New SPS Study Boosts Textile Industry

This weekend, the 29th annual West Texas Primitive Baptist Church singing will be held in Muleshoe.

Singing gets underway Saturday morning at the church, followed by a luncheon at the church at noon. Singing will again be held in the evening, with a dinner being served at the church at 6:30 p.m., followed by more singing.

The activities start again on Sunday morning, followed by a noon luncheon.

Members of the Muleshoe Primitive Baptist Church said anyone interested in "old-fashioned a capella singing" is cordially invited -- to participate -- or just to listen to the music.

The senior class at Muleshoe High School is trying to raise money for 'Project Graduation.'

If you are a parent of a Muleshoe senior, please bring an item, or items, marked ready to sell -- to 302 West Avenue J, Lisa Noble's house.

There will be a garage sale there on Saturday, April 22, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

If you have any questions, call 272-4711.

A special slide presentation about Camp Blue Haven will be given at the Muleshoe Church of Christ on Sunday, April 23, at 7 p.m., by Jason Matthews of Brownfield.

He explained that Camp Blue Haven is a christian youth camp located in the mountains near Las Vegas, NM, and has six sessions during the summer months.

About 20 Muleshoe youth attend this camp each summer. Anyone in the community who is interested in seeing the slide presentation is urged to be present.

The Texas Tech University chapter of Alpha Lambda Delta, national academic honor society for freshmen, initiated 160 new members on April 16.

Inductees on Muleshoe is Elizabeth Contreras Posadas, a freshman student.

The society recognizes superior academic performance by college and university freshmen, regardless of their academic.

School Board Candidates Review Positions For Upcoming Election

It was a 'political' day at Rotary Tuesday, with four of the six candidates for the position of School Board Trustee for the Muleshoe Independent School District briefly stating their views and, in some instances, reasons for seeking one of the two positions open on the board.

Howard Watson, who was in

WJHS Students Win Honors At Plainview

Some 24 students from Muleshoe captured awards at the Regional History Fair last week at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

The Muleshoe students were among more than 100 area youngsters who participated in the event, which is sponsored by the Plains American Heritage Program. The fair is funded by the American Enterprise Forum of Dallas, as well as several area businessmen and friends of Wayland.

Heading the list of Muleshoe winners were Ronnie Stevens and Misty Richardson, both of whom were recipients of "special achievement" plaques.

Stevens won the Walter Kiser Award for his working windmill, while Miss Richardson earned the James W. Marshall Award for her project on the "History of the Alphabet."

First-place winners from Muleshoe were Emily Harris, Ronnie Stevens, Andy Wilson, Ruben Saldana, Misty Richardson, Nathan Noble, Crista Trussell, Mikki Bowen, Holly Donaldson and Emily Bomer.

Winning second place honors were Linda Berry, Tiffany Copley, Fara Black, Todd Shipman, LaTonya Payne, Jeanne Cox, Donna Puckett, Shawna Delaney, April Franklin and Casey Estep.

Third place winners were Brian Box, Stephanie McNutt, Gail Copley and Chris Edwards.

charge of the program, read a statement from current school board president, Julie Cage, who is seeking re-election. Mrs. Cage was in Oklahoma attending the funeral of an uncle.

Edwin Cox was the first candidate to speak. He said he really didn't have a "reason" for running for the school board -- "except, I'm affected. As a businessman and homeowner, I am affected by taxes, by my customers and the people I hire."

He told the group he and his wife, Carol, feel very lucky to have students at a time when so much concern is being shown about education nationwide.

He stated that things that are happening in education are "real good" and said he has no opinion on how the job is being done in the school system, as he is not there seeing how they're done.

Cox told of attending a Texas Association of School Boards training seminar in Lubbock, and found "high quality training" at the seminar.

He said, "I'm not seeking election to run the school. The board's job is to set policy for those who run the schools."

Speaking next was Terry Hutto, who said he has two children who will be in the school system during the next year, including one child who will be in the Class of 2,000, which will be the largest class "ever" in the school system.

Hutto spoke of his involvement of extra-curricular activities in the schools, and praised the 1989 One-Act play, which he firmly believes will be in state competition again this year.

He talked about basketball, and other sports activities, and the need for supporting these activities, to be sure adequate funding is made available as they are an important part of the student's school years.

"I believe we need to build a foundation now," said Hutto. "We have a good basis, and need to build on that basis.

"After all," he continued, "the school is for the kids."

He also commented, "I am totally for a 'pay as you go' plan, and briefly discussed problems with buses when students, telling about two times when students were stranded in other towns in broken down buses."

In a very 'brief' statement, candidate Danny Noble commented, "I have no speech. I have no beef with anybody."

"I am running out of concern for my kids, my family. Thank you."

Candidate Max King told of his graduation from Muleshoe High School and Texas Tech University and said his wife, Pat, is also a graduate of MHS and Tech. Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

Lazbuddie FFA Livestock Judging Team To Regionals

Last Friday, April 14, Lazbuddie vo-age instructor, Rick Copp, took his livestock judging team to Levelland, where they placed 20th overall. However, the team had much better luck at the Texas Tech on Saturday, April 15, where they were eighth overall out of 96 teams in the competition.

Copp's team was named fifth in Area I and second in the district. This qualified the team for state competition, scheduled at Texas A&M on April 29.

For the livestock team, Sheldon Mason was eighth high individual and Casey Bradshaw was 20th high individual. In dairy cow competition, Donnie Holt placed 13th high individual overall.

