V-J Celebration Kicks Off Today

Artesia was a combination this morning of patriotic enthusiasm, with flags flying and bunting decorations in profusion, and of Western regalia, as the people of the community headed by the United Veterans Club made last-minute preparations for the third annual V-J Day celebration and Victory Rodeo, which will be kicked off at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon with a mile-long parade.

Dozens of top-notch cowboys are here, ready to compete in the three rodeo performances at Morris Field, at 8 o'clock tonight and Friday and Saturday nights.

And several truckloads of salty rodeo stock have arrived for the various rodeo events, brought by Howard Brown of Dublin, Texas, whose Brahma bulls staged several unscheduled acts at the rodeo a year ago, when they broke through the arena fence.

However, veterans who built the arena Sunday, declared it to be absolutely bull-proof, as they strung four strands of heavy cable before stapling on the woven wire.

Other events in store during the three-day celebration are Western dances each of the three nights at the Veterans Memorial Building, with music by Tony King and His Westerners, a Spanish-American dance at Central School Saturday night, with music by Carlos, and matched quarter-horse races at the Coates track Saturday afternoon.

Many floats will compete in the parade this afternoon for $100 in prizes, offered by the Chamber of Commerce, divided $50 for first, $30 for second, and $20 for third.

In the parade also will be rodeo performers, cowboys and cowgirls, members of the Eddy County Sheriff's posse and the Artesia Roping Club, bands, novelty stunts and clowns.

Heading the parade will be the massed colors of the veterans' organizations, followed by Mayor Oren C. Roberts and members of the city council.

In cars behind them will be members of the Disabled American Veterans and the United Spanish War Veterans, with the band from the Walker Air Force Base at Roswell and rodeo performers completing the first element.

The big parade will assemble at 12th and 13th and Main Street under the direction of John Simon, Jr., parade chairman, who has worked out several sections. It will progress down Main Street to Second, where it will turn south to Quay Avenue to break up.

Before and after the parade Judge Roy (Jack Fauntleroy) Bean, the "Law West of the Pecos," will hold court at the "clink," which is located in front of The Advocate office, where a corps of special deputies will haul malefactors for allegedly not wearing Western garb of some sort. A number of such wrongdoers were cited to Judge Bean's court earlier in the week.

Clarence McAnally, who is in charge of rodeo entries, with headquarters at the Veterans Memorial Building, said late Wednesday there probably would be upwards of 100 performers entered by the deadline at 9 o'clock this morning.

The United Veterans Club has offered $2000 in purses, to be added to entry fees in each of the five events, which are: Saddle bronk riding, $15; bareback riding, $15; bulldogging, $20; calf roping (two calves), $25, and bull riding, $15.

In addition there will be a barrel race for girls who have not reached their 16th birthdays and a greased pig contest for boys who have not reached their 14th birthdays at each performance.

Added attractions will include Roy S. (Calgary Red) Seward, who will do a roping and ladder walking act while balanced on a slack lariat strung between two poles; Sonny Bradley, 13-year-old Dublin, Texas, boy and his two ponies, and Paul Bond of Carlsbad, nationally known trick rider.

Prizes are to be given away at the various rodeo performances, including a $150 saddle presented to the United Veterans Club by Evans Hardware, which will be given on Friday night.

A number of races have been matched for Saturday afternoon between Artesia and Carlsbad quarter-horses for the program on the Coates track northwest of Artesia.

The celebration committee announced that at the three Western dances at the Veterans Memorial Building, here will be popular, Western, and square dances.

Meals are to be served the public by the American Legion Auxiliary at the Veterans Building this evening after the big parade.

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 11, 1949

NUMBER 32

O. Brown, Railway Agent, Dean Of Businessmen, Feted On Retirement

The oldest Artesia businessman of years of service, C. O. Brown, Santa Fe Railway agent here since Jan. 20, 1905, who retired as of Aug. 1, after completing 50 years of railway work and 35 years of business, was honored Saturday evening at a banquet in the basement of the Masonic Temple by more than 50 railroad friends, employees of the railway from neighboring towns and officials from Clovis and Amarillo.

Members of the station force at Artesia were hosts at the banquet. J. D. Smith, president of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, acted as toastmaster. The tables are placed in a "U" shape and are decorated with summer flowers and baskets of flowers were scattered throughout the room.

In speaking of the contributions of the community by the former station agent, Dr. J. J. Clarke, Sr., himself an old-timer here, brought up the growth and development of Artesia from a town of about 400 people at the time C. O. Brown came here to stay two weeks to thriving and still growing community of about 12,000.

He pointed out Brown's long service as a Rotarian, city councilman and a citizen and brought out the contribution the Santa Fe Railway has made to the community and the value to any community of worthwhile employees such as Brown. He paid tribute to the man who had served his community more than 44 years and his company faithfully for 50 years.

Ray Harris of Clovis, chief dispatcher, made a short talk on the development of the country by the railroads and the contributions of the railroads' personnel. He concluded his remarks with congratulations to Brown for a job well done.

J. C. Newton of Clovis, trainmaster, brought greetings from the superintendent's office there and told of Brown's history in railroad and congratulated him on establishing a record of loyalty and achievement.

Greetings, congratulations and Godspeed were brought from the traffic department at Amarillo by Paul Winstead.

E. D. Darst, acting agent of the Artesia office, read a sheaf of congratulatory letters and telegrams received by the office here upon notification of Brown's retirement.

A gift from railroad friends and associates of two matched pieces of luggage was presented to Brown by Jack Spratt, chief clerk and cashier for the railway here, who made the introduction of visitors, including, besides those mentioned Marvin Jones, Clovis, dispatcher;

Conner Gives Final Warning About Cans

Abe Conner, city sanitation officer, this week complimented those who have complied with the city ordinance requiring covered garbage cans, but said there still are a number of illegal cans being used.

He gave a final warning that householders not complying with the sanitary ordinances will be cited to court and said he would much rather everyone would use the proper type of garbage cans.

The sanitation officer said an inspection of the alleys of the city discloses that the majority of people are using the legal cans, not only in order to stay within the law but to cut down the possibility of flies breeding.

Bob Bourland And Bill Bullock Go To Golf Finals

Bob Bourland, defending champion and Bill Bullock, medalist, will battle Sunday on the Artesia Country Club course for the 1949 city golf tournament honors.

Bourland, who won the crown in 1947 and 1948, went to the finals Sunday, when he defeated Harvey Jones 4-2, after eliminating Doyle Hankins 8-7 in the first rounds of the tournament and John Short 5-4 in the second rounds.

Bullock defeated A. W. Harral, 1948 runner-up, 1 up on the 19th hole to reach the final match with Champ Bourland. The week prior he sent Bob Bergman to the consolation play, when he won 1-up on the 20th hole. In his first match of the tournament, Bullock defeated Stanley Sutton 6-5, putting Sutton in the first flight.

Bergman, who defeated Jack Fauntleroy Sunday 2-up and Short, who was awarded the game over Cliff Loyd by default, will play for championship flight consolation honors Sunday.

Former Artesian Lands In Middle Of Battle With Monahans, Texas

In a good-natured battle between the Monahans, Texas and Artesia communities over the relative merits of V-J Day celebrations, two of the very few in the nation, the Texas city was bombed from the air Saturday with hundreds of circulars inviting all citizens of Monahans to attend the celebration.

GLENN STONE

Dr. Stone, a son of Dr. and Mrs. Ed Stone of Artesia, who formerly was in practice here with his father, has been sentenced to attend all performances of the rodeo here this week—at his own expense—the circulars informed the citizens of Monahans.

The United Veterans Club of Artesia was somewhat liberal, in having on the circulars: "You are urged to support your own show. However, if you wish to see the best, come to Artesia."

