ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1948

NUMBER 10

Chamber Campaign For Funds Progressing Nicely But Slowly

Charles Gaskins, president of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, said this morning the campaign for $20,000 to meet the budget as laid out for 1948 is progressing nicely, but not as fast as had been hoped for.

Gaskins said the delay in attaining the goal is because the finance committee members are busy men and a number of them have not been able to give as much time to the campaign as they had intended.

However, President Gaskins, the committee members are working out whenever they find they have an hour or two and at times are meeting with good results. He said a high percentage of those contacted have subscribed the amounts expected and the president said that it is a matter of making the campaign which will be made as rapidly as possible and as the work time from their business professions.

Originally it was hoped to complete the campaign in four business days, winding it up Monday, but starting the drive last Friday, President Gaskins said the picture generally good and expects to encounter no difficulty in attaining the goal.

The campaign was kicked off last Thursday morning with a breakfast for members of the finance and membership committee at the Artesia Hotel.

At that time assignments of calls were made to the two dozen workers, with each name for a call accompanied by a tentative figure for the member, worked out for the entire community in such a way that the budget could be met if a reasonable percentage of response were met.

The $20,000 budget is desirable, President Gaskins pointed out, in order for the Chamber of Commerce to carry out an ambitious program of projects for this year and to start others for completion in future years.

Although the budget is much higher than ever set forth in the past, the program likewise shoots much higher. Besides, the president said, Artesia is growing and needs a more active Chamber of Commerce than ever before.

He asked that individuals and heads of businesses be ready to make pledges when members of the committee call, so as to keep the workers from their occupations as short a time as possible.

Opening Of Thompson-Price, Newest, Finest Store Here, To Be Friday

The new Thompson-Price store, one of the finest clothing and dry goods stores in the west, will have its opening on Friday morning, with the store open from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening, it was announced by W. C. Thompson and Price, owners. The public is invited to both the open house and the opening.

The beautiful, new store, unlike any store in Artesia heretofore, is as one enters through an arched front, reaching to the sky. Contrasting with all new wall, island, and counter tops is a color scheme in a variety of pastel shades, each applied to a section of wall space, the floor plan and fixture design were done by Deryl C. Macbeth of Dallas, Tex., merchant designer and architect. The color scheme was executed by C. Thompson, Jr.

The over-all design and color give a somewhat circular effect, because Macbeth has placed the side walls at both front and back, giving space for fitting new walls and the outside of the building. The pastel shades above the wall cases start slightly above and flush with the front of the top shelves, which are at a convenient height.

The woman's department is on the east side of the double store, with the men's department on the west. But there is no partition between, merely a fusing of one into the other with the center line in general the division.

At the rear of the women's department is a nook in which a baby department, while adjacent to that, in the center, is the shoe department. Opposite the baby nook is the business office.

As one approaches the store one first notices the new front, quite a step forward from the front of the old Peoples Mercantile Company, of which Thompson-Price Company is the successor. Thompson and Price purchased the interests of Rex Wheatley in the old Peoples firm, after it had been doing business here nearly 24 years.

Of the present double store, the west half formerly housed the clothing departments for both men and women, while the east half, separated by a partition, was the grocery and meat department. That department was closed out last fall, after which the men's and women's departments were spread out into two rooms until (continued last page this section)

Bulldogs Bow To Capitan In Tourney Carlsbad Cavemen Take Crown

Artesia Bulldogs, after winning their first two games in the fifth district tournament, well, bowed out in the final quarter of a game against Capitan Friday night, when a Capitan substitute went on a scoring drive to bring his team from behind to win 28-21.

The favored Carlsbad Cavemen won the district championship Saturday night, by defeating Monument 24-17, while they will win over Eunice 31-24 in consolation. Hagerman third place in the championship brackets by defeating Capitan 23-23 Saturday afternoon.

Members of the teams in the tournament selected a 10-man all-star team, on which Lewis Peterson of Artesia placed. Cole of Monument and Sam Perry of Carlsbad were made captains, while others selected

Legion Auxiliary Joins Others In Safety Campaign

The American Legion Auxiliary unit here is placing special emphasis on "Public Safety in Our Community" during March, it was announced by Mrs. Fred Jacobs, safety chairman. She pointed out that with the rapid growth in Artesia there has come an increasing need for directed safety measures.

Mrs. Jacobs said the Artesia Safety Council, with Hugh Kiddy and G. E. Kaiser as the "chief pushers," is doing a splendid job, and that the Kiwanis Club is launching a safety essay contest to arouse interest. But everyone in Artesia must co-operate in order to have a safe city in which to live, she said.

The American Legion Auxiliary does not intend to publicize what the other organizations are doing, Mrs. Jacobs said, but to help make the public safety, conscious.

Mrs. Jacobs announced a meeting at the Veterans Memorial Building at 2:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon, at which safety will be discussed, and she invited everyone interested to attend.

She pointed out that anyone having suggestions or projects for safety which they think worth (continued last page this section)

Rotary Is Told Health Program Needs Expansion

In a talk Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon, Dr. I. F. Hamilton declared that for the well being of the community insect control should be extended beyond the corporate limits, a law should be provided requiring health certificates for food handlers, there should be an extension of health insurance, and a long-range hospital program should be started, looking ahead to the needs a few years hence.

He commended the efforts of the city the last two years in fighting the fly menace in Artesia, but pointed out that the adjacent rural areas should be taken in also in the campaign, in order to protect the city.

Dr. Hamilton brought out the point that much money is spent in "big, high-powered, national publicity campaigns" which bring in great amounts of money, whereas such projects as the extension of insect controls cannot be carried on because of lack of funds.

From a national standpoint, he said, figures for 1945 disclose that the infantile paralysis campaign brought in about 16 million dollars, while the deaths from that disease that year totaled only 1186, whereas only $39,000 was spent for research of diseases of the heart and blood vessels, which caused 587,000 deaths.

The speaker hazarded the guess that not more than one food handler in 10 in Artesia has a health certificate, for which there is no state requirement.

Dr. Hamilton suggested that through the extension of health insurance, more employes would have a greater sense of security. Insurance companies would pay (continued on society page)

At Carlsbad he was manager of the Pardue and Guitar farming and ranching interests, in addition to which he owned farming land. His father, the late Tex Polk, was a prominent rancher here.

Easter Seal Sale, Now On, To Help Crippled Children

H. J. Golithly of Albuquerque, U.S. Army colonel, retired after 30 years of service, has been named to head the eighth annual Easter Seal sale for crippled children in New Mexico.

The local Easter Seal drive, sponsored by the New Mexico Society for Crippled Children, is part of a nationwide campaign to provide funds for services to handicapped persons. The New Mexico Society for Crippled Children is one of the more than 2000 member units of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Richards, Fourth Ward Councilman, Again Candidate

Albert Richards, councilman from the fourth ward, was announced this week as a candidate for re-election.

Announcement was made by Artesia firemen, who had asked him to consent to his name being placed on the ballot for the municipal election Tuesday, April 6. Councilman Richards is also Artesia fire chief.

Firemen said Chief Richards' work with the Artesia City Council has been very valuable to the department and that through his efforts many improvements have been made.

The councilman said he is an independent candidate, not a member of any ticket or a running mate for any other candidate. He consented to run as such at the insistence of the firemen with whom he has worked a number of years both as a councilman and as fire chief.

State Commander Of Legion To Visit Post Wednesday

Merle Briggs of Silver City, New Mexico department commander of the American Legion, will make his official visit to Clarence Kepple Post No. 41 of Artesia next Wednesday evening.

At that time the women of the American Legion Auxiliary are to serve a covered-dish supper at 7 o'clock, after which there will be a joint meeting, with Commander Briggs the principal speaker. The post is to furnish the meat, while the women will bring vegetables, salads, and desserts.

Harry B. Gilmore, commander of the local post, announced the official visit of Commander Briggs at the regular monthly meeting Monday evening.

At that time he urged all veterans and wives to attend and hear message by the state commander.

A committee was appointed by Commander Gilmore to make plans for the meeting. He named J. C. Joiner, chairman; Wade Cunningham, Don Bush, and A. R. Haralson.

Commander Gilmore also announced that nominations are to be made at the regular April meeting for officers for the coming year (continued last page this section)

Many Artesia Students Attending State Institutes Higher Learning

NM University

(Through coincidence, stories telling of local students who are enrolled at both the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque and New Mexico A. & M. College at Las Cruces arrived in the same mail. Here is the story from the University of New Mexico, while that from State College appears in the next column.)

While New Mexico residents furnish a large majority of the 4250 students at the University of New Mexico, 14 are enrolled from Artesia, according to Dr. Daryl E. Keefe, head of admissions. They are:

Robert Feather, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Feather, senior, in biology.

