HELPING TO BUILD A GREATER ARTESIA

VOLUME FORTY-FIVE

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 30, 1948

NUMBER 53

News For Year Is Less Spectacular Than 1947

Local news for the Artesia 1948 was far less spectacular than 1947, with fewer violent and other stories which made big headlines.

There were sufficient stories of general interest to warrant a year-end roundup, but perhaps not enough to attempt to do a 10th place as was done last year, when a poll was made.

Several stand above others near just closing, not necessarily stories which took one time and then were repeated but rather those covering weeks or months.

Such was the paving program with an advertisement for construction, but to a voluntary system, more than 200 protests were from property owners, in the ground that the cost would be too costly. The project is advancing nicely as the winter approaches.

Hundreds of a number of petitions, the petitioning of the Aeronautics Board by the Artesia and Pioneer Air Club, and a regular flight between Amarillo and Paso should be well along. That story has not been completed, as the CAB has not yet made a ruling, but a favorable ruling is expected within the next several weeks.

Story near the top was the conclusion of a fight between the State Highway 285 west of the Rio Grande, but the cotton was in and ginned by Christmas. And a sidelight on that general story was the importing of about 7000 Mexican nationals in the valley to pick the record crop. Although rainfall in 1948 was far below normal and general drought conditions have prevailed, a downpour of 5.65 inches last June 20 and the resultant death of two Santa Fe Railway trainmen when a passenger train was wrecked on a washout between Carlsbad and Artesia mad headlines and a spectacular story.

respectively on Jan. 19 and 22, three days apart, at the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company plant and the Espuella gin of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association. The two fires were by far the most costly in this area for the year.

Some considered the Highway 83 celebration in the Sacramento Mountains on Aug. 31 one of the outstanding stories of the year, because of the good will and advertising Artesia derived.

Others considered the V-J Day celebration here Aug. 13-15 and the concerts by the United States Navy Band Oct. 9 as among the top stories. Both were big community events, but both lost money. Nevertheless, both were "something" for a city of this size.

In general, the growth of Artesia, which spread over the entire 12 months, was one of the biggest stories, for everyone has been amazed at the continued development and expansion, making for a better and more prosperous community. That story is retold elsewhere in this issue.

The solution of the Morris Field problem, which had been discussed for years, made one of the top stories of 1948. The field, which has been under city ownership, is being transferred to a title in the school system, whereas plans are being discussed for a new municipal athletic field and recreational park.

To the farmers, the greatest cotton crop in history makes one of the best stories of the year. Not only was the picking started about a week earlier than ever before, but the cotton was in and ginned by Christmas. And a sidelight on that general story was the importing of about 7000 Mexican nationals in the valley to pick the record crop. Although rainfall in 1948 was far below normal and general drought conditions have prevailed, a downpour of 5.65 inches last June 20 and the resultant death of two Santa Fe Railway trainmen when a passenger train was wrecked on a washout between Carlsbad and Artesia mad headlines and a spectacular story.

Too many others have been mentioned by businessmen interviewed to list them all.

But among those which some thought should be in the top 10 stories for 1948 in the Artesia area were:

Organization of the Peoples State Bank of Artesia.

Increase of the Chamber of Commerce budget to $20,000 and the start of a more concerted activity by that body, including the economic and industrial survey which was made and through which further expansion is planned.

The new sanitary ordinance, under which all eating and drinking establishments must meet State Health Department requirements in order to operate.

The city election last April, as well as the overwhelming Democratic plurality given in the general election in November, not only to President Truman, but to candidates for state offices.

The "bombing" of Artesia, when a refueling hose dropped from two B-29 Superfortresses, which were making a practice run while flying over the city, resulting in an interruption of electric power and telephone service.

'Dutch' Sole, 65, Oil Well Driller, Dies On Tuesday

Charles Ephriam (Dutch) Sole, 65, an oil well driller, died at 11:50 o'clock Tuesday morning at his residence, 203 West Dallas Avenue, after a brief illness.

He was born May 30, 1883, at Sardinia, Ohio, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sole, who preceded him in death.

Mr. Sole and Ella Thompson were married in 1910 at New Martinsville, W. Va. They had no children. Surviving Mr. Sole, besides his widow, are two brothers and a sister, Grover C. Sole, Garnett, Kan.; W. C. Sole, Brostow, Okla.; and Mrs. Hattie Merkel, Hagerstown, Md.

Mr. Sole, who came here about 10 years ago from Odessa, Texas, was a member of the Methodist Church.

