Family Farm Is Still Chief Unit In Ag Economy

The commercial family farm is still the chief unit in the U. S. agricultural economy, reports the Department of Agriculture. In 1945, the year of the last farm census, these farms made up more than half of the total, produced 70 per cent of the total value of products, and provided homes for more than 48 per cent of the farm population.

Large-scale farms — businesses usually large enough to be operated chiefly by hired labor—made up less than 2 per cent of the farms and less than 4 per cent of the farm people lived on them. These farms accounted for almost 22 per cent of the gross value of farm production.

At the other end of the scale, 26 per cent of the farm population lived on a million and a half small units—mostly part-time and residential—which contributed about 3 per cent of the total value of all farm production. In addition, there were nearly a million small-scale farms which contributed little to commercial agricultural production.

Many people have been alarmed about the tendency toward larger farms over the last quarter century. Evidence indicates that the medium and large commercial family farms are competing successfully with larger units, but the almost one million small-scale farms—turning out products valued at from $500 to $1200 a year—provide the "toughest problem."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Don't Forget The Trimmings

Hammy Gilbert and his two boys were out working like beavers fixing up his roadside stand the other day. It looked awfully spic and span to begin with. "Seems like you spend more time decorating the stand than you do raising stuff to sell in it," I told him.

"Joe," he says, "I believe the stand is almost more important than the produce. We get five times more customers than we used to when we had the old one."

Hammy's smart. People appreciate a clean, attractive place, whether it's for buying vegetables or stopping in to have a friendly glass of beer. That's why the brewers and the tavern owners cooperate in maintaining wholesome, attractive surroundings wherever beer or ale is sold.

From where I sit, the product should be more important than the package, but just try wrapping a birthday present for your wife in an old newspaper!

See the difference... Hear the difference!

That solid and satisfying sound when you close the door of a Chevrolet Body by Fisher typifies the finer and more durable quality which runs all through the car. There's nothing flimsy or "tinny" about this car; it provides quality that is "true-blue"—through and through!

It's the most Beautiful BUY of all

The most Beautiful BUY for Styling.
 Not only is Chevrolet's Unisteel Body by Fisher more solid, more sturdy and more satisfying to ride in, but it is also more beautifully designed, upholstered, and appointed than other bodies in the Chevrolet field. It has smarter colors, too!

The most Beautiful BUY for Comfort.
 Here, you can relax as you ride in a Super-Size Interior... featuring "Five-Foot Seats," extra-generous head, leg and elbowroom, and the advanced heating* and ventilating system of a car that breathes. (*Heater and defroster optional at extra cost.)

The most Beautiful BUY for Driving and Riding Ease—with New Center-Point Design

Just as you can see the difference and hear the difference born of quality when you close the door of a Chevrolet Body by Fisher, so you will experience the difference when you drive or ride in this car that America calls the most beautiful buy of all.

And what a decisive difference you will find in its driving and riding qualities! New Center-Point Design—including Center-Point Steering, Center-Point Seating, Lower Center of Gravity without loss of road clearance and Center-Point Rear Suspension—brings you an entirely new kind of driving and riding ease found elsewhere only in costlier cars.

Here, indeed, is the most beautiful buy of all—for total car value—because it brings you all these qualities of costlier cars at the lowest prices and with outstanding all-round economy!

The most Beautiful BUY for Thrills and Thrift. Nowhere else will you find such a perfect balance of power, acceleration, economy and dependability as you'll find in Chevrolet's Valve-in-Head Engine! That's why more and more makers are adopting Valve-in-Head design.

The most Beautiful BUY for All-Round Safety. You'll enjoy maximum safety with: (1) New Certi-Safe Hydraulic Brakes; (2) Extra-Strong Fisher Unisteel Body; (3) New Panoramic Visibility; (4) Safety Plate Glass in windshield and all windows; and (5) the super-safe Unisteel Knee-Action Ride.

New "Dub-Life" Rivetless Brake Linings—Last up to TWICE as Long!

Linings are secured to brake shoes by a special "Perma-Bond" process thoroughly tested and proved by millions of units under all kinds of driving conditions. Because there are no rivets to limit lining wear or score brake drums, lining life is practically doubled. Chevrolet is the first full-sized car to bring you this important braking advancement!

