Siegenthaler Is Named President Chamber For 1950

William M. Siegenthaler, Artesia attorney, on Wednesday accepted the presidency of the Chamber of Commerce for 1950. He will succeed J. D. Smith.

Siegenthaler was elected president Friday night of last week by the board of directors of the chamber, but no immediate announcement was made, as he had not been contacted as to his wishes.

At the same time, the board named Clyde Guy vice president and Bob Bourland, treasurer.

The new officers and directors named at a recent election by mail by members of the Chamber of Commerce will take office the first of the year.

Bourland was one of five directors named in the election. The others were C. D. Hopkins, vice president and G. Taylor Cole, re-elected and Henry Caudle and Bill Keys.

Holdover members are President Elect Siegenthaler, President Smith, Treasurer-Elect Guy, Thad Cox, Stanley Carper, Wayne Paulin, J. L. Taylor, Doyle Hankins, Charles Gaskins and A. C. Sadler.

Siegenthaler said he will announce appointments to standing committees for 1950 at or about the time he takes office.

Besides his activities in the Chamber of Commerce, Siegenthaler is and has been a worker in numerous other civic and community organizations. He is a member of the Artesia Lions Club, a past chairman of the North Eddy County chapter of the American Red Cross and past acting chairman of the North Eddy County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Lighting Contest At Hagerman To Have Many Prizes

Business houses in Hagerman have underwritten a Christmas lighting contest there, sponsored by the Hagerman Garden Club, in which $70 in cash, as well as other prizes, will be given.

The contest is divided into four general classifications, business houses, organizations, city residences and country residences within a three-mile limit. A separate prize will also be given for the best-decorated outdoor tree.

In the contest a year ago, there was only one division, but the Garden Club announced that through the generosity and co-operation of the merchants, it was possible to announce the various divisions and more prizes.

The contest will start Dec. 18 and continue through Jan. 1, it was announced. Judges will be from out of town.

The prizes in the various divisions: Business houses, $10, $7.50 and $5; organizations, $10, $7.50 and $5; city residences, $10, electric waffle iron from Kemp Lumber Company, $5 and $5 in trade from Wafford's Cash Grocery; country residences, $10, $5 in trade at Peoples Merchantile Company, prize gift box from Simpson Grocery, clock from T. D. Davenport; best-decorated outdoor tree, $5 in trade from Farmers' Super Market.

Contributors of cash: Garden Club, Woman's Club, Lions Club and First National Bank, $10 each and Langenecker Recreation Club, Gibson Barber Shop, Latimer Barber Shop, Valley Grocery and Felix Theater, $5 each.

The Garden Club expressed appreciation to the businessmen and organization who have made this greater contest possible.

Lions And 20-30 Football Game Has Been Called Off

The benefit football game to be played between the Lions and 20-30 Clubs at Morris Field tonight has been called off for this season, but members of both clubs said such a contest probably will be staged next year.

When it was discovered the date would coincide with the senior play—which has been postponed to next Monday and Tuesday—it was at first decided to re-schedule the interclub grid game possibly next week.

However, it now has been definitely cancelled for this season.

L-4 Type Aircraft Arrives For Use Of CAP Squadron

An L-4 type aircraft assigned to the Artesia Civil Air Patrol squadron for CAP orientation and training in flight was flown in Thursday from Roswell by Lt. Gene Sherwood, squadron operations officer. It was explained an L-4 is a single engine light plane, which was used extensively during World War II for liaison and observation work by air and ground forces of the Army.

Responsibilities Of FBI Told At Clubs By Special Agent

Responsibilities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation were discussed here this week at service club meetings by D. K. Brown, special agent in charge of the FBI at El Paso.

He spoke Tuesday noon at the Rotary Club meeting and on Wednesday noon at the Lions Club meeting and on Thursday at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club.

The FBI agent said one of the main responsibilities is the internal security program, which in this area is especially enforcement of the Atomic Energy Act, under which control of atomic energy passed from the Army to civilian hands.

Special Agent Brown said that in this area alone the FBI has investigated about 26,000 persons employed in the program or seeking employment in it. In the nation at large the bureau has investigated 150,000 applicants.

A second phase of this part of the work of FBI agents is investigation of security provisions of the act, he said.

Another responsibility of the bureau, Brown said, is loyalty investigations. He reminded his listeners that President Truman has ordered that all government employees be given "loyalty checks." Under this program, about three million employees and applicants are being checked, the special agent said. However, he pointed out, very few are investigated further. And he predicted that not

Ground Broken For Junior High

MANALLY TURNS SOIL

Artie McAnally, president of the Artesia Board of Education, is shown here turning the first spadeful of dirt as ground was broken Wednesday last week for the new Artesia Junior High School at 11th and Bullock Avenue.

The building will have 18 classrooms, including special rooms for visual art, home economics and arts and crafts. Future plans call for an additional wing for manual training and band, as well as another wing for an auditorium. A gymnasium is included in the original structure.

Construction of the building has been started by Homer A. Campbell, contractor, who submitted the low bid of $260,402 of nine received and considered by the board.

Include Names In Remitting For Christmas Seals

Mrs. G. C. Kinder, treasurer of the Artesia Nurses' Club, sponsor of the annual sale here of Christmas Seals, has asked that persons sending in remittances for seals mailed them include their names and addresses, in order that an accurate check may be kept.

