made to obtain current information between censuses will of necessity use the last census as a point of reference. To anticipate the future, it is necessary to know the past.

Users of statistics know that they must be accurate and cover the subject thoroughly. It is incumbent upon every individual to do his part to attain such a goal, Mrs. Hardin said.

On the other hand, the city, in exchange of the services rendered, would reserve the right to use the rural truck and equipment in the city if it were ever needed and not on rural call.

The council decided to purchase steel stands for the city ball park on North 13th Street, with a seating capacity of 3200 persons.

It is proposed to erect them in three sections, one each of 90 feet, with aisles, outside the first and third-base lines on the west and North sides of the ball diamond, and a 60-foot section behind the home plate, set diagonally.

Final action on bids, which were received March 22, was taken by the council for the purchase of supplies and equipment.

All of the home "B" and junior games will be played on Saturday nights.

The varsity games, after the first two, which will be on Saturdays, will be played on Fridays, for the most part. However, Eunice is to play here Thursday, Nov. 9, instead of Nov. 10, because of the opening of the big-game season on Nov. 10. Likewise the Turkey Day game at Hobbs will be on Thursday, as is customary.

The Bulldogs will go into the tough 1950 season with a record for 1949 of six games won, four lost, and one tied, and with fans believing in retrospect that all of them might have been or should have been won.

Two new names appear on the schedule this season, St. Mary's of Albuquerque and Thomas Jefferson of El Paso, both of which are expected to be formidable opponents. On the other hand, Clovis has been dropped. All other schools met by the Bulldogs last season are scheduled again for next fall.

The varsity schedule: Sept. 9, at Jal; Sept. 16, Tucumcari here; Sept. 22, Roswell here; Sept. 29, at Lovington; Oct. 6, New Mexico Military Institute of Roswell here; Oct. 13, Alamo here.

Oct. 20, at Las Cruces; Oct. 26, St. Mary's of Albuquerque here; Nov. 3, Thomas Jefferson, El Paso here; Nov. 9, Eunice here; Nov. 17, at Carlsbad; Nov. 23, at Hobbs.

The "B" squad schedule: Sept. 16, Hobbs here (double-header); Sept. 23, at Carlsbad; Sept. 30, Roswell here (double-header); Oct. 7, pending; Oct. 14, Ruidoso "A" team here; Oct. 21, pending; Nov. 4, New Mexico Military Institute here; Nov. 11, open for deer season; Nov. 17, at Roswell.

Schedule for Junior High School: Sept. 16, Roswell here (double-header); Sept. 23, Eisenhower of Carlsbad here; Sept. 30, Lovington here (double-header); Oct. 7, pending; Oct. 14, Alta Vista at Carlsbad; Oct. 21, Hobbs here; Oct. 23, open; Nov. 3, at Roswell.

From our observation, the majority place their arches on the pedals, instead of the balls of their feet, cutting down their control to a great extent, as well as causing them to use much more energy in either pedaling or braking.
It's none of our business how they do it, but it looks so clumsy and is far from as safe as the correct way. —A.L.B.

Discussions And Talks Mark Meet Of Study Group

Several interesting discussions and talks were given by members of the study group of the Artesia Woman's Club at a meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Carl Lewis.

A quiz, "Who Said This?" based on current topics was given by Mrs. John Rowland, chairman, who also gave an article relating to the great number of psychopathic and criminally insane persons at large in the United States and what measures should be taken to safeguard the people against them.

Mrs. T. L. Arched presented the club with a report on a new scientific machine that prints with light impulse, which has been invented, that may well revolutionize the printing industry. She also informed the club members about an electronic tonic talking light, a device used at Syracuse, N. Y., as a safety measure at all uptown street intersections, which is attached to the traffic lights to give orders and warning at all hours to the public.

Mrs. E. M. Perry spoke on educational views of Dr. Lucinda Templeton, principal of Radford School for Girls, El Paso. She stressed the point that parents need to co-operate more with the schools in the spiritual value and character building as this is the primary responsibility of the homes. She claimed parents today are more or less shirking their duty in this respect.
It was reported that 200 military personnel of the United States have volunteered to teach the English conversation this semester in the Japanese schools of the Tokyo area.

Of interest to the study group was the fact that Mrs. D. J. Wolfer, the former Lucille Rowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rowland, is one of this teaching group at Tokyo.

Mrs. C. R. Blocker gave up-to-the-minute news and views of the United Nations.

The hostess served doughnuts and coffee to Mmes. Fred Cole, David Saikin, E. M. Perry, C. R. Blocker, T. L. Archer, and John Rowland, members, and Mrs. Walter Archer of Oklahoma City and Miss Hattye Ruth Cole, guests.

The next meeting will be Wednesday, April 12, at the home of Mrs. Robert Parks.

Stookey, Eastern New Mexico University; a Mr. Kunkel, University of New Mexico; Jane Tweed Bell, Mosquero; Lee Dansfeler, Albuquerque; and Gilliam Buchanan, Eastern New Mexico University, president of the Music Educators National Conference, Southwest Division.

The general theme was "Music Education and Society." Themes and topics discussed throughout the week included "Education and Life," "Education and Peace," "The Challenge to Music Education," "Audio-Visual Aids in Music Education," "Music Education as a Profession," and "Music for Everybody."

Some of the highlights of entertainment were a Sunday morning breakfast honoring past presidents of the association, a pageant, "Man's Search for God," an opera in the making, "Little Chimney Sweep," and many musical programs and concerts, including a presentation of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

Tennis Tourney At Institute Is Won By Bulldogs

First place in the singles and second in the doubles were taken by the Bulldog net team Saturday at New Mexico Military Institute, Roswell, to win an invitational tourney.

In the singles, Jody Williams won the division by defeating an Institute player 6-0, 6-0; Jim Dodson of Carlsbad 6-1, 6-1 and John Blasler of Institute 6-2, 6-4.

