New Sanitary Code Explained To Employers And Employees

A general spirit of co-operation prevailed Wednesday afternoon, when Richard W. Swartz, sanitary officer for the State Health Department, outlined to employers and employees of Artesia cafes, soda fountains, and taverns the terms of the new city sanitary ordinance and the code under which it will operate, when it goes into effect July 1.

Swartz had asked that all eating and drinking establishments in Artesia close from 2 to 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, so he could explain, once and for all, what grading of their places of business means and how both employer and employee play a part in the successful operation of a sanitary place.

Under the ordinance, he pointed out, an establishment passing the proper requirements of sanitation will be issued an "A" card, which the proprietor may display for the public to see. A place meeting certain requirements, but not up to the top standard, will be rated "B" and be permitted to operate, but will have no card to display. Any establishment not meeting the "B" requirements under the code will be closed until the deficiencies are cleared up, Swartz said.

In his talk to the cafe, fountain, and bar people, Swartz listed those things which all must have in order to receive an "A" card. Among them, he said, it is required that a place have good floors, walls, and ceilings, which can be kept clean and sanitary.

He said every place is required to have toilet and handwashing facilities for employees, and that all equipment for the handling of food must have a good standard of cleanliness.

Gross negligence of any one item will be cause for an establishment to lose its "A" card such as failure to disinfect dishes, Swartz said.

The sanitary officer also placed some of the responsibility on employees, whose negligence, he said, might cause his employer to lose his "A" card or be closed.

He likewise gave them a few points of behavior outside of sanitation. He admonished all employees to be loyal to their employers in their work and to earn their pay. "If you don't like your work, then quit," he said. "While you are taking someone's money earn it or get out."

Swartz said he has found in general the cafes and other eating and drinking establishments in Artesia are maintaining a higher standard than they were when he started his work here a few months ago. And, he added, he hopes the general standard will be even better in the next six months, when it has become habitual to observe the highest of sanitary measures.

He said he hopes that in the near future every eating and drinking place in Artesia will be able to display "A" cards.

The first grading of fountains, restaurants, and bars is to be made on July 1.

Lindsay Warns Unlicensed Dogs To Be Impounded

Chief of Police O. T. Lindsey warned this week that many dogs in Artesia have not been licensed and that police officers are to be ordered to start picking them up.

The chief pointed out that a city ordinance requires dogs of a certain age to be inoculated against rabies before a license is issued.

When dogs are picked up for want of a license they are impounded for a short period and are then destroyed, if the owners do not claim them, pay the charges, and have them licensed.

and lay in state at Paulin Funeral Home until time for the services. Full military rites were extended Private Gray in the church and at the grave in Woodbine Cemetery by members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, assisted by members of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans, and with Bill Dunnam serving as chaplain.

A firing squad gave a final salute to Private Gray, after which "Taps" was sounded.

Palbearers were two each former members of the Marine Corps, in which Private Gray served; the Army, and the Navy. They were Roy Reyes of Artesia, who served on Saipan with Private Gray and was wounded, and Arthur Price, Carlsbad, Marine Corps; Jimmie Bowman and J. S. McCasland, Navy, and John T. Simons, Jr., and James Vandagriff, Army.

Private Gray was killed in the same engagement three days after Pfc. Donald S. Simons, whose body arrived home Wednesday of last week and was buried with military honors in Woodbine Cemetery that day.

Artesia places of business were closed from 3:30 to 4:30 o'clock for the services yesterday.

Pfc. Terry Avery Gray, who was 18 years old at the time of his death, was the youngest child of (continued last page this section)

Temperature Of 106 Degrees May Be June Record

The temperature in Artesia soared to 106 degrees last Thursday for a possible June record here and the mercury read 105 on Friday for the fifth consecutive day of more than 100 degrees.

The thermometer of the Southern Union Gas Company read 104 degrees Monday and Wednesday of last week, and stood at 103 on Tuesday.

It is believed Saturday would have been nearly as hot as the preceding five days, had not the sky been partially overcast most of the day. The reading that day was 97 degrees, on Monday it was 96, and on Tuesday it was 95.

The temperature on May 15 was 100 degrees, the only other time this year the mercury had soared to the century mark.

The gas company's rain gauge registered .08 inch of precipitation Saturday night, bringing the rainfall here for the year to 8.12 inches, of which 5.65 inches fell May 31 and June 1 and 2.

However, the rainfall was heavier in the downtown district than at the gauge, which is at the company's city gas gate north of the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company plant. A short distance out of town there was no rainfall.

Game Preserved By Co-operation With Department

Hugh B. Woodward of Albuquerque, state president of the New Mexico Game Protective Association, told members of the Artesia chapter at a meeting in the high school auditorium Tuesday evening of the efforts being made co-operatively by the GPA and the State Game and Fish Department for the preservation and rehabilitation of game in the state.

One such effort being carried on at this time, he said, is the erection of a permanent quail adaption units throughout the state, in which quail chicks are protected in a small-mesh wire covered pen, from which they are released into a larger protected area and are on their own.

Woodward said it is planned to build about 100 such adaption units in the state.

The type of unit being used was illustrated in a motion picture shown by E. M. (Mickey) Lang of the State Game Department, who also showed three other pictures, one of salmon in Canada, one on a big game in Alaska, and the third of two 14-year-old boys stalking wild game in Montana.

In that picture a mother black bear with two cubs was shown carrying the camera, and the scene ended in a blackout, making the Artesia GPA members wonder what happened to the cameraman.

Woodward also told the members that over the 35 years in which he has been interested in GPA work the Game Department (continued last page this section)

Gas Company's Cooking School Draws Crowds

The final session of the Southern Union Gas Company's three-day cooking school started at 9:30 o'clock this morning with the Octoille Theater crowded to capacity, as Frank Decatur White, nationally known cooking specialist and dietitian, started his lecture and demonstration.

