Monday afternoon, John Smith manager of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, made the following announcement: "Mr. John Chisholm is asking your Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture to help organize another clean-up and fix-up campaign."

"With our hospital struggling to keep its doors open and with a very limited budget, it cannot bring its grounds and buildings to the required state of condition."

Smith added, "In view of a possible inspection for Medicare approval, many things need to be done."

"The Chamber has agreed to sponsor a new campaign to get our citizens involved in a new effort to help do this work," added the CofC manager. April 1 through April 8 are the days designated for this work. "We need as many volunteers as possible to come to the hospital on April 1 prepared to work. Be there and bring a friend."

He added, "For those who can't work on Saturdays help will be needed all that week. Particularly evening workers are being sought."

James Roy Jones Chosen New City Council Member By City

Tuesday morning, during a special session of the Muleshoe City Council, James Roy Jones was unanimously chosen to fill the vacated spot on the City Council. Last week, the resignation of longtime Councilman Ronnie Shafer was accepted, as he has moved from Muleshoe.

Jones is a lifetime resident of Bailey County and Muleshoe.

At the age of 14, he went to work for T. E. White in the former Cashway Grocery as a 'sacker.' When he was 16, he started working in the meat department of the store. He said that was 33 years ago.

In June, 1979, Jones and his wife, Theresa purchased Carl's Meat Market at the corner of West Fifth and West American Blvd., a business they still operate today.

The Jones are active in the First Baptist Church, and he is a member of the Muleshoe Kiwanis Club, having held most offices in the organization.

He and Theresa are the parents of Jana Albritten, who resides at Houston and is the mother of the Jones' two grandchildren, who are two and six years of age. Son Todd works for his parents at James Roy's Meat Market in Muleshoe.

Jones will be sworn into office at the next Muleshoe City Council meeting, according to Muleshoe Mayor Darrell Turner.

Following a very brief discussion, the City of Muleshoe adopted two resolutions concerning tax abatement.

One resolution is headed "A Resolution of the City of Muleshoe, Texas, adopting a comprehensive policy statement on economic development incentives; establishing objective and subjective criteria for evaluating incentive applications; establishing maximum values of incentives to be provided; establishing guidelines for considering incentive applications; establishing guidelines and criteria governing tax abatement agreements."

The other resolution is termed: "A resolution of the city council of the City of Muleshoe, Texas, declaring that the City of Muleshoe, Texas, elects to become eligible to participate in tax abatement in accordance with the property redevelopment and tax abatement act (Article 1066f Vernons Civil Statutes)."

Mike Caldwell, Muleshoe City Attorney, visited with the council to discuss the status of the Great Plains Paving bankruptcy in Amarillo.

Since a paving project over a year ago, the City of Muleshoe has been withholding payment waiting for a judge to determine distribution of funds owed.

Caldwell said First National Bank of Amarillo has filed a suit against Pacific Surety, Great Plains Paving and the City of Muleshoe over the account.

Caldwell said any local business wishing to file as an intervenor in the suit may do so by filing in 320th District Court in Potter County at Amarillo. The suit is Cause #71,886-D.

Caldwell explained that the city is holding the funds, trying to find out where or who to release the funds to.

In other city action, City Manager Dave Marr said the hangar project for the new airport is still in the drawing stage, and they are currently checking into what method will be the best to have airport fuel available.

He also reminded that council members need to start considering what to do with Warren Field, the old airport.

WJHS Coach Seeking Help With Track Meet

Two speakers took to the podium at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon.

First speaker was Glenda Balas, from KENW TV at Portales.

She was speaking on behalf of the upcoming annual 'auction' fundraiser for the Public Broadcasting Station, and asking the assistance of the Rotary Club.

She explained that the June 12-17 auction will need about 300 volunteers to help with such things as answering telephones, do tele-marketing, hanging bids, confirming winning bids and picking up merchandise for the auction.

She asked for volunteers to work out of the Muleshoe area.

Following her presentation, Rotary took her request under advisement.

Coach Wade Littlefield reported that the Rotary "made a little money" on the Outsider Basketball tournament held during the past weekend.

George Nieman was winner of the Polio Plus drawing.

Rotarian James Turnbow introduced Roy Donaldson, head coach at Watson Junior High School, as the main speaker for the day.

Coach Donaldson was accompanied to the meeting by WJHS Coach Dale Gilbreath, who is a native of Bovina. Coach Donaldson grew up at Farwell, and talked about attending school with Johnny Atkinson, Bailey-Parmier County District Attorney, who was a visiting Rotarian at the meeting.

He said Johnny Atkinson had two sons on the Farwell Steer basketball team that competed at state a couple of weeks ago.