Charles Gibson of Artesia dropped out of singles play in his opening set, when Blasler of Institute defeated him 6-2, 2-6, 6-3.

Coach Howard O. Miller's Bulldog tennis player will meet Roswell here Saturday and will play the Carlsbad Cavemen, whom they have defeated twice this season, again on Saturday, April 8.

The Artesia team will play in the Carlsbad Caverns Relays at Carlsbad Saturday, April 22 and in the tennis tournament here Saturday, April 29, in conjunction with the annual District 5 track and field meet.

D.A.R. President

Mrs. Estella O'Byrne, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, is stressing national defense in her general tour to state conferences which is in progress, it was announced by Mrs. Harold Kersey, regent of the Artesia chapter of the D.A.R.

Mrs. O'Byrne is pointing out that because of the atom bomb and the super-deadly H-bomb the entire problem of defense has radically changed.

In her address to the state conferences Mrs. O'Byrne said that preparedness can no longer be measured in terms of the Army, Navy and Air Force. She warns that "concern over the safety of our country is increasing with terrifying swiftness and the whole question of national security assumes grave importance."

The president general was quoted by Mrs. Kersey as declaring development of the hydrogen bomb is necessary for the protection of this country. She said:

"The atom bomb and the almost fantastic fury of the soon to be produced hydrogen bomb bring a shudder to all peace-loving citizens. I believe, however, that the expose of Communistic spies who have boldly carried on their operations in our very midst, removes any doubts we may have had over the decision to go ahead with the research work to manufacture the H-bomb.

"America's security cannot be maintained in the world today by pacific means. The warning in a scrap of paper, we well know, does not carry the same weight as a warning wrapped up in the atomic missile. We cannot risk the possibility, or I might say the probability, that another nation will master this secret first and while we are unprepared, use it against us."

Mrs. O'Byrne praised the progress of the fight waged by the D.A.R. against world government propaganda. World government will not bring world peace and the tide is now turning against the proposal she said, citing the action of the Georgia Legislature in repealing its endorsement of the plan.

Earnest appeals are being made by the president general at all conferences visited for support for the building fund. Mrs. Kersey said, is asking chapter and state organizations to ask their state organizations their quotas.

Program, 'Christian Brotherhood Hour,' To Be Aired Here

Artesia and the Pecos Valley will have the privilege of hearing the international radio program, "Christian Brotherhood Hour," for the first time at 8 o'clock Sunday morning over radio station KSVP. The program is produced and transcribed by the Church of God, with general offices in Anderson, Ind., and is being aired over approximately 150 stations representing all major network outlets. It is widely recognized by thousands of all religious faiths because of its excellent, well-balanced content, and it has been approved by station management and personnel the nation over.

As the Church of God with general offices in Anderson, producer of the program, has no local church affiliate in this area, the program locally is being sponsored by several individuals who have been associated with affiliated churches in other cities.

Easter Cantata Is To Be Presented By Methodist Choir

Annual Ag. Labor, Industry Forum Is Opened Today

An important milestone in community co-operation and understanding between its most important economic groups was reached this morning with the opening of the second annual forum on agriculture, labor and industry in Carlsbad.

A delegation from Artesia is to leave for the forum after the monthly Chamber of Commerce meeting here this noon.

Meetings for the forum, which are being conducted for two days in the Elk auditorium, are open to the general public free of charge and are being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce under the direction of its committee on education. Every resident and business man of the Eddy County area who is free today and Saturday is urged to attend any or all of the sessions.

Nationally prominent speakers from all over the United States in the fields of labor, agriculture and industrial management are scheduled to discuss the theme of the forum on how these three important segments of the American economy can co-operate together in improving American life.

Among them are CIO President Allan Haywood of Washington, D. C.; Harry E. Terrell, vice chairman of the National Farm Institute, Des Moines, Iowa; and Herman W. Steinkraus of Bridgeport, Conn., president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

So significant is the event that publicity about the speakers and their discussions is going out to many national publications in the fields of agriculture, labor and business. While similar forums have been held in large cities before on specialized topics, the Carlsbad forum is unique from the standpoint of the comprehensiveness of the subject matter, the national prominence of the speakers and the small size of the community in which it is being held. The success of the forum last year was an indication that the Elk Club auditorium would be filled to capacity for the sessions today and Saturday.

The second forum is a continued attempt to unify the co-operation of the leaders of the various segments of Eddy County's economy and through them the general improvement of the economic life of New Mexico and the nation. The forum is dedicated to the development of open and free discussion, but because no attempt was to be made to settle any community problems, no resolutions will be proposed. However, it was hoped by the sponsors that objective consideration and discussion of major problems standing in the way of improvement of our American way of life can contribute to better community understanding and help attain the ultimate goal of better community living.

Those at the opening session this morning were to hear an address of welcome by Mayor L. C. Garrett of Carlsbad.

Many out-of-town visitors and guests of the forum were expected to participate in a special sight-seeing trip this afternoon and also attend a giant barbecue at the Carlsbad Women's Club at 7 o'clock tonight, to which all participants are invited. A banquet Saturday evening at the Crawford Hotel will conclude the sessions.

Bacteriologist Is Speaker Thursday At Kiwanis Meet

Paul Frost, program chairman, introduced Ryan Pierson, senior bacteriologist of the State Health Department, as speaker on the Kiwanis Club program of last Thursday.

Pierson described the check-up procedure of the mobile laboratory which is now in Artesia. He is being assisted by Richard Swartz, Eddy County sanitarian, who was present at the meeting.

It was announced that six members of the Artesia club formed a visiting delegation to the Roswell club this week.

Mrs. Harry Nelson, Bob Koonce, newly appointed secretary of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce and Beryl Sears were also guests of the club.

Bethel Baptist Campaign Falls Third Short

During the financial campaign of the Bethel Baptist Church, Negro, which closed Sunday, net cash and pledge totaling $1883.63 were received, less than two-thirds of the $3000 asked for, with which to move the old First Presbyterian Church building to the Bethel property and to make necessary repairs and installations.