The aerial bombardment was carried out from a plane from Artesia flown by Gene Chambers and C. L. (Red) Joiner, both private pilots.

In the good-natured battle between the two communities, each has thrown barbs at the other the last few weeks, to the mutual good, in that the action has brought publicity of the two shows over a wide territory.

Furthermore, the shows do not conflict, as the one here opens Tuesday and closes Saturday night, whereas the celebration at Monahans will be a one-day affair on Monday. And it is expected people from each community will visit the other by way of celebration.

However, it is not known whether Dr. Stone will work out his sentence for treason by attending (Continued last page, this section)

Trade Day To Be Observed Here Friday

The August Artesia Trade Day will be observed Friday afternoon as an added attraction for the V-J Day celebration, it was announced by J. D. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Trade Days usually are observed on the second Wednesday of each month, but as that date would have fallen on Wednesday of this week, probably interfering somewhat with the celebration, it was postponed to Friday.

Gifts from participating merchants will be given away at Second and Main Streets at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The chamber president announced the Trade Day tomorrow will be the last of the present series and urged that all Trade Day tickets be deposited by noon.

Accident Monday Mars Ballyhoo Trip Into Hills

The two ballyhoo trips over the week end to advertise the V-J Day celebration were marred Monday on the second trip, when a car carrying Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Means skidded on wet pavement and rolled down an embankment between Tularosa and Mesalero.

No one was seriously injured, although Means sustained a back injury and was hospitalized in Roswell overnight and Mrs. Means received lacerations.

The good-willers on that day, visited Mayhill, Cloudero, Alamogordo, Tularosa, Mesalero and Ruidoso, changing the route as previously announced because of bad washouts in the Sacramento Mountains. It had been planned to go to Dunken, Pinon, Weed, Mayhill and Cloudero. The switch of plans was made just before the motorcade left Artesia Monday morning.

On the trip Saturday, the good-willers visited Carlsbad, Hobbs, Lovington, Eunice, Tatum and Roswell.

On both trips the people in the various communities were entertained by a square-dance team. And at each stop, hundreds of handbills were distributed, advertising the Victory Rodeo and celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Byers Return Home After Trip Into Canada

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Byers returned home last week after a month-long vacation trip, on which they covered about 7000 miles, on part of which they were accompanied by their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. L. A. Byers and their son, Mark, of Seattle, Wash.

The entire party went by boat from Vancouver, Wash., to the upper end of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada and then drove the length of the island to Victoria.

Co-op Members Vote Favoring Audit, Confidence In Trustees

By a vote of 173 to 22, members of the Central Valley Electric Co-operative, Inc., voted Friday afternoon at a special meeting in the Artesia High School auditorium in agreement with the board of trustees of the company in having an audit made of the co-op's books.

At the same time, 121 members extended a vote of confidence in the board, while only five disapproved.

The voting took place near the close of a heated meeting, called by members of the board, who explained in a form letter mailed to all members of the co-operative, it was believed an audit advisable by reason of the recent arraignment of Otto Wood, former manager, on a charge of causing false statements with intent to defraud the co-operative.

A. W. Langenegger, president of the board, who presided at the meeting, told the members, after Wood's name had been brought into discussions, that it was neither the intent of the meeting to try Wood nor the province of the board or membership to establish the guilt or innocence of the former manager.

Rather, he stressed, the question was one of the propriety of ordering an audit of the books and of determining whether the board members had acted in a business-like manner in ordering the audit made.

President Langenegger told the members the board did not file the charges against Wood and did not know they were to be filed, but that since they have been filed, they felt if there were any discrepancy in the books, it should be determined by means of an audit and if there is no discrepancy, that should be established.

It was brought out that the form letter had been signed by President Langenegger, Roscoe Fletcher, James Norris, S. O. Higgins, M. D. Brantley and J. L. Taylor, members of the board and that the name of Roger Durand, the other member, had been scratched out after mimeographing of the letter.

Langenegger explained the trustees had voted unanimously to send out the form letter, but that the next day, after the stencils had been cut, Durand had asked that his name be removed, fearing Wood could sue for libel. After Durand had furnished an affidavit that he had requested his name be crossed out, this was done, the president said.

He explained that the letter read (Continued on Page 3, Sec. 2)

I.P.A.A. Official Confers Here In Favor Of Restricting Oil Imports

Death Comes To Mrs. Henry Jones On Wednesday

Mrs. Henry Jones of Artesia, 80, died Wednesday morning at the home in Carlsbad of a daughter, Mrs. A. F. McIver, after a lingering illness.

Funeral services will be conducted by W. H. Langford from Paulin Chapel Friday, the time for which has not been set. Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery.

Mrs. Jones is survived by five daughters, nine grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

The daughters are Mrs. Julia Hubbard and Mrs. James Anderson of Artesia and Mrs. G. F. Newman, Mrs. A. F. McIver and Mrs. Vera King of Carlsbad. The late Luther Jones was a son.

As Texanna Sauls, Mrs. Jones was born Aug. 25, 1868, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sauls. She married Henry Jones at Jenesboro, Texas, in 1887 and to them were born eight children, of whom three preceded their mother in death.

Mr. Jones died last March 27.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones came to Artesia from Carlsbad in 1934, but had lived in New Mexico since 1924.

Boy Scout Troop 79 Sponsors Father, Son Hike Sunday

Boy Scout Troop 79 sponsored a father and son hike Sunday to the Joe Mitchell ranch west of Hagerman.

H. B. Fell, executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, is here this week conferring with directors and members of the association in behalf of the amendment proposed by Senator Thomas of Oklahoma to the bill to extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act to restrict imports in any one quarter to 5 per cent of the domestic demand during the same quarter of the previous year.

In a conference with Stanley Carper of Artesia, vice president for New Mexico of the association, Fell pointed out that the adoption of this amendment would do much to provide for national security and would be fair and equitable to the domestic oil producers and importers.

Carper and other local directors of the association have assured Fell they are strongly in favor of the amendment, which will affect not only the independent oil operators, but people in many other lines of business. The other Artesia directors of the association are Van S. Welch, Emory Carper, Marshall Rowley, Louis Taubman and Harvey Yates.

In his conversation with Stanley Carper, Fell said:

"Oil products are essential in modern warfare. Without them airplanes and troop ships cannot move, tanks are useless and every item of warfare that uses petroleum products are of no use if these products are not available. During World War II, the German submarines practically eliminated foreign oil. Actually 83 per cent of the oil used by us and our allies to win World War II came from the oil wells in the United States.

We cannot depend on foreign oil in a war emergency. We must have it available in the United States. Had we not had about one million barrels of excess productive capacity in the United States when World War II started, we would (Continued last page this section)

Do We Do It?

WE AS citizens and taxpayers seem to have to provide the best jobs possible and why we have to keep certain portions of our governmental payrolls has been a little amazing to us.

Why do we seem to have adopted the idea in various parts of the country to have an obligation to every ex-office holder and politician to choose jobs and to keep them on even if they have been on a government job? We have followed this practice. Let us see if there is some place that needs a good job and a professional man to handle it. Let us see if there is some former office holder or politician that has not done a good job. Let us see if there is some place that needs a good job and a professional man to handle it. stood that he and no one else, is the one who has "put in."

It is not the province of the newspaper or members of the staff to make news, but to publish it, exactly as it appears or according to the record. The newspaper does not try or convict anyone. Rather, it takes a neutral standpoint and the position of the courts, presuming that a person is innocent until proven guilty.

But in the meantime, matters of public record are certainly news. And it certainly is news when an organization of more than 700 is to have a meeting, the stated purpose of which has been announced in a form letter which has been mailed to all members.

No one has to "put in" such news. The mere fact that such has transpired is sufficient reason for a newspaper seeking out the facts and publishing them.

