53 Boys Volunteer As 'Ground Crew' But 82 More Needed

A total of 53 boys have volunteered to handle the gigantic figure balloons that will be a feature of the V-J celebration parade on Thursday, Aug. 10.

In all, 135 boys will be needed for this work, so it will require nearly twice the number of boys to fill out the quota.

Boys wishing to do this work are asked to notify celebration headquarters, telephone 559-J.

Harry Nelson, president of Artesia Junior Chamber of Commerce, unit that is pushing the parade, also sounded an admonition for prospective float entrants to get their entries on the line.

He said he knew of several who had planned to enter floats but their entries are not yet in and this lack of registration is hampering parade plans.

Earl D. Westfall, Artesia police chief, is parade marshal and all questions concerning the parade as well as all float entries should be submitted to him.

Texas Now Claims Artesia According To Label on Carton

Texas has about everything but it doesn't have an Artesia.

It does have an Artesia Wells. That may account for a shipment of medical supplies consigned to Dr. Thomas J. Quinlan, 1011 West Missouri, going astray.

The doctor ordered the supplies from Denver. "I thought the salesman knew what state he was in," said the doctor, but there was a slip-up somewhere and not all of the supplies came in.

There was one package received here by the doctor that was marked "Artesia, Texas."

To date no Texas army has threatened along the border in an effort to recover its "lost colony."

Mystery Is Who Has Extra Key to Woodside Plumbing?

An incident at Woodside Plumbing & Heating, 1014 South First, about 5:45 o'clock Wednesday afternoon has both police and members of the firm somewhat baffled.

J. L. Long, office manager, reported to police that he had locked up and left about 5 o'clock and gone home, where a neighbor called him at 5:40 o'clock to report that a woman had driven up in a blue car, opened the shop door with a key, walked inside, and then departed, leaving the door open.

Nothing was missing and there seemed to be no attempt to burglarize the place.

Long told police there are only three keys to the door, as far as is known, one each in the possession of himself, G. D. Woodside, senior member of the firm, and his son and junior partner, Jackie Don Woodside.

Blanket, Walls And Car Hood Suffer In Two Small Fires

A burned blanket, smoked walls and a scorched automobile hood make up the total damage in two fires to which Artesia firemen responded this week.

The first alarm was from the residence of Mrs. Opal Bell, 1019 South Sixth, at 10:45 o'clock Monday night, where she had used a woolen blanket to extinguish burning grease on her overheated electric range. Walls were slightly smoke damaged.

The second was at 10:45 o'clock Thursday morning, when the gasoline filter bowl on the new Oldsmobile of Mrs. Robert Parks broke in front of the residence of Mrs. C. R. Blocker, 805 West Main Street and the gasoline became ignited.

The small amount of gasoline burned itself out before firemen arrived.

Principal damage was to the paint on top of the hood, a spot about 18 inches in diameter and some of the ignition wiring.

Conservation Given Education Coverage

Under the expanded educational program of the Department of Game and Fish, an estimated 80 per cent of the people of New Mexico received some form of conservation education during the 1949-50.

The Public Relations Division, through the media of news stories, features, magazine articles, radio, exhibits, films and lectures, has brought before the public the ever-increasing need to conserve our wildlife resources.

Those organizations reached include schools, sportsmen's clubs, fraternal organizations, Boy and Girl Scout groups and religious groups.

In addition to personal appearances and lectures, the department has developed a film loan service which has been widely used over the past year by Game Protective Association chapters and other sportsmen's organizations.

Mickey Bell, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Arthur G. Bell, became the bride of Blair Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. An assortment of dahlias and white gladioli decorated the room. A yellow and white color theme was used. The bride wore a gray and white tulle suit with white accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a white carnation corsage. The traditional "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," was used.

Mrs. Bell, mother of the bride, was attired in a dress of summer tweed and wore a corsage of pink carnations. At a reception held after the ceremony, a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom was cut and punch served to about 26 guests. Mrs. Joseph Leone, an aunt of the bride from Kansas City, Mo., poured. Mrs. L. Z. Pilot Club Here Is in Line for Attendance Cup

The Artesia Pilot Club, the youngest in the district, had the best average attendance during the club year just closed, 90 1/2 per cent, and is in line for the district attendance cup, Mrs. C. M. Hooker, president, was notified in the final message to all clubs from Nellie Vickers, retiring district governor.

However, Mrs. Vickers said, two of the clubs had not reported at the time the letter was sent out, so actual awarding of the cup will be postponed until their reports are in. Mrs. Vickers announced the new district officers, who were elected in April and have just taken office. They are: President, Mrs. E. Ruth Platt, Santa Fe; lieutenant governor, Mrs. Georgia S. Jones, Las Cruces; treasurer, Mrs. Lucille Freeman, Grants.

Mrs. Vickers also informed Mrs. Hooker and members of the Artesia Pilot Club there are now 15 clubs in District 9, which embraces all of New Mexico, El Paso, two clubs in Mexico and four in Colorado, which have just come into the district. They are at Colorado Spring, La Junta, Denver and Pueblo.

Artesia Putting Up Fiesta Decorations

Bunting and blue rodeo banners were going up over Artesia Thursday as the city prepared to greet the crowds for the fourth annual V-J celebration.

Biggest banner as a white strip suspended across Main Street in the 100 block. It has the word "rodeo" in tall scarlet letters, between black lettered dates, Aug. 10, 11, 12.

Mary Lois West Visits 18 States In Two Weeks

Mary Lois West, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. West, 913 West Hank Avenue, returned to Artesia Wednesday night of this week, after an extensive two-week trip that took her through 18 states, the District of Columbia and part of Canada.

Miss West left Artesia July 19 and went to Portales, where she met Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Polston of Albuquerque, Wayne Isabell of Portales and Phyllis Parsons of Estancia with whom she traveled. Their first goal was Cleveland, Ohio. They went by way of Springfield, Ill., where they visited the home of Abraham Lincoln and his tomb.

In Cleveland they attended sessions of the Baptist World Alliance meeting, at which 52 nations were represented. Miss West said the most outstanding event to her was a session held in the Cleveland Indians' baseball stadium. A band from Scotland marching across the stadium, playing bagpipes and with kilts swaying was a very colorful sight, she said.

Their next stop was at Niagara Falls, which they viewed from the Canadian side. Miss West said she had no words to describe the falls.

In Washington, D. C., they toured the Smithsonian Institute, the U. S. Treasury department and attended sessions of the Senate and House of Representatives. She said these sessions reminded her of a huge hotel lobby, where Congressmen just seemed to come and go. Some sat and read newspapers. She also said the speakers seemed very rude to each other and got into rather heated discussions.

While in Gettysburg, Pa., they viewed many historical monuments of the Civil War.

