of a National Guard unit here was discussed.

H. D. Burch stressed the fact the United States has been on the winning side in all wars, but that at present the picture is not too bright and that "sometime we may lose."

He pointed out that Russia is said to have more than 208 divisions at this time, whereas the United States has no more than 15. The National Guard, he said, will help fill the gap and make the United States better able to defend herself should the need arise.

The unit here is to have six officers and 120 enlisted men in a mobile anti-aircraft unit, Burch said.

The National Guard will meet 48 times a year, with each officer and man attending drawing pay for a day's work in the Army.

Burch said that according to Brig. Gen. C. G. Sage, the adjutant general of New Mexico, there is available at this time $200,000 for a National Guard warehouse here, and that the mobile equipment assigned would be valued at about $300,000. In addition there will be an armory built in time, he said.

Post Commander J. B. (Buster) Mulcock pointed out that the city will be required to furnish a site of at least four acres and that the government will stand all other expenses.

The post went on record recommending to the United Veterans Club the setting up of a specific fund for the purchase of flowers for the funerals of all North Eddy County men, whose bodies have been resting in the battle areas and are now being brought home for final burial.

Commander Mulcock appointed C. G. Twiley and A. C. Lopez to represent the VFW in recommending to the City Council that the site for the proposed National Guard warehouse and armory be centrally located, so that, as (continued last page this section)

Army Forces Will Again Be Among Strongest, Chamberites Are Told

The Army Air Forces of the United States are not obsolete, are going through a transition period, after which they will among the strongest in the world, Lt. Col. William W. Perry, local weapons officer at Roswell Air Field, declared Friday at the monthly luncheon meeting of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

A generalized talk on "U.S. Power, 1947," Colonel Perry pointed out that the B-29 Superfortresses are becoming merely bombers, as the transition takes place.

Present the B-29's are being replaced by B-50's, which are modified B-29's and look the same as the casual observer, and that the near future the base at Roswell will be equipped with B-50's.

Legion And Auxiliary At Roswell Invite Artesians To Meeting

The American Legion post and American Legion Auxiliary unit in Roswell have extended an invitation to members of the Artesia post and unit to be their guests at a dinner and joint meeting in Roswell at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, Oct. 27.

Harry Gilmore and Mrs. C. R. Baldwin, respectively commander and president of the Artesia post and unit, have urged that as many members as possible attend.

All who plan to go are asked to call Mrs. Baldwin, phone 456-W, or Mrs. Gilmore, phone 534-J, by next Thursday, so they can notify the Roswell organizations how many to prepare for.

'Cotton' Marsh Is Out Of Football Play From Fracture Of Left Arm

"Cotton" Marsh, fast and effective back on the Artesia High School Bulldog squad, finished his high school football career Monday afternoon, when he fractured his left arm in practice.

The injury will keep him out of play for the remainder of the season, and Marsh is, so his high school football playing is over.

Marsh will be missed greatly in the line-up, as he has been one of the sparkplugs of the team and a great yardage gainer.

At the same time the large B-50's are being replaced by B-36's, which are modified B-29's and look the same as the casual observer, and that the near future the base at Roswell will be equipped with B-50's.

Who Gets The Food?

AMERICANS WILL probably go along on the food saving program and doubtless will give their full support to the program announced by the federal government.

It has often been said that a European family could live on what an American throws away. It doubtless would be a good thing for us to learn to conserve and save food.

And the chances are the program, which has been launched, will bring wonderful results and be a good thing for Americans.

But the fact does remain that Americans have probably reached the point where they want to ask a few questions. They are a little tired and weary of some of the arguments advanced; some of the "bungling," which has been done by our state department; and tired of being told we are going to save someone.

They heard that for five years during the war yet conditions in Europe are more unsettled today than they were before or during the war.

Yet they were told to save them; they were told to buy bonds; they were told to conserve food; they were told to work and sweat; and they were on rationed foods.

Up to now it hasn't accomplished much. They have a right to ask what the government proposes to do now. Who is going to get the food they save? What countries are going to be given aid? They have a right to ask if those receiving foods aren't going to have to do something to show their appreciation for this food and whether they are going to turn around and condemn America after she has fed and saved them.

Yes, we believe America is a little weary of saving folks, who apparently don't want to be saved.

Starvation stalks India year in and year out. The same is true in China. We don't get too excited about it. But we are going to save Europe. We have saved them from others twice in the past 25 years. We wonder whether they want to be saved from themselves.

Yes, Americans want to know if government waste is to continue? They haven't forgotten the food thrown away after the war. They want to know who is going to handle the situation in Europe? They recall what has happened in the past.

Yes, they want to know a number of things. And they want to be sure that the Russian countries don't receive any more aid and help and that Russia doesn't have anything to do with the feeding of those in Europe with American foods.

We have done about all we care to do for the Russians and their puppets. And America wants to be sure that the job can and really will be done this time.

And the past record won't satisfy Americans—they want some changes and some things done, which will aid America instead of helping the Reds.

Yes, a few questions probably should be answered and they should be answered honestly. It is a fine thing to be patriotic and a fine thing to aid but it is foolish to follow blindly leadership, which hasn't in the past earned the right to the title of leaders.—O.E.P.

Hurts Recruiting

THERE ARE SCATTERED over this nation of ours some grand boys in the recruiting service doing a fine job.

Artesia is fortunate in having M/Sgt. Preston Triplett, who is not only a splendid representative of the United States Army but a fine citizen. He is doing an outstanding job here as a civic and community worker.

His job, however, and the job of all other recruiting officers is to secure enlistments for the United States Army.

We need these recruits. We need not only to keep our Army strong but our Navy as well. We are highly in favor of this program of building up both the Army and the Navy. We feel it should be done.

But regardless of how good a job these recruiters do they still have obstacles thrown in their paths, which handicap them in their work.

The Lee incident in Italy hasn't helped their cause. Such affairs as this, such unfavorable publicity, hurt recruiting.

Lee, of course, was cleared by an Army investigator. But that same investigator admitted errors and mistakes had been made. He admitted the boys had been given too severe punishment for minor offenses; he admitted they had been made to work too long hours.

Parents read these admissions; they know what has happened; they have a right to think what they please.

And such conduct on the part of our officers does not aid or help encourage recruiting.

It might be well to clean up some of the things, which need to be cleaned up, and if the Army doesn't want to do it—then Congress better.

We need to keep faith with those, who enlist. We have been pretty good at promises but haven't always done so well in keeping those promises after we made this.

If we promise youths educations if they enlist let's see that they get them. If we promise them they can enlist and remain in a certain branch of service—let's see they get into that branch of service and they remain.

Those, who enlist in service, have kept faith. The government should also keep faith with them.—O.E.P.

Make It Every Week

LAST WEEK was "Fire Prevention Week." Much emphasis was placed on cleaning up and eliminating all fire hazards. It is a fine thing, of course, to conduct a cleanup campaign once a year and to try to remove all rubbish and trash as well as fire hazards.

It is a splendid thing to get the public to thinking about fires, losses from fires and to convince them that something should be done to eliminate fires and to reduce these tremendous losses each year.

