

Artesia Is To Have Airline Service Soon

Artesia will be on an airline by the first of November, possibly sooner, Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, declared today noon at the monthly meeting of chamber members on the acquisition of the airline service. He said Pioneer Air Lines is filing with the Civil Aeronautics an application for the stop that Artesia's application has already been docketed. Artesia's exhibits are to be in the hands of the CAB by Sept. 7, the hearing on the application will be the latter part of that month or the early part of October, Manager Sharpe said. He said that with both the city and the airline asking for the stop, the CAB will act favorably to give Artesia a commercial airplane out-postoffice situation here will be made in the near future. The manager said the board of the Chamber of Commerce is working hard on the housing problem for Artesia and promises to have it solved this year. He reported the survey has been made for the building of the new highway between Artesia and Carlsbad on No. 285 and that it has been approved by Gov. Thomas J. Mabry and the State Highway Commission. It will follow the old right-of-way south of Artesia the first 12 miles and then will follow the contour of the hills but will be approximately the same as the present highway. However, it will deviate a little at some places. Manager Sharpe said he believes the work on the project will start by fall. He discussed also State Highway 83, which it is hoped to make a federal highway. The Artesia Lions Club has a committee working on that project, Manager Sharpe said, and the board of the Chamber of Commerce will work with the committee. Charles Gaskins, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting, which was attended by about 40 members.

At Clovis, Roswell, Almagordo, and Las Cruces between the terminal points. However a temporary permit has been given the line to stop at Roswell and return to Amarillo, as the airport at Almagordo has dirt runways and is inadequate for the DC-3 planes the line uses. It is possible that is and when Artesia is made a stop the planes will continue on direct to El Paso, or they may then go by way of Las Cruces until such time as facilities are adequate at Almagordo. In any event, it was indicated, the planes will fly between Amarillo and El Paso, with Artesia as a regular stop. The Chamber of Commerce manager said that when he was in Washington, D. C., recently working on the airline problem, he discussed with Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico the recent news releases in which it was disclosed Artesia is in line for a postoffice to cost $320,000. Manager Sharpe reported that in the conversation he pointed out to Senator Chavez that the building should include also federal offices and requested that an appropriation of three-quarters of a million dollars be considered. Senator Chavez promised a new survey of the federal building and

Mosquitoes Are Nuisance, But Flies Are Real Health Menace

Although mosquitoes are a great nuisance, flies are the real menace to health and drastic steps should be taken to eliminate them, Leslie D. Beadle, entomologist with the United States Public Health Service, who has been investigating the current unusual plague of the two insects, declared Tuesday evening at a special meeting of the Artesia City Council. Beadle's headquarters are in Atlanta, Ga., and he works for the Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center. He was sent to Artesia through the efforts of Senator Carl A. Hatch, after Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, while in Washington, D. C., advised the senator of the great numbers of mosquitoes and flies here at this time. The entomologist termed the fly the most dangerous animal in the United States, which is responsible for transmitting intestinal disorders. Asked about flies transmitting polio, Beadle said it is not known they are responsible, but they definitely do transmit dysentery. In the permanent control of flies, Beadle said, garbage cans, outdoor toilets, and other breeding places should be sprayed regularly with DDT. John D. Josey, Jr., city supervisor, said the city has been spraying garbage cans about three months this season.

As an emergency measure, Beadle recommended that the city purchase a good sprayer and treat places where flies are found, especially in alleys and at outdoor toilets. He suggested that dairies in the community be allowed to use such city equipment. Beadle said the vast numbers of mosquitoes in this locality came as a result of the heavy rains the latter part of May and first of June, which caused certain types to hatch. Although the mosquito which is common here lays its eggs in water, the present flood water pests are of different varieties, which lay their eggs in damp soil. Then when it rains and the water stands seven to 10 days at the places where the eggs have been laid, the wrigglers hatch and develop into adult mosquitoes. He said it is possible the rain Monday night will bring about another stand of those types, if the water stands a week to 10 days. The type of mosquito more common here at all times lays its eggs in standing water, the entomologist said. He pointed out that water in irrigation ditches, especially when there is ample vegetation for protection, is a common breeding place for the mosquitoes. The principal source of the flood water mosquitoes so common the last month is the salt cedar flats, Beadle said. (continued on last page)

Fatal Accident Mars Otherwise Quiet Fourth

An otherwise quiet Fourth of July week end in the Artesia area was marred by a truck accident, in which a Spanish-American woman was killed and a dozen others were injured. Mrs. Gregorio Cortez, 57, of Artesia was instantly killed when the truck, driven by her son, Andrew Cortez, went out of control about 15 miles east of Artesia on Highway 83 and overturned several times and scattered about 15 persons on and along side the highway. No one witnessed the accident, Guy R. Copeland of Lubbock, who was not far behind the Cortez truck, topped a hill in time to see bodies still rolling. He said bodies were scattered along the highway, several bleeding badly, and that he thought at first more than one person was killed. As other cars arrived at the scene, the body of Mrs. Cortez and some of the most severely injured were loaded into a pick-up and brought to Artesia. State Patrolman C. S. McCasland, who investigated the accident, said all occupants of the truck had been brought to Artesia and the truck had been dragged off of the highway when he arrived at the scene, but that marks on the highway shoulder and paving, as well as numerous pools of blood, gave a fairly clear picture of what had happened. He said the truck, which was being driven towards Artesia, was on a downgrade, when it left the highway on the left side, just beyond a culvert. After all wheels had left the pavement, marks in the shoulder gravel indicated, the driver had cut hard right and the front of the truck had swung back on the pavement, when it whipped over and rolled several times. Patrolman McCasland said the truck traveled 60 yards from the place it left the pavement until it overturned, and that it went 25 yards more before overturning. He said there were no tire marks on the pavement before the truck went onto the shoulder and no tires were blown out, indicating Cortez may have dozed off a moment and awakened after the truck was on the gravel. The bobtail truck, loaded with the Spanish-Americans, most of whom live in this community, was returning from Texas, where they had been chopping cotton. Eight of the occupants were hospitalized and four others received emergency treatment at Artesia Memorial Hospital and were dismissed. It was thought Saturday night three of the most seriously injured had little chance to live. However, all are doing nicely now, including Manuel Said, 23, whose mangled leg was amputated at the hip Saturday night. The other two who were most critically injured were Ramona Cortez, 15, daughter of the dead woman, and Delia Aguilar, both of whom sustained skull fractures. Also hospitalized were Emelio Rodriguez, who at first was thought to have a spine injury, but is now believed to be doing all right; Ramon Cortez, fracture of left arm; Loretta Cortez, who was X-rayed for a possible skull injury, but who has now been dismissed; Dominga Cortez, 11, lacerations, and Ramona Saiz. Andrew Cortez, Ramon Perrez, Margaret Saiz, and Frank Saiz all received emergency treatment. How many others were in the truck has not been determined accurately, but the total number was at least 15, possibly more. Officers said no other accident over the week end, not even crumpled fenders, and that everything