Three Way Track Team Places One For Regional Meet

Following their district meet in Sundown last Saturday, the Three Way School qualified a runner to participate in the regional meet this Saturday at Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

Coach Greg Jeffcoat said Jarrod Sowder placed second in the 100 meter run to qualify for regionals. He also was third in the 200 meter; fifth in the long jump and a member of the sprint relay team that placed sixth.

Mario Guillen was third in the 100 meter; third in the high jump and sixth in long jump. He will be an alternate to regionals.

Chad Welch was fourth in the 400 meter and was a member of the sprint relay team.

Chris Locke also was a member of the sprint relay team.

Winners of the regional competition will advance to state competition, which is being held for the first year for six-man track. This year, the state meet will be at Comanche.

In girls' action, Melinda Turney was fourth in the 100 meter hurdles and fifth in triple jump; Lisa Lowe was sixth in 100 meter hurdles, fifth in the high jump and sixth in triple jump; and Carrie Kindle placed fifth in the 100 meter hurdles.

Council (TABEC) and Texas A&M University. The study was done in consultation with Texas Tech University's International Center for Textile Research and Development.

TABEC is composed of 10 Texas investor-owned electric utilities, including Southwestern Public Service Company, and works in conjunction with Texas A&M's Agricultural Engineering Department.

A third of U.S. cotton is produced in Texas, but 92 percent of the state's crop is processed elsewhere, the study said. Thirty-seven percent of Texas's crop is sent to North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Virginia for processing. The remaining 55 percent is exported to foreign markets.

Texas also produces almost all U.S. mohair, which is derived from Angora goats, and a fifth of all U.S. wool, according to the report.

"SPS will be using this study as an economic-development tool to provide information for those interested in developing the textile industry in our service area," said Greg Boggs, SPS agricultural consultant.

SPS serves a 52,000-square-mile area of the South Plains and Panhandle of Texas, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, and southwestern Kansas.

"In Texas, we have an abundance of cotton, and 92 percent is sent out of state," he said.

Jennyslipper Walkathon Set May 13

Are you ready for this? It's time for the "Miles for Muleshoe Walkathon" again. It will be sponsored by the Jennyslippers on Saturday, May 13, beginning at 9 a.m.

Again this year, the Jennyslippers will be using the proceeds of the walkathon to purchase the Fourth of July fireworks.

Mary Ann Ramirez, walkathon chairman, reminded, "The gigantic fireworks display is the highlight of the July 4th celebration, which attracts class reunions, family parties, picnics and people who just enjoy the entertainment in the park that traditionally closes out the day of celebration."

All ages can participate in the walkathon -- and you can walk one mile, or walk the maximum - 10 miles.

You can decide on the prize you want to work for, get pledge sheets filled out. A tip! You can enter as clubs, organizations, and businesses in Muleshoe to enter as a group -- and a challenge among yourselves, or enter individually.

DUO HOSPITALIZED FROM ACCIDENT--Around mid-morning on Sunday, two teenage girls were hospitalized at West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe. They were occupants of the above vehicle, which was involved in an intersection crash on a county dirt road northeast of Muleshoe. Occupants of the other vehicle were not injured in the accident. She discussed the different reasons behind teen suicides and the pressures that young people face today. Students became aware of the signs of someone considering suicide by watching a film. Afterwards, the film was discussed, and any students who might have been considering suicide were urged to "tell someone—a parent, teacher, minister, or friend."

After the assembly, Mrs. Quinne was available in the counselor's office to discuss any problems the students might have.

Great American

Race To Cross

Texas Panhandle

Amarillo's Sheraton Hotel will throb to the rumble of 120 antique cars late afternoon Monday, July 3rd when the 7th Annual Interstate Batteries Great American Race stops overnight enroute from Norfolk, VA to Disneyland, CA, June 26-July 7, according to Tom McRae, Executive Director of the world's greatest old car race.

Leaving Irving early on the 3rd, the $250,000 old car classic stops at Lawton, OK and Wichita Falls before returning to Amarillo after a two year absence. Race goers will note a much larger event than stopped in this west Texas City in 1986. After finishing, Great Racers will pit their cars at the Sheraton where the 120 car field will be prepared to resume the race early the next morning. The public is encouraged to visit and take a close-up look at the world's most beautiful antique automobiles at no charge until 11 p.m. (CDT).

MICKEY MOUSE, NAVY BAND PART OF SHOW

A Disneyland character cavalcade, headed by Sport Goofy and starring Mickey Mouse, will accompany the race. They will roll into Amarillo on the heels of The United States Navy Recruiting Command Brass Band from Washington, D.C. as a part of a nationwide recruitment program.

The field of 120 Great Race cars date all the way back to 1902.

Grain Farmers 'Dismayed' By New Law

The Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Association (Texas GSPA) recently registered their dismay at pending legislation pertaining to the regulation of groundwater in the Edwards Aquifer by the Texas Water Commission.

Senate Bill 1441, introduced by Cyndi Krier and House Bill 2771, introduced by Terral Smith would allow San Antonio to keep property values up by offering cheap water, while depriving Uvalde and Medina Counties of their water. Subsequently, this action would lower property values in both counties. The larger picture foresees urban areas usurping the property rights of rural locations.

In a special alert issued by former Speaker of the House of Representatives, Bill Clayton, the action was termed "The worst legislation to be considered by the Texas Legislature in many, many years."

A. Wayne Wyatt, manager of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, echoed this sentiment by stating, "This legislation effectively provides for the taking of private property by the state without due and just compensation."