Funeral services will be from the First Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. W. L. Willingham, pastor. Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery.

Arrangements were made for the services by Paulin Funeral Home.

Cmdr. Wathen, Former Artesian Dies In Arizona

Cmdr. H. E. Wathen, U.S.N., retired, 64, who lived in Artesia as a boy and who was a brother of M. E. Wathen of Artesia, died Wednesday at Tempe, Ariz., his home.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Wathen planned to leave today for funeral services, which will be held at Tempe. However, they had not learned the date or time.

Commander Wathen is survived by his widow, a son and three daughters, six brothers, and a sister.

He came to Artesia in 1906 as a boy and later was school superintendent at Malaga, from where he entered the Navy in 1909 as a yeoman, from which he worked up through the ranks to be commissioned and to advance to a command.

Certain Streets Are Renamed To Avoid Confusion

The City Council at a meeting Monday night passed an ordinance designed to overcome confusion in the naming of certain streets and avenues in the city by changing their names and establishing new ones.

The ordinance points out there are certain streets, avenues, and extensions which bear names on portions which cause confusion and difficulty in numbering and locating residential property abutting them.

Five days from the date of legal publication of the ordinance, which is being made in this issue of The Advocate, the new names will go into effect. That date will be next Tuesday, Jan. 4, nearly coinciding with the start of the New Year.

The changes as passed by the council in the new ordinance:

- From Macklin Street to Bullock Avenue.
- From Denton Court to Denton Street.
- From Church Street to James Street.
- From Fairview to James Street.
- From Yuca to Hank.
- From Avenue "A" to Bush Street.
- From Heggie to Lolita.
- From State to North Fourth.
- From Higgins to North Fifth.
- From Combs to North Sixth.
- From Easy to North Seventh.

Lake Arthur-Cottonwood Methodist Conference To Be Held Sunday

The quarterly conference of the Lake Arthur and Cottonwood Methodist Churches will be at the Lake Arthur church Sunday, when Rev. A. C. Douglas of Pecos, Texas, district superintendent, will speak at 11 o'clock.

After the worship service, a business conference will be held. All official members have been asked to attend, and an invitation has been issued to everyone to be present.

Building Permits Pass Million During 1948

For the first time in history, building permits in Artesia passed the million dollar mark, while some of the city's finest structures were completed and occupied, as the Oil Center of New Mexico continues to grow and advance.

At present there are a number of other fine buildings under construction, the permits for which were numbered among those issued in 1948.

Figures in the office of Tom Ragsdale, city clerk, showed that in 1948 up to Tuesday morning, building permits during the year totaled $1,101,537, as compared with $782,042, for 1947, the previous record, an increase of 40 per cent, and with $689,622 for 1946, which was the high up to that time.

Those who have been building the last year and are building today admit that construction costs have increased considerably year by year, but activities in both business and residential housing indicate a substantial increase in the building tempo likewise.

Among the finest and most costly buildings completed during 1948 were the new First National Bank home, the body and paint shop of Guy Chevrolet Company, the Clyde Guy Malco Distributor building, the Rowley Building, in which the Williams Furniture Company is located, and the new building of the Southern Union Gas Company. The two Guy structures and the Southern Union's building were started and completed during 1948, while the others were started in 1947 and finished this year.

But there were many other new buildings completed and occupied in Artesia during the year just closing, all of which were definite improvements to the community. Jim L. Ferguson built two of them at Second and Texas Avenue, one of which is occupied by the Allen Oil Company's No. 2 station, and the other by Jim L. Ferguson Trucking Company.

Although the Masonic Temple was dedicated in December, 1947, there still remained considerable work to be done in 1948. For that matter, it is not complete as yet, but for all practical purposes may be considered finished.

Likewise the new Church of Christ building, started in 1947, was completed this year, as were the educational units of the First Baptist Church and the First Methodist Church.

Among the other of the finer and more costly new buildings built during 1948 were those housing the Richards Electric Shop, La Vaughan Beauty Shop, Artesia Implement & Supply Company, and the American Cafe.

Although less conspicuous, but nevertheless a nice improvement, was the building of a large warehouse by Bowman Lumber Company on the rear of the yard.

Another costly improvement from an industrial standpoint was a half million dollar expansion at the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company plant started several months ago.

And there were a number of other business buildings constructed during the year, a complete list of which is impossible to compile. At the same time, "face liftings" in the business section were among the more conspicuous improvements of the year.