Their final destination, Ridgecrest, N. C., was reached next. While there, Miss West represented New Mexico in the Southern Baptist speakers' tournament, at which seven states were represented. A girl from Florida won first place and a boy from Arkansas won second.

As Rev. and Mrs. Polston had to arrive home in time for the Glenwood encampment, they did no sightseeing to speak of on the trip home, save to visit Lookout Mountain at Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. C. Bert Smith Feted on Birthday

Mrs. C. Bert Smith was surprised Monday afternoon with a birthday party given in honor of her 75th birthday in the home of Mrs. John Lanning, south of Artesia. About 70 guests called between 2:30 and 6:30 o'clock.

A pink and white theme was used in decorations. A blue and white organy tablecloth covered the table which had a centerpiece of pink and white snapdragons and verbenas.

A lovely and novel idea was roses frozen in blocks of ice and placed in the punch bowl. Individual cakes which were hand-dipped in pink and white frosting, and salted nuts were also served. Mmes. Leslie Martin, R. M. McDonald, Landis Feather, Charlie Martin, and Elzie Swift assisted Mrs. Lanning with serving.

Parking Meter Violations Climb To New Record

Parking meter violations during July in Artesia total 1531 for a new high, which was, however, only nine more than the 1522 in June, according to the Aug. 1 report of the Artesia Police Department.

Thus for the second consecutive month the meter violation averaged more than 30 a day.

The totals compared with 908 in May and 508 in April.

Artesia police handled a total of 197 complaints of all kinds during July, which was more than double the 96 in both May and June and 73 in April.

Topping the list was speeding cases, in which 36 persons were cited in July, which was two more than in June. But in May there were 30 such cases.

On the other hand, whereas 56 persons were cited for running stop lights and signs in June, the total for those offenses dropped to 21 in July.

Other traffic violations for which tickets were given in July were: illegal parking, 27; violation of traffic and motor vehicle laws, 27; improper brakes or lights, 11; reckless driving, 5, miscellaneous, 6.

Among criminal and other offenses than traffic and motor vehicle, plain intoxication led the list with 28 persons cited to court. The May total was 18.

Other offenses: Disorderly conduct, 9; forgery and worthless checks, 4; driving while intoxicated, 4; vagrancy and immoral charges, 1.

Jaycees Plan to Complete Chuck Wagon Sunday

Artesia Jaycees will mix carpentry and cookery on Sunday when they complete work on their chuck wagon, remodeling it for their Western foods stand at Artesia Municipal Park, and deciding on costs of the barbecue sandwiches, beans, and coffee they will sell.

Putting on bows and a tarp, putting in drop shelves on the side, and painting, are chores that remain to be done.

The wagon is to be in the annual V-J celebration parade at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Aug. 10, then to be hauled rapidly to the park to be ready for the rodeo crowd.

Members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce have done leg work in conjunction with the parade, making contacts, obtaining entries. Earl D. Westfall, police chief, is parade marshal and float entry blanks are being sent to him.

Among the known floats in the parade to date, according to Harry Nelson, Jaycee president, are those of the Lions, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, and Carper Drilling.

Plans for the parade and for the chuck wagon were reviewed at a Jaycee directors' meeting held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night.

"Rooster" Durbin was named chairman of the food committee. Other members are Ralph Lennon, "Chili" Currier, and Bill White.

3 each; assault with a deadly weapon and assault and battery, 1 each; miscellaneous, 8.

During July Artesia police checked 16 vehicle accidents, in which there were no injuries.

Game Department Sending Exhibit For V-J Event

An added attraction for the V-J celebration Thursday through Saturday of next week is an exhibition of mounted specimens and maps from the State Department of Game and Fish, according to Deputy Game Warden L. W. (Speed) Simmons, through whose efforts the exhibition is to be brought to Artesia.

He said the exhibit is portable and will be mounted on a truck for showing at various places on the streets the opening day of the celebration and to appear in the parade at 4 o'clock that afternoon.

On the last two days of the celebration the exhibit will be at Evans Hardware.

It consists of six cases of mounted specimens of animals, birds, and fish, and pictures, which takes up 20 linear feet, and nine feet of maps.

The exhibit will be accompanied here by Jack Simpson, who is in charge of public information and education for the Game Department.

The portable exhibit was designed for showing at schools and at public celebrations, such as the one here next week, for public information.

It is estimated that every tenth American needs psychiatric aid.

Vine Crops Do Better If Thinned

Vine crops do better when they are thinned either to two or three plants in each hill or to 15-inch intervals if planted in a continuous row. Bush squash are the exception—only one plant should be allowed to remain in each hill.

In thinning vine crops, pinch or cut off the plants to be discarded rather than pull them out by the roots, especially if the plants are close together in the hill. Pulling a plant disturbs the roots of nearby plants which are to remain for the main crop.

When cucumbers are thinned by pulling, those which remain are often so disturbed that the plants wilt or die. Root replacement of the vine crops is not rapid, and so experienced growers disturb roots as little as possible. Pulling soil toward the plant immediately after thinning is a good practice.

Be sure to keep the striped cucumber beetle and the 12-spotted cucumber beetles under control. These insects can carry disease in addition to reducing the vitality of the plants which they attack.

For information on control of insects, ask your county agent for the mimeographed booklet "Vegetable Insect Control."

Some 350,000 Americans are expected to vacation in Europe this year.

About 881 burglaries take place every day in the United States.

Males usually attain their maximum weight at the age of 40.

THE ARTESIA ADVOCATE

PENNEY'S EMPLOYEES' DAYS

State Junior—

teams, the Heastons of Albuquerque may face their toughest opposition in the current battle, which ends Sunday. Final is set for 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

"Advance reports we have had from qualified observers over the state," says Gil Archuleta, Albuquerque, New Mexico junior baseball director, "indicate there are several teams in the lineup capable of upsetting the Heaston apparatus."

Winner of the Artesia tournament will go to York, Neb., to compete in the regional tilt, Aug. 20. The region consists of four states, New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and Nebraska.

Next step will be the sectional at Hastings, also in the Cornhusker state, then the Little World Series in Omaha.

The tournament now in progress in Artesia is under the direction of Archuleta and John Simons, Jr., commander of Clarence Kephle Post 41, American Legion.

Central School Dormitory

Private automobiles and buses, some of them school buses, brought the teams to Artesia. Players of six of the teams are using the Central School gymnasium as a dormitory. Originally the high school gymnasium had been designated as the place.

The gym was packed with six rows of cots and one row of a half dozen cots was put on the stage.

Las Cruces nine is staying at Bryan Courts. The Carlsbad outfit is commuting from the county seat to Artesia for its games.

A five-man crew, a cook and four dishwashers, was employed to attend to cooking the meals and doing the kitchen work at Veterans Memorial Building, where the boys are fed in army style, using army mess kits and getting in line for their chow, eaten from tables in the big auditorium.