Margaret and Mildred Moutray, sophomores, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Moutray.

Joe G. Watson, freshman in business administration, son of Mr. Ms-Hr. and cmfwyp cmfwyp nm and Mrs. Hollis G. Watson.

A. & M. College

Fifteen of some 50 Eddy County students enrolled at New Mexico A. & M. College at Las Cruces are from Artesia, according to an announcement of Miss Era Renfrow, registrar.

Carlsbad leads the list with the largest number of students, some 23, while Hope has nine and Lovington three. The total enrollment from the county of 50 students is exactly the same as it was for the first semester at A. & M. College.

The 15 students enrolled from Artesia is the largest number ever enrolled from the Eddy County city at A. & M. College in one year. There are actually 16 graduates of Artesia High School enrolled this year, including Joe S. Priestley, arts and science freshman, who now resides in Las Cruces and is listed with the Dona Ana County students.

Other Artesia students, their classification and the courses they are studying include:

Saturday Is Last Day To Register For City Election

The deadline for otherwise qualified voters to be registered in order to vote in the municipal election Tuesday, April 6, will be Saturday, March 6, and two registrars and places of registration have been designated in Artesia.

They are Mrs. Irma Williams, Room 210, Booker Building, and Mrs. E. A. Hannah, Masonic Temple.

It has been pointed out that although party tickets do not enter in municipal elections in Artesia, persons registering during the remainder of this week—as to all other times—will be asked to designate their party preferences, which will be recorded on their registration sheets.

Registration this week in time for the municipal election will be all that is necessary for anyone to vote at the coming primaries and at the general election next November.

After Saturday the Artesia registration books will be closed for the 30-day period until the municipal election. They will then be open until May 10, when they will be closed for the 30 days prior to the June 8 primaries.

George W. (Bo) Pitts Is Killed When Car Hits Penasco Bridge

George W. (Bo) Pitts, 30, construction superintendent for the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company, was instantly killed early Friday morning, when his automobile struck the south abutment of the east railing of the bridge over the Rio Penasco about seven miles south of Artesia.

A coroner's jury on Friday established the time of his death as between 2:30 and 3:15 o'clock Friday morning, based on testimony at an inquest conducted by Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey.

Tommy Matteson, truck driver, who discovered the accident, testified he came upon the wreck about 4 o'clock. The body of Mr. Pitts, he said, was lying face down on the bridge, with one foot in the car. The body was cold and he could discover no sign of life, Matteson said.

He told the jury that he returned immediately to Artesia and reported to police and that he then accompanied Officers John (Dutch) Akard and Ernie Bryant to the scene. Deputy Sheriff J. B. Mulcock and Wayne Paulin of Paulin Funeral Home were notified and they arrived at the scene a short time later.

Other testimony indicated that the Pitts car had struck the abutment nearly straight on, but enough off center to swing it somewhat to the left, throwing the driver out and to the pavement with terrific force, killing him instantly.

Deputy Sheriff Mulcock said tire marks showed the Pitts car had run a distance of about 300 yards with the right wheels off the pavement about two feet. There were no skid marks, he said, indicating the car's brakes had not been applied, leading to the belief that Mr. Pitts had fallen asleep at the wheel.

The jury found that Mr. Pitts came to his death "by reason of a car accident, to-wit: Mr. George W. Pitts was driving north on Highway 285 about seven miles south of Artesia and approaching the Penasco bridge with the right-hand wheels of his car about two feet off the edge of the blacktop, causing him to run into the south-east abutment of the bridge, causing (continued on last page)

'March Lion' Slows Up Start Of Annual Red Cross Rollcall

The inability of men workers to get on the job immediately and the fact that March "came in like a lion," keeping the women workers indoors, made the Red Cross campaign for funds in the annual rollcall start off slowly this week, it was announced Wednesday by J. D. Smith.

He said at that time the teams of women, who are to solicit in the residential areas of the city, had not started out, but that he expected the house-to-house canvases of the city to begin soon.

On the other hand, only one block in the business section had been solicited by men members.

Chairman Smith said it is too early in the campaign to give any account of funds collected or of expectations. But, he declared, the North Eddy County chapter will make every effort to attain the quota of $5000.

Members of the Order of the Eastern Star will be in charge of the house-to-house canvases, as well as booths which are to be maintained on Saturdays during March in the postoffice and the First National Bank.

Although the purpose of the booths is to contact those who otherwise might be overlooked or who have no other opportunity to donate to their Red Cross, Chairman Smith said that anyone may make his contribution to the workers there. And, if larger donations are made through places of business or by check, the donors are invited to help the cause along further by contributing at the booths.

The chairman stressed that the work of the Red Cross, which did so much during the war, continues in peacetime and that funds are needed both locally and nationally.

From the national organization come workers and funds in time of disaster and service to men in uniform in foreign lands, Chairman Smith said.

And at all times the local chapter organization is ready to assist and carries on a continual program of work, he said. Both divisions of the Red Cross work require funds, without which they cannot continue, he added.

Chairman Smith invited individuals and businesses in North Eddy County to send checks to him, Box 7, Artesia, if they prefer, rather than waiting for workers to call.

Game Commission Sets Seasons, Limits For Hunting And Fishing

Lewis To Bring Barber Quartets Back To Artesia

After the great success of a concert at Artesia High School last Thursday night by barber shop quartet singers from Carlsbad, sponsored by the Artesia Lions Club, the local organization decided at the weekly luncheon Wednesday to bring the singers back in the near future.

The singers here last week were members of the Carlsbad Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Singing in America, Inc.

Their concert here was to help the Lions raise funds for the annual district high school track meet, which will be held in Artesia Saturday, April 17.

Twenty-six members of the Carlsbad chapter were here last Thursday for the concert, performing under the direction of Ox Jameson.

Performing were "Three Dudes and a Dud," composed of Woody Jackson, Bill Grounds, Bill Loos, and John Mosley; "The Harmonizers," Ray Cowan, Bill Cowan, Red Cowan, Bill High, and Harold Smead; and the "Cavern City Four," Harold Thornberry, Bill Burnet, Johnny Cutler, and Dick Harding.

The New Mexico Game Commission has set game and fish seasons for the coming year, the principal changes for which are the opening of the trout season 15 days later than heretofore and the opening of every game and bird season at noon of the first day, whereas formerly some opened at sunup.

Shooting hours for all seasons will be from sunup to sundown, with the exception of the first day.

The general trout season will be from May 30 to Nov. 21, whereas it formerly opened May 15. However, on El Vado Lake and the Chama River below the dam the season remains the same as last year, May 15 to Nov. 21.

The commission explained that most trout waters are usually still muddy on May 15 and that the weather has not warmed up nearly as much as two weeks later. Likewise, more and better stocking for the benefit of anglers can be done in those weeks than earlier in the season.

The trout bag limit was cut to 15 fish or eight pounds and one fish with a minimum length of six inches.

At Eagle Nest the daily bag limit was set at six fish more than six inches in length with a two-day bag or 12 fish as possession limit. The season there is open May 15 through Oct. 1. May 30 to Oct. 1 is the season on the Upper Pecos River, the Chama River from the first bridge above Chama to the head of El Vado Lake, and Red River from bridge at Red River hatchery to junction with the Rio Grande.

July 1 to Oct. 1 is the open season on Cianguilla, Six Mile, Moreno, Comanche, and American Creeks and their tributaries, also La Junta Creek and its tributaries, Rio Pueblo from Maes Canyon bridge above the falls to a point one mile below the falls in Taos County, and the Fenton area in the Jemez Mountains.

Abbott Lake was added to those waters open April 1 to Nov. 21. The Animas River is to be open (continued last page this section)

Unfortunate Attitude

ATTITUDE OF SINGLE INDIVIDUALS frequently and often reflect on entire communities, states, or even branches of the armed forces. One person in Artesia can do something, which is wrong, and some stranger may get the idea that all folks in Artesia are exactly like this one individual. Or they may get an idea that everybody in New Mexico is unpleasant and disagreeable when just the opposite is true.

And such is the case with the armed forces and especially the United States Army. With all the effort, which is being made to enlist men in the various branches of the service, it is about time that some of the officers realize that we are not at war now. They need to learn that after all the boy wearing the uniform of the private is just as good and has just as many rights as the individual wearing the brass.

However, this is not always the case. There are numerous instances in this state where some Army officer has brought discredit to the entire Army by his action and his conduct. Because he is a "smarty," who seemingly wants to show off his authority, he places a black eye on the Army and discredits the organization, which has honored him by making him an officer.