Outstanding were the enlargement and complete remodeling of the Artesia Pharmacy building and the remodeling of the ground floor of the Ward building for occupancy by Thompson-Price Company. The old McClay Furniture Store location underwent extensive changes and the building was given a new front for the C. R. Anthony Company store.

Mann Drug Company also put a new front on its building, making for another outstanding improvement on Main Street. The Artesia Auto Company and Cox Motor Company buildings were remodeled and given new fronts during the year, and the office and display room portion of the Guy Chevrolet Company building is at this time undergoing a remodeling job.

The remodeling of the Sy Edgerton building at First and Texas for the bus depot was another outstanding improvement of the year. And started this week, at the year's end, was the improvement of the office building of Big Jo Lumber Company, with a new front and asbestos roof planned.

Three splendid new buildings were started in recent months, with hopes all will be occupied the early part of 1949. These are the Peoples State Bank building, and the buildings being constructed for the occupancy of the J. C. Penney Company and Sprouse-Reitz. All three are coming along nicely at Fourth and Quay Avenue, as the business section expands in that direction.

But besides the many business improvements and additions, there have been many more in the residential areas. Conspicuous are those in the Alta Vista Addition, which has grown up rapidly during the last year, and in which a number of other houses are now building, and in the Fairacres Addition to the west of Alta Vista, development of which started this year, and where a number of houses are now under construction.

The area south of the Hightower Addition is expanding, and Bruce Road is being built up more and more, taking the city a number of blocks south of what was being used only a few months ago.

New homes and small business places have sprung up during 1948 on the Hope highway, the construction of which does not show up in the list of building permits. But they constitute an expansion of Artesia housing.

Outstanding in the picture for 1949 are a number of major improvements, although there probably are others being talked, and still others will develop.

Among them are the new church and recreational building being planned by the First Presbyterian Church.

And then there is a junior high school building in the offing, for the construction of which a bond issue election is to be called.

The new fire station, approval of which was obtained this year, will probably be constructed in 1949. And it is hoped a new building will be constructed for use as a postoffice. Bids for such a building were asked early this month, but it will be several weeks before action is taken. But that a post-office building will be constructed is almost certain, for the lease on the present quarters will expire June 30, and R. N. Russell, owner, has asked that he be given possession of his building at that time, preferring not to renew the lease. And if that is done, then Russell probably will improve the building for another advancement of the business area during 1949.

Although no announcement has been made, it likewise is probable the building formerly occupied by the First National Bank will be remodeled early this year by Mrs. C. R. Blocker, owner.

It has been announced by the Artesia Elks Lodge an addition will be made on the present building, which will be one of the major improvements from a cost standpoint.

Indications at this time, building permits in 1949 may surpass those issued during the current year, but only time can tell.

Rierson Gives Artesia Advocate Pat On The Back

The Artesia Advocate received a pat on the back from County Agent Dallas Rierson this week for the service the newspaper has given farmers and ranchers by carrying important farm news and information in 1948.

As an example, the county agent pointed out the way in which the newspaper handled stories on soil improvement and timely information on irrigated pastures.

"Without the help of The Artesia Advocate, it would have been difficult to inform farmers and ranchers about their problems and possible solutions," Rierson said.

In addition to running releases from the county agent's office during the last year, the newspaper also carried important agriculture news stories quoting subject matter of specialists on the staff of New Mexico A. & M. College, Rierson pointed out.

Passenger Car Licenses For 1949 On Sale

Automobile licenses for 1949 are now available at a new license office opened Monday in the former Ocotillo Theater office by Quentin Rodgers.

For the present only, passenger licenses are available, but truck and trailer licenses are expected within the next two or three weeks.

Drivers' licenses for 1949 are available at the city hall for all having 1948 licenses, while after the first of the year, those not having licenses for this year will be eligible to apply for the new ones.

And Bill Lewis, State Police patrolman, reminded motor vehicle operators this week the new brake and light inspection stickers will be due as of Jan. 1. The stickers have been received by the local checking stations and may be obtained now for vehicles which pass inspection.

That Old Bugaboo, Teacher Housing, Comes Up Again

That old bugaboo, housing for school teachers, has popped up again, it was announced by T. Stovall, principal of Artesia High School.

Two rooms will be needed at the start of the second semester for a single woman teacher and a single man teacher, who will join the faculty.

The schools are also in need of substitute teachers holding degrees, Principal Stovall said. He asked that those wishing to do substitute work, call him at 742-NJ, leaving their names and addresses.