The coach's main topic was the junior high school track meet coming up this weekend in

Six From Bailey County Attend Conference

Six Bailey County child care providers attended a professional conference in Lubbock on March 11. Those attending were Frankie Carpenter, Eva Dell Carpenter, Pat Mudford, Pearlie Fluellen, Jackie Harris and Sandra Sutton, all employees of the First United Methodist Church Child Care Center in Muleshoe.

The conference provided an opportunity for professional growth, learning new technical skills and exchanging information among other day care professionals. Those attending had the opportunity to attend four of the following workshops:

- Public Image
- Safety
- Men In Day Home Care
- Scheduling Staff Days

- Nutrition for Children
- Professionalism
- Kid's Cooking
- Creative Activities and Games for Children
- Scheduling Activities
- Special Needs of Children
- Home Safety
- CDA Credentials.

The conference also featured four mini-workshops during lunch that featured "tried and true" ideas that were presented by various day care providers themselves. The conference concluded with a motivational speaker.

"Existing family lifestyles and economic trends cause more than one of every three Bailey County families with children under age 6 to rely on child care outside the home," said Kandy K. McWhorter, Bailey County Extension home economist.

That Was Different

"Who would like to go to heaven?" asked the teacher. Every hand was raised but one. Then a voice was heard to say to the hesitant one: "Put up your hand; she doesn't want us to go now."

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

Information on quick, easy-to-fix recipes and cutting up whole frivers to save money at the meat counter will be featured on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, April 4 at 12 noon and on Saturday, April 8 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Connie Moyers, Marketing Home Economist with Southwestern Public Service Co. in Clovis, N.M., will share some of her favorite quick, easy-to-fix recipes which are a bonus to any cook--regardless of the time of year. Each of these recipes capitalize on using the microwave oven for the speed in preparation.

One of the most popular guests ever to appear on the show was Merle Ellis, spokesman for The Presto Co. Merle Ellis, the knife-wielding wizard, will repeat his famous "13-second demonstration" on cutting up a fryer! His presentation encourages consumers to save money at the meat counter by buying whole fryers and then cutting them up yourself.

On Tuesday, April 4 at 9:30 p.m. and repeated on Thursday, April 6 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present decorating cakes and cupcakes, cordless appliances, and rainy day projects for kids to do.

You may think you're "all thumbs" when it comes to cake decorating, but Zella Junkin, Wilton Enterprises, believes that anyone can decorate cakes and cupcakes. She will demonstrate some basic techniques and show how much fun this can be. Zella is from Woodridge, IL.

Cordless appliances are making their debut on the market and have endless uses. Joy Best, Roosevelt County Extension Home Economist in Portales, N.M. will show an array of some of the newest cordless appliances available. She will discuss the advantages and disadvantages of each. The "flashback" segment will highlight rainy day projects for kids to do. Guest, Carolyn Jobs, spokesperson for The American Paper Institute in New York, will show some exciting projects for children to do anytime they want to be creative.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Miss Taylor, Isaacks

MRS. PAUL DAVID ISAACKS
(nee Cristal Kim Taylor)

Miss Cristal Kim Taylor became the bride of Paul David Isaacks in a candlelight ceremony Saturday, March 18 at the First Christian Church in Levelland. Garland Lipe of Havanah, Ark read the marriage vows.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Otwell C. Taylor of Muleshoe and Mr. and Mrs. Howard David Isaacks of Levelland.

Marriage vows were repeated before an altar decorated with a lacy arch of 96 candles accented with fresh greenery. Four pair of single votive candles marked the aisles. A unity candle, made with the wedding invitation finished off the scene.

Leslie Gerber, soloist, of Lubbock was accompanied by Pat Williams, pianist, of Muleshoe as she sang "I Believe" and "Doubly Good To You".

Given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a gown of delustered satin encrusted with hand beaded sequins and pearls. The bodice featured a lace trimmed "V" neckline with matching "V" drop waist. The long sleeves were a combination of satin to the elbow and sheer to the wrist with an Elizabethan puff at the shoulder. The extra full skirt was highlighted with scattered beading at the hemline. The detachable cathedral train was adorned with petaled sides and lace cutouts encrusted with beading and sequins.

To complete her attire, the bride wore a floral spray comb designed of roses and pearl filament sprays. She carried a cascade of silk white gardenias, stephanotis, ivy and fern.

Following tradition, something new was her dress. Something old was a ring, given to her by her grandmother, Imogene Taylor of Portales, N.M. Something borrowed was pearl earrings, belonging to her mother. Something blue was her garter, that had a pocket, containing pennies from the bride's and groom's birthyears. The bride also wore a lucky six-pence in her shoe.