It is our intention to continue to delve into chapter after chapter of the news story in regard to the auditing of the books of the co-op and the charges against its former manager, hewing to the line and publishing the facts as they unravel.

We sincerely hope that the books are found to be in perfect condition and that the charges are unfounded.

But regardless of what transpires, the story is a public one and will be followed. And what is "put in" will be done by us, not by anyone within or outside of the co-op and with nothing in view but to keep the public informed.

We intend to exercise our privilege of freedom of the press.—A.L.B.

Would Do Us Good

IT WOULD DO MOST OF US GOOD if we could learn something about the other fellow's business, his costs of doing business and the actual effort he has to make to operate his business.

Everyone, of course, thinks he has the most difficult job to do. And every person has the idea that his business is a little more difficult to operate than the other individual's. And as a people it is only natural to assume that we know exactly what the other fellow should do. We know exactly how to operate his business more successfully than he is doing it.

We recall a story related once about a printer in a newspaper office. That printer could never understand why all the advertising for that paper was not in the office on time and why those selling advertising couldn't and wouldn't do this and that. He was always complaining—so much so that he got to be a regular grouch around the back shop.

He was sure he could do a better job than he was being done and he could show the ad man how it should be done if he had their job. An opening developed in the ad department. He was given the job. He lasted exactly two weeks and then begged for his job as a printer.

He declared he would never say a word again about the ad men. He learned just how hard it was for them to do their job; how much waiting around they had to do; how much walking they had to do; and how much "static" they had to take because of the appearance of the ads or maybe because the printer wasn't doing his job.

Most of us need that lesson this printer had. He learned about the other fellow's job and found out the job he had was easier and more pleasant. And those of us who might have this printer's experience would probably also learn our jobs are easier.

And if some of us had the opportunity to operate the other fellow's business, we would probably learn that it isn't as easy as it seems and that there are many problems with which we are not familiar and that we did not and do not know a thing about.

It does us all good to learn a little something about the other fellow's problems. It helps us to realize that he is probably doing a much better job than we realize and also makes us appreciate that our job is not as bad as we thought.—O.E.P.

Within $12,000

THE NEW MEXICO A. & M. COLLEGE Memorial Stadium committee is now within $12,000 of their cash goal of $50,000 needed to begin actual construction of the memorial tower and the stadium for the college at Las Cruces.

The committee has been working almost five years on this particular project to build a memorial tower to honor the memory of all Aggies, who served in World War II and to provide an adequate stadium for the Aggies.

The campaign has been slow with other projects interfering and without adequate direction and leadership to conduct their campaign. During the past few weeks another $10,000 in cash has been added to the fund and cash and pledges now stand at approximately $38,000.

The board of regents of the college has announced that when $50,000 is provided, they will find ways and means to finance the balance of the cost. Present plans call for expenditures of approximately $150,000 with the stadium expected to seat at least 7000.

The committee is now starting work to try to secure 120 people willing to donate at least $100 each to the fund. The greater portion of the funds raised up to the present time have come from Las Cruces, Dona Ana County and the Mesilla Valley.

No active drive has been made over the state to induce contribution from former Aggies or from students of A. & M. College, although many contributions have been received.

It is felt there are many over the state who would gladly contribute to the stadium and memorial if they were afforded the opportunity. It is well-known fact that A. & M. College has rendered outstanding service to the farmers, cattle and sheep of the state.

It is believed, would be glad to assist in the construction of their memorial stadium. It is hoped that many would be induced to send in any amount of money they desire to make. This is a memorial to the Memorial Stadium at Las Cruces, New Mexico, which is now under construction.

CHANGING WORLD

Adding Sunshine to the Sunshine State

By G. Ward Fenley

Scribe Karl Guthmann of Roy says an editor's life is tough. Like hunters chasing the hounds that are chasing the fox—it's just one thing after another, opines Karl.

He wrote in The Roy Record last week: "All in all, the editor, who tries to do a good job of reporting the news good and bad; in reporting the social events; in writing editorials which he thinks are constructive—finds himself in hot water from time to time. He is damned if he does and damned if he doesn't."

Editors Not Like
Old-time School Teachers
But editors, unlike school teachers of yesteryear at least be- sit themselves in the swivel chair with their eyes wide open and at their own risk.

They're like the man whose mother-in-law refused an invitation to visit her married daughter after receiving a letter from the son-in-law. He couldn't spell "convenience," so he wrote, "We'll be glad to have you at your own risk."

Or that Joe Hayes of Hot Springs awoke with a six-gun in each hand when his wife yelled, "Tarantula."

Community Ups and Downs
As the Farmington Times Huster blossomed into a slick, up-to-date daily last week, Orval Ricketts wrote a parting obituary that had an undertone of plausiveness: "But G. L. Butler and Ricketts have plugged along these 30 years as business manager and editor respectively, with the ups and downs every community experiences."

Amen.

Good For What?
Despite the fascination of an editor's job, like The Eddy County News last week, we sometimes wonder what an editor and a newspaper are good for. A lady in Arizona wrote to The Eddy County News saying she didn't have time to read the paper but added in a postscript: "It is a good paper."

She underlined "good" and now the editor is asking: "Good for what?" Besides the familiar use to which the old-time Sears-Roebuck catalog was put, we can think of a lot of answers to the editor's question.

Reader to Romance
Ed Buttmann of Springer has one answer. Two weeks ago a Farley man changed a tire for a San Bernardino, Calif. lady tourist. When she got home she wrote to The Springer Tribune to learn the name of her benefactor.

At present it is Mr. and Mrs. Hiram G. Smith of San Bernardino, Calif., joint operators of a grocery store.

Good for what? Newspapers are ideal tools for the editor to blow off steam. Jack Thompson of The Bayard Journal philosophized last week: "Women! I'll never understand them — and probably wouldn't like 'em if I did. My wife is always switching furniture with the express purpose of battering up my shins. Our furniture seems to revolve and I can't remember where it is. Periodically everything that is in our house is moved a quarter turn from one wall over against another."

Newspapering Is Fun—Too
Newspapering is so fascinating that even kids like to play editor.

Good for what? Newspapers are the cat's whiskers to keep the village favorites on tongue's tip. How else would we know that Hizzoner, Mayor Dan Duke of El Paso, counts on being "Udderly exhausted" after the "Mayor's Milking Contest," a feature of the scheduled Las Cruces Centennial, Oct. 9-15?

Or that Joe Hayes of Hot Springs awoke with a six-gun in each hand when his wife yelled, "Tarantula."

Hot Springs panther scare!
It's Just Good Clean Fun—Newspapering

Care Lengthens Roofing Life On Farm Buildings
Demonstration metal roofs on farm buildings in many sections of the state are proving how durable this type of roof can be.

The lifetime of these roofs can be greatly increased by knowing how to select the roofing, how to put it on and ways to preserve the metal. Eddy County Agent Dallas Rierison gives a few points in the applying of the material.

Screw-type nails have proved preferable to smooth-shank nails for fastening metal sheets securely to roof sheathing. Sheet metal screws have been used satisfactorily to fasten sheets together where the wood structure did not hold nails. A No. 12 half-inch galvanized screw-nail is also satisfactory as it fills old nail holes.

Asbestos wicking has been found to be a good material for gaskets in the sheet laps, but not more than two strands should be used or the sheets may be spread apart too far.

Galvanized roofing should be painted as soon as the galvanizing or zinc coating begins to break down. Painting at this stage takes less labor and much less paint than if one waits until the roof has begun to show a considerable number of rust spots.