Rev. J. H. Horton, pastor, said the net cash of $958.38 and pledges of $925.25 probably will make it possible to move the church building, which the Presbyterians gave the Negro church, but will be insufficient to complete the program as planned.

In order to swell the fund, the church members will continue to sell and serve barbecue Friday noon through Saturday of each week at the church property at North Seventh and Church Streets.

The pastor said there will be no further solicitations by or for the Bethel Baptist Church, unless the public is notified to that effect through The Advocate.

He expressed the thanks of his congregation and himself to everyone who in any way helped the church in its financial campaign, both by donating and by supporting the barbecue sale.

Rev. Horton left Wednesday night for Albuquerque to attend a meeting of the executive board of a Baptist convention of which he is executive secretary.

was not regularly employed as such, Artesia taxi drivers said.

In a story in the Tuesday issue of Mitchell's arrest and arraignment, his occupation was given as it appears on the arrest sheet. Taxi drivers said he did drive a taxi one day as a substitute only.

The theme for the week's services will be "The Message of Christ for Today."

Rev. Ramsay, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Hagerman, was pastor of the Calvary Presbyterian Church at Staten Island, N. Y., 27 years.

Free Copies 'Mountains Of Moon,' Booklet On Africa, May Be Obtained

The so-called "dark continent" of Africa isn't dark—it's a colorful pageant of primitive natives, big game, names, and places, according to Commander Attilio Gatti, noted explorer who recently completed his 11th expedition to Africa.

Commander Gatti, author of a profusely illustrated 24-page booklet, to the "Mountains of the Moon," published and distributed by International Harvester Company, outlines the story of the preparation for his travels and the establishment of the expedition's eight main camps in British East Africa.

The booklet, to be distributed to schools, libraries and other interested groups, features eight pages of brilliant full-color photographs. Its text pages are liberally sprinkled with black and white pictures and a sketch map of the long journey.

The color illustrations, 16 in number, show native warriors, animals, African landscapes, and exotic birdlife. The black and white photographs show similar subjects plus scenes of camp life and procedure. The photographs are chosen from 10,000 taken during the course of the expedition.

Commander Gatti, who thought he'd seen Africa for the last time in 1940—and had written a book for the company entitled "Good-bye Forever to Africa"—tells of trying to settle down in his New England home and even going so far as to negotiate for an insurance policy of the endowment variety. Before he could convince the insurance people he was an explorer and therefore as good a risk as the next sedentary citizen, he found himself involved in preparations for the expedition to the "Mountains of the Moon."

The expedition, sponsored by the Hallcrafters Company and borne on eight International trucks over the "roads" (the quotes are Gatti's) and rough country of the African interior, established its first camp near Mombasa, on the Indian Ocean.

The shoulder of snow-peaked Mount Kilimanjaro, called the "roof of Africa," provided the site for another main camp. Other camps, at Bamboo Flats, Narwa, the "Mountains of the Moon," Nanga Point on Lake Victoria, Nakuru, and Nairobi, offered opportunity for study of African tribes and big game also for shortwave radio communication on a world-wide scale.

Like most purposeful adventuring on a large scale since long before the time of Columbus, the expedition was backed by commercial interests. American transport and communication facilities lent their assistance to the Gatti-Hallcrafters safari, and their products underwent severe tests in the extreme weather and terrain conditions offered in the wild heart of Africa.

The booklet provides an interesting and at times amusing summary of the problems and accomplishments of a first-line explorer. Free copies of this colorful booklet may be obtained by writing the International Harvester Company, Consumer Relations Department, 180 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago 1, Ill.

Car Condition

Spring means housecleaning time to the housewife, but to the man of the house it should mean a safety checkup of the family automobile.

The National Safety Council says that poor vehicle condition is one cause of traffic accidents that could be completely eliminated.

Vehicles in need of mechanical repair were involved in 13 per cent of all fatal accidents in 1948, the last year for which the Council has complete figures. This means that in about 3700 accidents killing one or more persons an unsafe vehicle was involved.

1 of 3 Need Repairs
Traffic experts estimate that about one out of every three cars on the highway today need repairs.

Brakes, lights and tires are the most important points for spring checkup. Brakes should take hold promptly and evenly, while the pedal is two or three inches above the floorboard. Lights should be aimed correctly, and tail and stop lights should be working and clear of mud.

Other safety check points are steering, windshield wipers, horn, window glass and muffler.

Your State Government
By Thomas J. Mabry
GOVERNOR

"It costs to have all the good things that government can bestow. Don't kick on taxes you have to pay and still contend for more government paternalism." — Ed Dalton.

An interested taxpayer has written complimenting us on the savings we have shown at the end of each fiscal year since I have been governor, and wants to know how this is accumulated.

The Bureau of Revenue collects the school tax, the luxury tax, the gasoline tax and several other excise taxes. Each of these various taxes is earmarked for a specific purpose. All by 5 per cent of the school tax, for instance, goes for public school purposes. As collections from the school tax have increased, the needs of our public schools have also increased and most of the money has been used for school purposes as is has been received.

Teachers' salaries, for example, have gone up more than double within the last few years, and more teachers have been employed because of our growing population. It would not have been possible for the state to raise these salaries or to hire additional teachers if school tax collections had not also gone up.

The luxury tax and the liquor tax are earmarked for the benefit of the needy aged, dependent children and the blind. The total receipts from these taxes have increased materially during the last few years, but even with increased receipts, the state is not able to pay the needy aged anywhere near the amount needed to maintain a decent standard of living.

The only way the state could build up a greater reserve in the treasury, from the increase in the various excise tax collections, would be for the demand for services, which are financed by these collections, to decrease. Since by far the major portion of this money goes to support our public schools, our educational institutions, our highways and the needy aged, there does not seem to be much possibility that the demand will lessen.

