For Worldwide Bible Reading

From Thanksgiving to Christmas

Millions of people in America and throughout the world will be reading the same verses from the Bible in the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas. This program of Worldwide Bible Reading was started by the American Bible Society during World War II and has grown in the years since.

The readings selected by poll for this year follow. The theme is "The Bible A Light and Guide". To find help in the reading a person is asked to read regularly, thoughtfully, without hurry, prayerfully and obediently, and to copy out a key verse daily and carry it for helpful reference throughout the day.

Now Is Time to Buy Weed and Insect Killers

It's a pretty good thing for farmers to lay away their supply of bug and weed killers now, reminds J. Z. Rowe, state extension economist.

"It's true, a farmer doesn't know at the present time just what his needs might be, but over the past several years, grasshoppers and cotton pests have paid annual visits to New Mexico," Rowe says. "Weeds are always present. The advantages of getting enough insecticides and weed killers for next year's anticipated needs is that the farmer will have them when he needs them and, secondly, most of those products will be higher next year."

The carryover of insecticides and fungicides the last of September was the lowest in the last three years. Supplies of raw materials are low, particularly benzene and chlorine. These products are used in making DDT, benzene hexachloride, methoxychlor and various forms of 2,4-D and certain fumigants. These above products will probably be in short supply all through 1951, Rowe adds.

According to Rowe, farmers can expect adequate supplies of rotenone and nicotine in 1951. However, insecticides containing pyrethrins may be scarce. Fungicides will be available in all probability to meet needs, because supplies of raw materials used in making arsenicals and sulphur and copper compounds are about normal.

"If cotton acreages are materially expanded, cotton insect killers will be in greater demand, with resulting higher prices," the economist explains. "So, it's a good idea for farmers to place orders now. Your county agent will be glad to discuss your weed and insect killer needs with you."

phone loan funds in fiscal year 1951. New Mexico borrowers applied for telephone loans totaling $3,395,850 last year, when New Mexico ranked third among all states in the amount of rural telephone loans applied for. Funds amounting to $581,000 were loaned New Mexico borrowers before the end of last fiscal year. As a consequence, New Mexico ranked first among all states in the miles of rural telephone line constructed last year under the Rural Telephone Amendment of the Rural Electrification Act.

"Under the present rate of construction, the number of unelectrified farms (19,435) in New Mexico is being steadily and rapidly reduced," says Charley S. Taylor, extension agricultural engineer with New Mexico A. & M. College. "The two programs administered by REA have already brought the comforts, convenience, and economy of electrically powered equipment and appliances to thousands of New Mexico farms and ranches."

USDA Announces State Allotments For REA Loans

The Rural Electrification Administration has announced that a total of $312,713,779 will be available for electrification loans during the 1951 fiscal year. This figure compares with a total of 375 million dollars loaned during fiscal year 1950.

In keeping with established REA policy, state allotments have also been determined. The New Mexico allotment of loan funds is $1,806,014. In addition to the state allotments, an amount up to 10 per cent of unallotted funds totaling $170,927,029 could be loaned any one state during the year.

On the basis of the total amount available for electrification loans, it is believed that rural electric borrowers will be able to continue on an orderly basis their programs for extending electric service.

REA will also have available a sum of 35 million dollars for tele-

Valiant Bulldogs Prepare For Turkey Day Eagle Shoot

Artesia's Unbeaten Record Marred By Carlsbad, 14 to 7

A great Artesia football team will meet another traditional foe, the Hobbs Eagles, as the Bulldogs wind up the 1950 season on Thanksgiving Day in Hobbs.

The game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Nov. 23.

Last year, the Eagles whipped the Bulldogs 27 to 19, a fact the Bulldogs will be remembering when they clash with the always potent twice-state champion Eagles.

Courageous Battle

Carlsbad kept its unbeaten record clear while marring that of Artesia when the Carlsbad High School Cavemen defeated the Artesia High School Bulldogs 14 to 7 in a game played at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in Carlsbad.

It was the Cavemen's ninth straight win, the Bulldogs first loss in 11 games played this season.

With the score tied 7-all and pushed into the shadow of their own goal, the Cavemen gambled on a handoff play to Fred Mahaffey. The Bulldogs were caught napping, tried to overhaul the speedy runner on the seven, but Mahaffey got away and sped 99 yards to score in the final period.

