Year Bulldogs Beat Tucumcari

Bulldogs Poised For Tucumcari After Stomping Monument

The Artesia Bulldogs' opening game at Monument Friday turned into a royal stomp as they handed the less-powerful Indians at 72-0 massacre on foreign territory.

Time after time the game was highlighted as passes rifled from the arm of backfieldman Ronald Dublin found their mark in the arms of fleet-footed receivers, who wanted no time hitting pay dirt. Artesia's ground attack consisted of powerhouse plays through the

While in the drivers' position, Boyle Cobble's educated toe placed conversions square between the uprights for a grand total of six points. The Monument game out of the way, the Bulldogs are being coached this week for their first real clash of the 1948 season when they meet the Tucumcari Bulldogs at Morris Field here at 6 o'clock Friday evening. Coach Claude (Jiggs) Whittington and Line Coach Floyd Whittington have been impressing on the Bulldogs they have a hard game ahead against a tough team. Coach Whittington recalled that last year when the Bulldogs went to Tucumcari to meet the Rattlers, the local boys were somewhat cocky after having just tacked some neat wins away—and lost to Tucumcari 14-12.

He pointed out that against Monument every man on the squad except two played in all four quarters and that the remaining two played in three quarters, as all were given a chance at practice against the badly outmatched Monument players.

Averaging 166 pounds, while their opponents only 144, the Bulldogs quickly showed their superior strength and experience over the determined little Monument scrappers last Friday. Within four minutes after the kickoff, White plunged through the line for the first score after a series of six plays. Penalties totaling 20 yards prolonged the Bulldogs' scoring onslaught throughout the remainder of the initial period, despite the furious attacks at the line by DeMars and White.

In the opening play of the second quarter things commenced to brew, as Dublin started his passing parade by tossing the pigskin to Halfback Walter Burch, who galloped across the flagged line stand (continued last page this section)

Late Deadline Requires Two Want Ad Pages

In order to accommodate those wishing to run classified advertising and still permit a deadline on classifieds of 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, it is necessary to publish the want ads on two different pages, which has been somewhat confusing to many readers.

By way of explanation, the space necessary for all classified ads cannot be spared on the final run, that which is made on Thursday morning. But if such advertising appeared only on a page which is printed earlier in the week, the deadline would have to be made Monday.

Thus, by means of having the two classified pages, The Advocate is able to serve all wishing to avail themselves of that type of advertising and still permit the placing of ads up to 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. However, it is appreciated when ads are placed as early as possible.

The deadline for display advertising remains as before, 5 o'clock Monday for ads larger than a half page, noon Tuesday for all others.

Eskue Father And Son Killed Sunday When Car Hits Bridge

Tony John Eskue, 36, and his son, Heber J. T. Eskue, 38, both of Lakewood, were fatally injured, and Sisto Chavez, 45, was badly injured about 9 o'clock Sunday night, when the car in which they were riding struck the bridge on State Highway 285 just south of Lake Arthur.

T. J. Eskue died at Artesia Memorial Hospital at 10:30 o'clock that night, and his son at 2:30 o'clock Monday morning. Chavez sustained bad face lacerations and leg injuries but his condition is not serious.

Double funeral services will be conducted at the Church of Christ at 3 o'clock this afternoon by Lynn Shelton, lay evangelist. Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery.

Mr. Eskue is also survived by three brothers, Steve, Edward, and Enoch Eskue, all of Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Warden, Abilene, Texas, and Mrs. Annie Abney, Emory, Texas, and seven grandchildren. Heber J. T. Eskue was born at Wills Point, Texas, March 15, 1910. He is survived, besides his mother and eight brothers and sisters, by two children, Heber J. T. Eskue Jr., and Keith Boyd Eskue. His wife preceded him in death in 1942.

The Eskue family came to Eddy County from Plainville, Texas, in 1935 and lived at Hope until 1946, when they moved to Lakewood.

Both of the men were members of the Church of Christ. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Paulin Funeral Home.

Chamber Plans More Extensive Yule Decorations

Plans were made Monday night at a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce for a more extensive Christmas decorative program for the city this year than in former years.

The board went on record for the continuation of the annual V-J Day celebrations for Artesia, which were started last year under the sponsorship of the United Veterans Club.

Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said a committee is to be named to work with the veterans for the 1948 celebration, with expansion of the affair in mind.

It was brought out in the meeting some soliticers have been working in Artesia without first having cleared with the Chamber of Commerce, as is customary.

The board asked that businesses and individuals solicited by strangers for anything ask to see their cards issued by the Chamber of Commerce. Such cards are issued only after it has been established with reasonable certainty that the soliticers are representing some legitimate organization or concern.

Coroners Jury Finds Luna Death To Be Accident

A coroner's jury Wednesday morning found that Cruz Luna, 21, who was instantly killed Sunday morning by a bullet fired from a 22 calibre rifle on the Paul Terry farm eight miles southeast of Artesia, accidentally shot himself.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Paul I. Terry was driving a tractor, accompanied by Steve Whitfield, a Negro, and that they were shooting birds from the tractor.

They drove to the tenant houses in which Luna lived and he climbed up on the tractor hitch. The testimony showed that Luna reached for the gun and that as the tractor lurched the rifle was discharged, the bullet entering his left side and continuing into his heart.

Witnesses were Paul Terry, Paul I. Terry, and Whitfield. From their testimony the jury set the time of the accident between 10 and 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning.

Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey sat as coroner. The jury was composed of W. H. Shotts, Guy Stevenson, William Dooley, R. L. Hoover, A. C. Sadler, and Ed Kissinger.

The body was taken to Alpine, Texas, for burial.

Mayor Proclaims 'National Guard Day' In Artesia

Mayor Oren C. Roberts has proclaimed today as "National Guard Day" in Artesia, urging all citizens to join in recognition of the service the National Guard have rendered.