And a White House spokesman said Monday the president will not sign the new draft law immediately, but will hold back his signature 10 days in order to permit National Guard units throughout the nation to fill their quotas.

Youths of draft age may avoid selective service induction if they join the National Guard or one of the reserve training organizations before the president puts his signature to the measure, at which time it will become law.

In a telegram Tuesday to Lieutenant Burch from Brig. Gen. C. G. Sage, the New Mexico adjutant general, he pointed out that the selective service law provides for 21 months of training for those drafted, with exemptions to draft granted to veterans with not more than 12 months or less than 90

Members Of Guard Before Truman Signs Are Exempt From New Draft

Lt. H. D. Burch, commanding officer of the Artesia unit of the New Mexico National Guard, has called to the attention of young men of the community the fact they will be exempt from the new draft law, provided they enlist prior to the time the measure is signed by President Truman.

And a White House spokesman said Monday the president will not sign the new draft law immediately, but will hold back his signature 10 days in order to permit National Guard units throughout the nation to fill their quotas.

With Report Of Polio Case At Loco, Plans Made To Spray Artesia With DDT From Air

Alvin G. Bland of Loco Hills, 28, is in the isolation ward of a Roswell hospital suffering what was definitely diagnosed Tuesday to be a poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) the first case of the disease reported in Eddy County in many years.

He had not been feeling well Monday, when he was taken to the Roswell hospital.

Clarence E. Fischbeck, chairman of the local organization of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said an appeal has been made for the use of the organization's funds in the case, and that Fred Cole, treasurer, has been authorized to take care of the case.

Members of the medical fraternity say there is no need for the public to become alarmed, but that because of the epidemic of polio in other sections, especially Texas, where there are more than 400 cases of recent origin, precautions should be taken.

Mayor Oren C. Roberts said Wednesday that although the city has been using DDT the last 30 days to fight flies and mosquitoes, because of the spread of polio in the Southwest the city is making plans to spray the entire city by airplane.

He pointed out that particular care should be taken by individuals to eliminate flies and mosquitoes on their premises and that they should avoid crowds, stay out of congested areas, keep clean and healthy, and consult one's physician if not feeling well.

By way of spraying the entire city, Hazel Flying Service has offered to use its spraying equipped planes without charge.

Mayor Roberts said the present mosquito and fly menace is probably worse than it has been the last three years, brought on, no doubt, by the recent heavy rains followed by extremely hot weather.

He said the city is using the same method of dusting garbage cans and other likely breeding places of flies with DDT as in the last several years. City employees have been carrying out the program the last month, and an extra man has been on the job, doing nothing else besides dusting with DDT.

The mayor said that if the plans to dust the entire city are successful the administration must have the co-operation of all the people. In the meantime, he requested that all residents start dusting or spraying with DDT on their premises, especially around shrub and other likely breeding place, to which the city's equipment cannot get.

Members of the medical profession, appraised of the Bland polio case, pointed out that although this is not school time, authorities on the disease do not ordinarily advise the closing of schools when in session, pointing out that children come into closer contact one with another outside of school.

They said it is imperative to control flies, as it has been definitely found they can carry the polio virus. Garbage cans and outdoor toilets should be thoroughly sprayed with DDT for this purpose, the doc- (continued last page this section)

In the afternoon the good-willers visited at Weed and Bear Canyon Store, distributed souvenirs and prizes before continuing on to Cloudford for a banquet last evening, sponsored by the Cloudford Chamber of Commerce.

Some of the ambassadors of good will from Artesia stayed last night while others were housed in cabins at the mountain resort town.

Rotary Quiz On Tuesday Brings Little Of Value

Answers, some of them facetious, some serious, were given in a quiz Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon, conducted by Charlie Bullock, in which seven members were his unsuspecting pawns.

Most of the questions had to do with the development of Artesia, to which each person designated was to give a two-minute answer. But, in spite of the fact Luther E. Sharpe, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was a guest and the answers might have helped him in his job, the Rotarians went the other way for the most part and little of a constructive nature was forthcoming.

However, it was brought out that Artesia needs a new federal building, and that Artesia citizens should adopt a spirit of enthusiasm for the future and pride in the past.

The two-minute "speakers," in the order in which they responded, were J. S. Ward, John A. Mathis, Sr., Robert A. Waller, Frank Smith, A. R. Wood, A. L. Bert, and Neil B. Watson.

Rev. R. L. Willingham and F. M. (Bill) McGinty were welcomed into the club as "baby Rotarians" with a few well-chosen words by Clarence E. Fischbeck.

Proposed Gas Tax Discussed By City Dads

Members of the Artesia City Council said Wednesday they expected there would be considerable discussion at the regular council meeting last evening of the proposed gasoline tax, which was suggested at a meeting Monday of last week as a solution of the proposed paving program, which has been protested by more than 200 property owners.

Mayor Oren C. Roberts pointed out Wednesday that the so-called gasoline tax, if and when levied, will not be used to pay for any part of the cost of paving assessed against properties but will be built up into a surity fund against delinquent and defaulting paving certificates.

It has been erroneously understood, the mayor said, that the funds derived from a gasoline tax would be used to help defray the cost of paving. On the contrary it would merely provide a fund which would guarantee the bonds and would prevent their being discounted in the future, as was done a few years ago on a previous paving project.

By the use of the gasoline tax, the paving contractor could be paid in cash, thus saving perhaps 30 per cent in the cost to the taxpayers, it was pointed out at the council meeting last week.

It was indicated Wednesday the council would not at the meeting last night take definite action on the proposed gasoline tax or the paving proposal, but would hear arguments for and against the tax.