She said this will avoid the sending out of follow-up notices to those who have remitted and have not been credited because their names were not known.

Mrs. Joe Nunn, president, said 200 Christmas Seals are being mailed this season, instead of 100 as in past years. However, she said, no one need feel he is obligated to purchase both blocks of 100. But all are invited to make the extra contribution.

She said the organization is quite pleased with the response being shown in the sale of Christmas Seals in the Artesia community and that the drive in the downtown district showed a nice return.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Izard Held In El Paso

Mrs. Gussie Carter Izard, 63, of Artesia died at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at the home in El Paso of her daughter, Mrs. T. A. Phelps, after a long illness.

She was taken to an El Paso hospital in September by her son, Carter Izard, with whom she made her home here. She later was moved to the home of her daughter.

Funeral services were from the Immanuel Baptist Church in El Paso at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Artesia. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery at El Paso.

As Gussie Carter, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granvil Carter, Mrs. Izard was born Aug. 23, 1886, at Ladonia, Texas.

About 43 years ago at Gillham, Ark., she married Dr. John S. Izard who preceded her in death in 1941. To them were born three children, all of whom survive. They are Ralph S. Izard of Little Rock, Ark.; Carter Izard of Artesia and Mrs. T. A. Phelps of El Paso.

Mrs. Izard is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Tom Jones of Long Beach, Calif. and Mrs. Arch Roden of Gillham, Ark.; a brother, J. G. Carter of Quartzsite, Ariz.; two half-sisters, Mrs. Merle Holley of Phoenix, Ariz. and Mrs. Bill Graham of Longview, Texas; a half-brother, Tom Benton of Gillham, Ark.

Non-Alcoholic Is Inspired Recently At Meeting In Artesia Of A.A.

(The following article, "A. A. Inspiration as Viewed by a Non-Alcoholic," was written by an Artesia resident, who explained that as members of Alcoholics Anonymous, referred to as A.A., remain anonymous, so does the author.)

The writer has been privileged to attend an open meeting of the local A.A. group recently. Surely, it is a great inspiration to look upon the happy faces of the once-depressed alcoholics who have rehabilitated themselves into a life of sobriety and are applying their activities toward the highest of moral standards in efforts to maintain honesty, tolerance, faith and fellowship as great humanitarians.

In listening to the various subjects discussed and explained by the different speakers, we come to realize we non-alcoholics have fallen short in our knowledge of alcoholism and a true understanding of an alcoholic. We have no doubt, misinterpreted the word, "alcoholic," which will be explained later in this writing.

In one talk by the member opening the meeting, he explained Alcohol Anonymous as not being an organized organization. It is an autonomous organization in which each individual group operates strictly independently of all other groups insofar as charters, by-laws and constitution or other regulated rules are concerned.

Alcoholics Anonymous requires no dues or set fees from any member desiring to become affiliated with it, neither does it require anyone to take an oath or vow, binding him to loyalty. Members are apparently on their own honor with regard to sincerity, as to honesty and loyalty as viewed by the writer.

The speaker further explained that A.A. as a whole or as a group, does not affiliate itself with politics, religious belief of any one denomination or other organized activities, but remains autonomous and anonymous. He further explained the 12 suggested steps as the recovery program and the writer can only state this is the most wonderful program we have ever been privileged to read and should be applied to the life of every worldly individual.

When a prospective member crosses the threshold of an A.A. clubroom, desirous of becoming a member, said the speaker, he is on his own honor. His sincerity, honesty, humbleness, tolerance and personal desire to rehabilitate himself is the extent of success. We have some occasionally, said the speaker, who have tried A.A. without sincerity and failed. They again (Continued last page, this section)

Scouts, Cubs To Stage Circus Merit Badge Show Saturday

A Boy Scout circus and merit badge show for all Scouts and Cubs of the Gateway District will be held Saturday in the Central School Gymnasium.

Scouters announced the purpose of the show is to have each unit exhibit merit badge of Scout skills that have been developed in the respective troops and dens.

Each troop and den may have a booth for decoration and display of skill and it is contemplated the competition among them will be keen.

The booths are to be decorated by the Boy Scouts and Cubs between 8 o'clock in the morning and noon, to be ready for an exhibition from 2:30 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon, which will be free to the public. Members of each troop and den are to be present to explain about the exhibits and to answer questions.

Admission will be charged for the evening exhibition, which will start at 7 o'clock as a prelude to a grand parade at 8 o'clock and a program at 8:15 o'clock.

In the grand parade, the Scouts and Cubs are to be in costumes of any type selected by the individuals. Scout leaders are emphasizing originality in the costumes, which may be worn over Scout or Cub uniforms for removal after the parade.

Just in case you missed it, we thought we should call your attention to a matter which first appeared in The Artesia Hi Beacon and which was reprinted in The Advocate last week. It had to do with the fact that A. L. Terpening, outstanding student and Bulldog, had been elected vice president of the Artesia High School student body and that in so doing he had defeated three other candidates.

But what struck us as particularly interesting was the fact that Buster Brown, one of those defeated, had as his platform: Girls!

A splendid platform and he probably will go far, but it likewise probable the male element of the student body was agin him.