Porky Leyva kicked the extra point, and the game ended soon afterwards with Carlsbad holding the spot of being the only undefeated, untied Class A football team in the state.

The first period, ended with the score 0-0. Artesia recovered a fumble on the Cavemen's 13. Gains by Vernon Haldeman, A. L. Terpening, and Doyle Cole advanced the ball to the Carlsbad three from which spot Joe Harbert went through to score.

Sonny Garner kicked the extra point. It was the first time this season the Cavemen had not scored in the first five minutes of play and the first time they had been blanked in the first half.

Coming back strong in the third period, the Cavemen scored early, after two penalties against the Bulldogs had pushed the ball back to the Artesia three.

Terpening booted from behind his goal line to Don Pfutzenreuter, who was stopped on the Artesia 31. Leyva advanced the ball five yards through right tackle. Quarterback Jimmy Miller gained four more. Mahaffey made it a first down on the Artesia 15.

A five-yard penalty put the ball in play on the 20. Miller passed to Mahaffey for the first Carlsbad score. Leyva added the extra point. Officials for the game were Tom Hall, New Mexico Military, referee; Jim Marberry New Mexico Military, umpire; Ray Barton, New Mexico, field judge; and Ted Bynum, New Mexico Military, headlinesman.

Bob Ball and Fred Mahaffey were Cavemen captains while Vernon Haldeman and Bobby Morgan led the Bulldogs.

Roswell Writer Compliments Bulldogs and Game's Spirit

Artesia High School football team rates a fine salute from Rusty Ayers, sports editor of the Roswell Daily Record, who saw the classic Artesia-Carlsbad football game in Carlsbad last Friday night.

In his column "What's the score?" Ayers writes:

"We cannot remember another high school game that was as hard fought from start to finish as this one. The first quarter particularly was a bitterly fought game that made us glad we were watching and not participating."

"Carlsbad could have made a rout of the game had a sleeper pass from scrimmage not been too high for Worth Coalson to haul down. The play was perfectly executed with the exception of the actual pass as Coalson was unobserved until Jim Miller threw the ball."

"Had this pass been completed it could have taken the fight out of the Bulldogs."

"From our station well in safe territory from the bruising offense and defense thrown by both teams we feel that Artesia had the best back of the night in A. L. Terpening."

"Terpening not only was nothing less than a marvelous punter but did all-around good ball playing. Terpening was the leading ground gainer for the Bulldogs and his 180 punts did some damage."

"Carlsbad's John Pack made the mistake of hitting Terpening head on with Terpening going full blast and was carried off the field."

"The Carlsbad line was the big difference in the ball game. Some felt the Cavemen's seven forwards could be comparable to Ohio State's."

"Particular standouts on Cavemen defense were Bob O'Kelly, Porky Leyva, and Ronnie Jaeger. O'Kelly and Leyva were line backers plus. Jaeger turned in his work from left guard position."

"Artesia's Joe Harbert must come in for his share of stardom as it appeared his assignment was to go where Don Pfutzenreuter went. Pfutzenreuter had been sparking the Cavemen all season and Harbert literally tore him apart time after time, leaving him cold in his usual ground gaining role."

"Without that little 99-yard jaunt by Mahaffey the tiff could have ended in a 7-7 draw, and throw the A conference into general upheaval as it would have then been a three-way tie among Artesia, Carlsbad, and Clayton."

Praises Coaches

"The Bulldogs and Cavemen indicated that both clubs are well coached eleven. Coaches Jack Tinson and Ralph Bowyer have done a commendable job this season.

"It is only natural for Artesia to feel bad about losing the state title but at the same time losing the way they did to Carlsbad and the caliber of the team beating them, they have nothing at all to feel ashamed of."

Ayers says the game was a "tribute to sportsmanship and football," and comments on the politeness shown by Principal W. H. Foster, facets that affected the Artesia writer in the same way.

"First of all we would like to offer our thanks and appreciation to Carlsbad high school principal, W. H. Foster, and his staff, for the wonderful treatment they handed to the four of us from this paper. After all, we were outside newspapers, so-to-speak, and that made no difference to Foster. It is indeed a pleasure to be met with the wonderful cooperation as Foster and other staff members gave us."