It is extremely unfair and it is very unfortunate.

We know of two recent instances where an officer presumed to stick his nose into civilian affairs. And he occupied such a position that it made it difficult to handle the affair. But it was handled.

We know of another case where a provost marshal has not only caused a hatred for himself on the part of those, with him or under him, but who has become extremely obnoxious to all, who may have to associate with him. This includes civilians and members of the armed forces.

Such instances, we say, are unfortunate. But it is up to the Army to handle these matters. It is up to the Army to remove these individuals from service. It is up to the Army to seek out such persons and to see that they impose neither on the boys in the service nor the civilians in the community where they happen to be stationed.

They must do this for the good of the service and in order that these individuals cannot create the wrong impression concerning the Army.

Every individual has rights and privileges and these must be safeguarded and protected whether that individual is in the armed forces or not.

And those Army officers, who refuse to recognize this and who seem to think they can treat those under them in any way they so desire, need to be taught a lesson. The fact is they are not fit or qualified to handle men.

Yes, it is unfortunate when one individual creates the wrong impression concerning a community, a state, or a nation. But little can be done about that. But the Army officer, who creates the wrong kind of an impression on the part of the public concerning the United States Army, needs to be removed in order that he cannot reflect on those, who are not guilty of his particular misconduct.—O.E.P.

Must Have Faith

WITHOUT A DOUBT there have been those who wondered and who questioned, as to the new budget of the Chamber of Commerce, and the plans for the future.

We always have those, who lack faith and who are unwilling to take the plunge, which always must be taken if we are to get ahead.

Artesia is just as big as the vision we have for the city and no larger. And Artesia will never be any larger than the visions, which we have for our city.

Most of us know and realize we have been doing a pretty fair job of visualizing the future. Most of us are rather firmly convinced that the future holds great things for Artesia.

But we can't sit back and wait for those things to come to us. We not only have to go out and meet them half way, but we may have to go out and head them in the right direction and then do a little shoving.

For years we have seen civic organizations and chambers of commerce raise just about sufficient funds to maintain their offices, pay the necessary salaries, and mail out a few circulars. They had no money for special expenses; they had no money to make necessary trips; they had no cash with which to do those things, which must be done.

The result was that the job, which could and which should have been done, was not done.

And in the meanwhile other communities with the right vision and the right faith seemed to forge ahead and get the job, which needed to be done, completed.

Artesia, we feel sure, is going to raise its budget for the Chamber of Commerce work. Artesia is planning and building for the future.

And we, who live here and who expect to grow and expand with Artesia, must be willing to have the same vision and make our gift and our contribution to this growth, expansion, and development.

Things we want done, cannot be done over night. And the things we want to do are going to cost money. It is merely a question of having a vision along with the other civic leaders, who are farsighted concerning our city.

And if we have the vision; if we are willing to do our part and have the natural resources and advantages, then we can go far.

Artesia certainly has all of these. The fact is that we can grow, expand, and develop into one of the most important cities in the state and we believe that our Chamber of Commerce is planning to do just that with the aid and help of its citizens, who possess both faith and farsightedness.—O.E.P.

Your A. & M. College

RECENTLY A FORMER ARTESIA citizen visited the extension department of New Mexico's A. & M. College at Las Cruces to secure information concerning marketing of fruits and vegetables.

In the first place he had the privilege of visiting with the former county agent of Eddy County, W. A. Wunsch. But he was more than pleased with his visit; the courtesies extended to him; the information he secured; and the willingness of the department to send one or more individuals to his farm when he is ready for further help and advice.

He declared after his visit that he was never treated any nicer anywhere than he was at the college.

The extension department of A. & M. College, of course, is there to serve the farmers of the state. They are glad and happy to aid and help the farmers and ranchers with their problems and they have the experts to provide this information.

If you have a problem, of course, the first man to visit is your county agent. If he isn't able to handle it for you then he will secure the help you need from A. & M. College.

But the fact does remain that many in Eddy County have problems and they fail to take them to the county agent or they fail to take them to their A. & M. College.

Yet the county agent is a representative of the extension department of the A. & M. College and is ready to serve or to get any and all information farmers, ranchers, and citizens may desire.

New Mexico has just cause to be proud of its A. & M. College and the fine work it has done and is doing in the state. It has increased its service over the years and is always happy to aid and help the citizens of the state in any way possible.

And all of these services are in addition to the many fine courses, which it offers the students now enrolled in the institution. Eddy County alone has some 50 students taking college courses at A. & M. with some 15 of these from Artesia and graduates of Artesia High School.—O.E.P.

'Sunny Jim' Is Gone

BARON J. V. AURIEMMA is dead. And with his death has passed one of the best known personalities in the Southwest, as well as one whose activities have caused a wider range of opinion than any other of whom we know in this section.

"Sunny Jim" for many years was a perennial caller throughout New Mexico and Arizona for funds for the Salvation Army. And he probably could raise more money than anyone appointed to take his place.

Some citizens considered the baron as somewhat of a shakedown artist, who, they alleged, made a good living out of what he had developed into a racket.

But the truth of it—and that which most believed—is that he worked for a small salary, which he saved and from which he made careful and wise investments, thus laying away a little as he went along. His expenses were small, because he was entertained and fed wherever he went, and he thumbed his way from city to city.

Whatever else one might say about "Sunny Jim," it must be admitted that the funds he raised year after year went for a splendid cause, helped serve many who otherwise would have been neglected, and he did spread cheer. And he did it through his love of humanity, love of living, and love for the Salvation Army.—A.L.B.

Up To The Commissioners

COUNTY FIRE APPARATUS has been the subject of several of our editorials, including one just a few weeks ago, which has brought welcome response.

The fact The Carlsbad Current-Argus reprinted it was by way of showing agreement that the county should own and maintain fire apparatus at Carlsbad and Artesia for use in the rural sections.

And now Carlsbad's Fire Chief Ira Stockwell, through The Current-Argus, has seconded the suggestion. We have known for a number of years that the Artesia firemen realize the need of county fire equipment and endorse the plan.

That makes it just about unanimous, except for the endorsement of the county commissioners and their action. So we dump it in their laps.—A.L.B.

As Artesia Grows

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for March 1, 1928)

Bryant Williams of Hope expressed the fear that some of his neighbors might run out of meat now that so many rabbits have been killed in the recent drives in his community.

Bursar At ENMC Makes Hobby Of Collecting Pencils

Six hundred and seventy-five mechanical pencils—all different. That is the collection of Jack Patton, bursar of Eastern New Mexico College.

Patton has been collecting these graphite wonders for several years and to date he boasts a total of 675 with no two exactly alike. Although some of the pencils may be similar, they have different advertising on them. For example, he has 14 of one kind, but all are a different color.

This collector never has a worry when he needs a pencil. All 675 of the collection are in working order, filled with lead and equipped with erasers.

As is typical of those who make a hobby of collecting something, Patton has a favorite. His is a pencil which he picked up in Germany during World War II. This particular prize is square and made in three sections. Pull it apart and it makes a ruler. Four of the collection come from Holland.

Patton's latest plan to add to his pencils is to have a supply of pencils printed with the inscription: "I traded pencils with Jack Patton." Not only does he expect to save money by this plan, but also expects to get more pencils.

State Dairymen At Meeting Told Advertising Pays

"Advertising is changing our habits of living and is creating new demands in everyday life," O. A. Swank, national representative of the American Dairymen Association, told 100 members of the New Mexico Association at their recent annual meeting at State College.

"There's no question about it," Swank added, "advertising is even creating new eating habits. To increase their business dairymen must advertise steadily on national, state, and local levels."

Swank traced the development of the American Dairy Association, pointing out that its foundation is based on the national advertisement of dairy products.

New Mexico A. & M. College President John R. Nichols gave the welcoming address. Other speakers included O. C. Cunningham, head of the A. & M. dairy department, and Ammon Bradshaw, manager of the American Dairy Association of Colorado.

All officers of the New Mexico association were re-elected: J. R. Poe, Mesilla Park, president; Mort Pederson, El Paso, vice president; and E. E. Anderson, Mesilla Park, secretary treasurer. Poe is state dairy commissioner, Anderson is state extension dairy specialist, and Pederson is production manager of Prices Dairies, Inc.

Delegates elected to attend the Chicago convention of the American Dairy Association March 1-2 were Poe, Anderson, and Ansel Francis of Clovis. Eddy County dairymen attending the meeting at State College were Joe Bryan and A. C. Bindel.

Household Hint
If paper is stuck on polished furniture, dip a piece of flannel cloth in warm water; saturate the paper by rubbing with the cloth. You will find that the paper will roll easily off the polished surface. Dry the table or other piece thoroughly, then polish with good furniture polish.