The Bureau of Revenue is permitted under the law to retain a certain percentage of each tax for administrative purposes. As examples, the department can keep 5 per cent of the school tax, 3 per cent of the liquor tax, 7 per cent of the liquor tax, etc., for administrative purposes. There has been a saving made in these administrative funds and a large portion of them have been turned back to the general fund each year. For example, we have used only about 2 per cent (instead of the 5 per cent allowed by law) from the sales tax collections. At the close of the last fiscal year, as an example, there was (from savings from the amount allowed by law for the bureau to spend in administration) a balance of more than $900,000, and this was transferred to the State General Fund. It is primarily from these savings in our departments that the nice balances in the general fund have been accumulated.

I am gratified that our institutions and state agencies are all operating in the black, some of them, in addition to the Bureau of Revenue, having surpluses at the end of the last fiscal year.

The constant aim is to economize wherever possible so that at the end of the present year, and my term as governor, we will have substantial unspent surpluses to turn back to the general fund to ease the tax burden.

AN INDEBTEDNESS ON BEHALF OF THE CITY, AND UPON THE CREDIT THEREOF, BY ISSUING THE NEGOTIABLE COUPON BONDS OF THE CITY IN A SUM NOT EXCEEDING $150,000.00, FOR THE PURPOSE OF SECURING FUNDS FOR THE CONSTRUCTION, ENLARGEMENT, IMPROVEMENT AND EXTENSION OF A SEWER SYSTEM."

Ballots to be used in voting on the question submitted shall be prepared and furnished by the City Clerk to the Judges of Election, to be by them furnished to the voters; and ballots on the question submitted shall be deposited in separate ballot boxes to be provided by the City Clerk for such purpose. The election shall be held and conducted and the returns thereof shall be returned, canvassed and declared as nearly as may be in the manner prescribed by law for the election of municipal officers.

The Judges and Clerks selected to conduct such general municipal election shall conduct such bond election.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the City Council of the City of Artesia, New Mexico has caused this Notice to be given this 8th day of March, A.D., 1950.

Exotic Soup the Cubans Like

By ALICE DENHOFF

OUR canned soups are wonderful, but even as good as they are, once in a while there is the urge to experiment with something different, something new, something with another flavor.

Favorite Soup

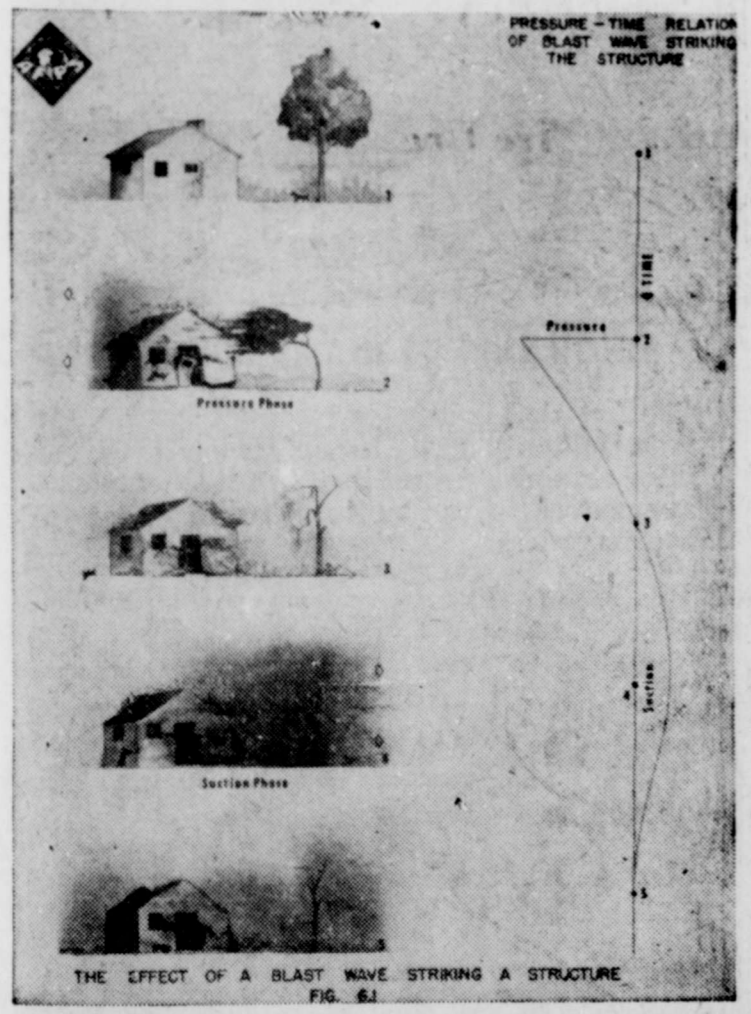

While in Havana we enjoyed a favorite soup, one that is frequently served at home and at good restaurants. Cover bottom of a large soup tureen with thin slices of freshly-toasted bread. Over the toast spread a thin layer of finely chopped onions mixed with tsp. grated parsley. Sprinkle a layer of grated cheese over the onions. Have enough stock heating to fill tureen to the brim, add a few spoonfuls of it to 1/2 c. toasted and ground almonds or filberts; mix to a paste.

When stock boils, add paste and stir until well blended. Drop in a few tiny sticks of cinnamon, and pour over contents of tureen. A nice dish when you want to serve something different and exotic, yet not expensive!

A green soup, another Cuban specialty, is an excellent choice for early Spring. Grind together 2 leeks, 2 green onions, one head lettuce and 2 parsley sprigs. Fry in tbsp. lard until soft, then pour over one qt. boiling water. Season to taste; let simmer for 30 min. Then pour in 2 beaten egg yolks; remove from heat. Serve with small thin squares of bread freshly fried in fat.

