Semi-Weekly Starts Next Week

With this issue The Artesia Advocate ceases to be a weekly newspaper, after 45 years as such and on next Tuesday, will appear the first issue of the new semi-weekly, to be published each Tuesday and Friday.

There will be some changes in the format and The Advocate will be issued twice as often, but otherwise there will be no appreciable difference, for the editorial policy and general dissemination of the news and coverage will remain as heretofore.

But the semi-weekly will have advantages over the weekly, in that the news can be passed on more quickly in many cases and late news or stories which by necessity must be crowded out in one issue can and will be run only a half week later, rather than being held an entire week.

As in the past, news in The Advocate will largely have to do with the Artesia community and trade territory and with those items and stories from a distance pertaining to people of this area or those who formerly lived here. There are times when news of a wider scope will appear in these columns, as heretofore and when they are timely and of great general interest. But for the most part statewide or nationwide news will be left to the field of the metropolitan newspapers.

Exceptions will continue to be the several dozen news stories and informative articles usually appearing on inside pages, which pass on things of interest to the farmers, ranchers, businessmen, oil producers and other readers and which are gleaned from the wealth of releases received from governmental agencies, colleges, military forces and similar sources.

Girl Scout Fall Round-Up Held Monday Evening

Girl Scouts from 18 troops in Artesia and more than 40 adult members of the Artesia Girl Scout Association attended the annual fall round-up held at Mae West Curve Monday evening. Everyone brought her own noshbag lunch and was served a drink and dessert from the new Girl Scout chuck wagon, which was completed for the occasion.

The girls were divided into several groups and the younger Scouts and Brownies sang songs and played games under the supervision of Troops 8 and 14, members of which are Senior Scouts.

At the association meeting, just preceding the chuck wagon meal, Mrs. Irma Williams was elected treasurer of the association.

Mrs. G. L. Beene, president of the Leaders' Club, announced there is to be a coke party for all leaders and their assistants at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, Sept. 21 at 802 Centre Avenue.

Mrs. C. P. Bunch, president of the association, appointed Mrs. Duane Sams and Mrs. Raymond Lamb as the committee to arrange a program and publicity for "Girl Scout Week," the last week in October. She also appointed Mrs. J. E. Walters as chairman in charge of the January association meeting and James, Chuck Miller, Joe Nunn and Ralph Brown as the committee for the sale of tickets for the Clare Tree Major plays to be presented this fall.

At the close of the chuck wagon supper, Jack Frost showed colored exploration pictures of his recent tour through Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

Rotary Governor Pays His Official Visit To Artesia

RAY C. LOFTON

Ray C. Lofton of Melrose, district governor of Rotary International, on his official visit to the Artesia Rotary Club Tuesday noon told the Rotarians and a visiting Lion and a visiting Kiwanian they can best gain by their membership through attendance at meetings.

He said one enjoys the handshakes, occasion, and program when he attends, but in missing a club meeting misses something which is good.

Rotary was founded because of the loneliness of men, Governor Lofton said. And Rotary Clubs and other clubs are still founded on loneliness. "If you did not enjoy fellowship, you would not be in Rotary long," he said. "But of all you did enjoy was that friendship, you would be selfish." For, he added, the Rotary motto, "Service Above Self," becomes part of a member's thinking.

Governor Lofton went over the four aims and objects of Rotary: club, community, vocational, and international service, in a talk largely pertaining only to Rotary.

A short debate prior to the principal address was given by Chuck Aston and Jack Tinson, affirmative, and Rev. R. L. Willingham, negative, on the subject, "Should the United States Abolish the Electoral College?" in which the affirmative team was voted the winner.

Governor Lofton conducted a club assembly Tuesday night at the First National Bank for members of the board of directors and committee chairmen.

Game Protective Association Will Elect Tuesday

Officers of the North Eddy County chapter of the Game Protective Association will be elected at a meeting in the library at Artesia High School at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, it was announced by Douglas O'Bannon, president.

The election was to have been held at a meeting three weeks ago, but was postponed to next Tuesday, because of poor attendance.

O'Bannon urged good attendance at the meeting next week, so the election can be held and the association can reorganize and make plans for the coming game seasons.

NUMBER 37

Grand Jury Is Called

A petition handed to District Judge C. Roy Anderson Friday asking that he call a grand jury for Eddy County and bearing 135 names was found Saturday by Mrs. Thelma T. Lusk, county treasurer, to have been signed by 101 bona fide taxpayers, 26 more than the 75 required by New Mexico statutes making it mandatory that a grand jury be called.

The names of 18 prospective jurors were drawn from the regular Eddy County petit jury wheel Monday and from them 12 will be selected next Monday to serve.

Included were two from Artesia, Wayne S. Truett and Oscar Burch. All others were from the southern part of the county.

They were W. C. Moody, J. F. Farrell, Horace Hubert, James C. Donaldson, F. G. Blunt, Charles M. Watkins, Leon Gregory, G. N. Pixler, Sam Thomas, W. L. Pierce, G. A. Bell, Cecil Gist, Herman H. Jennings, John H. Ticer, James Pentecuff and Houston Clark.

Judge Anderson's associate, District Judge George T. Harris of Hobbs, is to charge the grand jury at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

He was asked by Judge Anderson to take charge of the jury, as Judge Anderson had been selected to sit at Silver City Monday at the trial of A. L. (Happy) Apodaca, suspended Dona Ana County sheriff, who was indicted by the Dona Ana Grand Jury and against whom both civil and criminal actions have been brought.

Of the 135 signers on the petition asking for an Eddy County Grand Jury, 92 were from the Artesia community and 43 from the southern part of the county. Circulation of the petition started here several weeks ago and then was circulated in Carlsbad the last few days before it was handed to Judge Anderson.

Among the Artesia signers was Otto Wood, former manager of the Central Valley Electric Co-operative, Inc., of Artesia, who has been bound over to the Eddy County District Court on a charge of having made false utterances with intent to defraud.

Lon P. Watkins of Carlsbad, assistant district attorney, on Saturday said he is turning over to the grand jury all action in regard to the Eddy County sheriff's office. He had planned to file an accusation against Sheriff Dwight Lee asking his removal from office on grounds of negligence. He had announced last week such action would be taken in district court, prior to the time of the filing of the grand jury petition with Judge Anderson.