Members Youth Caravan Speak At Rotary Meet

A splendid program was presented Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club lunch by two young women of the Westminster Fellowship youth caravan, which is in Artesia this week under the auspices of the First Presbyterian Church. Miss Katherine Longstreet of Webster Grove, Mo., who has just graduated from high school, spoke briefly on the theme that the most abundant and only way of life is the Christian way. A person in business, she said, who is interested only in his business is not doing his complete job, for each should serve others. Miss Louanna Beattie of Amarillo, a junior at Pamona (Calif.) College, spoke largely about the recent conference at Oslo, Norway, of young people representing various churches in 71 countries, whose purpose it was to promote a general Christian fellowship throughout the world. "It is important to realize the things we have in common, not the differences," Miss Beattie said, in pointing out that there should be less pessimism in the world, when it is realized how people can get together. The young speakers were introduced by Rev. Ralph O'Dell, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, who was also a guest of the club. Martin Yates, Jr., who completed his year as president of the club last week, was presented a past president's pin by Chuck Aston, another past president, in behalf of the club. Boone Barnett, president for the 1948-49 club year, took over the leadership of the club at the meeting this week.

B.P.O. Does Deal Neat Uppercut To The Weather

The B.P.O. Does gave the weather a neat uppercut with their "come-as-cool-as-you-can" party held in the Elks Club Wednesday evening of last week. A large table was spread with cold cuts of meat, salads, potato chips, and the usual assortment of appetizing tidbits used at a buffet supper. A fishing pond was another attraction, with Mrs. Charlie Morgan, Does president, and her daughter, Charlene, in charge. Dancing was the main feature of the evening with Mrs. H. A. Hazel on the violin and Pot Bert at the piano, furnishing music for dances such as Paul Jones, broom, and ladies' tag. Mrs. Hazel called the turns during folk dancing. A short business meeting was held prior to the party for the purpose of presenting membership bids and discussing future plans for the Does meetings. Mrs. Stanley Jones, attired in a four-piece play suit, was voted the coolest dressed person present. She was presented an electric ice cream freezer. Mrs. Jones demonstrated that the play suit could be worn on the street with the full skirt and jacket or at play with just the halter and shorts. Besides the members' husbands, a few members of the Carlsbad Does and their husbands were present, which made about 40 in all. The next meeting of the Does will be Wednesday, July 14. All members are urged by Mrs. Morgan to attend as plans affecting everyone will be presented.

Conference On Juveniles Planned Here At Meeting

An initial discussion on the formation of a conference on juvenile delinquency was held Friday morning at the Ocotillo Theater by a group of local men, in conjunction with the showing of a motion picture released by the Department of Justice, showing why and how such a conference should be formed in every community. The meeting was called by Ray Bartlett, manager of the local theater, who is state chairman in the movement, which is being forwarded throughout the nation by theater operators and owners. With Rev. Ralph O'Dell serving as chairman, a short discussion was held, with plans made to organize the community for a conference, probably to be held in September, the month in which similar conferences are to be held in all the states. The motion picture showed the formation of a conference, started by a general meeting of the community leaders, business and professional men and women, clergymen, social workers, police officers, and others. After the general meeting, the group was broken up into panels, each of which tackled some phase of youth activities, designed to prevent or eliminate delinquency. It was indicated at the meeting Friday morning a similar procedure will be carried out here, but on a smaller scale, as there are not as many problems involved as were shown in the movie, taken in a large city.

Inch Rain Monday Brings '48 Total To 9.46 Inches

A downpour Monday night, coming after a violent windstorm and accompanied by a terrific electrical display, gauged exactly an inch by the gauge of the Southern Union Gas Company and brought to 9.46 inches for the year through Wednesday afternoon, of which 8.46 fell during the first half of 1948. The rain Monday night, which started shortly before midnight at Artesia, was much heavier in some other localities, with residents of the oil fields reporting as much as two or three inches, and about 3 inches at Hagerman. Roswell and Carlsbad each had approximately a half inch. Although no press dispatches had been received up to Wednesday afternoon, it is believed a tornado hit somewhere east or south-east of Artesia, perhaps 40 to 50 miles away, for observers at Artesia municipal airport reported they watched a typical twister in that general locality about 10 minutes, starting at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. The funnel, they said, reached down from one of a long line of cumulus clouds and seemed to be moving in a northeasterly direction. June had the greatest amount of precipitation at Artesia during the first half of 1948, the gas company's gauge recording a total of 4.09 inches. Of that 3.75 inches fell on June 1, on top of 1.90 inches the last day of May, or a total of 5.65 for the two days. Precipitation during the last month: June 1, 3.75 inches; June 11, .07; June 18, .08; June 25, .10; June 28, .09; total 4.09 inches. The precipitation by months for the first half of the year: January, 1.80 inches; February, .30; March, .10; April, .20; May, 1.97; June 4.09; total, 8.46 inches. CARPER-BOOKER GIRLS GO TO DEXTER TONIGHT The Carper-Booker girls' softball team will play Dexter in Dexter tonight in a return game. A return game with the Thayer Apartments girls' baseball team from Carlsbad is scheduled for Monday evening in Artesia.