Making final arrangements for the tourney necessitated a long schedule Wednesday for Commander Simons who was on the go from 6 o'clock that morning until 13 hours later.

He had to obtain the cook and dishwashers as well as setting up the machinery on a score of other details and confer frequently with Director Archuleta.

The latter is also assistant veterans' employment representative.

Stop at Advocate

Los Alamos team arrived in town at noon Wednesday and players and coach called on The Artesia Advocate. The team from the atom bomb capital was as hungry as only a team of husky, alert, energetic American boys can be and their minds were on food more than visiting.

The visitors were directed to the Veterans Memorial Building.

Other Sidelines

Benny Samaniego, Las Cruces manager and coach, called at The Advocate between 5:30 and 6 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, immediately before supper. He left a note for a staff writer, who talked to him at the supper in the Veterans Memorial Building.

The coach-manager of the team from Dona Ana County is an enthusiastic official and his pride in his boys shines out like a newly-minted dollar.

Baseball caps, some blue, some red, were the favorite headgear of the teams. It seemed the boys wanted to keep baseball always on their mind in anticipation of the tourney.

Don S. Bush, publicity director for the V-J celebration, which opens Thursday, Aug. 10, four days after the end of the baseball contest, was among those eating supper with the teams.

Kilroy Is Here

Las Cruces had 19 in its contingent which included Bill Shelley, commander of Joe Quisenberry Post 10, Hilmer Meerscheidt, post athletic officer, Harry Yanaga, commander of Mesilla Valley Chapter 10, Disabled American Veterans, and Bennie Samaniego, manager and coach.

The players' roster consisted of George Montoya, catcher; Andy Torres, Tommy Vasquez, Jesus Paz, pitchers; Vicente Ramirez, first base; Roy Lewis, second base; Skip Corley, shortstop.

Russell Parson, third base; Jim Bradley, leftfield; Lawrence Lopez, centerfield; George Garcia, rightfield; Junior Fernandez, first base; Gene Priestley, rightfield; Jerry Apodaca, centerfield.

Adding its own color, the team also has a batboy dubbed Kilroy, whom Manager Samaniego says is tops. His name is Kilroy and that's it, so Kilroy can add Artesia to the places where Kilroy has been.

Raton Sends 18

Raton's wallop of Clayton, 16 to 8 in the first game, 21 to 3 in the second, made the Colfax team eligible for the tournament.

Three adults are in the party from Raton. They are Charles E. Peason, manager; Bob Lee, coach and John Murphy, department athletic officer and father of John Murphy, first baseman of the team. There are 18 here from Raton.

The team's American Legion post is Vaughn Moore Buhr 5.

Players are Julio Vinchon, first base; Dominic Ferri, second base; Chuck Gallisina, shortstop; Tommy Segotta, third base; Edward Locket, Junior Antuonucci, pitchers.

Norman Genta, leftfield; Richard Gurl, centerfield; Tommy Martinez, rightfield; Bobby Medina, pitcher; John Murphy, first base; Harry Pearson, centerfield; Pancho Martinez, third base; Amelio Manzanilla, shortstop and pitcher; Bill Ficklin, catcher.

Feminine Fan

The team from Gallup has a woman manager. She is Mrs. Jim Casados, wife of the manager.

Coach of the team is George Schmaltz, father of Jimmy Schmaltz, pitcher. Ernie Garcia, post athletic officer, is the other adult in the group, totaling 16 in all.

The Gallup team was the only one to compete in its district and therefore automatically became an entrant in the tourney. Despite lack of opposition for the district title, the Gallup nine hasn't taken it easy and has a record of 10 consecutive victories.

Players are Wop Neese, first base; Jimmy Schmaltz, pitcher; Jimmy Nechero, second base; George Simonovich, shortstop; Spider Lopez, third base; E. Madrid, rightfield.

Jimmy Klien, centerfield; Eddie Gomez, catcher; Soco Lente, leftfield; David Garcia, Edwin Casados, Frankie Garcia, outfielders.

Two Bus Drivers

Clovis, like Gallup, was unopposed in district competition. The Curry County team had the services of two chauffeurs on its trip here, Albert Tillinghast and J. T. Anthony, both of Elida, Roosevelt County, which adjoins Curry on the south.

Jack Chisum is the Clovis coach. Players are Wayne Onstott, third base; Howard Powers, shortstop; Frank Ivey, second base; Louis Powers, first base; Bruce Davis, who doubles in battery brass as pitcher and catcher.

Roy Harris, pitcher; Jimmy Rice, in the dual role of pitcher and outfielder. Other players, all outfielders, are J. T. Isham, Billy Charles, Don Coonfield and Ronald Mills, completing the roster of 14, including adults, from Clovis.

Dual Sponsors

District 8 winner, Los Alamos, won the right to compete when Santa Fe defaulted. There are 16 in the Los Alamos party. Clyde R. Tipton, Jr., is the coach; Al Montgomery, equipment manager.

Heaston-Thomas Motor Company and American Legion Post 90 of Los Alamos are the team sponsors. Players are Robert Martin, Gordon Ryan, pitchers; Harry Oberlies, Thomas Rape, Richard Worthington, catchers; Robert Johnston, first base; Charles Badsgard, second base.

Donald Ryan, third base; James Wearin, shortstop; William Jarman, leftfield; Robert Mitchell, Jerry Perry, right fielders; Edward Brock and Fred Carroll, outfielders.

Won 19 Games

Champions of last year, the Albuquerque Heaston team was the winner of 19 games this season and is undefeated. Albuquerque has seven teams. The Heastons came out victors.

Last game they played before coming to Artesia was against the Dalmations, whom they defeated 3-1.

The team represents the Heaston-Thomas Motor Company. Sponsor is Hugh Carlisle Post 13.

Albuquerque has 20 in its group at the tourney. They are Isaac Sanchez, father of Bob Sanchez, outfielder; Al Wright, coach; Jody Villa, a fan making the trip with the team, and Max Aizer, batboy.

Players are Ray Salaza, catcher and second baseman; David Oter, catcher; Tom Curly, first base; Robert Benavides, second base; Bobby Mader, shortstop; Ron Ferreri, third base.

Ruben Rubio, second base; Eddie Gallegos, Emiliano Tapia, David Paffett, Buddy Mader, Randall Martin, pitchers; Bob Sanchez, Joe Carrillo, Danny Chavez, Roland Chavez, outfielders.

Five Pitchers

One third of 15-player roster for Las Vegas is their pitchers. There are five pitchers on the squad.

Las Vegas was an automatic entrant in the tourney. The team is sponsored by Leonard Hoskins Post 24. There are 21 here from Las Vegas.

They are Manager and Mrs. Ray Tanner, Manager and Mrs. Gilly Lopez, H. C. Sandy, also a manager. Nancy Browning, a Las Vegas fan, is also in the group.