The assistant district attorney said civil action was to have been filed Monday and that removal action was to have been based on the disappearance of trustees from the county jail "and other matters."

Randolph Reese of Roswell, district attorney and Watkins had announced a week prior they were conducting an investigation of the sheriff's office and that they planned to institute removal proceedings "if sufficient grounds is found."

Jack McGarry, Carlsbad attorney who with Caswell S. Neal, represents Sheriff Lee, said Saturday the "investigation of Sheriff Lee is purely political and has been political." He said the investigation was started by the sheriff's enemies and added that he was not referring to the grand jury petition.

The text of the petition to Judge Anderson:

"We, the undersigned resident taxpayers of Eddy County, New Mexico, have signed and herewith file with you this petition for grand jury under the provisions of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico Article 2 (Bill of Rights) Section 14, as amended

(and any other applicable laws), and hereby respectfully petition and request that you order a grand jury to convene within Eddy County, New Mexico, for the purpose of investigating:

"1. All character and kinds of crimes and all matters of a criminal nature and all offenses against and infractions of, the criminal law within the jurisdiction of the grand jury, committed or triable within Eddy County by whomsoever committed;

"2. All official acts and official conduct of the members of the Board of County Commissioners, members of city and town councils, members of boards of education or school districts and all other officers and officials of this county and of its towns, cities, districts or other political subdivisions within this county, the respective public employes thereof and all departments of government in and for Eddy County;

"3. The management of all public prisons and public institutions within Eddy County and

"4. Any and all other matters that may be lawfully investigated."

In a note to the court on certification of the petition, Mrs. Lusk said that she had checked the names against the 1948 tax roll and had indicated at the side whether or not a name appears on the roll. The spelling of some names was corrected, she said, to conform with the tax roll, "where it is obvious that they are one and the same person."

Signers of the petition from the Artesia area, as interpreted from signatures:

Mrs. J. H. Holcomb, Mrs. Clarence Clark, Clifford Marchum, F. T. Mitchell, Otto Wood, Roger Durand, E. W. Dimock, A. L. Richardson, Nora Wilson, Michael P. Stefanko, P. M. Vashinder, J. F. Funds Badly Needed In Polio Epidemic Emergency Campaign

Although the national polio epidemic emergency drive for funds, which opened last Thursday, is officially scheduled to close Friday,

Jerry Losee, chairman of the North Eddy County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, announced this morning calls will be made on business hours during the next few days. The chairman was out of town at the time the emergency drive was announced and when it was opened last week, so the chapter did not start its campaign as quickly as chapters in other communities.

However, Chairman Losee said, response by volunteer contributors has been good up to date, many of them writing checks payable to "Polio Fund" and mailing them to Polio, Artesia. These are received at the post office and routed to the chapter.

The chairman pointed out that Burney Jones, who had been serving as chairman, moved away only a few days before the campaign opened and that he, Losee, who had been serving as vice chairman, stepped up without preparation or knowledge that the emergency drive was to be staged.

But that it is quite necessary if the work of the chapters and foundation is carried on is reflected by national figures, which disclose about $150,000 is being spent each day at present. Chairman Losee said that foundation this week reported 23,711 cases of persons having been stricken this year and that a total of 40,000 is anticipated by the end of the year.

At this time, the outstanding bills against the North Eddy County chapter far exceed funds, the chairman said, making it necessary that more funds are forthcoming locally.

In co-operation with the chapter, Mayor Oren C. Roberts last week proclaimed the week of Thursday, Sept. 8, through Friday, Sept. 16, as "Polio Emergency Week" in Artesia and asked that citizens of the community give freely in helping to raise needed funds.

He pointed out in his proclamation that infantile paralysis is again rampant throughout the nation. (Continued last page, this section)

Recognition At Last, Declares Mayor Roberts

Mayor Oren C. Roberts feels he has been honored, along with a number of former mayors, in the naming for him of "Lake Roberts," a small body of water in Alta Vista Addition, where most of the streets are named for former mayors.

The lake is in Ward Avenue south of Runyan Avenue, which has not been paved, and was formed last week by rain pocketing in a depression between intersections.

"Some wag on Saturday erected a sign proclaiming to all that the puddle is 'Lake Roberts,'" and Mayor Roberts, who can take it as well as dish it out, got a bigger kick out of the prank than anyone. "It's about time something in Alta Vista is named after me," he said.

V.F.W. Urges Vote For Amendment No. 5 Tuesday

All veterans were urged at a meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Monday night to vote at the special election next Tuesday in favor of proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 5, which provides for $2000 tax exemption on community property held by a veteran of any war of the United States and his wife.

It was explained that previous legislation intended to make the same provision has been interpreted by the New Mexico Supreme Court to exempt only the veteran's portion of community property.

The state constitution, if the amendment passes, will be changed to read that "the Legislature may exempt from taxation . . . the property, including the community or joint property of husband and wife, of every honorably discharged member of the armed forces of the United States and the widow of every such honorably discharged member of the armed forces of the United States, who served in the armed forces of the United States at any time during which the United States was regularly and officially engaged in war, in the sum of $2000."

At the meeting Monday it was voted to attempt to contact all veterans of this area, whether members of any of the three veterans' organizations or not and urge them and their families to vote for the proposed amendment and to have them ask others to do likewise.

Commander Henry (Butch) Worthington started a movement for a project for providing a Christmas party for underprivileged children of the community. It was suggested that possibly members of the organization be contacted. (Continued last page, this section)

Clarence McNally, War II Vet, Killed In Highway Crash

Clarence McNally, 25, Artesia insurance man and World War II veteran, was killed in a traffic accident five miles out of Chickasha, Okla., Monday afternoon, in which it was understood three vehicles were involved.

His aunt, Mrs. Lillian Dobson of Norman, Okla., whom he was bringing to Artesia to visit his mother and her sister, Mrs. Artie McNally, was seriously injured.

Mrs. Dobson is a patient in a Chickasha hospital, where it was reported her condition was not critical and that she was showing improvement Wednesday. She sustained a broken arm and bruises and was suffering from shock.

The extent of injuries to other occupants of the three vehicles was not learned here.

It was understood the driver of a pickup attempted to overtake on a hill a vehicle moving in the opposite direction from that in which Mr. McNally and his aunt were coming to Artesia and failed to clear the closing gap. The name of the driver has not been ascertained in Artesia.

