S. Navy Band Thrills Three Audiences Saturday

The official United States Navy band thrilled three audiences here today in what is considered by observers to have been the outstanding attraction ever brought to the Pecos Valley.

However, because of bad weather, it was necessary for the band to play in the high school auditorium instead of the Morris Field stadium, the turnout was not as large as was hoped for, and the Artesia Lions Club donated into the red by $300 to $400, and to an incomplete program Wednesday noon at the club luncheon by Frank Williams, co-chairman with Ed Williams.

Williams said that in spite of loss of money, the club members feel that the Artesia area is a community service by booking the band.

The band held all three audiences here Saturday, and a relatively light program in the afternoon, and heavier programs in the evening.

It had been planned to have an evening program, but because the weather was bad, the program was given.

The auditorium was packed to overflowing for both the afternoon and first evening performances, whereas the band played to about half a house at the final program at 9 o'clock.

Lt. Com. Charles Brendler, U.S.N., the band's noted conductor, directed at both of the evening performances, whereas one of his assistants was in charge in the afternoon.

Major Ed Chenette, well-known band conductor and composer of a number of present-day marches, now of Carlsbad, was guest conductor at each performance for one of his marches. For the first and third performances he played "Texas Tech," which the Artesia municipal band proofread from the engraver's rough proofs at a band clinic here a year and a half ago. At that time Major Chenette was band director at Texas Tech.

From Artesia the famous band went to Carlsbad and the Carlsbad Caverns Sunday, which was an open date, and from there to Midland, Texas, for performances Monday, and then back to Hobbs on Tuesday, the nearest place to Artesia where it played. The band is playing only 30 engagements on (Continued on back page)

Driver Program, Oil Industry Are Meeting Topics

The three "R's" of the driver education program at Artesia High School, education, enforcement, and engineering, were explained Tuesday noon at the weekly Rotary Club luncheon by F. L. Green, who teaches the course, at which time Chuck Aston also spoke on the growth of the oil industry and its importance to everybody.

In his talk Green said driving education should be in the schools, but should start with students in about the ninth grade, when they are starting to learn to drive, rather than with seniors, who are prone to think they know all about driving. He said many of the seniors have to "unlearn" bad driving habits before they can be taught good ones.

The enforcement agencies, he said, should be looked upon as the drivers' best friends. It is they, Green explained, who try to make driving safe.

However, the engineers are likewise trying to make driving safer and are advancing rapidly. Green said he believes that within 10 years New Mexico will have arterial highways of which the state can be proud.

In the course at school, the boys are expected to learn all of the safety measures, signs, and signals. In teaching them, they spend considerable time in the classroom and a small amount of time in the dual-control Chevrolet Company.

Sportsmanship and responsibility are stressed, Green said, but safety measures and non-abuse of a car are taught thoroughly. And there is a constant fight against speed, he added.

In connection with the driver education program, youngsters who ride bicycles are being taught safety measures and how to take care of their bikes. Each one who completes a prescribed program and (continued last page this section)

Nationwide Search For Leukemia Relief Of Clevenger Boy Are Futile

Rodney Preston Clevenger, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Preston F. Clevenger, whose case of leukemia attracted almost nationwide attention, died at Colorado City, Texas, at 6:45 o'clock Saturday evening.

He contracted the rare disease last November, since when his parents took him to every known specialist in the nation seeking relief and help. His parents, friends, and neighbors gave repeatedly of blood for transfusions, and the case was brought to the attention of a number of organizations, which also gave help.

A short time ago Rodney Preston was taken to Dallas for further treatment, but he grew steadily worse and died Saturday.

The body was brought home to Artesia and lay in state at the Paulin Funeral Home until time for funeral services at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor.

Burial was in Woodbine Cemetery.

The baby is survived by his parents, paternal and maternal grandparents, nine uncles and aunts, and their families.

Mrs. Clevenger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Bedford of Colorado City, Texas, were not here for the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clevenger, also of Colorado City, Mr. Clevenger's parents, were here for the funeral, as were his sisters and families, Mrs. Clyde Buckalew and family, Lamesa, Texas, and Mrs. Shim Swann and family and Elizabeth and Patsy Ann Clevenger, Colorado City, and Mrs. Clevenger's brothers and families, Bob Bedford, Big Spring, Texas, and Travis Bedford, Meymour, Texas, and a cousin, Mrs. Katherine Polk, and her family, Seymour.

Rodney Preston Clevenger was born at Galveston, Texas, June 5, 1944, and came to Artesia with his parents in 1945.

Hobbs Defeats Bulldogs 26-0 On Eagles' Field Last Friday Night

Artesia's threat against one of the state's top teams, Hobbs, fell flat Friday night after the Bulldogs invaded the powerful Eagles' nest and were thrown off the perch to the tune of 26-0.

The Eagles took no time in letting the spectators in the overflowing stands know they were the victors-to-be, as they took command very early in the game by scoring twice in the first three plays, then took to the roof, from where they watched the struggling Bulldogs with ease. Unsatisfied with the two killings, they took time to score twice more, once each in the second and third periods.

Rated as the underdogs, the Bulldogs played hard until the last seconds and never gave in. They put everything they had into every play, hoping that it would be the one to hit pay dirt and several times brought the crowd to their feet with long passes and plunges through the line. Thirteen times the pigskin was slipped past the first-down marker, but touchdowns were not for the Bulldogs.

John Watson, Eagle fullback, sparked the winners' attack and made three of the four tallies, one of which was a spectacular quick kick returned 90 yards through the entire Artesia eleven for the third tally.

The first mad scoring spell took place on the kick-off and the next two times the ball was put into motion, Russell sent the kick-off sailing to the Hobbs receiver, Short, who was stopped on the 37. Watson hit the line for three and on the next play it was again Watson, this time all the way to the glory line. Harmon made good the extra point.

Hobbs then kicked to Artesia, the ball rolled untouched behind the goal line to be stamped a free ball, and Malone unknowingly allowed the ball rest only to be recovered by Davist of Hobbs for an easy score.

In the second quarter the Eagles again changed the looks of the scoreboard, when Watson scored from the 12 after recovering a fumble on the 30. Watson's spectacular run popped up in the third period, when the Orange and Black failed to make yardage and quick kicked downfield to Watson, (continued on last page)

Prizes In Elks Essay Contest $2000 In Bonds

W. T. Haldeman, exalted ruler of the Artesia Elks Lodge, this week invited students of the ninth through the 12th grades in the Artesia jurisdiction to participate in a national essay contest on "Why Democracy Works," sponsored by the Grand Lodge of the Elks, which has offered $2000 in U. S. Savings Bonds, maturity value, as prizes.

In addition the local lodge will offer a prize for the best essay written by an eligible student in the local jurisdiction.

The exalted ruler has named W. W. Batie, John Lanning, and Tom Bryan as a committee in charge of the local contest.