Rhonda Myers of Muleshoe served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were Janet Shimpugh of Dallas and Gaylynn Gray of Odessa.

The bridesmaids wore court length gowns of charcoal iridescent taffeta. The bodice featured a Sabrina neckline, three quarter length sleeves, and an elongated waistline highlighted with a bow. They carried single, long stem arm bouquets of rubrum lilies tied with charcoal ribbon.

Steve Harris of Levelland served as best man. Groomsmen were Mark Blakemore of Levelland and Lynn Bartlett of Wellington.

The groom was attired in a white, full dress tuxedo, featuring satin faced peaked lapels with a self faced top collar and a double pleated center vent. On his lapel he wore a rose and deep pink alstroemeria lily boutonniere.

The grooms attendants wore Pierre Cardin Black Cable full dress ensembles. The satin covered buttons, satin peak lapels, self faced top collar and matching pleated pants completed their attire. They wore boutonnieres of alstroemeria lilies.

Kathi Blackburn of Laramie,

Study Club

Muleshoe Study Club met in the I.O.O.F. Hall at 4 p.m. Thursday, March 23 with Joylene Costen as hostess.

Mrs. Costen used the Easter motif as she served finger sandwiches, Angel food cake, strawberries and whipped cream, tea, coffee and assorted Easter candy to the following: Louise Agee, Betty Jo Carpenter, Fern Gregory, Jesse Sanders, Alma Turner and two guests, Aurelia Sanders and Josephine Mitchell.

The program was presented by Josephine Mitchell, community leader and former music teacher in the Muleshoe schools. She sang an inspiring melody of spiritual songs, with her own accompaniment on the piano. The group joined in on the last number "Amazing Grace". It was reported that it was enjoyed by all of those present.

Louise Agee led the members in a discussion of the Book Sale, to be held in the library meeting room on April 14 and 15.

The next club meeting will be at the library on April 13 at 4 p.m. with Anne Camp as hostess. All club members are asked to meet at 9 a.m. to help in the preparation of getting the used books ready for the sale.

Wyoming registered the guests.

Ushers were Kelly Harrison of Muleshoe and Rodney Caddell of Levelland.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church.

The bride's table was oval, flanked by round tables on each end, covered with a long white sheer cloth. Crystal appointments were used. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with fresh rubrums and alstroemerias between each tier and on the top. The centerpiece was a silver candelabra.

A red velvet cake was served from the groom's oval table which was covered with a sheer white cloth. A silver coffee service and other appointments were used. A centerpiece of rubrums and alstroemerias accented the table.

Serving in the houseparty were Sharon Kinkle of Irving; Malinda McIlraith of Hurst; Marybeth Darks and Decora Griffin of Ft. Worth; Paige Blakemore of Levelland; Karen Speegle of Dallas; Lisa Thompson of Chicago, Illinois; Amy Brice of Lockney; Leann Wall, Kelly Leal and Danene White of Lubbock.

For their honeymoon, the couple took a cruise to the Bahamas, visiting Freeport and Nassau. They will soon be at home near Levelland where the groom is farming.

The bride graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1983, and Texas Tech University in 1987. She is employed by Lubbock Independent School District. Isaacks graduated from Levelland High School in 1984, will graduate from Texas Tech University in May 1989.

A "his and her" lingerie shower was given by Buddy and Leslie Gerber in their home in Lubbock on January 11, in their honor.

A miscellaneous shower was given by the first grade teachers and secretary at Roscoe Wilson Elementary in the home of Carolyn Marlett in Lubbock on February 6.

The bride was also honored with a miscellaneous shower in the home of Bunny Perry in Levelland on February 11. A Miscellaneous shower was held in the home of Jamie Myers on March 5.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Howard David and Barbara Jo Isaacks, parents of the groom, at the Levelland Country Club on March 17.

A bridal luncheon was given by Paige Blakemore at her home in Lubbock on March 18.

Young Homemakers

The Lazbuddie Young Homemakers held their monthly meeting, Tuesday, March 7 in the homemaking room. Louise Engelking of Lazbuddie, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Engelking presented a program on decorating with flowers and bows. She showed the Young Homemakers how to do simple bud vases. She also gave a demonstration on bows. She showed them how to make several kinds of bows, including bows for little girls hair barrettes.

The Young Homemakers made plans to give a St. Patrick's Day party at the Muleshoe Nursing Home on Friday, March 17. Plans were made to serve refreshments and play games.

They also made plans for the Easter egg hunt at the grade school. This activity was sponsored by the National Honor Society with the Young Homemakers supplying some of the eggs.