The body of Mr. McNally is on the way to Artesia and will lie in state at Paulin Funeral Home upon arrival until time for funeral services, which will be from the First Presbyterian Church at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. Ralph O'Dell, pastor.

Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery, with Masonic services at the grave, after which full military rites will be conducted by members of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Disabled American Veterans.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Artie McNally, Mr. McNally is survived by two sisters and two brothers, Frances, Mrs. Swayne Williams, Wichita Falls, Texas; Bob McNally, Brownfield, Texas, and Maxine and Franklin McNally, Artesia.

Clarence McNally, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Artie McNally, was born at Weatherford, Okla., Oct. 29, 1923. He moved to Artesia with his parents in 1938 and here he graduated from Artesia High School.

During World War II, he served in the Army in the Pacific theater, after which he attended the University of Oklahoma, from (Continued last page, this section)

School Enrollment On Seventh Day Shows Increase Over Last Year

Theme, 'Freedom To Grow,' Planned For P.T.A. Meet

"Freedom to Grow" will be the theme of the first fall meeting of the Artesia High School Parent-Teacher Association, which will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, Sept. 28, in the school auditorium, it was announced by Mrs. E. M. Perry, president.

An unusual sound film, "The Sixth Chair," is to be presented. It was edited by the American Educational Association and is highly recommended for parents.

A brief address is then to be given by Mrs. George Wilcox of Roswell, District P.T.A. adult education chairman. In connection with her remarks two popular 'teen-age films, dealing with youth problems as they arise today, are to be shown. Mrs. Wilcox hopes that these films, "Shy Guy" and "Are You Popular?" will lead to a discussion.

Mrs. Perry, in urging every junior and senior high school student and their parents to attend, said they will be losing something if they are absent.

Mrs. Floyd Davis will be in charge of the program. Mrs. Perry said refreshments will be served.

Comparative figures Tuesday at the close of the seventh day of school in the Artesia system disclosed an increase in enrollment of 67 students over the seventh day a year ago. The enrollment Tuesday was 2341, whereas a year ago it was 2275.

This is in contrast to indications in a news story last week, in which first-day figures were compared with figures at the close of the fourth day of school last year, showing a decrease of 76 in enrollment.

And Tom Mayfield, superintendent of schools, said Wednesday it is probable the increase will soon be much greater, as a number of last year's students on whom the schools have cards have not reported. Some of them are known to still live in the community, while others are known to be temporarily away from the community and working in fields. Superintendent Mayfield said it is known some of them will return to school.

Of the increase of 67 in enrollment in the system, 29 was in Artesia High School and 38 in the grade schools.

The greatest increase was at North Side School, where the enrollment Tuesday was 343, as compared with 309 a year ago, a difference of 34. However, Superintendent Mayfield pointed out, two rounds of fifth-graders, who were at Park School last year, have been transferred to North Side. But at (Continued last page, this section)

We Must Pay Bill

WE HAVE NEVER LIKED the paying of more taxes any more than the next individual.

And we have always noticed when we add more taxes we never get around to taking them off. This is true of all of our various forms of government.

We will put on a tax for this or that purpose, but when the purpose has been accomplished and the bill has been paid, we always find new reasons or more reasons for keeping the tax. And it is usually because we need the tax money.

We as citizens and taxpayers, of course, are always demanding and wanting more things. We want to stretch our tax money to take care of this or to pay for that. Or as taxpayers we want to use our tax money to take care of those things we want whether it is used to pay for the things that other people want.

This is just characteristic of us as human beings. We are like that. And we know we continue to clamor and to ask our city government, county government, state government and federal government for more things, which cost money.

For instance there is considerable clamor today for the federal government to provide money for education. And the federal government doesn't have any more money for this purpose than any other government including the state, county and districts.

The federal government does have more money to tax but if they appropriate this money, we are going to have to pay it—we, the people and the taxpayers residing in the 43 states of the nation.

We are not only going to pay in this money but we are also going to have to provide the funds for the collecting and distributing of this money.

We have to pay the bill for all governmental affairs even though seemingly at times we don't realize this.

Certainly in our own state there was considerable opposition voiced to the additional 2-cent gasoline tax. And perhaps there was justified grounds for this opposition. We don't like to pay that extra 2 cents per gallon for gasoline any more than the next individual.

Yet we do know that the state has for some years now spent money for highways—money it did not have. It voted road debentures or bonds for this building of the roads but we didn't provide ways and means for paying off these debentures. The result has been that they have piled upon us and we owe some millions of dollars for the building of roads. Now the bill must be paid.

We must provide ways and means to continue to build roads in our state and we must pay for them as we go along.

The gasoline tax is being assessed for exactly that purpose. And we can't understand how we can shout in one breath for roads and in the very next breath refuse to approve taxes for the purpose of building these roads.

It may be true funds have been spent that shouldn't have been. It may be true that funds have been spent for other things than roads. We don't know. But we do know the present administration inherited most of this debt and that it has now come time to pay the bill.

And we, the taxpayers, along with our visitors to the state, are going to have to pay it.

We very definitely are going to have to provide the funds if we want highways to be constructed. We must pay for the highways—those we have already constructed and those we want to build now.—O.E.P.

Shifting Gears

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS, immediately after this appears in print, we must "shift gears" and time our efforts differently than we have ever experienced, for we will start putting out two newspapers a week, instead of one.

But we contemplate little difficulty, for the new schedule will necessitate getting out fewer pages twice as often. In other words, whereas we have had no fewer than two sections of at least eight pages every Thursday, most weeks for many months, now we will have a section of at least eight pages two times a week.

Rather than having any apprehensions, we welcome the change, for we have found over the years, that any new experiment or challenge squarely faced is easily licked. And only by reaching higher can we develop our mind and comprehension.

We hope you have enjoyed our efforts once a week. And we hope you will enjoy our efforts twice a week. We know we will enjoy serving you twice as often.—A.L.B.

Co-operative Effort

IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN just a little surprising to us that as individuals in a community, as individuals in the same organization, as individuals in the same group, club or organization and as individuals on the same job, we have never fully realized or realized the value of co-operation and working together.

It is true, of course, there are groups working together. There are businesses, industries and concerns where employees do work together as one unit. They find their jobs are easier; they get more done and production is up because of their united effort.