Trio Charged With Duress In Girl's Marriage

Two young Spanish-American men were arraigned Wednesday afternoon before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey on a charge of duress of a woman to compel marriage, and their father was to be arraigned on a similar charge this morning. On their pleas of not guilty Alford and Elisio Torres were committed to the county jail in default of $1000 bond each to await preliminary hearing. At the time of their arraignment a warrant for the arrest of their father, Dave Torres had been issued. It is alleged that the three used duress to compel the marriage of a young Anglo woman to Alford Torres. Officers alleged the young woman was picked up here Saturday night by the men and taken to Roswell, from where they went Sunday to Socorro and she married Alford under duress. Emil Bach, who last evening married Elizabeth McDonald, on Tuesday evening celebrated his coming marriage by pitching a two-hit game for REA and knocking the longest home run of the softball season to date, as REA shut out Artesia Shoe 13-0 and held first place in the league. In the first game Tuesday evening NuMex defeated Lake Arthur 10-8 in an eight inning game. VFW won over the Westerners 17-3. defeated NuMex 14-11 and Lake Arthur romped on Artesia Shoe 17-8. Scheduled for tonight are Westerners vs. Artesia Shoe and Lake Arthur vs. VFW. Friday's games are to be VFW vs. NuMex and Westerners vs. REA. Only one game is scheduled for next Tuesday evening, Lake Arthur vs. REA, when the first half of the season will close. The league standings to date:

Tax Commission Approves City Budget For Next Fiscal Year

Members of the State Tax Commission met with the City Council last week and approved a budget for the city of Artesia covering its requirements for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949. The commission approved the budget as submitted by the council for the general fund in the sum of $142,600. Of this amount $136,750 will be raised from occupation tax, liquor licenses, permits, and the like, leaving a balance of $5850 to be raised from taxes. The assessed valuation of the City for tax purposes is $3,385,026, which is an increase over the previous year of $501,330. Included in the general fund budget is $20,500 for the purchase of new equipment and $15,000 for emergency street and road work. The tax rate will not be increased over the previous year. The budget for retirement of bonds was $4000 and for interest on the general bonded indebtedness $1148, both of which amounts will be raised through taxation. The budget for the operation of the Water Department was set at $116,320, which includes a transfer from the water to the general fund in the sum of $15,000 and for the retirement of water and sewer revenue bonds and interest totaling $19,320. Income from the Water Department will be sufficient to cover the budget and no part of the water budget will be raised through taxation. The commission said the city of Artesia is in a very sound financial condition. Legion Recommends Central Committee Be Increased To Nine Members of the American Legion voted at the monthly meeting Tuesday evening to recommend to the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Disabled American Veterans that each organization have three instead of two members on the central committee of the United Veterans Club. Commander Don Bush explained this would make a total of nine members on the central committee, an odd number, which would make it possible to avoid tie votes in matters concerning the group. A 30-year membership card was presented to Wade Cunningham, in recognition of 30 years of continual membership in the organization. The presentation was made by Bill Keys. Acknowledgment was made by Commander Bush of the receipt of a citation for the post's participation Boys State this summer at El Rito.

Accidents Happen More Often In Haying Season

During the haying season, accidents to farm people happens most frequently, says Dallas Rierison county agent. Haying machinery is especially dangerous, because it is usually operated with high speed gears and cutting machines, he said. To reduce hazards and thus avoid losses, Rierison suggests the following safety steps: Carefully check all equipment for defective hitches, ropes, pulleys, lifts, hay racks or ladders. Loft floors should be put in good repair and hay chutes guarded. Make starts and stops gradually in all starting operations and watch out for falls from hay racks, hay stacks, and hay mows. Machinery should be stopped and thrown out of gear before oiling, adjusting, or unclogging, and safety guards should be kept in place at all times. (continued on last page)

Social Security Man To Be Here Tuesday Morning

Families which do not know the protection given them under the Social Security program often lose money because they fail to claim it, said J. Hassler Strickland, manager of the Roswell Social Security office as he invited survivors of wage earners in Eddy County to inquire about possible benefits. He announced that a representative of the Roswell office will be at New Mexico State Employment Service office in Artesia next Tuesday morning, July 13, to answer inquiries about the federal old-age and survivors' insurance program, and to assist eligible workers or their survivors in filing claims. Most workers are familiar with old-age retirement provisions of the program, Strickland said, but many widows who fail to file claims until the have lost payments say that they were never told about the protection for survivors. The field office manager explained that monthly Social Security payments can be made retroactively. (continued on last page)

Communism In U. S. A.

THE SUBJECT OF COMMUNISM is becoming a more and more discussed topic each day in the nation because of the efforts and attempts of this organization to continue its growth and expansion.

There appears to be a greater realization in America that all Americans must combat this movement in every way possible if its spread is to be halted. Americans are beginning to realize that with the Communist active and working in every way possible that they too must go to work.

The Committee on Un-American Activities, U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C., has now issued some five bulletins on Communism. Those who desire to secure this information and to inform themselves on Communism, can write and secure copies of these bulletins. In this way they can secure and obtain full information. Each one of the bulletins lists one hundred things you should know about Communism, and then deals with a particular topic such as religion, education, labor, government and the U. S. A.

These bulletins are available to those who may desire to secure them. All they need to do is write the above committee and copies will be mailed out to those individuals requesting them.

Some of the questions and answers concerning Communism, the committee points out, will shock the citizen who has not examined Communism closely. Most of the answers will infuriate the Communists.

The booklet on Communism in the U. S. A. clears up two points, which are frequently asked by many citizens regarding whether Communism can be a third political party just like the Democrats or the Republicans. It is explained that this cannot prove to be the case because the party is dominated and controlled and takes its orders from Moscow.

The second point is just why the Communist party and members of the Communist party, which believes in the overthrow of the government by violence, cannot be handed under the treason laws of the United States.

Our Constitution says that "treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court."

The present attack on the part of Communist is called a "cold war," rather than an active war, and as a result their present actions are not covered under the Constitution.

But Communism has grown since 1919 from just an idea to an organization of approximately 20,000,000 people in a world of 2,295,125,000 people. In other words one person in 115 is a Communist on a world basis. But about 200,000,000 directly; 200,000,000 more indirectly and an additional 250,000,000 are under daily Communist pressure to surrender.