D. Wayne Rowland, editor of the Seymour (Mo.) Citizen and nephew of John Rowland of Atoka, reminds us that he was in The Advocate office last summer shortly before we made the switch to semi-weekly. And we recall that we had a right pleasant chat. He wrote:

"I'd like to send my congratulations to you for a neat job. Seems to me that each of the two editions each week is bigger (and more profitable) than the single once-a-week publication formerly. Take a day off someday and write a column or two for The Auxiliary, telling the country's about our experiences and problems. And regards—going semi-weekly."

The Auxiliary referred to is known in the trade as "The Printer's Bible" and goes into practically every publishing house in the nation.

The Horseless Headman down Barlsbad way, made famous by Jack Sitten of The Current-Argus, was nothing on a strange fowl captured by means of a shotgun over a Roosevelt County last week end during the prairie chicken season, which Cal Dunn said he saw a game warden inspecting.

Cal said the fowl looked mighty like a prairie chicken, but that if his innards was a quail—neatly packed.

He said the hunter claimed he thought he had killed a prairie chicken and certainly wouldn't think of shooting a quail, as the prairie chicken was not open in the prairie chicken area during the chicken season.

Cal said he left before the outcome was learned, but that he observed the idea some of the Rosevelt County prairie chickens might have crossed up with hawks and that they prey on the smaller birds, but that they pick 'em before eating 'em.

But just to show you what some people are like, here is a paid advertisement from a want ad column in a newspaper, the clipping of which was handed us:

"Wanted—a man of vision and ambition, an after-dinner speaker, right owl, work all day, stay up all night and appear fresh the next day. Must be a man's man, a lady's man, a model husband, a fatherly man, a good provider, a plutocrat, a Democrat, a Republican, a New Dealer, an old dealer, a technician, a politician, mathematician and mechanic."

"Must be a sales promotion expert, be a good credit manager, correspondent, attend all state meetings, funerals, visit customers' hospitals and jails, contact all counts every six weeks."

"In spare time, look for new business, do missionary work and attend all local conventions. Must be unlimited endurance and loyal to all clubs."

"Must be an expert driver, liar, hunter, fisherman, dancer, trier, bridge player, poker player, pit player, diplomat, financier, capitalist, philanthropist and authority on chemistry, palmistry, psychology, dogs, cats, horses, snakes, brunettes and red heads."

'American Legion Week' Proclaimed By Mayor Roberts

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the American Legion has contributed to child welfare, to American citizenship, to national security and to numerous other national, state and community activities and

Whereas, at this time more than any other time in our nation's history, a better spirit of citizenship is needed and

Whereas, the governor of the state of New Mexico has called upon the citizens of this state to observe "American Legion Week" and

Whereas, the people of the city of Artesia also desire to show their appreciation to the American Legion for its efforts in fostering and perpetuating a 100 per cent Americanism,

Now, therefore, I, Oren C. Roberts, mayor of the city of Artesia, by virtue of the authority vested in me by law, do hereby proclaim the week of Dec. 4 to 11 as "American Legion Week" and call upon all citizens to support the objectives of this organization and to co-operate to the best of their abilities in making this week a success.

Dated at Artesia, New Mexico, this 30th day of November, 1949.

OREN C. ROBERTS, Mayor of Artesia.

Jack Hastie Dies In Albuquerque Hospital Thursday

Jack Hastie, Spanish-American War Veteran, died in the Veterans Hospital at Albuquerque at about 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. He was in his 80's, but his exact age was not learned immediately.

Mr. Hastie had been in failing health for some time and was taken to the hospital in Albuquerque Friday of last week.

His body will arrive in Artesia by rail Saturday morning and will lie in state at Paulin Chapel until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when funeral services will be conducted there by Rev. Ralph O'Dell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Woodbine Cemetery.

It was understood members of the I.O.O.F. Lodge, of which Mr. Hastie was an active member and members of the three veterans' organizations here probably will have charge of special rites at the grave.

Mr. Hastie is survived by his widow and four step-children, Mrs. Nay Hightower of Artesia; Mrs. Walter Douglas of Sacramento; Mrs. Lydia Kimball of Safford, Ariz. and Mark Carraway of Roswell.

Mr. Hastie for many years was an active member of the United Spanish War Veterans, in which he had held a number of offices, both in camp and state departments. He also was a member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

POT POURRI

As almost everyone knows, Santa Claus will be in Artesia Saturday afternoon, Dec. 17, with treats for all the boys and girls in the territory.

But many people do not realize that although the Rotary Club and the Rotarians take the responsibility for Santa's annual visit and underwrite a large percentage of the expenses, it is a community affair—not Rotary's.

Someone has to take the lead, and the Rotary Club has done that for many years. But the club seeks to glory and does not even care if it is given credit for the leadership.

However, workers soliciting funds with which to buy the treats have run into the complaint that it is the Rotary Club's baby and that the club should spank it.

That is absolutely contrary to the facts or the spirit of the thing. It is the community's baby, the community in general profits by being host to the kids and the community should give a lift—financially as well as morally—in bringing Santa Claus to Artesia.