Mental Health And Religion

(Letters for this department must be signed. However, the writers' names will be withheld from publication, if so requested, as in the case of the following letter. The author, although preferring to remain anonymous, has authorized the editor of The Advocate to disclose his name to anyone seriously interested in receiving counsel in mental health and religion.)
"Be of good cheer." This expression occurs at least seven times in the Bible. Vital religion radiates optimism; it opens the springs of joy, not mere effervescent enthusiasm. Deep streams run smoothly and create the impression of calmness.

Whoever has a genuine faith in God will be the person who will quite likely achieve or possess mental health, and maintain it by exercising that faith, understood as trust, in all of the relationships of life. In the first letter of John the author makes one thing very plain: He says that faith is proved by a person's loving God, and by his acceptance of all men as his brothers. The writer goes even further by stating without reservation that anybody who says that he loves God, and does not love his fellowman is telling a falsehood. That is so plain that all of us will be able easily to understand what John's meaning is. He says again something that is equally clear, namely, that whoever really loves God will keep God's commandments, that is, teachings or instructions. That is the test; Persons who are familiar with Jesus' teachings will recall that He said, "If you love me, you will keep my commandments." Then genuine faith in God is never proved by reciting a creed—any creed—however noble in ideals. Faith is belief in action, and without action or deeds whatever profession a person may make is just idle talk—even the most mischievous kind of self-deception.

It is discovered very soon when people begin to talk about God that they have no very clear idea of what they conceive God to be. The idea of God which comes to people in their infancy is all too often retained throughout life. This indicates conclusively that religious leadership generally is failing the common people, and that as a result the rank and file of men and women, as well as youth, are doing little or no thinking about God.

"The gentle old man with the long, flowing whiskers" is the image of God that prevails almost universally. A part of our heritage in religious thought is that religious ideas never change. This helps to confirm us in our spiritual illiteracy.

Now all of this has a direct relation to mental health. Healthy-mindedness is necessary, if we are to live joyously. It is not enough just to make a living, to earn a livelihood, for we are human beings and we were created to live abundantly—we courageously and joyously. Life can be and must be a kind of voyage of discovery if we are to accomplish the purpose in time for which God called us into being. It is a venture in sympathetic understanding, and in being understood. Perhaps most of the ills of life are due to our ignorance of our own nature.

tures, and of mankind generally. When people are honest enough with themselves to admit, even to themselves, that they are not really living but only existing, they will discover increasingly that within themselves there is much that needs to be corrected. When, by persistent effort, they broaden their outlook on life they become inconspicuous in a short time of improvement in their state of mind. There is almost no limit to which this improvement can be realized. A greater self-respect is certain to follow the embarrassment in discovering that we are not the perfect creatures that we tried to convince ourselves that we were before the awakening.

The possibilities for fine living will become evident to any person who will carry self-examination or self-diagnosis to completion. A sense of mission in life will reward the thoroughly honest. So, given a reasonable amount of common sense, a person who believes in God in the vital sense of faith as trust in God, can be in considerable degree his own mental doctor—other things being equal.

Since an intelligent conception of God is so vital to mental health we must revert to it again. A young person said recently, to this counselor in mental health and religion, that she was beginning to think more and more of God in terms of the Spirit of Love at work in the world. This person understands by the Spirit of Love the holy attitude that the great characters of the Bible maintained toward God and fellowmen. The Prophets and Paul, and Jesus particularly, in their relationship to God, are clues that will lead all of us to a vital understanding. The Ten Commandments when properly understood mean Love—love for God and love for our fellowmen. Love is most clearly understood as active good will not only toward men of good will, but even those who are themselves deficient in this greatest of all religious graces. This understanding will enable persons who have not before seen how it could be possible for them to "love their enemies" to approach a solution of the great social and religious problem. They will be able to "stand by" in an attitude of being available for a call to action to help those who have been previously considered as enemies or at least, unfriendly. The unfriendliness or even enmity may exist only or primarily in our own thinking.

Think of these things most earnestly, those of you who have had difficulty in dissipating mental conflicts and contradictions. There is a way out for you through honest, sincere thinking. Peace of mind can and will replace tensions, anxieties and fears. The feeling of frustration can be conquered. A positive attitude toward life will be an ample reward for all who want it enough to seek it courageously.

Control Of Dust By Discing In Straw Is Proved Effective

At some of the desert fields during the war there was a difficulty in controlling the dust, when it was too dry to grow crops and materials to pave the fields were not available.

The dry farming method of straw mulching was tried. The field was broken up to a depth of about six inches. About two tons of straw per acre were spread over the broken ground and this was worked up with a big disc, with disc at least 23 inches in diameter set straight.

The method worked as well as the air field operators as it is for farmers who have to "bank" their summer fallow in the cultural conservation program. The benefits showed up in operating life of airplane engine. Before the control of the dust the average flying time between engine changes was 397 hours. After the dust was controlled, average flying time was 400 hours. The old straw mulch control method proved effective even in 50 mile winds.

Men Serve As 'Hostesses' At Oilfield Party

The men were "hostesses" at a regular monthly meeting of the Oilfield School patrons Friday evening, when they held a box supper and "new look style show." It was a memorable evening and will be remembered as the biggest and best Leap Year party given in that community.

Truett Loyd, who announced the numbers for the style show, and Doyle Pennington were the chairmen for the occasion.

The show featured "movie stars" in cotton prints, street dresses, slacks, shorts, evening dresses, bathing suits, and a "proper" nightgown and cap to match. The "models" wore high heels, hats, and gloves to match each creation.

It was brought to a climax when Leonard McCutchin gave a musical reading, "Hats." As he described different hats, Robert Corbin, James Francis, Sr., Thad Standard, W. A. Loyd, Haskell Matthews, and Alfred Lloyd appeared on the stage wearing the hats described.

Next on the program was a short skit, "An Event in the Life of Joe Solt." Joe Solt was played by himself. Mrs. Solt was played by Warren Neikle, and a traveling salesman was played by Ward Risley.

A barber shop quartet, Andrew Beard, Foy Davis, W. A. Loyd, and Thad Standard, sang a few hilarious selections.

Tommy Marshall gave a reading, "My Sister's Best Feller." Donald Lloyd, Austin Pennington, and Walter and Richard Peters, dressed in little girls' costumes, gave "The Dance of the Fairies."

Sherman and Billy Joe Forsyth, Johnny Francis, and Jimmie Marshall sang, "Billy and Me." Buford Norrid, Larry Moore, Johnny Francis, Jimmie Marshall, Sherman and Billy Joe Forsyth presented "The Fathers' Convention."

At the box supper, Mrs. Raymond Neatherlin was auctioneer. Mrs. Joe Solt, Mrs. Alfred Lloyd, Mrs. Vera Owens, and Mrs. Pat Evans were her helpers. The sales brought in $84.90, which will be added to the community fund. Mrs. H. R. Paton of Artesia topped all box sales by paying $6 for Henry Ottjes' box.

And in that respect, Dr. Hamilton said, insurance companies carrying health risks prefer that patients be in hospitals, rather than at home, for the chances are that they will recover more quickly where they can have the continuous and the best of attention.

The trend, as well as some others, raises a cry for more hospital facilities throughout the nation, the speaker said. He listed as others the normal increase in population, the abnormal urban increase, and many new techniques in the medical profession, which cannot be carried out in the home, but require a hospital.

Dr. Hamilton pointed out that whereas the addition now being built on Artesia Memorial Hospital will fill a great need, but that plans should be started now for more hospital facilities six or seven years hence.

He pointed out the delays coincident with the talking period when an improvement such as a new hospital is indicated, the months required before a bond issue can be voted, other necessary delays, and the time needed to erect a new building, and recommended that Artesia start at once considering further hospital facilities within the next few years.

Dr. Hamilton said the Eddy County Medical Society has recommended that Eddy County vote bonds for two county hospitals, one each at Artesia and Carlsbad, to be figured out on the basis of population in North and South Eddy County.

Prior to the principal talk, Rev. C. A. Clark and Robert A. Waller "campaigning" respectively for Floyd D. Golden of Portales, and Alton Hughes of Pecos, Tex., for the Artesia Rotary Club's candidate for district governor.

Neil B. Watson made a short talk of instructions in Rotary to Harry Simmons, newest member of the local club, who was admitted at the meeting last week.

'Peace Of Mind' Is Reviewed At Meeting By Mrs. Ralph Hayes Mrs. Ralph Hayes reviewed "Peace of Mind," by Joshua Lieberman, at a meeting of the Literary Division of the Woman's Club Wednesday afternoon of last week in the Woman's Club building.