He said the rules are simple: Essays must be not less than 300 or more than 750 words in length, written in ink in a contestant's own handwriting on white paper 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size, using one side of the paper only, and must be the original work of the contestant. Forget-Me-Not Sale Brings In $533 To DAV

Receipts from the forget-me-not sale of Donald S. Simons Chapter 19, Disabled American Veterans, held Saturday, Oct. 2, amounted to $533.33, it was announced by Bill Dunnam, chairman of the flower sale committee.

"We are extremely grateful," said Dunnam, "to the people of this vicinity for their generosity. It makes possible the continuance of the service the DAV is rendering the disabled and their dependents, not only in Artesia, but North Eddy County."

"While I am appreciative of the assistance rendered by all those who helped, I am not unmindful of the services of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Cunningham, Mrs. L. A. Wittkopp, and Mrs. William S. Boggs, who began work when the first flower was sold and stuck it out until the receipts were all in. The Coke-Eltes, girls' club members helped us a lot, too."

"And in expressing our gratitude let us not overlook those who contributed dimes, quarters, halves, dollars, and more for the little blue flower of remembrance."

The Shoe Tree Is To Open Here Friday Morning

The Shoe Tree, Artesia's newest retail outlet, will have its grand opening Friday at 103 South Fourth Street in the Ward Building, it has been announced by A. C. Marcy, manager.

The small but beautiful new store is located in what was once the storeroom of the Peoples Mercantile Company before the Ward Building was practically rebuilt on the ground floor. A new front, tile decorated, has been built for the store, and the interior has been reconstructed to meet the needs of the new business.

The Shoe Tree is a branch of New Mexico Shoe Company, Inc., of which Marcy and C. D. Huff of Albuquerque are principal stockholders.

City Golf Tourney Is Postponed Week For Carlsbad Invitational

Semi-final matches in the 1948 city golf tournament at the Artesia Country Club were postponed until next Sunday, as a number of the local players were entered in the annual Carlsbad invitational tournament at Carlsbad last Sunday, in which Bill Angley of Artesia won the third flight.

This will throw the finals to Sunday, Oct. 24, instead of next Sunday, as previously announced.

Tommy Roberts, 17-year-old links star from Roswell, won the Carlsbad tournament by defeating O. M. Beard of Carlsbad 5-4.

Members Of 4-H In Eddy Learn Soil Practices

Four-H Club members in Eddy County are learning better soil conservation practices and land use by participating in the 1948 national 4-H Club conservation program.

Every fall, awards are given to the 4-H'ers who complete the best records in this project. Awards include gold-filled medals of honor for county winners, $50 Savings Bonds for state award winners, free trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for 16 sectional winners, and eight college scholarships of $200 each for national winners.

The objectives of the program are to encourage 4-H Club members to know the value of soil, to become interested in the farm family program of soil conservation for present and future production, to learn through 4-H Club work how to conserve successfully, and to prevent soil wastage and deterioration on farms.

This year Donald Calvert of the Artesia 4-H Club is the county winner in the county soil conservation (continued last page this section)

Call To Italy By Mrs. Paton Has $116 Toll

What was perhaps the most costly telephone call from Artesia was made Tuesday by Mrs. Arthur Paton, brought here about two years ago as a war bride from Italy by her husband.

She talked to her father in Italy 29 minutes, the toll for which was $116.

Mr. Paton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Paton, talked to their son several times while he was a GI in Italy, but the bill did not run up to quite so much.

However, the younger Mrs. Paton, Elise, had not talked to her father for two years—and she had a lot to say.

Guidance Expert To Be Speaker Tonight At Faculty Meeting

Dr. Bonmar M. Crawford, guidance expert and member of the psychology department at the University of New Mexico, will address the high school faculty at the regular monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the high school auditorium.

That vital aspects of education are proper guidance for boys and girls in vocational lines, finding employment, college preparatory aid, and individual attention to poorly adjusted pupils will be discussed by the speaker.

The Artesia schools are setting up a guidance program again this year which will include testing of various kinds, a consulting service, questionnaires on personality, and vocational inventory.

All parents are invited to attend this important meeting.

School Board Is To Offer City $31,500 For Morris Field

The Artesia Board of Education at a meeting last Thursday night voted unanimously to offer the city of Artesia $31,500 for Morris Field, subject to the approval of the state school auditor, which information will be presented this evening to the City Council in a report of the joint board-council committee, named some weeks ago to make recommendations for the solution of the athletic field program which has existed a number of years.

Members of the school board said it will be difficult to raise the necessary funds for the purchase of Morris Field, but that they believe ways and means will be found, provided the proposition meets with the approval of the auditor and the council.

The advisory committee consists of W. W. Batie and W. Leslie Martin, named by the Board of Education; Harold (Dude) Dunn and William M. Siegenthaler, appointed by the City Council, and Stanley Carper, who was selected by the other four to round out the five-man group.

Members of that committee said besides reporting the offer made by the school board, they will recommend the sale of Morris Field by the city to the schools at the price offered, and to make plans to purchase acreage for the building of a community athletic field and park.

The advisory committee met Monday evening of last week with a group of interested citizens and sportsmen, who unanimously approved the findings of the five men.

The committee in turn reported to the school board last Thursday evening, after which the offer of $31,500 was made.

A site of 58 acres on the west side of South 13th Street will be recommended to the City Council for consideration for future use as a city park and field. The committee said the site is ample for a softball and baseball field, rodeo grounds, and a picnic site, as well as plenty of space for a fair grounds, should the community ever decide on having fairs.

The location is handy to the city, has water, and means to fill requirements more fully than any other site studied by the committee.

The present action is being taken in order that the schools will have complete jurisdiction over Morris Field, while community athletics and other attractions will be held elsewhere. Although title to the field has always been in the city's name, it has been used by high school and other school teams for athletic events.

In other seasons softball has been played by city teams on the field. But it has been pointed out that it is difficult to keep the field in good shape for several types of sports.

Local citizens and sportsmen feel that if the school purchases Morris Field and the city then develops another municipal park the needs and wishes of all will be better served.

Report On School Survey Is To Be Given At Artesia High Saturday

An official report on the recent statewide survey of the New Mexico state school system will be made at 10 o'clock Saturday morning in the Artesia High School auditorium in one of nine public forums being conducted this week and next throughout the state.

The exhaustive survey was made by a staff of 10 specialists under the direction of the Division of Survey and Field Service of George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

It was made under authorization of the New Mexico Legislature in 1947, when an appropriation of $37,500 was made for the work.

In the report to be made here Saturday the Southeast district of Eddy, Chaves, and Lea Counties will be given special consideration, it was announced.

Dr. John E. Brewton, director, and Dr. I. F. Simmons, associate director of the survey, are expected to be present and to explain the details of the report.

The study was made for the purpose of setting up plans for improvement of the school system in New Mexico, and the survey board is anxious that citizens take advantage of the meeting here and the other eight throughout the state to become familiar with details of recommendations.