KSPV Will Join Mutual Network Sunday, March 27

Artesia radio fans will be able to receive programs of network origin with the same clarity and lack of interference with which they now receive local programs starting Sunday, when local station KSPV will join the Mutual Broadcasting System.

A preliminary check broadcast from Mutual will go on at 8:30 o'clock tonight, airing such programs as Fulton Lewis Junior and the News Inside of Sports, as well as several well known orchestras.

Starting Sunday the station will go on the regular Mutual schedule each afternoon and evening, featuring nationally-known programs.

Some of the current request programs in the late afternoons will still be heard, but Burney Jones, station manager, announced that until the Mutual schedule has been worked out satisfactorily there will be no request show in the evening.

KSPV went on the air as an independent station in November, 1946, owned by the Intermountain Broadcasting system, of which S. V. Patrick of Albuquerque was president.

Stockholders of the Artesia Broadcasting Company are T. E. Brown, Martin Yates III, Martin Yates, Jr., S. P. Yates, V. S. Welch, E. A. Paton, H. R. Pooley—

diers as just so many instruments or weapons in the Red expansion over the world, with no concern for the individual.

Pooley said the question is often heard, "Are we having an ideological war with the Russians?" He said he does not believe it is true, citing that the American ideals went around the world, that many governments have been modeled on the American system on its own merits of human freedom, without the use of fifth columnists or force, whereas the Communistic idea has been spread through the fifth column, spies, and force of arms.

The American idea has always won among free men and always will, and it is 500 years ahead of the Russian idea, Pooley pointed out, in stressing again there is no war of ideologies.

But don't sell America short, he warned. The Daily Worker, he said, follows the same lines as do the Reds of Russia, always trying to stir up dissent, insisting on a depression so they can "fish in the troubled waters."

The Russians, Pooley said, have spread Communism around the world in order to keep in power. They maintain the view, which is not the view of Americans, that both Communism and capitalism cannot exist in the same world. Instead of building their great domain, where all could live in decency, the leaders of Russia want to spread all over the world, he said.

Interest Little Daughter In Cooking-With Candy Recipes

By ALICE DENHOFF

AS many a mother has discovered through the years, one of the best methods of introducing a little girl to the kitchen is by letting her assist in the making of candy. Then, helping to clean up afterwards is part of the fun. And of course it is up to the chief cook to prepare candy that is real dreamboat stuff, and not have it "sugar" or lack smoothness.

It is a good idea at this point to introduce an old professional candy-making trick, that of using glycerine, not only to insure a smooth, even product, but to help keep the candy fresh and flavorful.

Fruit Fudge
To make a new fruit fudge, use a large saucepan and cook 3 c. granulated sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, one c. whole milk and tbs. glycerine over a low fire, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Wipe down the sides of the pan with a cloth-wrapped fork dipped in hot water. Stir occasionally to see that it is not sticking. Remove from stove when soft ball stage is reached (236 F.). Drop in 2 tsp. butter. Cool to lukewarm (110 F.) without stirring. Add 1/4 tsp. vanilla. Beat until creamy. Add 1/4 c. chopped nuts and 1/4 c. quartered red or green cherries rubbed with tbs. glycerine; pour quickly into greased pan. Cut in squares when cool. Unless a utensil with a heavy bottom is used, this has to be watched for sticking. Also when beating watch when glass begins to go as it sets so quickly, you have to pour it out rapidly (or not beat quite so much).

Chocolate Surprises will delight the small fry, too, both cooking and consuming. Combine one c. granulated sugar, 1/4 c. water, 4 tbs. glycerine and 1/4 tsp. salt. Cook to 240 F. Add red coloring to the desired amount; add 2 tbs. butter; cook to 242 F. Remove from stove; add 1/4 tsp. almond extract, and when mixture stops bubbling, dip 1/4 lb. marshmallows one at a time. Roll coated marshmallows in lightly-browned coconut (or white coconut) or chopped nuts.

To prepare the marshmallows—this is a task small girls especially will enjoy—brush off sugar, dip 1/4-inch slit with sharp knife (this operation to be performed by the head cook). Then press in whole or half candied cherry or nut meat. Allow to stand in air to dry for an hour or two before dipping in the coating mixture.

to avoid the difficulty of getting a witness known to the vendor in some other part of the state.