The mayor at the meeting last week asked the council men to sound out the sentiments of citizens and taxpayers of Artesia as to the propositions, saying the city body will be guided by the wishes of the people of Artesia.

Let's Finish Highway No. 83

DURING THE PAST YEAR to 18 months splendid progress has been made toward completing Highway No. 83 extending from the Texas line through Artesia and on west to link with Highway No. 70 just north of Alamogordo.

The highway east of Highway No. 70 from Alamogordo is a splendid piece of work. Although only a part of this has now been completed, the tunnel is being used and the balance of this route should be blacktopped as soon as possible. At the present time the highway extends east from Highway No. 70 to a point just south of High Rolls. The road from there to Cloudcroft is not too bad, but this route should be finished at the earliest possible date.

There, of course, is the highway from Cloudcroft on east to a point about two miles west of Elk to the forest line, which also must be completed before the route is blacktopped from Artesia west.

But Gov. Thomas J. Mabey has kept his promise to pave and complete as much of this state highway as belongs to the state. He has done everything that he said he would do regarding this highway. It is now paved from Artesia, or will be when the present project is finished, to just beyond Elk. The strip on the west end of the route has been finished up to the forest line road and it has been blacktopped.

It is now up to the federal government, of course, to finish the route. They did a fine job on part of the project, but more federal funds for forest roads will be necessary for the project to be completed.

We are sure that Governor Mabey will use whatever influence he can to endeavor to secure this project. Our members of Congress also will have to continue to work toward the securing of this project. We are sure that all of the citizens of Artesia, west of Artesia, and on across to where the highway links with Highway No. 70 will want to aid all they can.

Not only will this route be of great aid and help to the farmers, cattlemen, and ranchers in the Sacramento Mountains, but it will mean much to Artesia, Alamogordo, and to Las Cruces from the standpoint of tourist travel.

It can and will be a beautiful scenic route when it is completed and it will provide for a much cooler route across this part of the state in the summer.

We should all join hands to do all that we can possibly do to try to get the project completed. If we can make as much progress in the next 18 months, then the project can be completed under the administration of Governor Mabey if he is re-elected.

The work done this far has already been of a great help. It can be even a great help in the days and months ahead. And it can help develop the Sacramento Mountain summer resorts and give Cloudcroft its place in the sun as an ideal summer resort.—O.E.P.

Hazards On Highway

THE HIGHWAYS CONTINUE TO BE CLUTTERED with hazards—cars with little or no brakes; cars without taillights and those "one-eyed" cars, which are always a real danger.

We are sure that the Highway Patrol continues its efforts to eliminate these cars from the highways. But apparently there will have to be more effort put forth before the roads are free of them.

They are definitely a hazard and menace to the safety of all traveling the highways. And every individual traveling the highways should be sufficiently interested in his and her own safety and the safety of those in their cars not to drive cars at night unless they do have taillights and unless they have two good headlights.

We don't know just what the Highway Patrolmen can do to free the highways of the speed demons and those, who have no respect or regard for the safety of others, but some action is needed along those lines, too. These individuals continue to drive too fast on narrow mountain roads; they still continue to try to "hog" all of the road, and they seemingly have little regard for their own safety or the safety of others.

But about the only way that much can be accomplished is for a few arrests to be made and some heavy fines to be assessed. It is impossible for patrolmen to be everywhere at the same time, but it does appear more apparent daily that a little more drastic action is going to be necessary.

Those, who continue to ignore the rules of safety, are going to have to be required not only to observe safety rules and regulations but they also are going to have to be required to properly equip their cars with lights.

It may seem that officers and inspectors are being a little drastic, but at the same time every precaution employed may result in the avoiding or the eliminating of a serious accident and surely we are more interested in that than we are interested in granting or permitting some individuals to ignore the law.

After all the New Mexico law requires us to have our car under control at all times when we are operating it. We are responsible and we should accept that responsibility if we expect to enjoy the privilege of driving on New Mexico highways.—O.E.P.

Level Those Walks

WE HAVE NEVER SEEN A TOWN in which so much concrete is broken up and new concrete immediately poured in its stead.

This is no criticism of the practice, for the breaking up and relaying is by way of progress. And there should be a lot more of it done!

We could point out dozens of uneven concrete sidewalks, in both the downtown and residential areas, which should be replaced.

We recall a suit a number of years ago, when the heirs of a woman who fell and was injured in front of her own home on the sidewalk collected $7000 from the city because a brick in the sidewalk was a quarter inch above the general level.

In Artesia a quarter inch out of line is a small matter, for there are many places where the difference between two adjacent concrete blocks is as much as an inch or more. Each such place creates a stumbling block, which might cause someone to be injured.

Some of them are caused by tree roots, others because concrete was poured on unsettled or untamped filled dirt.

But whatever the cause of such places, they are dangerous. And, as we said, there should be more relaying of concrete in Artesia.—A.L.R.

Permanent Hospital Board

BEING MAYOR IS BAD ENOUGH AT BEST, and it is a thankless job, one which brings forth brickbats but few bouquets. And we believe in passing along bouquets when deserved. We receive enough brickbats ourself, not to know how much the bouquets are appreciated.

Mayor Roberts has started the ball rolling at the hospital by way of further improvements, for some of which past administrations are likewise entitled to bouquets, as well as one to him and the members of the City Council.

Through his and the City Council's efforts the cooling system at the hospital, which had not been working for several years because there was no permanent body to look after such things, is now back in shape, and at a very modest cost in money and hours. In fact, the cost was less than $200, we are informed.

The Sisters are busy administering to the sick and in the business end of the hospital. They know little about building engineering or maintenance and don't claim to.

But if we had a permanent board of businessmen, whose duty it would be to see to the maintenance of the hospital and its equipment, such things as an inactive cooling system would not long maintain.