Six thousand copies of a digest of the report are being made available, and 500 copies of the detailed report are being placed in schools, libraries, and other centers throughout the state for closer reading.

It was announced the discussions at the meetings will bring out various phases of the educational program, emphasizing the strong and weak points.

The meeting here Saturday, as well as the others over the state, will be open to the general public as well as to those in the field of education.

Continental Is Working To Stop Peer Airlines

Continental Airlines, Denning, this week issued a news order to the Civil Aeronautics Board to suspend the operation of the Pioneer Airlines on all routes No. 64 from Amarillo, Clovis, Roswell, Las Cruces, and Pasa. It gave as its reason Pioneer is diverting too much money from service from Continental, at the same time, did not assume responsibility for the public necessity of serving cities.

Answer, Gen. Robert J. Smith, president of Pioneer Airlines, is the following news release:

"Continental Airlines first invited service to the cities of Mexico about 15 years ago today, after 15 years, Santa Fe, capital city, and Las Vegas are but one round trip service from Continental, both trips daily. Roswell also receives a round trip daily service from Continental and this despite the frequently repeated opinion of the Civil Aeronautics Board that it is a pattern which would not serve any community. Continental has not proposed that it provide the service which it is board to order Pioneer providing.

"Pioneer is a newcomer to New Mexico but already it is providing two round trips daily to Santa Fe and the New Mexican cities it serves."

"Red" Smith further said, "In improving its service in public interests, Continental's (continued last page this section)

Cafeteria At High School Has Another Fire

The second time in 15 days Artesia firemen were called at 11:20 o'clock Wednesday morning to the high school cafeteria, where there was a slight but threatening fire almost identical to that of Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 28.

In each instance the fire caught from the flame and heat of a large water heater. However, in the fire two weeks ago it started in the ceiling around the inadequately insulated vent pipe, whereas yesterday it caught several feet lower, in the wall adjacent to the north end of the water heater.

Firemen said in both cases lack of proper insulation was the cause of the blaze.

School authorities said work had been done since the first fire to protect the building from the water heater.

It was pointed out it was fortunate both fires were during the daytime and were discovered almost as soon as they started.

Veterans Building Is Now In Charge Of Gary And Dunnam

The central committee of the United Veterans Club has announced a change in arrangements for operation of the Veterans Memorial Building, with two men in charge instead of one as heretofore.

Homer Gary has been named custodian of the clubrooms, and Bill Dunnam, service officer, has been placed in charge of hall and kitchen.

"Red" Joiner, former custodian, recently tendered his resignation to the central committee.

Salute The Oil Industry

MOST OF US take the petroleum industry as a matter of fact, even though to us in the Artesia community it plays a vital part in our lives. Few realize its magnitude in Eddy County, in Southeast New Mexico, or in the nation.

There is no better time than today, "Oil Progress Day," Oct. 14, to stop to consider what the oil industry and its companion, the gas industry, mean to Artesia and to the state as a whole, aside from the many other marvelous industries petroleum production makes possible.

Col. E. L. Drake brought in the first oil well at Titusville, Pa., in the summer of 1859—only 89 years ago. Today there are 34,000 competitive firms in the oil industry. Oil is produced in 25 states at present from 428,000 wells, of 1,200,000 which have been drilled.

Of those wells, 1359 are in Eddy County, 5164 in Eddy and Lea Counties combined, in addition to 196 gas wells. These are in 81 pools comprising 195,248 acres of proven oil territory and 6000 acres of proven gas reserves. And operators averaged 40 wells a month in 1947.

In New Mexico there are 265 operating producers employing more than 10,000 persons in active oil production work. And at present there are 26 geophysical crews in the state.

Total production in 1947 for New Mexico was 40,926,163 barrels of oil, and it is expected that figure will be up 6 to 12 per cent this year. This was in addition to nearly 149 billion cubic feet of gas.

During the year the six refineries of the state, of which the largest is in Artesia, produced 1,934,948 barrels of gasoline and 921,799 barrels of fuel oil.

And during last July alone four carbon black plants in the state produced 5,224,185 pounds of carbon, while in that month 4,021,261 barrels of oil were taken out of the ground.

Beginning to realize that "Oil Progress Day" and the oil industry mean something to Artesia? Well, let's go a little further.

When Flynn, Welch & Yates paid the first royalty to the state of New Mexico in 1924, the check was made out for $124. But in 1947 the royalty paid to the state totaled $5,222,880.

And, according to Harold Sellers, state tax commissioner, of total state assessments of $246,718,601 in 1947, oil industry assessments were $84,101,897, or 34 per cent, which is slightly more than a third.

On the other hand, besides the 265 operating producers employing 10,000 persons, there are many other phases of the oil industry to consider. We have here, as everywhere else today, our service stations, and bulk plants. But only in oil producing communities do you find many of the other phases, the casing crews, the shooters, fleets of trucks, pipeline construction men, pipeline maintenance men, pilots who fly pipelines, oil field road crews, pumpers, refinery employees, and many others.

Artesia has them all, and the salaries and wages of every one of them and the profits of the businesses help each individual in the community. And their presence requires the many fine stores and services found in Artesia.

We believe it well to consider today the strides the oil industry has made and the great things it has accomplished, and to salute those who have over the years developed it to its present status, as well as those who locally help to make Artesia a great little city, the Oil Center of New Mexico.—A.L.B.

They're Always Ready

ARTESIA HAS BEEN and is extremely fortunate in its law enforcement, that it is not troubled with the slot machine racket. It has been a well-recognized fact here that slot machines are illegal and enforcement officers have seen that these machines were not operated in Artesia or in the county.

Much of the credit, of course, for this belongs to a former district judge, who did not permit or tolerate slot machines in his district. This was a well-known fact. Efforts to try to get the law waived or to get permission to operate slot machines just couldn't be secured.

That, of course, is right. There is not an official in the county or in this judicial district, who has the right to grant permission to anyone to violate the law. No one has that authority. Officers who permit this to be done in their county or their district, are just ignoring the law and not keeping the oath, which they took when they assumed their office.

But over this state slot machines are operated. There are places in the state where the machines are in wide-open places, where not only adults but even children can play them if they so desire. They are there because officers are failing to perform their duties.

And the owners and operators of these slot machines are always ready and waiting for an opportunity to put in their machines. They have them available and the minute that law enforcement becomes lax or public opinion will permit it, they will put in their slot machines.

And the same public opinion switched around to oppose the machines will take them out just as it helped to put them in operation.

There are slot machines, of course, being operated in private clubs over the state. We feel that sooner or later action will be taken against these. They are no more legal than the machines, which are accessible to the public. Gambling is illegal in the state and the playing of slot machines is gambling.

But Artesia has been fortunate in that its officers, both city and county, have not permitted or tolerated the operating of slot machines within the city.

Public opinion will help to see there is no letdown in this enforcement of the law.—O.E.P.

Growing Hasn't Hurt

WE HAVE SOME INTERESTING FIGURES from Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, regarding the growth of Artesia.