But far too many seemingly do not realize this. We know of places of business where each employee seems to think he or she is an individual working for themselves with only one job to do. They can't realize that although they may be in another department, that it is all one business, one concern and whatever they can do to aid and help one another, just means more production for their firm or the place of business.

And it is those groups working together who do a better job. They are not only producing more but they find that the peace and harmony means considerable to them and they not only enjoy their work more but the fact that they are getting the job done gives them more satisfaction than they would normally enjoy.

But it takes the united effort of a group of employees to get their job done as a rule. They must be willing to do the things they promised or agreed to do when they took the job; do the things they are suppose to do and the things for which they are being paid.

They can just do a better job with a co-operative attitude.

The same is true of a community. If the members of that community work together they can do a better job. If the members of the various clubs and organizations in that community will co-operate with one another and these groups will work with other groups, their efforts will accomplish much more than if they refuse to assist and aid one another.

And those working for the same concern have that obligation to their employer—the obligation and responsibility of not only doing all they can do to aid that business concern but to work and co-operate with the others on the common job.—O.E.P.

Lead Us Not Into Temptation

AS THIS IS WRITTEN, we have just been informed a grand jury has been called in Eddy County. But that there would be one called—we felt almost certain.

We did not sign the will-o-the-wisp grand jury petition, about which there had been talk several weeks. Nor was it presented to us for consideration.

And whether we need a grand jury or not at this time, we cannot say.

But we do feel that in every county in every state, there should be a grand jury called at regular periods, if for no other reason than to help every one remember that one clause in the Lord's Prayer: "Lead us not into temptation."—A.L.B.

Whose Business

WE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN a little bit amazed just how fast the public's business seemingly becomes private business when some individuals go into public office.

We have reference, of course, to our governing bodies.

But we have seen it happen, not one time, but many times. Individuals run for a place on one of these governing bodies; they assure the taxpayers they want on the board or the commission to represent the citizens or the taxpayers; they want to render service; they promise to do a good job.

They want honest expenditure of funds; they want a public accounting of these expenditures; they want the taxpayers and the voters and the citizens to know exactly what they are doing and how they are going to spend theirs, the taxpayers' money.

And yet time after time these same individuals, who have made these promises when they were seeking the office, win the election, take their oath of office, assume their duty and they immediately forget the taxpayers and the citizens.

They want closed meetings; closed records; and they want to hold things in confidence. They haven't even learned that if they keep the public informed that the public appreciates and understands their problems and that the public will cooperate and work with them.

But the public is always suspicious. When they are promised one thing and don't get it—then they begin to wonder. When they are assured a definite program will be carried out and the program is forgotten—they are inclined to want to forget that public official the next time they go to the polls.

And when public governing bodies and public officials go to the taxpayers and the citizens and the voters and request them to place certain taxes on themselves to provide funds for public use or to provide bond issues for definite jobs or projects—then the public expects these governing bodies to keep them informed of their plans, their program, their projects and their expenditures.

And it is a wise public official, who recognizes this duty and this responsibility to the taxpayers and who does keep faith with them and who keeps them informed. Because when he or she does then they can count on these taxpayers, voters and citizens to assist them in their needs for the community.—O.E.P.

UNHAPPY HUNTING GROUNDS

State Experiment Station Tests Native Plants

Under the provision of the Research and Marketing Act, the agricultural experiment station of New Mexico A. & M. College is testing native plants for possible industrial use. Dr. H. R. Varney, dean and director of agriculture at the college, announced.

The purpose of the project is to find plants in New Mexico to supplement some of those now being grown and to find additional cash crops for the newly-developed irrigated areas of the state, as well as for the dryland regions.

The seeds of various native plants are tested not only to determine their value for oil and protein concentrates, but also to find improved hay or pasture and erosion-control plants.

Sherman Paur, assistant agronomist with New Mexico A. & M. College, directs the project, which is a subproject of the Western regional work, under the Research and Marketing Act, to find and test new and useful plants of potential value for industrial and other purposes.

"In our search for new plants, the public is invited to send direct to the college the seeds and local names of any native plants which may be of value to the program," Dr. Varney said. "These seeds will then be planted in nursery rows so that they can be properly controlled."

Consumption Of Fats Declines From Before War

People are eating less fats now than before the war. The consumption of fats in the United States declined from a prewar average of 44.7 pounds per person to 41.7 pounds in 1947, a net decrease of 6.7 per cent. Since 1940 the per capita consumption of eggs increased 27 per cent, meat 23 per cent and milk and cream consumption 17 per cent.

Butter consumption has declined the most. The consumption of butter fell from a prewar average of 18.7 pounds per person to 11.2 pounds in 1947. Most of the increase in milk and cream consumption is coming from milk formerly used for butter.

The consumption of vegetable cooking fats has also decreased from an average of 11.7 pounds per person for 1935-39 to 9.3 pounds in 1947. This was a net decrease of 20.5 per cent.

The consumption of lard and margarine has increased. In 1947, people consumed an average of 1.5 pounds more lard and 2.1 pounds more margarine than they did before the war. The 1947 consumption of margarine of five pounds per person was slightly less than one-eighth of the total per capita consumption of fats.

Only 4.6 per cent (26,505) of New Mexico's population is more than 65 years old, according to figures of the U. S. Census Bureau. Only one other state, South Carolina, has a lower percentage (4.4) of persons over 65.

This Is Season For Repairing Poultry Houses

This is the time when many poultry raisers should be thinking about housing their birds for the fall and winter. Housing is an important task, one which requires plenty of preparation. If the job is well done, it means the poultry raiser has taken the first step toward achieving high winter egg production and toward giving his flock the protection it needs from disease.

The first step in preparing for housing is to make whatever repairs are necessary in the laying house. Plugging up cracks and crevices, replacing broken windows and nail down loose boards will help eliminate drafts. Examine the roof for any needed repairs. Give the entire building a thorough going-over and make a list of the things that will have to be done and the materials needed to complete the repair work.

When the house is in good shape, take all movable equipment outside and give it a thorough cleaning and disinfecting. Then allow it to dry in the sun.

Remove all loose litter and droppings with shovel and broom. Then take a hoe and give the floor and droppings pits a thorough scraping. Sweep the ceilings, walls, nests and floors, eliminating all cobwebs, dust and other filth.