"In order to accommodate the working press, extra press facilities were installed in Cavemen park. The game was covered by papers as far away as Albuquerque. Our old Buddy, Jim DeVoss, made a hurried trip down to cover the game for The Journal."

SPORTS ON THE HOME FRONT

By BROWNIE EMERSON

Ten Games Won Out of 11 Played Is Aces in Any League, Bulldogs!

A great team, perhaps the greatest ever to represent the Orange and Black, played its heart out, never loafed a second, and gave the Carlsbad Cavemen the scare of the season before the Cavemen won 14 to 7 in a game played at 7:30 o'clock Friday night in Carlsbad.

The Artesia High School football team has had a rugged schedule and still has the mighty Hobbs Eagles to play before the season ends.

Artesia has made a marvelous record of 10 victories in 11 games and it rates today, even though beaten by Carlsbad, as one of the best teams in New Mexico.

There's no reason for the Bulldogs to feel ashamed of their loss. There's even less reason for Bulldog fans to let them down. If ever there is a time when Artesia should show its sportsmanship and its unswerving loyalty to a fine bunch of boys, that time is now.

There should be as much backing for the boys now for the Hobbs game as there was for the game with Carlsbad.

Carlsbad respects the fight and the spirit of the Artesia squad. Can Artesia do less?

Bulldogs, you gave the Cavemen a battle they'll never forget and it wasn't until late in the final period that the Cavemen fans could breathe easily. It was a ding-dong battle. You lost the game but you did not lose the respect and praise you richly merit.

Excellent Editorial

Good conduct and good sportsmanship are more important than the outcome of the game.

That is a quotation from the Friday, Nov. 17, issue of The Daily Current-Argus of Carlsbad. To the thought I add a vigorous second.

"And for the game itself every football fan should remember that the game is only that. It is no life and death matter. It is merely a contest between groups of boys from neighboring towns."

That fact is too often overlooked. The editorial points out significantly that last Friday night's game was the first time in the state's athletic history that "two high schools from one county have met in a game to decide the state football championship."

"This will be the second largest crowd ever to see a high school football game in New Mexico. The only larger crowd on record in high school football in the state was the 13,000 through that saw the Carlsbad and Gallup play for the state championship in a post-season game in Albuquerque several years ago."

In a preceding paragraph the editorial had stated the size of the crowd at the Artesia-Carlsbad game as 10,900 while stadium capacity is 7,500.

Not A Gun Was Fired

After hearing echoes of the rumored feuding that has gone on for years between Carlsbad and Artesia, I went to Carlsbad for the game Friday, expecting the finish of the game to be marked with some junior league size riots.

I thought bullet proof vests and submachine guns would be standard equipment.

Instead I found politeness on every hand and if there were any vendettas of adjectives or otherwise, I didn't learn of any.

Principal W. H. Foster showed himself a good sportsman by courteously escorting me to the press box and showing every willingness to cooperate.

Carlsbad rates more orchids, too, for the efficiency with which it handled the huge crowd. Everywhere I looked there were men with that "official" armband and they were well trained in their duties.

It took some planning and executive ability to carry out the handling of the crowd and as far as I could tell the job was excellently done. Of course I wasn't out in the crowd making a person-to-person checkup but for my part Carlsbad did a good job.

Carlsbad rates a salute for the proven worth of its great football team but let's not forget the city and school also deserves praise for its politeness to Artesia fans.

The game was won by Carlsbad because they had what it took to win. They got the touchdowns and they still pay off on those.

Still For Artesia

All due praise to Carlsbad for their team and there is no alibi for Artesia taking a licking. Carlsbad won but it won the hard way for the victory wasn't handed them on a platter.

For my part I looked as though Artesia was the better team in the first half, when the score was Artesia 7, Carlsbad 0, but the second half was nearly all Carlsbad.

The Bulldogs could no more in-

Cowboy Captain Set National Passing Record

John Model T Ford of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, Texas, is believed to have thrown more touchdown passes than anyone in collegiate football, according to George Hine, Jr., director of sports publicity at the university.

He has passed for 53 touchdowns in three years, 1948, 1949, and 1950 to date.

The 5-foot 8-inch 160 pounder, who captains the Cowboys, established an all-time record last year for the most touchdown passes, 26, in one season.