Plans were also made for honoring the Lazbuddie Senior Citizens with a tea on April 4.

dial service, the telephone company will make a survey of subscribers to determine whether they want dial service and are willing to pay the rates necessary. Shelley said that if 70 percent approved of the new type service and rates, final plans would be made.

In discussing plans for the dial system, Shelley said that it would be of the switch type, which would be expanded to serve several thousand telephones. It was also stated that a building would be constructed to house the dial equipment.

More than 300 telephones have been added in the last three years, or almost as many as were in service on January 1, 1945. This has been possible only by major additions to the cable and wire system, together with additional switchboard equipment in the telephone office here.

SURPRISE SNOW DUMPS FOUR INCHES

Adding to winter's woes was a "sneak" snow that surprised area residents as well as weather forecasters Tuesday morning.

Most weather services predicted the snow would stay well south of this area as they gave amounts of up to seven or eight inches, in Carlsbad, Artesia and Roswell areas and down through the southwestern part of Texas.

However light snow began falling in Muleshoe around 10:30 p.m. Monday and by morning approximately four inches of snow was on the ground, and snow continued throughout most of the morning.

In south Bailey County snow piled up to more than seven inches.

Muleshoe. He said that beginning at about 3:30 p.m. Friday, until dark, he will need about 30 people to help with the track meet, then will need more people all day on Saturday.

He said 1,000-1,200 athletes will be in Muleshoe for the competition.

"It is a major problem to get enough people together to have a successful meet," said Coach Donaldson.

He spoke of the junior high philosophy toward encouraging athletes, and commented, "Everybody needs to have an opportunity to try once. We think we have a great program, and we encourage the junior high youth to try out, even if they decide athletics is not for them."

He continued, "We try to provide a program that's fun. Of course, not everything we do in a program is fun, it's hard work."

"We look for competitive people who have a desire to succeed at what they're doing, regardless what they're doing."

"Our program requires commitment."

According to the coach, 108 football players signed up last fall in junior high school, forcing an 'A' team and a 'B' team. Next year, with so many players, there will be a black team and a white team.

In basketball 60 boys and 80 girls signed up to play, forcing three seventh grade girls teams.

Watson Junior High School has participated in two track meets to date with the eighth grade boys winning second and the seventh grade boys, seventh grade girls and eighth grade girls taking first place.

Coach Donaldson said entry fee for the weekend track meet is $15 per team, which will bring in about $1,400 in entry fees. It will cost $600 for trophies and other costs, leaving about $800 for the athletic program. Funds this year will be used to purchase new hurdles.

Coach Donaldson reminded of the financial impact for the city with such a large tournament. He said with more than 1,000 athletes, there will be parents, grandparents, aunts, uncles and friends, who will be buying gas and food while in Muleshoe.

He said that since the meet is growing so fast, it is expected that boys will compete one

Title I Program

Annual Meeting Comes Up Soon

Muleshoe Independent School District will host the Annual Chapter 1 Parent Program on Thursday, April 6, at 7 p.m. in the Muleshoe High School cafeteria.

Families whose children are involved in the Chapter 1 program on any of the four Muleshoe ISD campuses are invited to an evening of Bingo and have the opportunity to win some very nice prizes such as games, books, puzzles, and educational toys.

Two special games during the evening will provide some lucky winners with extraordinary prizes.

A hostess will be assigned to each table to assist the players, if needed, and all families of eligible students are encouraged to make plans to attend.

Six members will be elected to two-year terms on the Chapter 1 Parent Advisory Council for the Muleshoe Schools. These people will serve in an advisory capacity as Muleshoe ISD strives to involve parents in the education of their children.

Refreshments will be served and every effort will be made to make this an enjoyable evening for everyone.

Lenders Accept Signed Copies Of Tax Returns

Lending institutions that require copies of taxpayers' federal income tax returns to accompany low interest loan applications may accept the applicant's signed copies in place of the actual returns filed, the Internal Revenue Service said.

States issuing certain qualified mortgage subsidy bonds require lending institutions to verify that the mortgage applicant did not own a home during the three previous years. As part of this verification, the mortgage issuer may want proof that no real estate interest or other tax deductions on a residence were claimed.

According to the IRS, taxpayers who did not retain signed copies of their returns and who cannot get copies from a paid preparer for three previous years may request tax account information if Forms 1040A or 1040EZ were filed. The tax account information requested for these returns will verify that no itemized deductions were claimed. However, if a Form 1040 was filed and not retained, the taxpayers will have to request a copy which takes at least 45 days for delivery.

Requests for copies of forms may be made on Form 4506, "Request for Copy of Tax Form." There is a charge for the request. Form 4506 has detailed information, and may be obtained by using the order blank in the tax return package or by calling 1-800-424-3676.