Communism today controls or governs some 12 countries; it controls important regions of five other countries and is concentrating on immediate capture of seven other countries. It has plans to seize every country in the world including the United States.

Yes, it is time that Americans awake to the situation and learn about Communism, its plans, and its program.

And when we know about Communism and what it seeks to do we are in a position to halt its program and to stop its activities.—O.E.P.

Pave That Ramp

THE ALMOST CERTAINTY that Artesia will have airline service before cold weather calls for immediate action in completing the things which will be necessary at our splendid municipal airport.

We have some of the finest runways and taxi strips in the nation, ample for any ship to land and take off. But we do not have a paved apron, an absolute necessity if and when the first commercial airplane is set down at Artesia.

The present apron is gravel and serves fairly well for the light, single-engine planes which belong here and those which drop in. But even they are hampered from a service standpoint at the occasional times when it rains.

And it goes without saying that no commercial plane will pick up or set off passengers on a muddy strip or apron.

one of high horsepower, will cause the propeller to pick up gravel, which in turn can do considerable damage to the costly propeller. And the revved-up props kick up intolerable dust and dirt.

Paving of the apron is an immediate must for Artesia. Some other things which need being done for airline service are not as pressing. But let's pave that ramp now.—A.L.B.

School Building Problem

ARTESIA IS FORTUNATE in that Tom Mayfield has been given a five-year contract as superintendent of schools.

But the community is likewise fortunate in that he had tendered his resignation before the new contract was offered, for through that action some of the problems confronting the schools were brought to light.

When a committee of citizens met last week to try to formulate a plan to present to the Board of Education whereby Tom could be enticed to remain here, it was brought out that Artesia will need many more schoolrooms in the not too far distant future and ways and means of financing the building program must be found and worked out.

It was discovered that Tom Mayfield, during the one year he has served here, has been working on that problem, one which had been dumped in his lap a year ago, and one which would have to be dumped into the lap of another were he to leave.

A few of the civic leaders had realized, Artesia must look ahead to a great expansion in the school program within the next few years. But the general public did not know it.

So we say that Artesia is fortunate not only because Tom is to remain on the job, but that he tendered his resignation first, through which many more people than previously realize what is ahead and what a job the superintendent has and will have.—A.L.B.

If Bought At Home

IF ALL THE MONEY, which is spent outside of Artesia for ladies' ready-to-wear were spent in Artesia it could build and provide the finest ladies' ready-to-wear store to be found anywhere in this section.

That, of course, is not only true about ladies' ready-to-wear but it is true about all other merchandise and all other products, which are bought elsewhere.

For years there has been a belief, which we felt is more or less of a myth, that better goods can be bought elsewhere. We have created the idea that if we buy it in some city or some other community that it is better.

That, of course, is a rather baseless and foolish idea. Because very frequently we buy elsewhere the very things that we can find at home. In fact oftentimes it is the same product manufactured or made by the same company.

And our ideas about buying it cheaper also prove just about as unusual. There may be times and occasions when we buy for less but the cost is as great or greater if we consider the cost involved in making the purchase or consider the expenses in connection with our visit to the other city.

That, of course, is not the point. The point is that when we can and do buy the item, articles, product, or merchandise at home then we keep our money at home. Our money continues to circulate here and to serve this community. It continues to help build this community.

The mere fact that we can cross a state line, escape paying the sales tax and save a little isn't helping our community or our state. In paying our sales tax we are paying taxes for the operation of our schools. And we are either going to pay that tax in a sales tax or we are going to pay it some other way. In the final analysis we have to provide the funds with which to operate and maintain our schools.

It is the money we spend at home, which helps to build our community and our city, not that which we spend elsewhere.—O.E.P.

Publicize The Best

NEW MEXICO does a great deal of boosting and advertising of the state but some of our out-of-state friends are beginning to question whether we are publicizing the best things we have or some of the things, which should be forgotten.

Wesley S. Izard, editor of the Amarillo, Texas, newspaper is rather convinced we should place more emphasis on the fine writing of Eugene Manlove Rhodes and give less publicity to the fact that Billy the Kid roamed New Mexico as an outlaw.

Editor Izard declares that Rhodes is the finest Western writer who ever lived and he feels that New Mexico should not only tell the world he lived and wrote in New Mexico but that he produced such fine writing. He even feels the state should launch a campaign to see there are some reprints of his many fine books, pointing out that it is very difficult today to secure copies of some of his splendid books.

And despite the fact that Editor Izard is from Texas, we believe he has a fine suggestion. There are probably many other fine things we could and should publicize.

Certainly we have given too much prominence to Billy the Kid and his activities in the state. Today his grave is marked with a fine monument and hundreds visit it every year. But the man, Pat Garrett, who freed the state of this outlaw, sleeps in a neglected and forgotten cemetery in Las Cruces. There is no fine monument to mark his grave; no tribute is made to him for the fine job he did; and his memory is not honored as a useful citizen and a fine peace officer.

It certainly would be far better to honor his memory than the memory of the outlaw he killed. It would be far better to honor Eugene Manlove Rhodes and to encourage the republishing of some of his books and of encouraging the reading of his writings than it is to continue to boast that this is the land of Billy the Kid.

The suggestion made by Editor Izard is a good one and one that the state should accept and follow. We have too many fine things to publicize and to employ in boosting the state to waste our time and the time of the public telling all of the impossible and improbable stories about the famous New Mexico outlaw, Billy the Kid.—O.E.P.

Poultry Worms Are Cause Of Slow Starvation

Worms constitute one of the greatest obstacles in the path to poultry profits. Every year worms cost U.S. poultry raisers millions of dollars by causing decreased egg production, by lowering birds, resistance to infectious diseases, and by creating cull chickens which are unfit for market.

In effect, worms cause slow starvation. Great numbers of them in a bird's intestinal tract make it impossible for the fowl's body to assimilate good as it should. In severe cases, worminess may cause mortality. Usually, however, the effects show up in such symptoms as stunted growth, falling egg production, etc.