The only trouble with this is the fact that fires occur every week. They can occur every day during the week or every hour during the day. And so instead of just having fire prevention observance every year for a full week we should have fire prevention observance every week in every year.

The losses in fire are never recovered. We have insurance to cover actual losses yet what is lost in a fire is lost forever.

Those, who lose their lives in fires, usually do so because of the carelessness of someone. Those, who are injured in fires, usually suffer because someone was careless.

So it is a fine thing, we say, to observe "Fire Prevention Week" once a year, but it is much finer to observe fire prevention every week in the year and not only remove but keep removed everything, which can cause a fire.—O.E.P.

WHEN IT COMES TO DOING THINGS the Artesia Lions Club gets right on the beam, as witness the new pressbox at Morris Field.

When the Lions said they would build a pressbox we figured they would, but we visualized a rickety contraption into which we could crawl during the games when we might have a cold drizzle.

But we did not imagine the substantial building which has been provided, mounted on four poles, which the REA kindly furnished and set, well built, weather tight, lined with wallboard, with ample electric outlets and three drop electric lights, equipped with a telephone, and snug enough for anyone's comfort.

And when we jokingly suggested we might need windshield wipers if, as, and when it might rain, the Lions said they even could do that.

This is just by way of publicly acknowledging the nice job and the splendid thought behind it on the part of the Artesia Lions Club in providing a pressbox which would do credit to a university stadium, a pressbox in which we of the press and radio can be warm and snug while the remainder of the spectators, including the Lions, shiver and get wet.—A.L.B.

Bicycle Licenses

SOMEBODY MUST BE TEACHING the boys and girls a little more about traffic, as we have noticed some of them paying more attention to regulations and hand signals of late.

But we still believe every bicycle within municipalities should be licensed and that the riders should have some sort of licenses indicating that they have passed examinations in traffic regulations and safety measures.

Too many boys and girls are menaces on the streets and are constantly keeping drivers of automobiles in a state of jitters.

Until bicycles are regulated the same as automobiles we are inviting more accidents than there would be with a bicycle code.—A.L.B.

Contempt In Wrong Place

IT WAS NECESSARY for Judge J. D. Josey to slap on a contempt of court sentence a few days ago because a fellow showed his contempt in the wrong place.

That contempt was taken out on the officers and court, whereas the fellow should have retained his contempt for the parking meters, the indirect cause of the action.

It seems the fellow received a parking ticket. And he made a mistake while in court when he expressed his opinion of the officers, including the judge. So the judge gave him some time to think it over.

Whether you like the meters or not, the fact remains they are here and there is a city ordinance designed for enforcing the parking regulations and providing penalties for infractions. And it is the duty of officers to cite offenders to court, and of the judge to impose penalties.

It they don't do their duty they should be fired. And when they do their duty they should not be criticized. Anyone has a perfect right to dislike the parking meters and to show contempt for them. But don't blame the officers and the court.—A.L.B.

Employees Should Protect Social Security Cards

Every employee should carefully protect his Social Security account number card and make sure that each employer for whom he works has a record of the number that is on that card, said Perry A. Webb, manager of the Social Security Administration office in Roswell.

The money that his survivors will receive in the event of his death, or the money that he and his wife will be paid when they are old and have retired from work, Webb said, is insurance which is earned through employment and which is paid for by the small deductions from his wages each payday and added to an equal amount by his employer.

The amount that his survivors or that he and his wife will receive depends on the amount of wages paid to him by his employer. If the employer did not have his account number, and had failed to report his wages, the amount of insurance to be paid to his survivors or to himself and wife in their old age will be less than it would have been if all his wages had been properly reported.

The number on the Social Security card, Mr. Webb said, is the number of the individual's Social Security account. It is positive identification of the account.

When the number is shown along with the wage earner's name and wages on the employer's quarterly report, correct posting of the wages to the proper account is assured. If the account number is not shown on the employer's report there is danger the wages may not be properly identified and posted.

Employees, Webb said, should protect their survivors and retirement insurance by always making sure that their employers have accurate record of their Social Security account numbers and their names. They should always show their account number card to each employer for whom they work.

Booklets Tell How To Operate Small Business

Forty booklets on establishing and operating various types of small businesses are available at a nominal charge at the U. S. Department of Commerce Field offices located in El Paso and Albuquerque, Thomas U. Purcell, district manager at El Paso, has announced.

These books, formerly available only to servicemen and women through the Armed Forces Institute, offer basic information and counsel. They were prepared to answer the evident need of sound and useful information in order to further the chances of success of those going into business for themselves.

"The manuals contain no magic formula for success," Purcell said, but do suggest practical standards by which the interested reader can measure his qualifications and prospects as well as gain some understanding of the operating problems involved.

"These booklets are also of value to the proprietor of an established small business for checking his own operating and management procedures and for possible new ideas."

A list of the series' titles is now available at the offices of the department located in Room 12, Chamber of Commerce Building, El Paso, and at 203 West Gd Avenue, Albuquerque.

Demand Increase For Meat Causes Nation's Shortage

The meat which the U. S. exported during the first six months of this year had far less effect on meat prices than the increasing demand for meat at home, according to Arthur M. Hauke, extension economist at New Mexico A. & M. College.

Americans are now consuming about five billion more pounds of meat a year than they did in 1935, he said.

Hauke pointed out that meat exports from the U. S. during the first half of 1947 amounted to less than a pound per person for U. S. citizens, and were only slightly

Total meat production in the U. S. in 1947 is expected to be the third largest on record and will provide 153 pounds for every person in the nation if distributed equally, Hauke said. The annual average consumption of meat per capita in 1937-41, when prices were much lower, was 134 pounds.

August and September are the months when the fewest head of livestock are marketed, so current meat supplies are lowest then, the economist explained. The high total meat production in 1947 means that farmers are selling some of their older animals along with those which normally would go to market this year.

Spring pigs and range cattle will reach the market in increasing numbers in the next few weeks, and the bulk of the spring pig crop will be sold late in the year. This upward trend in sales will push up available meat supplies, but meat prices will depend upon consumer income and the demand for retail cuts.

State Purchases Of Bonds Drops Less Than Nation

While investments in U. S. Savings Bonds in New Mexico decreased 4.96 per cent during the first eight months of 1947 under those of the same period of 1946, nationally the decrease was 11.9 per cent.

During August, investments by residents of New Mexico dropped 7.76 per cent under August, 1946, while in the United States the decrease was 21.19 per cent.

Investments by New Mexicans in Series F and G Bonds increased 20.65 per cent while in the nation there was a decrease in these series, comparing the first eight months of 1947 with the same months of 1946. Gain in Series F and G, however, was offset by a decrease of Series E investments in this state of 31.32 per cent from the first 8 of 1947 under 1946. The amounts were $6,704,000 in 1947 and $7,674,000 in 1946.

Total of all three series invested by New Mexicans through Aug. 31 of this year was $9,479,000, and for the same period of 1946 the amount was $9,974,000.

The area of the United States where investments in U. S. Savings Bonds have increased greatest includes the states of Iowa, South Dakota, and Nebraska, all of which show more than increased sales this year over last. New Mexico ranks 25th among the states as to percentage of 1947 goal now obtained.