Next scrub the floor and roost areas with hot water and strong soap. And while the interior of the house is still damp, spray the walls floor and fixtures with a reliable disinfectant. Then allow the house to air and dry.

After litter has been placed in place and put ready to bring the birds off the range.

Two Japanese housegirls are shown serving breakfast to a Navy chief petty officer and his family in Japan. There is no talk about the high cost of living among the more than one hundred Navy families at the Headquarters of the Commander, Fleet Activities, Yokosuka. For twenty-seven dollars a month they occupy from five to seven rooms furnished complete with electric ranges, telephones, refrigerators and houseboys. Features of the Navy community, known as the Griffin Park Housing Area, include schools, a modern department store, a well-stocked commissary and a beauty salon. (Official U. S. Navy Photoflash)

Adding Sunshine to the Sunshine State

By G. Ward Fenley

If I read New Mexico newspapers correctly, people are getting more and more vociferous in their opinions.

It developed last week that Carlsbad may lose a 24-man oil crew because police insists on enforcing parking meter laws.

Glenn Ferguson, head of the Carlsbad, has threatened to move Hobbs over those 50-cent fines imposed at Carlsbad.

And in the same Cavern City, Jack Sitton put his foot square dab in the middle of a hot argument by accusing a barefoot lady of being from Arkansas. Jack, said the dame, was casting aspersions on the fair state of Arkansas.

Besides that, she was from Michigan, she said and furthermore she went barefooted because she wanted to.

Said she: "I have no fear of stepping in pools of tobacco juice up there because in Michigan ladies do not like men who have their chins all decorated with the nicotine saliva."

State's Rights

This brings up that old argument of trade marks of certain states. We always think of a Missouri mule, a barefooted tobacco-stained hillbilly in Arkansas and a Texas braggart. I don't think people from the three states should get peeved at the mere mention of characteristic customs.

You heard that old gag going round about the record-breaking load of persons alighting from one airplane in Albuquerque.

It turned out to be 4000 Texans with all the baloney squeezed out of them.

And that reminds me also of a little jingle that originally was applicable to Van Zandt County in East Texas (my old home):

"The chew tobacco thin in Texas, It runs down the chin, They lick it agin; Don't you want a home in Texas. Bigger and Better Gripes"

Some reader over on the east side of New Mexico vented his spleen last week in The Tucumcari American on why correspondents turn gray:

"If you've ever had the fever that they call 'the itch to write,' And you've burned tallow candle working FAR into the night, Brushing up your words and phrases, punctuation, spelling, too; Knew your manuscript was PER-FECT—good as anyone could do, And you sent it to the paper, where 'twas garbled to a fright, Then you know why writers worry, turning gray just over night."

In the same issue the editor aired his little gripe against writers who invariably turn in unreadable copy:

"If you had to read the copy correspondents send to us With their hieroglyphic writing, that just simply makes you cuss, With their darn phonetic spelling haunting you from day to day; Then you'd understand it easy—why all editors turn gray; Why they fade and pine and wither—turning prematurely gray."

Same Old Story

The story is unending. Folks do things. We don't like either the things they do or the folks. So, we tell 'em about it.

We're never satisfied. "Percy," writing in The Aztec Independent last week, was bemoaning the good old day. He regretted missing the last nudist convention, even if the guys who designed some of the forms were darn poor artisans.

"My, my," wrote "Percy," "I blush to think of what fun I could have had years ago at one of those conventions."

Wallace Barnes of Gallup thinks that people have a queer way of getting rid of things that displease them.

An Ohio woman shot her husband for staying away from home several nights a week. Seems a strange cure, says Wallace, since he's gone seven nights a week now.

J. E. Robertson, Carlsbad banker, is hard to satisfy also. He bought a new pair of socks, wore them out on the golf course and made a hole in one.

The Cure

Maybe Barton Rees Pogue in The Omnibus has the remedy for us "can't-be-satisfied" folks:

"Don't blow your horn, or advertise Your virtues to the world, Don't put your talents on parade With banners all unfurled; If folks you know don't seem to see That you are mighty good, Don't sell 'em specs to help their eyes—

Keep mum and just saw wood." But it probably extends through all animal nature. The New Mexico Press in Clovis reported a berserk bull that broke down a 10-foot gate, tried to gore a boy and horse and ended up by ripping to pieces a motor vehicle.

And in Conclusion

That's all this week except to remind you that chiropodists tell us there are 53 ways to get sore feet—and women excel in 52 of them.

TEMPER TESTIMONY

Dallas, Tex. (AFPS)—"You say your wife has an even temper," the Judge told the meek husband who wanted her placed under a peace bond. "How can that be sufficient grounds?"

"Judge," came the quick reply, "that woman has the most even temper of any person you ever did see. She stays mad all the time."

Harvesting And Ginning Affect Cotton Prices

It will pay cotton growers to use every precaution to protect their cotton against damage during the harvesting and ginning processes, according to Marshall Thompson, national cotton marketing specialist. He says this will help to assure growers the best grades and prices. "Of course the weather will be a factor beyond your control, but you may even be able to eliminate part of that damage," Thompson says. "After spending a large amount of money for seed, fertilizer, insect control and labor, many farmers fail to realize maximum profits on cotton because of poor harvesting and ginning. If the value of your cotton is cut one or two grades by poor harvesting and gin-

Polio Foundation Asks Dimes and Dollars Now to Pay for Patient Care in Epidemic of Infantile Paralysis Throughout Country

With thousands of children and adults in hospitals today as the result of current widespread polio epidemics, and with as many new cases likely to develop in the months just ahead, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has launched a Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive to provide immediate funds for patient care.

The price-tag on this year's epidemic will be so enormous, according to Basil O'Connor, National Foundation President, that $14,500,000 must be raised to meet the national polio bill.

During 1948, when there were 27,908 cases in the country, the highest number since the record total in 1916, the National Foundation and its Chapters spent $17,000,000 in March of Dimes funds to provide epidemic services, he said. With even more cases this year, it looks as though it may cost $25,000,000 in 1949 to pay for that part of medical and hospital care which families cannot pay themselves.

By the end of August, as much money had been advanced in epidemic aid to National Foundation Chapters whose March of Dimes funds have been exhausted by the cost of care as was spent in all of 1948. The nation's total number of cases now is as large as a full year's toll in previous years, with predictions for at least double that number before December 31.