For the paint to stick on well and for maximum coverage, it must be put on in warm weather. Sheets must be dry and free from dust and dirt. If rusted, the sheets can be cleaned with a wire brush to remove loose particles and scale. First, paint all rusted spots and allow to dry before applying a coat over the entire roof. Wire brushing is not necessary if the paint is applied with a spray gun, but the roof should be swept with a broom just before painting. Metallic zinc paint has given excellent service in many tests.

Cattlemen Will Hold Next Meet At Hot Springs

State cattlemen will hold their next quarterly meeting in Hot Springs on Sept. 9-10, according to G. W. Evans, Magdalena, president of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association. Although it has been the custom of our organization to meet in Albuquerque during the State Fair in September, an unusual and hearty invitation from State Senator Burton Roach, Hot Springs Chamber of Commerce manager, lead directors to vote for the Sierra County city this year, Evans said.

The meeting will be held in conjunction with the Sierra County Fair and Rodeo, scheduled for the same dates. Jack and Earl Sellers of Del Rio, Texas, are in charge of the rodeo. Arrangements for the Hot Springs regional meeting of the association are proceeding under the direction of Senator Roach and members of the Sierra County Sheriff's Posse. Between 400 and 500 state cattlemen plan to attend this session, Evans continued. Statewide support for the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association is becoming more evident each day, Evans said. Since the quarterly meeting in Ruidoso June 23, more than 150 cattlemen have made application to join. Membership now totals more than 5000 ranchers, Evans said.

Price Supports To Be Based On Allotments

Farmers have been put on notice that compliance with wheat acreage allotments will be necessary if they want the protection of government price supports on their 1950 wheat crop.

According to Roy Forehand, chairman of the County Agricultural Conservation Committee, an "eligible" producer for price support on the 1950 wheat crop, generally, will be "any individual, partnership, association, corporation or other legal entity that has an interest in landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper in a farm on which the acreage planted to wheat for harvest in 1950 is not in

If the producer has an interest in farms in more than one county or state, he would not be eligible for wheat price supports if the total of his share of the 1950 wheat acreage seeded for harvest on all of the farms exceeds his total share of such allotments or permitted acreages, regardless of where such farms are situated.

A "permitted" acreage, Forehand said, will be used only for those farms for which a 1950 wheat allotment of less than 15 acres is established and the wheat acreage seeded for harvest is in excess of the allotment. In those cases, the permitted acreage is the smaller of the wheat acreage seeded for harvest or 15 acres.

Artists To Show State Fair

Some of New Mexico's finest artists will be represented at the New Mexico State Fair, Sept. 25 through Oct. 2. The fair's administration where the show is hung, consists of professional artists from all entries and limit the show to the 200 paintings. At the State Fair Art Museum in Santa Fe and at the Harwood Foundation in Taos. Each jury will consist of a realistic, one expressionistic and one abstract or non-objective artist to screen all paintings, drawings and prints. A sculptor will be appointed in each district to pass on sculpture entries. Similar arrangements will be made for photography and crafts. Final judgement and awards will be made by the Albuquerque jury. To accommodate the great number of entries expected, panels or partitions will be erected in the fair's art gallery. The show is open only to professional, resident artists of New Mexico. Classes in the show include oil paintings, water colors, pastels, prints, drawings, decorative arts and crafts, items in Spanish Colonial tradition, photography and sculpture. Top award for the best work of art of the entire show will be $75 cash and first premium. In addition, Fletcher Brumit, manager of the Hilton Hotel in Albuquerque, offers a special $25 award for the work of art judged best by popular vote. Schuyler, a well-known New Mexico artist, said the New Mexico show is the best of any state fair show he has ever seen, both in quality of work hung and the system of selecting winners. "The jury system, which was started here last year," Schuyler said, is the cleanest and fairest method I've ever encountered in awarding premiums."

Retail Sales In State Increase

Retail sales in New Mexico during May showed another substantial increase over the previous month and over the same month of 1948, according to New Mexico Business, published by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of New Mexico. A remarkable fact, says Prof. Ralph L. Edgel, staff director of the university bureau, is that except for September, 1948, the nationwide break in the retail market has not been readily apparent in New Mexico. Edgel points out a number of other business trends favorable to the Land of Enchantment, compared with the nation as a whole, while at the same time warning that such comparisons may be misleading and that in some respects the state's economy is less stable than that of the country as a whole. Among the bright spots, says Edgel, is the fact that increasing dollar volume of retail sales no longer reflects rising retail prices and has not done so since last August. Employment in non-agricultural work increased again during May. Bank debits (deposits) to individual accounts continued to show up better in New Mexico than in almost any other part of the country. Yet certain segments of the state's economy are feeling a downturn, Edgel notes, including sales of furniture and appliances, in line with glutted markets in this field. Prices for farm commodities have weakened, with farm income dropping and employment in mining has fallen off seriously. Much of the economy is extractive, the publication points out, coming from the earth. Edgel cites the mining decline as an example of the latest instability in New Mexico economy. Manufacturing, on the increase in New Mexico, still employs only 7 per cent of non-agricultural workers, against 35 per cent in the nation, whereas mining employs 9 per cent compared with 2 per cent nationally. Eleven per cent of workers are on construction jobs in the state, 4 per cent in the nation. Another noteworthy figure listed by New Mexico Business is the 21 per cent of government employees in the state's non-agricultural working force, compared with 13 per cent nationally. The growth of employment in

MEN OF MERIT
Upon retiring from a business or profession, many men just loaf and slowly disintegrate. Not so with Dr. Charles Greeley Abbot. Born on a New Hampshire farm, Dr. Abbot early became interested in science. He attended the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and soon thereafter entered a career which won him wide prestige for his discoveries of new knowledge, particularly regarding solar radiation. His scientific contributions and numerous technical books brought him many awards. From 1928 to 1944 he was associated with the Smithsonian Institution and for some years prior to his retirement was head of the Astrophysical Observatory. But his retirement was only formal. Dr. Abbot found a spot in the tower of the Institution and here he since has carried on independent research, particularly in the study of weather and its forecasting. Instead of taking things easy, this Man of Merit goes right along in search of further knowledge to give to the world. And this is indeed a very generous and worthwhile philanthropy.

HEAVY ACREAGE REPORTED FOR COTTON PRODUCTION

Cotton in cultivation on July 1 is estimated at 26,380,000 acres, reports the Department of Agriculture. This is the largest acreage since 1937 and 14 per cent larger than the 1948 acreage. If abandonment is equal to the 10-year average, the acreage for harvest this year would be 25,897,000, compared with 22,768,000 acres in 1948. The 1938-47 average acreage harvested was 21,396,000 acres. All producing states increased plantings this year. Record high acreages are estimated for California, Arizona and New Mexico, where increases over 1948 are 19, 34 and 50 per cent respectively. Texas acreage exceeds the 10-million mark for the first time since 1937.

2,300,000 marriages in 1946, a survey made by the statistical bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company shows that the state of wedlock has been steadily declining to an estimated 1,600,000 ceremonies in 1949.

One of the reasons for the falling off in the number of marriages this year, the bureau said, is obviously the depletion in the supply of eligible men and women. This present-day lack of eligibles is due to the remarkably high marriage rates in the immediate post-war years.

Hedges have been shooting up like weeds, lately, along Main Street. They've turned into real traffic hazards. Drivers at the corners couldn't see stop lights or the approaching cars.
After one accident and a couple of near-misses, the Town Council decided to have a hedge-trimming bee—cut them all to size at once.
We held the bee on Saturday. No one had to come, but it seemed like every man in town was out with shears and clippers. Women kept passing out sandwiches and cool glasses of ice-water and beer.