Most poultry flocks have worms. Usually, of course, the flock may be only lightly infected and may appear to suffer no ill effects whatever. But although there may be no visible evidence of worminess at first, the birds may develop symptoms later on as the worms multiply. This happens most frequently among flocks which are being raised in insanitary surroundings.

SANITATION
A sanitary range or poultry house is good protection against intestinal worms. Regular cleaning keeps the premises relatively free of the material in which worm eggs are deposited. Thus, there is less chance that the parasites will spread through the entire flock.

Commercial worm removers, both the capsules used for individual treatment and the powders which are mixed in the feed, also give effective results. Practically all wormers are effective in removing large roundworms which are acknowledged to be the commonest and most widespread of all the intestinal parasites.

Farmers Can Build Security With U.S. Bonds
By buying U.S. savings bonds, Eddy County farmers and ranchers can build their own security programs, according to County Extension Agent Dallas Rierson.

"Buying government bonds now affords an opportunity to build up a reserve during good times which will help tide over the lean years that may lie ahead," Rierson says. "Saving in prosperous times is always a sound policy."

Continued buying of bonds will also help in the fight against inflation, Rierson reminds. "Less spending now does not necessarily mean a curtailment of prosperity. When prices get too high, goods are taken out of the reach of many groups, thus actually lowering prosperity. Prosperity can be just as great—or greater—on an average price level as on a high price level. Prosperity is the greatest when all people in the nation can buy the goods that are produced."

"So money which is put into bonds now may actually buy more goods later when price levels are lower. And in addition, each $3 invested now will return $4 in 10 years."

Marketing Of Young Animals Will Save Feed

Marketing of meat animals at younger age and lighter weights as one of the means of conserving grain much needed for European relief was suggested by Richard Marek, assistant county agent.

The production of young lighter-weight animals saves feed, because they put on more weight for the same feed than older animals do. The amount of feed per pound of gain increases, as a meat animal grows older.

Under normal conditions, older animals sell for more money per pound, making it worthwhile to feed them to greater weights. But by marketing animals younger and lighter, the stockman saves valuable feed, as the young animals put on weight more economically.

The assistant county agent explains that it takes only about 225 pounds of feed nutrients to grow a calf from 100 pounds to 200 pounds, but it takes 429 pounds of feed to increase an animal's total weight from 400 pounds to 500 pounds. As an animal grows larger, he gains at an increasing rate of consumption. An 1100 pound beef animal requires 885 pounds of feed nutrients to gain an extra 100 pounds.

While it may be possible to realize a small margin in feeding hogs to heavier weights, the same amount of feed will yield more meat and a better profit if fed to a greater number of lightweight hogs.

Marketing of meat animals at a lighter weight naturally calls for a speeding up of the birth rate, so that the total poundage produced may be the same or greater.

Men Enlisting In Air Force Have Mental Ability On High Scale

A recent survey shows that young men now enlisting in the Army Air Force have mental ability equal to that required to enter Officers Candidate School.

Under the USAF Aviation Career Plan, men 18 to 34 years of age who finish high school and are in good health are eligible for training. They may choose their own technical training courses before enlisting.

To obtain Aviation Cadet Pilot Training, applicant should be 20 to 28 1/2 years of age and have completed two years of college.

Remove Weeds From Seed When Plants Are Still In Flower Stage

Quality seed cannot be produced from weedy fields. Farmers who are planning to save planting seed should remove weeds and other plants from the field before harvest. The best way to avoid a mixture of seeds is to use clean seed on clean land and to remove mixtures and weeds before harvest.

These can be most easily removed at the early stages of growth and when they are most easily distinguished—that is, when they are in flower. The entire plant should be removed to prevent rerooting.

NOW OPEN TO HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES

This is important news to every young man from 20 1/2 to 28 who has graduated from high school or who can pass equivalent education examinations. Under a new ruling, you may now enlist in the U. S. Army for the specific purpose of attending Officer Candidate School, provided the quotas are not filled.
You must be a citizen of the United States, and a man of high moral character, able to meet the necessary physical requirements.
To take advantage of this unusual privilege, you may submit your application to the Commanding General of the Army area in which you live. If you are selected, you will be enlisted in the Army as Staff Sergeant. If you have not had basic training or its equivalent, you will be given this training before entering Officer Candidate School.
If you are a successful candidate, you will be commissioned as Second Lieutenant in the Officers Reserve Corps and placed on active duty for two years, during which time you may compete for a Regular Army Commission. Should you fail to complete the course successfully, you will be released from the Army.
The opportunity to qualify for Officer Candidate School is now open to men in the Army. But never before has there been such a remarkable opportunity to become a commissioned officer open to civilian high school graduates. Get all the details about it today at your Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

Readjustment
Vet's Allowances
Not Vacation Pay

Veterans' readjustment allowances are not intended as summer vacation pay and all veterans who receive the weekly $20 allowances must be able and available for work and willing to accept suitable work.
The statement was issued by Benjamin D. Luchini, chairman-executive director of the Employment Security Commission, which with the Veterans Administration, administers the readjustment allowance program provided in the GI Bill.
In New Mexico 7226 veterans are now working to complete their education and under terms of the GI Bill are receiving subsistence allowances enabling them to attend the colleges and universities of the state. In addition, 1614 New Mexico veterans are receiving on-the-job training in industries all over the state under supervision of the Veterans Administration.
"The important thing," Luchini said, "is that these thousands of GI's understand that when the school year ends and they are out of school they are not entitled to subsistence allowances for school

Veterans Can Reinstate Any Amount NSLI

Veterans can reestablish or convert any amount of their National Service Life Insurance—from $1000 to $10,000 in multiples of $500—advises Carl F. Krumm, regional insurance officer of the Veterans Administration.
If veterans carried five or ten thousand dollars of GI Insurance while in the service and are not able to carry that amount at the present time, they are advised they can keep less than the full amount.
Rather than drop all of the government insurance, veterans are advised to carry the amount of protection able to pay for, informs Krumm.
The same is true in converting term insurance to any one of the six permanent plans — veterans should only convert the amount they feel they are able to carry, and when they convert, it is still National Service Life Insurance which is administered by the United States government.
Veterans should see or write their nearest Veterans Administration Representative concerning their insurance, said Krumm, who stressed that July 31 is the final day to reinstate without a physical examination.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