Players are E. Marquez, A. Angel, T. Esquibel, E. Rigoni, R. Lindon, pitchers; M. Baca, J. Duran, F. McDonald, R. Abreau, D. Gallegos, infielders.

H. Stone, J. Sweeney, outfielders. Eddy County Team

Carrying the banner of Eddy County and its district is Carlsbad, the team that won the right to represent this sector in the district tilt at Roswell.

Carlsbad is sponsored by Bryan Mudgett Post 7 of the American Legion. There are 15 here from Carlsbad. They are commuting between the county seat and Artesia during the tourney.

Manager is Dwight Lee, sheriff. Johnny Kenzora is coach and Mrs. Kenzora is scorekeeper.

the threat of Chinese communists taking Formosa.

Russell Hill, auto accessories, said, "If we don't do something in a hurry we'll be pushed into the sea."

To Bert Muncy, Jr., gas and appliances, outcome hinges on how far Russia will go to "save face." He stressed the two-to-one outnumbering of the Americans in Korea, 200,000 against 90,000.

Ray Thompson, paint and glass, thinks Russia will fight only as long as she can use satellite nations, will back down when it comes to using her own men, doesn't want war with the U.S., and that "we will hold out in Korea."

It will be a short war, eight months to a year, in the opinion of Perry Stigler, creamery, but he is puzzled over how the draft will affect his employees, wonders what will happen if they are called into service. Out of seven employees, all under 30 years of age, four are veterans.

George Fowler, department store manager, says, "We'll hold out in Korea," but cautions "the next 10 days will tell the story."

Rocky Road

Skeptical of newspaper versions and radio comment on the war is Curtis D. Bolton, bulk oil, a World War II Air Force veteran. He called the situation "bad," and referred to "war room bulletins" of the last war as giving the true picture.

"You could read a newspaper story and hear the radio and get one version while the war room gave an entirely different slant."

That the Reds' offensive in Korea is only a stratagem and it may be the rich Iranian oil fields or Yugoslavia that will be the scene of the next fighting is the opinion of J. L. Long, plumbing and heating fixtures, a World War I Navy veteran. He said the U.S. has "a hard road ahead."

"We have a scrap on our hands," says T. C. Stromberg, lumber, World War II naval aviation administration veteran. He criticized the reduction in the U.S. Marine Corps, which he termed the "only trained force we have ready for combat," constricted the relatively level terrain of the European Theater of Operations with that of Korea, which he likened to the mountainous and jungle regions of the Pacific, and saw the Chinese communists as a dangerous omen.

Will Trap Reds

W. G. Everett, co-operative store manager, expressed optimism that America's fighting men can "cut off the enemy."

This was in line with tactics suggested by Jack Staggs, filling station owner, World War II Infantry veteran. Staggs pointed out that recently marines landed in the war zone after infantry, although the marine contingent sailed three days prior.

"They don't say where the marines landed. Ordinarily, the marines go in ahead of the Infantry," and then he went on to say he believed the plan was to land the marines back of the North Koreans, while the Infantry and other forces pushed up from the coast, trapping the enemy in a pincers movement.

Mexico. However, they met Scouts from all over the world, including one from France who was invited to come by President Truman.

Advisor Lemley said the Artesia Explorer Scouts would like to have someone donate them an old wagon which they can fix up for local trips.

An automobile for the transportation of the Artesia boys and advisor was furnished by Guy Chevrolet Company.

visited by a Rotarian, in stressing vocational service.

The test: "In all transactions: Is it the truth? Is it fair to all? Will it build friendships? Will it be beneficial to all?"

The governor said there are many avenues of community service, and that such service is beyond the power to buy with money.

The opportunities of Rotary as to international service are unlimited, Governor Paxton said.

One such opportunity, he pointed out, is that afforded by the Rotary Fellowship Foundation program, in which advanced students throughout the world are afforded an opportunity to study in other countries. A young woman from Argentina is to attend the University of New Mexico the coming school year, he said. And she will be available for meetings of Rotary Clubs throughout the district, which will help further international standing.

The four fundamentals of Rotary travel four avenues, but they all point to the ideal of service to mankind everywhere, Governor Paxton concluded.

Coast, so that the kiln-dried lumber was not sufficient to supply the West and Southwest.

A shoe store owner said buyers had not been so keen about shoe purchasing as in other lines, pointed out that shoes were late on the list of rationed merchandise in the last war.

"They buy shoes after the other stuff," he said, but he did cite one case of a five-pair sale to one woman in a two-day period.

Potpourri—

"Our attention has been called to a letter written by one Harry Boling of Mayfield, Ky., to his congressman, which appears in the Congressional Record. It has appeared in several other publications, but some people confine their reading largely to The Advocate, which we will admit is an informative sheet, but is not all-inclusive.

So we pass on Boling's letter: "I request that you obtain for me a subsidy on our platform rockers. We are now making about 1000 a year, and are eager to step this production up to 50,000. Since you are voting money for potatoes, cotton, tobacco, railroads, aviation and many other industries, I see no reason why we in the furniture business should be slighted. We would like a guaranteed price of $50 for each of these rockers. In the event we are unable to sell all of them, we will arrange to burn them right here at the factory rather than go to the expense of shipping them somewhere else to be destroyed. I realize that this will be small potatoes to the billion-dollar programs that you are accustomed to, but perhaps you can start a new bureau or something to raise the ante and get into the billion-dollar bracket. We are eager to get the government checks rolling in."

Our friend, Jack Sitton, editor of the Carlsbad Current-Argus, agrees with us as to hoarding and, in an editorial, "Appeal to Hoarders," to the commanders of the veterans' groups in Artesia. He wrote:

"The commanders of the three veterans' organizations in Artesia are to be commended for their action in appealing to the people of their community not to hoard during the emergency created by the Korean war.

"The appeal against scare buying was made jointly by the commanders of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Disabled American Veterans.

"Orderly buying in one community or one county cannot prevent shortages and government controls, but such action on a national level can. We hope the veterans' organizations throughout the country will co-operate in stressing the stupidity of citizens rushing to buy up things that they don't need, thereby helping to create shortages and higher prices."

We understand a local divorcee is now planning a clean sweep with a new groom.

Mention has been made previously of these headquarters. All information on the rodeo will be supplied to inquirers by a secretary. Hours are 9 o'clock in the forenoon to 11 o'clock at night.

Tickets, Trip, Team

Bush repeated his announcement that rodeo tickets can be bought at Artesia Pharmacy, Mid-Valley Investment, and Keys Men's Wear. Prices are $2 for reserved seat, $1.50 general admission, and 75 cents for those under 16 years of age. All prices include tax.

Second booster trip will leave Artesia at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. Thirteenth and Main is the assembly point. Stops will be Clouderoff, Alamogordo, Las Cruces, El Paso. Persons desiring to make the tour should be at the starting point a half-hour early. Bud South, New Mexico Police patrolman, will accompany the motorcade.