Two Servicemen Put Trio Chest Campaign Over Top This Week

The annual Trio Chest Campaign which had been dragging since opened in October, went over the goal of $7050 this week with the receipt of checks from the commanding officers of two local men who are in the service.

They were identified on form cards without rank or rate only as Robert C. French, Fairfield, Calif., and Charles L. Winkler, FSAFB, Calif.

Funds from the Trio Chest go to the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and Artesia Community Chest.

Rotarians Learn About Anatomy In Quiz At Weekly Lunch Meeting

A clever anatomical quiz was presented Tuesday noon at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club by Chester Miller.

Each member and guest was given a sheet with 29 suggestions for parts of the human anatomy and was allowed 10 minutes in which to complete his paper. Suggestions were such as "a tropical tree," for which the answer was "palm."

Ernest Thompson received a prize for answering the greatest number of suggestions, 22, while Pete L. Loving received the low score prize.

Holiday Season Unusually Quiet Up To This Time

The Christmas week end and the week since have been unusually quiet and peaceful with few disturbances, little hilarious celebration, no accidents of a serious nature, and nothing of importance to report, according to Police Chief O. T. Lindsey.

There were a few routine cases of intoxication in the court of Police Judge Arba Green Monday morning, but no more than an ordinary Monday.

The majority of citizens observed Christmas Eve and Christmas quietly at home and in their churches, many with relatives and other guests here for the holiday.

Still others made trips to other places to spend Christmas with friends and relatives.

The gay, social whirl of the holidays, which started Sunday, Dec. 19, with open houses, has continued, with further open houses on Christmas morning and with dances and other events.

Among the larger private parties were dances respectively last Thursday night and Tuesday night by the Hi-Flyers Club and the Pioneer Club.

The United Veterans Club sponsored a vaudeville show and public dance at the Veterans Building Christmas Eve.

The club will have another public dance there New Year's Eve, with the music furnished by Tony King and His Orchestra. Dancing is to start at 9 o'clock. Noise makers, serpentine, and other New Year's "gadgets" are to be available.

The Spanish-Americans are having their holiday dances also. The first was Christmas night and the second will be New Year's night at the Veterans Building.

NEW SKI TOW READY FOR USE AT CLOUDCROFT

The new ski tow at Cloudcroft is ready for use and will be put in operation after the first snow, it was announced this week.

The tow was sponsored by the Cloudcroft Chamber of Commerce and Lions Club. It is located in back of The Lodge on part of the old golf course.

Sportsmanship At Cage Games Is Requested

Members of Artesia High School are earnestly requesting all spectators to refrain from "booing" or from any unsportsmanlike conduct in basketball games, it was announced Wednesday by T. Stovall, principal.

During the season, much ill will and many hard feelings are caused by spectators making harsh remarks to an official or about a game, the principal stressed. He said the school requests the cooperation of the spectators, as well as that of the students and players. It was requested that these 10 rules be observed at games in Artesia:

- Never "boo."
- Never "raze" a player.
- Never create a disturbance over a referee's decision.
- Never drink; do not bet on a game.
- Conduct oneself so that neighbors may enjoy the game too.
- Take the breaks of the game as they come.
- Make visitors feel that they are welcome.
- Appreciate good basketball, whether it is one's team or the visitor's team.
- Realize that the coach is the director of the team.

Miss Rita Webb Becomes Bride Of W. E. Fleming, Jr., Here On Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Webb have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Rita Webb, to William Ernest Fleming, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fleming, Sr., of Artesia.

The vows were spoken at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist Church under an arch interlaced with greenery and white gladioli. Six baskets of white gladioli and six graduated candelabra completed the decoration.

Rev. S. M. Morgan officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Clyde Dungan, pianist, presented a selection of nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. V. E. McGuffin, who sang, "Because" and "I Love You Truly."

Bill Bolton of Lubbock, Texas, and Otice Brown lighted the tapers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white slipper satin fashioned with a lace yoke, fitted bodice trimmed in buttons of the same material, long sleeves coming to points at the wrists. Her veil of bridal illusion was fastened with a coronet of slipper satin. She carried a bouquet of two dozen pink roses showered with satin streamers. She wore a coin in her shoe for something old.

Her bridal attire served as something new. Her veil was borrowed from Mrs. Gayle D. Webb, and a blue garter served as something blue.