Such a board should not necessarily be composed of councilmen, but should be responsible men who would be appointed by the administration, but would carry over as a permanent body, regardless of factions or any other affiliations.

If the board should feel that something need be done at the hospital, then it should so report to the City Council. Or if something need be added or should be purchased, the members should so report.

It is a simple matter. All that needs be done at this time is for the city dads to name such a board and start a precedent.—A.L.R.

Requires Some Work

FOR YEARS WE HAVE followed Boy Scout activities and work and watched group after group agree to sponsor a Boy Scout troop and then observed them forget and neglect this troop.

And the neglect of Scout troop committees may in some measure be responsible for the difficulty encountered in securing scoutmasters.

The success of Boy or Girl Scout troops depends on the volunteer workers, but that is no reason for the troop committees to forget the troop and make it necessary for the scoutmaster and his assistant to carry the load and to do whatever is to be done.

Troop committees as a rule meet only when it is necessary and let the troop get along as best it can. Its problems and its worries are all handled by the scoutmasters. That is not fair to the scoutmaster. The fact is that it is the responsibility of the troop committee to provide what the troop needs; to take many of these worries and problems off the hands of the scoutmaster; and to be ready and willing at all times to aid and help the troop and the troop always needs help.

Far too many members of troop committees accept an appointment on the committee and never intend to do anything about it. If they are not willing to give time to the Boy Scout troop, then they should not accept the appointment.

And if they are not going to take a genuine interest in the Boy Scout troop, then they should not be on the committee. There are troop committees and sponsoring organizations, of course, which do take a real and genuine interest in their troop. All sponsoring organizations and all members of troop committees should take an interest in the troop or they should not agree to sponsor a troop or agree to serve on a committee.

Don't expect the scoutmaster to do all the work—give him a helping hand and it not only makes his job easier but it makes the troop far more successful.—O.E.P.

 Artesia, New Mexico

Dear Sir:

The mosquitoes are back with us again in force.

Why is it that we cannot get our local and state health officials and the governor to do something about this menace? Some of us have tried time and time again without very much cooperation from the town of Artesia, to get a mosquito control project, but we could not get enough cooperation to get such a project put into force.

The mosquitoes you people have in Artesia are only a fraction of what we on the farms near the river have had to put up with for the last several years.

As this is an election year, we would have a better chance to get a project of this kind put into effect now than ever before. If the Democrats who are in office now wish to have our support and gratitude they would help us get such a project in force.

We know that by dusting or spraying the swamps along the river with DDT or some other mosquito control product it would be possible to control the mosquitoes here as they have done in other places.

If some of our state and county officials had to put up with what we on the farms have to, we would have no trouble in getting a control project set up. I would give a lot to see Governor Mabey out in my hay field for about 30 minutes. Yours very truly,
 Forrest Lee

Record Vacation Travel Foreseen For This Region

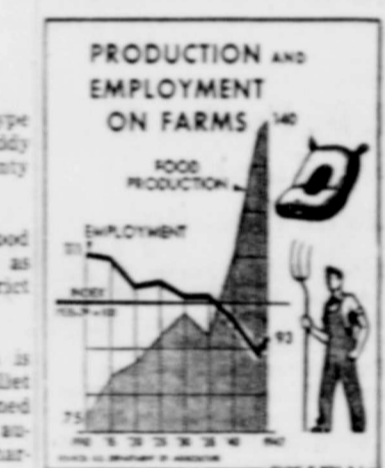

About 4,000,000 tourists are expected to visit Rocky Mountain resort areas this summer when Americans will "hit the road" in record-breaking numbers, according to a travel forecast by F. X. Daniels, manager of tire sales in this area for a national company.

Daniels predicted of the American Express Company, the American Automobile Association, the National Park Service, and other organizations interested in travel, "Already it is evident," he said, "that people are starting their touring season much earlier than ever before."

The report contained these highlights on the national vacation outlook:

The average vacationist will have to "budget" his vacation more carefully than in the first two postwar seasons, when pocketbooks were fatter. There will be nearly 7,000,000 more cars on the road than last year. More than one out of four motorists will make their overnight stops at motor courts, of which there are about 30,000 in the nation. Travel throughout the country's 28

MORE WITH LESS

DESPITE a decrease in the number of farm workers, food production has increased steadily as the land has been mechanized. Since 1915 the number of tractors on the farm has virtually tripled and oil-powered equipment for almost every type of job has come into use. During this period food production has increased to a point 40 percent above that in any peak year prior to this era of oil-powered mechanization.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. McDonald formally announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Emil Bach, Jr., at a tea given in the home of Mrs. Clyde Guy Sunday afternoon.

The wedding will take place, Wednesday, July 7, in the First Baptist Church with Rev. S. M. Morgan officiating. Mrs. McDonald announced that no written invitations have been issued, but that all friends are invited to attend.

The tea table was spread with a pink linen cloth. With satin streamers, with the gold inscription, "Emil and Elizabeth, July 7," were attached to a nosegay of spring flowers. This, with tall white tapers encircled with nosegays, formed an attractive centerpiece.

Cakes, decorated with lilies-of-the-valley, were served with fruit punch by Mrs. Glen Booker and Mrs. J. E. Wilburn. Sisters of the prospective bride and bridegroom, Wanda McDonald and Evelyn Bach, assisted the hostess at the table.

Miss Peggy Oliver, who will be maid-of-honor at the wedding, was in charge of the guestbook, which was decorated with a floral marker.

French Girl Becomes Bride Sunday Morning Of Clarence White Here

Miss Georgette Sauviat of Paris, France, married Clarence White Sunday morning in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. White with Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. White is the first foreign bride to marry a local boy in the United States. The marriage was the result of a meeting in Paris in 1946.