Uncle Sam Says

One of my nephews, Assistant Secretary of the United States Treasury Edward H. Foley, made a few remarks the other day which are worth the attention and action of all my other nephews and nieces. In talking about buying Savings Bonds through the payroll savings plan, he said: "Workers are doing themselves a favor when they increase their take-home savings. The man who has saved up a reserve has a sense of security which the man who lives from hand to mouth can never know. He gets more out of life. He can take today as it comes, rather than spend it worrying about tomorrow." The same reasoning applies not only to Americans on somebody's payroll but to the millions of men and women who earn their living as doctors, lawyers and independent business men who can arrange for regular purchases of Savings Bonds at their banks.

Faith and Sight

We are awed by science! Our life saving sulfa drugs, penicillin, radar, the cataclysmic atom bomb, even our nylon hose, all are results of scientific research.

In laboratories all over our land scientists gaze through microscopes at tiny organisms too small for human sight and there find the basis for many gifts of health and countless comforts and conveniences for daily living. Through telescopes we may view the distant stars!

But there is a vast area of life above and beyond scientific sight. There are eternal values which cannot be seen with the physical eye—spiritual truths which must be accepted on faith. It is only by faith that we can be lead to a higher plan of spiritual reality.

Faith and sight are not opposed to each other. Rather does each complement the other and together they make an invaluable contribution to the well-rounded life.

The Church has the faith-finding instruments for our use. You and your children should worship there for greater vision.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Wedding Vows Are Exchanged By Miss Abbie Durand And J. J. Terry

Miss Abbie Durand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Durand, and J. J. Terry, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Terry, exchanged wedding vows at a double-ring ceremony performed by Rev. Chester Rogers, Methodist pastor of Lake Arthur, in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Pearson, on the Cottonwood Sunday afternoon.

The bride entered the room on her father's arm to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," from a stairway decorated with chrysanthemums and white satin ribbons. She carried a satin-covered prayer book and two white orchids showered with Stephanotis. An afternoon dress of gray crepe, trimmed with steel beads, was her wedding costume. A matching hat in gray trimmed with bird of paradise plumage completed the lovely picture she made.

Orval Gray, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man, and Mrs. Wallace Hastings was matron of honor.

Mrs. Hastings was dressed in a beige afternoon dress with black accessories. She carried a black Persian lamb muff topped with a spray of pink Poinsettia roses.

Howard Miller sang, "If God Left Only You," and an "Amen" arrangement, accompanied by Mrs. Glenn Caskey.

At the reception after the wedding Miss Mary Corbin and Mrs.

Fay Thorpe poured at a double coffee service sent on a linen and lace-laid table decorated with tall tapers, silver, and crystal. White roses and candles completed the scheme throughout the room. A three-tiered pink and white wedding cake circled with white roses, was centered on the bride's table. After the reception, the couple left for Santa Fe. Mrs. Terry wore a moss-green Milgrim suit and hat with brown accessories. She wore the white orchids on her shoulder. On their return they will be at home in their farm in the Cottonwood area.

Guests from out of town who attended the wedding and reception were Jack Terry, a brother of the bridegroom, from Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mrs. J. A. Clayton of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Mrs. R. A. Wardlow of La Fayette, Ga., sisters of the bridegroom; Mrs. M. Stroud of Altus, Okla., and Mrs. George Hunter of La Fayette, Ga., aunts of the bridegroom; Mrs. H. Durand of Dexter, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Durand of Dexter, uncle and aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Buchanan, Mrs. Winn Otto, Mrs. Ethel Cron, Mrs. Alma Hensley, and Mrs. Maude Zimmerman of Roswell.

Marriage Of Miss Sybil Pior And Patrick Eckman Has Been Announced

MR. AND MRS. ECKMAN

—Morgan Photo

Miss Sybil Pior and Patrick Eckman were joined in marriage in the chapel of the Central Christian Church in Denver, Colo., at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 10. It has just been announced here.

The former Miss Pior is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Pior of Artesia. She attended Drake University, in Des Moines, Iowa, before graduating from the Pasadena (Calif.) Playhouse. She also graduated from the University of Colorado. She was a member of Zeta Phi Eta and Theta Alpha Phi during her school years. Patrick Eckman, son of Mrs. Emily Eckman of Mead, Colo., attended Colorado School of Mines. He graduated from the University of Colorado and is now a reporter and political writer for the Salt Lake Telegram.

The bride, who entered on her father's arm, was lovely in a white crepe street dress with a slight drape to the skirt. A halo shaped hat was made from matching crepe for the occasion. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white, double gladioli. Something old was her mother's engagement ring. Something borrowed and blue was a fancy garter. The bridegroom presented her a gold bracelet, which she wore for something new.

Bob Loper and Miss Wanda Story were the attendants. Mr. Loper is a former classmate of the couple. Miss Story is an old friend of the bride's. Miss Story wore a plum-colored crepe street dress with brown accessories. A corsage of pink rosebuds was worn on her shoulder. Mrs. Pior wore a teal-blue wool-crepe dress with brown accessories. Her corsage also was of rosebuds. Mrs. Eckman was dressed in a black pin-striped suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Donald Pior, the bride's brother, and Edward Eckman, the bridegroom's brother, served as ushers.

A reception was held at the Olin Hotel in Denver. About 50 guests were present, besides the

Date For Cartier To Be Day Later, Thursday, Oct. 23

JACQUES CARTIER

"Theater Cavalcade," starring Jacques Cartier, will be presented Thursday, Oct. 23, instead of Wednesday, Oct. 22, as was announced last week. Grady Booker, general chairman of the Artesia Concert Association, also announced that the time, 8 o'clock, and place, high school auditorium, remain unchanged.

Cartier, who last February thrilled an Artesia audience with his brilliant performance of "Proud Heritage," a dance-story about a Hopi Indian lad, is the first attraction in this season's concert series. He appears in a completely new production that gives fair promise of surpassing the splendor of "Noble Czar" and the charm of last year's "Proud Heritage."

Immediately after the completion of his fall dates in New Mexico, Cartier will leave for an Eastern and Canadian tour of "Theater Cavalcade."

Famous for the magnificence of his costumes, Cartier quite outdoes himself in the wardrobe array for "Theater Cavalcade." In one scene alone, "The American Tour of Mei-Lan-Fang," there are three costume changes. More than two years of work have gone into the outfitting and rehearsing of this new theater piece.

Admission to the concert is by season membership tickets. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Mrs. Donald Bush and Russell Floore will be in charge of stage and auditorium arrangements.

The other four of the five concerts scheduled for Artesia this season are: Grand Opera Quartet, November; Dividend Concert, Bea McFarland, oboe, and Mary Dial, bassoon, January; Jane Snow, soprano, February; and Virginia Knowles, cellist, March. All of these come to Artesia through the New Mexico Concerts service of the State Museum, Santa Fe.

Ceramic Paintings And Oils Are Shown At Garden Club Meet

The program leader for October, Mrs. S. W. Gilbert, for the Artesia Garden Club, displayed many beautiful oils and ceramic paintings of such famous artists as Paul de Longpre and Aulich at a meeting held Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ralph Shugart.