Wonderful New Comfort

The Beautiful Chrysler Silver Anniversary Model
 New Convenience! Easiest car ever made to get into and out of. Women enter and leave with dignity. Common sense engineering of wider doorways, and natural step-in entrances make it seem absurd ever to have to wrestle your way in and out of a car.
 New Wider Chair-Height Seats! We don't fold you up like a "jackknife." You sit comfortably in seats the height of your easy chairs at home. We've more headroom, legroom, and shoulder room for you. And no other car has ever been so completely engineered from the fundamentals up for your comfort, your convenience, your peace of mind.
 New Easier Steering! In one of the great advances since the war, we give you new "center control" steering. For the first time, tie rods of equal length give you balanced control. There's no wheel fight. There's greater road stability, easier handling, less road shock. Yes, and greater safety, too—for everything about this car is designed for safer driving.
 New Smoother Driving! Chrysler's mighty Spitfire engine now has still higher compression for faster acceleration, smoother response. And along with its better all-around performance goes an amazing new Waterproof Ignition System that's exclusive with Chrysler. You can drive through high water but it won't stall. You get quicker starting, even in dampest weather, smoother idling, longer life.

Every Father and Mother
Should See This Preachment on Juvenile Delinquency!

"Knock On Any Door..."

it's a strange title-KNOCK ON ANY DOOR. In a lot of ways it's a strange kind of motion picture.
It's different, out of the groove, packs a real wallop.
It's based on the best-selling novel. Even though I knew every word of dialogue,
when I saw it put together,

UN PAYS NICKEL DEBT
Lake Success (AFPS) — The United Nations pays its debts—regardless of size.
The South American republic of Paraguay overpaid its annual dues to the UN last year in the sum of five cents.
This year the United Nations took official cognizance of this item and billed the Paraguay republic for $16,646.95, instead of $16,647.

Miniature Santa Fe Freight Train To Be In Celebration Parade Today

Pictured here is the Santa Fe miniature freight train, which will be in the celebration parade at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon and will remain through Saturday. It was built in 1926 in the Santa Fe shops at Topeka, Kan., by employes on their own time. It consists of a locomotive, a livestock car, a refrigerator car, coal car, tanker and caboose. It is 68 feet long and the locomotive derives its power from an automobile motor. Since it was built it has been exhibited in many cities up and down the Santa Fe lines and is always a popular attraction.

Farm Wage Rate In State Climbs

According to information received from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, farm laborers in New Mexico this year are receiving $107 per month with board and room. The USDA release says that this is $8 more than last year, $5 more than the United States average, but $22 less than the average for the West South Central states.

Farm wage earners with houses furnished are receiving $126 per month. This is $4 more than for the same period last year, but $4 less than the nation's average and $24 less than the average for the West South Central.

Farm wage rates for the U.S. did not rise as much between April 1 and July 1 this year as they did last year. This was probably caused by a 4 per cent increase in the number of hired farm workers reported in June over last year. Crop reporters in many cases reported a general easing in the supply of farm labor for hire, which in many cases permits farmers to be more selective in their hiring from the standpoint of quality and efficiency of workers.

In the last 50 years, output per farm worker has increased by 250 per cent. In 1977 a farmer could do little more than feed himself and his family, it took 19 farm people to support one other American. Today 19 farm people support themselves, 56 other Americans and 10 persons abroad.

Harvard Professor Kirk Bryan, a world authority on early man in America. Bryan, a New Mexico alumnus, visited the site July 16.

A five-foot wooden shaft with stone point is among the relics. It is the second complete specimen to be found in the United States. Information from this Indian-type spear will throw new light on weapon-making technique now being studied by anthropologists, Reiter said.

An interesting variation in the way the Indians fastened the point to the shaft is shown by a four-inch spear head unearthed by Sigfried Sandberg, anthropology graduate directing the eight student excavators. It is unique among 12 similar points in existence in the United States.

Other relics hoisted out of the Indian ceremonial pit, after being carefully uncovered by tiny brushes and dental picks, are a preman mastodon's remains, shells brought 1000 miles by pre-historic traders from the Gulf of Mexico and hundreds of beads.

In the light of the unusual findings, special permission to go on with the digging has been given by Dr. J. L. Riebsomer, summer session director. Advice urging continuation of the work has been received from Dr. Jesse Nusbaum, National Park Service, Santa Fe and Stanley Stubbs, associate in anthropology at the Laboratory of Anthropology and State Museum, Santa Fe.

One thing mystifies the anthropologists: Only 30 points have been found among the thousands of fragments of shafts. It suggests the bizarre possibility of skilled craftsmen being kept prisoners in the cavity to make the wooden rods, said Reiter.

Arising out of a regular summer session field class, the discovery will require more than a year for analysis and classification of the items and will provide material for masters' theses. Scientific resources of the University of New Mexico will be augmented by special tests done at the University of Chicago and the Smithsonian Institution.

Living is somewhat uncomfortable, reported Sandberg, at the little four-tent camp, where 15 rattlesnakes have been shot to date. When not doing their eight-hour shift in the pit, the students are busy carrying water by truck from a railroad siding five miles away, cooking their meals and labeling and sketching the samples.

University Cagers Plan Winter Junket To Eastern Schools

The University of New Mexico's basketball squad will meet some of the top cage quintets of the East this winter on a junket that will take the Lobo hoopsters to Pittsburgh, Cleveland and New York City.

Coach Woody Clements has announced the scheduling of games with Duquesne, West Virginia, Seton Hall, Kent State at Cleveland and Iona College at New Rochelle, N. Y.

Clements said he plans to take a squad of 10 men on the cage tour, which will open at Pittsburgh Dec. 13 against Duquesne, always one of the top quintets of the nation and close against Iona Dec. 21. Shortly after return from the Eastern invasion, the Lobo five will match baskets with Arizona University, West Texas State and Texas Western College in a tournament at El Paso Dec. 29 and 30, preceding the annual Sun Bowl football game.

RANGE SHEEP TOUR TO BE HELD IN SEPTEMBER

Sheepmen will tour Chaves, Lea and Lincoln Counties Sept. 1-2, to observe fencing methods and to inspect range equipment. Members of the touring party will have an opportunity to see several herds on which production records are known.

The tour is planned by the New Mexico Wool Growers' Association and is being held in conjunction with the association's semi-annual meeting.

Efforts are being made to rent busses for transportation to eliminate the confusion of a large number of cars.

DISCUS RECORD

Lisbon, Portugal (AFPS)—Fortune Gordien, former Minnesota collegian, shattered the listed world record for the discus with a toss of 185 feet 2 47/192 inches. The old mark was 181 feet 6 3/4 inches.

New York (AFPS) — Former All American football lineman, Jim White, stalwart in the National League Giants' forward wall for three seasons recently signed his 1949 contract. He also was appointed team captain for the coming year.

Anthropological Jackpot Is Hit

The University of New Mexico has hit in its summer digs an anthropological jackpot, announced Dr. Paul Reiter, director of anthropology field trips. Insect Killers Made By Synthetic Means

New pyrethrum-like chemicals that kill insects have been made synthetically for the first time in the laboratories of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, it has been announced by the U. S. department of agriculture. The chemical makeup of the synthetic materials is almost identical with that of the insect-killing principle in pyrethrum, according to the chemists.

New Insecticide Is Recommended

Entomologists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture have recommended an additional insecticide for use as a residual spray for fly control in dairy barns. It is the essentially pure gamma isomer of benzene hexachloride, now known by the common name, "lindane."

The Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine does not recommend that lindane be used on dairy cattle for insect control or that it be applied to forage that is to be fed to dairy cattle or animals being finished for slaughter until more is known about the new chemical.

Lindane is practically free of objectionable musty odors and its toxicity from a chronic standpoint to humans is considerably less than that of technical benzene hexachloride.

It will be marketed as wettable powders containing 25 per cent of the chemical and 20 per cent as an emulsion concentrate.