One way to make Extra money

Ben Ryder, who owns a farm just out of town, figured a way to make extra money from that unused pasture on the highway. He opened up a trailer camp, and now has eighteen tenants on his land.
At first, Ben thought it was just a matter of putting up a sign.
Then he learned he had to get a license making him responsible for sanitation, adequate plumbing facilities, clean water, wiring and anything else affecting the welfare of his tenants.
Like places selling beer, for instance. Their license commits them to definite responsibilities and subjects them to continual inspection.
And the brewers themselves, under their program of Self Regulation, see that all taverns toe the line.
From where I sit, Self Regulation—whether applied to trailer camps or taverns—is not only a blessing to the public, it's good business practice, too!

Huge Outlay In County Spent For Repairs
 An estimated $608,000 will be spent in repairing and modernizing non-farm homes in Eddy County during 1948, according to a report just released by the Tile Council of America.
 That sum will be expended largely on painting, repairs to heating equipment, new roofs, and plumbing, the report disclosed. "Greater availability of building materials will make possible a record amount of home improvement throughout the nation this year," declared Malcolm Schweiker, chairman of the council's residential construction committee.
 About 30 of every 100 homes in New Mexico will be painted, either inside or out, during 1948, and 13 will have roofs repaired or replaced, according to the report. Ten will have plumbing repaired, bathrooms tiled or showers installed, and six will have carpentry repairs, the report revealed.
 To meet demands for materials for both new homes and home repairs, production has been stepped up in practically every type of material, said Schweiker. The output of ceramic tile for bathrooms and kitchens, for instance, is now at the highest rate in history, government reports show.
 Throughout the nation between $2,600,000,000 and $3,300,000,000 will be spent this year on home repair, according to the report. This is believed the largest amount ever expended for such work.

Vets In State Are Maintaining NSLI Insurance
 Approximately a third of all World War II veterans in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, and New Mexico are maintaining their National Service Life Insurance, the Veterans Administration branch office in Denver announced.
 The estimated 266,000 World War II veterans in the four-state area now hold 95,000 active policies, as the result of 2482 additional reinstatements of lapsed policies with a face value of more than $15,000,000 in May. However, as some veterans hold more than one policy, the number of insured men is reduced to an estimated third. Nationwide, 14,500,000 veterans hold 6,250,000 policies, an average of a policy for every two and a half veterans, but here again, a veteran may hold more than one policy.
 Reinstatements in the Rocky Mountain area are expected to increase materially before July 31, the deadline for reinstatements of lapsed term insurance without a physical examination.
 The 95,000 policies in this four state area carry a face value of approximately $590,000,000, an average of about $6,200 per policy.
 May reinstatements by states:
 Colorado, 1092 policies with a face value of $6,770,500; Utah, 695 policies with a face value of $4,309,000; Wyoming, 248 policies with a face value of $1,537,000; New Mexico, 348 policies with a face value of $2,157,500; out of district, 99 policies with a face value of $613,500.
 The VA reported that the majority of veterans are designating the monthly payment plan be paid in a lump sum, many changing from the monthly payment plan required by law until August, 1946. While beneficiaries receiving monthly payments on policies of veterans who died before August, 1946, may not receive lump settlement, living veterans may designate a lump settlement for future beneficiaries, thus enhancing the attractiveness of government insurance.

Certification Of Seed Deadline Is Set Aug. 1 and demand certified seed. Because of the limited quantity of high-quality certified seed in New Mexico, those farmers who are eligible should certify their crops immediately.
 Complete sets of all sizes of loose leaf paper for loose leaf binders at Advocate.
 Level land, clean ditches, and good irrigation structures combine to make better use of water, save labor, and increase crop yields.
 Many abandoned fields in New Mexico which have been deseeded to grass are now producing more forage for livestock than native pastures.
 Certified seed is seed of known origin and high quality, which is genetically pure, free of noxious weeds, and high in germination. This type of seed plays a big part in the production of a good crop, and farmers are urged to grow

Soil Conservation
 By Leonard Appleton
 State Soil Conservationist
 On land in Iowa with a 9 per cent slope, the average yearly soil losses from plots that were continuously cropped with corn was 38.2 tons per acre. On land that was in alfalfa continuously, the loss was only one-tenth ton per acre. A cover of close growing crops or grass is the best protection against water erosion on sloping land.
 New Mexico has 58 soil conservation districts covering about 50 million acres of land and including more than 25,000 farms and ranches. These districts have been organized to give farmers and ranchers a chance to work out a coordinated soil and water conservation program. They receive assistance from federal, state, and local agencies.

Rierson Warns About Lightning Hazards On Farm

Lightning—nature's artillery—causes 37 per cent of all farm fires, County Agent Dallas Rierson said. Each year, he pointed out, lightning destroys approximately $20,000,000 worth of farm property in the U.S. It takes the lives of 500 people, and injures 1,300 others—and the lion's share of these victims are farm residents, according to records of the National Safety Council.

"This is the picture—correct and unexaggerated," Rierson points out. "A horrible picture it is because the greater part of these tragedies could be prevented."

Lightning tends to strike the highest point in the vicinity. This may be a barn, tree, or a man working in the field.

"A building adequately equipped with lightning rods affords the best protection," the county agent says. "If you are working in a field and do not have time to seek the protection of a rodged building, lie down in a low spot in the field away from wire fences, trees, livestock, and machinery. Avoid seeking shelter under trees, particularly lone trees or small groves. Wire fences and machinery should also be avoided during electrical storms because they may attract lightning."

Lightning rods, he continued, provide good protection when properly installed. This means that the rod must have a definite connection to an effective ground. Periodic check-ups should be made to determine that the rods are in satisfactory condition.

The National Safety Council points out that protection can be provided for livestock by grounding wire fences every 100 yards. Metal posts placed at least three feet in the ground provide good grounding for fences. It should be remembered that metal buildings or roofs afford no protection from lightning unless they are adequately grounded.