COACH SPEAKS TO ROTARY CLUB--Coaches Dale Gilbreath and Roy Donaldson, left, were special guests at the Muleshoe Rotary Club meeting Tuesday at noon. They were introduced by Rotarian James Turnbow, right. Coach Donaldson spoke about the junior high school track meeting scheduled for Friday afternoon and all day Saturday, and asked for assistance with the meet. (Journal Photo)

County Agent Asks

Farmers To Go To Meet

There's an additional incentive for Bailey County cotton farmers to attend the annual meeting of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and the Texas Cotton Ginners Conference and Trade Show, April 6 in Lubbock, says Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley.

As an added feature of the PCG meeting, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will present a seminar, "New Tools for Building Profits," from 1:55 to 4:30 p.m. It will present a detailed look at new techniques and new technology to help area cotton producers increase their profit.

The seminar, and a demonstration beginning at 1 p.m., will give producers an opportunity to sit down at computer terminals and try out several software programs which could be especially helpful.

"Over the last few years, the management decisions facing a cotton farmer have become more and more complex," Tanksley said. "Changes in state and federal regulations, new technology, the introduction of computers as a farm tool, and detailed record keeping requirements all add new challenges to the farmer's ability to manage all parts of crop production," he said.

"Our farmers are the best in the world and have traditionally taken advantage of new information which is adapted to our area," the county agent said.

He said the free seminar April 6 will include current research findings on conservation tillage; demonstration of GOSSYM/COMAX, a computer cotton crop simulation model, and other helpful computer programs; discussion of low energy precision application irrigation and of the cost effectiveness of stripper-mounted field cleaners.

Prior to the seminar, Extension specialists and county agents will demonstrate computer software programs which can help cotton producers.

Glen Williams Talks About Social Security

In response to a question asked a few days ago, Glen Williams of the Bailey County Aging and Health Care office commented, "Our office has no official connection with the social security program, but, because of our years of experience and many contacts with them, we can help people in a number of ways."

Such as: "We can explain some of the procedures, guidelines and benefits. And we can refer them to the proper sources to obtain help."

"We can answer a number of questions regarding medicare and Medicaid, assist with changes of address and a few other items."

"The social security representatives are in Muleshoe each second and fourth Wednesday of the month. They are here from 9:30 to 11:00. So, anyone wishing to see them should do so within that time frame and on those dates."

"Those that desire to avail themselves of the direct deposit service can do so now by calling 1-800-234-5772," added Williams. "They must furnish the following information:

"Their correct name; their correct address; their social security claim number; the routing number of the financial institution and the account number in which the check is to be deposited. Both the routing number and the account number can be taken from your personal check." He concluded, "Our number is 806/272-3647 and we will always be happy to help in any way possible."

WJHS Planning For Saturday

Track Meet Here

Bob Donaldson, head coach at Watson Junior High School, said the annual Watson Junior High School track meet will be held this weekend.

Activities get underway at 4:30 p.m. Friday with the girls' field events and the boys running preliminaries.

On Saturday morning, at 9 a.m., boys' field events start, as well as girls' preliminary running events.

Finals in running events are scheduled at 2 p.m. on Saturday.

Coach Donaldson said there will be four division, seventh and eighth grade boys and seventh and eighth grade girls.

Fifteen teams of 7-8 grade boys will be competing, as well 15 teams of eighth grade girls. There will be 15 teams of eighth grade girls in the meet as well.

The coach said several area schools will be represented at the meet this weekend.

He said the coaches encourage as many people as possible to be on hand to watch these youngsters compete Friday afternoon and all day on Saturday.

Texas A&M psychologist says training reduces effects of media violence
COLLEGE STATION — "Hansel and Gretel" may not be as violent as "Robocop," but aggression has been considered entertainment for years, says a Texas A&M University psychologist who examined research on increased aggression among viewers of violent shows.

Dr. Wendy Wood, a social psychologist, says it is important to realize that violence as entertainment is not new to society and can be countered by training people to be intelligent consumers, rather than by censorship.

"Obviously a large portion of society finds it entertaining, and censorship is not necessarily the answer. It is possible to reduce effects of media violence through a variety of training programs," Wood said.

From the 13 studies that allowed researchers to calculate the size of aggression, Wood said they found the effect, when present, is not large.

"Saying the effect is small would imply that it's trivial, which is a different question entirely," she explained. "That question deals with the social importance of aggression."

"The reality is that many children are being exposed to four or five hours of television every day over many years, and much of it is violent," she said.

One way to help children handle media violence is to help them realize aggression on screen is not real, and that there are other non-violent ways to handle problems, Wood added.