The general trout season will not open until May 15, but there are several special trout waters that will open April 1, full information on which is given in the game law digest.

While the general warm water season is April 1 to April 15 and May 30 to Nov. 30, the waters in Chaves and Eddy Counties in general are closed tight from April 1 to May 29 inclusive, where the season is May 30 to March 31, except the Pecos River above McMillan Dam (April 1 to March 31), Bitter Lakes Federal Refuge and Washington Ranch (June 1 to October 15) and Rio Penasco above Trail's End (May 15 to Nov. 21).

Use of carp, suckers, buffalo and gar for bait is prohibited in all waters which have been cleaned of these fish.

April 1 to Nov. 21 is the season for all species of fish on Abbott Lakes, Storrie Lake, Charette Lakes, Weatherly Lake, Horse Lake, Miami Lake, Springer Lake, Bluewater Lake and Nogal Lake.

Beginning April 1, trot lines and set lines may be used in fishing for catfish during either day or night with cut bait only. All lines must be tagged with name, address, license number, and date line was set out, and all lines must be run at least once in every 24 hours.

"Remember, buy your license in your home town and ask for the Game Law Digest," Warden Barker stressed.

fornia, in which the witness said he had some stolen property in his possession.

Chief of Police O. T. Lindsey testified as to being called to investigate the burglary and that a shirt which had been found at the laundry had been identified as belonging to Zabrenski.

The chief said it was through the pictures that police investigated at the Babers apartment, where some of the stolen clothing was recovered.

J. O. Cosper, an employe of the cleaning establishment, testified as to discovery of missing articles through the customary method of assembly. He told of the finding of the shirt in the pocket of which were pictures and a bus ticket stub.

Louis Ogg testified he had taken clothing to the cleaning place and that it was still missing, and Marshall Rowley said he had taken a number of articles there and that a pair of trousers was missing when the cleaned clothing was picked up.

Mrs. Babers testified Zabrenski had gone to El Paso about the date of the burglary, but had left no clothing with her.

Spiritual—

At this dangerous turning point in this boy's life, this might have happened and this picture changed: If this boy had been properly handled, either by the parents or some juvenile officer, instead of him being a hardened criminal of our best citizens. This boy was not a criminal when he quit school but he was shortly thereafter, for since he had no studying to do he began running around at night with no restrictions on him by his parents. One night while prowling around town, he met a criminal experienced in crime, and he easily persuaded this boy to join with him and proceeded down the road of crime. They stole small things at first, then bigger things and did not get caught. They thought they were smart and became bolder and got a gun and robbed a man of his money, spent the money and stuck up another man. Now this man refused to give up his money. He had worked for it, it was his money besides he had a family to support, so they killed him.

wrong direction, then a thief, then a robber and then a murderer. That's my picture of how this boy started in crime. Do you think it is probably correct or just my imagination? Well let me add this: About two years ago a man walked into my office in Artesia and asked me if I was a judge, I told him I was and asked him what I could do for him. These are his words: I shall always remember them: "I am a convict on parole from California. I have to make a report to my parole board every month, showing where I have been, who I have worked for, what I have made and what I did with the money I earned and have my boss sign it before I send my report in."

He said he was working on a paint gang for the Santa Fe railroad and said his boss was out of town and could not sign his report, in which case he was told to get some judge to sign the report and asked me if I would sign it. I phoned the office of the Santa Fe company and found out his report was correct and signed it.

He thanked me very kindly and started out of my office and I called him back and told him I was juvenile office of Artesia and talked to Artesia boys and girls occasionally and had an imaginary story that I told them about how I thought boys and girls often start in crime and how it progressed in their lives, so I related the imaginary picture I have just told you and asked him how it fit his case. He told me it fits his case 100 per cent and said I met that criminal one night you were talking about too and we started out.

Now let's see if we can find a remedy for juvenile delinquency. Juvenile delinquency starts at an age most parents do not realize, long before the child reaches the age to start to public school. Of course it starts in a small way, but these small ways and inclinations develop very rapidly and before you realize it, we have a problem child. Now no one can blame the child for this disposition. I think the developments and training of a child should proceed along three lines, physical, mental and spiritual.