Future Farmers Chapter Formed Here Wednesday

An Artesia chapter of the Future Farmers of America was formed Wednesday afternoon, with 31 students in the newly organized vocational agriculture department of Artesia High School as charter members.

Aubrey was elected president for the coming year. Named to serve with him were: Vice president, Jack Robinson; secretary, Norman Prude; treasurer, Buddy Parker; reporter, Donald Calvert, and sentinel, Raymond Pearson.

One of the first activities of the new organization will be a trip Sunday and Monday to the New Mexico State Fair at Albuquerque, accompanied by John T. Short, vocational agriculture teacher.

At the fair they will see live stock and crops exhibits of other F.F.A. and 4-H Club members. Short explained the primary purpose of the F.F.A. is to promote leadership and character development, teach sportsmanship, co-operation, scholarship, improved agriculture, and citizenship, and to provide organized recreation.

Artesia Pilots Attend National Air Races, Show

Four Artesia pilots were among thousands who attended the national air races at Cleveland, Ohio, last week, and all have admitted they still have a bit to learn in the art of handling a stick, after seeing the three-day air show.

They are Gene Sherwood and Jimmie (Red) Davidson, who flew a Cessna 85, and Chuck Baldwin and Omar Bayer, who flew a Piper Cub.

Both planes followed the same route in the way to Cleveland leaving the Artesia municipal airport Friday morning, Sept. 3, and spent that night in St. Louis, where they saw a big-league baseball game and viewed the St. Louis television, as well as being entertained.

They arrived at Cleveland Saturday morning in time to see Paul Bantz come in to win the Bendix from Los Angeles.

Both planes started back to Artesia Tuesday morning. Baldwin and Bayer arrived home last Thursday, but Sherwood and Davidson, who stopped over at Ada, Okla., did not land on the home ground until Friday. The planes were in the air 17 hours on the trip.

Conservation Of Water Is Vital Part Of Program

The limitations of the underground water supply and the vital necessity of conserving it was stressed last Thursday noon by G. L. Beene of the Soil Conservation Service, when he spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Artesia Kiwanis Club.

At that time six new members were welcomed into the club, bringing to 15 the number of new Kiwanians in two weeks. Those admitted last Thursday were Herman Green, Ben Caudle, Roy Hefley, Wayne Riddle, Homer Allred, and Kester Tarbuton. Paul Dillard, secretary, gave a short address of welcome.

In the principal talk of the program, Beene stressed that the conservation of water constitutes only a small part of the general conservation program.

Surveys throughout the nation show the water supply is limited and must be conserved, he said. And one of the most important steps in such conservation is land leveling, whereby irrigated farms make the most of irrigation waters. The nation, he added, is depleting available tillable lands which have sufficient water for crops.

Beene said farmers are spending $70 to $80 an acre to level their land, which helps conserve water and leads to better crops. But leveling alone does not complete the job, which requires also concrete drop boxes and outlet, going hand in hand with leveling.

At that time the Lion will be divided into two teams, headed by Jerry Curtis and Leland Price, which will stage a contest for the sale of tickets, Paulin said. And the club as a whole will be pitted against the women in another contest.

Individual prizes for the Lion and Lioness selling the greatest number of tickets will be given. President Paulin said that where as $3 plus tax is being charged for general admission tickets at most of the places the famous band will appear on its special 30-ensemble trip, the Lions Club will charge only $1.50 plus tax, for reserved seat tickets, in hopes more

The time and place for the hearing on Artesia's and Pioneer Air Lines' applications for a Pioneer stop at Artesia have been changed, Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce was notified this week.

Instead of the hearing being at Washington, D. C., Tuesday, Oct. 5, it will be in Albuquerque Tuesday, Oct. 12, the message said.

Members of the chamber board pointed out this will permit a better representation from Artesia when the hearing is held and the exhibits are examined.

An active campaign for the promotion and sale of tickets for the appearance in Artesia Saturday, Oct. 9, of the United States Navy Band of Washington, D. C., under the sponsorship of the Lions Club will be kicked off Monday night at a ladies' night banquet for Lions and Lionesses at the Masonic Temple, it was announced by Wayne Paulin, president.

At that time the Lion will be divided into two teams, headed by Jerry Curtis and Leland Price, which will stage a contest for the sale of tickets, Paulin said. And the club as a whole will be pitted against the women in another contest.

Individual prizes for the Lion and Lioness selling the greatest number of tickets will be given. President Paulin said that where as $3 plus tax is being charged for general admission tickets at most of the places the famous band will appear on its special 30-ensemble trip, the Lions Club will charge only $1.50 plus tax, for reserved seat tickets, in hopes more people will be able to attend one or both performances. General admission for adults will be $1, and 50 cents for children. It is especially hoped, he said, that all of the boys and girls in and around Artesia will be able to attend the matinee performance, which will be light in nature and will have a number of novelties and fun numbers. However, it was stressed, the matinee program will be real music. The evening program will be composed of "great music," in the selection of which Lt. Com. Charles Brendler, the band's noted conductor, devoted two months.

The Lions president pointed out that in order to hear and enjoy the music of the Navy Band it will be necessary to attend, as it is not permitted that any part of either concert may be broadcast. Committees appointed this week by President Paulin: Executive—Dr. Pete J. Starr, William M. Siengenthaler, and (continued last page this section)

Brake And Light Stickers Past Due, Says Lewis

State Patrolman Bill Lewis called attention this morning that new brake and light inspection stickers were due Sept. 1 and that many automobiles still do not have them.

He issued 31 warnings to operators in a single day, he said, requiring them to have the proper inspection made before operating their vehicles further.

Patrolman Lewis pointed out that such operator are subject to prosecution and may be fined as much as $100.

He indicated he plans to stop giving warnings and will clamp down on car owners who do not comply with the brake and light inspection law, which is a safety measure for both the operators and others.