They show Artesia has a population of 10,150 within the corporate limits, as compared with 1115 in 1920.

And Manager Sharpe maintains that if one or two sections adjacent to the city were included, the population of Artesia would be around 12,000 today.

He shows that the population in 1930 was 2427 and in 1940 it was 4071.

We believe the latter figure is low, for, as we recall, both the Chamber of Commerce and The Advocate at the time the 1940 census was made raised rain because a poor job was done by the Bureau of the Census workers.

However, even though the figure were 5000 in 1940, we have doubled in size in eight years and have become a real city, but we still remain the friendly, neighborly place which we hope Artesia always continues to be.—A.L.B.

Policy Is Not Changed

THE ADVOCATE IS FAITHFUL to all home businesses and makes no attempt to solicit advertising of a competitive nature from any other city. We do strive to keep up and build up our lineage on national advertising, but that is something else.

We have preached buy at home too many times to try to increase advertising by seeking dollars elsewhere.

But we are just like a store—any other store. In such places there is merchandise which has been made available to those who seek to buy. The majority of customers are local, but not all.

So it is with a newspaper which has advertising space to sell. That is the merchandise we have to offer; it is for sale in advertising any legal, legitimate, and honest business, service, or item, and it carries a price tag.

In the meantime, this newspaper maintains its buy-at-home policy.—A.L.B.

Then Help Build It

EVERY BUSINESS in this community depends on the growth and expansion of Artesia for increases in its business.

All business concerns here depend on a continuation of the present prosperity, present business, present payrolls, and present spending to enjoy the business, which they have today.

And any future growth, expansion, and development will mean more business for them.

And since this is true they should all be just as interested in the growth and expansion of the city as they are interested in an increase in their own business.

Unfortunately, however, for the community we do not always realize this fact. We do not always appreciate that we have an obligation and a responsibility in contributing to the growth of our community.

Sometimes we feel, or at least we like to feel, that this growth and expansion are going to continue of their own accord. We seemingly do not realize and appreciate the fact there is usually some push behind the movements, which make our city a better city in which to live and to operate a business.

A wise business or professional man always believes in putting something back into his community. He knows if he does this there will continue to be something to take out. He also knows that if he continues to take out and never put anything back that sooner or later there will be nothing to take out.

So it is our duty and responsibility as business and professional people here to help build our community into a greater community. It is our duty to contribute and work with our Chamber of Commerce; to donate our time, effort, and energy to the worthy causes and movements in our community. It is our duty to help build our community because the success of our business depends on our attitudes, our willingness to help build, expand, and improve. The fact is that our business will expand and grow in direct proportion to the expansion and growth of our city.

And if we want to see our business grow, then our community must grow and if we want our community to grow we are going to have to help build it.—O.E.P.

Third District Federated Women's Clubs Convention Here Last Thursday And Friday Is Great Success

Nearly 125 women were registered for the 27th annual convention of the third district of the New Mexico Federated Women's Clubs here last Thursday and Friday, at which Mrs. E. J. Foster, district president, presided at the end of the second of her three years in office.

With business sessions Thursday afternoon and Friday morning and afternoon at the Woman's Club building, a tea Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Glenn Booker by courtesy of the Junior Woman's Club, the convention banquet that evening at the Veterans Memorial Building, and a luncheon Friday noon at the Masonic Temple for continuous members since the founding of the district in 1911, the visitors and hostesses had a busy and successful two days.

The clubhouse had been completely redecorated for the event. Above the mantle was hung for the first time a huge mirror, the gift of the Junior Woman's Club. Special decorations were huge bunches of yucca painted silver, and many baskets of beautiful and colorful flowers of many varieties.

At the opening business session Thursday afternoon, the delegates were welcomed by Mayor Oren C. Roberts, C. D. Hopkins, representing the Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Herbert C. Bidwell, president of the Artesia Senior Woman's Club.

Special music was provided for the occasion by Miss Kay Booker, who played a marimba solo.

Following out the convention theme, "The Yardstick of America's Progress," the first speaker was Tom Mayfield, superintendent of Artesia schools, speaking on "Educational Achievements," in which he advocated a better rounded life, and challenged education to train youth to face any condition of the future. To do this, he said, there must be added to the three "R's" a fourth, "responsibility."

"Religious Achievements" was the subject of the other principal speaker Thursday afternoon, Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Artesia, who pointed out that the brotherhood of man must be a unity of mind and spirit. Such unity is necessary for all, if a new world is to be created, he said.

At the convention banquet Thursday evening at the Veterans Memorial Building, Dr. Sherman Smith, professor of physics at the University of New Mexico and a noted speaker, spoke on "Science—Threat or Promise?" in the principal address of the convention. His remarks are enlarged upon in another story in this issue.

The tables for the convention were decorated with huge silver bowls of roses, and between them were garlands of flower heads. The head table was covered with fine linen tablecloths and, besides the bowls of roses, there were silver candlesticks and silver compotes for mints and nuts. Rosebud candles marked the places of the officers who sat at the table. Mrs. Herbert C. Bidwell, Artesia Woman's Club president, presided. Special music was provided by a male quartet, composed of V. F. Lowery, Howard Miller, Glenn Caskey, and E. J. Foster.

Mrs. Judd A. Dietrick of Las Vegas, president of the New Mexico Federation of Women's Clubs, outlined at the Friday morning business session the accomplishments of the general federation, to which five million members have been added from territorial and foreign clubs.

She stressed the opportunity of American clubwomen to help build a world brotherhood.

At this session, Mrs. J. W. Lewis of Carlsbad, parliamentarian, conducted an institute, and good reports were given by district chairmen and club presidents. Mrs. Sidney Frager, chairman of the Fort Stanton committee since World War I, reported that in all the years there never has been a Christmas that all of the patients in Fort Stanton Hospital have not received a beautifully wrapped gift from the Women's Clubs of the third district.

At the Friday afternoon business session, Dr. William H. Gordon of Lubbock, Texas, spoke on "Medical Achievements," and Dr. E. N. Jones on, "A Challenge for Today."

In his remarks Dr. Gordon discussed medicine, whence it came and whither the human race is going. Dr. Jones discussed the home unit and the increasing difficulty in holding the interest of boys and girls against outside factors. He said education should begin in the home and that if it is to be effective it must include God.

Committee chairmen, who contributed to the success of the two-day affair: General convention chairman, Mrs. Fred Cole; hospitality, Mrs. Glenn Booker; housing, Mrs. S. M. Laughlin; transportation, Mrs. Clyde Guy; finance, Mrs. M. C. Livingston and Mrs. C. R. Blocker; banquet, Mrs. Clyde Parrish; luncheon, Mrs. Dave Salkin.

'Hansel, Gretel,' Tasty Treat, To Show Saturday

When the play "Hansel and Gretel" is shown here in the high school auditorium Saturday afternoon, the Clare Tree Major Children's Theater production will feature a collection of scenery and costumes best described as appetizing.