Miss Peggy Shortt was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Pat Watson, who wore a yellow formal; Mrs. Bill Bolton who wore a lime green formal; Miss Carol Hensley, who wore a blue formal, and Miss Pauline Settemire, who wore a pink formal. They carried colonial bouquets of assorted pastel flowers with streamers of pastel satin ribbon.

John Yates served as best man. Ushers were Eugene Batie, Gayle Webb of Waxahachie, Texas, Forest Miller, Jay Miller, Bill Bolton, and Otice Brown.

Little Patti Rue Webb was flower girl. She wore a white satin dress with a gathered skirt caught with pink satin streamers. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Mrs. Webb chose for her daughter's wedding, a dress of gray crepe with black accessories. Her corsage was two white gardenias. Mrs. Fleming, mother of the bridegroom, wore a green faille dress with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Webb were hosts at a reception held in the educational unit of the First Baptist Church. The bride's table consisted of a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom surrounded by pink roses, and the punchbowl was encircled with pink gladioli. The cake was served by Mrs. O. R. Gable, Jr., and Mrs. V. E. McGuffin poured. Miss Carol Hensley presided at the guestbook.

For traveling the bride wore a blue two-piece suit with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of pink roses. The young couple left immediately after the reception for a trip through the Sacramento Mountains. After the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Fleming will make their home at 106 Chisum street.

Look.. SEE THE CASE FARM TRUCK
Low Loading
Short Turning

● This Case farm truck carries the box low, yet has high clearance under the axles. On short turns it lifts the box a little to allow a shorter turn. Steering links are protected, up behind front axle. Drop-center wheels, tapered roller bearings, pressure lubrication are all the same as in a modern car. It's the handiest, sturdiest thing we've seen for farm hauling. Let us show it to you.

Hazel Brooks Is New Find In 'Body and Soul'

When Hollywood, the beauty capital of the world, lets a newcomer set it back on its heels, that girl must have something! And when Enterprise Studios' "Body and Soul," starring John Garfield and Lilli Palmer, opens Sunday at the Lansun Theater, movie audiences will get their first glimpse of Hazel Brooks, the 22-year-old who is causing more furore in the film citadel than any aspiring star since Carole Lombard made her first appearance on the Hollywood scene.

For Hazel not only has one of the town's most arresting faces and its indisputably most eye-stopping figure, she is a smart lass who can talk as fluently on Thomas Wolfe, the conflicting philosophies of Aristotle and Berkeley and Hume, and the Brooklyn Dodgers as she can on movie-making.

Born in Capetown, South Africa, Hazel came to America while she was still an infant. Her mother moved around so rapidly that she can't remember the first names of any of her classmates and, according to her school record, she attended 30 different grammar and high schools.

Hazel thought about studying medicine but the family exchequer couldn't cope with medical training so she started to earn money modeling with a view toward saving enough for college tuition. But before she had a chance to matriculate, Hollywood called and Hazel answered.

Meanwhile Hazel had persuaded the Jesuits at Fordham University to let her sit in on evening lectures. Then she enrolled in Columbia University extension courses between the two piled up quite varied education, including a broad understanding of philosophy, literature and such extra-curricular activities as baseball.

Right now Hazel is at the roads. She is waiting for the public reaction to her work in film to set in.

"If I'm good in the picture," she says, "I'll probably continue as an actress. If I'm no good, the picture won't wait to tell me."

Sound Picture Is To Be Shown Tonight At Presbyterian Church

The First Presbyterian Church will close its midweek devotional services of 1948 this evening with the presentation of the sound motion picture, "My Name Is Han," an authentic portrayal of life in China, graphically telling of the tremendous personal and social adjustments which the people of that ancient country are facing. The film, professionally acted and photographed, was given the "Oscar" last year by the Protestant Film Corporation.

The showing will be in the church sanctuary, starting at 7:30 o'clock. It will be preceded by the usual covered-dish fellowship supper at 6:30 o'clock. An invitation has been extended to the public to attend.

Lack Of Decimal Point Ruins Story About Wilson Mixing Accuracy

The lack of a decimal point ruined a story last week regarding the receipt of a "Certificate of Mixing Accuracy for 1947" by F. L. Wilson Feed & Farm Supply Store, cutting down the accuracy tenfold.

The story related that the certificate was awarded by the Ralston Purina Company of St. Louis because tests had shown the local firm came well within the requirements of the company, which are that all samples vary not more than half a per cent.

The story should have shown the Wilson firm's samples showed only the slight variation of 3 per cent, whereas the inadvertent omission of the decimal point showed 3 per cent.