Largest 4-H Club Encampment To Be Held Aug. 9-13.

Probably the largest 4-H club encampment in the history of the state will take place on the campus of New Mexico A. & M. College Aug. 9-13. L. S. Kurtz, state 4-H club leader, said. The encampment will be the 25 annual gathering of New Mexico's rural youth, who will compete for state honors in judging and demonstration contests.

Judging contests will include those in livestock, crops, and home economics. Demonstration contests will be the dairy foods, clothing wear—care, livestock loss prevention, poultry, tractor maintenance, dairy production, and fruit and vegetable standardization contests.

Junior and senior girls from almost every county in the state will compete in the dress revue, always

The winning livestock and home economics judging teams and the winning livestock loss prevention demonstration team and their coaches will receive all expenses paid trips to the National Western Livestock Show in Denver; the winning dairy production demonstration team and coach will be awarded a free trip to the National Dairy Cattle Congress in Waterloo, Ia., and the winning fruit and vegetable standardization demonstration team and coach will receive a trip to the National Vegetable Association meeting, if their demonstration qualifies as a vegetable marketing demonstration. The dress revue winner and the winning poultry demonstration team and coach will be awarded trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Other state winners will receive medals, watches, cash and U. S. Savings Bonds.

The program for the five-day encampment also includes a drama contest, square dance exhibitions, recreation, speeches, and group discussions.

Environment Of Health Leads To Better Layers

A healthy environment in the brooder house and on the range gives growing birds a better chance to develop into profit-making layers in the fall and winter. So guard the health of young stock and enjoy the benefits of increased egg yields a few months from now.

One of the commonest health hazards in poultry raising, especially for a growing flock, is the worm menace. Intestinal worms are an economic factor, no matter what is the age of the flock affected. They are a particularly costly factor when the birds are in the growing stage. Heavy worm infections in birds 6 to 10 weeks of age slow down growth, cause emaciation, and sometimes are responsible for the death of a few fowl. Worms create many culls and may have the effect of reducing the future layers' capacity for producing eggs.

To allow worms to multiply and severely damage the health of a growing range flock is to permit the loss of a large percentage of fall and winter eggs.

Keep after worms constantly. While birds are on the range, enforce all of the recognized rules of sanitation. Frequent removal of filth and regular moving of shelters, feeders and waterers will have the effect of keeping birds away from areas in which there are worm eggs. This will reduce the spread of the worms.

Regular flock treatments with a dependable worm remover will pay off also.

Awards In Meat Animal Program Again Offered

For the 19th consecutive year, the national 4-H meat animal awards program is being continued in New Mexico in 1948 under the direction of the State Extension Service.

Since the program's beginning in 1930, a total of 96 4-H Club members in New Mexico have received county medals of honor for superior records of achievement in meat animal projects.

The program is designed to encourage 4-H'ers to learn the part played by meat animals in the utilization of products of the soil, how to protect them against diseases and parasites, and how to handle and to market livestock without injury.

The state winner will be awarded a 17-jewel gold watch. Eight state winners selected for sectional honors will each receive a free trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Four of the sectional winners will be named national champions and each will get a $200 college scholarship.

Last year's state winner in New Mexico was Clifford Franklin of Melrose.

Winners of county medals last year were Ivan Cannon, Bernalillo County; Mart Servis, Colfax County; Lamoyné Carpenter, Curry County; Sammy Hernandez, Dona Ana County; Pearl Bailey, Guadalupe County; Jack Lewis, Union County, and Tommy Prive, Eddy County.

Complete information regarding the program may be obtained from the county extension office in the courthouse at Carlsbad.

Suggestions For Weed Spraying
Some of the weed spraying has been very successful, but other spraying operations have given questionable results.
"For more uniformly good results, the assistant county agent, Richard Marek, suggests the following: Pay close attention to weather and soil conditions. The amount of moisture in the soil before and after 2-4-D treatment is very important. If the soil is too dry to promote new growth of weeds, the treatment doesn't work so well. Even if the air is too dry, 2-4-D may not stick so well on the vegetation or be as easily absorbed by the weeds. Higher humidity makes for better treatment.
Use caution in applying 2-4-D when a moderate or strong wind is blowing. Otherwise nearby crops may be damaged by drifts.

Deep-Root Plants Have Advantage Seeking Water

Deep-rooted plants have an advantage of being able to go a long way for water and plant foods. For this reason, says A. D. Wofter, member of the New Mexico PMA Committee, they have an important place in meeting many farm conservation problems. Deep-rooted pasture plants have an advantage over the shallow-rooted ones.

With this in mind agronomists of the West Virginia Experiment Stations set out to determine how much of the roots of several grasses important in conservation were to be found at different depths. The grasses studied were smooth brome, orchard grass, kentucky bluegrass, timothy and Deer's tongue. The different depths at which measurements were taken were from the surface of the ground to 3 inches deep; from 3 to 6 inches; from 6 to 9; 9 to 12; and 12 to 18 inches. The studies were made on one-acre plots.

Bluegrass with its shallow-root system, had about 1125 pounds of roots to the acre in the top three inches. In the 3-to-6 inch layer, there were about 85 pounds. The amount dwindled down to a little more than three pounds of roots in an acre at the 12-to-18 inch depth. Smooth brome showed considerable contrast. In the top three in-there were slightly more than 715 pounds of roots. But in the next three inches there were 200 pounds. In the layer from 12-to-18 inches deep there were 105 pounds of roots, about 32 times as many roots in that area as bluegrass.

Orchard grass was in between these two. Timothy had the lowest amount of roots in the top three inches but slightly more than Kentucky bluegrass at the 12-to-18 inch depth. Deer's tongue had nearly 4,500 pounds of roots in the top three inches, dropped to about 350 pounds in the next three inches, and to 16 pounds at the 12-to-18 inch level.

DDT Protects Stored Woolens From Moth Loss

Housewives know that wollen garments must be protected from clothes moths during the summer months. Spraying with DDT has greatly simplified their problems in that respect, for the improved method makes it much easier to treat the inside surfaces of closets and storage chests and makes them deadly to moths.