Lieberman is a Jewish rabbi, whose book has been a best seller since 1946. It is a timely comparison of religion and psychiatry. It also brought out the fact that many physical ills are but mental disorders and can be helped or cured through the mind.

Because the book was talked about well in advance of the actual review, a large crowd was present. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sanders were hosts to a group of friends Saturday evening in their home at a "Dutch supper."

Five tables were laid with different kinds of meats, salads, drinks, and desserts, which were set in patterns. Those present for the occasion were Messrs. and Mmes. Bill St. John, Chester Voloshik, Leroy Bynum, Widd Boyce, and Jack Vermillion.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT Central Press Writer A SEATTLE TAXI DRIVER has just won the world's eating championship by downing 132 clams in 10 minutes. What the man at the next desk wants to know is—how much did they cost him?

"ON, COMET!" AUSTRALIAN astronomers report sighting a comet. This is not the Comet, however, which is No. 3 reindeer on Santa Claus' team. The new comet has a tail which is 14,000,000 miles long, which makes it look like a celestial snake.

The earth might pass through the comet's tail—but don't be alarmed. A comet's tail is thinner than a schoolboy's excuse. In approaching the sun or some other stars, a comet's tail switches around and becomes a beard. This makes a comet something of a quick change artist.

Astronomers are always finding new comets, but like the weather, no one seems to do anything about it. The new comet can be seen only in the southern hemisphere. So, for the time being, we'll just have to put up with the old comets we have.

Zadok Dumkopf says he heard a broadcast about the latest news in astronomy. The fellow who talked, Zadok says, was a pretty fair comet-ator.

Area Firemen's Group Formed In Carlsbad, Names Richards Officer Albert Richards, chief of the Artesia Fire Department, was named secretary-treasurer of the Southeastern New Mexico Firemen's Association at an organizational meeting in Carlsbad Tuesday of last week.

Ira Stockwell, chief at Carlsbad, was elected president, and Rue Christmas, Roswell chief, vice president. The association, which will work in conjunction with the New Mexico State Firemen's Association, will have the advantage of working with a smaller, regional group, Chief Richards said.

A dinner was served to about 75 firemen representing 11 fire departments prior to the meeting in Carlsbad. Each guest was given a program which was in the shape of an Indian teepee.

During the business meeting, mention was made of the purchase of two books which had been bought for the Story League library. Daffodils and sweetpeas decorated the living room, in which Mrs. Mathis and the cohostesses, Mrs. Doyle Hankins and Mrs. Ted Maschek, served a delicious salad course to the members and one guest, Mrs. H. State 4-H Clubs Have Big Year In 1947 With Many Projects Reported

New Mexico's 4-H Club boys and girls broke all previous records by enrolling in a total of 10,710 educational projects in 1947.

The projects were carried out by 6722 members who are enrolled in 354 4-H Clubs under the supervision of 656 volunteer leaders and assistant leaders.

A summary of county agents reports that club members produced 9359 acres of crops, 214 acres of gardens, raised or cared for 17,120 birds in poultry clubs and 3434 head of livestock, and made 4255 articles in handicraft clubs.

In the home economics division, girls planned 21,068 meals, served 11,534 meals, and preserved 50,911 quarts of fruits, vegetables, and meats. They also made 5951 garments and remodeled 1127 others. More than 500 participated in county dress revues in 21 counties. In home management project work, the girls redecorated 63 rooms and made 336 useful articles for the home.

In addition to actual project work, members participated in various phases of activities and events. During the year 4615 members were given training in judging, and 1800 members presented demonstrations.

More than 2000 club boys and girls and leaders attended one of the 21 county and district camps during June and July.

More than 250 local leaders attended the second annual leaders' short course at New Mexico A. & M. College in May and 410 delegates attended the first postwar state club camp on the A. & M. campus in August.

About 400 leaders attended six district recreation schools in March, and 54 training schools in the various counties trained leaders in both agriculture and home economics. "National Club Week" was observed in March by appropriate ceremonies in 18 counties. Members and leaders appeared before civic clubs, women's extension clubs, and farm and ranch groups to explain their 4-H activities and to give demonstrations. "National 4-H Achievement Week" was observed in 22 counties by exhibits, new articles, and special award programs.

Approximately 90 per cent of the counties had countywide achievement days, junior fairs, or county fairs at which 4-H members exhibited their project work. Club members in 16 counties observed "4-H Club Sunday" by taking part in church programs on that day.

In 23 national contests and 12 state contests, 280 medals were awarded to county winners. Twenty-two club members and one local leader attended the National Club Congress as state winners. Nine club members attended the National Western 4-H Club Round-Up as state winners.

Besides winning trip awards, 4-H Club members won $1485 in scholarships, bonds, and cash awards. Three gold watches, 10 plaques, and a trophy were also given to state winners. Businessmen, commercial companies, and farm and livestock organizations interested in 4-H Club work sponsored the awards and recognition for outstanding club members.

For the 14th consecutive year, the National 4-H Food Preparation Awards Program is being continued under the direction of the Extension Service in New Mexico and 45 other states in 1948.

More than 350,000 4-H Club girls took part in the program last year. In addition to planning and service 18,098,278 family meals of homegrown products, the "teen-aged 4-H cooks" prepared many special dishes and school lunches. Outstanding records of achievement in 4-H food preparation will again receive awards on county, state, and national levels. They comprise honor medals, Chicago 4-H Club Congress trips and $200 college scholarships, respectively.

DON'T

Put shades on lamps that "swallow" light. Use clear translucent shades that utilize every bit of light given by your bulbs.

Sit under a light that does not throw sufficient illumination on the book or paper you are reading. Eye-strain is the result.

Allow a child to study under the wrong type of lamp. Some lamps put too much light on books and papers and cause harsh reflection.

DO

Clean lamp shades and bulbs frequently. Much light can be wasted in dust and grime.

Place lamps so that equal and sufficient light is given for everyone who uses the lamp.

Make sure that children have the proper type of study lamps, giving clear warm light on the work they are doing.

Simple rules for good lighting that will add comfort and enjoyment to your living. They are important rules to follow that will protect the precious eyesight of every member of your family. Better light means better sight.

—Gable Photo

This beautiful, white ambulance has just been delivered to Paulin Funeral Home by the Artesia Auto Company, for which Joe Hamann went to Toledo, Ohio, to drive it through from the shops of the Siebert Body Company.

The ambulance was custom built by Siebert to the specifications of Wayne Paulin on a Ford Chassis.

Its use will be confined strictly to that of an ambulance and it will be on call 24 hours a day, Paulin said.

Bulldogs Bow-

Bulldogs were tied with Capitan 7-7 at the end of the first quarter and had a one-point lead at the half 13-12.

Teddy Cummings, Capitan substitute, started on his scoring spree in the third period, making three baskets. However, Artesia still had a one-point lead 21-20 at the end of that period. But in the final quarter the Bulldogs failed to make a point, while Cummins still ran wild and made four of six points for his team. Cummins is a brother of Hollis Cummins, who made all-state last year from Capitan.

Artesia took the tournament opener easily from Hope 44-18, with overwhelming scores in all four quarters. Richardson, who made the all-district team, was high-point man for Artesia in that game with 14 points.

Coach M. Duane Sams' Bulldogs then went on to beat the Hobbs Eagles in an upset 36-28. Artesia took the lead in the first quarter 9-7, and widened the breach to 19-14 at the half. Then in the third quarter the Bulldogs ran up 14 points to a single one for Hobbs, making the score 33-15. But the Eagles had their fun in the final quarter, not however, sufficient to win. They scored 13 points to three for Artesia, making the final score in favor of Artesia 36-28.

Richardson was again high-point man for Artesia with 10. Both the champion team, Carlsbad, and the runner-up, Monument, will play in the state tournament, which will be played in Roswell March 11-13.

In the bass and catfish waters of the Lower Pecos, April 1 to April 15 and May 30 to March 31, 1948, is the season on all waters in Chaves and Eddy Counties, except the Pecos River above McMillan Dam. Bitter Lake Federal Refuge comes under special water. Pecos River above Trail's End conforms to the trout season.

Conchas Lake season is April 1 to March 31, except that portion of the lake including both the main arm and Ferro arm, above the north end of the big island situated in the Canadian arm, which is closed as a spawning area from April 16 to June 15, inclusive.

No other action was taken on warm water seasons or bag limits. The big game season is to be held at the same time as last year, Nov. 10 through Nov. 21. During this period one buck with at least one fork horn may be taken. No spiked-horn bucks will be legal. The turkey bag will be one bird in all open areas. The Guadalupe Mountains, Union County, that part of Hidalgo County south of Highway 70, and all of the Cibola National Forest will be closed to turkey hunting this season.