Just in case you missed it, we thought we should call your attention to a matter which first appeared in The Artesia Hi Beacon and which was reprinted in The Advocate last week. It Isn't Right

EMPLOYERS IN ARTESIA and Eddy County are now receiving some reports from the State Employment Security Commission advising them of the standing of their contributions for unemployment, sums withdrawn by former employes and invitations to check their "balances" and to determine whether they desire to make a "contribution" to the fund in order to protect their present rate or possibly receive a small rate.

And these forms are all a little complicated and a little hard to figure out by the average individuals. It is considerable of a task to determine whether these individuals could or could not profit by making a cash contribution.

Since the employer makes the total contribution for unemployment insurance for their employes, naturally they are very much interested not only in earning the lowest possible rate but in the amount of money they have on "balance" in this state fund.

Employers pay from a figure around 3.8 per cent on their payrolls down to as low as .3 per cent. But their rate is one they have to earn—that is by the actual amount of funds withdrawn from the sum they pay into the fund and have in the "balance."

And if they can with a small contribution increase their "balance" and decrease their rate, naturally they are interested.

We have long argued we felt that this levy as well as the system employed is extremely unfair to the employer. Firms it isn't fair that he and he alone should have to pay the total sum for unemployment for an employe. The employe should be paying his part of this. After all the employe is the one who receives the benefits from it.

We have also always felt that the manner in which applications can be made and unemployment compensation can be drawn is far from fair. The employment office can advise you they have request after request for unemployment compensation by employes who have quit their jobs and desire to take a rest or a vacation. They even think that is employes do, they have paid into this fund. That, of course, is not true.

Employers are notified, of course, if and when a former employe applies for unemployment compensation but usually a protest does not mean anything. The compensation is usually granted.

Theoretically, of course, employes who quit or resign a job are not entitled to unemployment compensation. Individuals usually get it after a brief period. Employes, who quit a job are not able to work or are not prepared to accept work, cannot or are not supposed to receive unemployment compensation, but they are granted it.

In most instances in some way or other those unemployed manage to get unemployment compensation. And this is all charged against the "balance" of the employer and it has an unfavorable effect on his rate. And since he pays in the full amount it has always seemed to us he should have more to say about the granting of the compensation.

In far too many instances now individuals are receiving their unemployment compensation when they are not deserving or entitled to receive it.

We believe there should be more hearings on these; that the employe who quits a job and then wants compensation even if they have not sought work or are not available to take a job shouldn't be able to secure it.

After all this money is paid in by the employer—he should have more to say about it. Let the employe pay in his or her part of it and let them have a rate that is determined by the amount they draw out of the fund and there will probably be a lot less applications for unemployment compensation.—O.E.P.

Give 'Em Names

ALMOST EVERYONE has a first name or initials. There may be exceptions, but we have heard of none in America.

But there never is a week goes by in which at least one item is sent in to The Artesia sans first names or initials for the people involved.

It is true that if a person's name is Hasenpfeffer, or some such, there is little likelihood there will be more than one family of that name in a community of this size and Mr. or Mrs. Hasenpfeffer would be readily identified, as designated merely that way in a news story or item.

But there are Smiths and Browns and a number of others by the dozens and without the sir name being qualified by a Christian name or initials, one can only guess which Smith or Brown is implied.

It would be surprising to some people to learn how much time is wasted every week in this office in looking up names or telephoning or otherwise seeking to identify persons mentioned in items.

And then the odds are that, even if the item is otherwise well enough written in news style to use as is, the typing is single spaced, so that it is impossible to insert Christian names and initials in the process of editing or copy reading.

If a person is newsworthy, he is worthy of having a front name.—A.L.B.

Need Our Support

EVERY CHURCH IN THIS COMMUNITY and in every other community in the nation needs the help—needs the help of every individual who believes in a church and who is not active in another church.

Every church in this community and all other communities needs more church workers, more Sunday school teachers, more leaders and more gifts and contributions.

And every individual in this community has an obligation and a responsibility to one of the churches in this community.

Because without the churches here, most of us would not remain long. No one knows the influence they have; the good they bring about; or the unwholesome conditions which they prevent from prevailing.

They may not do all that we think they should do; they may not accomplish all that we desire that they accomplish; they may not reach all of the people they seek to reach. There may be times when they do not take the stands that we feel they should take.

But if we are not contributing to their work, to their programs, to their plans and to their efforts—then we haven't much room to talk about the things they are not doing.

Ann perhaps if we were doing our part and making our contribution to their programs they would be accomplishing more of the things we say and we believe they should be accomplishing.

Every church is just as strong as its weakest member. It is only as strong as its congregation and its leadership and it is limited in what it does or can do by the help, assistance and co-operation given to it.

And besides the fact that few if any of us would remain in this community for long without the church and its influence, there always comes a day and a time when we need that church, its pastor and the people in that church.

There comes a day and a time when there is no place else to turn for that aid and that help except to the church and the Power it represents.

Are you helping to see that the church and its ministers are here to help you when you need your help?

Pick out the church of your choice, attend its services, serve it with your talents and ability and with your gifts.—O.E.P.

Grid Champions

FOR YEARS NOW there has been a half-baked attempt to produce and carry out a program in the state to produce a state championship football team.

There have been various efforts made to work out ways and means for this to be done and yet it still results in the fans discussing the mythical state champions instead of them being able to say state champions.