A-Bomb's Effect on House

THESE ILLUSTRATIONS, taken from a Government report on possible damage from atomic explosion show what would happen to a small house in the path of an atomic blast. Top (1) is house before blast, with leafy tree and dog in yard. Pressure from onrushing blast (2) whips tree, tosses dog, bends door and corner of house. Pressure has passed (3), denuded tree is upright, structure is temporarily still. Then comes the suction phase (4), when air rushes to fill partial vacuum. Tree is shredded, roof is ripped, and dog is flying against wall. Air is still again (5), and only wreckage remains. Diagram at right shows time relation to blast.

GUNS FOR FUN

Guns for Fun will answer any reasonable questions on spotting or target arms, including cap and ball and muzzle loaders. Address your questions to S-Sgt. A. Gonyea, 393rd Bomb Sq., Box 155.

Not too long ago, a friend of mine brought me a rifle which had a cartridge jammed in the chamber. The rifle was chambered for the .303 Savage cartridge and this friend of mine had tried to chamber a .303 British cartridge in it.

It seems that someone had told him that these two cartridges were exactly alike, so he commenced to ram it home with the bolt of the rifle. Believe me, it took all the skill I could muster to remove that .303 British cartridge and keep from damaging the bore or chamber.

Some people find it easy to acquire safety with firearms and others have to learn the hard way as my friend above. Still others and these you read about every day, never learn. Those who know and practice firearm safety do not need me to tell them of the things that can happen when you become careless with guns.

If those who do not know firearm safety would listen to people who try to teach them, they would probably save themselves an eye or a hand or save another life. Those who never learn, I have little hope for converting, but I keep trying.

Guns are dangerous! Remember that and you will never shoot anyone accidentally. Treat every gun as if it were loaded whether you know it is or not. Open the breech of a gun that is handled to you or that you pick up to examine. Satisfy yourself that there are no cartridges in the magazine and thoroughly examine the chamber, first by inserting your finger into the chamber and then by looking directly into it. Make this a habit and I can assure you that you will live longer.

Never hand another a loaded gun unless you are sure that he understands it is loaded. When I hand a man a loaded gun, it is always with the breech open so that he cannot miss seeing it is loaded. Never point a gun at another person in jest and never let anyone else point a gun in jest. The business end of a gun always gives me the jitters even when I know it's empty.

Before you prepare to shoot your gun, always wipe the bore and chamber with a clean patch. Accumulated oil or grease in the chamber can create excessive chamber pressures and may blow the bolt back into your face. Don't try to jam a cartridge into the chamber if it doesn't want to go. Even if it is the right cartridge for the gun.

This is a good sign that something is wrong and a thorough examination of the piece will probably produce a split case or lodged cleaning patch or brush or several other mishaps.

Bullets sometimes are not seated properly in the case and cause a partial powder combustion without sufficient force to expell the bullet from the barrel. If this occurs to you, don't try to shoot the stuck bullet from the barrel with another cartridge. This may cost you your life or the life of one of your friends. A competent gunsmith can remove the stuck bullet without hurting the bore and such an operation is not costly.

A new gun is usually covered with heavy oil or grease. It is good practice to completely strip the gun $30,000 BABIES!

Keep your baby chinchillas warm—and they'll grow up and keep you warm in $30,000 fashion! These expensive little rodents must be pampered while they are babies. Temperature in their cages must be controlled within a few degrees if the tiny animals are to grow up into $30,000 fur coats. A new type of heating system made of cotton and rubber is used in this chinchilla home. Called Uskon, the radiant heating system provides uniform temperature with panels of cotton fabric and conductive rubber.

SPORT

Atlanta, Ga. (APPS)—Whitlow Wyatt, one of Brooklyn's top pitchers for several seasons, has signed a contract as coach for Atlanta's Southern Association baseball team.

Chicago (APPS)—The Cubs, National League cellar dwellers for the past two years, reached into the Dodgers' baseball ball-wick and lured away Branch Rickey's veteran trouble shooter, Wid Matthews. The 53-year-old general factotum for the Brooklyn hierarchy was named director of player personnel for the Chicago club. Matthews will get $20,000 in succeeding Charlie Grimm, who resigned to manage Dallas in the Texas League.

Lites & Mikes

By Armed Forces Press Service OF PICTURES YET UNBORN

During the war Ernest K. Gann was an Air Transport Command pilot. In 1944 his novel "Island In The Sky" was published. Now United Artists will film it. The novel deals with an aerial search for an ATC plane forced down in northern Quebec. It's based on an actual incident. . . "Breakthrough" an original war story, is to be produced at Warners. It begins with the Normandy beachhead landings and continues until the St. Lo breakthrough. Joe Breen, Jr., and Bernard Gerard wrote the yarn. Breen was an Army captain, fought in Europe and was wounded four times. . . John Garfield will star in an adventure drama for Warners. The story, "The Breaking Point," will have a Coast Guard background. The USCG has offered to lend full co-operation in the filming.

ABOUT A FEMME'S FEET . . . The photogenic qualities of a lady's toes have been overlooked for too long. With this debatable observation, Warner Bros. photog Sid Hickox focused his camera on Ruth Roman's toes. It's for a scene in "Lightning Strikes Twice."

Any of you birds ever pull a tooth?

There'll be action, alright, for Miss Roman wiggles and twists her tootsies. Hickox said he thought Miss Roman's toes were just about the "cutest" he'd seen. Miss Roman wasn't impressed.

That man Arthur Godfrey has been

The former features a musical Mr. and Mrs. act—with Godfrey swapping some wry comments with Miss Martin. Ditto for "I Love You." . . . Maude Adams, still going strong at 77, has written a full

Make the Most of Leftovers

By ALICE DENSMOFF

WE all like magician's tricks! Take, for instance, that clever one of changing left over baked ham into a juicy ham loaf. Or, cleverer still, making a luscious "ham loaf" when there isn't any ham in the house at all.