The bear season will remain the same as last year. An added feature will be the bear tag attached to the license corresponding to the deer and turkey tags.

For the taking of elk 150 permits will be issued for the Upper Pecos. These permits will be permitted to hunt either Oct. 26 through Nov. 2 or Nov. 27 through Dec. 4. The latter period, when there is likely to be snow on the ground, is for the more hardy individuals. Each person, upon application, must specify his choice.

There will be no open season on grouse in the Gila area. In the northern area three grouse may be taken during the period of Sept. 17-19.

Other matters acted on by the Commission was the closing of the muskrat, mink and marten season for another year and the establishing of a regulation preventing big game animals from being transported across the state line from New Mexico without a valid transportation permit or valid non-resident big game license.

In regard to firearms, no rifle with muzzle foot-pounds of energy under 1000 may be used. Some of the rifles coming under this category are the .32-20, .25-20, .218 Bee, .22 Hornet, .32 and .35 Winchester self-loading, .32-40, .38-40, .44-40 and M-1 carbine. No full automatic may be used and military ammunition is outlawed, whether altered or not.

The commission authorized Elliott Barker, state game warden, to take appropriate action on opening the posted areas of the Pecos River to fishing, that is, to explore all possibilities for overcoming the posted situation.

No action was taken on seasons and bag limits on quail, pheasants, prairie chickens, migratory birds, antelope, special deer hunts, and other elk areas. These will be taken up at the August meeting.

State Commander-

ing fiscal year. Voting will be at the May meeting and installation at the June meeting, so the new officers will be in office for the department convention, which will be in July.

The commander named on the committee J. A. Fairey, chairman; P. V. Morris, Bob Williams, C. L. Joiner, Herbert Mathis, and Wade Cunningham.

The post voted to spend not more than $50 at the discretion of the commander and adjutant for junior baseball during the coming summer, when it considered that the Artesia 20-30 Club is in charge of the junior team, playing under the American Legion national rules.

J. T. Easley pointed out the Artesia post is to send five boys to Boys State at Santa Fe next summer, three of them juniors in Artesia High School and one each from Hope and Lake Arthur.

Rail Problems-

the way to get to Artesia by way of Clovis.

Vincent explained that the shortest distance by rail is not always the shortest service route, to which J. E. Doud, assistant general freight agent, added that opening of the "Pecos gateway" would have little effect on freight rates, that rates at present are figured through Pecos if the mileage is shorter than through Clovis, although the freight may be routed by the longer route.

Doud also discussed the rates on hay, which, it was explained, have given more trouble than on any other commodity. He said the differentials which have been applying on hay rates are being voluntarily removed on nearly all traffic to and from New Mexico.

It was brought out in the discussions that plans are being made to start a Dallas-Clovis freight car, in order to avoid the present bottleneck at Lubbock, which should make for faster service to the Pecos Valley.

These and other problems were discussed by members of the two groups in a friendly manner, as the railway men listened to "squawks" on the part of the Pecos Valley residents and in turn explained the problems encountered by the railways in trying to overcome them.

Besides those mentioned, other Santa Fe men present were E. P. Dudley, assistant general manager; R. H. Deitiker, general freight

Baron Auriemma, Salvation Army Personage, Dies

Baron J. V. (Sunny Jim) Auriemma, 62, financial representative of the Salvation Army, who conducted annual drives in Artesia for more than two decades, died Tuesday of last week at Phoenix, Ariz., where his headquarters were located.

He entered a hospital at Phoenix Feb. 11, suffering from a severe cold aggravated by fatigue. Funeral services were in Phoenix last Thursday and burial was at Albuquerque Saturday.

Baron Auriemma, familiarly known as "Sunny Jim" because of his sunny disposition, which fitted his huge size, was an expert cook, especially of spaghetti dishes and salads, and was always in demand for several parties on his annual visits to Artesia, as well as elsewhere.

Auriemma, a godson of the late King Victor Emmanuel II of Italy, inherited the title of "Baron" from his grandfather.

Auriemma was noted as a singer and had appeared in nearly every elementary and high school and service club in Arizona and New Mexico.

He became associated with the Salvation Army after World War I upon his return to the United States from Europe. His interest stemmed from being served coffee and doughnuts by a Salvation Army girl in "No Man's Land."

He is survived by three brothers, Francis Auriemma, New York radio personality known as Francis Renault; Ernest Auriemma, Providence, R. I.; and Frank Auriemma, Holbrook, Ariz., and a sister, Mrs. A. B. Beck, Detroit.

Jim Ferguson Buys Out Kermit Trucking Outfit

Jim L. Ferguson has bought out the W. M. Walker Trucking Company of Kermit, Tex., and soon will start operating from Artesia and Kermit in an eight-state area, he announced this week.

Headquarters here will be in a building on Second Street just south of the new service station he has built at Second and Texas Avenue.

The new building, for which ground has been broken, will be 40x120 feet, Ferguson said.

Ferguson has leased the new service station to "Allen Oil Company, which is making preparations to open in the near future.

The transaction with Walker of Kermit involved a string of trucks, of which about $100,000 worth will be operated from Artesia, Ferguson said. At present he is waiting for official transfers in the eight states in which he will operate.

Ferguson said he will conduct the business as the Jim L. Ferguson Trucking Company.

Stock Industry Pays Sixth Of Property Taxes

The livestock industry pays approximately a sixth of all property taxes in New Mexico, according to George A. Godfrey, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association. A recent survey by the Taxpayers Association of New Mexico indicates that for 1946 the total amount of property taxes paid by the livestock industry was $1,500,000, Godfrey said.

In addition to property taxes, the industry is assessed for complete administration of its livestock sanitary, health, and transportation costs. For 1947 special levies for this purpose were: Cattle, except dairy cattle and horses, es. 5 mills; dairy cattle, 1 mill; sheep and goats, 10 mills; swine, 3.5 mills.

"Our industry, for instance," Godfrey said, "does not object to fair taxation by either the state or federal government, so long as the money paid in taxes is used for an essential function of government and when it is spent in an economical and businesslike basis.

"We do object, however, to needless government spending for bureau promotion, unnecessary government employes, and the government entering business at public expense," Godfrey said.

Cotton Quotes

"It would be desirable for this country and the world if the United States 1948 cotton crop were to show a substantial increase over the production of 1947."—G. I. Tolson, president, New York Cotton Exchange.

"Would you like to net 985 extra per acre from your cotton? J. L. Perrin of Deming did. By proper use of natural and commercial fertilizers, he increased his yield as much as 40 per cent."—New Mexico Extension Service.

"Balancing cotton with cattle should be the goal of every cotton producing state. Cotton growing and livestock production need not be competitive. Each should supplement the other."—A. L. Ward, National Cottonseed Products Association.

"A farmer cannot adopt half-way measures of mule and tractor farming and attain maximum results. Having made up his mind to practice mechanized farming, he should forget mule farming and learn a new technique of planting, tillage and harvesting from beginning to end."—Price McLemore, in Progressive Farmer.

"With experience we have had in the last few years, I consider it definitely out of the picture to continue to grow cotton on a paying basis without an adequate poisoning schedule. I have found that with a good poison schedule you will produce enough cotton to pay for the poison and fertilizer combined."—Henry Gramling, cotton Spartanburg County, South Carolina.

"Value of the extra yield of lint and seed and premiums for quality cotton amounted to $18.95 per acre, or a total of $11,122,494, for Georgia one-variety cotton growers in 1947."—Georgia Extension Service.

Time To Plan Ag Conservation 1949 Program

It's about time to be thinking plans for the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee, advised farmers. He said at within the next few weeks the county committee will be asked for recommendations for the 1949 program. These recommendations, he explained, are sent into the state PMA office, where the State PMA committee and the State Technical Committee go over them before transmittal to the national PMA office in Washington, D. C. From these recommendations, and within funds authorized by Congress, the 1949 program will be made up.

Of course the county chairman said, the recommendations must conform to the law under which the program operates — basically to conserve soil or water. The primary purpose of the program is to check the waste of land and water and to make farmland, pastures, and rangeland more productive.

The chairman explained that there is only so much money to be used to assist farmers in carrying out conservation practices. The national, state, county, and community people who administer the program have an obligation to use these funds to get the most conservation possible for each dollar spent. Some practices, which are good conservation practices, are no longer on the list because they are not as urgent as other practices or have not been adopted generally by farmers.

Every farmer has a right and an obligation to help make the best program possible, Forehand said. He urged all farmers to give thought to what they want in the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, and to talk over their ideas with their community or county agricultural conservation committee.