The collection of paintings shown all had as their subjects flowers, the chosen subject of Mrs. Gilbert.

Mrs. Shugart had decorated her home with dahlias cut from her own garden. Mrs. Gilbert assisted Mrs. Shugart.

In connection with the display, poems were read by Mrs. M. C. Ross, Mrs. T. H. Flint, Mrs. Ralph Shugart, Mrs. T. C. Donnell, and Mrs. Gilbert.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments to about 16 members and Mrs. M. C. Ross, and a Mrs. Taylor of California, who was visiting.

Parent-Teacher Association Is Being Planned

A planning group for the organization of a Parent-Teacher Association at Loco Hills was formed at a meeting of interested parents last Thursday evening at the Sherman Memorial Church.

The organization meeting was planned at that time for this evening, but it has been postponed until a later date, yet to be set, because of a conflict with a Boy Scout pie supper.

At the meeting last week committees were formed to help speed up the work of organizing.

Chairman named were: Nominating, Mrs. Jack Plemons; time and place, Mrs. John Stulting; program, Mrs. E. M. Whitley; by-laws, Mrs. Jack Phillips, and publicity, Mrs. Earl Smith.

The hospitality committee is composed of Mrs. W. E. McClendon, Mrs. B. Newton, and Mrs. P. A. Randolph.

A committee meeting was to be held Tuesday evening at Loco Hills School with the teachers.

Miss Wanda Nell Green Becomes Bride Of Roy Montgomery In Kermit

Wedding rites joining Miss Wanda Nell Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Green from Kermit, Tex., and Mr. Roy B. Montgomery, formerly of Artesia, were performed by Rev. S. Atkinson of the First Baptist Church in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Montgomery, Jr., in Kermit Saturday evening.

The bride, who was attending Kermit High School, entered on her father's arm. She was lovely in a pink, early fall suit with brown accessories. She wore a corsage of white roses. For something new, the bride chose her accessories; something old, a gold choker; a pair of earrings was borrowed; and a blue garter completed the tradition.

The bride and bridegroom were attended by Miss Wanda Lipham and George Montgomery, a brother of the bridegroom. Assisting them were Mr. and Mrs. Green.

Special music was furnished by Miss Jenny Lynn Rucker, accompanying Miss Mafalda Cox, who sang the selection, "I Love You Truly." Miss Patricia Montgomery lighted the candles to the opening strains of Miss Cox's number. Mrs. Bill Phillips, a sister of the bridegroom, kept the guest-book.

A makeshift altar was beautiful with bouquets and candles centered by a large family Bible.

The reception which followed was held in the Sam Montgomery home. The newly-married couple cut the double-tiered wedding cake, then Mrs. Clarke Miller, another sister of the bridegroom, attended the crystal punchbowl set on a lace-laid table.

The bride's mother was dressed in a pink suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Montgomery, was dressed in navy blue sheer with black accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Mae Montgomery, mother of the bridegroom, and Sidney and Patricia Montgomery, brother and sister of the bridegroom, all from Roswell; Mrs. Clarke Miller and Mrs. Bill Phillips, Jr., sisters of the bridegroom, from Artesia, and Mrs. Anderson Noble, the bride's aunt, from Odessa, Tex. Friends and relatives who attended the wedding and reception gave Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery a rousing send-off to Itasca, Tex., where they were to visit a few days. They will then go to Dallas, Tex., where the remainder of the honeymoon will be spent. They plan to make their home in Kermit.

It was reported that Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green, Mr. and Mrs. Stinnett, J. D. Smith, Mrs. Stanley Blocker, Mrs. Owen Hensley, and Miss Ina Cole would leave Wednesday to attend the meeting of the Grand Chapter being held in Albuquerque today and tomorrow.

Meteor Behavior Is Of Value In Rocket Study

The time may not be far distant, said Dr. Fred L. Whipple of the Harvard University astronomy department, when "it would be rather valuable for the average layman to be able to distinguish between a rocket warhead and a meteor."

Dr. Whipple, in New Mexico concerning the possible erection of a government-sponsored laboratory for the photographic and spectrographic study of shooting stars, pointed out that the newest military studies center around the behavior of meteors, and that New Mexico, with the world's only institute of meteoritics located at the University of New Mexico, is the logical place for such studies.

meteors lies in learning about densities and temperatures at the highest levels of the atmosphere," said Dr. Lincoln LaPaz, director of the institute. "What we now know about these upper regions has come, for the most part, from the investigation of meteors. Present rocket firings provide an important new tool for the study of the outer atmosphere."
The study of meteors, Dr. LaPaz said, will take on increased importance as military scientists continue to probe further into problems of offense and defense at high speeds and high altitudes.

U.S.S. New Mexico Memento To Be On UNM Campus

A memento of a gallant ship, the U.S.S. New Mexico, will have a permanent place on the University of New Mexico campus in Albuquerque, Capt. Joel Newsom of the university NROTC unit has announced.
The eight-foot diameter wheel of the ship, which is now in the NROTC headquarters in the university's stadium building, will be mounted and placed on the campus, probably near the stadium, Captain Newsom said.

The New Mexico was decommissioned and scrapped at the Boston Navy Yard in May, 1946, after 28 years of service. She was commissioned May 20, 1918, and was on her shakedown cruise in the Caribbean area when World War I came to an end. During the period between wars, she carried the flag of many fleet and force commanders.

The 35,000-ton New Mexico really showed her strength in World War II, however. In 1941, after taking part in the neutrality patrol, she was recalled to base and refitted with anti-aircraft battery of eight five-inch dual-purpose guns, as well as 40 and 20-millimeter guns. She was also assigned three aircraft of the latest battleship type.

In her career in World War II, the New Mexico saw action in the West Coast defense unit, fired her first offensive shot during the Attu operations, was in on the bombardment and occupation of Kwajalein atoll, bombardment of Kavieng, New Ireland, bombardment and occupation of Tinian, bombardment and occupation of Guam, and the support of landing operations on Saipan.

Twice during her career, once while covering landing operations in Lingayen Gulf and once while covering operations ashore at Okinawa, the New Mexico was hit by Kamikaze planes and severely damaged. Though badly crippled in the Okinawa action, she downed at least eight more planes after being hit.

She was back in fighting trim within three months after her battering, however, and became part of the occupation force which entered Sagami Bay Aug. 27, 1945, after the Japanese surrender.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 19.

The Golden Text is: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."—(1 Corinthians 1:18.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect."—(Hebrews 10:1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love."—(Page 45.)

Meteor Behavior Is Of Value In Rocket Study

The time may not be far distant, said Dr. Fred L. Whipple of the Harvard University astronomy department, when "it would be rather valuable for the average layman to be able to distinguish between a rocket warhead and a meteor."

Dr. Whipple, in New Mexico concerning the possible erection of a government-sponsored laboratory for the photographic and spectrographic study of shooting stars, pointed out that the newest military studies center around the behavior of meteors, and that New Mexico, with the world's only institute of meteoritics located at the University of New Mexico, is the logical place for such studies.

meteors lies in learning about densities and temperatures at the highest levels of the atmosphere," said Dr. Lincoln LaPaz, director of the institute. "What we now know about these upper regions has come, for the most part, from the investigation of meteors. Present rocket firings provide an important new tool for the study of the outer atmosphere."