New Water Well Plugging Unit Is Now On Order

W. Leslie Martin of Artesia, chairman of the board of the Pecos Valley Conservancy District, has announced a new, modern plugging rig is now on order and has been promised in October, to be used in speeding up the program of plugging leaky Artesian wells.

He said the new plugging and drilling unit is mounted on a large truck and has a 38-foot mast built of heavy pipe. It is complete with draw works, pump, and rotary table, and has a drilling capacity of 1500 feet.

The chairman said the district has operated only one plugging unit the last few years, but that with the new rig the completion of plugging the long list of leaking wells will be greatly speeded up, thus saving much water which is getting away.

The other unit which has a small derrick mounted on a truck, has been in operation about two years. However, the first plugging unit used was built in Roswell and was said to have been the first well-plugging outfit in existence. It received widespread publicity in various publications.

Martin said that as in other fields of engineering, new inventions change methods and equipment, and the board felt that in the interest of economy, efficiency and speed with which plugging of leaking wells be pushed, the new equipment should be purchased. An extra half mill levy for the conservancy district was granted to make possible the purchase.

Death Of Bill Thompson Is Third In Labor Day Accident

J. W. (Bill) Thompson, 34, died last Thursday midnight in a Lubbock, Texas, hospital, bringing to three the deaths in a traffic accident near there Labor Day afternoon.

Mrs. Warren Tidwell, Jr., 21, and her infant son, Gary Lynn, also of Artesia, were instantly killed in the accident.

Brief funeral services were conducted at Lubbock at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon for Mr. Thompson by Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Artesia, with Rev. E. V. McGuffin, also of the Baptist Church here, leading the song service. Mrs. Thompson, who was badly injured in the accident, attended on a cot.

Mr. Thompson's body then was taken to Bonham, Texas, where services were conducted Saturday afternoon at the home of his mother. Burial was at Ladonia, which is near Bonham.

Surviving Mr. Thompson are his widow; little daughter, Sandra, about a year and a half years old, who was in the accident, but was unharmed; a sister, and three brothers.

Mrs. Thompson and Sandra plan to stay in Lubbock with her sisters, Mrs. Guy R. Copeland and Miss Betty Lowery, while she recovers from a severe head injury sustained in the accident. It was understood she probably would be (continued last page this section) released from the hospital this week.

The accident happened Labor Day afternoon as the party from Artesia was returning home after a visit with Mrs. Thompson's sisters. Near Wilson, 12 miles this side of Lubbock, the Thompson car was sideswiped by a truck, which was being towed by another truck. The Thompson car swung around or rolled and cut across the highway into the path of the second car following the two trucks, and was struck by it, according to reports.

The driver of the first car behind the trucks, which was not touched, stopped and rendered assistance, as did other motorists. The bodies of Mrs. Tidwell and her baby were found by a fence. Mr. Thompson was unconscious, as was Mrs. Earmon D. Duncan of Brownfield, Texas, an occupant of the other car. Besides little Sandra Thompson, who was wandering around the only occupant of the two cars who was conscious was Duncan.

It was reported the tow trucks were stopped for an instant, but that they were then driven from the scene of the accident. The drivers, Negroes, were picked up later and are to be charged with manslaughter, it was understood. Their names were not learned here.

New Production Is Slim In Eddy Fields This Week

New oil production in the Eddy County fields was slim the last week, with only one producer of 15 barrels a day reported, while another well was plugged and abandoned. A single new location was staked.

Meanwhile, the McCurdy-Miller-Yates, Hines 1, in NE NE 28-15-29, just over the Chaves County line, where three men were recently badly burned, is attracting considerable attention as a gasser.

Although it is estimated at only 5,000,000 cubic feet a day, the well is said to tap a large reservoir and have great potential possibilities.

The men, W. P. Reeves, G. C. Denton, and Billy Malone, were burned when a truck backed and set the well on fire while a Halliburton crew was trying to mud off the gas flow outside the casing. At that time the well blew out 82 sacks of mud and the rig was burned.

The Eddy County completions: Skelly Oil Co., Lea 4-B, SW NW 14-17-31; total depth 3831 feet; pumped 15 barrels of oil per day, after shot.

Council Scout Meet Will Be Held In Artesia

Artesia was chosen for a meeting this winter of the Eastern New Mexico Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America, at a meeting in Roswell last Thursday, at which it was voted to enlarge Camp We-Hin-Ah-Pay in the Sacramento Mountains.

The camp, to which Artesia is the gateway for the entire county, has been enlarged by the action last week from the original 40 acres to 160 acres, with the presentation of 120 acres by George B. Jewett of Roswell. The new acreage runs directly west of the present camp site and straddles the camp canyon, making for one of the finest Boy Scout installations anywhere, as well as assuring the use of all of the water from the spring which feeds the canyon.

The council laid plans for continued membership expansion and voted to participate in the national fall round-up of the Boy Scouts of America.

It was also voted to adopt a council budget of $44,397.50 for the 1948-49 fiscal year. The money is to be raised through the joint efforts of all communities in the nine counties of the council.

Attending from Artesia and the Gateway District were C. D. Hopkins, F. L. Green, J. T. Mitchell, and E. B. Bullock of Artesia, and G. G. Unangst of Loco Hills.

Finger Pointing

IT IS TIME TO STOP pointing fingers at other folks. It is time not only to stop this in the nation but in the state, the counties of the state, and the towns, cities and communities of the counties.

Fact is we have been so busy pointing fingers at the other fellow, arguing and fusing among ourselves that we are forgetting we have some common enemies and some common foes both in and outside our boundaries.

And while we are condemning and accusing one another they are busy boring in and taking advantage of the situation that we create for them.

For instance, in the nation we are arguing about the spy investigations and about the action and conduct of the Reds. Those in office are condemning that these are all political issues and political smoke screens. Those on the other side are maintaining that the situations, which have resulted in the investigations, should never have been permitted to exist.