Here is a good recipe that requires but a slight variation if canned ham is used in place of ground left-over ham. Mix together 2 c. ground left-over ham, one c. rolled oats, 1/2 c. undrained tomato soup, 2 beaten eggs, 1/2 tsp. allspice, 1/4 c. each finely chopped parsley and finely-chopped green pepper and 1/2 tsp. finely-minced onion. Pack into lightly greased loaf pan. Bake in 325 F. oven for an hour. Let stand 5 min. before removing from pan. Serve with a garnish of sweet pickles in lettuce cups. If loaf is to be made with canned luncheon meat, use 2 cans of meat and only one egg. Reduce liquid to 1/2 c.

Time and Effort

What would we do without ground meat to help get the most out of time, effort, and, table money? Instead of making it into a loaf, make a family-sized meat patty baked in mushroom soup. To serve 4, dilute one can mushroom soup with 1/2 c. water blending until smooth. Combine one lb. ground beef with 1/2 c. fine bread crumbs, one beaten egg, 1/2 c. of the soup, tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 2 tbsp. minced onion and 1/2 c. chopped celery. Shape into a large, round patty about one inch thick; brown in skillet in hot fat. Carefully turn and brown the other side. Cover with remaining mushroom soup; cook on top of stove at a simmering temperature for 25 min.

If the recipe is doubled, shape into 2 large patties, brown separately in skillet and transfer to oblong baking dish. Pour soup over meat; bake at 350 F. for 25 min.

No matter how good a left-over dish or meat loaf may be, the skill is always for something special in the line of dessert.

Fruit cream pie is a dessert treat. Make the filling from 2 packages vanilla pudding mix, making the mixture stiffer by using 1 1/2 c. of milk to each package. Cut up some drained canned peaches; add to cooled filling. Stir to blend, then turn into baked pastry shell. Arrange slices of drained canned or frozen peaches alternately with drained canned or frozen sweet cherries.

For you youngsters, Miss Adams was the enigmatic Broadway leading lady of 40 years ago. . . The two and a half hour show originates in Chicago and New York. Wrote one critic (John Crosby of

It Is Your Duty To Vote In Tuesday's City Election

How you vote is your own business, but every patriotic American should cast his ballot on election day. It is a privilege men are fighting and dying for throughout the world, yet we have it in America and many of us fail to use this precious heritage.

We believe the candidates who have agreed to let their names appear on the ballot, at our solicitation, deserve re-election. They have given us good government for the past two years. Some of them have done it at a sacrifice to their own business and financial affairs, yet day after day, week after week they have given freely of their time to wrestle with the affairs of this growing city. Yes, they have made some mistakes, but on the whole, few cities have had such able officials as Artesia.

We sincerely urge you to cast your ballot next Tuesday and to give careful consideration to the following candidates:

'Spelin' And Ritin' Maybe Ain't So Necesserie,' Declares Tom Payne

(Spelin' and Ritin' Maybe Ain't so Necesserie' is the title of an article in The American Press about Tom Payne, a "Kintucky correspondent," by Clayton Roland, which is reprinted here in full).

Modern journalistic practices may be the key to success for many writers, but Tom Payne, Nicholas county farmer and rural news correspondent, has his own formula for writing success. He writes a top-notch batch of reader-interest prose each week for The Nicholas County Star and Paris Kentuckian-Citizen, the newest and oldest weekly newspapers respectively in the commonwealth of Kentucky.

The little "gems" of life are often overlooked by the average correspondent but Tom Payne has time to deal with all his surroundings: athletic events, social gatherings, vital statistics, governmental services or lack of such services to the community. Even the community's pet animals come in for their full share of publicity.

The writer's spelling and grammar give color to his day-by-day accounts of the life of himself and neighbors at Pleasant Valley. Neighbors' sorrows and joys and the achievements of their children, lead the regular readers of his column to know all the families in the Nicholas county community. Tom has a flair for truthfulness. He ends each item with his word that this is known by him to be true. Otherwise, he'll write "I don't know whar that is true or not."

Because of the clever handling of the news excerpts from Tom's weekly columns have appeared in The New Yorker Magazine and a full-length feature written by Tom was given in the annual bluegrass edition of The Lexington Herald-Leader. He also gets frequent mention by Joe Jordan, writer of "Four Bits" in The Lexington Leader.

Tom follows up a news item from week to week until all possibilities of a news story have been exhausted. In this manner, he gives the readers a continuous account of the happenings much in the manner of a serialized fiction story.

"Ardley Earlywine who is living across Fleming Creek on the south-east side went to the old wooden swing foot bridge and started across and the plank broke and he fell in the creek and say that he is hurt very bad. They say that some boys was huntin' meners to go afishing and seen him fall. If hadent seen him he would drowed. (June 19). Tom Payne went from the north side of the Fleming Creek to the southeast side to see Ardley Earlywine who fell through the old wooden bridge who was hurt very bad. (June 26).

"Ardley Earlywine who lives on the southside of Fleming Creek the one that fell throw the old wooden foot bridge and like got killed was able to come over Fleming Creek to the northside and went with his wife milking. (July 10).
"Ardley Earlywine went to Paris, Kentucky to the docker. He made the treape all in one day." (July 19)

As indicated in the Earlywine stories, Tom describes directions carefully and, as if by instinct, he attempts to verify all stories. He always begins his weekly column with "Tom Payne is the correspondent" and in addition to the usual "that is true," he sometimes goes to greater lengths of explanation:

"Mrs. Elizabeth Wilcoxon told Tom Payne that them chickens that hatched up in a tree had raised them to be fryers size and there dog killed them all and killed the old hen to and then they killed the dog. I guess that is true for she dont lie."

In selecting some of the best items from the Pleasant Valley column over the past few weeks, we come up with the following grouped by subjects:

"Joe Hughes said he was fishing for big fish and he caught a muserat. I dont know whar that is true or not.

"Paris base ball teame came to Pleasant Valley resnet and played and Pleasant Valley beate them by the score of 6-5.

"Sharpsburg went to Morehead to play basket ball and they got beate but I didn't learne the score.