Lindane spray should be applied so as to wet all treated surfaces thoroughly to the point of run-off. The amount of spray required to wet surfaces in most dairy barns without run-off will vary, but usually a gallon will treat 500 square feet of surface.

Certification Tags For 1517 Cotton Lint Are Ready

Lint certification tags for 1517 cotton are now ready for distribution to growers, Marshall Thompson, extension cotton marketing specialist at New Mexico A. & M. College announced.

The tags, which bear the name of the grower or the community in which the cotton was grown, will serve to identify the high-quality 1517 cotton and will prevent substitution of inferior varieties, Thompson said.

Tags may be ordered from the 1517 Cotton Association, headquarters of which are at State College. The cost of each tag—one for each bale—is 10 cents, submitted with each order. Any farmer is eligible whose entire cotton crop is planted with tagged 1517 seed. If additional varieties are planted they must be of a longer staple than 1517.

have no doubt lost the war.

"In June of this year, our imports were an average of 632,000 barrels per day of oil and its products. That was more than four times what we imported during the prewar period 1935-39. The state regulatory bodies in the United States have been forced to restrict domestic production as a result, approximately 950,000 barrels per day. The 600,000 barrels of imports per day supplanting domestic production means a loss of income to the domestic producers of $1,500,000 per day. Domestic crude oil production has been curtailed from a minimum of 10 per cent in some areas to a maximum of shutdown fields in other low gravity crude oil areas.

"As a result, unemployment is increasing in all oil areas. Purchasing power in all oil areas is being decreased to the extent of $1,500,000 per day. Less men are required for exploration, drilling and production from oil wells in the United States. Less royalties and bonuses are being paid to the land owners. Less delay rentals are being paid for prospective acreage. Less revenues are being collected by the school districts and municipal, county and state governments. Less income taxes are being collected with which to service the national debt. Drilling contractors are stacking their tools.

Independent oil producers are seeing their production curtailed and their costs increased to a point making it impossible for them to continue the rate of exploration and development work. This means that we cannot build up the reserves and excess productive capacity to meet any war requirements that might develop.

"A few companies, all domestic except one, are importing these excessive quantities of oil and its products. To whatever extent we permit imports, to that extent we become dependent upon these few companies. What they could do if we became so dependent is clear. Even before their monopolistic power is complete, their trigger finger begins to itch.

"The testimony of representatives of the importing companies indicates no tendency to decrease imports, but rather a tendency to increase them. There is a world-over supply of oil. We will no doubt lose our foreign market, but we must retain our domestic market if we are to have a sound national economy and national security.

"The importing companies support restriction of domestic production under state conservation laws to prevent waste. Why should they oppose restriction of imports by the federal government, which is the only agency of government that can do so? The adoption of the amendment by Senator Thomas would do much to provide for our national security and would be fair and equitable to the domestic oil producers and importers."

With Fell here this week, is B. H. Vickery, field representative for the association in the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico.

Artesia Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, a former Hobbs police officer, is one of 43 persons being subpoenaed for appearance before the Lea County Grand Jury, which was scheduled to convene today.

Paul Heard took office. Heard was recently arraigned on a charge of accepting a $1000 bribe for protection against raid on a Negro resort.

It was stressed that this will be that community's fourth V-J Day celebration, the first of which was on Aug. 14, 1946, as a tribute to World War II veterans.

'World's Fattest Man' Is To Be At Williams Store

BILL WETSEL

Bill Wetsel of Clayton, 'World's Fattest Man,' better known as 'The Fat Man in Overalls,' will appear at the Williams Furniture Store, Artesia, from Monday, Aug. 15 through Saturday, Aug. 20.

HIS SHORT MEMORY NETS A LONG TERM

New York (APPS) — Crime doesn't pay, and neither does absent-mindedness.

Joseph Culhane, a convicted car thief, was seeking a notary public recently as a witness to a transfer of some property. He strolled into a store in the Bronx operated by Bernard Greenfield, who is a notary.

Joe didn't recognize Greenfield—at first anyway—but Bernie recognized Joe right away as the same man who had been in his store back in February, and robbed him of $200.

MEET AT 8 P.M., MARRY AT 8:30, SEPARATE AT 9

Chattanooga, Tenn. (APPS) — Theirs was a whirlwind romance with a tornado-like ending.

Barbara L. Hughes met James A. Hughes at 8 p.m. They drove across the state line into Georgia and were married at 8:30 p.m. They separated after a quarrel at 9 p.m.

Mrs. Hughes hasn't seen her husband since. She wants a divorce.

The earliest patterned textiles known are Egyptian linens of the 15th century B. C.

SOVIET JETS DESCRIBED AS FAST, MODERN SHIPS

Moscow (APPS) — Soviet jet planes described as completely modern and exceptionally fast were demonstrated publicly for the first time recently at a Soviet Aviation Day show near Moscow.

Rear Admiral Leslie C. Stevens, United States Embassy Naval and Naval Air Attache, called the show "very interesting."

"Especially noteworthy," Admiral Stevens said, "was the fact that it was restricted completely to modern aircraft. There were absolutely no obsolescent types."

PITY THE DOGCATCHER ON DAYS LIKE THIS

Baltimore (APPS)—Two of this city's duly appointed dogcatchers had had a good day. Their catch totalled seven.

But disaster struck just as they were ready to drive to the dog pound. A pretty 17-year-old girl dashed from behind a car and opened the cage. Seven yelping pooches scrambled out and disappeared.

The dog catchers stopped chasing canines and chased the girl. When finally apprehended, the girl said they had picked up a friend's dog and she simply wanted to let him out—and did.

Proper Irrigation Will Determine Cotton Fruiting

The New Mexico cotton crop is somewhat late this year, as adverse weather conditions retarded growth during the early part of the season. This circumstance points up the fact that most cotton farmers in the state are still faced with the necessity of carrying their cotton through all of two and part of a third of the critical stages of growth from the standpoint of irrigation.

These critical periods of cotton growth under irrigation are: The period from planting to heavy fruiting of the cotton plants, the fruiting period and the end of the irrigating season.

In general, the more rapid the growth prior to heavy flowering of the plants, the higher are the final yields. Tests have shown that plants from which water has been withheld after planting absorbed no more water from a depth of two to six feet during August, September and October than did plants provided an abundance of water succeeding planting.

Conversely, plants receiving an abundance of water during the period prior to heavy flowering were stimulated into rapid and extensive growth at this stage. These consistently outyielded plants that were permitted to wilt before receiving water. More frequent and proportionately lighter applications of water may be required during this stage of plant growth. Probably the ideal situation is to permit the plants to show water stress at no time prior to heavy fruiting.

Early irrigation encourages early fruiting. This is reflected in greater percentages of the total crop gathered at the first picking. On the other hand, plants that grow slowly during the prefruiting stage and fairly rapidly from fruiting to the end of the season produce less than plants receiving abundant moisture earlier in the season.

The cotton crop should, therefore, be allowed to reduce available moisture more completely between irrigations during the fruiting period than prior to this stage, unless it was stressed too severely prior to flowering. Excessive vegetation growth during the fruiting period can be prevented largely by regulation of irrigation and the vigor of the plants can thus be directed to producing fruit rather than growing worthless stalk.

Experiments in the Mesilla Valley have shown that irrigating during the latter part of September delays the maturity of the cotton crop. Late irrigation causes a smaller percentage of the crop to be gathered at the first picking, an increase in the number of immature bolls and additional expenditure for "scrapping" operations. Such conditions often represent a twofold expense to the farmer, from a lower average market value per pound of cotton harvested and from an increasing picking cost per acre.