We are not much interested in these arguments. We are more interested in the safety and the welfare of our nation. We are more interested that those who call out our country or who have by their actions created suspicion, be removed from any public offices.

We are more interested in those of both political parties and all good Americans uniting their efforts, their talents, their abilities, their knowledge to free America of all Red influences and all other influences, which have for so long harassed the destruction of our nation.

We feel it is time for all Americans, regardless of political party they claim as theirs, to unite to work to defend our nation and to protect it from our enemies whether within or without our boundaries.

We feel it is time for all of us to join together for any emergency, which may arise, and defend ourselves regardless from where the attack may come.

In the various communities, towns, and cities of the counties of these states we find individual improvements and worthy programs on the basis of politics. We find individuals willing to join hands with their fellow citizen in building up that community.

We have here and are too busy pointing our fingers at others and accusing them of refusing to do what is right. Perhaps it might be well to stop finger pointing at ourselves. Maybe it would be a good idea to check on our shortcomings and to be so much condemning of the other.

Learn Facts First

MOST OF US ENJOY engaging in conversation and we discuss many things oftentimes when we do not have all the facts. This is a trait and a practice of us all. We have opinions on things and we voice those opinions.

It is far better, of course, if we could have all the facts and data before we voice that opinion. It would be a fine thing if all of us would withhold judgment until we do have the facts.

But we don't.

And most of us, we say, are guilty of this practice. It is just a part of this old human nature of ours.

But frequently a great injustice is done not only to individuals but to causes, movements, and organizations when we do voice an opinion before we have the facts. Frequently we are unfairly and unjustly criticizing some organization when we do not know all of the conditions of some project or undertaking.

We recently heard of a case when a local organization was being severely condemned about a certain program, which they had sponsored. Seemingly those doing the condemning had but about half the facts in the case.

The result was, of course, they were being very unfair because they didn't know half the full story and they were not in a position to discuss the matter intelligently. This, however, didn't stop them.

But someone was present who had the facts. They didn't hesitate to voice the facts; to give them the true picture and story. Those who were talking so freely changed their views. They admitted they didn't know this. They were honest about it.

So if we can't get all the facts or we can't withhold our opinions until we have all the facts, at least be big enough to admit we are wrong when we do have the facts.

So much would be worth developing if we

Shoe On Other Foot

IT'S NICE TO WIN, and we hope the Bulldogs win every game, which, to say the least, is problematical.

But to walk away 72-0 in the season opener is not too good for a team, even though the players simply could not help scoring over a much weaker squad and the points naturally added up and up.

By this we mean the boys did not get the kind of experience which will be of use to them in stiffer competition and it could have a bad psychological effect on the individuals.

We sincerely hope the Bulldogs as individuals and as a team will realize there could be a case in which the shoe would be on the other foot and a much stronger team could romp on them.

So perhaps they should buckle down even harder, as we are sure the coaches are telling them, profiting by the lopsided score, rather than feeling they should place figurative feathers in their hats.—A. L. B.

than any period during the war and 100 per cent more than it was before the war. For instance, the normal price per ton for roll newsprint prior to the war was around $44 to $45 per ton. The price today is about $104 f.o.b. New York. The other price, the prewar figure, was delivered to the Gulf Coast or West Coast freight prepaid.

That is the situation plus the fact that it is hard to find and to buy unless purchased on the black market, where prices range from $180 per ton to $250 per ton. And this, of course, is more than any newspaper can pay for it and yet expect to make a profit from the publication of a newspaper.

The Advocate is still looking forward to expansion if and when it can be done. As stated before The Advocate needs a newspaper web perfecting press—one which prints from a roll. New ones have more than doubled in price. Old ones are priced at twice to three times their value today.

The Advocate is installing a used Miehle vertical press, which is an automatic job press, which will take large forms and print them much faster. It has sought to increase and keep competent printers and linotype operators and encounters the same problems as other newspapers in this respect.

But it still looks forward and hopes for the day when there will be an easing up in newsprint, printing machinery, competent help and to the further growth of Artesia so it can provide more frequent newspaper service for New Mexico's oil city.—O. E. P.

A Crop to Cultivate

America is famous for good crops. But finest of all is the bumper "crop" of 11,000,000 boys and girls growing up on our farms and ranches. Trained teachers and leaders are helping cultivate this bumper crop. Vocational agricultural teachers in over 7,000 high schools do their part. Most of these schools have Future Farmers of America chapters. Membership of F. F. A. is 250,000. In their "outside classroom" work they receive additional on-the-job training from their vocational agricultural teachers. They learn to accept leadership responsibility. On graduation, many go directly into farm or ranch management. Others go on to agricultural college. County agents and over 180,000 unselfish volunteer leaders do another great job through the 4-H Clubs. Through 85,000 local 4-H Clubs, more than 1,750,000 boys and girls get invaluable training. Advice, encouragement, know-how from practical experts. Their projects keep them abreast of what is new in agriculture. They learn through doing. Achievement and leadership become habits. It is well that American agriculture has these leaders and teachers. By teaching the business and science of farming, they are helping make life on farm and ranch rich and profitable for a new generation of Americans. They are showing them the way to economic security and a good way of life. Better farm planning; power machinery; scientific modern methods; control of weeds and plant and animal pests. All these our farm and ranch youth are learning. In many ways they are qualifying themselves to be better managers of land and better businessmen. They are increasing their knowledge of science and selling—of machinery and markets—of costs and conservation. Swift & Company has always been proud to encourage farm youth activities. We shall continue to do so. We have no doubt or fear for the future of America. For, properly cultivated, this crop will ripen surely into our nation's richest harvest.