Money Talk

Dow Theory Forecasts, Inc.
If you feel the stock market, with its program trading, institutional dominance, and insider-trading scandals, doesn't care about the "little guy," you'll love this story.

Some brokerage firms are implementing or raising existing fees for those investors that fail to generate transaction revenue in a given year.

The brokers argue that holding securities for investors and providing regular account statements has its costs and feel they are well within their rights to hit up investors who fail to generate commissions.

While the argument holds some water, it nevertheless punishes "buy-and-hold" types that don't generate frequent transactions.

If nothing else, the fees give individual investors yet another reason to be wary of stocks and to seek shelter in Treasury Bills and mutual funds.

And that's too bad.

HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

CAN LOWER THE PROPERTY TAXES ON YOUR HOME

A homestead Exemption

lowers the property taxes on your home by lowering its taxable value. For example, if your home is valued at $50,000 and you receive a $5,000 homestead exemption, your home will be taxed as if it were worth only $45,000.

You qualify for a homestead exemption if you owned your home on January 1 and used it as your primary residence on January 1. It doesn't matter whether your home is a house, a condominium or a mobile home.

Exemptions are available to all homeowners on their school taxes. Additional exemptions are available to homeowners who are disabled or age 65 or over. Other exemptions may be offered to homeowners by school districts, counties, cities, and special districts. All taxing units offer exemptions to disabled veterans.

GTE Announce Layoffs, Cutbacks In Services

GTE Southwest President E. L. 'Buddy' Langley told employees Monday (March 27) that layoffs, investment reductions and other measures will be necessary parts of the company's response to the recent Public Utility Commission of Texas ruling in the company's rate filing.

Langley said the commission's order requiring GTE Southwest to reduce rates by $59 million will force the company to eliminate jobs now held by almost 600 Texas employees, release more than 100 contractors who are currently working for GTE and defer filling approximately 400 existing vacancies -- a total of 1,100 jobs eliminated.

In addition, GTE Southwest will be reducing its capital investment budget by more than $100 million and deferring or eliminating further modernization of telephone switching centers and networks in Texas which were already scheduled to be done in 1989. The company will abandon plans for a new $40 million facility in Irving, reduce $5 million of vehicle orders and there will also be $2 to $3 million of additional reduced or deferred expenses such as training, building repairs and other items.

In the interim, Langley said the company has filed for rehearing with the PUC, which is now scheduled for April 5 in Austin, and will pursue all legal avenues to modify the commission's final order and its devastating impact on GTE Southwest's operations.

"If we are not successful in the rehearing process, we will appeal the commission's action. We are optimistic that our legal position will be ultimately upheld," Langley said.

"But because of the time required in the appeals process and our potential financial exposure, we must take immediate action to reduce expenses." These actions however, only take into consideration the $59 million reduction and are steps necessary to keep the company financially sound. If GTE SW was required to implement the retroactive portion of the commission's order, and reduce an additional $138 million, "the company would be in a very, very serious financial position," Langley said.

"Our net income would drop drastically and our interest coverage would be inadequate. No one can possibly know how to react or adjust to meet customers' needs under the devastating effect of such a retroactive rate order. It will simply cripple the company. The revenue stream will be significantly decreased.

"It is obviously very painful to release employees who have been responsible for bringing our service quality to one of the highest of any telephone company in the state. Yet the revenue levels mandated by the PUC simply will not support the programs that we now have.

These programs have allowed us to achieve excellent service and build a modern telecommunications infrastructure -- better serving existing customers and helping attract new business and industry to the state. The commission's action leaves us no option but to drastically reduce expenses," Langley said.

The employee reductions will be widespread and touch virtually every area where employees are located. The greatest impacts will be in locations where the company has the largest number of employees.

Langley said the reduction in capital dollars required under the commission's order will affect all locations to some degree, but will primarily hurt areas where modernization programs have not yet been completed.

He labeled as "outrageous" the commission's claim that GTE Southwest had intentionally delayed the proceedings regarding its rate filing. "Factually, any delays in the final order in this case have been the result of the commission's own timetable or the result of delays agreed to by one or more of the parties to the case.

"It would be similar to having your employer order you to take a 20 percent cut in your pay, going forward, plus return 20 percent of what you had received over the past two years," he said.

"GTE Southwest is in the same boat an individual would be. We have reinvested in plant and equipment and paid expenses with the money we collected over the past two years and had plans to reinvest more by extending modernization to areas we have not been able to improve in the past because of the limited amount of capital.

"The commission looked at all of our income and expenses in 1983 and set our rates and established a rate of return. We followed the commission's order and only charged the rates they mandated. Now, the commission is saying those rates for the last two years are incorrect, and should be retroactively adjusted."