Flock Colds Can Cut Greatly Into Egg Production

Infectious coryza (commonly called colds) is a common respiratory disease of chickens which occurs most frequently during the cold weather months. While it does not cause heavy mortality in most instances, it is feared by most poultry raisers because of its marked effect on egg production and because it creates many culls.

Coryza is a common problem among birds which are exposed to cold drafts and dampness. It causes the severest harm in young adult flocks, although it affects birds of all ages.

A characteristic symptom of infectious coryza is the discharge from the affected bird's nostrils. In the early stages this material is thin and watery, but later it becomes thick and sticky. The face, wattles and skin of the neck often become swollen and the swellings are filled with fluid. Sometimes the bird's eyes are completely puffed shut because of the swelling. Difficult breathing and coughing may also be symptoms.

The danger of a coryza outbreak is lessened considerably when birds are quartered in tight, well-ventilated houses which are warm and free of drafts.

Within recent years sulfathiazole has been used extensively to control coryza outbreaks. This drug, when used as soon as the early symptoms appear, hastens recovery of affected birds — the diseased fowl usually appear normal within 48 hours after treatment has been started. Sulfathiazole is now available in commercial form as a drinking water medicine for easy use.

Evening Star

Attractive dinner ensemble.

By VERA WINSTON

VERY CHARMING and very dainty is this evening costume in that harbinger of Spring fashions, navy blue. The ensemble breaks down into a navy blue off-the-shoulder blouse with long plain sleeves and matching kerchief. The navy blue satin skirt is separate. It has a built-up waistband closing in back with a shirre fastener, and is padded at the hips for the rounded look.

Revival Services To Be Held At Nazarene Church

REV. C. E. STONE

A series of revival services will be conducted at the Church of the Nazarene at Fifth and Quay starting next Wednesday evening, March 10, and ending Sunday, March 21, by Rev. C. E. Stone, evangelist from Cisco, Tex., it was announced by Rev. John W. Eppler, pastor.

The evangelist is a man with wide experience in both pastoral and evangelistic work, Rev. Eppler said. He has been a pastor about 20 years and has done evangelistic work in Texas and Oklahoma.

Rev. Stone is a Bible preacher, whose messages will do anyone good, the pastor said, adding that he is a strict preacher of the Word, but one who respects the views of others.
Although Rev. Stone is on his first evangelistic trip into Artesia and has not been here before, Rev. Eppler in the past has had him for several meetings and said he has never heard him say anything which might hurt anyone of any faith, but that he always has left the church stronger.

The pastor has extended an invitation to everyone to attend the meetings and hear the messages brought by Rev. Stone.

Joseph Bloch To Present Piano Concert March 11

JOSEPH BLOCH

Joseph Bloch, who will be presented in a concert at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, March 11, is a brilliant young pianist whose interest runs to the unusual works of the great composers, in particular those of the early classic and the modern schools. It is in this vein that he has built the program for his New Mexico Concerts tour this season. Bloch comes to Artesia as the fourth event of the concert series sponsored by the Artesia Concert Association.

Born in Indianapolis, Ind., Joseph Bloch's training for a concert career began at an early age. He graduated from the Chicago Musical College with a bachelor's degree in 1937 and received a master of arts degree in musicology from Harvard University in 1941. On his chosen instrument he studied with Rudolph Gans of Chicago and Olga Samaroff Stokowski of New York City. Numerous recitals in many music centers, including Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and Indianapolis, helped round out Joseph Bloch's preparation. Then came the war and time out for service with the Army Air Forces in Guam and Japan. Immediately upon his discharge in 1946, he plunged back into his musical career with redoubled energy.

Bloch has appeared with a number of the country's outstanding orchestras. Among them are the Indianapolis Symphony, the Illinois Symphony, the New York Civic Symphony, and the Denver Symphony. Last season he played a solo concert in El Paso and last summer was presented as soloist during the Denver Symphony's "Red Rocks Festival."

In addition to his concert activities, Joseph Bloch also finds time to write on musical subjects. He is the author of a monograph on the works of the eccentric 19th century French composer, Charles Valentine Alkan, as well as several articles in the musical magazines. Since the summer of 1946 he has been a member of the faculty of the Lamont School of Music of Denver University.

Rotary Subsoiler Helps Conserve Scarce Moisture

Farmers in the state of Washington have invented another conservation machine. This one is to help conserve moisture.

When rainfall amounts to only 11 inches a year, as it does in the vicinity of Waterville, the conservation of every drop is of first importance. Even when all of the 11 inches is accumulated for two years by using summer fallow, the moisture available for crop production is still limited.

As explained by Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County ACP Committee, this is what happens three years out of every four. In the fall the soils freeze. Snows come in winter. In the spring when the snow melts the water flows down hill over the hawing soil, carrying with it some of the topsoil. Even when the soil thaws out, it doesn't absorb moisture as well as it might because the soil is "tight" just below plow depth.

Now, according to the chairman, a machine has been developed to make the land rough and break the tight under layer. The machine looks like a row of solid wheels about the diameter of a heavy disk all rolling on one axle. Projecting from the edge of each of these solid wheels are curved fins that penetrate the soil below the tight layer and turn up the soil chunks.

Soil moisture checks indicate that the machine does have possibilities. On soil left in stubble moisture penetrated to a depth varying from 15 to 36 inches. When the machine was used moisture reached a depth of 40 to 60 inches.

Permanency And Conservation Are Tied In Together

The farm home and the farm land are closely tied together when it comes to this matter of conservation of the soil and water, said Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee, in commenting on the values of programs and projects to improve farm homes.

When the farm family begins to fix up and clean up around the farmstead it's usually an indication they intend to stay and make the farm their home, he said. And now that electricity is making it possible for farm families to have refrigerators, deep freezers, electric stoves, radios, and other conveniences which have been considered available only to their city cousins, there is a greater desire to make a home on the farm. Farm women can have some of the conveniences they've wanted for a long time.

The chairman believes that the bringing of electricity to the farm along with the conveniences that go with it lends itself to greater permanency on the farm. Stability of farm occupancy makes possible the crop rotations and other practices which aid present and future production on the farm, he said.

Something Special for Dessert

By ALICE DENHOFF
If time is of the essence, you'll be glad of a real jiffy dessert recipe, a pie that takes 10-15 min. to prepare, depending on how fast you work. Line sides and bottom of a 9-inch pie pan with small cookies such as vanilla, chocolate or lemon wafers, chocolate chip cookies, butter wafers, tea cookies or sweetbread type, to offer a few suggestions.
Separate 2 eggs; beat the yolks, and add 2 c. milk. Place one package prepared vanilla pudding powder in saucepan. Stir in the milk mixture gradually. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Pour carefully into pie pan. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Beat in gradually 3 tsp. sugar or honey.

Making the Filling
To prepare the filling for a 9-inch pie shell soften one envelope plain, unflavored gelatin in 1/4 c. cold water. Make a syrup of 1/2 c. sugar, 8 level tsp. cocoa and 2 squares chocolate that have been melted. one c. hot milk and 1/2 tsp. salt.
Add the softened gelatin to this mixture, stirring thoroughly. Cool. Add 1/2 tsp. vanilla and when the mixture begins to thicken, fold in one c. cream that has been whipped. Fill pie shell and chill.
To make shell make one c. finely-crushed crumbs from about 14 gingersnaps and mix well with 5 tsp. melted table fat. Press into 9-inch pie plate with back of spoon dipped in cold water. Bake 10 min. at 300°.
When the crust has been filled with chocolate cream mixture, top with sweetened whipped cream and garnish with semi-sweet chocolate shavings.

and mouth disease and preventing its spread into the United States will be the foremost subject to be discussed at the 34th annual convention of the association in Albuquerque March 8-9.

Oscar Flores, under-secretary of agriculture of the republic of Mexico and codirector of the eradication program, has been invited to appear on the convention program to present problems now confronting his country.
"Only through the proper and full understanding of conditions in Mexico can this nation ever hope to prevent spread of the disease," Godfrey said.

New Mexico is fortunate in having active leadership in the national effort to protect this country against the disease, according to Godfrey. Alfred K. Mitchell of Albert is chairman of the national advisory committee to the secretary of agriculture on control of the malady. Horace H. Henning of Albuquerque is a member of the national advisory committee as well as secretary of the Border States Foot and Mouth Disease Control Board. Godfrey is chairman of the Border States Control Board, which comprises official representation from Texas, Arizona, and California. Dr. F. L. Schneider of Albuquerque is newly appointed chairman of the foot and mouth disease committee of the U.S. Livestock Sanitary Association.
"It is hoped that from our convention will come recommendations which will greatly assist to facilitate an active program against the disease in Mexico as well as launching a scientific program of our own to combat the disease should it strike this country," Godfrey said.