The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sauviat, live at 26 Rue Sadi Carnot in Paris.

The bride wore a pink gabardine dress fashioned with simple lines. She carried a white testament and wore a shoulder corsage of white gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. White attended the couple. Mrs. White was costumed in a navy blue ensemble with a red carnation corsage.

A reception was held in the Reed Brainard home after the wedding. A two-tiered wedding cake, decorated with pastel-colored wedding bells and tulips graced the lace laid table. A bouquet of pink carnations flanked by white tapers was the centerpiece.

Mrs. Sally R. Lanning presided at the crystal punch set and Mrs. Brainard served the cake to the group of friends and relatives.

The bride attended law school in Paris and graduated with a master's degree. She is now studying at the University of Indiana for a master's degree in economics. She arrived in the United States last August.

Conference On Parent Education To Be Held At Institute, Roswell

A parent education conference, sponsored jointly by the summer school of New Mexico Military Institute and the New Mexico Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, will be held next Wednesday at the institute in Roswell, it was announced by Mrs. George Wilcox of Roswell, chairman of parent education for the New Mexico council.

It will be held in the youth forum room at the institute from 8:20 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock. The meeting will be presided over jointly by Mrs. Wilcox and Col. John M. Kelly, director of the summer school.

Boys, Girls Who Work Need Social Security Cards

Boys and girls who are taking jobs in Artesia stores and cafes during the summer vacation need Social Security account number cards, and may obtain them by mail or personal application from the Social Security field office in Roswell, J. Hassler Strickland, manager announced.

A vacation worker who does not have a Social Security card should apply for one as soon as he has a definite job in prospect, and when he receives the card he should allow it to his employer promptly, Strickland said.

He reminded young workers who claim account cards for summer jobs last year that those cards are as good today as when issued; in fact one Social Security account number is all that a person should ever have. Anyone who has lost his card should apply immediately for a duplicate so he will receive the same number and ensure a correct account of his wages reported, which means full credit on his old-age survivors' insurance account, Strickland added.

When a girl marries, she should have the name changed on her Social Security card. She will have the same number only the name will be different. Strickland said a change-of-name application would be sent on request.

New Bulletin On Control Internal Parasites Is Out

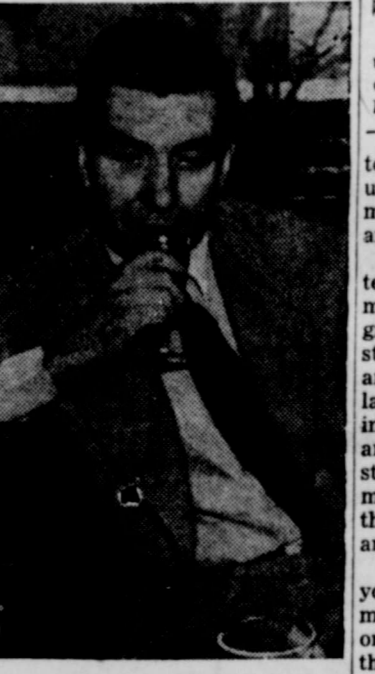

Internal parasites of livestock can be controlled to a highly rewarding degree, resulting in less waste of grain and other feeds and offering better opportunity to maintain sound foundation animals for future expansion of livestock production when grains are again plentiful, the U. S. Department of Agriculture said in announcing a new publication, "Save Grain by Controlling Internal Parasites."

The publication points out that internal parasites of livestock cause an annual 125-million-dollar loss, and brands these parasites as "the most treacherous of all livestock pests because their hidden work goes on day and night."

"At no time can farmers afford to support these parasites," the publication says. "Need for control is especially called for now because of the world-wide demand for food to feed people."

The leaflet outlines a series of treatments and other measures which will help control the most injurious species of internal parasites attacking sheep, cattle, horses, swine, and poultry. It advises farmers and ranchers about "the right control material and where to get it the correct formula to use, the proper method of treatment, and the time when parasites are most vulnerable."

Department specialists say internal parasites cause infested animals and poultry to require more grain and other feeds than healthy stock in order to produce the same amount of meat, milk, eggs, and related products. Internal parasites increase the number of deaths among young animals, frequently stunt survivors, cause marketed animals to be inferior, and often are the cause of condemnations of parts and carcasses.

Experiments have shown that young pigs exposed to an assortment of internal parasites gained only a third as much weight as their protected litter mates. Pigs with moderate infestation took nearly a pound of feed more for each pound of gain than did protected pigs, and required five weeks longer to reach market weight.

Sheep infested with parasites lost nearly a pound a week for 17 weeks while uninfested lambs gained 2.4 pounds weekly. Fairly well-protected, fattening steers gained weight 10 to 30 per cent faster than those not protected, and gave three to six times more dollar-return on the investment.

"Save Grain by Controlling Internal Parasites" will be available at the county extension agent's office, the state office of the Extension Service at the New Mexico A. & M. College, or from the USDA Office of Information, Washington 25, D. C. The bulletin was produced by the Department's Office for Food and Feed Conservation in cooperation with the Bureau of Animal Industry.

Avoid 'Fireside Touch' In Making Dresses At Home

All homemakers want their home-sewn garments to have a professional appearance, but more often than not their finished products have an obvious "fireside touch"—a term which clothing manufacturers use to describe incorrectly made clothing.

And, says County Home Demonstration Agent Wynona Swepston, many home-sewers can profit from clothing trade secrets which give finished garments the desired professional appearance.

A common dressmaking error is to cut cloth so that the grain does not fall perpendicular to the floor, says Miss Swepston. This error usually results from cutting material on round or narrow surfaces where the fabric will not lie flat.