Another second is the United Veterans' call for a work team to complete rodeo grounds.

"THE QUESTION of whether we will have a general war may hinge on the relative effectiveness of Communist propaganda and free-world propaganda," John Foster Dulles, State department policy adviser, tells a Senate foreign relations subcommittee in Washington, considering a bipartisan bill to set up a "Marshall Plan of ideas" to halt Communism. Current events indicate that new building is going to be definitely curtailed and that houses already constructed will either remain at their present price level or tend to go higher. WE ARE NOT PROPHETS, NOR SONS OF PROPHETS, but unless you wish to continue to pay rent or pay more for a house later, it might be wise to buy now. Gaines Finally Gets Around to His Vacation

Most of Uncle Sam's employes have a vacation every year, but it took Leonard Gaines, 65-year-old Negro janitor at the Artesia post-office nine years, 10 months, and 15 days to get around to one.

But he started a 30-day vacation on Tuesday and left Thursday for Camdon, Ark., to see his sister, Mrs. Gertrude Weevil, whom he hasn't seen in 18 years.

Since starting to work at the postoffice janitor Sept. 15, 1940, the congenial Negro, who is known to nearly everyone in Artesia, has never been off before, other than for a day or two at a time. But he said he plans to pack a powerfully big vacation into the month he is taking at this time.

In addition to being janitor at the postoffice, Gaines has been janitor for the Soil Conservation Service office at 106 West Main Street the last eight years, making a second government agency for which he has been on the job. He has lived in Artesia 13 years, and for the last seven years has been living in the Mark Corbin servant house.

Son-in-Law of Artesians Named Carlsbad Coach

Son-in-law of an Artesia couple, Reid I. McCloskey, has been appointed assistant coach at Carlsbad High School, succeeding Ralph Jordan.

Mrs. McCloskey is the former Marie Sears, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Sears, 802 West Centre, who recently moved to Artesia from the county seat.

Assistant Coach and Mrs. McCloskey are the parents of three children, two sons, David and Scott Owen, and a daughter, Linda Ann.

McCloskey, Air Force first lieutenant, was stationed at Carlsbad for 21 months in World War II. He was a bombardier at the base from September, 1943, to February, 1944.

From May, 1944, to September, 1945, he was instructor at Carlsbad for Chinese air cadets.

He is a native of Pennsylvania, has bachelor's and master's degrees from Pennsylvania State College, State College, Pa. The college, founded in 1855, has 9327 students and 1089 teachers.

The new Carlsbad coach was selected out of 30 applicants for the post vacated when Jordan resigned this summer to go into private business in Texas.

McCloskey will report in time to assist Coach Bowyer on the 10-day training camp Aug. 21-30 in the Sacramento Mountains 100 miles west of the county capital. Announcement of McCloskey's appointment was by George Brown, Carlsbad schools personnel director.

Queen Contest Staged Without Standard Props

A queen contest without bathing suits, expensive clothes, jack-pot prizes, or any of the customary trappings, is a novel publicity scheme started by the New Mexico Fair.

This is the first time such a plan has been inaugurated. There are no entry fees. To compete a girl must be single, between 16 and 20 years old, and a permanent resident of the county she represents.

She must possess personality, have ability to ride, and be a typical Southwestern girl.

At the state fair she will compete with girls from the other counties of the state. One will be chosen as the state fair queen. All will ride in the grand entry and parade, present awards to winners from their respective counties.

Food and housing will be furnished all contestants. The winner has the honor of recognition as the 1956 state fair queen.

As to attire, no expensive costumes are needed. Southwestern clothing is naturally the preferred garb. A horse and saddle is needed but these can be supplied by fair visitors from the girls' county.

The plan was explained here yesterday by Pat Hill, publicity and advertising director of the 1956 New Mexico Fair to be held Sept. 23-Oct. 1, in Albuquerque. J. G. Heaston is chairman of the fair board and Floyd Rigidon, publisher of the Carlsbad Current-Argus is a member of the board.

Think of your own safety when handling cotton insect poisons. All the recommended dusting and spray materials are poisonous, and some are toxic to man.

Follow the simple precautions below to avoid possible harmful effects:

Do not open insecticide containers in closed rooms. Be careful not to breathe fumes from concentrated sprays, and avoid as far as possible breathing the diluted materials.

Wear gloves when handling concentrates and wash your hands frequently.

Follow field operations, or any work in which your clothes become saturated or contaminated, with a bath and complete change of clothes.

Where antidotes are known to be effective, as with parathion, carry them when using the chemicals, or keep them easily available.

Farmers can get better performance from their tractors and at the same time eliminate a serious fire hazard if they remove accumulations of dirt and grease from the tractor engine.

Dirt and grease slow down the removal of heat from the motor and speed decay of the rubber coverings on wires. Dirt and grease are responsible for hundreds of tractors catching fire each summer, causing serious damage to the tractor and in some instances injuring the operator.

Tractor brakes should be periodically checked and corrected if found to be faulty. The life of the tractor operator is more important than the small amount of time and money required to keep a tractor in good repair.

Farm Accidents Reach Peak at Time of Harvest

"Accidents to farm people reach their peak during the harvest season," warns County Agent Dallas Rierson. "Harvest haste combined with the use of high-speed harvesting equipment, makes it easy to have an accident. It is a season when caution must be practiced."

The first step for safe operation of harvesting machinery is to put it into good condition before the harvest begins. This means that seats, controls, steps and similar features should be in good repair. All shields or safety guards must be in place before a machine is operated.

The operator of the machines must be alert and observe safety rules—never take a chance, the county agent says. He points out that the National Safety Council recommends the following rules:

Always stop all machinery before

One of 35 Balloons for Parade

Here is one of the 35 figure balloon displays which have been contracted for and will be seen in the big V-J celebration and rodeo parade at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon of next week, as the big annual event starts off. Bringing of the balloons to Artesia for the parade was made possible at considerable expense in co-operation with the United Veterans Club by Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, Artesia Auto, Cox Motor, Evans Hardware, Guy Chevrolet, Mahone-Smith Motor, New Mexico Asphalt & Refining and Russell Auto Supply.

'Petroleum Peggy Says'

We women look into a mirror many times a day. Sometimes it's habit; sometimes it's for a quick touch-up. But I wonder if you realize that when many of us look into a mirror we are gazing at a capitalist, an owner of one of the big companies which make America a thriving industrial nation.

I was surprised to learn the other day that about 30 per cent of the stock in America's large corporations is in the hands of women. This is an estimate by the Federation of Women Shareholders in American Business, Inc., a growing organization of feminine security owners. The federation is trying to make women aware of the important role they play in business, and to obtain recognition of the contributions women make to industry.