Marion DePew, costume designer of the organization, was faced with unique assignment in designing "Hansel and Gretel." Several of the costumes had to look as if they were made of various types of candy, and the witch's house in the Grimm Brother's famous fairy tale was to resemble gingerbread with sugar frosting.

Mrs. V. P. Sheldon, general chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements for the presentation here of this latest play to come from the Clare Tree Major workshops in New York, tells how Miss DePew did the unique research of her 20 years with the children's theater. She delved into cookbooks and recipes by the dozen, studying pictures and illustrations, so that the clothes and sets for the play would really look like the confections they were meant to be. Choosing her materials carefully and blending her colors expertly, Miss DePew succeeded in turning out a taste tempting treat.

As one mouth-watering example, Mrs. Sheldon described a delectable candy maiden whose dress is of clove candy, her apron, cinnamon with licorice trimming, and sleeves, big, puffy marshmallows. Appetizing also are the peppermint soldiers and the taffy princely, making "Hansel and Gretel" real fun for everyone with a sweet tooth.

"Hansel and Gretel" is being sponsored here by the Girl Scouts, Artesia Story League, and Parent-Teacher Association.

Mrs. Major, whose six touring companies play to a million and a half children annually, provides, perhaps, the country's only substantial antidote for the ugly recitals of violence and crime which, under the guise of entertainment, children are exposed to.

Madrigal Singers Of NTSC To Open Concert Season

The Madrigal Singers of North Texas State College will open the annual winter concert season in Artesia, when they appear at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, Oct. 26, in the Artesia High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Band-Aides. It was announced by Mrs. J. H. Brown, president.

Similar series of concerts have been given here the last several winters under the sponsorship of the Artesia Concert Association. However, the Band-Aides have taken over the program and are making it one of the principal projects for this school year.

The Madrigal Singers are directed by Dr. Walter Hodson, dean of the School of Music at North Texas Teachers College. They make a dramatic appearance as a group of English squires and ladies seated at a candle-light table after dinner.

Clad in elaborate, colorful Elizabethan costumes, the singers will present a varied program including early English madrigals, notes, and Americana. Madrigals may be defined as part songs of a secular nature. In the best tradition of England and North Europe, madrigals were performed by the nobility and gentry as a common occurrence. They correspond in a certain degree to popular songs of America.

The group will include eight professional singers, a pianist, and a harpist. Although the program will be largely made up of concert work, solo numbers by members of the group will also be featured.

Loreta Coe Is New Worker In Migrant Ministry

MISS LORETA COE

Home Missions Council has sent a new worker, Miss Loreta Coe, to the Pecos Valley to help carry on the "United Ministry to Migrants," a project which is sponsored by the United Council of Church Women of New Mexico.

Miss Coe, of Cheyenne Wells, Colo., is a recent graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University in Lincoln, where she studied sociology and music. While in college Miss Coe was active in various student service projects. She was a member before a picture window, was banked with dahlias of faded colors, tied with satin bows. The bride wore a steel gray dress and gray suede pumps, blue accessories and a pink carnation corsage. For the tradition of something old, new, blue and red, she wore a pair of red shoes borrowed from her mother. Something old was a locket, something new, her ensemble, something blue, her accessories.

The bride was attended by sister, Mrs. Harold Williams, who wore a black moire taffeta dress with a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom was attended by Harold Williams, brother-in-law of the bride.

After the ceremony, a buffet supper was served. The bride and groom were with a wedding bell edged in white. "Happiness, Wanda-Aides" inscribed on it. Mrs. Williams played soft music during the reception.

The bride received her education in the Artesia school. Mr. Rowe has been a resident of Artesia the last five years. He received his education in East Texas. He is employed by the Texas Food Store.

Six Are Honored At Luncheon On Last Friday Noon

Six Southeast New Mexico women were honored Friday noon at a luncheon at the Masonic Temple for having been members of the New Mexico Federated Women's Clubs continuously since the third district was organized in 1911.

The luncheon, served by the White Shrine, was one of the social events in connection with the third district convention here last Thursday and Friday.

Buy Spraying Equipment Now, Advises Rierson

Farmers who plan to use 2,4-D for weed control next spring should be thinking about spray equipment now, as demands for spraying far exceeded the supply during the last year, when the chemical was widely used to control weeds, according to County Agent Dallas Rierson.

For safety and effectiveness, use separate spray equipment in applying 2,4-D, the agent advises. The chemical is highly potent. It will kill or damage most broad-leaved plants—valuable crops as well as weeds. Small quantities left in a sprayer later used for insecticides or fungicides will damage sensitive plants.

The weed killer should be applied at low pressure, from 40 to 60 pounds per square inch. Use a sprayer equipped with coarse nozzles that make a fan-shaped spray, to avoid fine mists likely to drift long distances and to injure other crops.

"Equipment of this type can be built on the farm," said Rierson. "Whether you build or buy, use a sprayer large enough to get over your acreage within three or four days."

Feed Isn't To Blame For All Poultry Trouble

When the poultry flock runs into trouble, don't jump to the conclusion that the feed is at fault! Experience shows that nearly all the samples of feed alleged to have killed chickens proved on proper laboratory examination to be perfectly harmless, according to a report from the Bureau of Animal Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. When feeds are found to be at fault, it is almost always a deficiency in the ration used, rather than the presence of harmful ingredients, that causes death or disease symptoms.

"The first impulse of many poultrymen seems to be to take a sample of feed and have an analysis made when diseases of unknown origin appears," the report states. "This course of action hardly ever results in a solution of the problem."

Of course, diets for poultry are sometimes deficient in vitamins A or D, or riboflavin or manganese, but such deficiencies, the department's specialists say, are much more easily detected by examining the chickens than by feed analysis.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Your Most Important Right

Now that the bandstand has been painted, and the park re-landscaped, we have about the nicest village green in the county.

And it's all because, at the last town election, folks got out and voted—85 per cent of them! That way, they passed the amendment calling for park improvements—over those opposing it.

Reminds you again how important the right to vote is in this country. And it's a right we can retain only by exercising it!... like all the other individual liberties—from freedom to enjoy a glass of beer or ale, to a woman's right to vote along with men.

Folks can thank themselves that on summer evenings they'll be able to listen to band concerts in a well-kept park... enjoying a bottle of beer or soda pop (whichever they prefer). Because from where I sit, that's a freedom they've earned by exercising a still more important freedom: Voting!

First Aid Kits Are Essential On All Farms

First aid kits are essential equipment on every farm, says County Agent Dallas Rierson. Facilities for prompt treatment of injury may save a life or prevent serious infection.

According to recommendations of the National Safety Council, a good first aid kit need not be expensive or difficult to provide. Homemade kits containing the essential medications, drugs, and dressings may serve equally as well as the more costly prepared kits on the market.