The study of meteors, Dr. LaPaz said, will take on increased importance as military scientists continue to probe further into problems of offense and defense at high speeds and high altitudes.

U.S.S. New Mexico Memento To Be On UNM Campus

A memento of a gallant ship, the U.S.S. New Mexico, will have a permanent place on the University of New Mexico campus in Albuquerque, Capt. Joel Newsom of the university NROTC unit has announced.

The eight-foot diameter wheel of the ship, which is now in the NROTC headquarters in the university's stadium building, will be mounted and placed on the campus, probably near the stadium, Captain Newsom said.

The New Mexico was decommissioned and scrapped at the Boston Navy Yard in May, 1946, after 28 years of service. She was commissioned May 20, 1918, and was on her shakedown cruise in the Caribbean area when World War I came to an end. During the period between wars, she carried the flag of many fleet and force commanders.

The 35,000-ton New Mexico really showed her strength in World War II, however. In 1941, after taking part in the neutrality patrol, she was recalled to base and refitted with anti-aircraft battery of eight five-inch dual-purpose guns, as well as 40 and 20-millimeter guns. She was also assigned three aircraft of the latest battleship type.

In her career in World War II, the New Mexico saw action in the West Coast defense unit, fired her first offensive shot during the Attu operations, was in on the bombardment and occupation of Kwajalein atoll, bombardment of Kavieng, New Ireland, bombardment and occupation of Tinian, bombardment and occupation of Guam, and the support of landing operations on Saipan.

Twice during her career, once while covering landing operations in Lingayen Gulf and once while covering operations ashore at Okinawa, the New Mexico was hit by Kamikaze planes and severely damaged. Though badly crippled in the Okinawa action, she downed at least eight more planes after being hit.

She was back in fighting trim within three months after her battering, however, and became part of the occupation force which entered Sagami Bay Aug. 27, 1945, after the Japanese surrender.

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the lesson-lesson which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 19.

The Golden Text is: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."—(1 Corinthians 1:18.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-lesson is the following from the Bible: "For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect."—(Hebrews 10:1.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Christ hath rolled away the stone from the door of human hope and faith, and through the revelation and demonstration of life in God, hath elevated them to possible at-one-ment with the spiritual idea of man and his divine Principle, Love."—(Page 45.)

Homecoming-

Artesia went to the air only three times, but the Eagles attempted 10 passes, seven of which were completed and one of which was intercepted by Artesia.

Between halves the Hobbs band of 60 players took to the field and executed an intricate large cart-wheel, after which the Artesia junior and senior bands took over. They first executed an "H" in honor of Hobbs and then formed an oil derrick, designating the oil centers of Lea and Eddy Counties. By a simple maneuver then, the bands formed themselves into an "A."

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd ever on Morris Field to be present for a regularly scheduled football game, estimated at many more than 6000 spectators. It is believed by many the crowd was even larger than those attending the Gateway Bowl games here in 1939-41. Of the crowd here Friday, about 500 came from Hobbs.

The game was broadcast from the new pressbox built by the Artesia Lions Club by station KWEW, Hobbs, and station KSPV, Artesia, while Fred Cole of the Artesia Lions Club announced plays over the Lions public address system.

Helping to accommodate the huge crowd were the new grandstands, 160 feet long and seven seats high, erected last week through the efforts of the Bulldog Boosters, estimated to seat 840 persons.

A like number of seats on the west side of the stone stadium were reserved and will be reserved for the remainder of the season, with the funds so derived earmarked to pay for the new wooden bleachers.

The new stands are built in 18-foot sections, but all join together to make a common stand. They were so constructed as to make it possible to skid them out of the way for softball next spring, or for other athletic events.

It being Artesia's homecoming game, all "A" men, former Artesia High School football men who earned their letters, had been invited to be guests of the game.

About 150 were on the field, and of them a number were introduced over the public address system from time to time. However, there were not enough open periods for all to be introduced.

The game was dedicated by the Bulldogs to Miss Virginia Green, daughter of Principal and Mrs. F. L. Green, who was brought home last week from an El Paso hospital, where she was taken after an accident in which both of her legs were broken. She watched the game from a cot in the reserved chair section on the east side of the field.

The Bulldogs are poised now to meet Cloudcroft on Morris Field at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening for the fourth home game and fifth game of the season.

That afternoon the "B" squad is to meet Ruidoso at the resort town in the White Mountains. But it is planned to have them back here and suited out, along with the varsity and "C" squads, in order to put on a demonstration of Artesia's present and potential football power. In all there will be about 120 boys of the three squads in uniform.

Between halves of the Cloudcroft-Artesia game, six-man teams from the "C" squad will play demonstration quarters, so the public can see what the varsity players a few years hence look like in action. The public is being urged to come out to see not only the varsity game, but the six-man football as well.

Were the army to be located not too far from the downtown area, it, in conjunction with the Veterans Memorial Building, would serve well for various phases of any conventions which might be held in the state, the veterans said.

The site for the army must be furnished by the city, but it will be built from federal funds, of which funds for the erection of the warehouse are available at this time.

Hot-Weather Care of Poultry Is Essential

Hot weather always brings problems of poultry management, but good practices will solve most of them successfully. Feed your flocks freely to keep up high egg production and to keep pullets growing rapidly. Have plenty of fresh water available for them at all times. Provide plenty of shade. Make use of good pastures, where possible, to help keep feed costs down.

Music Pupils To Present First Of Recitals Sunday

The first of a series of monthly recitals by pupils of members of the Artesia Music Teachers' Association will be given at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, it was announced by Franklyn L. Wiltse, president.

It is planned at the recital Sunday and at subsequent recitals, one of which is to be given each month, to present two pupils of each teacher, vocal and instrumental and perhaps twirling.

The group's president said the purpose of the organization is to raise the standard of music in Artesia among the young people and to give them a chance to perform publicly.

In the program Sunday the works of a number of composers will be presented, but in subsequent recitals it is planned to concentrate on a single composer for each performance, with pupils giving a brief history, as well as playing and singing his compositions.

The Music Teachers' Association has an affiliate organization, the Junior Music Association, which it sponsors. The president of the junior group is Miss Helen Beatty.

The public is invited to all of the concerts, for which there is no admission charge.

He cited the recent two crossings of the Atlantic Ocean by a C-54, which was radio controlled the entire distance. The plane carried a crew, but it was merely standing by.

Colonel Perry said there is close co-ordination at this time between the guided missile project and the Army Air Forces during the transition period, as the United States airpower is built up.

The speaker said the many World War II planes, which have been "pickled" to preserve them, could be put into use quickly. Those planes, he said, are not up to the latest developments in air force, but they would have a place and would be used were it to become necessary.

The attendance at the monthly meetings was somewhat smaller than some have been in recent months, with only 32 registered. Chuck Aston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Local Art Work To Be Shown 20 Places Nov. 3-8

Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, chairman for the Art Division of the Artesia Woman's Club for the annual observation of "National Art Week," Nov. 3-8, has announced the names of 20 places of business where local art will be shown that week.