While few women are active in corporate management, their attendance at annual meetings and their suggestions to executives testify to their interest in business matters and their ability to participate in managerial decisions.

The petroleum industry is typical of the many owned in great measure by women. One of the country's largest oil companies says that about 52 per cent of its stock is owned by the fair sex. Another reports more than 41,000 feminine stockholders, about half of its total. Other corporations give similar figures. Some smaller oil companies are totally owned—and operated too—by women.

In many cases, I believe, women shareholders look to regular dividend checks based on oil company earnings for part of their income.

Besides direct stock ownership, women have an interest in oil and other industries through the stock and bond holdings of insurance companies and trust funds. These are mainstays of subsistence to many wives and mothers.

All in all, the old adage that the business world is for men only is slowly changing. Business is also the women's world. It should be; they own half.

New Study of Thunderclouds Is Published

Thunderclouds may reach a height of 60,000 feet, although 30,000 is more common, according to "The Thunderstorm," a new book issued by the U.S. Department of Commerce. Studies made by scientists at New Mexico School of Mines contributed to the volume, which summarizes activities of the "Thunderstorm Project," a joint study by the U.S. Air Force, Navy, Weather Bureau, and National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

The book summarizes 10 phases of the thunderstorm research, including the structure of thunderstorms, turbulence, the effect of thunderstorms upon the weather, geographical modifications of the storms, and the effect of thunderstorms on airplanes.

The electrical studies of E. J. Workman, president of New Mexico School of Mines, and R. E. Holzer and G. E. Pelsor are described in the section on "Electric fields inside the thunderstorm." Workman and his associates noted that there are several centers of positive and negative electricity in a single thunderstorm.

Radar studies of the height of thunderclouds, made by E. J. Workman and S. E. Reynolds, supervisor of the School of Mines. Thunderstorm Laboratory, also are reported. On the radar screen, the scientists were able to record pictures of moist air masses in thunderclouds, an important means of determining the size and development of these storms.

A plane flying into a thunderstorm at 180 miles an hour can be forced up as much as 5000 feet by the violent updrafts inside the cloud, according to the report. Downdrafts may drop a plane 1400 feet. The most dangerous altitude for flying into a thunderstorm is between 15,000 and 25,000 feet, the altitude at which many of the newer airplanes preferably are flown. However, by using radar, the planes may detect the thunderclouds at a distance and thus avoid them.

Sediment Ruins Quality of Milk

New Mexico dairymen are losing thousands of dollars every year because they carelessly allow undesirable foreign material to get into their milk, according to Stanley Grinslade, extension dairy marketing specialist.

Of course, says Grinslade, every reliable dairy producer guards against such undesirable substances by refusing to purchase milk which sediment tests show is badly contaminated. If the foreign material causes off-flavors, such milk is also down for purchase.

Grinslade recommends a few simple practices for dairymen to follow if they wish to produce milk or cream which is free from sediment or off-flavors:

Keep the milking barns clean and reasonably free from dust, chaff, and manure. Handle feeds so as not to raise a dust during milking.

Keep milk utensils free from rust by cleaning them thoroughly with a good brush and soapless cleanser, and then rinsing immediately after milking is completed. Immediately before using them again, rinse them with a weak chlorine solution.

Brush cows daily to remove loose hairs and dirt. Wash each udder with a cloth and warm water containing a small amount of chlorine immediately before milking.

Immediately after milking, strain milk through a strainer with a good single service strainer disk. Use a new strainer pad for each 10-gallon can of milk. Avoid "bumping" the strainer to make the milk pass through more quickly, as this forces a hole in the pad and allows sediment to pass through.

As soon as the strainer is removed, place the cover tightly on the can, and transfer immediately to the cooling room. Agitate the milk by shaking the can back and forth in the cooling tank.

On windy days, use extra precautions, as more windblown material is present in the air and ready to fall into the milk.

Needs Amending

ANOTHER BIT OF LEGISLATION in New Mexico that needs the attention of the legislators is the unemployment compensation. We are told repeatedly as employers we should file this and file that. We are told we should protest this and protest that.

This, of course, is just some more government reports for the employer to handle and to file. And today he spends about half of his time filing state and government reports. He also has a few others to submit.

We have argued and contended for a long time that it was too easy for the unemployed to collect unemployment compensation. We still believe that is true.

We are of the opinion that some definite action should be taken to not only make it more difficult for those unemployed to collect compensation, but we are convinced the burden of proof to show they are entitled to the compensation; actually need the compensation; and should receive it, rests in them.

That is not true today. The general idea of unemployment compensation is to provide emergency funds for a family that actually needs it. It was not to provide payment for those able to get along without it; it was not to provide vacations for some who want to take off and enjoy these payments; it was not to just take care of those who get out of a job.

The purpose and the intent is good. It was originally planned to help carry over that individual with a family from one job to another or to aid them during a period when they could not find employment.

But we have known of instances and cases where individuals who had bank accounts and who owned their own home and who quit their jobs and moved to another state collected unemployment compensation. We have known of other instances where individuals employed less than a year and out of employment for a brief period filed and got their compensation even when they could have gotten along without it.

We have been glad to see that the department has refused to allow compensation to those who go on strike. We can't see they are entitled to unemployment compensation during such a period. They haven't quit or lost their jobs—they have merely refused to work while on strike.

But we would like to see some changes made in this law and changes that would make it more and more difficult for the unemployed compensation to be collected.

We would like to see regulations and rules that provide such compensation can only be collected when it is actually needed and actually deserved.

But apparently the Legislature is going to have to give the law some study and some thought and then make the necessary changes before this can prove to be the case.

We have argued before if it is to be continued under the present system then let the employer put up part of the funds instead of the employer putting up all of the funds.

It proves rather an expensive item on the operation costs of business each year. It is an extra cost that will not raise too many objections from the employers if and when it is administered as it should be and when it is used to aid and help those who actually need and deserve this help.

That isn't the case today.—O.E.P.

No Longer Any Fear

THERE WAS A DAY AND A TIME when American citizens feared the federal government and its agents and when the world was fearful of the military might of our country.

That day no longer exists. We have destroyed the respect that was paid to our national government by its own citizens and by citizens of the world.

Once upon a time the average citizen was convinced when he became involved in anything illegal insofar as our federal government was concerned there could be nothing done about it. We felt that the price would have to be paid and the punishment accepted for our guilt. But then the movement to build and create a national political machine raised its head. The plan was worked out to set up smaller units of the federal administration in the various states.

And when that became a reality then we found that the influence of politicians could be used and employed to get individuals off from facing trials, possible convictions and punishments for federal offenses just as it had worked for years to provide protection for the politician who was right in his home state.

And when that occurred the confidence we once had in our federal agents having a free hand to investigate and probe affairs; to bring charges; and then to secure convictions was lost.

There was a day and a time when there would have been considerable thought and consideration given before some nation or country would have dared to insult our nation or to accuse her falsely.