"There's no question we've experienced decreases in some tax expenses, but we have also had increases in other expenses such as sales tax, franchise fees, property tax, FICA tax, fuel, postage and other general operating expenses. Our rates of return were set by the commission and we have not exceeded either," he said.

Langley urged employees to continue doing their best with the available resources remaining after the reductions are made.

"Unfortunately, with these types of reductions, it is inevitable that our customers will see some slippage in the speed at which we have been able to provide service."

Langley noted that the company's commitment of employee and financial resources has allowed its service levels to far exceed those minimum standards for performance established by the commission.

"I don't expect to see our results change overnight and we fully intend to continue to provide service of the highest quality, but the commission's order acts as a barrier to achieving this goal.

"No doubt, our costs will continue to rise. Duff and Phelps has already put GTE Southwest on a negative 'credit watch.' We may have to pay higher interest rates on the money we will have to borrow to get us through this period. Consequently, over the long run, that will probably result in higher local rates for our customers."

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

After spending millions of dollars to find a cure for lung cancer and losing thousands of lives to this dreadful disease, the Surgeon General tells us the best prevention is to refrain from smoking.

The homosexual community is now raising millions of dollars to find a cure for AIDS and launching a comprehensive educational campaign to promote "safe sex." How many people have to die before it becomes obvious that the best solution to the AIDS epidemic is to refrain from homosexual activity and the use of intravenous drugs?

With the evidence furnished by the Texas Aids Task Force that 90 percent of those diagnosed with AIDS are homosexual or bi-sexual men, how can the Legislature even consider passing SB 23 which would repeal the Texas Sodomy Law?

Citizens who care about the health of all Texans need to urge their Senators and Representatives to preserve the Texas Sodomy Law which presently states that "A person commits an offense if he engages in deviate sexual intercourse with another individual of the same sex."

Sincerely,
Maurine White

Combat Plant Disease In Beginning Stages

U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) has mailed his annual questionnaire to the 19th Congressional District, giving residents an opportunity to share their opinions on a range of issues affecting West Texas.

The questionnaire is included in Combest's latest newsletter, which began arriving in the 19th District this week. In the questionnaire, Combest seeks input on a variety of issues, including agriculture, oil and gas, the federal budget and the savings and loan crisis.

"I hope the people of the 19th District will take a few minutes out of their busy schedules to complete the questionnaire and return it to me," Combest said. "It is so important that I have first-hand knowledge of the views and concerns of the people of West Texas. The questionnaire enables me to receive thousands of responses on several major issues which helps me cast a more informed vote in the House of Representatives."

Each questionnaire seeks input from two residents of every household, giving more members of a family an opportunity to express their views. The newsletter in which the questionnaire appears also contains reports from Combest on many of the key issues before the 101st Congress, including subjects of interest to senior citizens, farmers and producers, business owners and those in the oil and gas industry.

The questionnaire can be returned to Combest by simply cutting along the dotted line on the back page of the newsletter, refolding and reply panel and placing a first class stamp on the return panel.

The results of the questionnaire will be tabulated and released at a later date.

The $470,000 cash transfusion pumped into High Plains cotton breeding efforts from 1983 through 1988 sounds like a lot of money. But it amounts to less than a fourth of the value added to a single average High Plains cotton crop by a price increase of only two-tenths of a cent per pound as a result of improved fiber quality.

That point was made February 28 in a Plains Cotton Improvement Committee (PCIC) meeting where the committee approved a 1989 breeding research grant of $140,000, bringing the six-year grant total to $510,000. The PCIC is a committee of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. It was established in 1983 at the request of area compress owners to administer an intensive variety improvement program funded by compress collections of 10 cents per bale.

As described by Committee Chairman Wayne Huffaker of Tahoka, the breeding program aims to "put and keep High Plains cotton producers ahead of the competition" in meeting the ever more demanding strength, fineness, maturity and other cotton quality requirements of domestic and foreign spinners.

Heading up the PCIP project is Dr. John Gannaway, highly regarded Experiment Station cotton breeder at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock. He is assisted by research associates Jane K. Deaver and R. Gary Smith. Germplasm lines are performance tested at the Lubbock center and at A&M's Pecos Research Station, and the effort is accelerated by utilizing an additional growing season at Tecoman in the tropical state of Colima, Mexico.

To date a total of 90 germplasm lines have been released to commercial breeders for incorporation into existing materials, and other releases are anticipated this year. Releases, Gannaway says, have been those exhibiting various combinations of excellent quality traits and yield potentials equal to or exceeding the yields of varieties now in commercial production.