We have wondered why the High School Athletic Association has not worked out plans for determining the best high school football squad. Other states do it through the creating or the establishing of districts. The winners of these district meet and the play-off is held to determine the champions for a given section of the state. And this team then plays the champion of another district to determine the state champion.

There is no particular reason why that this can not be done in New Mexico. The districts and it appears to us that two would be sufficient, could be set up and determined by the High School Athletic Association.

They could set up the procedure to be followed in determining the winner in each of these districts. Then they could set up the procedure to be followed for these two teams to meet to determine the state champion.

The state champions are determined in basketball through the tournaments, but no set plan to determine the state champions in football has been established.

Some of the efforts which have been made to select leading teams in the state have been rather unsound because of the fact that the so-called Sports Writers' Association has not been able to secure the opinions of sufficient individuals qualified to vote on the matter.

And some of the efforts to select "all-state" teams has been almost ridiculous because of the fact that quarterbacks have been chosen as halfbacks and fullbacks or fullbacks have been named quarterbacks.

A lot of this incomplete, unofficial and unfair guessing could be halted if a good system was worked out by the State High School Athletic Association.—O.E.P.

Shop Early

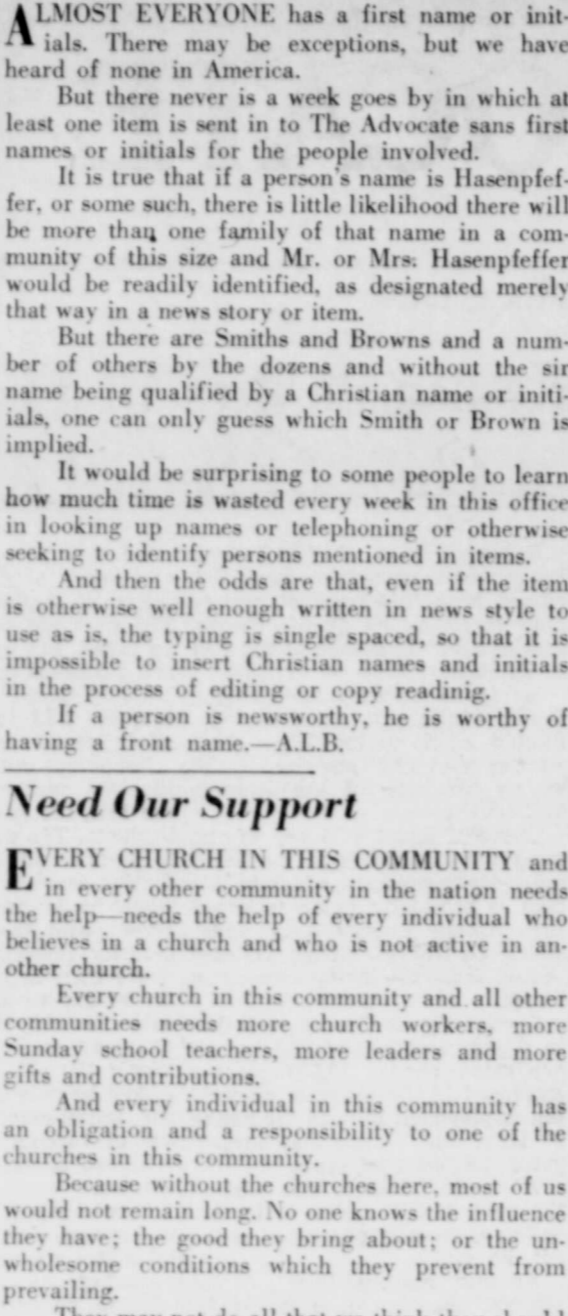

IT WILL NOT BE LONG until the Christmas lights are put up and lighted. And then it will not be much longer until Christmas is here.

But the majority of people will wait until about Dec. 22 to start thinking about Christmas gifts. And then there will be throngs in all the stores, salespeople will be hard pressed to wait on all and gifts will have been well picked over by the few who will have shopped early.

The merchants perennially urge their customers to shop and select Christmas presents early. But it seems to be human nature to put shopping off, just as many other things are put off until the last minute.

We hardly expect you to heed this. We probably won't ourselves. But it's a good idea anyway.—A.L.B.

IRAN CURTAIN?

Adding Sunshine to the Sunshine State

By Dr. G. Ward Fenley

The things that happen to news paper editors—shouldn't happen to a dog.

Good or bad proof readers, those typewriters still get through it slips in the type.

Not too long back The Little Rock Gazette had a frank statement: "Dr. R. returned home and will take up his duties at the hospital."

The Columbus Dispatch informed its readers: "Mr. L. is in Mercy Hospital recovering from shock caused by coming in contact with live wire."

The El Paso Times, in W. J. Hooten's column: "The raises provided for employes in both the high and low salary brackets."

But Closer to Home

I've heard about and read boners in papers off yonder in Timbuctoo and Oshkosh, but never expected to find one of the following type in our own back yard.

Chick Taylor, Curry County Times, picked a dinger out of the two-star mailed edition of The Albuquerque Journal, dated Nov. 7: "About 150 guests were at the wedding reception which was held after the ceremony at Fellowship Hall." Yeah—too tad to have to admit that some of em are.

About another wedding, The Roy Record recorded: "The bride, a graduate of the class of 1948 of the Roy High School, is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. . . ."