America for a good many years played the game of relations with other nations squarely across the top of the table and we had and we held the respect of the other countries of the world.

That isn't true today. We are accused falsely of many things. Charges are brought against us by other nations—lies are hurled freely by those who would like to use us or to destroy us.

Cheap politics have employed the fine reputation we once enjoyed to bring benefits and gains and profits to the chosen few here and there. We have permitted things to occur and to happen that should never have happened all for the benefit of someone who seeks or wants a concession in some foreign country. They have used their political influence to obtain this at the expense of the reputation of our own nation.

Politics has failed to prepare us for the emergencies; politicians have prevented us from taking steps and action to defend our reputation and our way of life; they have denied us the privilege of being prepared and for once being there ahead of time with plenty instead of being too late with too little.

Only the people will and can restore the confidence the world once held in us as a nation. Only the demands of Americans that certain phases of their government be taken out of politics will result in us regaining the place we once held.

And only the demands of the people will eliminate politics from our enforcement agencies, our federal agencies and even our federal courts so that justice again prevails and we respect our federal authorities and their ability to ferret out the truth and bring about law observance and respect for our laws.—O.E.P.

THANK GOD FOR THE CHURCHES

Mirror of World Opinion

Thank God for the churches. They are far from perfect but they are the nation's first line of defense. They maintain a standard of honesty and decency without which the nation would not be worth saving, nor would it citizenry care for any interest beyond their own selfish personal gratifications.

A nation with strong, moral convictions and a deep reverence for God is able to defend itself against all enemies within and without.

But this is not time for complacency regarding the religious life of the nation. The forthcoming census (figures) will reveal some startling facts regarding the millions of children who are receiving no religious instruction of any kind, while other millions receive only fragmentary portions of such instruction.

America would become overwhelmingly pagan in a few years should the churches fall into decay and ruin. Every communicant, yes every well wisher of the churches, should be actively supporting the churches and all that they are defending in the fields of moral and spiritual development.

A good-natured tolerance is not enough. Active participation should be the resolve of every citizen.

Throughout the world the forces of enlightened religious groups provide an atmosphere of good will and confidence that is worth more than armaments and international treaties. Remove from the minds and hearts of men and women everywhere the religious convictions and practices of Jews, Catholics and Protestants, and civilization would crumble like a house of cards built upon the shifting sands of treachery and greed.

Thank God for the churches, but do more than that. So live that the churches will thank God for you and your cooperation in the task of establishing peace and justice among men.—Post Advocate, Alhambra, Calif.

Ever notice that no matter how ornery a fellow may be in most respects, if he loves his family and treats them well, you are not taking much risk in trusting him? It's a pretty good brand of character, and it seldom fails as a measurement.—Roswell Daily Record.

Now that July Fourth has passed, we can go about our business uninterrupted until Labor Day. It may have been noticed that the influence of holidays is more to impress upon one the value of something to do, than for the enjoyment of idleness.

'ONE WORLD'

It seems a little strange in these days to hear again the phrase "one world" which Wendell Willkie made current at one time in the United States.

Yet Dr. William Drees, Prime Minister of the Netherlands, used the expression in a way that make sense when he spoke before the Second Chamber of the Dutch States-General on Korea. The Chamber supported overwhelmingly the United Nations position there.

"After World War II it became clear that for the Netherlands neither a policy of neutrality nor one of so-called independence could have sense any more. What holds good for the Netherlands holds good at this moment, for the whole world."

"There is," he continued, "after all, 'one world.' International issues become interdependent. A threat to one becomes a threat to all. Aggression has to be countered or it spreads."

In this sense, the planet is one world, and the attitude which every nation takes, large or small, toward unprovoked aggression tends to help determine what kind of a world it shall be.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHAT HAS MAN TO DEPEND UPON?

In these troublesome times, the individual who has no great principles to guide his life finds the present era of great tribulation.

There are wars, rumors of wars, economic difficulties, political puzzles and personal problems to confound the average citizen of this country. What once seemed relatively safe and secure in many fields of human activity is now precariously attacked and even the sacred formulas of early days are badly battered.

Upon what, then, can man depend? Surely, he can depend upon the fundamental principles that he has adopted to guide his life. The basic faith in God that makes men lift up their heads, the confidence that faces doubtful fate superbly and the attributes of the soul that stands supreme above the vicissitudes of earthly strife are strength to the intelligent and the brave, a staff upon which the tired may lean and a blessing to all those who are willing to work for a better world of better human beings.—Eddy County News, Carlsbad.

Almost everyone has noticed how much more attention the Lord pays to those who work hard to bring about the things they pray for.—Lamar (Mo.) Democrat.

Assignment New Mexico

By G. Ward Fenley

I should be all pepped up over vacation time but curiously enough I'm not.

Though not for the same reason, I feel sorta like Jack Sitten's man in The Carlsbad Current-Argus last week: "All lit up and no place to glow."

"I would suit me just fine if vacations were placed on the rationed list and declared taboo "for the duration."

Duration of What? Then I got to thinking, we can't say for the duration of the war because we aren't at war. Many a New Mexico lad in the reserves and the National Guard is being called for service in Korea—but we are not at war!

The Chicago Tribune expressed it in rhyme: "I thumb my dictionary. What IS war?"

I never stopped to look it up before. Thinking in naive fashion I knew, Since personally speaking, I've lived thru

A couple of them. Shootin' wars, * that is . . .

This must be wrong. But Webster was a whiz

On definitions, so I thought. Says he "Contest by violence; hostility."

That served in '17 and '41. But times have changed I guess.

We have begun To shoot again, but this, of course, is peace.

We are not warriors—but police. Don't fret about it as you go along. This is not war. The dictionary's wrong."

Keep Home Fires Burning

Yes, for a couple of whole, maybe three weeks, this old bald-headed professor is going on a vacation. And during that time he's not going to worry about Ed and Karl Guthmann, Jimmy Barber, Bill Harrison, Wallace Barnes, Jack Sitten, Gordon Greaves, Dan Barrows, Carter Waid—or any of the rest of you members of the fourth estate.

You can fill your papers with typo errors and we won't be here to pick 'em up and razz you about them.

It's goodbye, God's country—we're goin' to Texas.

A Parting Shot

I had thought of putting an ad in the paper (such as The Gallup Independent had last week): "Wanted, man to take care of house, also to take charge of cow who can sing in the choir and play the organ."

But the paper might mess it up such as reported in The Cruces Citizen last week: "Rev. Horace G— has returned to town and will take up his cuties at the church."

I see where The Lovington Press said a certain Mr. John G. Hix was building 20 houses, all of them F.F.A. financed. Guess the boys, those Future Farmers of America, have brought in their oil well.