Another hurdle to overcome is that of stretching the fabric while the garment is being constructed. Professional clothing-makers use machine-stitched "staylines" or reinforced lines around all necklines, armholes, shoulders, waists, and plackets. Staylines, which are sewed prior to assembling the garment, are placed just inside the seam line and are always stitched with the grain of the material.

Overhanding, the home agent explains, often causes garments to have a worn appearance before they are completed. To avoid this, Miss Swepston says, all details on each separate part of a dress should be finished before joining.

Pressing is best done as garment progresses. Blouse and skirt seams pressed separately before joining at the waistline will insure a better fit. Pressing along the grain prevents undue stretching.

"And if you're just a beginner in home-sewing," Miss Swepston suggests, "use simple patterns to start with—the more difficult ones are likely to discourage you."

HOW TO COLLAR A DOLLAR—AUTOMATICALLY! DO YOU have trouble collaring dollars? Do you find that after paying your bills and meeting your day-by-day expenses there aren't many dollars left to collar—to save for your future needs? If you do, here's a bit of good advice! Here's how to collar those dollars-for-the-future automatically! All you have to do is sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan! Then, regularly as clockwork, part of your earnings are put into U. S. Security Bonds. Automatically, you start to build financial security, to store up dollars for things you really want—like a home of your own, or college for your kids, or a healthy retirement fund. And the dollars you collar this way actually make more dollars. A $75 Bond will make 25 more dollars in just 10 years. You get back $100 in cash! These U. S. Security Bonds help stabilize prices. WISE SAVING means more SENSIBLE SPENDING... Fewer dollars go to market to bid up prices on scarce goods. And it's wise debt management, too. Every bond dollar that is built up in your Government's Treasury is used to retire a dollar of the national debt that is potentially inflationary. BUY U.S. SECURITY BONDS AMERICA'S SECURITY IS YOUR SECURITY!

'April Showers' Proves Topnotch Musical Comedy

A musical romance with a new flourish, laid in the nostalgic 1912 period against flamboyant San Francisco, accents Warner Brothers' musical piece, 'April Showers' with Jack Carson and Ann Sothern...

Besides the particular bustle of the period and its accompanying romantic drama which is presented, 'April Showers' also introduces a new Jack Carson. Usually associated with straight comic assignments, the performer reveals a fuller scope to his marked talent.

Young Bobby Ellis, who hails from radio, makes a good impression as the young son, bent on following the footlight. Robert Alda supplies the other member of the adult triangle, and also is called on for singing and dancing chores.

Running through the story is a series of excellent songs and acts, which LeRoy Prinz has created and staged with distinction. James V. Kern's direction is smooth and gets much out of the 1912 period.

Use Of Pressure Saucepan For Canning Possible

"Have you been wondering whether it is possible to use a pressure saucepan for canning? The answer is yes, if the saucepan meets certain requirements and if the processing time is lengthened sufficiently," says Miss Wynona Swepton, county home demonstration agent. "Some saucepans are made for cooking only, for they aren't tall enough to hold the tightly covered pint jars, on a rack," Miss Swepton explains. "So, first, be sure jars can be put on a rack in the saucepan and the lid securely fastened. Then next be sure the gauge is accurate. And last, allow a longer processing time than you do when using a pressure canner. "The reason for this is that the pressure sauce pan takes only five to six minutes to reach the desired pressure, while the pressure canner takes up to 20 minutes, and, also, the saucepan cools more quickly after the processing time has been counted off." "Therefore, the product you are

Have a Repertoire of Sauces And Any Food Will Be Tasty

By ALICE DENHOFF

THE best kitchen trick we know of is a good repertoire of sauces. For with the right sauce, perfectly prepared, just plain food becomes fine fare, and even company fare. Sauce takes in plenty of territory. Sauce is white sauce, brown sauce, gravy thickening; sauce is cooked berries or fruit (like rhubarb); sauce is a hot topping for vegetables, a hot or cold topping for puddings and other desserts; sauce is a concentrated splash of hotness (tabasco) or a pickley mixture for a meat dish.

Sauce may bring out the flavor of a dish, disguise the flavor or bring favor to dishes that require an extra something. So let's whip up a few sauces.

Pickle Sauce

A sweet-sour pickle sauce, good for hot or cold meats, is a good summer standby, especially one that takes well to storage. To prepare about one c. of sauce, place 1/2 c. vinegar, 6 whole cloves, 1/2 tsp. mace, 2-inch stick of cinnamon, 10 whole allspice, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/2 tsp. paprika in saucepan; bring to boil, and simmer for 5 min. Strain; add 1/2 c. gooseberry jam and 1/2 c. chopped fresh cucumber pickles. Mix 1/2 c. water and tap, cornstarch; stir slowly into jam mixture. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Keep stored in refrigerator, in a tightly-covered glass jar.

To prepare an excellent mock Hollandaise sauce, so good with fish or vegetables, pour one c. medium white sauce over 2 slightly-beaten egg yolks, 2 tsp. each of butter and lemon juice. Beat thoroughly. Serve immediately. If one cannot manage the rather tricky real Hollandaise, this is an excellent substitute.

Good With Fish

A nutty sauce that is good with fish, soft-shell crabs or meat, is made with 1/2 cup, chopped pickles, 1/2 cup, chopped olives, 1/2 c. parsley, 2 tsp. chopped Brazil nuts or almonds and 1/4 c. mayonnaise. This sauce will lend a fine chef air to the simplest fish or cold meat dish.

To dress up a bread or fruit pudding, mix 1/2 cup, cornstarch, 1/2 c. sugar and 1/2 tsp. salt thoroughly; then mix with one c. blended grapefruit and orange juice. Cook in saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened and clear. Remove from stove and add 2 tsp. orange marmalade. Serve hot or cold.