Furthermore, it is estimated that a minimum of $5,000,000 will be required to continue helping 1948 patients who still need clinic or hospital treatment. The National Foundation gives assistance as long as medical care is necessary, regardless of age, race, creed or color. The money raised in the Polio Epidemic Emergency Drive will be used exclusively for services to polio patients in all states, Mr. O'Connor said. Contributions may be mailed to POLIO, care of your local Post Office.

"This emergency drive is our only hope of providing care for patients without slowing up scientific research and professional education programs of the National Foundation," Mr. O'Connor explained. "It is an ironical fact that this heavy incidence, severely taxing March of Dimes resources, comes at a time when the nation's leading scientists are more hopeful of finding an answer to the problem than ever before.

"Scientists working under 68 March of Dimes grants at top medical and educational institutions are waging the largest research attack ever attempted against a single disease in this country, supported by March of Dimes funds. We must not interrupt the search for a solution because of lack of funds. We must—and we shall be able to do both jobs—help pay for the care of the stricken while finding a means of prevention or control—if the American people contribute now to carry the work through until the next March of Dimes in January."

Progress since 1938 when the National Foundation was formed, was indicated by Mr. O'Connor as follows:

More than $23,500,000 has gone into a comprehensive research and education program, seeking control of polio and training of experts—virologists, orthopedists, pediatricians, public health physicians, nurses, physical therapists, and other medical workers who make up the professional army now battling the disease in laboratories and hospital wards.

At least $58,000,000 had gone for patient care, prior to 1949, in payment of polio bills families could not meet themselves; in staffing and equipping polio centers for modern care and treatment; in establishing equipment depots in six strategic locations throughout the country from which respirators, hot pack machines, beds, cribs and other emergency supplies can be rapidly dispatched to hard-hit areas. "We know now that fully 75% of those stricken make good recoveries if good treatment is available," Mr. O'Connor said. "Surely no one would deny a child a three-to-one chance for recovery because of lack of money."

The address is POLIO, care of your local Post Office. Send as much as you can—as fast as you can—to ning methods, you may lose from $15 to $30 per bale. By good harvesting and ginning you may even raise the value of damaged cotton by the same amounts."

Thompson suggests several practices which may help growers get the best possible returns from their crop:

Do not pick cotton too green and especially refrain from picking cracked bolls early in the harvesting season; pick cotton as dry as possible and avoid picking after heavy dew or rain and spread the cotton out to run until dry.

Pick cotton as rapidly as possible, as cotton deteriorates rapidly, if left in the field. Keep cotton free from trash, as even a small amount of trash may reduce its value by a full grade. Keep good and damaged cotton separate.

"Do not expect your ginner to perform miracles," Thompson reminds. "He may have the most modern equipment and his drier may work wonders on green or damp cotton, but because of the short time of exposure in the drier, he cannot dry wet cotton without using excessively high temperatures which will reduce the value of the lint. His cleaning equipment may also be good, but it will not be nearly as effective on wet cotton as on dry cotton."

Experiment In Angling Gives Hot-Weather Tip

What the University of Missouri's Wildlife Research Unit found out about hot-weather angling is a hot tip to anyone planning to do any lake fishing during the next few weeks, said the New Mexico Game Department's director of fisheries, Fred Thompson.

The crew, according to Thompson, took many water samples from Lake Niangua in Missouri and found that the deep waters of the lower half of the lake underwent intense stagnation during July and August. The deep water lacked sufficient oxygen to keep fish hale and hearty. Netting operations revealed that fish were circulating in the upper 15 feet of water. Live bait fishermen have a good indicator for this mid-summer condition, as their minnows will die quickly when held in stagnant water.

Further findings of the research unit revealed that the best mid-summer catches of bass are taken from eddy waters around rocks, logs, root-wads, and edges where plants and roots provide cover and accessible food. Many fishermen pass up such water while seeking large, deep pools in which to try their luck. As predatory fish feed most heartily at night, the report concluded, anglers find that their best daytime catches are usually taken in either the early morning or late afternoon.

"Of course there's a lot more to fishing than is found in the reports," Thompson said, "but some knowledge to the findings of these surveys may help the fisherman who doesn't believe that fishing is always 95 per cent luck."

USDA Develops Bug Repellents For Cotton Bags

U.S. Department of Agriculture scientists have found a chemical treatment which successfully keeps insects from penetrating cotton bags.

Before announcing their discovery, the scientists confirmed its effectiveness by exposing both treated and untreated bags containing insect-free flour for long periods of time in a room containing thousands of hungry flour beetles and moths. In one such test, bags made of treated cloth admitted no insects during seven months, while an untreated bag let in 563 insects.

The insect-repellent treatment consists of pyrethrins of a mixture of pyrethrins and piperonyl butoxide—two insecticides that are of comparatively low toxicity to warm-blooded animals. Tests to date indicate that food packed in properly treated bags is unlikely to be contaminated by these chemicals, but further investigation is needed. The chemicals can be applied to warp yarns at a practicable cost at the time these yarns receive the usual sizing treatment preparatory to weaving. Appearance of the treated fabric is not materially changed and the slight odor imparted by the chemicals is not objectionable. Baking tests indicate that the quality of flour stored in insect-repellent bags is not affected.

This discovery, according to department entomologists and industry representatives, may prove of tremendous value in conserving flour and other cereal products, especially in the warmer countries of the world.

Home Agent Tells How To Avoid 'Homemade Look'

It's easy to have homemade clothes that do not have "that homemade look," homemakers are advised by Miss Wynona Swebston, county home demonstration agent. Among suggestions for avoiding the "homemade look" are these guides:

Have the right tools — sharp shears, well-oiled sewing machine and a well lighted and comfortable place to sew.

Select a pattern of the right size, with as few pieces as possible; know the pattern before cutting out the garment.

Know the material. Is it easy to sew. Is it color-fast? Will it be hard to match stripes? Would a plain material be easier to work?

Cut on the true grain of the cloth. Stay line all curved seams before any basting is done; stitch about one-fourth inch from the edge; try on the garment and fit carefully. Press hems, seams and darts. Use the right kind of seams and finishes according to material used.

When matching stripes or plaids, see that designs match at notches and at seam stitching line, pin on right side and slip stitching.