Getting back to vacations, I feel about this one (when we should all be working and sacrificing along with our boys in the Far East) much like the little girl who wrote a "thank you" letter to her auntie:

"Dear Aunt Gladys: Thank you so much for the pin cushion you sent me for my birthday. It is a lovely pin cushion. I have always wanted a pin cushion—only not very much."

And in Conclusion

That's all until September except to remind you of what General Walter Krueger said about the Korean War: "We've got a bull by the tail and we've got to look him straight in the face while holding on for dear life—which is an extremely difficult operation."

Spotted Cotton Proves Costly

The 87,474 bales of spotted cotton which New Mexico farmers produced last year cost them almost two million dollars, County Agent Dallas Rierison reported. Using middling 1 3/32-inch cotton as the average, Rierison estimates that the lowering of grade from white to spotted meant a loss of $22 a bale last year, or a total of $1,924,428.

According to the county agent, the chief causes of spotted cotton in New Mexico in 1949 were bacterial blight (angular leaf spot), early freeze and hailstorms. Other causes, which contribute to spottiness of cotton are insect damage, deterioration in the field and other diseases besides angular leaf spot.

A good deal of the spottiness in cotton can be eliminated, Rierison says, if farmers will do these things:

Keep the fields picked clean before the first frost.

Never mix cotton picked before the first frost with that picked afterward. Never mix cottons of unlike quality or condition.

Follow recommended insect and disease control measures.

Train pickers to pick the bolls clean.

Rierison points out that losses caused by spottiness range from $22 a bale for 1 3/32 inches middling cotton up to $101.75 a bale for 1 1/4 inch middling cotton.

"So, the farmer who produces extra premium length cotton can afford to take every precaution to reduce spottiness," he explains. "For $100 difference a bale, he could personally inspect almost every boll."

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Nation Faces War Footing | Congress Sentiment Strong For More Drastic Action

WASHINGTON—Look for the government to place the nation on an almost complete war footing if the Korean conflict continues much longer.

President Truman's recent messages are believed to be the beginning of even more stringent, all-out effort toward keeping the nation's economy on an even keel despite the emergency.

Already there is strong sentiment in Congress for more drastic action to put the nation in a position to push the Korean fighting more vigorously to a climax.

It is doubtful that President Truman will order sweeping mobilization of both the military and economy immediately, or at the same time. Rather, it probably will be a gradual change-over to a war footing.

However, in the end, if the war in Korea continues or some new flare-up occurs, the country undoubtedly will be mobilized completely for war.

THE HEAT IS ON—Farm state senators and representatives are being pressured to vote before adjournment on amending the present farm law so that farmers will get wartime 90 per cent of parity supports on basic crops for another year after Jan. 1.

Prime instigator behind the move is the National Farmers Union. As the law now stands, support levels for the 100-cotton, corn, wheat, tobacco, peanuts and rice—are scheduled to drop automatically from 90 to 80 per cent of parity on Dec. 31.

Eventually, the law provides that they shall be lowered to 75 per cent of parity.

In four years of trying to develop a long-range farm program, Congress has used the stop-gap device each year of extending 90 per cent supports for another 12 months.

Even the Farmers Union admits it faces a tough fight in battling for another extension of supports at the higher level.

Congress is going to be so busy with the Korean emergency that, theoretically at least, the legislators won't have time to think about the farm vote. Or will they?

BAD LUCK SENATOR—Senator Joseph O'Mahoney, the Wyoming Democrat with the bushy brows and a liking for economics, ranks high among the "hard luck boys" of politics. Back in 1948, before the Democratic convention, O'Mahoney let it be known that he would not be reluctant to accept the nomination as vice presidential candidate. Sen. Alben Barkley got the nomination—and the job.

Just last year, when Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy died, O'Mahoney, a distinguished lawyer and a member of the Catholic church, as Murphy was, appeared a natural to take Murphy's place. But Tom Clark, then attorney general, was named by President Truman instead.

Finally, a short time ago, O'Mahoney succeeded after a bitter fight in getting through the Senate a bill to legalize the "basing point" price system when there is no conspiracy and when competition is not endangered.

And what happened? President Truman vetoed the bill!

HARRIED HARRIMAN—At least one high government official has proof that the military is on the job at the Pentagon building. He is W. Averell Harriman, presidential assistant, foreign policy expert and former ambassador to Russia and Britain, who recently showed up at the gates of the Defense Department's home and sought entrance.

However, Harriman could not satisfactorily identify himself to guards watching the inbound flow of "after hours" visitors. An ambassador's card he produced went unrecognized.

A series of telephone calls followed and finally, after waiting about 15 minutes, the harried Harriman was given the green light.

"It happens every day," officials said. "People come in without identification and we simply have to find out who they are before they are permitted in."

Here's How to Pasteurize Milk Quickly at Home

Home pasteurization of milk is not as difficult as it would seem.

First of all, a thermometer is essential. Hardware stores, dairy supply companies, or local dairy plants sell the floating dairy thermometers.

These are most convenient for the pasteurizing job, but any thermometer which can be put into the milk may be used.

For quick pasteurization, pour milk in the upper part of the double boiler. Put in the clean thermometer. When it registers 160 degrees, count off 15 seconds and then pour off the hot water in the lower part of the boiler. Replace it with cold water until the milk has cooled.

Ice in the water hastens the cooling. When cool, pour milk into clean bottles which have been sterilized in boiling water, cover with metal caps or aluminum foil and place in the refrigerator.

Another process is to heat the milk at 143 degrees 30 minutes, then cool and pour in bottles. The important point to remember for safety is that all milk must be heated at not less than the specified for the recommended time.

So far I've just got one other: 'It's flattering to be in such select company,' mused Groucho. 'Who's the other one?' The lady said, 'Fifi D'Orsay.'"

'Cannonball' Taylor to Be On Landsun Stage

Hollywood's funniest cowboy, "Cannonball" Taylor, who has ridden the range with Jimmy Wakely, Charles Starrett, and Bill Elliott, will appear in person tomorrow night at the Landsun theater. He will perform sagebrush tunes on his xylophone, and mix hillbilly music with humorous bits of monologue and his famous "tall tales."

athletic 165 pounds when I first broke into the movies," the comedian admits. "But after I got into cowboy films I started to spread out. Maybe it's because I squatted all day on my horse, or consumed too many doughnuts from the chuck wagon when we were on location. Before I knew it I began to resemble a cannonball in appearance. My friends started to call me that and, even though I've just lost considerable weight, they still call me 'Cannonball.'"

When he's not making a cowboy drama at Monogram studios, the comical actor can usually be found fishing at a quiet lake miles from Hollywood. He also loves to hunt quail, migratory ducks, prairie chickens, deer and doves. "Cannonball" often travels hundreds of miles into the Dakotas or Canada for a favorite hunting site.

Taylor is currently seen with Jimmy Wakely in Monogram's "Silver Trails."