For Angel Cake

Angelic Coffee Sauce does sweet things for sponge or angel cake, transforming cake into a heavenly dessert. Mix together in top of double boiler, 1/2 c. sugar, 1/2 cup, each cocoa and flour, few grains of salt. Add slowly one slightly-beaten egg and one c. freshly-made, double-strength coffee; cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add 1/2 tsp. butter; cool. Fold in 1/2 c. cream, whipped.

Bananaise is very smooth on salads. Mix together one ripe banana that has been well mashed, 1/2 c. mayonnaise and 3 tsp. peanut butter. If too thick, add a little sweet cream. Makes about one c.

canning in a pressure sauce pan will not be sterilized thoroughly, if you follow the timetables for the pressure canner.

The following are the processing times for pint jars. Remember to process them at the same number of pounds pressure which you have been using to process vegetables in the pressure canner:

Asparagus, 45 minutes; lima beans, 55; snap beans, 40; beets, 45; carrots, 40; cream-style corn, 105; whole kernel corn, 75; okra, 45; peas, 60; cubed pumpkin, 75; strained pumpkin, 80; spinach, 65; summer squash, 50; dry-pack sweet potatoes, 85; wet pack sweet potatoes, 75.

Miss Swepton's suggestions for proper canning with the pressure saucepan: When canning vegetables by this method, be sure to choose the young, tender, fresh vegetables and can them promptly. Prepare only enough at one time to make processing load. Have the jars clean and hot, fill quickly with hot food, and cover tightly. Use a rack to keep jars off the bottom of the pan, and have one quart of water boiling in the pan.

Place hot jars in the saucepan, adjust the cover, allow steam to escape briskly from the vent for at least one minute, then close the vent and allow the pressure to increase to 10 pounds. Count time exactly from the moment the desired pressure is reached. At the end of the processing time, remove the saucepan from the heat and allow it to cool normally until pressure has returned to zero.

If the saucepan has a weighted gauge, nudge the gauge slightly if no steam escapes when the gauge is lifted slightly, pressure is down, and the saucepan may be safely opened.

For other information on canning vegetables, ask the county agent for Extension Circular 216, "Canning Vegetables."

Tenants Operate Only Fourth Of Farms In Nation, Survey Shows

Tenants operated a little more than a fourth of the nation's farms in 1947, according to a Bureau of Agricultural Economics survey. The figure of 26.9 per cent, representing tenant-operated farms, compares with the 31.7 per cent of agriculture shown by the 1945 census of agriculture. Each year since the peak of 42.4 per cent in 1930, the proportion of tenancy has declined. The figures are based on interviews with 15,000 farmers.

The survey also indicates that somewhat less farm land was operated under lease—21.6 per cent in 1947, compared with the 1945 figure of 22. per cent. At the same time, the proportion of land operated by part owners increased from 32 to 36 per cent, and that operated by full owners and managers declined from 45 to 42 per cent.

According to the survey, considerable land is owned by farm operators but is rented to others. In 1947, land was rented to someone else by 14.5 per cent of the full owner operators, 8.9 per cent of the part owners, 8.9 per cent of the managers, and 2.3 per cent of the tenants.

"Doc sure has something there!"

It's no trick at all, Doc tells me, to take out an appendix. The tough job, he says, and the important one is knowing whether it is the appendix that's causing the trouble. Same way with cars. Anybody who calls himself a mechanic can fix cars when somebody tells him what's causing poor performance. But the fellow who can spot the complaint right off—without costly, time-wasting guesswork and experimenting—there's a real serviceman. And that's the only kind we have at our Dodge and Plymouth headquarters here. Fact is, our boys are so skilled and experienced that they don't even think they know it all. A Invites Bids for New 500-Bed Denver Hospital

The Veterans Administration has invited bids on the new 500-bed Denver Veterans Hospital.

Scaled bids must be submitted to the VA in Washington by Aug. 27, and contracts will be let shortly thereafter. Interested contractors may secure plans and specifications which will be available June 29 by writing the Veterans Administration, Room 1810, Munitions Building, Washington 25, D. C.

Plans call for the main hospital building to be of brick exterior, 120 feet high (nine to 10 floors), of reinforced concrete and modern in every respect, with a total area of 4,180,000 cubic feet. This structure is to be built on General Rose Memorial Hospital.

Other buildings, on which bids are also invited, will be located to the north of the main building, and include a manager's residence, an apartment building, a nurse's quarters, an attendants' building, and a boiler house.

Bids may be submitted on these structures separately or in groups. Additional bids are invited on elevators, dumbwaiters, refrigerating equipment, a 185-foot chimney, a coal silo and utility structures. Plans for the hospital are being prepared by the Veterans Administration in Washington and construction will be under VA supervision. It is estimated the hospital will be ready for occupancy in about two years.

Widow May Be Eligible For Further Benefits

A widow who has previously received some Social Security payments based on her husband's wage record, may be eligible for further benefits when she becomes 65 years old if she has not remarried, says J. Hassler Strickland, manager of the Roswell Social Security field office.

This applies, he said, to a widow who received a lump-sum payment at the time of her husband's death, and also to one who received monthly payments while minor children were in her care. As soon as she is 65, she should inquire about benefits at her nearest Social Security office, Strickland, continued.

Inquiries may be made in Artesia from 10 o'clock to noon each second and fourth Tuesday where a representative from the Roswell office will be in the New Mexico State Employment Service office. He will assist persons in filing claims, applying for Social Security account numbers, or getting correct information about all phases of the Federal old age survivors insurance program, the manager announced.

Worm Problem In Poultry Flock Few Aware Of

Intestinal worms are a major problem in the poultry industry. There is hardly a flock in this country that is untouched by the worm problem. And yet the vast size of the worm menace is not well-recognized by many poultrymen.