WT Operating On Four-Day Summer Week

West Texas State University will operate on a four-day instructional week June 5-Aug. 22. Classes will be conducted Monday through Thursday from 7:30-9:30 a.m., 9:45-11:45 a.m., noon-2 p.m., 2:15-4:15 p.m. and 6:30-10:05 p.m.

Staff employees in all academic teaching departments and deans' offices will observe a 7:30 a.m.-6 p.m. workday Monday-Thursday. All other WT personnel will continue to work 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday-Friday.

The Cornette Library will be open 8 a.m.-11 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Friday, 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Saturday and 2-6 p.m. Sunday during both summer sessions.

"We have found that the four-day work week saves an appreciable amount of money and does not compromise the academic integrity of the classes," Steve Gamble, vice president for academic affairs, said. "We discussed the issue with faculty and students a year ago and although it wasn't unanimous, sentiment heavily favored the four-day week."

Registration for the first summer session is Monday, June 5, and finals are scheduled for July 13. Second summer session registration will be July 17 with finals on Aug. 22.

Information on understanding the microwave oven and a selection of recipes for pasta, parties and desserts will be featured on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, April 25 at 12 noon and on Saturday, April 29 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Mari-Lou Callahan with Hershey Foods Corp. in Hershey, PA will show several party themes--each one featuring pasta. Each of the recipes can be made ahead of time, frozen and then reheated in time for the party. These tips make it much more fun for the hostess, too.

Boasting the use of the freshest ingredients available and baked with homemade goodness, the Pepper Patch co. will feature an array of delicious dessert dishes. Dot Smith is the founder and President of Pepper Patch which is located in Franklin, TX and will be the guest for this segment.

The flashback segment will present a former NASA space science lecturer who now represents The Rubbermaid Corp. Don Fandre will explain how the microwave oven works in an easy-to-understand manner. Even if you're an experienced microwave cook, we think you'll find his presentation interesting, and enlightening.

On Tuesday, April 25 at 9:30 p.m., and repeated on Thursday, April 27 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on planning a delectable brunch and making homemade butter.

Donna Haverstock, representing the Norwegian Dairies, will demonstrate how to serve something new and different to guests with the addition of Norwegian cheeses. Donna's collection of brunch recipes includes dishes for main entrees, breads and muffins, and dessert dishes. Donna is from Key West, Florida.

Our flashback segment will feature home economist and registered dietician, Jan Newquist. Jan is with the Associated Milk Producers, Inc. in Albuquerque, N.M. She will demonstrate how to make homemade butter--plain or fancy. It used to be that making butter was a common home activity, but not many young people even know how the process is done. Jan will show step by step the process involved.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, our-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

In Fashion

Roomy shorts and tees are beach-wear comfort. Tees can be exchanged for an oversize top over Bermuda shorts. For comfort and fashion choose madras plaid walking shorts and cotton shirt.

Layering is smart for beach-wear when you plan an all day trip. A cotton tee with pastel shorts and matching plaid shirt is chic. Some may like the real full pants that resemble the long split skirt. They are designed for the very tall slender woman rather than the short heavier lady.

Parkinson Disease Conference Set

One of America's leading authorities on Parkinson's Disease will discuss the disorder during a two-hour teleconference on KENW-TV. "Parkinson's Disease: The Reality and the Promise" will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 22.

Parkinson's Disease is a leading cause of neurologic disability in people over sixty. This two-hour video conference addresses issues ranging from diagnosis and treatment to impacts on the patient's family.

The conference will be led by medical researcher Dr. Melvin Yahr, chairman of the Department of Neurology at Mount Sinai Center in New York City.

Yahr, known nationally for his work with parkinsonism, has invested thirty-five years in understanding the processes and potential treatment for the disease. During the program, he will focus on the importance of long term therapy, effective pharmaceuticals, and family support systems.

The teleconference will be followed at 10 a.m. by "Together Every Step of the Way," a documentary which describes effective care giver skills and recent research into Parkinson's Disease.

KENW-TV is the public television station serving eastern New Mexico and west Texas, broadcasting from facilities on the campus of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

LOCAL CONTRACTORS ARE KEPT BUSY

Building operations in Muleshoe and vicinity continue to increase each week and with the approach of spring, it is predicted that the city will see the largest building program in its history. With construction going forward on several residence and business houses, contractors are busy this week making estimates for additional structures, which are to be erected as soon as possible.

The office building for Panhandle Lumber Company was started Friday of last week and is to be 24 feet by 60 feet. Several garages and smaller houses are also being built this week and with the farm building which is in progress, carpenters and contractors are working full time.

TO CLEAN

Most every family has a woman in it who makes her life miserable and the family uncomfortable, by her constant use of cleaning. You would swear some women folks would prefer to be laid out with a mop or a broom rather than a lily, the way many of them spend their lives cleaning and scrubbing.

Consider the little 70-year old lady who stood on her varandah with a broom while her house burned. Each fireman, before entering the house, got his feet brushed so he wouldn't track any dirt inside. The house wasn't burning down, it was only a chimney fire, but the firefighters didn't get the floor dirty by tracking into the house. There is many a local Muleshoe man who feels he literally gets his feet swept before he dares enter his home. Cleanliness may be next to godliness, but sometimes it is uncomfortable being so clean.