We all consider FBI reports and opinions as authentic and reliable. These reports show a very small percentage of our delinquent juveniles come from homes where the children have been trained spiritually. So we all can arrive at this solution of the juvenile problem very readily and accurately: More Christian homes with spiritual training for boys and girls and less juvenile delinquents, and I for one believe this is the only solution.

Without this spiritual training boys and girls do not know the full meaning of right from wrong. If the child has been trained spiritually and is a Christian when they are confronted with temptation and sin, they have within them not only the love for their parents and their fellowman, they have also the love of Christ in their hearts and readily take this stand: No I will not do this; it is not right; it is wrong and it is a sin against my Saviour. Don't you see now why there is such a small percentage of the boys and girls of Christian homes who are juvenile delinquents?

Where is our real strength? Is it physically? I say no; if we had to depend on physical strength our lives would be a failure and most miserable. Moral and spiritual strength is all there is that is worth while; if we do not have moral and spiritual strength, we won't go very far and our lives will be a miserable failure in worthwhile accomplishments. Thousands and thousands of our boys and girls are developing physically and mentally and starving to death spiritually.

What did I say the FBI report showed? Most of our juvenile delinquents are coming from those boys and girls who have been starving for spiritual training and Christian homes. So many of our juveniles are the product of broken homes, divorces, separation, just a mother or just a father. Not a father and mother as it should be. Why?

Well I don't know all the answers to that question, but I can say this, most of those broken homes were broken up because the love of Christ was not in those homes, no spirituality, no strength to withstand the storms of life. So this body of young boys and girls who have traveled only a few miles on the road of life: If you haven't already accepted Christ as your personal Saviour, strengthen yourself now. Seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all else will be added unto it.

It's my opinion—might be a little old fogey—but nevertheless it is my opinion, the smart boy and girl will tell the truth and have a good chance to develop into a good citizen, but story telling boys and girls, unless corrected, will probably be lying men, and women when they are grown and I would say not good citizens.

Also the smart boy and girl will continue going to school and get an education if at all possible.

The smart boy and girl will not knowingly violate the law. Some of our boys and girls think it is smart to violate a law but it is not. The laws are made for your protection as well as protection for all the citizens.

My next opinion which I want to make as an elected public official is this: I think the smart boy and girls will refrain from drinking liquor. You ask me why I have that opinion? I'll tell you. As a judge I have seen the destruction of the body and soul of so many people brought about by drinking liquor. That is why, and I feel it is my duty to my fellowmen to warn them of the danger of the liquor road, and my patriotic duty to you young boys and girls in whose hands the existence of our great government will soon depend.

My last thought for your consideration is this:

Boys and girls, clubs and societies are all right, but they do not take the place of Sunday school. Fraternities and lodges are all right as far as they go, but do not be deceived, they do not take the place of your church. Parents should put first things first. Don't send your children to Sunday school and church, take them there, with them. Well, we are back to Christ homes and spiritual training again and that is the solution of our juvenile problems.

Your future is safe with Savings Bonds.

Gardens To Be Successfully Are Carefully Planned

For most satisfactory returns and economy of seed, fertilizer and labor, home vegetable gardens need to be developed according to definite, pre-determined plans, says county Agent Dallas Rierison. A garden 50x50 feet, or 2500 square feet, will supply many fresh vegetables for a small family. A larger family will need a garden 100 feet, while a space 100x100 feet or larger will be required to supply a moderate-sized family with fresh vegetables during the growing season with some left over to store, can, freeze or dry for winter use. If the garden is to produce a complete year-round supply for a family of four persons it will be necessary to plant each of these vegetables in approximately the following number of 100-foot rows: Sweet corn, 6 to 8; peas, 3; lima beans, 4; snap beans, 4 to 5; tomatoes, 1; onions, 1; root crops, 1 row each. This would require a garden about 100x100 feet. Rows running lengthwise and spaced to permit manual or other methods of cultivation are the most satisfactory. Small row crops planted in rows 15 to 18 inches apart and others, like corn and beans, in rows 30 to 36 inches apart, may be cultivated easily by hand. Perennial crops, such as asparagus, rhubarb or horseradish, belong along the side of the garden where they will be out of the way when the garden is plowed. Next to these, place those crops which may be planted early, like peas, cabbage, early potatoes, onions, lettuce, spinach, early beets, carrots and parsnips. Place tall growing vegetables on the north side of the garden to prevent shading of smaller crops.