She said the windows of the 20 places will contain various types of art work executed by people of the Artesia community.

Firms donating windows or portions of windows for the "Art Week" exhibits are Peoples Mercantile Company, Brainard-Corbin Hardware Company, The Modern Shop, Baldwin's, Palace Drug Store, The Hub, Blocker's Electric Shop, J. Keys Men's Wear Prevue Opening Will Be Tonight

Keys Men's Wear, Artesia's newest establishment and the only exclusive men's wear store here, is to have its prevue opening at 7 o'clock this evening in the new Evans building at 116 West Main Street, with the grand opening scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

At the prevue this evening doughnuts and coffee will be served, it was announced by Bill Keys, manager.

The store is one of the most attractive in this area, with fixtures of knotty pine built especially for it. Harmonizing with the knotty pine woodwork are numerous famous brands of the West burned into it by way of decoration and other decorations and clothes hangers made of horse shoes. Further harmony is derived through the use of drapes of similar color and with brand patterns at the two large front show windows and two doors leading from the store proper to the stockroom.

Above the wall cases and cabinets the walls are painted a pastel blue, lending a contrast to the natural pine color. The floor is of tile.

The new business is owned by the Evans partners, of whom Keys is one. He is to be assisted in the store by his brother, Bob Keys, who has just left a men's store in Willoughby, Ohio, to come here.

The store is featuring well-known and nationally advertised exclusive merchandise, a dozen of which are listed in an advertisement in this issue inviting the public to the prevue and grand openings.

BRIDGE OF DIMES

Farmers and other members of the cotton industry across the nation are being called on to support the National Cotton Council's worldwide program to increase the consumption of American cotton and cottonseed products. Cotton producers throughout the Belt are asked to aid in building a "bridge of dimes" across the dangerous chasm of cotton's competition by contributing ten cents on each bale ginned. The funds are used to support the Cotton Council's program of cotton research, production efficiency, sales promotion, and foreign trade.

Mystery of the Missing Farms

Yep, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter-million in the last five years!). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken in by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farming's no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—where our free, American life is secure. Where every member co-operates and shares the work... living together in temperance and tolerance—temperance that prefers a moderate beverage like beer, and tolerance for a taste that may be different from one's own.

From where I sit, our Family Farms (and they're 96% of all farms) are something that this country can be proud of!

Uncle Sam Says

Small business firms can take a wise tip from many of their customers who have built a reserve nestegg of Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan for buying Savings Bonds. The Bond-A-Month Plan at local banks where the corner druggist, the grocer and the butcher maintain checking accounts is equally effective in providing a growing reserve for a business. For example, suppose you own a business which nets a $1,000 a month. By investing $200 a month in Savings Bonds through your bank's Bond-A-Month Plan you would have a $2400 reserve in one year's time.

She watched the game from a cot in the reserved chair section on the east side of the field.

The Bulldogs are poised now to meet Cloudcroft on Morris Field at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening for the fourth home game and fifth game of the season.

That afternoon the "B" squad is to meet Ruidoso at the resort town in the White Mountains. But it is planned to have them back here and suited out, along with the varsity and "C" squads, in order to put on a demonstration of Artesia's present and potential football power. In all there will be about 120 boys of the three squads in uniform.

Between halves of the Cloudcroft-Artesia game, six-man teams from the "C" squad will play demonstration quarters, so the public can see what the varsity players a few years hence look like in action. The public is being urged to come out to see not only the varsity game, but the six-man football as well.

Hot-Weather Care of Poultry Is Essential

Hot weather always brings problems of poultry management, but good practices will solve most of them successfully. Feed your flocks freely to keep up high egg production and to keep pullets growing rapidly. Have plenty of fresh water available for them at all times. Provide plenty of shade. Make use of good pastures, where possible, to help keep feed costs down.

Music Pupils To Present First Of Recitals Sunday

The first of a series of monthly recitals by pupils of members of the Artesia Music Teachers' Association will be given at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, it was announced by Franklyn L. Wiltse, president.

It is planned at the recital Sunday and at subsequent recitals, one of which is to be given each month, to present two pupils of each teacher, vocal and instrumental and perhaps twirling. The group's president said the purpose of the organization is to raise the standard of music in Artesia among the young people and to give them a chance to perform publicly. In the program Sunday the works of a number of composers will be presented, but in subsequent recitals it is planned to concentrate on a single composer for each performance, with pupils giving a brief history, as well as playing and singing his compositions.

Yep, the number of farms in America is shrinking (by a quarter-million in the last five years!). What's happened to the missing farms? The land has been taken in by other farms, increasing the average size by twenty acres!

Does this growth mean farming's no longer a family enterprise? Just the opposite! More families own farms today than ever—only with labor-saving equipment they can handle more land, more work.

That's as it should be. The family farm is a fortress of democracy—

The Music Teachers' Association has an affiliate organization, the Junior Music Association, which it sponsors. The president of the junior group is Miss Helen Beaty.

The public is invited to all of the concerts, for which there is no admission charge.

Colonel Perry said there is close co-ordination at this time between the guided missile project and the Army Air Forces during the transition period, as the United States airpower is built up.

The speaker said the many World War II planes, which have been "pickled" to preserve them, could be put into use quickly. Those planes, he said, are not up to the latest developments in air force, but they would have a place and would be used were it to become necessary.

The attendance at the monthly meetings was somewhat smaller than some have been in recent months, with only 32 registered. Chuck Aston, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided.

Keys Men's Wear Prevue Opening Will Be Tonight

Keys Men's Wear, Artesia's newest establishment and the only exclusive men's wear store here, is to have its prevue opening at 7 o'clock this evening in the new Evans building at 116 West Main Street, with the grand opening scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

At the prevue this evening doughnuts and coffee will be served, it was announced by Bill Keys, manager.

The store is one of the most attractive in this area, with fixtures of knotty pine built especially for it. Harmonizing with the knotty pine woodwork are numerous famous brands of the West burned into it by way of decoration and other decorations and clothes hangers made of horse shoes. Further harmony is derived through the use of drapes of similar color and with brand patterns at the two large front show windows and two doors leading from the store proper to the stockroom.

Above the wall cases and cabinets the walls are painted a pastel blue, lending a contrast to the natural pine color. The floor is of tile. The new business is owned by the Evans partners, of whom Keys is one. He is to be assisted in the store by his brother, Bob Keys, who has just left a men's store in Willoughby, Ohio, to come here. The store is featuring well-known and nationally advertised exclusive merchandise, a dozen of

Cotton producers throughout the Belt are asked to aid in building a "bridge of dimes" across the dangerous chasm of cotton's competition by contributing ten cents on each bale ginned. The funds are used to support the Cotton Council's program of cotton research, production efficiency, sales promotion, and foreign trade.

The Bond-A-Month Plan at local banks where the corner druggist, the grocer and the butcher maintain checking accounts is equally effective in providing a growing reserve for a business. Quotes On Cotton "Cotton is the best fiber I know of. We in the rayon industry would give a whole lot to be able to produce a cellulose molecule like that of your natural fiber."—Dr. Fred Bonnett, American Viscose Company.