"Wofe county 2 teame played Sharpsburg 2 teame beate Wofe co. by the score of 23 to 12 and Wofe co 1 teame and Sharpsburg played and it was a good game all the way thro. Sharpsburg got beate by the score of 39-38. At the first quarter Sharpsburg was 10-5 and at hafe Sharpsburg was 17-9 and at the 3 qarter Sharpsburg was 26-23 and the end Sharpsburg got beate 39-38.

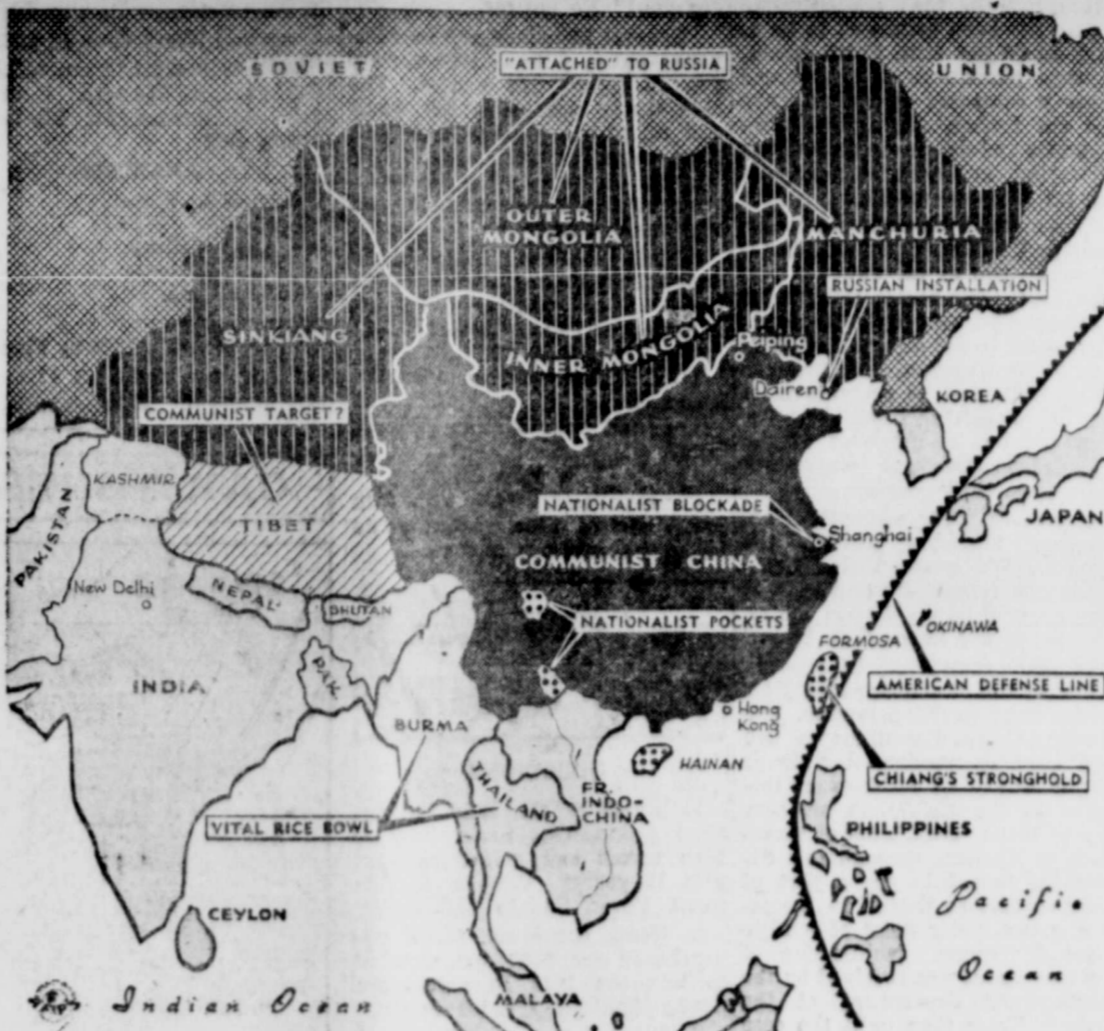

"Mrs. Ruth she married a man by the name of Jimie, I forgot his right name. His wife was Ruth Alexander before she got married. She was a sister of Miss Almer Alexander.

"Nathan Young, Jr. is looking for a sweet hart. It looks like he could find one, a nice looking young man he is. Tom Payne said he would help him out if he could. There are not momey young ladys in Pleasant Valley.

"Tom Payne understand that Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wilcoxon of Pleasant Valley has become mother and father.

"All the peple that is living on the south east side that would haft to cross the old wooden foot bridge, not cross the bridge go a round. It will get hurt. It is almost down. That is true.

"They say there will have some telphons around the naberhood and that is sompon we need.

"Mr. and Mrs. Tommie Whitley was down to Judge Ross store at Hooktown resnet, all so the electer lights men must have blowed up. They come and dug holes several days ago and left them just like they found them. I guess they will complet it when the sperts move them.

"I guess Dog Walk will soon have electure light. They have unloade the poles. But that is no sine of a duck nest to see fethers."

Tom's column doesn't go unnoticed when he mentions the condition of the county bridge for he later reported:

"Well the County finley came out and fixed those bad bridges and now it is better and they fixed some of the chuge holes in the road."