Home gardeners may obtain additional information by calling at the county extension office in the courthouse.

Garden Program For 4-H Clubs Planned Again

More than 740 New Mexico 4-H Club boys and girls who pledged their "hands to larger service" last year are expected again to enroll in the 1949 national 4-H garden program, according to Miss Travis Hughs, acting state 4-H Club leader. The program is conducted under the direction of the Co-opera-

INCIDENT DISTORTED BY CUBA REDS

AMERICAN AMBASSADOR to Cuba Robert Butler and U. S. Naval Attaché Capt. Thomas Cullins salute statue of Cuba's patriot, Jose Martí, after placing a wreath at its base, in Havana. Butler apologized for the antics of American sailors who had climbed the statue. Communists used the desecration to inflame Cubans against the U. S. (International) tive Extension Service of New Mexico A. & M. College.

Last year nearly 375,000 4-H Club members ranging in age from 10 to 21 years planted and tended approximately 80,000 acres of garden, according to Miss Hughs. "Born of wartime necessity, the national 4-H garden contest was first launched in 1942," the state leader points out. "Peacetime has not lessened the incentive to produce, because 4-H'ers continue to raise a large variety of fruits and vegetables, which keeps the home table supplies and reduces the family outlay for food."

Records are kept of costs, progress and money returns as part of the 4-H requirements. County extension agents and local club leaders organize and encourage the youth to learn how to care for and manage a well-planned garden, carry out a program of disease control and market surplus produce. In an effort "to make the best better," products are exhibited at county, district, and state fairs, as well as in community competition.

Each 4-H Club member enrolled in the garden program has an opportunity to win one of four county medal awards. Also a state award of an all-expense trip to the 1949 National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago and a chance to become a candidate for one of eight $300 scholarships are offered.

Booklet Tells How To Make Basic Ready Mix

How many homemakers would like to have one basic baking mix from which 20 different products could be made? Apparently, it is a popular idea because many New Mexico women already have written for copies of "Ready Mix," an extension publication which gives the basic ready mix recipe and recipes for cakes, cookies, biscuits and breads which can be made from it.

Ready mix saves time. For biscuits, it takes only three minutes from the time the lid is taken off the ready mix cannister until the oven door closes. Muffins require about four minutes to prepare and cakes take nine minutes. Home-maker say they do more baking with less effort with ready mix on hand.

Ready mix is not difficult to make. The sifting and measuring of the dry ingredients and the blending of the fat can be done in about seven minutes for a dozen bakings. The recipes are planned for "family size" and for two. Special instructions for using lard will be found in the bulletin. If lard is used as the fat the mix requires refrigeration; otherwise, it will keep at least six weeks without refrigeration.

Besides being a time saver, ready mix has several other distinct advantages. It gives consistently good products, so there is no need to wonder if today's biscuits will be as good as yesterday's. Ready mix makes it possible to have a variety of wonderful baked products at low cost.

A copy of the ready mix bulletin may be obtained by writing to the Extension Service, State College, or from any county home demonstration agent.

No Crystal Ball Needed To Tell Needs of Soil Tests Will Give Farmer Answer to Question

You don't need a crystal ball to tell you whether your soil needs a soil test will give you the yes or no answer. Where a deficiency exists, a test will indicate how much lime your soil needs.

Testing is always the safest course in applying lime. Some soils have plenty lime. Adding more might be harmful rather than helpful to crop production.

To soils that need it, lime is the keystone of any well-planned soil building program. Lime adds needed calcium. Lime boosts the efficiency of fertilizers.

Plowing Under Organic Matter Aids Oxidization. Plowing under some organic matter in the field or garden is a good way of disposing of crop residues because the microbes "burn" or oxidize them.

Snow Surveys Indicate Runoff Will Be High

Early-season snow surveys indicate an unusually heavy snow cover along the Continental Divide on the headwaters of the Rio Grande and Rio Chama, according to a report from Homer Stockwell, irrigation engineer with the Soil Conservation Service at Fort Collins, Colo.