Antelope Seasons To Be Open In Two Game Areas

pertain to the hunting of antelope decided on by the State Game Commission at its August meeting have been released by the Game Department. Antelope may be hunted in two general areas, according to the announcement.

In Area No. 1 a total of 469 permits for the taking of buck antelope having forked horns will be issued as follows: Fort Union, 15; Bell Ranch, 25; 4-V Ranch, 12; Capitan district, 67; Hagerman Ranch, 40; Roswell district, 259; Tucumcari district, 51.

In Area No. 2 a total of 425 permits for the taking of buck antelope having forked horns will be issued as follows: Magdalena district, 140; Silver City district, 70; Las Cruces district, 190; Farmington district, 25.

According to Elliott Barker, state game warden, the seasons for Area No. 1 will be from noon Oct. 7 through Oct. 9, while the seasons for Area No. 2 will be from noon Oct. 18 through Oct. 20.

Applications in letter form for permits to hunt antelope, according to Barker, will be received by the state game warden up to 10 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 26, and each application must be accompanied by a remittance of $10 for residents and $40 for non-residents.

On that date, Barker said, if there are more applications received than the number of permits authorized for each separate area, the names of the permittees will be determined at a public drawing in the office of the state game warden. Preference will be given to applicants who did not kill an antelope last year.

Applicants will be assigned to areas applied for, according to the game department release, in the order that the applications are received, until the number of permits designated for that area has been exhausted. Thereafter, applicants will be assigned by the game warden to any other area available. No applicant will be permitted to receive more than one antelope permit during the 1949 season and only one buck having forked horns may be taken by each hunter. Does may not be taken.

Caverns 8 O'Clock Summer Trip Has Been Discontinued

D. S. Libby, superintendent of Carlsbad Caverns National Park, has announced the discontinuance of the summertime 8 o'clock morning tour through the caverns, effective Monday. He said tours will continue to be scheduled at 8, 10, 11 and 12:15 o'clock each day, with elevator service available for a partial tour until 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon. Superintendent Libby said the heaviest visitation to the park ever recorded was experienced during the summer. During the 100-day period from Memorial Day through Labor Day, 230,084 visitors were escorted through the Carlsbad Caverns, an average of more than 2300 a day for the entire summer season. Top day was July 3, when 5944 visitors were registered. And August, with 79,359 persons visiting the underground wonderland, had the greatest travel for any one month.

Loretta And Van Star In 'Mother Is A Freshman'

Capitalizing on the current trend towards realism, Twentieth Century-Fox has given the campus a fresh new look which the rah-rah brethren of the racon 20's and the frantic 30's wouldn't recognize.

According to previewers, the Technicolor comedy, "Mother Is A Freshman," starring Loretta Young and Van Johnson, which will be shown at the Landsun Theater Sunday through Tuesday, is a college movie in which students really act like students, with no chorus of shapely chorines, no absent-minded professor or not even a game-winning last-minute touchdown in the final reel.

Instead, there is projected against a realistic college background the novel story idea of a lovely young widow, who, financially embarrassed after years of luxury, discovers that she is eligible for a college scholarship. Following her sophomore daughter to the campus, she enrolls as a freshman and promptly falls in love with the handsome professor of English literature, with whom her daughter is also enamored. Seen in the title role, Loretta Young has Betty Lynn as her daughter while the apex of the unusual triangle is Van Johnson, as the youngish professor.

Prior to production, Director Lloyd Bacon made a tour of leading Western colleges and universities, finally selecting the picturesque University of Nevada for exterior and classroom scenes. This is the third time in two years that Twentieth Century-Fox companies had been in Reno, where much of the background footage for the successful "Margie" and "Apartment for Peggy" productions was filmed.

Heading the featured cast of "Mother is a Freshman" are Rudy Vallee and Barbara Lawrence, while Robert Arthur, Betty Lynn, Griff Barnett and Kathleen Hughes are featured. Walter Morosco produced the film and the screen play was by Mary Loos and Richard Sale, based on a story by Raphael Blau.

TRACTOR SAFETY IS MOST IMPORTANT

Tractor safety is one of the most important considerations on the farm. Reports of the National Safety Council show that tractors may be involved in nearly 75 per cent of all farm machinery accidents.

The main safety rules for operating tractors in the field is just good common sense, the engineers says. A farmer cannot afford to gamble with an accident by operating without the power take-off shield in place. Cranking a tractor while in gear is another dangerous way to start a day's work. Excessive speed and careless operation around ditches will also hurry a trip to the hospital.

It would take 17 Empire State buildings to touch the bottom of a 20,000 foot oil hole in Wyoming. Vermont has the highest proportion of oldsters. One out of every ten people is over 65.

Production Of Cotton Changes

Recent changes in cotton production have developed in the last 15 years and E. D. ... outlines them thus: Cotton acreage has shifted from the broken and droughty lower yielding lands in the Western belt to the more fertile deep soils of the plains. There has been also a large increase in cotton production in the irrigated areas of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

the direction of crop diversification and in conservation farming during the last 15 years than in any similar period since colonial times. In general, the cotton acreage has shifted toward the more stable and productive cotton farms.

There has been a noticeable shift from the hill areas and the sandy coastal plains to the river bottoms and delta areas. There has also been a shift from the broken and droughty lower yielding lands in the Western belt to the more fertile deep soils of the plains. There has been also a large increase in cotton production in the irrigated areas of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California.

In each instance the area where the acreage has increased has been in a high yielding section of the country. This is one reason why the cotton yields in the U.S. has increased so greatly in recent years.

New Mexico Holds Down Size Of Forest Fires

New Mexico is one of 18 states in the nation that held its forest fires of more than 10 acres in size on protected land to less than 10 per cent of the total number of fires in 1948. This is considered good by foresters. New Mexico recorded 5 per cent for last year, slightly more than half of the average for 1944 to 1948 inclusive.

This was revealed in a recent survey released by the American Forest Products Industries, a non-profit organization supported by leading lumber, pulp and paper and plywood industries in the U.S. Its aim is to encourage the best protection, management and utilization of forests.

The survey, based on latest U.S. Forest Service figures for the nation, is an eight-page leaflet showing comparative effectiveness for forest protection in all timbered states.

Commenting on the state's forest fire record Forester J. C. McClellan called for intensified forest fire prevention efforts.