Too true, Karl, some of 'em sure are.

The Trouble Is

The saddest part about typewriters is that you may read and re-read the proof—and it sounds perfectly O.K. Then, the minute it is out in black and white, you scorch your tongue with a quick sip of coffee for letting such an obvious blunder escape your eagle eye.

Wallace Barnes said he read in a church bulletin: "Sunday school at 9:45. This is a good time to start that child that you have promised yourself for so long." Perfectly harmless—the intentions—but . . .

The Duke City Guide, right beside a column commenting on typographical errors, ran "liable" for "libel."

The Editor Gets It In The Neck

No matter how good a paper an editor produces, there's always a "but" when some well-meaning citizen writes a commendatory letter.

After The Santa Fe New Mexican had broken out with a rash of typographical errors the past two weeks Mr. H. J. Young, address General Delivery in Santa Fe, wrote Will Harrison:

"Your coverage is excellent; your features are swell; your interest in the people is right; but—your slips are showing." Slips are Legion

The Clovis News Journal mixed two headings which read: "UNM President Lauds Chapman Held in Beating."

The Clovis Chronicle said Ray Tidwell returned with his deer from Datil and that his wife got one also

And Gordon Greaves of Portales wrote that a man lost his pocketbook when he was posted.

The Case Is Hopeless

Our advice to editors is to forget the whole shebang. Your best efforts will be misunderstood by your readers and they'll cuss you for the least error.

All editors might as well take a lesson from The Farmington Times in an article (Nov. 15) on a pressroom in the capitol for reporters.

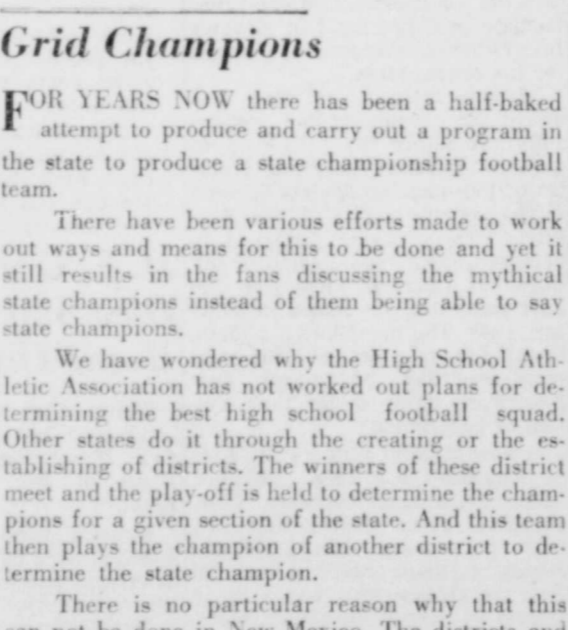

The line: "Ordin ari yich, su a oom is provided only during the State Legislature session." We haven't learned whether The Times editor was against the whole caboodle or was saying that was all the Legislature accomplished.

Yes, Words Mean a Lot

Sometimes we simply don't figure out the importance of words. A. L. (Pot) Bert of Artesia listed a string of very significant three-word lines:

"I love you
 All is forgiven
 Let me pay
 Here's that five
 Out o' gas and Funds not sufficient."

PICKED BY CIO TO OPPOSE TAFT

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Greta Garbo

NEW YORK—The profession of journalism, most especially in this city, never tends to increase the native enthusiasm of a man.

It is a profession that invariably attracts idealists, men who have read Shelley and Lord Byron at 15 and the editorials of Frank I. Cobb at 20—and it beats them into seedy, bitter-eyed braves who believe in nothing.

Speaking personally, I have resisted some of this creeping paralysis but it is true that politicians bore me, policemen irritate me, show people occasionally disgust me and celebrities, generally speaking, represent an element I would not ask home to dinner.

"I know the world well," Ben Hecht wrote, "and it fills me with an ugly mood." The world is neither so dark as Mr. Hecht broods nor so fair as Edgar A. Guest would have one believe. But unless one guards, ennui comes swiftly.

You would think it would take a sunset across the purpling hills of the Grand Canyon to bring excitement to a man such as I claim to be, sick unto death of the sometimes dark and violent horror of the city, but the shamefaced truth of the matter is that I got excited the other night over seeing a movie actress.

This is a stark and frightening statement, when you consider that in New York you comb movie actresses out of your hair, but perhaps I will be forgiven a little when I say that the actress was Garbo.

You see Garbo along the streets here from time to time, striding along and wearing those strange dunce-caps of hats with the floppy brims, and always she is the one you stop and watch.

Mayor O'Dwyer's car can whistle up Park avenue with the siren wide open, or General Bradley can step out of Twenty-One and virtually bump into you—but these you do not stop for, if you are a New Yorker and have the customary financial and career troubles plaguing your mind.

Garbo, you stop for. You watch her come across your vision and then disappear from it and you say to yourself, why this is silly; she is a legend risen to a foolishly high stature because she dislikes newspaper photographs. But you watch her. You look at her drifting around a corner and you remember her Camille and the hundred other parts. Make no mistake. You think about Garbo. She is not a one to be dismissed.

SHE CAME INTO A PRESS PREVIEW

of a movie at the Museum of Modern Art in 53rd street the other night, just about the time when Cecil B. DeMille was standing up front explaining a little about the film.