On the Rio Grande tributaries in New Mexico the snow accumulation to Feb. 1 was above normal, but to a much lesser extent than on the headwater of the main stem. On the average, about half of the accumulation of snow during the winter season is after Feb. 1, with the largest total amount of snow existing about the middle of April in South Colorado and at a slightly earlier date in North New Mexico. Snow surveys will be made again on the first of April and May.

On the Wolf Creek Pass snow course, on the west side of the San Luis Valley, the water content of the headwaters of the Rio Chama are also much above the Feb. 1 normal, especially along the Continental Divide. Snow cover on the divide between the Rio Grande and Rio Chama was near average. Water now stored in El Vado Reservoir totaled 147,000 acre-feet, compared to 6000 a year ago. The capacity of this reservoir is 226,000 acre feet.

In North New Mexico on the smaller tributaries of the Rio Grande, the snow cover was just above average and generally above a year ago. Stream flow was reported as about normal. These snow conditions extended into the mountain areas on the headwaters of the Pecos and Canadian Rivers. Water stored in Elephant Butte and Caballo Reservoirs as of Feb. 1 was 626,800 acre-feet. A year ago, 524,000 acre-feet was in storage.

the snow was 27 inches compared to an average of 14 inches on Feb. 1. Similar conditions existed at elevations of 8500 to 10,000 feet. However, precipitation and snow cover on the valley floor was reported as below normal. The summer or snow-melt season runoff of the Rio Grande and its tributaries in San Luis Valley should be at least average. If the present rate of snow accumulation is continued to the end of the season, the runoff may be excessive. Present snow cover conditions on

ALL IN THE FAMILY... THE EQUITABLE FAMILY

During 1948 thousands of families who wanted the security provided by life insurance joined The Equitable Society.

From every state in the Union—from big cities, from country towns, and from farms — The Equitable welcomed a host of new members last year, widening its family circle to a total of 4,150,000 men and women.

It is the thrifty action and self-reliance of this huge family banded together for mutual protection that makes possible the record of accomplishment which The Equitable brings to you in this annual report.

Of the $307,600,000 disbursed last year to policyholders and beneficiaries, $70,086,000 was paid out as dividends; and $108,500,000 was paid in death benefits. Payments to living policyholders were approximately 65 per cent of all disbursements to The Equitable Family during the year—indicating a continuing trend of utilizing life insurance as a means of providing living as well as death benefits.

We have consistently done our best to preserve the funds and protect the interests of the members of The Society and their families in the realization of the fact that the best interests of the life insurance policyholders are concurrently the best interests of the people in general.

There are some current economic conditions for which we are not responsible, which we cannot control, but against which we have tried and will try to protect those who contribute so greatly to the public welfare by their voluntary provision for the members of their families.

We shall be glad to send you a copy of the President's Report to the Board of Directors for the year 1948. This report gives the full details of The Society's finances, the main features of which are outlined below, and is available on request either to the home office or your nearest Equitable representative.

Tyrone Power, Miss Baxter Paired Again

Laughing over with riotous fun bringing a new enchantment romance, Twentieth Century-Fox's newest hit, "The Luck of the Irish," co-starring Tyrone Power and Miss Baxter, opens Sunday at the Landsun Theater. The pairing of the unusual comedy-romance brings Power and Miss Baxter together for the first time since "The Razor's Edge" in what are said to be their most delightful screen roles to date.

In this film, Tyrone Power is seen as Stephen Fitzgerald, an American newspaper man who stumbles across romance in Ireland and blithely sails for home, only to find that a touch of shamrock packs a long-distance wallop no level-headed reporter could ever believe possible. Following her dramatic triumph in "The Walls of Jericho," Miss Baxter, in a scintillating change of mood, plays the role of a starchy-eyed colleen who runs after her heart and finds it being taken for a ride in the New York subway.

Steve Fitzgerald might have viewed his brief interlude in Ireland as merely an idyllic dream in which he met—and kissed—lovely Nora. Certainly, working for the egotistical publisher, D. C. Augur (Lee J. Cobb) back in New York, and being subjected to the wiles of his glamorous daughter Frances (Jayne Meadows) left no room for such dreams.