SOLO GAMBLING WINS FINE FOR FARM LABORER

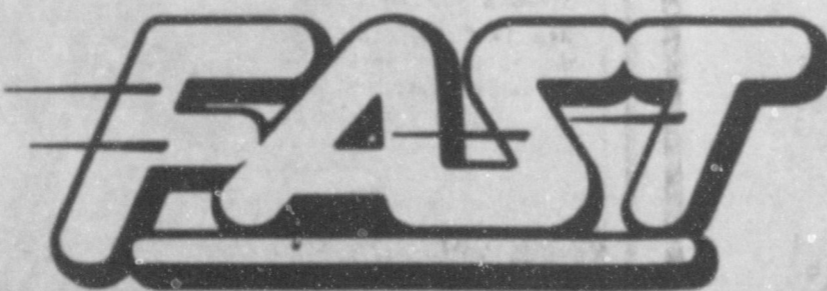

Ever hear of one man gambling?

Sheriff Dee Clements arrested just one man on a charge of gambling, the man plead guilty, and paid a fine early this week. Clements said he actually arrested two men for questioning in a gambling game, but BOTH men denied that one of them was playing in the dice game. Other members of the game fled before the sheriff arrived in the room.

So the sheriff was left with just one gambler.

Probably rolling just one dice, too.

including the city council and hospital board."

He spoke of his familiarity with budgets, government regulations, and even unplanned surprises each and every board member faces from time to time.

"Our school system is a 'people business,' he added, 'and our job is to have well-educated children.'

In speaking of extra-curricular activities, King added, "If we're going to do them -- let's do it right."

Mrs. Cage left a statement for Watson to read, and it said in part:

"Education is a serious business, and for the past several years, the MISD has been working toward and looking forward to improvement.

"We use a pay as you go policy, and have made improvements with no bond issues. We keep an ongoing priority list."

She also wrote about teachers and their professional growth, and the need to stay aware of trends and legislation.

"We are looking at being the 'very best' school in Texas," she said.

In opening the meeting, Rotary President George Nieman asked for applause for Rotary Sweetheart Staci McElroy, who with partner, Noel Vourazeris, won the district title in girls' doubles in tennis; and A. J. Liles, the son of Rotarian Bill Liles, and Frank Precure, who as A. J.'s partner, won the district title in boys' doubles in tennis.

Harvey Bass gave a brief report on Black's Magic and Illusion Show, held last Thursday night, sponsored by the Rotary.

Bass said local resident, Nick Black, and his act were very professional, and said they were as good as, and better than some other professional magic shows he has seen in the past.

Polio Plus winner was Scott Campbell, who is expected to be a new member of Rotary very soon.

Visitors included Earl Ray, a member of the Downtown Lubbock Rotary Club, and a Rotarian for 42 years; Judy Watson, Danny Skaggs, Scott Campbell, Cindy Purdy, Todd Bessire, Brandon Wilson, Danny Noble and Bill Grisham.

Boggs said several textile plants are operating in Texas, but the industry has not been developed to its potential. The TABEC-A&M study, as well as other reports, suggests there is room for expansion in the textile industry in Texas, he said.

Boggs pointed out that the market value of cotton leaving the state is about 55 cents per pound. By spinning the cotton into yarn, its market value increases about $1 per pound and another $1 per pound when it's woven or knitted into fabric.

"Fabric is purchased for roughly $3.50 to $4 per pound and sold as clothing for about $5 per pound," he said.

"This all suggests there are millions of dollars of revenue being lost to the state, not to mention a large amount of jobs that are lost when we ship our fiber elsewhere," Boggs said.

Persons wanting details of the study should call Boggs at (806) 378-2178.

Combest Proposes Several Wayports

With congestion at America's metropolitan airports reaching all-time highs, U. S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas) is cosponsoring legislation to create a series of "wayports," or large rural airports, to relieve the crowded air terminals.

Combest says that Lubbock would be a logical site for one of the four to six rural airports to be constructed to serve as stopping-off points for passengers flying between major cities. The wayports are designed to relieve crowding at some of the nation's busiest airports such as Dallas-Fort Worth International, O'Hare International Airport in Chicago and Hartfield International Airport in Atlanta.

"Crowded conditions at airports like DFW and O'Hare often impair travelers and make it difficult for them to catch connecting flights," Combest said. "Too many times flights are delayed because of congested runways or bad weather. The wayports would help relieve overcrowded conditions and would help ensure safer skies for many of these airports."

"Lubbock seems to me to be a natural site to offer relief to the overcrowded airports. We have plenty of available space for expansion and the Lubbock airport is located that it could accommodate flights from both the east and west coasts," he added.

Combest says expansion of the current airport and the arrival of hundreds of travelers each day would translate into additional jobs and increased ticket sales. "The business opportunities which would emerge in support of a Lubbock wayport would be tremendous," Combest explained. "This is the type of diversified economic opportunity we are trying to attract."

Construction of the wayports would be achieved by using funds as a revolving loan from the Airport and Airway Trust Fund. As the new wayports began earning revenue, payments on the loans would be returned to the Trust Fund.

Friday and Saturday, March 3-4, the Sudan Auto Mechanic Club of Sudan High School participated in the VICA district contest in Lubbock. Entering projects were Michael Williamson, a 350 turbo transmission; Ronnie Freeman, a Chevrolet starter; Michael Conley and Michael Hernandez, a 292 Chevrolet Short Block; T.J.

Briant, a Chevrolet alternator; Efrain Maldonado, a carburetor; and Ronnie Gonzales, a carburetor. This was the first time for contests ever for Auto Mechanics. They also viewed other project entries.