The "Keep Green" program, active now in 25 states, is a national movement for popular education in forest fire prevention. Backed by our wood-using industries and the public and private agencies, it is a potent movement to awaken public interest in protecting our forests.

National Guard Plans Recruiting Campaign Soon

"Get in the Guard," the National Guard's first nationwide recruiting on a major scale since "Operation 88,888" in 1947, will start Monday, Sept. 19, it was announced by Lt. Marshall H. Belshe, executive officer of Battery C, 697th

Anti-Aircraft Artillery, Automatic Weapons Battalion, local National Guard unit.

This year the national objective is 45,000 new men during the 60-day period ending Nov. 19. With current strength at about 358,000 men, the drive will enable the National Guard to reach its fiscal year objective of 399,500 officers and enlisted men.

Lieutenant Belshe said it is hoped to increase the Artesia National Guard unit from the present 46 officers and enlisted men to more than 100 during the campaign.

Two local boys joined the local National Guard unit the last week, according to Lieutenant Belshe. They are Norman Monroe and Eliseo Mendoza.

All men between the ages of 17 and 34 years are urged to investigate the advantages of becoming a member of the New Mexico National Guard, Lieutenant Belshe said. For any information about the National Guard they may contact the first sergeant at the armory on West Centre Avenue Monday through Friday, or phone 338-J.

War I Veterans Will Receive Dividends Also

About 435,000 veteran holders of so-called World War I insurance will receive special dividend checks ranging from a few dollars to several hundred dollars in September, the Veterans Administration announced.

While there are more than 14,000 World War I veterans in New Mexico, Gene A. Robens, regional manager for this state, was unable to estimate the number eligible for the dividend as World War I insurance is administered in Washington states.

The payments total $40,000,000 and will go to persons who took out U.S. Government Life Insurance on a permanent plan at any time prior to Jan. 1, 1944 and kept it in force through December, 1948.

Not all permanent plan policy holders are entitled to this dividend, because some have not built up their full reserve. Moreover, no special dividend is payable on any USGLI term policy. Only policies converted to permanent plans are eligible.

Most of the recipients already have received regular dividends annually on their policies. The additional dividend is the result of a recently completed re-study of the condition of the USGLI trust fund and the amount of the reserve which is necessary to meet all obligations.

VA emphasized that there is no connection between this dividend and the NSLI dividend, for which 16,000,000 veterans began applying recently. VA said some serious errors are being reported among and the forthcoming special dividend on National Service Life Insurance of World War II. Regarding first applications to be received.

Game Refuges In State Changed By Commission

The State Game Commission at its August meeting created, amended and abolished a number of game refuges in the state, according to Elliot Barker, state game warden.

The refuges abolished were Kelly Big Game Refuge in Socorro County, Anchor Springs Quail Refuge in Socorro County, North Lake Antelope Refuge in Catron County and Rosebud Bird Refuge in Harding County.

Refuges created, according to Barker, were Bear Mountain Big Game Refuge in Socorro County, Lindsay Bird and Antelope Refuge in Chaves County, Santa Fe Quail Restoration Refuge in Santa Fe County and the Magdalena Quail Refuge in Socorro County.

Additional refuges, Barker said, were amended, which means that there was some boundary adjustment. They were the Tequesquite Big Game and Bird Refuge in Harding County, the Claudell Bird Refuge in DeBaca County, Peloncillo Big Game Refuge in Hidalgo County and the Staked Plains Bird and Antelope Refuge in Lea County.

Game Warden's Son Is Named Fish Biologist

Roy Barker, 37, son of Elliott Barker, state game warden, at present superintendent of the Red River Trout Hatchery, has been chosen by the State Game Commission as the new game department cold-water fish biologist, according to an announcement from Angus Evans, chairman of the commission.

The commission voted to assign Barker to this work at its August meeting, when it was decided that a cold-water fish biologist was needed to assist Fred Thompson, director of fisheries, Evans said.

According to Evans, Roy Barker has been with the Game Department since Sept. 1, 1937, when he was employed as district warden first at El Vado and later at Magdalena. He was in charge of the antelope trapping and transplanting project during the winter of 1938-39 and in June 1941, was made foreman of the Seven Springs Fish Hatchery. He was later transferred to the hatchery at Red River where he has been stationed since that time, except for approximately two years when he was in the armed forces as a pharmacist's mate with the First Marine Division, with which he went through the Russell Islands, Pelelieu and Okinawa campaigns. He is married and has three children.

"Roy, like his father, has always been intensely interested in game and fish," Evans said.

Barker was born in New Mexico and after graduating from Las Vegas High School graduated from the University of New Mexico in 1935 with a bachelor of science degree in biology. He minored in chemistry, according to Evans and after obtaining his degree, he did work on New Mexico stream studies under Dr. A. S. Hazzard. Later he did graduate work on the study of factors controlling fish life in Elephant Butte Lake. After that he worked for the Soil Conservation Service as an agricultural aid and later was a range inspector under the AAA program before going to work for the Game Department in 1937, Evans said.

Programs Offer $380,000 Awards For 4-H Work

Forty-five business concerns and individuals are offering $380,000 in 4-H incentives this year through the national committee on boys' and girls' club work, according to G. L. Noble, director of the committee.

This amount will be presented to 4-H boys and girls who have outstanding records of accomplishment in the 28 agricultural and home economics programs arranged by the national committee and supervised by the Co-operative Extension Service. Awards range from county medals to college scholarships. About 1,800,000 members in 80,000 4-H Club from 46 states—plus Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico—may take part in the activities.

Climaxing the year's events is the National Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27 to Dec. 1. An estimated 1500 members, accompanied by leaders and other 4-H workers, will attend and receive well-earned recognition.

Nearly 150,000 county medals valued at $100,000 are offered to the ambitious 4-H'ers. State and sectional awards, which include trips to the Chicago Congress, U. S. Savings Bonds and gold watches, amount to more than $180,000. National winners announced at the congress are eligible to receive scholarships totaling $40,000. In addition, there are cash prizes and other benefits amounting to nearly $50,000. The Santa Fe Railroad provides three trips to the National Club Congress in Chicago. Approximately $50,000 will be provided to the Extension Service by co-operating oil companies to conduct tractor maintenance clinics for volunteer 4-H leaders.