The Commodity Credit Corporation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has a far bigger job of protecting wool than any housewife, but it follows a similar method of protection. The CCC has outstanding loans on wool in storage. The CCC regulation requires that walls, floors, and ceiling of storage rooms must be sprayed with a 5 per cent solution of DDT. Also the exposed surface of sacks in which the wool is stored must be thoroughly covered. Under conditions of wool storage, the DDT spray remains effective a year. The treated walls are deadly to any moths alighting on them or emerging from cracks or crevices. The destructive moth has to pass through another deadly barrier on the treated sacks. Farmers who still have wool in storage can take a tip from this regulation covering the CCC loans, says the department. Stored wool should have DDT protection.

Manufacturers' Census Is Now Being Taken

Field representatives of the United States Bureau of the Census currently are calling on manufacturers in this area to press to early completion the 1947 census of manufactures which has been underway since January. This was announced by Marjorie Schmid, district supervisor for the Census Bureau, whose office is located at City Hall Building, Room 201, Roswell.

The current industrial canvass, Supervisor Schmid said, has been conducted by mail and most manufacturers have responded by prompt filing of their completed questionnaires. However, some establishments have filed incomplete reports, either for lack of the detailed information requested or through misinterpretation of instructions. These reports have been referred to the district offices of the Census Bureau for follow-up work.

In some instances, manufacturing establishments to which questionnaires have been sent have failed to return them, usually because they have gone out of business or because they do not believe themselves to come within the scope of the census. Supervisor Schmid said. These are being contacted by census field representatives. A check also is being made for manufacturing establishments which have not, for some reason, received a questionnaire from the Census Bureau. "Any manufacturer in this area, who has not received a census questionnaire should write at once to the Bureau of the Census, Industry Division, Washington, D. C.," Supervisor Schmid said. "He should give his firm's name and address and a brief description of the products he manufactures to guide the Census Bureau in determining what form should be sent to him. Since there are more than 200 different kinds of questionnaires, each designed for a specific industry, this product information is necessary."

The volume of reports received from many sections of the country, according to word from the Washington office of the Census Bureau, Supervisor Schmid said, indicates substantial shifts in industry between many areas. An increase in

Martin Asks 'Whence Comes Our Next Meal?'

The question, "Where is our next meal coming from?" can be seriously asked by rich and poor alike, says W. Leslie Martin of Artesia, member of the New Mexico PMA committee.

With the exception of seafood, he pointed out, all meals come from the land. How good they are and how adequate depend on what farmers do with their soil. The nation's Agricultural Conservation Program is based on a general recognition of the serious problem of keeping the land in condition so that it will continue to turn out adequate meals for today, tomorrow, and the years to come.

Martin said, "Topsoil that has been eroded and washed out into the ocean will be of little value in helping to keep the meals coming along three times a day, 365 days a year. And we hope we don't have to go through the experience of the Chinese, the people in the hill country of Greece, and those in many other parts of the world before we realize that all our meals do depend on the soil."

"Farmers who till the soil are the custodians of the land. But all of us, whether we are on the farm or not, depend on the soil for our meals and we all have a responsibility to see to it that our land keeps turning out these meals." The Agricultural Conservation Program was set up as a co-operative method of conserving the soil, Martin explains. Each farmer who carries out conservation practices and each consumer who has helped that farmer, is contributing to a program of "meal insurance." Through the ACP program, erosion is being cut down and land is being kept in condition so that "it can keep turning out foods that make up the meals we take so much for granted because most of us haven't had to miss too many."

The number of establishments over the last census in 1940 also is indicated. As a result, changes in the rank of states in the manufacturing industry are anticipated.

Mosquitoes Are—

 Although mosquitoes transmit various diseases, Beadle said, there is practically no mosquito-carried disease in New Mexico. But they do constitute a pest problem, he added.

On field trips since coming to Artesia Friday, Beadle said, he captured 159 of the flood-water variety, 109 of the common kind, and 27 of a third variety, the last of which were caught in the bogs area. Few dangerous mosquitoes were captured.

For permanent control, he said, breeding places should be eliminated, such as the bogs. But he said there seems to be no feasible way to do that, as it would be a big job to drain them, and then it would be necessary that they again drain in times of flood waters or rain within a week to 10 days.

An emergency control measure after the early June rains would have been the dusting of vegetation in the vicinity of the river and bogs by airplane, Beadle said. But he pointed out that honey bees are just as sensitive to DDT as are mosquitoes, and the State Health Department objects to widespread dusting.

Beadle recommended that householders spray shrubbery and screens with a 2.5 per cent solution of DDT in emulsion form. But he cautioned against spraying on grass or feed which might be eaten by livestock. However, the entomologist added, his department has used thousands of pounds of DDT with no apparent bad effects.
 But, although the mosquito here is a nuisance, the real fight should be made against flies, Beadle stressed.

Mosquitoes Are-

Although mosquitoes transmit various diseases, Beadle said, there is practically no mosquito-carried disease in New Mexico. But they do constitute a pest problem, he added.
On field trips since coming to Artesia Friday, Beadle said, he captured 159 of the flood-water variety, 109 of the common kind, and 27 of a third variety, the last of which were caught in the bogs area. Few dangerous mosquitoes were captured.
For permanent control, he said, breeding places should be eliminated, such as the bogs. But he said there seems to be no feasible way to do that, as it would be a big job to drain them, and then it would be necessary that they again drain in times of flood waters or rain within a week to 10 days.
An emergency control measure after the early June rains would have been the dusting of vegetation in the vicinity of the river and bogs by airplane, Beadle said. But he pointed out that honey bees are just as sensitive to DDT as are mosquitoes, and the State Health Department objects to widespread dusting.
Beadle recommended that householders spray shrubbery and screens with a 2.5 per cent solution of DDT in emulsion form. But he cautioned against spraying on grass or feed which might be eaten by livestock. However, the entomologist added, his department has used thousands of pounds of DDT with no apparent bad effects.
But, although the mosquito here is a nuisance, the real fight should be made against flies, Beadle stressed.