It isn't easy to tell at a glance which birds of your flock are wormy. The outward signs of worm infection vary considerably. Birds with light infections may appear to be perfectly healthy; actually a fowl is little harmed by a few worms. However, if the worms are allowed to multiply, the host bird will soon show symptoms. Common among these are stunted growth, emaciation, poor appetites and ruffled feathers.

The commonest, most frequently seen worm in chickens is the large roundworm. This worm is common to every region where chickens are raised. The large roundworm reproduces amazingly—one female may lay 50 million eggs during her lifetime. The eggs are laid in the intestines of the host chicken. They pass out in the droppings and under favorable conditions they may become infectious within 10 to 16 days.

If a chicken picks up the infectious egg, the young worm within the shell hatches in the intestinal tract and begins development in the lining or wall of the intestine.

OTHER WORMS

Among other kinds of worms that are frequently found in poultry are several species of tapeworms. They range in size from those so tiny they can hardly be seen to the big fellow, 8 to 10 inches long.

The cecal worm is another intestinal worm which is of great economic importance. It is the carrier of the organism that causes blackhead in turkeys.

Less Than $14 Will Reinstate $10,000 In NSLI

For less than $14 the average World War II veteran can reinstate the full amount of his $10,000 National Service Life Insurance term policy regardless of how long a time it has been lapsed.

For even less money, he can reinstate any part of the policy, should he not wish to carry the full $10,000.

The figures were released by Carl F. Grumm, VA regional insurance officer for New Mexico, to counteract an opinion prevalent among veterans that a substantial sum of money is required to put a lapsed NSLI term policy back in effect.

Even though the policy has been lapsed for a period of years, the law requires the payment of only two monthly premiums and a statement of health acceptable to the administration to effect complete reinstatement. The first premium covers the month in which the policy lapsed and the second one the month in which reinstatement is made. The interim period is forgiven.

As the average GI was 26 at the time his insurance was issued, a reinstatement of the full $10,000 can be made in his case upon payment of two $6.80 premiums or $13.60. Younger veterans will have to pay a proportionately less sum while older veterans will pay a slightly higher rate.

Should the veteran desire to reinstate only $1,000 of his policy, the amount necessary will average about $1.36 Krumm said.

VA contact representatives can supply full information to all veterans interested.

Price Trends To Be Discussed At Cattle Meet

New Strain of Corn Withstands Drouth

Guatemala Crossbreed Also Resists Root Rot

Possibility of producing corn that would withstand root rot and other diseases as well as prolonged dry spells appealed to Earl E. May and Iowa State college officials.

Knowing that Guatemala had been producing corn for more than 2,000 years in an isolated region, which had resulted in a highly inbred strain which could withstand dry spells as well as certain diseases and pests, Iowa research workers collected

Jim Moore, KMA, and Enrique Salas inspecting Guatemala corn field.

1,200 varieties of corn from Central America.

New Guatemala-U.S. crossbred corn has been tested at Ames, Iowa. The new corn outyielded three commonly used U.S. hybrids as much as 25 bushels to the acre. While the Midwest varieties withered and died during hot weather, the Guatemala-U.S. crossbreed remain in full ear. College officials believe that early results give promise of a new strain that will withstand long dry and hot spells in any part of the United States. James Moore, K.M.A. station, reports that work in Guatemala has proven entirely successful and he believes that the new corn soon will be grown on many farms in the United States.

Organic Matter Will Aid Work of Soil Bacteria

A single ounce of soil contains 50 million living bacteria, according to R. C. Thomas of the Ohio agricultural experiment station.

These bacteria can help or harm.

G. W. Evans, Magdalena, president. He will discuss the future price trends which may be expected by the western livestock industry.

More than 400 ranchers representing every part of the state are expected to attend the meeting to discuss problems currently confronting the livestock industry. Matters which will receive careful attention include proposed Bangs disease control measures, eradication of predatory animals, assessed valuation on land and livestock for taxation purposes, proposals to consolidate the Sheep and Cattle Sanitary Boards, and the continued threat of foot and mouth disease, Evans said.

S. E. Kleinheim of the Interstate Commerce Commission will report on the current outlook for stock cars for railroad shipments of cattle this fall. Other features on the program include reports by A. D. Brownfield, Deming, on the Hope Agricultural Bill, and by Albert K. Mitchell, Albert, on the current foot and mouth disease situation in the republic of Mexico. Ed Heringa, Clayton, president of the Union County Livestock Association will report on activities of his group. Raymond Huff, Clayton, superintendent of the Clayton public schools, has been invited to review growth of educational facilities in Union county.

Bryant Edwards, Henrietta, Texas, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association will discuss problems before Texas livestock producers, Evans said.

Early Growth Stressed In Raising Baby Pigs

While the average weight of eight-week-old pigs is probably less than 30 pounds, a lot of pigs weigh 40 pounds or more at this age. On the contrary, many weigh as low as 20 pounds. These variations in weaning weights have a marked effect on the growth-rate of pigs up to the time they are baconers. The bigger pigs at eight weeks old are the first to reach 200 pounds liveweight.

Hog Self-Feeder

A portable hog feeder is a piece of labor saving equipment which has a place on every farm where hogs are being raised. The capacity of this feeder is 55 bushels, but it may be made of any size desired. If it is kept well painted it will remain water tight.

Culling Pays Dividends To Poultry Producers

Regular culling pays dividends, but many poultry farmers are unable to carry out the procedure because of pressure of other duties. However, as the moulting season approaches, it will be seen that a percentage of the flock commences to moult earlier than others, and it is these early moulters that should be segregated and sent off to market at first opportunity.

Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association will discuss problems before Texas livestock producers, Evans said.