On Saturday, four of the local mechanics and instructor, Bill Davis, returned to the contest site to get results, and discovered that out of seven projects entered, there were six winners that were eligible for state contests, which will be in Houston this week.

All Sudan faculty members of the Sudan schools were re-elected in a meeting of the school board on Monday, March 13. The board accepted the Text Book Adoption recommended by the Text Book committee. A bid for Education Systems Corp. for the elementary computer lab was accepted.

The board adopted the TASB Localized Update 33 and also approved the early dismissal of classes for 1:45 on Wednesday, March 22 for the spring break.

Sharla Harrison George a senior at WBU was recently named to the NATA All-American basketball team for the fourth consecutive year. She paced the Flying Queens to a 30-8 mark and a district championship and was named to the first unit on the women's team.

The exam will be from 9-11 a.m. in the SPC Student Assistance Center, located on the third floor of the library, and the fee is $10.

Cosmetology classes begin June 1 at SPC.

Graduates of the program receive a certificate of proficiency and are eligible to take the state board exam for licensure as a cosmetologist in Texas, according to Carolyn Newkirk, program instructor.

For more information, contact Mrs. Newkirk or the SPC counseling office at (806) 894-9611, ext. 364.

SPC Bluegrass Jamboree Set At Levelland

Gene Wooten, Dobroist and gaitarist with Country Gazette, will be a featured performer May 6 for South Plains College's spring bluegrass jamboree at Levelland.

Wooten will join five SPC bluegrass ensembles and members of the Mayfield Brothers, a West Texas bluegrass group popular during the 1950s, in a concert at 7:30 p.m. in SPC's Tom T. Hall Production Studio. There is no admission charge.

The concert will highlight activities on campus in celebration of International Bluegrass Music Month in May.

Wooten, a native of Franklinton, N.C., began his career in music while a student at Appalachian State College in Boone, N.C. In 1977, he moved to Nashville and performed with the band of Wilma Lee Cooper, which appeared on the Grand Ole Opry.

During his six-year stint with Cooper, Wooten contributed his considerable vocal and Dobro talents to the recordings of such country and bluegrass artists as Grandpa Jones, who appears regularly on Hee Haw, Jimmy Martin and Red Allen.

"Gene brings to Country Gazette that authentic feel for hard driving bluegrass plus the sensitivity and sustain needed for the modern country ballad form," said Alan Munde, an instructor of bluegrass music at SPC who has performed extensively with Country Gazette. Munde is coordinating the jamboree.

Wooten can be heard on the Country Gazette album, "Bluegrass Tonight."

April Supermarket Specials Spotlights

Good supplies of fresh spring and summer fruits and vegetables should result in consumer savings at supermarkets during April, according to a food marketing expert at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Dick Edwards, an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at College Station, said a 10 percent acreage increase in vegetable plantings this season should be reflected in food store prices as supplies increase this month.

He said growers have increased their production to take advantage of expanding consumption of such popular vegetables as broccoli, cauliflower, peppers and sweet corn.

"Making the biggest splash during April will be strawberries. Supplies have been spotty up to now, but beginning this month consumers should see lower priced offerings," he said.

Edwards said companion items, including shortcake and whipping cream, will be among April supermarket specials.

He said other vegetables now appearing in large supply will be snap beans, cucumbers, squash and sweet corn, arriving fresh from Florida.

"April specials also will be featured on carrots, asparagus, celery, spinach and citrus fruits, as harvests of these products continue," Edwards said.

He said lower prices for orange juice is indicated for the retail level in April, as world production increases.

"April supplies of canned tuna will be the last to reflect a lower duty import tax, and prices will inch upward from May forward. This may be an opportune time to replenish supplies although there will be spot features through the year," Edwards said. The economist said a number of specials will be featured at the meat counter this month.

"Beef prices will reflect specials on ground beef, chuck roast, chuck steak and shoulder roast. Some stores also will feature more choice cuts such as roast or steak at a price of 25 to 30 percent below the normal price, so take advantage of these specials," Edwards recommended.

He said poultry prices should provide good buys as well.

"Watch for whole broilers on special at 49 cents per pound or below. The leg and thigh combination is still an excellent buy at 29 to 39 cents per pound when bought in quantities of 10 pounds or more. Some smaller turkeys will be featured at 69 to 79 cents per pound," Edwards said.

He said pork products also will continue to be of good value, with all popular cuts being featured during the month.

Edwards said the opening of the baseball season in early April will cause retailers to promote specials on hot dogs, soft drinks, potato chips and other snack items associated with attending a game.

The economist said that retailers will feature specials in their floral sections and other gift sections during the last week of April in observance of National Secretaries Week. "Don't overlook that special occasion," he said.

Texans More Knowledgeable As AIDS Epidemic Grows

A recent survey conducted for the Texas Department of Health (TDH), to measure AIDS related knowledge, attitudes, and behavior in the state's adult population shows that Texans may know more about AIDS than does the U.S. population as a whole.

Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner of Health, said that the baseline survey results confirmed the value of having accurate AIDS information. "The more people know about AIDS, the more tolerant their attitude is on AIDS-related issues. The better their attitude, the more likely they are to take precautions."

While 87 percent of the survey's respondents knew that the AIDS-causing human immunodeficiency virus (HIV) could not be contracted by eating at a restaurant where a waiter was HIV-positive, only 50 percent of the U.S. population correctly answered a similar question in a recent study conducted by the National Center for Health Statistics (NCHS).

The Texas survey, conducted for TDH by the University of Texas' Office of Survey Research (OSR), also showed Texans scoring higher on two other AIDS knowledge questions.