Considering the three growth states mentioned and summarizing the practices that have shown considerable promise under experimental as well as field conditions, a cotton irrigation plan would embody these three principles:

First, stimulate the crop by early and adequate irrigation into rapid and extensive vegetative growth during the period up to heavy fruiting. Second, regulate irrigation to promote moderate growth of the plants from the period of heavy flowering to the end of the irrigating season.

Third, keep in mind that applications of water delays maturity. Regulate the time of the last irrigation so as to obtain maximum production without delay of maturity of the crop. Unless the cotton has been stressed too severely during the period prior to fruiting, it may not be advisable to irrigate later than the first week in September.

O. Brown—

... Hill, Clovis, superintendent... Willard Keen, Carls... retired roadmaster; Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bowen, Hagerman; Mr. Mrs. F. W. Stephens, Dexter; M. T. Murphy, Lake Arthur; Annie Laurie Snorr, Roswell; and Mrs. J. H. Terrell, Lake...

At the banquet, the invocation given by Rev. Arthur G. Bell, pastor of the First Christian Church of Artesia, after which the group was welcomed by Toastmaster Smith.

A bouquet of red roses was presented to Mrs. Brown by C. C. Correll, first-track operator at Artesia.

After the main course, Miss Jo Margaret Gore, violinist, played "Mazurka" by Wieniawski and "Fiddlin' the Fiddle," by Rubinoff accompanied by Mrs. Jack Spratt. The evening was brought to a close by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" by the entire group.

C. O. Brown was born Oct. 31, 1881, at Varner, Kan. In the fall of 1898 he started his apprenticeship and attended school that winter and worked before and after school at Pretty Prairie, Kan., for the Hutchenson & Southern Railway Company.

His first telegraph position was at Kingman, Kan., in August, 1899 and he later transferred to Blackwell, Okla. While he was there, the Brown remained as night operator. In the early part of 1900, he had a sick spell, decided to end his railroad career and went home. However, on July 13, 1900, he applied for a position with the Santa Fe at Wellington, Kan., which was then the division point for the Southern Kansas division extending from there to Amarillo.

Brown was sent to Canadian, where he spent a short time as night operator. Later he went to Day and then to Bovipa, Texas, as agent. He served at Canadian again and at Pampa, Texas and back to Bovina before coming to Artesia, Jan. 19, 1905.

However, a little more than a year before coming to Artesia, Brown married Loma Mersfelder at her home at Crockett, Texas. Here they reared their son, C. O. Brown, Jr., now a chemical engineer for The Texas Company at San Bernardino, Calif. and their daughter, Ella, now Mrs. J. H. Jones of Santa Fe, whose husband is connected with the State Highway Department. Both of the children attended and graduated from school here. The son is also a graduate of the University of New Mexico and the daughter of Texas Tech.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones and son, Larry Ronald, who is Mr. and Mrs. Brown's only grandchild, were here for the banquet. C. O. Brown, Jr., did not come, but his parents are now visiting him and his family at San Bernardino, for where they left Sunday night—by Santa Fe.

Brown recalled that when he and Mrs. Brown came to Artesia, passenger service was relatively new. It was only a matter of months since the first artesian wells had been drilled, giving the community its present name, instead of Miller's Siding.

In the early years they were here, much fruit was raised in the valley, Brown said and it was not uncommon in season to ship five or six carloads of apples a day from Artesia. Later the farmers switched to alfalfa and then began raising cotton, which in turn accounted for many carloads from Artesia. And then came oil, which was added to the total. Always, over the years, there has been much shipping of livestock from Artesia, especially in the spring and fall.

Besides serving his company, Brown served his community as a councilman 26 years in two periods, retiring from the City Council in April, 1942.

He also has been quite active in the First Christian Church and was Sunday school superintendent many years, until about two years ago. He also has been an elder and served on the official board many years.

Brown said he had several opportunities to leave Artesia, but as Mrs. Brown explained, "We came to stay only two weeks, but we like Artesia."

Co-op Members—

ferred to "the alleged items in question at the present time" and did not make any charge against Wood.

Durand then questioned the right of a deputy sheriff—J. B. (Buster) Mulcock, who he did not mention by name—to go over the books of the co-operative without a court order. Durand said that at the time this was done, he, Durand, was secretary and he denied he had given permission.

Lon Watkins, assistant district attorney who was present, said that at the time Mulcock was given access to the books, he had explained a court order would be obtained if insisted upon. He said the books had been inspected with the understanding it was all right and that the sheriff's department preferred to do so peacefully and that at the time Durand had made no objections.

Durand said he has no objections to the books being examined, "if it is done in the right way."

The assistant district attorney said that the case had come to his attention when a special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation had come to his office, explaining an investigation had been made and that it had been found the FBI did not have jurisdiction. The agent also had a letter from the United States district attorney to this effect and requesting that the findings be turned over to the district attorney's department.

When asked if the charges against Wood would be withdrawn, if the audit should show no irregularities, Assistant Attorney Watkins said the state would go ahead with prosecution on the present charges and would bring further charges should they be indicated by the audit.

P. M. Vashbinder, a member of the co-operative, pointed out that at the time Wood had taken over management of the organization, it had been built up into a paying concern and one of the best REA co-operatives in the nation under his leadership.

Vashbinder earlier had charged that the purpose behind the audit was to smear the character of Wood and he had made a motion that persons not members of the co-op who were present should absent themselves from the meeting. This motion was voted down by a big majority. Vashbinder also said he wanted to know why the news story of the announcement of the meeting and the text of the letter sent out were in the Artesia and Hope newspapers and asked as to who put the story in.

The meeting was opened with a short Scripture reading and prayer by Rev. Thomas E. Cudd, pastor of the Church of Christ.

At that time, President Langenegger said 202 members had registered at the meeting. The co-op has a membership of more than 700.

Paul Frost, the new manager of the co-operative, was introduced to the membership by President Langenegger.

New Mexico Is Far Down List Of States In Order Of Highway Safety

If Alaska and Hawaii are admitted to the Union, New Mexico and Arizona may rank 49th and 50th in highway safety, according to Andrew L. Case, Arizona Highway Department's state supervisor of driver training and safety education. His manner humorous, but with serious intent, Case addressed about 200 enrollees at New Mexico State Teachers College's bus drivers' institute at Silver City. He referred to the states' high death dates in the nation as caused by highway accidents.

Case typed 13 "screwball" drivers to his listeners as a preview to a quiz he gave on highway safety.

"Thirteen," he said, "because you are luck if you can dodge all of them, unlucky if you meet just one of them in the course of a day's driving and cannot get out of his way." He titled his talk, "Some Drivers I Have Met and Hope to Never Meet Again."

His crusade against careless, poor driving covered everybody from the intellectual college professor who drives absent mindedly to the mentally deficient. After humorously criticizing the professor-driver, he added, "But you don't have to have a string of letters behind your name to qualify for this absent minded, danger-infested group of drivers." Thought preoccupation contributes mightily to speeding through slow zones, Case said, citing a personal incident.

Case satirically commented on the "pass and a prayer driver" who fails to pass without adequate distance between him and the oncoming car. "Of course," Case said, "maybe he's like one of our driver training students who upon being congratulated by her instructor after making a tight passing maneuver and getting away with it replied, 'Well, when I get more confidence I'll open my eyes the next time I do that.'"

"Line riders," who straddle the center line, received no sympathy from Case whose friend last year was forced off the road into a steel guard rail by a line rider. The friend was one of five who burned to death in the accident.

"Weavers" received their share of criticism from Case, as did those drivers who actually change diapers while behind the wheel. Although "changing the baby's diaper" looked humorous on an official report of an accident's cause, it was not humorous when the "car rolled over three times, killed one person and hospitalized two others."