Advertisement for Swift & Company with image of a school bus and text: 'LIVESTOCK AND MEAT PRICES Livestock is marketed when it is ready. The supply of animals coming to market at any one time is controlled by your decisions as producers. These decisions may have been made months previously, depending on your breeding and feeding program. The weather—blizzards, storms and droughts—also have a bearing on when you market your animals. Meat packers have no control over the supply of livestock. The meat packer must sell meat and by-products for what they will bring. When people have to economize, they spend less money for meat. Consumers, retailers and meat packers reduce their bids. The prices of both meat and livestock fall accordingly. But when people make more money, they are eager to buy meat. Then buyers all along the line increase their bids. And the prices of both meat and livestock rise accordingly. For each meat packer and each retail meat dealer knows that if he does not pay a little higher for the livestock or meat he wants, somebody else will—and get the business. Thus the old law of supply and demand—plus competition in buying livestock and selling meat—forces price changes in meat to be reflected quickly all the way back to the livestock on the hoof. At all times the market price is a balance between the supply of livestock and the demand for meat.'

A HUNDRED CENTS MAKE A DOLLAR Have you sometimes wished to know Where meat dollars really go? Of each wholesale dollar spent, You get seventy-nine per cent For your livestock, wool and hides, And all by-products besides. Wages, operating cost a plenty Take another even twenty. After all the rest is spent The packer profits just one cent.

It's a Two-Way Road In my work with farmers and ranchers I have visited just about every part of this country. I can't begin to count the number of times I have traveled out of Chicago and back—to the range country of the West... through the Corn Belt states... the wheatlands... the cotton country—Florida, Maine, Washington, California and all the other states in between. I do not know how anyone who travels much can help being impressed with the need for team play in America. As farmers or ranchers, your prosperity depends to a large degree on the ability of workers in industry to purchase the food and fiber you produce. Likewise, city businessmen know that your power to purchase their products is equally important to them. And all of us depend on the men in the mines, in the forests, in the steel mills, and oil fields. But what we are apt to overlook is the fact that it is the earning of a reasonable profit which keeps all these businesses going, and all of us at work. Of course, profit rates vary, that depends on many things, including volume of business done. For example, here at Swift & Company we process millions of pounds of agricultural raw materials each year. On each pound handled, we earn an average profit of a fraction of a cent. Few could stay in business on the margin we meat packers earn. But, whether one's business volume is large or small, some profit is essential to any individual or any enterprise. And here's another thing. Often I hear someone say—"Those farmers are the lucky ones—completely independent!" I can't agree with them. I know, and you know, that you on the land are independent—but only to a certain degree! Of course, cities couldn't exist without the products of farm and ranch. Maybe you could produce your own food, clothing, shelter and fuel. But country living would be pretty grim without cars, telephones, radios, fences, tractors, windmills and modern labor-saving, comfort-giving equipment. It is a two-way road! Our standard of living in America is something we are all proud of. It is the result of the profit system and of good team play. F.M. Simpson Agricultural Research Department

New Idea in Junior Feeding Projects by T. W. Thompson State 4-H Club Leader, Montana Boys and girls are trying out a new kind of livestock feeding project. In several states—including Montana, Nebraska, Colorado and Indiana—people are enthusiastic about it. Here is how it works. The boy or girl buys an average lot of feeder steers or lambs, from a uniform herd or band. The number bought is usually 3 or more steers, 15 or more lambs. That depends on finances, feed supplies and equipment available. These lots of animals are bought at a central market. They are taken home and fattened. Careful records are kept of feed costs and rates of gain. At the end of the feeding period, they are shipped back to market. They are sold on Junior Marketing Day. Boys and girls consign their animals to commission firms of their own choice. Upon arrival the animals are penned separately, according to ownership. Each lot is graded and weighed separately. Then all animals are assembled in pens according to grade. They are sold for slaughter in the usual manner used on that market. The boys and girls profit according to the market value of their animals. Sponsors claim the following benefits: (1) It is practical. (2) It promotes better farm feeding methods. (3) Boys and girls learn about market grades of livestock. (4) They learn about central markets and their operation. This new idea in junior feeding is not intended to take the place of feeding for show. It is a separate project, to give youngsters practical experience in feeding for market. ## Central PTA To Sponsor Two Other Groups

At the first meeting of the school year of the Central School Parent-Teacher Association it was voted to sponsor the formation of PTA units at Park and North Side Schools, if the parents of children in those schools so desire.

Plans were made to sell homemade pies, coffee, and milk after each home football game at the high school cafeteria this year as their project.

The PTA is also one of the sponsors of the Clare Tree Major plays being presented to Artesia school children for the second year. The play, "Hansel and Gretel," will be presented Oct. 16.

In addition to these projects for the year the group plan to co-operate with the American Legion Auxiliary in getting an ordinance passed requiring bicycle owners to have licenses and some type of illumination at night.

Vernor Mills, elementary curriculum co-ordinator, introduced the new teachers and new Central School principal, C. A. Stalcup, and spoke to the group on, "Better Schools for Our Children."

Mr. Mills pointed out there are very few teachers today looking for jobs and few recruits to be brought into the teaching profession. He stressed the value of men teachers and men principals in elementary schools.

"There is already an increase in the enrollment because of war babies and by 1953 we should have the largest enrollment in history," he said. This mean we'll have to have 25 more teachers here in Artesia alone."

The new Central School cafeteria will probably open Sept. 20 and meals will be 35¢ cents, it was announced. A $7 meal ticket will sell for $6.50. Mr. Mills announced.

The group enjoyed a tea after the close of the meeting. The next meeting will be the second Wednesday in October.

Commodities Are Furnished U.S. By State Firms

Supplies and materials valued at $146,432 were furnished by manufacturers, oil producers, and dealers in New Mexico to the federal government during the first half of 1948 under the Walsh-Healy Public Contracts Act, it was announced by John R. Cartwright, who represents the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts, U.S. Department of Labor, in this state.

The New Mexico totals show: Petroleum and petroleum products, $56,358; machinery other than electrical, $32,925; miscellaneous products, $27,812; stone, clay, and glass products, $15,605, and food and kindred products, $13,732.