Some 77 percent of the Texas respondents, compared with 49 percent in the NCHS study, knew that AIDS is not spread by mosquitoes. And 95 percent in the Texas study knew that a person can be infected for five to 10 years before developing any AIDS symptoms, compared with only 47 percent in the national study.

According to Dr. Pamela Shoemaker, OSR director, the survey provides a good assessment of the AIDS-related knowledge, attitudes, and behaviors of the heterosexual, middle-class segment of the Texas population.

The attitude section results indicate that 65 percent would allow HIV-positive children to attend public schools. Some 59 percent opposed quarantining infected persons, and 58 percent would afford AIDS patients the same legal protections as the handicapped.

About 90 percent favored mandatory AIDS testing of persons arrested for prostitution or intravenous drug use, while only 48 percent would require testing as part of the application process to obtain medical insurance.

Some 85 percent of the parents of children under 18 said that sex education classes should be taught at the junior high (46 percent) or elementary (39 percent) level.

Christie Reed, director of TDH's AIDS Division, said she was encouraged by some of the findings, but disturbed by others. "We've got a long way to go in education some areas of the heterosexual population. For example, two out of five Texans think you can contact AIDS by donating blood. That's wrong," she said, adding that she also is concerned about "knowledge gaps" among minority groups.

In a 10 question survey section testing AIDS knowledge, 37 percent of the Anglos scored high results (answering eight to 10 questions correctly), while only 22 percent of the Hispanics and 17 percent of the Blacks scored in the high category. "This indicates a need to overcome language and cultural barriers, if we're going to reach all segments of the Texas population," Reed said.

The behavior section results show that two-thirds of the 13 percent who admitted having more than one sexual partner in the past year reported changing their behavior as a result of the AIDS epidemic.

However, only half of those judged sexually active, but non-monogamous reported the use of protective condoms. Some 43 percent of these respondents also reported having sex with a partner who had had sex with multiple partners.

The survey, based on scientifically-conducted telephone interviews, and funded by the U.S. Centers for Disease Control (CDC), is scheduled to be repeated this year.

AIDS, or acquired immune deficiency syndrome, is spread predominantly by the transfer of blood or sexual fluids from an infected individual to another, primarily through sexual intercourse or the sharing of IV-drug needles or syringes. An infected pregnant woman can transmit the virus to her unborn baby.

Keep Cool By Checking Your Cooler

The hot weather has arrived early this year. Is your home's evaporative cooler ready for the long, hot summer?

It may not be if you haven't checked the pump, pads and water system since last year. Whatever brand of evaporative cooler you use, it will work better and last longer with a little preventative maintenance before things get really hot.

First, check the cooler pads for shrinking, sagging or shredding. Pads that don't fit tightly reduce the capacity of your cooler. The older, aspen-type pads should be replaced at least every year, and should be checked twice a year, depending on their use.

The newer type of bonded cooler pads offer clean, uniform cooling and resist sagging, shrinking and shredding. Bonded pads may cost a little more, but they're more efficient and last longer than aspen pads in most applications.

Also check your cooler's water pump and give it a thorough cleaning. . . . Pieces from the aspen-type pads can build up in your cooling system over a season and clog the pump and distribution tubes. If you used aspen-type pads last year, be sure to inspect your cooler for particle buildup.

Ask the experts at your home center, hardware or discount stores to recommend the type of pad that's best for your evaporative cooler.

While you're changing your cooler pads, also check the condition of other parts of your cooling system, including fans, belts and hoses. Proper maintenance of your evaporative cooler and other cooling equipment now can help equipment last longer, prevent summer breakdowns, save energy and keep you cooler.

For complete information on the newest developments in evaporative coolers, write Research Products, Consumer Information Department, P. O. Box 1467, Madison, WI 53701. Or call 800-356-9652.

Crimestoppers Holding First Annual Meet

Over 400 law enforcement officials media representatives and Crime Stoppers volunteers from the 191 Crime Stoppers programs across Texas will meet in Austin on April 19 for the first Texas Crime Stoppers Conference.

The three-day conference, which will be held at the Wyndham Southpark Hotel, is being jointly sponsored by the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council, the Texas Crime Stoppers Office in the Governor's Office, the Texas Crime Prevention Institute at Southwest Texas State University and Austin Crime Stoppers, Inc.

A highlight of the conference will be the first Texas Crime Stoppers awards banquet on April 21 at 7 p.m. The keynote address will be given by Governor William P. Clements Jr., who created the Texas Crime Stoppers Advisory Council during his first term.

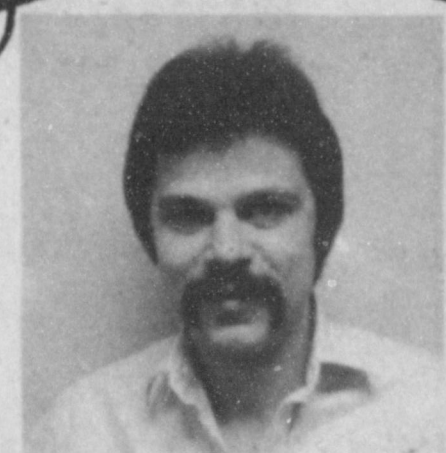

The governor will present the awards for the outstanding law enforcement program coordinator and Crime Stoppers board member of the year. The conference will include training seminars on Crime Stoppers legal issues, newspaper and radio program development, television re-enactments and a special address by Greg B. MacAleese, who created the first Crime Stoppers program in 1976.