Drivers who pull out and back out without looking, lean on horns, second-gear through stop signs, fail to give hand signals, are drowsy but drive faster and are overconfident to the point of carelessness, all came in for criticism. Case also hit inadequate state regulations in granting drivers' licenses.

Raft Stars In Foreign Legion Flaming Drama

Swashbuckling adventure, highly emotional drama and colorful romance will race across the screen of the Lansud Theater Sunday and Monday, when Samuel Bischoff's exciting production, "Outpost in Morocco," is shown.

George Raft is starred in this tale of the French Foreign Legion which was filmed for the greater part, in Southern Morocco, with the French Foreign Legion actually playing a part.

Raft plays the role of Captain Gerard, who is stationed at French Military Headquarters in the town of Tesket. Considered a bon vivant, Raft is commissioned to escort Cara (Marie Windsor), the lovely Paris-educated daughter of the Emir of Bel-Rashad, back to her home.

There is smouldering under-cover activity at Bel-Rashad which disturbs Cara who is distressed to see the mounting antipathy of the Arabs toward the French. Raft is also disturbed and he decides to report the unrest to the commandant at the fort before returning to military headquarters. The commandant sends him back to Tesket for reinforcements. When Raft returns to the Legion outpost he finds that the fort has been taken by the Emir and the commandant killed.

Raft takes command at the outpost and has his friend Lieutenant Glysko (Akim Tamiroff) kidnap Cara and bring her to him. She escapes and rides up into the front lines hoping to convince her father that it is wrong to attack the French. But she is too late and in the furious battle that ensues both she and her father are killed.

As the swashbuckling Captain Gerard, George Raft has a part that suits him to a T, and Miss Windsor demonstrates quite easily that she is a young actress to be reckoned with. In top supporting roles Akim Tamiroff, Eduard Franz and Damien O'Flynn turn in excellent performances.

The film was directed by Robert Florey, with the author, Joseph N. Ermoleff, in charge of production.

IONOSPHERE ROCKET EXPECTED IN YEAR

San Francisco, Calif. (AFPS)—Scientific exploration of the ionosphere by means of rockets may be undertaken within a year, scientists have predicted.

In a recent paper read before the membership of the American Rocket Society and the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, K. F. Mundt, of the Aerojet Engineering Company, told of preliminary investigations into the ionosphere, the atmospheric layer that begins 50 miles above the earth.

Mr. Mundt said that several Aerobee rockets have already soared to altitudes of 70 miles. The rockets were 20 feet in length and designed primarily for research, with each one carrying a 150 pound payload, which to date has been a battery of scientific instruments.

CUT THE GAB; EAT CRAB

Chester, Pa. (AFPS)—Lawrence Johnson, a local stevedore, recently ate a live hard-shelled crab weighing a pound and a half.

Apparently he suffered no ill effects and collected 20 bucks from the guy who said it couldn't be done.

Double-Wall Bins for Keeping Grain Considered Best are preferred for keeping grain in the best condition, according to County Agent Dallas Rierson. He advises placing wood siding over one-inch sheathing with building paper installed between. Another good idea, he says, is to place the siding directly over the studs and line the side with ship-lap or other matched boards. Rierson says walls on old bins with their single thickness of siding can be lined with waterproof paper to help make the structure tight. And it is a good idea to use white or aluminum paint on the outside of bin walls to reduce the absorption of heat from the sun. The paint will keep the bin cooler and lessen the danger of grain spoilage.

Just Having Fun Brings Rewards In 4-H Program
 The 1949 national 4-H recreation and rural arts program—a newcomer in the field of sponsored 4-H activities—is well launched in New Mexico, according to the State Extension Office, New Mexico A. & M. College. Introduced only last year, the program has already chalked up an unusually good record which includes training 7150 junior and 4390 adult 4-H Club leaders in recreation. In addition 1005 clubs in 44 states were awarded blue ribbons for outstanding performance, 350 counties won $25 each in cash toward buying recreational equipment, 21 states received $50 each for crafts premiums, while five boys and three girls were given educational trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. A total of $25,280 will again be awarded in the same manner by the sponsors of the program. Awards are based on well-rounded recreation activities developed and carried out by local 4-H Clubs. The eight trips are provided for 4-H'ers who have excelled in recreational leadership. Among the events designed for club groups are indoor and outdoor games, dances, festivals, tours and plays. For members, there are numerous types of recreation such as leather, metal or wood craft, stage and set designing, sports and hobbies, singing or dancing leader and serving as a committee member. Nancy Parrish of Portales was named outstanding 4-H'er in New Mexico and the following counties won the $25 cash award in the 1948 recreation and rural art activity: Eddy, Dona Ana, Curry, Sierra and Roosevelt. The entire program is conducted under the supervision of the Co-operative Extension Service.

BOUNCED FROM TRAFFIC COURT TO JAIL
 Tacoma, Wash. (APFS)—Here's a snappy way to land in jail. Make out a rubber check to the police court. That's what Loretta Donner did recently when she appeared in police court here to pay a traffic fine and bail out a friend. The $25 check bounced and netted her a 10-day suspended jail sentence.

Many Bales Of Cotton Classed Free In 1948
 More than 371,000 bales of cotton were classed free in El Paso for New Mexico, District 6 of Texas and Eastern Arizona in 1948 under the Smith-Doxey Cotton Classification Service, according to Marshall Thompson, New Mexico A. & M. College extension cotton marketing specialist. He said this amounts to 99.8 per cent of the total crop and that all cotton improvement groups are urged to take advantage of the service again this season. The procedure in obtaining free classing and market news services in 1949 under the Smith-Doxey Act will be the same as in 1948. Any group of producers organized to promote the improvement of cotton is eligible for these services if it adopts a variety of cotton, files an application, arranges for sampling and meets certain other requirements for its members. Instructions and application blanks may be obtained from county agricultural agents. In view of the reported increased acreage, Thompson especially urges the new gin communities to contact their respective county agents and secure the information necessary to receive this valuable service. The service has proven instrumental in both increased qual-

The migratory waterfowl season for New Mexico, which is in the central flyway, will be split into two periods of 18 days each, Oct. 14-31 and Dec. 21-Jan. 7, according to regulations released by the Fish and Wildlife Service to the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, State Game Warden Elliott Barker announced.

This will be an increase from the split season last year of two periods of 14 days each.

But with the increase in the season, there is a decrease in the bag and possession limit for ducks.

The daily bag limit has been reduced to four from five permitted last year. And the possession limit, of two days' bags, is reduced accordingly to eight ducks. Warden Barker quoted the Fish and Wildlife Service as announcing.

As far as the regulations for geese, the release says that in the central flyway states, five geese may be taken, all of which may be snow geese or two may be Canada geese or two white-fronted geese or one each of Canada and white-fronted geese.

The daily shooting hours for ducks, geese, brant and coot are the same as last year, from a half hour before sunrise to an hour before sunset, the release added. The same regulation as last year also applies in the matter of shooting hours on the opening day of the season—including each first day of the split season—waterfowl and coot may not be hunted prior to noon.

The Fish and Wildlife Service release also set the seasons and bag limits for mourning doves and band-tailed pigeons. They are: Mourning doves, Sept. 1 to Oct. 12, daily bag and possession limit 10 birds. Band-tailed pigeons, south of Highway 60 only, Sept. 16 to Oct. 15, daily bag and possession limit 10 birds. Shooting hours for mourning doves and pigeons on the first day of the season will be noon to sunset, thereafter from sunrise until sunset.

"We recommended a split season two periods of 16 days each on the waterfowl with a five-bird daily bag and 10-bird possession limit and on the band-tailed pigeons, we asked for a statewide season and an eight-bird limit," Barker said. "These regulations must be approved by the commission at their next meeting, but," he added, "the commission usually concurs with the regulations as set up by the Fish and Wildlife Service."