The figure for the five Southwestern states was $38,603,526, while the national total was $1,223,717,359 during the six-month period, Cartwright said.

The Walsh-Healey Act, Cartwright said, applies to government contracts in amounts of more than $10,000, and contains sections dealing with minimum wages, overtime pay, health and safety, child labor, and convict labor.

He stressed the fact that the child labor provisions fix an assessment against the employer of $10 per day for each day a boy under 16 or a girl under 18 years old is employed in filling a government contract.

FIND OUT HOW SMALL YOUR WORLD IS... ON AIR FORCE DAY, SEPTEMBER 18

Do you know how many hours it takes to home the farthest point on the globe has been brought—just across the Day? Do you realize how the difficulties of defending the United States from air attack have multiplied in the last three years?

You know the amount of Air Power this country has. Do you know what it needs in men and material to maintain adequate Air Power?

Every American can find out—and GET TO KNOW YOUR AIR FORCE BETTER—on Air Force Day. You'll discover there's a lot of things you can do for America's Air Power.

First, and most important, is for you to learn the Air Force. Literature will be available at Air Force Day exhibits at Force Bases, National Guard Armories, Recruiting Stations, and many other places.

If you are a young man from 17 to 34, you'll find that Air Force offers you splendid training and education, with opportunity to specialize in skills that can lead to a worthwhile career in aviation. If you are 20 to 26½, single, and have two years of college or the equivalent, the Air Force offers the world's finest flight training as an Aviation Cadet.

If you are still in college, you can join the Air ROTC as a civilian, you can join the Air National Guard. You can enlist or join the Air Force Reserve.

Watch your newspapers for the schedule of Air Force Day events and make a point of attending. If that is not possible, at least stop in and pick up a copy of the special Air Force Day pamphlet, "KNOW YOUR AIR FORCE BETTER," at any Air Force or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station.

HERE'S HOW YOUR AIR FORCE IS MADE UP THE STRATEGIC AIR COMMAND. Conducts long-range bombardment and fighter operations, independently or in cooperation with land and naval forces.

THE TACTICAL AIR COMMAND. Equipped with new jet fighters and attack bombers for operation anywhere in the world.

THE AIR DEFENSE COMMAND. Provides air defense. Trains the Air Reserve. Supervises training, Air National Guard.

THE AIR MATERIEL COMMAND. Research and development of new planes, guided missiles, Air Force materiel, accessories and supplies.

Largest Meteorite Ever Discovered Lives Safely At University

A famous 2000-pound meteorite recovered by scientists of the University of New Mexico's institute of Meteoritics this summer is the institute on the university campus after a 703 mile trip from the Nebraska soil, and University of Nebraska scientists assisted the U.N.M. people in long and careful excavations, forming an enormous hole around the precious stone, which is twice as large as any stony meteorite heretofore discovered in the world.

The big stone will be cut, the major part of it to remain at the University of New Mexico for study and exhibition, and the smaller part to go to the University of Nebraska.

Cutting will be a delicate process. The stone is chiefly composed of magnesium alumin silicate, and flecks of nickel-iron and many other minerals.

"This is not one of the extremely heavy all-metal meteorites," said Dr. LaPaz. "It is softish. Some of it can be crushed into a sandy powder between the fingers."

The scientist pointed out that hundreds of pounds of the stone flew off as it neared and struck the earth, and the returning party has more than 300 pounds of dust and fragments, brought back in cement bags and cartons.

The stone was described by Dr. LaPaz as the main mass of the fall. The area of the fall, he said, was calculated at the Institute of Meteoritics early in March and turned out to be correctly located.

More than 1000 fragments, of weights ranging up to 130 pounds, were recovered by the institute field surveys in April and May, and these are now in the institute's possession, he said. Kansas and Nebraska farmers generously presented much of this to the institute. The whole party was described as "dead to the world" when they arrived in Albuquerque. They'd been without sleep more than 18 hours, rushing to get the stone out of the Nebraska soil before rains could come and ruin it. Because of its mineral composition, the stone is susceptible to water and will "grow a beard" if it gets wet, said Dr. LaPaz.

For that reason the University of Nebraska's share of the stone will be permanently encased in transparent plastic here before being sent back there. UNM's larger piece, however, will be safe exposed here, in the arid climate, and can be exhibited as it is, said Dr. LaPaz.

The party told of its 10-day battle to keep the stone out of commercial hands, and Dr. LaPaz pointed out that the whole venture was an example of inter-university co-operation. Besides Dr. Leonard of California, Douglass M. Gragg of UNM's institute and three University of Nebraska Museum staffers devoted themselves to excavation and to keeping the stone in scientific hands. The Nebraskans are Dr. Bertrand Schultz, director of the museum, and Allan Graffham, and Morris Mendenhall.

Tracing the history of the work, Dr. Leonard said that two Nebraska farmers on July 3 found a hole on the Nebraska ranch of Helen Whitney, member of the Leland Stanford University faculty, confirming mathematical calculations of location of the fall made at the institute in March.

The UNM party reached the site Aug. 18, exactly six months after the fall, and were joined by the Nebraska group, and finally removed the stone Aug. 25.

"This appears to be the largest known aerolite in the world, and also the largest meteorite ever observed to fall," said Dr. Leonard in Albuquerque Friday.

A report of the recent tuberculosis photofluorographic survey in the sixth district, comprising Eddy, Lea, and Chaves Counties has just been released by the State Department of Public Health, disclosing discovery of 100 definite cases of tuberculosis among 29,785 persons whose chests were photographed in the three counties.

In Eddy County there were 7,625 films taken, of which nine were unsatisfactory. There were 7,616 persons examined of whom 7,409 were negative, 31 were definitely tubercular and 145 were suspected of tuberculosis and were referred to their family physicians for follow-up. Other diseases of the chest were discovered in 31 cases.