Tips to Crime Stoppers programs in Texas have led to the arrest of 34,392 suspects, with 48,029 cases cleared and $338,132,352 worth of stolen property and illegal narcotics seized. Local programs are formed as non-profit corporations, and cash rewards donated by the community are offered in return for tips that lead to the indictment of suspected criminals. The media regularly help publicize the details of unsolved cases.

Beef Checkoff Helps Keep Industry Strong

Texas beef producers are building a better state and national industry through the beef checkoff program, a cattle industry leader reports.

"Through the checkoff, our product has once again been embraced by consumers as an important part of a healthful diet," rancher Tom Risinger of Crockett, Texas, says. "Despite competition from other food sources, beef has maintained its dominant position on menus. And research shows many more Americans plan to eat more of our product each week."

Risinger, immediate past president of the Texas Beef Industry Council (TBIC), makes his comments in the council's recently released annual report. This overview of how beef checkoff dollars are spent in Texas as an extension of the national effort was recently mailed to many of the state's beef producers.

TBIC's annual report details projects and expenditures in the areas of promotion, research, consumer information and industry communication for fiscal year Oct. 1, 1987, to Sept. 30, 1988. The many successful projects have helped both Texas beef producers and their beef council become nationally recognized for promoting beef.

"Texas is a leader in making the marketing program happen," John Francis, vice president of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, said. "The work done in Texas is a blueprint of what we at the Meat Board would like to achieve in other states."

Although Texas generates some programs on its own, the bulk of the projects are coordinated by the Beef Industry Council of Meat Board.

"Each program conducted by the Texas Beef Industry Council is an extension of the national effort into Texas," Anne Anderson, TBIC executive director, said. "We have described a few of them in the annual report, and invite producers to call or write us at any time for more detailed information."

"Compliance is improving each year," Anderson said. "We do not feel many dollars are being missed. Our future goal is 100 percent accountability, and we feel we will attain this!"

Texas, with the nation's largest cattle population, is the largest contributor to the beef checkoff program among the states. More than $12.8 million were remitted by Texas beef producers for the year ending Sept. 30, 1988.

Because the responsibility of collecting and administering these funds for the entire Texas beef industry falls upon TBIC, day-to-day operations are monitored closely. Jack Gilbert of Hofer and Gilbert, certified public accountants, after appraising and updating TBIC's accounting and administrative procedures, said TBIC's staff "has made significant contributions in setting up a system of internal controls. These controls are necessary for TBIC to implement a program of effective financial accountability."

"At TBIC, we strive to serve the beef producer in the manner each of them expected when the checkoff was made permanent last May," Anderson said.

ASCS Gives Guidelines To Follow New Programs

Danny Noble, county executive director of the Bailey County ASCS office, has a lot of information for farmers and ag producers this month.

1989 PROGRAM SIGNUP

All producers who wish to participate in the 1989 farm program MUST sign up their intentions by no later than April 14. If you missed your signup deadline, which was Friday, you are not eligible for the program.

PERSON

DETERMINATIONS

All individuals, corporations, estates, trusts, joint ventures, and partnerships MUST have an approved actively engaged in farming and person determination (CCC-502) on file in the ASCS office by April 14, 1989, to have been eligible for payments. If these forms were not on file by this date, no payments will be made to that entity for 1989.

FINAL CERTIFICATION TIME

The final date to certify or request aerial measurement service for wheat, rye, barley, oats and triticale, regardless of use, non-program or program, ACR or CU, is May 15, 1989.

This is also the final date to certify to zero acreage planted if the farm has a base for that commodity. Remember, if you miss your acreage report by the larger of five percent or 1.0 acre, up or down, it can cause the farm to be ineligible for program benefits.

FAILED ACRES

If any of your wheat, barley, oats, rye, or triticale for grain has failed due to drought, wind-blown, freeze, or other natural causes beyond your control, be sure to certify the total farm acres of that crop and file a disaster application (ASCS-574) before plowing, grazing, and/or baling your program acreage. Failure to certify and file an ASCS-574 prior to making any other use of the crop will cause the crop to be ineligible for program benefits.

DOUBLE CROPPING BEHIND FAILED ACRES

If your wheat, barley, or oats has failed after May 15, 1989, the second crop will be considered as planted to that crop for program benefits.

If your wheat, barley, or oats failed prior to May 15, 1989, it will depend on when you plant the second crop, such as: if planted prior to June 15, 1989, the second crop will be considered invisible (Ghost) acres; if planted after June 15, 1989, the second crop will be considered as planted to that crop for program benefits.

The definition of failed means, you have to give up on the crop and it has failed due to a natural disaster and an ASCS-574 (Disaster Application) is actually filed in the ASCS office. The bottom line is: if you intend to plant a program crop behind failed wheat, barley, or oats, and do not want the second crop to count for any purpose, the ASCS-574 must be filed in the ASCS office by no later than May 15, 1989.

SMALL GRAINS LEFT STANDING

If you have wheat or other small grains on ACR or CU that will be left standing and not substantially destroyed by May 15, 1989, you must file a request to leave the small grains standing and pay a $10 fee by May 15, 1989, to stay in compliance.

HAYING AND GRAZING ACR AND CU

Haying and grazing ACR and CU for payment is permitted during the 7-month non-growing season only. This is October 15 through May 14. The non-grazing and non-haying period is May 15 through October 14. Remember!! No haying or grazing CRP land anytime.