Field testing of new varieties and strains under High Plains conditions at the Extension Center in 1988 produced the first solid evidence of program benefits to come. A total of 48 new strains and cultivars from commercial breeders were tested, of which five excelled in both quality and yield. Of those top five, Gannaway says, four contained germplasm developed and released by the producer-funded improvement program. All will undergo more extensive trials this year, the breeder continues, and limited quantities of seed from those performing up to expectations should be available to producers in 1990.

The grant request of $140,000 approved by the committee for 1989, up from $100,000 grants in each of the previous four years, included a one-time expenditure of $15,000 to revamp an existing greenhouse at the station for use in cold tolerance studies, and a recurring expense of $15,400 to staff the facility.

The additional funds, Huffaker told the committee, should significantly expedite the search for early-maturing, high-quality varieties with resistance to the ascochyta blight that often reduces both quality and yields on the Plains.

Unwelcome Visitors Show Up For Spring

Spring is just around the corner, and already an unwelcome forerunner of the season—the Russian wheat aphid—is appearing in wheat fields across the South Plains.

Populations of the insects, which can devastate a field, begin their annual spring increase in March, and this year is no exception, says an entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Although the cold front which moved through our area in mid-February did reduce the populations -- as much as 50 to 60 percent in some fields -- the aphids are still there and are beginning to increase," said Dr. Pat Morrison, the Extension Service entomologist. The insects are cold tolerant and their feeding habits cause host plant leaves to curl around them, providing additional protection.

Morrison urged wheat growers to begin scouting their fields carefully now. He said the heaviest buildup of populations is now until May, with the most dramatic increase in April.

It is economically important for the grower to look for the pest early, Morrison emphasized. "Research has indicated that we

Science Program To Provide Hands On Experience

High school students interested in science can work side-by-side with research scientists in the 1989 Summer Research Program at the University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB) at Galveston.

The program is designed to provide hands-on research experience which could motivate students to pursue careers in research or science teaching, says Peter Bowman, Ph.D., Program Director. Participants have the opportunity to learn skills such as cell culturing, electrophoresis, chromatography, microscopy, radio-immunoassay, electrophysiology, biochemical assay and data analysis using a microcomputer.

Dr. Bowman has announced the receipt of a two-year, $68,000 award from the Young Scholars Program of the National Science Foundation for use in the UTMB program. Among other benefits, the award will provide for the participation and support of five disadvantaged students from outside the UTMB commuting area. The program can accommodate a total of about 20 residential and commuting participants this year.

The summer program is eight weeks, from June 5 to July 28. The application deadline is April 14. Students must be 16 years old by June 5. For more information, contact Dr. Bowman in the UTMB Division of School Health and Community Pediatrics, telephone (409) 761-2683.

can get a 25 percent yield reduction from aphid damage prior to initiating jointing of wheat," he said.

In scouting for the aphid, growers have to examine each individual field, the entomologist cautioned. Infestation levels will vary from field to field, depending on such factors as proximity to alternate hosts such as volunteer wheat and whether the field is irrigated or dryland, he noted.

"We need to keep in mind that in late winter or early spring, we can't go by just the tillers which exhibit RWA feeding signs, white streaking of leaves and purpling of leaves and tillers," he said.

Relying on those indicators at this time will lead to two mistakes, Morrison warned.

First, the plant appears infested, but the aphids which caused the symptoms may now be dead. Second, a plant may have only a few aphids which have been there only a few days and feeding symptoms haven't appeared.

Morrison recommended a sampling technique developed by Dr. Allen Knutson, Extension Service entomologist at Dallas who formerly was county Extension entomologist at Dimmitt.

Knutson suggests walking across a field pulling 100 tillers. Don't look at the tiller before choosing it for sampling to avoid a bias toward tillers with RWA feeding symptoms. Pull the tiller off at its base and carry the 100 tillers back to a pickup or somewhere out of the wind.

Carefully examine each tiller for RWA, unroll curled leaves and record the number of infested tillers. Consider any tiller with one or more RWA as infested. Determine the percent of infested tillers.

This percentage can then be used with an economic threshold table developed for late winter and early spring on the South Plains by Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock. The threshold is based upon the cost of control and the market value of the wheat.

For example, if the yield potential of the field is 20 bushels an acre and wheat is bringing $2.50 per bushel, the market value would be $50 an acre. If the cost per acre to control the aphid is $6, the economic threshold for that field would be reached when 24 percent of the tillers are infested with RWA.

Several insecticides are registered for control, Morrison noted. Among these are Di-Syston, Cygon, dimethoate and parathion. One previously unregistered product, Lorsban, has received a special Section 18 registration for use in Texas until May 31.

Almost any efficiency expert can speed up another man's business.