In Chaves County there were 6367 films taken, of which three were unsatisfactory. A total of 6364 persons were examined of whom 6142 were negative, 40 were definitely tubercular and 131 were suspected of tuberculosis infection and will require further supervision by their family physicians. In 51 cases there were other types of diseases of the chest other than tuberculosis. These people were referred to their family physicians for follow-up.

In Lea County there were 6814 films taken, of which nine were unsatisfactory. The report showed 6805 persons were examined, of whom 6616 were negative, 29 were found definitely to have tuberculosis, and in 120 cases there were suspicious signs of tuberculosis and these people were referred to their family physicians. Diseases of the chest other than tuberculosis were found in an additional 40 individuals.

This makes a total of 20,806 films taken on 20,785 individuals which resulted in a total discovery of 100 definite cases of tuberculosis, 396 suspected cases, and 122 suspected of showing other diseases of the chest.

The units is now working district No. 5 after having completed the survey in San Miguel and Mora Counties and will start about the middle of September in Guadalupe County.

Since the first of January the unit has also completed the survey in Grant, Luna, and Hidalgo counties with a total of 31,549 having had photofluorographic examinations of the chest.

New Mexico 4-H Clubs Show Gain Over Last Year

New Mexico's 4-H club enrollment has gained 1340 members in the last year, Travis Hughes, associate state 4-H leader, reported. Present enrollment totals 8064, compared with last year's 6723. The 3747 boys and the 4317 girls belong to 395 clubs under the supervision of 624 local leaders.

Bernalillo County leads the state in 4-H enrollment with 658 members, followed by Taos with 502; Roosevelt, 494; Dona Ana, 489; Quay, 435; Socorro, 419; and Valencia, 412.

During the year, club members have engaged in 11,882 projects, most of them involving food preparation, baking, and clothing. Members took part in 87 separate activities, covering all phases of agriculture and homemaking, ranging from cooking, sewing, and growing crops to beef calves, floriculture, and bees.

Meanwhile, the boys edge into girls' projects some, too as 33 fellows are taking needlecraft, 94 are doing baking, and 85 are taking food preparation.

Among the girls, the most popular project is clothing, with 2769 girls enrolled in one or more of the units. Foods and baking projects are almost as popular, with 1429 entries in baking, 925 in food preparation, and 202 in canning and freezing foods—a total of 2556 in foods work.

New Mexico boys like livestock, for 290 are raising beef calves, 491 are enrolled in swine projects, and most of the remainder go for dairy calves, sheep, poultry and rabbits. The fellows get some competition from the girls—55 of them are feeding out fat calves and 41 are hoping to take a pig to market.

Uncle Sam Says

Can you keep on the "up" side of life's see-saw? The bumps come when you are on the "down" side and they aren't funny. For most of these bumps are financial ones and they hurt, unless you cushion the shock. Millions of Americans have discovered the safe, automatic pillow against financial bumps. That pillow is U.S. Savings Bonds. By allotting only $2.50 a week, you will accumulate $1440.51 in ten years. There are two convenient methods for the purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds—the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or, if self-employed, the Bond-a-Month Plan where you bank. U.S. Treasury Department

Farm Co-ops In Nation Gain In Membership

Farmer membership in marketing and purchasing co-operatives totaled 5,400,000 in the 1946-47 marketing season, compared with 5,000,000 the previous year, according to estimates of the Farm Credit Administration. As many farmers are members of more than one co-operative, these figures exceed the number of farmers who are members of co-operatives.

Minnesota again led in memberships with 567,000 followed by Illinois with 540,000 and Iowa with 327,000.

Number of associations reported was 10,125 compared with 10,150 a year earlier. Here again Minnesota led with 1306 co-operatives followed by Wisconsin with 943 and Iowa with 730.

Dollar volume of business for the 1946-47 season was $7,100,000,000, compared with $6,100,000,000 a year earlier. This 16 per cent increase reflects to a large degree the rise in prices farmers received for farm products and the prices paid by farmers for farm supplies, which rose 27 per cent and 21 per cent respectively, compared with a year earlier. Of this total business, almost $1,500,000,000 was accounted for by co-operative purchasing of farm supplies. The balance of $5,600,000,000 represented farm products marketed.

Of the marketing total, grain, dry beans, and rice accounted for $1,900,000,000; dairy products, $1,700,000,000; fruits and vegetables, $826,000,000; livestock, $790,000,000; cotton and cotton products, $234,000,000; poultry and eggs $225,000,000, and tobacco, $70,000,000. The balance was made up of many other farm products, including nuts, wool, honey, sugar cane, beet sugar, hay, and others.

Product Support Responsible For Higher Prices

Numerous statements implying that government price supports for farm products are responsible for higher consumer prices has prompted C. V. Hemphill, chairman of the New Mexico Production and Marketing Administration Committee, to point out a few facts which seem to have been overlooked.

Present laws assure farmers a price support for several of the major crops, which is equal to 90 per cent of parity, which in everyday language means a fair price to farmers for the crops they sell in relation to the cost of things they buy. Or 90 per cent of parity is 10 per cent below this fair price level and becomes to some extent a cost of production insurance.

Many of the major farm products have no price support. Among these are cattle and sheep. Beef and lambs are selling in the open market at prices well above parity. Although support prices for hogs have been provided for, the support program has not been put into effect because prices to producers have been well above the support level.

Prices for several farm products, potatoes in particular, are actively supported. But potatoes are still among the best buys in the grocery store today, despite the wide spread between the support price and what the consumer pays.

In answer to the question "Why support farm prices?" Hemphill pointed out that the welfare of the nation depends upon having enough food. But weather, insects, disease, and other crop hazards make it impossible to produce just enough and not more than the market will absorb at a fair trade

HOLLAND HAS A NEW QUEEN

Juliana, Holland's beloved royal princess, today reigns as Queen of The Netherlands Kingdom. On September 4, Wilhelmina stepped down from the throne in favor of her daughter. "Inauguration" ceremonies were held September 6.