The county agent recommended the following materials for assembling a good first aid kit:

'Iron Curtain' Brings Story Behind Headlines

With the showing Friday and Saturday at the Landstun Theater of "The Iron Curtain" starring Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney, Twentieth Century-Fox brings to screen life the actual story behind headlines that startled the world just two years ago.

The amazing disclosures of a worldwide network of intrigue that erupted in Canada with the exposure last year of a fabulously complex and daring atom bomb plot, brought to light a story unequalled by anything that even E. Phillips Oppenheim, that old master of spy fiction, ever wrote. It proved to be, in fact, the most amazing plot in 3300 years of recorded espionage.

The dramatic and suspenseful—yet true, documented—story was filmed with the same technique so successfully employed in "The House on 92nd Street" in "The Iron Curtain," the realistic screen style which has proven more exciting than any fiction in such pictures as "13 Rue Madeleine," "Boomerang" and "Call Northside 777," throws a brilliant, all-revealing light on modern espionage in a manner that has all the startling conviction of reality.

Author Milton Krims, one of Hollywood's more brilliant scenarists, who wrote "Confessions of a Nazi Spy," examined 1800 documents and spent months in Ottawa, Canada, and Washington, D. C., to obtain the data used in "The Iron Curtain." He found that espionage today ranks as a major industry in the fabulous game of power politics. He discovered actual episodes so fantastic that he was forced to leave them out of his script because they were unbelievable.

As the couple in "The Iron Curtain" who are destined always to live in danger and never to know a quiet moment, the studio chose Dana Andrews and Gene Tierney. Andrews is seen as Gouzenko, the Embassy code clerk who exposed the spy ring, while Miss Tierney is his wife, Anna, who wanted only that their son be brought up in a country free from fear.

June Havoc provides a modern antidote to the classic conception of the sly female spy with her portrayal of Karanova. Others in the outstanding supporting cast include Berry Kroeger as John Grubb, chief Canadian contact for the spy ring; Edna Best as Mrs. Foster, the good neighbor who befriended Anna; Stefan Schnabel as Ranev, ruthless head of the spy ring; Nicholas Joy as Dr. Norman, sympathetic physicist on the National Research Council; Eduard Franz as Major Kulin, who dared disobey orders; and Frederic Tozere, as the Embassy's imperious military attaché.

Need For Wool Laboratory Is Clearly Shown

A sheepman who is selecting a ram to improve his herd must know, accurately, the value of the ram's fleece. In Press Bulletin 1023 of the New Mexico Experiment Station, P. E. Neale, animal husbandman with the station, reports that anything short of a laboratory test may be too inaccurate to determine the value of an individual fleece.

Last spring, Neale had an opportunity to test this statement. A rancher, who wanted to begin an improvement program for his herd, had a group of 67 purebred rams from which he wanted to select the 15 top rams for breeding purposes.

The criterion was to be the value of the fleece produced by the rams. They were sheared in May, and samples were taken for testing at the college wool-testing laboratory. However, because the laboratory is required full-time for student use during the nine months of regular school, the grower's wool had to wait for scouring until summer.

In the meantime, the rancher wanted to start breeding for an early lamb crop. Therefore, Neale agreed to estimate the value of the fleeces from the sample by using the grease fleece weight, the wool length, and his estimate of the shrinkage. This method of estimating has been successfully used to determine the value of entire clips from herds. However, later results showed that the method is not accurate enough for use with individual sheep.

During the summer, the samples were scoured in the laboratory, and the values of the fleeces were determined. As there was less chance for inaccuracy in the laboratory results, Neale expressed his estimates as percentages of the laboratory results. By his estimate of shrinkage, he selected 80 per cent of the top 15 wool-producing rams, but by the heaviest fleece weights, he had been able to select only 56.25 per cent of the top rams, and by the longest staple, the estimate was only 50 per cent accurate. When wool length of 2.75 inches and more was used in combination with fleece weight of 17 pounds and more, the estimate was 58.82 per cent accurate, and when a wool length of 2.5 inches and more was combined with a fleece weight of 20 pounds and more, the estimate was 57.14 per cent accurate.

Individual sheep vary extremely in ability for wool production, Neale says. He reports that wool

Ranchers, Farmers Meet at A & M, October 11-12

Hundreds of farmers and ranchers from New Mexico, Arizona, Texas, and other Southwestern states are expected to attend annual Ranch Day (Oct. 11) and Farm Day (Oct. 12) near Las Cruces. The Southwestern Forest and Range Experiment Station and the New Mexico A&M College experiment station will play host to the ranchers at the Jornada Range, where livestock men will see and hear about the results of latest experiments in range management.

On the campus of the New Mexico A&M College, farmers and staff members of the experiment station will explain and discuss recent research findings about crops.

UPPER RIGHT—G. W. Evans, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association, will be one of the principal speakers on this year's Ranch Day program.

LOWER RIGHT—At Farm Day last year, farmers and college specialists talked over the possibilities of hybrid corn for the Southwest.

growers who are starting improved breeding programs need accurate shrinkage data on the fleece from individual sheep, and that can only be obtained in a laboratory.

Anyone who would like a complete report on this may obtain a copy of Press Bulletin 1023 from the Experiment Station at State College, or from his county agent.

State 4-H Club Enrollment Is Highest Ever

New Mexico's 4-H Club enrollment has gained 1340 members in the last year. Present enrollment totals 8064, compared with last year's 6723. The 3747 boys and the 4317 girls belong to 395 clubs, under the supervision of 624 local leaders. The enrollment is the highest in all the 34 years of 4-H Club work in New Mexico.

During the past year, club members have engaged in 11,882 projects, most of them involving food preparation, baking, and clothing. Members took part in 87 separate activities, covering all phases of agriculture and homemaking, ranging from cooking, sewing, and growing crops to beef calves, floriculture, and bees.

Among the girls, the most popular project is clothing, with 2769 girls enrolled in one or more of the units. Foods and baking projects are almost as popular, with 1429 entries in baking, 925 in food preparation, and 202 in canning and freezing foods—a total of 2556 in foods work.

If you're shooting for extra engine protection this fall, let these two pointers show you why you should switch to winter-grade Conoco Nth today:

Pointer number one: Nth Motor Oil gives you extra protection because Nth contains a special, added ingredient that fastens an extra film of lubricant to your engine's working parts... actually OIL-PLATES them. What's more, this OIL-

PLATING stays up on cylinder walls... won't all drain down... even overnight.