DeMille was progressing nicely, receiving complete and pin-dropping attention from the hundreds of newspapermen present, when a side door in the rear opened to admit some late-comers.

Robert E. Sherwood, the playwright, came first, a king-size man, and those in the rear seats looked at him briefly and returned their attention to DeMille. After him came Garbo with a couple of companions and when she took her seat a couple of rows from the back, Cecil B. was lost.

She came in quietly and unobtrusively and sat down without the customary "Darling!" barrage with which movie actresses are honor bound to enter a public place, and she even slumped a little in her seat.

However, the sidelong glances and the twisted necks copped up like freshly-sown grass, and Mr. DeMille, although he probably couldn't see away to the back of the room to determine what was up, sensed that he was losing his audience a little and he sat down shortly thereafter.

Then the movie went on and the ladies and gentlemen devoted their attention to watching Victor Mature and Hedy LaMarr arrange for the death of 3,000 Philistines in between moments of passion on the desert sand. But every so often you would see a spectator, momentarily palled by the Art being unrolled before him, craning back once more to see Garbo.

THERE ARE PEOPLE WHO DO THIS

to their neighbors and no amount of searching in textbooks will tell you why. There was a tennis player named Welby VanHorn who would make the hair stand up on the back of your neck with his unconscious artistry on the court, and there was, of course, an actor named Barrymore.

You feel it when Ted Williams comes to the plate with the bases loaded, and you felt it a hundred years ago when Helen Morgan sat on a piano and somebody put a blue spotlight on her. You feel it when Greta Garbo comes into a dark movie house and sits down, and you feel it now, a couple of days later, as you remember.

And in Conclusion

With Ogden Nash, who lectured last week at the University of New Mexico, we agree: "Life would be filled with nonchalance and insouciance. If making a living were not such a nuisance."

VOICE TO BE LOUDER ON O'SEAS BROADCASTS

Washington (AFPS) — President Truman has signed legislation providing for a louder "Voice of America" on the foreign airways. The measure, recently signed by the President, contains an extra $11,500,000 for the State Department's "Voice" to help combat Russian jamming of overseas broadcasts.

State Department officials say Soviet static-makers are blotting out 75 per cent of the U.S. broadcasts to the Soviet Union.

With the additional funds appropriated by the President, the State Department expects to step up the number and strength of its transmissions in an effort to get U. S. news to the Russian people.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Soft organ music was played during the ceremony by Miss Alberta Curry.

Mrs. Fred Jacobs Reports On Scout National Meet

The highlight of the Girl Scout board meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bunch, was a report given by Mrs. Fred Jacobs of her recent trip to Milwaukee to the national Girl Scout convention.

Mrs. Jacobs met and received the autograph of the first registered Girl Scout, Mrs. Daisy Gordon Laurence of Charleston, W. Va., who was enrolled in 1912. She also heard Margaret Culklin Banning, well-known author, speak at the final pageant and Mrs. Frank B. Gilbreth, famous mother in "Cheaper by the Dozen." Both of these prominent women are doing outstanding work in the Girl Scout organization.

At the convention, Mrs. Banning said, "I think of Girl Scouts as an organization which more than any other is going to make the women of this country what they should and must be if the country is going to continue to exist as a democracy."

Mrs. Jacobs is the local and regional Juliette Low chairman and attended the convention with five others from New Mexico. There were between 6000 and 7000 people there representing all 48 states and Hawaii. Mrs. Jacobs reported a large increase in the Juliette Low donations and said the Juliette Low international project for the coming year is to send school supplies overseas. The Girl Scouts all over America are to make school bags and fill them with such supplies as writing pads, notebooks, pencils, erasers, crayons, chalk, blotters and powdered ink, hair-ribbons, mittens and scarfs.

During the business session of the board, meeting plans were discussed for the January association meeting. The group voted thanks to women who worked on the recent Community Chest drive.

After the play period, Judy Ann Adkins served candy and bubblegum. The troop welcomed a new member, Delma Grimlan.

best known athlete in this country "Having the ability to play football is your greatest asset, and constant practice on your faults in various phases of the game will make you a polished player," Jim advised his son. "Also learn to like everything about the game."
The famous Indian believes that deception is the best factor in running, and thus young Thorpe devotes a lot of time to improving his running game with the hopes of someday being an All-American. He has little hope of ever near-events, plus the added honors of winning the pentathlon crown in the 1912 games. He is the only athlete to gain both titles in one year.

After returning from the Olympics, the elder Thorpe played professional football with the Canton Bulldogs and then turned to pro baseball, playing in the outfield for the New York Giants for seven years. This past summer the grand old man operated a professional girls' softball team in Los Angeles.
Son Carl just hopes he can justify the old adage... "like father, like son."
So when the grid season ends, Carl will hastily change from pads to shorts and join the Signaleers' basketball team, as they try to duplicate the gridders in winning the 1st Army Championship.

Dwarf Fruit Trees Are Recommended

Home owners who have limited space for growing fruit in their back yards can now obtain standard fruit varieties on dwarf stock. L. C. Gibbs extension horticulturist, pointed out.
"Dwarf trees seldom reach a height of more than 12 or 15 feet and can be planted 15 feet apart," Gibbs said. "These advantages combined with early bearing, good yields and quality make them ideal for home use."
"Another advantage and probably the most important at that, is the fact that insects and diseases can be effectively controlled by using a five-gallon sprayer to apply insecticides and fungicides as necessary."