Wilhelmina, longest reigning monarch in Europe (the Dutch have just celebrated her 50th jubilee) announced her decision to retire in a broadcast May 12. Then she said: "I must, in the interest of you all and of the Kingdom, entrust the sovereignty to Juliana, who, apart from her wise insight, also has the advantage of her age and her fresh young powers. God bless you and my beloved child!"

Juliana, born April 30, 1909, was reared in the most democratic traditions. She attended and graduated from Leiden University as an ordinary student and she has continued to mingle with her people as one of them. Her husband, Prince Bernhard, now bears the title of Prince price to the farmers. In producing abundantly, the farmer thus could be made to suffer for his successful efforts. Under the guarantee of a price support, however, the farmer knows he can go ahead and produce abundantly without "falling into the trap of price collapse set by his own abundant production."

Since price support programs have been in operation, food production has been increased around 40 per cent.

Looking at it this way, Hemphill said, consumers benefit greatly from price supports. Abundant production means plenty of food and lower prices than if farm output were scarce. Compare potatoes, for which prices are supported, with beef, for which prices are not supported but which is slightly on the scarce side, the chairman said. Then compare the prices that consumers pay for food with what the farmer gets.

MISSING from her Binghampton, N. Y., home for 17 months, Margaret Bleecker is shown after being found in a backwoods cabin near Hibbing, Minn. Police discovered the child while investigating a fire in which a woman died and a man was critically injured. Margaret had been living with them. New York police believed the couple to be Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carroll, who disappeared from Binghampton in April, 1947. They took with them the child who had been entrusted to their care by Mr. and Mrs. George Bleecker. (International)

Reinstatement Of GI Insurance Is Explained

New Mexico veterans reinstated more than three million dollars of their lapsed GI term insurance during the month of July. Carl F. Krumm, regional insurance officer of the Veterans Administration in Albuquerque said.

Now that the deadline date is past for reinstating without a physical examination term policies which have lapsed more than 90 days, veterans should be careful to pay their next premium when due, Krumm said.

Many veterans lapsed their newly reinstated policies in the past because they failed to understand the exact application of the two premiums submitted with their reinstatement. They did not understand that one monthly premium is for the current premium month, regardless of the date of the month on which the application and premium are tendered.

For example, a veteran with a policy that has an effective date of Sept. 1, 1942, reinstates his NSLI term policy on June 25. The next premium is due on July 1. However, the veteran being under the impression he is paid up to July 25, with another month's grace until Aug. 25, does not remit the next premium until Aug. 10. He is dismayed to learn later he has again lapsed.

For those veterans who did not reinstate their term policies which have been lapsed more than three months, they can still reinstate their policies, but must now pass a physical examination satisfactory to the administrator. Service incurred disability less than total in degree is no bar to reinstating lapsed insurance.

If NSLI term insurance has lapsed for less than three months, it can still be reinstated on a comparative health statement, and in most cases a physical examination will not be necessary, Krumm said.

Everyone Laughs Heartily When 'Bride Goes Wild'

What happens when a playboy writer is forced to assume the obligations of a father in order to prove his respectability makes for the hilarious happenings of "The Bride Goes Wild," the MGM comedy-romance in which Van Johnson, June Allyson and Butch Jenkins are put through their paces on the Lansun Theater screen, to be seen next Sunday through Tuesday.

Here is a picture that will have them laughing at the fade of the first sub-title. Johnson is the indolent and mischievous writer of children's animal stories. Miss Allyson is the prim, puritanical New England drawing teacher who has been assigned to illustrate his latest book. When she discovers the author to be more addicted to alcohol than to art she precipitates a crisis which involves the introduction into his bachelor quarters of an "enfant terrible" in the person of young Jenkins.

It is up to Van to pose as the unfortunate father of this problem child, an imposture which brings about some of the most jocular proceedings witnessed on the screen, before Miss Allyson is finally able to win and reform her man.

The roles offer a field day of fun for its principals, with Johnson giving an enormously amusing portrait of a man who would rather lend droll authority to her part play than work, and Miss Allyson of the upright young woman determined to set him on the straight and narrow path. The stars are given some stiff acting competition in the work of 10-year-old Butch Jenkins who, in the most hilarious part he has ever had, plays the

Pheasant And Quail Grow Wilder Daily At Dexter Cultural Station

The pheasant and quail unit set last spring at the U.S. Fish Cultural Station at Dexter, through the co-operation of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, is proving very successful in its operation, according to L. Q. Carman, superintendent.

quail have thus far been liberated in the unit, and are being fed, protected, and adjusted within the confines of the 50-acre area in preparation for the coming hunting season.

They are responding to the natural conditions provided for them at Dexter, are noticed to become a little more wild each day, and are turn in all bands immediately after hunting season. Anyone killing a bird with a band is asked to save the band and give to his local Game Protective Association president, a game warden, or a federal authority immediately. In doing this he is co-operating with the state and federal government in helping check on the number of birds surviving, and it will assist in determining the extent of success attained from the adjusting units set up for the hunters' benefit.

The vast program set up for the conservation of upland game birds costs money and labor, Carman pointed out, adding it is a good start toward providing more birds and better hunting.

The farmers, sportsmen, businessmen, laborers—in fact every citizen—can co-operate in making the project a success, Carman said. "Help protect the birds during closed season, help provide a little more food and shelter for the birds wherever possible, and make it known that violation of the law is unpopular, and a poor way to take game."

"It will not be long until bird season opens. Much effort has been put forth to make the coming season a success. Let's not only be proud of the birds we kill, but of the ones we leave in the fields to reproduce and populate the 'hills and hollows' for 1949." J. Stokely of Carlsbad, who has had much experience in the propagation of game birds, is in charge of the bird units.