In describing the Fall Festival at Paris in neighboring Bourbon County, he wrote:

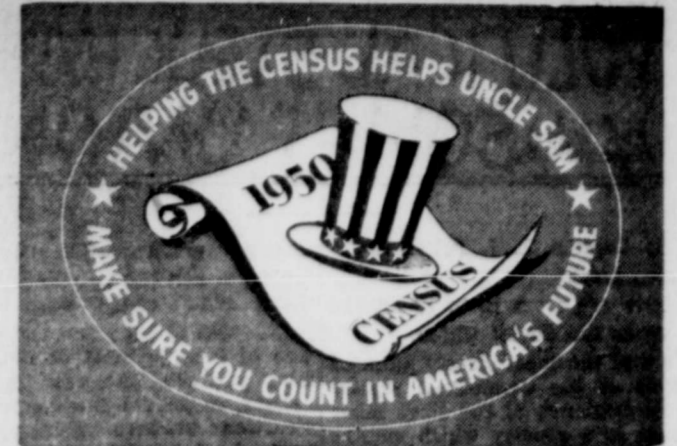

"Tom Payne had the gratest of plaser in meetin Miss Bobley Taylor. She was ofel pretty, read dress on and she shure did look hansom and I sure did preache in meeten her. Hope to see her againe and all so had the gratest of plaser in meeten Miss Lucey Henren and all so had the plasher meeten C. C. Cannon and all so Virgie Florence. They all was at Clayton Cannon booes but the young lady with the read dress on was the quinne there. That is all true."

In addition to gathering material and writing his weekly news, Tom keeps himself busy by farming and selling bean poles to gardeners in Pleasant Valley and surrounding communities.

POLITICAL STRUCTURE of the SOVIET UNION

By Captain E. J. Pokropus.
Forced Labor

There are from 10 to 18 million slaves in the Soviet Union.

One of the most closely guarded secrets of the Communist regime is the existence of the slave labor camps. In a country which mouths the superiority of the worker and calls the United States a capitalist exploiter of labor, the human being is regarded only as a source of productive capacity for the benefit of the state. And we must remember that in Russia the state is run not for the benefit of the general citizen, but only for the benefit of the Communist Party.

The first taste the Bolsheviks got of the cheapness and ease of acquisition of slaves was the elimination of the kulaks, the independent farmers of Russia. Here was a large group of workers due for liquidation; someone in the NKVD got the bright idea of killing them through work instead of just shooting them and the so-called "educational labor" camps were born.

This was in 1923 and the possession of a large mass of untrained labor produced the need for technicians, engineers and trained construction workers. This problem was solved by the simple method of accusing a sufficient number of skilled personnel of various crimes against the state and putting them to work.

Through the 1930's the labor camp grew larger and were firmly established in the economy of the Soviet Union. Political offenders, kulaks, non-conforming intellectuals, peasants who would not obey the edicts of the government and all kinds of officials on the black list of some superior Communist were sent to work.

Entire national groups have been accused of working against the Communists and sent to die in the vast wildernesses of Siberia. The death rate in the concentration camps has been estimated to be as high as 30 per cent. Furthermore, a large percentage of the forced labor is composed of women. They too cut timber, dig canals, work in mines and die in the extremities of weather in slavery to a despotic system of government.

One method the Deds use to discourage the slaves from escaping is to send them as far away as possible from their homes. Uzbeks and Turkomen are sent to the far north, Europeans to far Siberia and Mongols to the Caucasus, with the idea that they would be separate from any help and further would be discouraged by the prospect of the tremendous distances separating them from their people.

There are other methods of oppression practiced against the workers. We quote Victor Kravchenko, a former Russian official who escaped to the United States, a sentence was imposed on him of "one year's compulsory labor at my present place of employment." This is a unique Soviet invention. The convicted citizen continue to live and work in freedom—but 10 or 20 per cent of his earnings are forfeited to the NKVD. In my case it was 10 per cent. Tens of thousands of Russians through this device are forced to pay a part of their income as tribute to the secret police under guise of punishment for crime. Notification of my new status was received by the bookkeeping department at the factory. From then until the case was thrown out by the supreme court, 10 per cent of my wages and bonuses was deducted each month for the NKVD treasury.

Thus the nation which cries out to the people of the world to "throw off your chains," is using more slave labor than the Nazis and treating them more dreadfully than did the Roman emperors. Remember this the next time you hear a Bolshevik mouthing his praises of a full life under the Russian system. The NKVD slave labor camps of Russia are the largest single employer of manpower in the entire world! DO YOU WANT TO JOIN THEM?

MEET THE "TOP SERGEANT," a pulsejet experimental helicopter for the Air Force, shown at Manhattan Beach, Calif., as it prepared to start on a demonstration flight. The Sarge is powered by pulsejet engines weighing but 25 pounds each and are mounted at the rotortips. Each engine has only one moving part. It is claimed the plane will lift twice the payload of an ordinary helicopter and should cost about one-fourth less to produce.

Humoresque

It was a dark night and a noisy one when the Japs started to drop mortar fire on Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger's advance field headquarters in New Guinea. Eichelberger's aide, huddled in a fox hole, was understandably anxious for the general's welfare. "General Eichelberger," he whispered into the darkness. "Where are you?" No answer.

"General Eichelberger," he whispered again, a little louder, "are you all right?" No answer. The aide threw caution to the winds and called the general in a loud, clear voice.

Came the reply from Eichelberger's own personal foxhole not fifty feet away!

"Clyde, my boy, I appreciate your solicitude, but when the little b----- are infiltrating, I'd just as soon you called me Bob."

Well, doctor, was my operation a success?
I'm not your doctor. I'm St. Peter.

The Convair T-29 Navigation Trainer

First interior view of the Convair T-29 navigation trainer is shown here in this cutaway drawing. Thirty-six of these "Flying classrooms" for training navigators in groups have been ordered by the United States Air Force from Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation.

Curtains divide the cabin into four compartments. Opposite the main entrance (which is starboard and forward of the wing) is the radio operator's station. Aft of the front compartment is the radar training section, with facilities for three students and an instructor. A longitudinal curtain separates this section into two compartments. The main cabin includes standard navigation training equipment and stations for ten students. Four astrodomes on top of the fuselage are provided for taking sextant sights. Two large oxygen bottles are shown in the aft section of the main cabin. The demand oxygen system is provided for a crew of 18 for six hours duration at 20,000 feet. Design of this twin-engine "Flying Classroom" is based on the 300-mph, 40 passenger Convair Liner commercial transport, now being flown throughout the world by 12 airlines.