Pointer number two: Free-flowing, winter-grade Nth saves battery drain and nerve strain because it's specially refined to give you faster starts when the temperature drops. So, your best bet yet for double protection is to get set for winter today! Train your sights on the nearest Conoco Mileage Merchant and...:

Costly—

(Continued From Front Page) used by the seeds was easily counted with the atom-counting device. As a boon to manufacturers of machinery, Dr. Smith illustrated how the wear on bearings can be detected in far less time than with conventional methods used today. By coating a bearing surface with radioactive carbon and using in a machine, then draining off a small amount of the oil used in lubrication and counting the number of radioactive carbon particles that have worn from the surface of the bearing and escaped into the lubricating oil, the rate of wear of a bearing can be determined without disassembling the machine and in a fraction of the time now required. Dr. Smith touched lightly upon the atomic composition of all things material, and said it is just as well the human cannot see this bustling activity in apparently solid and sturdy objects, else it would be a very confusing world. The untold possibilities in the field of medicine was related in brief by Dr. Smith. The difficult treatment of diseased bones was pointed out in particular. With the aid of controlled radioactive isotopes, diseased bone and bone marrow are at last subject to rapid and complete cure through atomic research and science. An entirely new way of doing things, a much simpler and more positive way, is being opened to humanity through atomic research and development as a result of the colossal gamble, Dr. Smith concluded, thus turning out to be the wisest investment this nation has ever made. Dr. Smith was accompanied by Mrs. Smith at the Kiwanis luncheon. Other guests were John E. Farmer of Magnam, Okla., Art King of Tanton, Mass., Gerald McBride of Roswell, and Dr. C. Pardue Bunch and Tom Hymer of Artesia.

As each annual tour is made in a different part of the nation, it may be many years before the band returns to this section of the Southwest, members of the Lions Club pointed out. At the weekly meeting of the club Wednesday noon, J. B. (Buster) Muick, precinct Democratic chairman, and Bill Dunnam, Eddy County Republican chairman, admonished the Lions to do their part in getting out a good and representative vote for the general election in November. The rival chairmen, who agree on that one point, presented a similar program at a recent meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

Continental—

(continued from page one) endeavor appears to us designed to retain its advantage without meeting this public responsibility. The formal hearing of the application of Pioneer Airlines to render service to Artesia on its Amarillo to El Paso run was held Tuesday by Walter W. Bryan, trial examiner from the CAB in Washington, D. C., at the Hilton Hotel in Albuquerque. Artesia was represented by Mayor Oren C. Roberts, J. D. Smith, manager of the Southwestern Public Service Company, and Luther E. Sharpe, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce. Manager Sharpe said that about six months ago the city of Artesia invited Continental Airlines to render service to Artesia. In a letter dated at that time from President Robert F. Fix, he said, "It is not in the interests of Continental Airlines to give service to Artesia. We do not deem it feasible. However, there is a newly certificated carrier, Pioneer Airlines, whose home is Houston, Texas, and I suggest that you contact them." The chamber manager said that in the light of that statement and the factual data which Artesia representatives are presenting at the hearing, it is hoped that the CAB will permit Pioneer Airlines to serve Artesia.

Local Nimrods Bag Buck Antelope During Season Last Week End

A number of local nimrods bagged buck antelope during the season from Friday noon to Sunday sunset, on various assigned areas. What was probably the finest trophy bagged by a local hunter, or perhaps in the state, was a fine buck killed in the Alamogordo area by Ed Havins, which game wardens said was the finest they had seen in some years. Although a complete list of successful hunters is impossible to compile, it was learned that among those bagging antelope were Clarence Fischbeck, J. L. Briscoe, R. N. Russell, Harold (Dude) Dunn, Jewell Heard, Jim Allen, Judge J. D. Josey, Emil Bach, and "Cotton" Pittman.

Good Cooking Tricks to Know

By ALICE DENHOFF. THERE are tricks and little touches in cooking just as there are in everything else, from painting to pressing. Take the matter of jellied maderine, which can be either very insipid or very inspired eating. To serve 4, soften 2 tsp. gelatin in 1/2 c. cold water. Simmer together 4 c. fresh or canned tomatoes, 2 bouillon cubes, 1/2 tsp. pickling spices, 1/2 onion finely minced, and salt and pepper to taste. Strain. Pour over softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Chill until jellied. When ready to serve, brown 1/2 c. dried bread crumbs in 2 tsp. butter or margarine over low heat. Add grated cheese to suit, and a few grains cayenne pepper. Sprinkle over jellied soup. For something special, serve garnished.

Record Crop Of Feed Grains Is Year's Forecast

A record crop of feed grains is in prospect for the nation this year. Present estimates for the nation's corn crop is now placed at 3,500,000,000 bushels, or 1,100,000,000 bushels more than was produced last year. Estimates also point to a bumper crop of the other important feed grains, oats, barley, and sorghum grain. Livestock numbers are the smallest in 10 years, and with the large crops of corn and other grains, available feed should be greatly improved over last year. In addition, a large hay carryover from last year for the nation as a whole, plus a better-than-average hay crop this year, should provide, generally ample hay per animal. The harvest yields of wheat turned out better than expected in the wheat belt, and the 1,300,000,000 bushels produced is second only to last year's record crop. The prospects for other crops also appear bright. The cotton forecast of 15,169,000 bales indicates the seventh largest cotton crop on record. The soybean crop, estimated at 205,000,000 bushels, will break all previous records. The peanut crop indicated at 2,300,000,000 pounds, will be another record. Prices for meat animals and dairy and poultry products have increased and have more than offset the decline in prices of grain, soybeans, and cotton. As a whole, cash receipts for farm products were up 4 per cent during the first seven months of this year. However, it is expected that net farm incomes are down a little due to higher production costs during the same period.

Some Farm Support Prices Are Now At Levels That Are Down

Prices of some farm products had been supported at somewhat lower levels beginning in 1933, as a part of an over-all program of economic recovery. After the droughts of the 30's, the emphasis was on the ever-normal granary idea of storing the surplus in years of high production. Support prices in this period (1938-1941) were instrumental in building up large stocks of wheat, corn, and cotton. These stocks of wheat and corn were extremely valuable when it became necessary to expand livestock production to supply the armed forces, fighting allies, and domestic requirements. The large stocks of cotton permitted a reduction in cotton acreage with an expansion of oilseed production in the south. Because of the war and post-war needs, stocks at the present time are at very low levels even though crop conditions have been unusually favorable for several years. It will be to the advantage of the entire economy if stocks are built up in order to meet needs during the inevitable years of adverse weather and crop conditions. With respect to support prices generally, there are two items which need to be noted. First, support prices are in effect a form of insurance. Farmers are requested to hold or maintain production at a level which will meet domestic and foreign needs, and in return they are given some assurance against disastrous price breaks. Second, actual support-price operations have been relatively minor during the war and so far in the postwar period.

Sprouse-Reitz Store Is To Be Quite Different

Earl Cox, manager of the Sprouse-Reitz Company store, announced this week the new store building now under construction at 407 West Quay Avenue will be quite different from the old store on Main Street and will be of new and modern design.

Construction is being done in connection with the future home of the J. C. Penney Company store on the corner of Fourth and Quay. Homer Campbell is contractor on both buildings.

The Sprouse-Reitz building will be 30x140 feet and will be of brick and hollow tile construction.

The front, Cox said, will be of the "see-through" type, and with decorations of brown and green, with the old Sprouse-Reitz color combination of red and silver done away with.