Young Farmer Has Chance to Start Knowledge and Training Essential for Success

More than the usual number of places are available for young men to get started in farming in 1948, according to Prof. C. A. Bratton of Cornell University. Many farmers are ready to turn their farms over to young men, or are looking for a young man to work for wages on a profit-sharing basis.
Farming in the years ahead, according to Bratton, will provide a good living for the young man who is well trained, properly financed and located on good lands. Education and experience will be even more important for farming in the future than it has been in the past.
Starting farming in a period of inflated prices requires caution. Unusually high prices for livestock and machinery and high land values make it important to start without heavy indebtedness. Working as a

Marketing Lighter Hogs Stretches Feed Supply

By marketing their hogs at just one pound lighter weight, hog men over the country could conserve about seven million bushels of grain, says Wisconsin College of Agriculture. Marketing hogs at lighter weights is one of the best ways to stretch the feed supply. Hogs marketed before they weigh 200-250 pounds usually require less feed to put on a pound of gain than hogs fed to heavier weight.

More than 40,000 extension circulars were mailed from the state office or passed out by county agents.

Most popular were "Historic Cookery," a booklet of recipes for Mexican foods; "Canning Fruits," "Canning Meats," and "Canning Vegetables," which gives instructions for pressure cooker canning at various altitudes in New Mexico; "A Clothing Construction Handbook," "Poultry Raising," and "Growing a Home Garden." Ten extension publications were available in Spanish translations. Of the 34,000 Experiment Sta-

Loss In Shipping Of Potatoes To Europe Is Cut

Efforts to find ways and means of shipping potatoes to Europe without heavy loss have been reasonably successful and arrangements have been completed for the shipment of approximately 3,495,000 bushels of potatoes to Italy, France, and American-English sections of Germany, according to C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the New Mexico PMA Committee.

Five cargoes of potatoes of about 1,165,000 bushels will go to Italy immediately and a similar amount is to be shipped to Italy soon. The shipment to Germany of another 1,165,000 bushels will be made in the near future.
Hemphill said that previous attempts to ship potatoes have not been successful. In some cases potatoes have begun spoilage before the ships were fully loaded. Suitable ships have not always been available and sometimes transportation has not been adequate after arrival in Europe. Reports indicate that these obstacles have been pretty well eliminated

Pasture Makes Cheap Dairy and Stock Feed
Pasture is the cheapest and best feed your dairy and meat animals can get, declares the Middle West Soil Improvement committee. Not only will it save scarce feed grains, but also it will cut production costs and step up the milk and meat output. However, the soil must be fed to get a good stand of legumes and grasses. Legumes are heavy "eaters" of phosphorus and potash, requiring plenty of plant food. Liming, based on soil tests, use of manure and the return of crop aftermaths to the soil are other essentials.

Posthole Digger

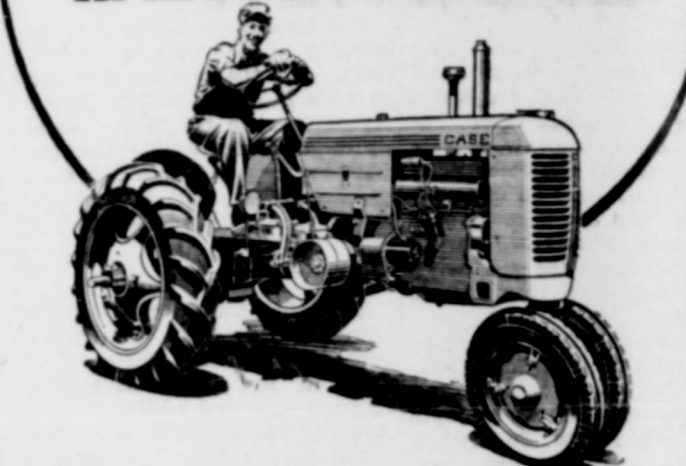

This posthole digger was built by Clyde Hall, Bradford, Ill. He says it will put a nine-inch hole down three feet in Illinois soil in three minutes. It was built of heavy materials in his farm shop and required some large welds. A car differential provides a way to use tractor power to dig postholes.

and potatoes can be shipped fairly successfully to some European countries.
The potatoes will be taken largely from Eastern ports, principally from Maine. This movement, the chairman explains, will tend to reduce losses of potatoes in storage in this country by taking care of the surplus in heavy producing areas. At the same time it will be supplying urgently needed foods to hungry people in Europe.
Naval Air Transport Service officials estimate that NATS transports Navy men for two-thirds of the cost the Navy would have to pay for commercial transportation for the same men.

The Naval Air Transport Service cancelled only one scheduled flight on its "Hotshot Line," which gives direct service from Washington, D. C., to San Francisco, in its first year of operation of twice-daily flights. On that occasion runways at National Airport, Washington, D. C., were so heavily iced that a landing was considered too dangerous to attempt.

Olson's Famous Red Heads To Meet Artesia 20-30 Here On March 12

Olson's Red Heads, famous girls' basketball team, which makes many of the best men's teams look like a bunch of beginners, will be brought to Artesia by the 20-30 Club Friday evening, March 12, when the 20-30 team will play them in the high school gymnasium.

The game between the Red Heads and the Artesia 20-30 Club team will start at 8 o'clock. As a preliminary the REA and First National Bank teams will play at 7 o'clock.

Pictured above is the famed "piggy-back" play, which the girls use in many games and which was pictured in a feature story about the team, "Red Heads—You Kill Me!" in Collier's Feb. 8, 1947.

At the bottom of the "piggy-back" is Gene Love, 6 feet 4 inches, who is billed as the world's tallest woman basketball player, while riding on top and executing the basket is Stubby Winter, 5 feet 2 inches, the smallest of the girls, who average 5 feet 10 inches in height.

Ole Olson, coach of the Red Heads, won worldwide fame in playing more than 3000 games with Olson's Terrible Swedes. He is the only backhand passing expert in basketball history.

He trains the Red Heads not only to play bang-up basketball, but as showgirls as well, with plenty of comedy.

The Red Heads are not undefeatable, but of 197 games played against men in 94 days in the 1946-47 season, they defeated 90.

Members of the Artesia 20-30 team who are now practicing hard to meet the Red Heads—and perhaps for the slaughter—are Gene Chambers, Everett Lapsley, Riley Brown, Wayne Truett, Ted Heidel, Ray Lewis, and Curtis Bolton.

Rabies Cases During 1946 Total 10,872 In The Nation

The State Department of Public Health has just received the report from the Bureau of Animal Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture relative to the number of cases of rabies.

For the entire United States there were 10,872 cases of rabies reported, with 8384 cases in dogs, 962 in cattle, 44 in horses, 15 in sheep, 22 in swine, 455 in cats, 12 in goats, 956 miscellaneous cases which included such animals as foxes, coyotes, skunks, civet cats, raccoons, mules, chickens, rabbits, mice, ground squirrels, gophers, opossums and muskrats. There were 22 cases reported in human beings.

These statistics show that New Mexico had 12 cases only, all found in dogs.

Coke-ettes Attend Cage Tournament At Roswell In Body

The Coke-ettes, a society of girls in Artesia High School, attended the district basketball tournament in Roswell in a body last Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They rented two cabins in the Spring River Courts.

Members of the club who attended were the cheer leaders, Jo Ann Johnson, Elmira Terry, Adrienne Fletcher, and Janie Dunnam; Fid Hamill, Norma Hancox, Norma Smith, Ann Watson, Pat Ferguson, June E. McDorman, Maxine Ashton, Shirley Young, Pauline Redmon, Rita Webb, and Jo Ann Stuart.

This was the first time the Coke-ettes have attended the tournaments in a body, although they went with the FWC Club last year.

They attended all the games and dances and were chaperoned by Mrs. Adrian Fletcher.

Another Call For Scrap Iron And Steel Is Going To Farmers

Another call for scrap iron and steel is going out to farmers.

The current short supply of scrap and the outlook seriously threaten the maintenance of maximum steel production. Yet such maximum production is essential to curb inflation and to support the foreign aid program as well as the domestic economy. Farmers are urged to carry out a determined and thorough search for undiscovered scrap and for obsolete equipment and to move it promptly into market channels.

No matter how small the amount of scrap on any one farm, the total of small lots from many farms will make a worthwhile contribution. Every ton of additional scrap counts in the present situation.

THAT ANSWER'S NOT FOR US! . . . Maybe it applies to woods but NOT to the business of selling new cars. When we say (as we do) "walk in and look into our operation," we don't mean just halfway.