Good taste starts with high quality water—right from the tap

Now you and your family can have good tasting, high quality water anytime you want without the inconvenience of waiting for bottled water deliveries or lugging heavy containers. That's because Lindsay high quality drinking water systems put plentiful, high quality water on tap right at your own kitchen sink.

For just a fraction of the cost of bottled water, Lindsay high quality drinking water systems provide 100's of gallons of fresh-tasting water a month.

And you can be sure that high quality water is just what you're getting. Lindsay drinking water systems do more than just the softening and simple filtration of water by reducing most of the impurities that could be in ordinary tap water. Chlorine, sediment, asbestos particles, brackish mineral water salts, sodium and sulphates are effectively reduced along with dissolved metals such as arsenic, aluminum, lead, mercury, iron and cadmium. Also chemicals such as PCBs, THMs, pesticides, etc.

Because of this special system, the drinking water itself is not only better-tasting, it also helps to improve the flavor of coffee, tea, juices, soups, vegetables — any type of food or beverage prepared with water. Even plants and aquarium fish benefit from the high quality water Lindsay drinking water systems provide.

Money Talk

By Charles B. Carlson, CFA—Dow Theory Forecasts, Inc.

Random thoughts from a trained observer:

* Here's one for the we-told-you-so-but-you-didn't-listen-to-us file;

It seems that the Internal Revenue Service is giving the wrong answer to telephoned tax questions anywhere from 31% to 40% of the time, depending on who's doing the tabulating.

This figure is higher than the 28% rate of last year, though the agency is using different methods for tracking accuracy this year.

Now, my guess would be that if IRS "assistors" can't even give the right answers, then maybe the whole tax process is a bit too confusing. Haven't we all said this before? Is anybody listening in Washington?

* Am I the only one, but doesn't it seem that the market has become much more volatile in recent months? Do you think the fact that program trading has made a big comeback has anything to do with this?

LUBBOCK, Friday, April 14, 1989

The inability to insure yields at acceptable levels and other major complaints of High Plains farmers against the federal crop insurance program could be at least partially corrected for the 1990 crop year, according to Myrl D. Mitchell, Martin County cotton producer, ginner and Chairman of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

Mitchell is the cotton spokesman on the Federal Crop Insurance Commission, created last year by Congress to recommend changes needed to increase producer participation in the multi-peril crop insurance program offered by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC).

The 21-member commission, after four meetings and numerous field hearings, recently submitted its interim report to Congress, including 26 suggested actions FCIC has authority to take before the start of the 1990 crop insurance sign-up next July 1.

Two of the changes recommended by the Commission directly addressed a lack of adequate yield coverage and ineffective unit division stressed by PCG in testimony before the Commission hearing in Lubbock March 7.

The Commission's suggestions, if implemented by FCIC, would give producers the option to apply for insurance coverage based on established farm payment yields or permit modified coverage based on the actual production history system FCIC now employs. ASCS yields would be permitted on program crops. Modified coverage would apply to non-program crops and soybeans.

On unit division, under which PCG's position asks that each production unit or field stand on its own for loss adjustment purposes, the Commission recommended establishing regional unit definitions for program crops and cotton units by share where a share-tenant and landlord relationship exists.

Livestock Continues As Largest Industry

Agriculture is Texas' second largest production industry and one of the major industries contributing to the economic activity of the state. Cash receipts received from Texas' agricultural commodities amount to over $10 billion per year, with the total impact on the Texas economy being measured at three times that amount. Meat animals and meat animal products contribute to at least 50 percent of the state's annual agricultural cash receipts. Cash receipts from beef cattle alone amounted to $4.6 billion in 1987 and are expected to have surpassed $5.0 billion in 1988.

It is critical not only to the state's livestock producers, but to the state's entire economy, that information on production and price trends will be available for production planning and marketing/pricing strategies. Also, as more agricultural managers become computerized decision makers, their need for historical and current data will increase. This publication has been developed with those needs in mind.

This publication represents the largest and most complete source of data pertinent to the meat animal and meat animal products industry of Texas. It contains annual economic activity measured as cash receipts for cattle and calves, sheep and lambs, hogs and pigs and wool and mohair. Beginning years' inventories are listed for 1958 forward. Monthly and annual livestock slaughter and annual wool and mohair production levels are included from 1958 to present. Texas market prices for cattle and calves, sheep and lambs, goats, wool and mohair, and hogs and pigs are listed from major markets. Seasonal price indexes are calculated and plotted for each price series. In many cases strong and consistent seasonal price patterns are found to exist.

The information provided in this publication is intended to assist livestock producers and lenders in estimating cash receipts and cash flows given certain inventory levels and expected monthly and annual supply situations. This information should also be of importance to agribusinesses servicing the livestock sector. It should allow them to estimate production levels given beginning inventories. It should provide them some expectations of price levels and producer incomes, given the associated production levels. All of this should assist the supporting agribusiness firms in estimating monthly or annual demand for their goods and services.

Market prices reported in this publication were selected from markets that are reported by the Texas Department Agriculture and USDA Livestock Market News reporting service. Those markets having the longest historical base were selected so both historical and recent seasonally price patterns could be shown. If there is enough demand and price information available, we will gladly add other markets in future annual updates of the publication. Suggestions for additional data sets will be taken under serious consideration.

Producers and Agribusiness personnel who would like a copy of this new publication may order one by contacting the County Extension Agent's office in Muleshoe or by writing Dr. Ernest E. Davis, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843. The publication is B-1621-Texas Livestock Prices and Statistics and has a cost of $35.00.