"Mechanization is a forward step which eventually will richly bless the Cotton Belt."—Alabama Farmer's State.

"Successful cotton farming is becoming more and more a year 'round job. Planning ahead for next year's cotton is just as necessary and profitable as planning livestock production on a 12-month basis."—Southern Agriculturist.

"It would not be to the interest of Texas for cotton production to remain at a low level, even though many new crops can be raised. As conditions return to normal, some expanded supplementary crops may have to be reduced sharply. Unless a good market for cotton can be maintained, agricultural income is very likely to decline." — Dallas Times-Herald.

"If American cotton is to hold its place in the world market, it must do so on the basis of price and quality—not subsidy.—Atlanta Constitution.

"If you let a foot rule represent all land in Alabama, you'll find that more than 6 of the 12 inches are producing trees . . . only one inch is in corn, and only one-half inch in cotton. Yet cotton is producing more cash than any other farm product."—Director P. O. Davis, Alabama Extension Service.

"Cotton is too profitable, too dependable to be left out of farm plans."—Farming for Profit."

Of the 10,000 Americans burned to death last year, 3500 were farm folk. Loss of farm property from fire amounted to 85 million dollars. A great many farm fires can be prevented by simple, common-sense methods. Fewer farm fires, like fewer farm accidents, will come only from constant reminders that carelessness is costly.

Whey as Preservative

Dried cheese whey is added as a preservative in a grass silage demonstration, using a temporary silo, on the farm of Emerson Grebel, Beaver Dam, Wis. The grass, mixed legumes was chopped in the Control of Insects Vital in Gardening

New Insecticides and Combinations Effective

Good gardeners and vegetable growers have learned that insect control is as important as good seed, weed control and water. New insecticides, new combination dusts and better "sticking" agents have made vegetable and garden dusting more popular and effective.

Type of hand duster effective in most gardens.

the under side. In the control of blights and other plant diseases complete coverage is important. For the average garden, a hand duster is adequate. This duster should have a long discharge tube with upturned end for under-leaf dusting. Larger gardeners and commercial acreages are more efficiently dusted with crank or knapsack dusters. Good dusting equipment is more efficient and effective in control of insects and plant diseases than make-shifts.

Potato yields have been increased 40 to 60 per cent in University of Wisconsin tests by spraying or dusting DDT at 10-day intervals. Leaf hoppers, flea beetles and potato beetles were controlled. Bean beetles, cabbage worms and most common insects are controlled by dusting.

Sulfathiazole Used Against Calf Scours

Calf scours treatment with vitamin pills or tablets does no good. That's the latest word on the subject from Cornell university. Those in charge of the Cornell work say: "Studies involving approximately 60 heifer calves of various dairy breeds show that supplementing a normal diet with capsules or tablets containing vitamins A, D and E, ascorbic acid, and several of the B vitamins did not reduce the incidence or severity of scours."

Remove 2,4-D Residue From Spray Equipment

Injury to plants, such as stunted growth and reduced crop yields, may result when using spray for insecticides and fungicides which contain 2,4-D residue. The most effective means of eliminating 2,4-D spray residue is with hot water and household ammonia. Rinse the contaminated spray with hot water, then fill to capacity with water under boiling and ammonia, two tea-spoonfuls per quart of water.

Nation's Markets Can Absorb All Farms Produce

There is no need for a "boom-bust" for American farmers, said Dave Davidson, PMA assistant administrator for production, in a recent address. He expressed a conviction that potential domestic markets — with few exceptions — can absorb all that American farmers can produce. But to maintain a market for full protection at fair prices, there must be a good balance between the prosperity of the farm and the non-farm segments of population. That "good balance" depends on how well the nation guards against "pricing farm products out of the market" and on what is done to prevent ruinously low prices from breaking down the farm market.

Davidson said food and agriculture organization estimates indicate a strong foreign demand for American agricultural commodities until 1950, but he added that it is possible that the permanent foreign market is smaller than thought. He pointed out, however, that "if the export of industrial products could be expanded, there would be more employment in this country and a stronger demand for our food and fiber."

Showing how closely farm prosperity is tied in with industrial prosperity, Davidson said, "The demand for farm products is closely related to consumer purchasing power. That consumer purchasing power in turn is related to the level of employment. And employment, finally, is related to the over-all level of industrial activity."

Along this line, he said that the passage of the Employment Act of 1946, in which Congress makes it a continuing policy to "promote maximum employment, production, and purchasing power," is encouraging. This policy, implemented by the Council of Economic Advisers to the President, will go a long way toward correcting economic ills, he thinks.

Davidson outlined a program for future farm prosperity which called for: Price-support programs to protect farmers against disastrous declines in market values; fair prices both to consumer and farmer; crop-adjustment controls to assure "full production" but not "surplus" production, and increased attention and action to conserve and build the nation's soil and water resources.

Farm Briefs

By Dallas Rierson
Eddy County Agent
Clean eggs mean better egg quality and more profits from the poultryman. The whole problem of clean eggs is one of prevention rather than cure.

Keep clean, dry litter on your henhouse floor. Prevent hens from carrying filth into the nests by using two-inch mesh wire cloth, fixed under perches and over dropping boards. Don't overcrowd the house. Allow four square feet of floor space for each hen and at least one nest for every five hens.

Wet and muddy ranges are another reason for dirty and spoiled eggs. You might find it a good plan to keep the hens in the house until noon, as most of the eggs are laid in the morning.

By washing dirty eggs, you may prevent them from keeping in storage. The water removes the "bloom" from the shell, making it possible for bacteria to get through and damage the inside of the egg.

The pinon stands of the Southwest will bear a very light crop of nuts in 1947, according to latest reports from the U.S. Forest Service. A survey of five million acres indicates that this year's crop will be the poorest since 1940. Only an area in the Zuni District of Cibola National Forest will produce a crop of commercial size.

American farmers lose 100 million dollars worth of property annually from farm fires.

Every year 3500 farm people die in these fires. Farm property loss from fire is over 85 million dollars annually. Records show that fire structural hazards account for 50 per cent of all farm fires, from improperly installed heating bad chimney construction, mable wood shingle roofs, live wiring, and lock of light rods.

Mrs. Sam Harrison of the old Illinois field, was honored recently with a pink and blue shower in the home of Mrs. W. A. Loyd. Mrs. Robert Corbin and Mrs. Pat Evans were cohostesses. The linen-covered table was centered with a bouquet of pink roses arranged in a pink and blue bowl. That was flanked by tall, pink and blue tapers. Appropriate games were played and prizes were awarded the winners. A bassinet trimmed in pink and blue was wheeled in for the honoree. Refreshments were served to the guests, who were Mes. Alex McGonigill, O. O. Thorne, Ira Pleasant, W. A. Beard, Ward Risley, Frank Marshall, James Francis, Joe Terrell, "Whitie" McCutcheon, Wicker Angel, Raymond Netherlin, E. J. Barclay, and Henry Ottjts, and Mrs. Robert Corbin of Carlsbad, and Mrs. Pat Evans and Mrs. Carl Foster of Artesia. Gifts were sent by Mes. Joe Solt, Robert Roster, Standard, Orlando, Briscoe, Bedingfield, Allen Williams, Raymond Pennington, and Gladys O'Neil, and Mrs. Greenwood of Hereford, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Plemons visited in Hobbs and Lovington Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Shouse and daughter left last Thursday for Oklahoma to attend the funeral of Mrs. Shouse's mother.