Cox said it is the present plan of the company to continue to operate the old store, as well as the new.

Funds Campaign Is Being Planned For Boys Ranch

A statewide fund-raising effort will be conducted this fall for the purpose of expanding and developing New Mexico Boys Ranch over a three-year period, it was announced by A. E. Buck, president of the board of directors.

The total goal, area quotas, and campaign leadership will be announced as plans are formulated by a steering committee to be headed by Joe Heaston, executive board member.

Wade Green and His Prize Calf

Here are Wade Green and his calf which took fourth over all among 91 animals in the heavy division at the recent New Mexico State Fair.

The calf was bought from young Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Green, by the Artesia Farmers' Gin Company, Charlie Rogers, the First National Bank, and the L. P. Evans Store at the premium price of 70 cents a pound, as compared with a packer's bid of 33 cents.

The animal weighed 1129 pounds and brought to the local boy $790.30. He came from the herd of R. U. Boyd at Carlsbad.

Another honor earned by young Green at the State Fair included first place in cotton with 20 open bolls. And he took first place in the 4-H division at the Eastern New Mexico Fair at Roswell.

Green, who is 17 years old, has been in 4-H Club work seven the Rio Grande and on the south by Highway 60.

It has been operated two years under the supervision of Charles E. Minton, executive director and one of the founders of the project. Members of the board and advisors who make up the governing body serve without pay and are representative of a large area of the state.

Help build up YOUR COWS with PURINA RANGE CHECKERS... a quality range supplement

Yes, many cattlemen get 90% calf crops—some almost 100%—by feeding Purina Range Checkers for 3 to 5 months during the winter. And their calves are usually enough bigger in size to more than pay the cost of the feed. All this is made possible because the cows are usually brought through the winter in better condition on Purina Range Checkers.

Why? Because Range Checkers contain 3 kinds of proteins—cottonseed, linseed and soybean oil meal... plus minerals, and molasses—a fine conditioner.

So, before you buy or book feed, ask us about Range Checkers. IT'S PRICED RIGHT!

Internal Parasites Loot Farmers of Huge Toll

Few criminals ever dream of committing a 125 million dollar robbery. But that's the amount in internal parasites steal from the U. S. livestock industry every year. Because the parasites are hidden, the farmer never will see the thieves at work. However, they keep right on causing losses day and night.

Parasites cause diseased animals and poultry to eat more grain and other feeds than healthy stock eat. They stunt the growth of young animals and sometimes kill them. Affected animals generally bring lower prices when shipped to market.

Internal parasites can be controlled. Phenothiazine, carbon tetrachloride, hexachlorethane, sodium fluoride and carbon disulfide are used to fight certain types of parasites. The advice of a local veterinarian should be secured to determine the proper method of treatment.

Spoilage of Stored Grain Hinges on Bin's Condition

Grain can be stored almost indefinitely with little deterioration in farm-type bins—those that hold 1,000 to 3,000 bushels—if the bins are kept dry, cool, clean and free of insects, according to the USDA. For control of insect infestation, chief reliance must be placed on fumigation. Shelled corn has been stored for several years with a loss of less than 1 per cent, according to official reports.

Machinery Is Revamping Farming in Cotton Belt

Nearly a million tractors today are in action on farms in the 18 cotton-producing states, saving time and labor in nearly every phase of cotton production. The invasion of machinery into the South's white cotton fields is eliminating the back-breaking task of producing the cotton crop.

Man's mechanical helpers achieve in a few hours what formerly took days of costly human labor. For example, the flame cultivator, attached to a tractor, removes grass and weeds from the field at one-tenth the former cost.

An experiment in the coastal plains area of North Carolina showed that while 118 man hours are required to produce an acre of cotton by the old man-mule methods, use of two-row tractor equipment, mechanical choppers, flame cultivators and machine pickers cuts the man-hour requirements to 18.7 per acre.

Machines capable of harvesting a bale of cotton in slightly more than an hour are now a reality instead of a remote possibility. While the average hand-picker gathers about 15 pounds of seed cotton an hour, a single mechanical picker in the same field harvests about 1,500 pounds in 2 hours, 20 minutes. Thus, the mechanical harvester accomplishes the work of 40 to 50 human pickers.

One of the most important points a person considers when they eat away from home, is the sanitary conditions of the kitchen from which their food comes. In this Merchants and Farmers Review, we wish to recommend Mr. Virgil Phillips and Zeke Gilliland, the management of the Rainbow Drive-Inn, on keeping such a clean kitchen and serving really good food. Be sure and stop at the Rainbow Drive-Inn the next time you are in Roswell and want food well prepared.—Adv.

Former German PW, Who Picked Cotton On O'Bannon Place, Writes

Miss Mary Frances O'Bannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn O'Bannon of the Cottonwood community, has received a letter from Erich Valentin of Kassel-Wilhelmshöhe, Hessen, Germany, in the United States zone, who picked cotton on the O'Bannon farm while a prisoner of war at the side camp north of Artesia.

The letter, written in English, is one of a number Miss O'Bannon has heard from Valentin, with whom she has been carrying on a correspondence. She and her family remember him well. The letter reads: Dear Mary Frances:

It's some weeks ago for I get your nice letter with the birthday card but please excuse me for I let wait you such a long time. It was a bad year for me then I have lot of work I was outside of Kassel in the capital of Hessen in Frankfurt I was removed till last Saturday and because the railway does cost many money I was only three times about Sunday at home. I left Kassel from 4th July to 4th of September.

My father became old and was sick. His heart was double so long how it must be and so he can't get air. My mother was operated in a hospital three times. She had had a break on both sides. I'll beg to God that He make all to our goods and I cannot miss anyone of my parents. My little sister which is now nine in Oktober and I are healthy.

I had had a good livingroom in Frankfurt and the people was very neat. I worked there at the post direction and had to work for the railway post, and 14 days to calculate the play of the official and the labourers. But now I'm again at home and I am happy therefor. But now the work in our garden was all lay down from July and so I work in them from rise to night. I work at the post office till five and than I drive with me bicycle in twenty minute home. Even Sunday I work in the garden. We have this year a nice crop of fruits and so we had to eat when we go in our garden.

I'll hope that you, your father, mother, brother and Douglas' family are still healthy I think very often to your country for now pretty soon the cotton crop begins. We get many cotton from the United States for our country.

Your pretty air force had to make this days their graetst work and proposition to bring food to Berlin. The howl day and night the airplanes fly about our house to do their best.

We all hope that the Great God in the Heaven will present to the world the peace alltime. If He can give us a new war it will in the sometime our all end and so I'll come for this time to an end.

I have no news to tell you. You must put same questions what you want to hear from me. Our town and Germany and I'll send you the answer.

It's now eleven o'clock at night and at rise thirty the night was out. I wish you and your parents and brother all good and I good night. Please let hear from you and greet Douglas and his family. It remains with many good wishes and greets to you, your father and mother and brother. Your German friend, Erich.