But then up turns Horace (Cecil Kellaway), the little man who's the very "I" of the spirit of the Irish, and then Nora, herself, arrives in a New York subway, and bewildered Fitz soon finds himself whirling in a series of hilarious complications that are to give his sense of romance an enchanting jolt. All of which is said by preview critics to make for the most rollicking and high-spirited entertainment of the season.

As Horace, the out-of-the-ordinary man with the shamrock touch, who slyly manipulates the Power-Baxter romance, Cecil Kellaway has a role the likes of which has not been seen on the screen since Edmund Gwenn's unforgettable "Mr. Krinkle" in "The Miracle on 34th Street." Horace is credited with being the surprise comedy role of the year.

Your Artesia National Guard

By M/Sgt. James Heald

Did you know that before Pearl Harbor there were a total of 1659 men in the New Mexico National Guard? And did you know that as of June last year, there were already 1882 men enlisted in the New Mexico National Guard? The figure now reaches well over that number. It is not surprising to note the increase, however, for the new National Guard offers so much more than heretofore.

It offers better pay and better training, plus the fact that the units now do not train with obsolete equipment, but rather with up-to-date Regular Army equipment. And, boy, what a change in uniforms, too. The National Guard can just about fit anyone if he knows his clothing size. And you would be surprised at the number of people who do not know what size clothes they wear. All in all, the new National Guard is an organization of which any citizen can be proud to be a part. The opportunities are unlimited. Investigate!

We want to welcome to our ranks the new member of the week. He is Robert W. Cranford, a young high school student and we are proud to have him join us as part of Battery C. The unit is growing now as the word gets around, but as yet there are still a few high vacancies in the unit that you possibly could qualify for. Better see about it soon.

In the March issue of The National Guardsman, a magazine published for National Guard members and which is distributed to the men of the local unit each month, there is a story and picture of six brothers from Bethel, Tenn., who joined the Tennessee National Guard all at the same time. And as the story relates, that household becomes virtually depopulated on drill night. Now it is up to some unit to best that one by enlisting seven brothers. Does anyone know of such a family? Just checking.

Summer encampment is coming up soon—July 31 to Aug. 14—so why not join up right away and be ready to make the two-week trip with us? While at camp you will learn a great deal about the anti-aircraft weapons and besides think of that pass each night! We will see you at drill.

MEN OF MERIT

In Santa Barbara, Cal., lives Donald Culross Peattie (born in Chicago in 1898). Were you to consult "Who's Who," you would find most space given to his notable record as a widely known honors from scientific groups for his contributions to botanical knowledge advancement. But I would hail him as a "Man of Merit" if he had done nothing more than write the book, JOURNEY INTO AMERICA. This is not a scientific book; it is a fascinating collection of intimate sketches highlighting historical persons and events from Colonial times to the frontier days of the West. JOURNEY INTO AMERICA should be required reading in all schools. It fills any reader with a new and deeper regard for our country and the people who made it, and one reads every page with the eager delight that a beautifully written book can bring. If you act on my advice that you invest in this little classic, you will be glad that I mentioned it. And you, too, will think very highly of its versatile author.

DEFINITIONS IN VERSE

A more common word than FETID popularly serves quite well.

To say that something is possessed of an offensive smell.

"Neath sunshine snow will DELI-QUESCE. It's easier to say, By use of simpler language, that the snow will melt away.

Be sure that you definitely know the exact location of gas, water and electric shut-off switches or valves in your home. An emergency might sometime require prompt use of these devices.

Latest trick in the ad-writer's bag of baloney.

To give genuine tone to a product that's phony.

Is the use of the adjective, viz., "simulated."

(That odd sound you may hear are my teeth being grated.)

But the word doesn't change the goods' true situation.

Since smart readers all know that it means "imitation."

Particularly in the case of rural homes, the garage often is used for the storage of inflammables such as kerosene and gasoline. The contents of all containers should be plainly marked to avoid the danger of improper use of the contents.

Suggestion for the new Congress: Since the springtime of recent years has consisted mostly of a moribund, dragged-out winter, why not legislate either to return to the old-fashioned spring or eliminate the season altogether?

It always pays to observe the law. Records show that seven out of ten drivers involved in fatal accidents were violating traffic laws at the time of the accidents.