(P.D.B.), a white, sugar-like compound, is the old reliable method. This material can be bought at any good drug store and at most seed stores. It's easy to apply. Scrape the weeds and grass from around the bottom of the tree. Do not hoe or dig up the ground. If there is a lot of gum around the tree, it should be removed. Use a half ounce of P.D.B. for each year of the tree's age. Do not use more than two ounces on any tree. Make a ring in the soil around the tree and about two inches away from the bottom of the tree. Spread the proper amount of P.D.B. around this ring. The P.D.B. should not touch the tree. Take a shovel and build up a mound of soil around the tree about eight inches high. With the back of the shovel, pack the soil down. Three to four weeks later level the soil around the tree with a hoe. On young trees it is a good idea to level the soil two weeks after the application of the chemical. Another treatment is the use of ethylene dichloride emulsion, a liquid which is easier to apply than P.D.B. and is safer on young trees. It is applied by pouring around the tree. This material varies in strength and should be used according to directions. Wet the ground around the tree. If the soil is rough, it should be leveled to keep the liquid from running off. No mound is needed around the tree. Do not apply directly to the tree, as some injury may result. The Advocate has all colors of stamp pad inks.

October Is Time To Control Peach Tree Root-Borer

At this time of year, peach growers should begin thinking about controlling the peach tree root-borer, one of the most destructive insects of the stone fruits.

The adults of the peach tree root-borer lay their eggs in October. The usual sign of infestation is an accumulation of reddish, gummy, sawdust at the base of the tree. Check peach orchards now for early signs of these pests.

Either of two chemicals applied during October will give the effective control of these pests. The use of paradichlorobenzene

Uncle Sam Says

"Where on earth did my money go?" How often have you voiced this question, half in wonder, half in dismay? It's so easy to fritter away ready cash. A dollar here—and a dollar there—and in the end nothing to show for it. And yet saving for the things you want—a new home, travel or future security—is easy and effective simply by allotting a portion of your income either through the payroll savings or by arrangement with your bank for the systematic purchase of United States Savings Bonds. Dollars go, your bonds grow. When you buy Savings Bonds regularly, you are building the nest-egg for whatever you've set your heart on.

Former Committee Elections In State Will Be Held Soon

With the elections for local committee members to administer the 1948 agricultural extension and related programs approaching, it is time for New Mexico farmers to begin thinking about the state elections, according to C. V. Phillips, chairman of the State Committee.

Phillips said that farm elections will be held before Nov. 23 that co-operating farmers should start thinking of how the program is organized and the leadership needed for the program. The committee system administration is one of the cornerstones of the national program, and its strength depends on the farmers support the organization by participating in elections.

There will be no major changes in the procedure for holding elections this year. Plans will be along the lines of those used last year.

Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion. It goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm and aid nature to heal raw, tender, inflamed, and swollen mucous membranes. Creomulsion blends beechwood extract by special process with other tested medicines for coughs, and contains no narcotics.

Marine Corps Reserve Growing

"Civitan machine" is the appropriate title borne by members of the Marine Corps Reserve. On the eve of their 175th Anniversary, on November 10, the Marine Corps boasts a reserve force nearly 54,000 strong as a supplement to the regular Marine Corps establishment.

Leader Situation Is Better But More Are Needed

The leader situation for the local Girl Scouts is more cheerful than in the past, with only one troop being without its quota of two leaders, but the importance of getting additional leaders trained in advance of the need for them was stressed Monday evening by Mrs. V. P. Sheldon at a meeting of the Artesia Girl Scout Association at the office of V. P. Sheldon in the Carper Building, at which Mrs. Fred Jacobs presided.

However, Mrs. Sheldon said, many of the troops are now meeting without a full roster of committee members.

She reported on the training courses held in the city during the last week, with training given to a small number of leaders of Intermediates and Brownies, as well as to board members. A further training session was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Sheldon reminded, and pointed out that one need not be registered with any troop to take the training. In fact, she said, new members are being earnestly solicited.

It was brought out also that the membership nominating committee is experiencing difficulty in finding new members to fill board vacancies. Committee members asked that anyone willing to help the Scout board contact Mrs. George Beadle, phone 602-M.

Mrs. Wayne Paulin, a new member of the organization, was welcomed and was appointed Juliette Low chairman. Mrs. Paulin said she will announce later plans for the annual Juliette Low celebration.

Moving Of Dirt Should Be Done Before Winter

It's time to complete ACP dirt-moving practices, advises Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee. Now that most crops have been harvested the time is favorable for getting the job finished. The work should be done before bad weather and winter prevent its completion. Dirt-moving practices which can be carried out under the Agricultural Conservation Program include land-leveling, the construction of small irrigation reservoirs, stock-water dams, drains, spreader dams, and terraces.

Forehand points out that these projects when completed, are of lasting benefit not only to the farmer and his family but to the community and to the nation. The measures continue year after year to conserve soil and water, and are of importance to the public generally as they help to assure continued abundant supplies of food for the consumer.

Farmers planning on carrying out any of these practices should be assured that they have prior approval of the county committee and the completed practices meet specifications, Forehand said. Completed practices should be reported to the county office, together with required measurements and proofs of completion.

YOUR MONEY GOES ~~FAST~~ FASTER in Today's Food Market

% INCREASES of Retail Prices over Base Period 1935-1939

Figures released October 1 by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics show graphically why it is increasingly difficult for the housewife to stretch her food dollars so she can give her family three meals a day that are nutritionally sound. The National Dairy Council points out that milk prices have been relatively steady over the nation, and have increased 37.0 per cent LESS than the average for all foods since 1939 and 23.2 per cent LESS than the average since the first of this year. Hence milk, in addition to being nature's most nearly perfect food, actually leads the food field as the housewife's most economical buy.

White Man Heap Crazy Is Way Indian Sees Wasting Away Of Soil

The concern about the wasting away of soil through wind and water erosion recalls to the USDA a story which happened several years ago. It goes like this:

A farm magazine published pictures of a dilapidated house and a washed-away field and invited its readers to "tell your own story of the two pictures." An Oklahoma Indian won over 2904 contestants with the following:

"Both pictures show white man crazy. Make big tepee, plow hill, Water wash. Wind blow soil, grass all gone. Squaw gone, No poose too. No chuck-away. No pig, no corn, no hay, no cow, no pony. Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make tepee, moc-casins, too. Indian no make terrace. No build dam. No give race. All time eat. No hunt job. No hitchhike. No ask relief. No shoot pig. Great Spirit makes Indian no waste anything. Indians no work. White man heap crazy."

Cattle grubs and heel flies can be eliminated by treating the animals in the fall and winter, when the grubs or wurbles are in the animals' backs. Cattlemen who had extensive heel fly trouble last spring can expect large numbers of heel flies this fall, says Joe V. Whiteman, assistant animal husbandman of the New Mexico Extension Service.