ANSWERS

1. The foil, epee, and saber are all fencing weapons.
2. Between 14 and 15 ounces.
3. Center, two ends, quarter back, halfback and fullback.
4. It is a score of two strokes less than par on any hole except a three-par hole.
5. They are the 11 players on a cricket team.

EXTRA! READ THE SPEECH BEFORE IT'S DELIVERED!

New York (APFS) — Newspapers strive to get the story on the street first, and news hawks are constantly trying to outsell each other — that's the game.

President Truman had hardly reached the heart of his speech at the United Nations ceremonies when a youthful news boy strolled casually through the crowd near the platform from which the President was speaking and began shouting: "Extra! Extra! Get your paper here. Read President Truman's speech!"

Secret Service men moved in, and the lad was soon out of business.

Truth Inspires New Film Story

In "Come to the Stable," the new picture coming to the Land-sun Theater Sunday through Tuesday, Darryl F. Zanuck, vice president in charge of production at Twentieth Century-Fox, found the ideal property for the brilliant talents of Clare Boothe Luce and forthwith commissioned her to write the original story from which a tender, heart-warming motion picture has emerged. The story stemmed from an original idea which the noted authoress had brought to the attention of Zanuck.

The task of producing and directing "Come to the Stable" was given to Samuel G. Engel and Henry Koster, respectively, while the screen play was prepared by leading Hollywood scenarists Oscar Millard and Sally Benson. The dual starring roles were assigned to Loretta Young and Celeste Holm, both recipients of coveted Academy Awards.

That briefly is the story of the technical phase of this auspicious film. But there is another phase of "Come to the Stable," a phase that deserves to be told because it provides an inspiring spiritual background for Mrs. Luce's original story.

If it is next to impossible to separate truth from fiction in "Come to the Stable" it is because fact and fancy are equal contenders for top honors in drama, human interest and emotional impact. Here is a motion picture that tells a simple story of faith—a faith that had its beginning in a small French town and today is actually being borne out on a tiny hillside in Connecticut.

The film centers about the sometimes humorous, sometimes pathetic problems that confront two penniless French nuns—played by Miss Young and Miss Holm—who come to America with only a prayer and a promise to build a hospital for children in this country.

And while motion picture audiences throughout the nation will see the two stars experiencing almost insuperable obstacles on the screen, high up in the hills of Litchfield County in Connecticut can be found the Regina Laudis Monastery, a monument to the efforts and faith of two real-life Sisters, Mother Benedict Duss and Donna Mary Aline Trilles de Warren.

Three years ago another Benedict and Donna Mary Aline arrived in New York with $20 and the determination to fulfill a wartime vow to build an abbey in America. It was a vow made when the victorious troops of General Eisenhower liberated them from the Germans at the Abbey of Notre Dame de Juarre in the diocese of Mieux, France, where they were serving. The story of their untiring efforts to secure funds and land for the monastery is a stirring true-life drama.

From this rich source material Mrs. Luce drew the inspiration for an original story that is both a tribute and a reiteration of the work and love that went into the establishment of the Connecticut order. Twentieth Century-Fox has surrounded her story with the dignity it deserves and the charm it holds.

Many People Are Surprised at the Great Improvement and Relief Gained by Drinking

Pure Distilled DRINKING WATER

Nelson Food Store

YOU see it quick-stepping along the highway—and you can't miss the parallel.

You glimpse a bold front end—sleek tapering fenders—flaring, streamlined roof lines—even to "double bubble" taillights, here is the look of "the fastest thing that flies."

Then you try one on the road, courtesy of your Buick dealer.

Adjectives flock into mind—"agile"—"nimble"—"eager."

You realize that here is action, swift and easy—action born of Fireball valve-in-head straight-eight power—action floated on soft coil springs that, for all their lightness, keep your grip on the road sure-footed and firm.

This you tell yourself, is traveling as traveling should be.

Comfortable—in the spacious manner of king-size interiors. Easy—in the lightness of controls, which can include even the magic of Dynaflo

TEN-STRIKE!
Only Buick SPECIAL has all these Features!

TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE • MORE ROOM FOR THE MONEY • DYNAFLO DRIVE optional at extra cost • JET-LINE STYLING • NON-LOCKING BUMPER-GUARD GRILLES • HIGH-PRESSURE FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE • COIL SPRINGING ALL AROUND • LOW-PRESSURE TIRES ON SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • GREATER VISIBILITY FORE AND AFT • SELF-LOCKING LUGGAGE LIDS • STEADY-RIDING TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE • THREE SMART MODELS WITH BODY BY FISHER

And we might add another thing, just by way of being practical.

It's frugal too. Frugal in a first cost that's actually less than for some sixes. Frugal in the surprising way such a sizable car gives the go-by to gas pumps.

And if you have Dynaflo, frugal even in many upkeep costs you can forget about—such as clutch troubles, transmission maintenance, even many engine servicing costs.

Why not put yourself into one of these jet-lined beauties right now? It's more easily managed than you might imagine—as you'll see by talking to your Buick dealer.

*Optional at extra cost.