He was third in pass completions percentage with a mark of 58.3; sixth in number of passes completed, 98, and was tenth in total offense in 1948.

Three times he has thrown five passes for touchdowns in single games, against Loyola, Wichita, and Trinity.

His record in 1948 in regular season play of eight games was 121 attempted, 72 completed for an average of 595 and 1114 yards.

Hardin-Simmons sees Ford as All-American material. Comments on Ford's skill by newspaper writers fill a 22-page scrapbook.

In 1948 Ford attempted 163, completed 94, for a distance of 1564 yards, and 19 were scoring passes.

By year, number of attempts, completions, yards gained, and number of scoring passes, in order, 1949 and 1950: 1949—168, 98, 1691, 26. 1950—137, 78, 1266, 8.

This makes the three-year total 468 pass attempts, 270 completions, 4531 yards, 53 scoring passes.

er lights act, a highlight, as was Carlsbad's royal blue and white uniformed band with its observance of parents night and the heart emblem flags.

Three buses here to take band and team to Carlsbad but only two used. One of the three was old 143, the Jal Jinx Juggernaut, the bus that took us to Jal for the opener when the Bulldogs won but didn't look so good doing.

Same driver back again, N. J. Holley. Glad to see him. Piloting the team bus to Carlsbad was Odell Holley, Bus 142.

Thought was taking a tour of the county seat before we finally managed a paint-scraping squeeze through some far-off gate and arrived at the gym.

U.S. Government Will Be Analyzed In Club's Program

Last pre-charter party program of Toastmasters International will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Artesia Hotel. Presentation of the charter will be made in a special ceremony at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, Nov. 25, in Masonic Temple.

At their meeting tonight the club will discuss: "Is our government being conducted in the manner our forefathers set up in the Constitution?" At the last meeting held at 7 o'clock, Tuesday night, Nov. 14, at Artesia Hotel, opinion of speakers and members was even on the question of whether Artesia has adequate housing.

Dave Saiken was topic master; Ralph Lennon, toastmaster. Speakers were George Ferriman, Dr. G.

City Thanksgiving Services to Be At 10 Thursday

The annual union Thanksgiving services for churches of Artesia will be held this year at the First Baptist Church at 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

Rev. John W. Eppler, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, will deliver the sermon.

Special music will be by the Bethel Baptist Choir.

Mrs. Helen Henson will play the organ and Rev. V. Elmer McGuffin will lead the singing.

Rev. D. D. Mauldin, Rev. C. A. Clark, Rev. J. D. Hodges, Rev. Arthur Bell, Rev. Everett M. Ward and Rev. Ralph O'Dell will also have a part in the service.

Rev. Bell is chairman.

Mexican—

of the one "bracero" that Martinez was hanging in the back of the trailer and fell off under the wheels.

Wayne Paulin of Paulin Funeral Home testified as to receiving a call from the police between 8 and 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, calling him to the Green & Mays store, and of taking Martinez to Artesia General Hospital, where a physician pronounced him dead.

He described the injuries, which he said extended from the Mexican's head down over his body and right leg to his ankle. He had many skull fractures, especially on the right side, both jaws were broken in several places, and there were numerous hemorrhages under the skin of his body and leg.

Paulin testified there were tire marks on the complete right side of the man's clothing.

Gene Lusk of Carlsbad, assistant district attorney, who questioned the witnesses, instructed the jury before deliberations that it was its duty to establish that a death had happened and to determine how the person had died, determining whether the death was accidental, from foul play, or by negligence. He said he believed the evidence showed the death was from an unavoidable accident.

The inquest was carried out in considerable detail and care by the assistant district attorney, because of the international angle involved. A court reporter took down all testimony.

Artesia Police Officer Manuel Rodriguez served as interpreter for the testimony by the "braceros."

The coroner's jury: T. L. (Fat) Ditto, Howard Achen, Sanders Terry, Pat Darnaby, Jack Dohrer and W. L. Boyce.

Final Deer List Is To Be Published In Friday's Issue

As only a few more successful hunters have been reported since the Friday issue of the Advocate their names are being held back until the Friday issue, when it is hoped to announce the prize winners in the three local contests.

Either hunters or their friends are invited to report kills up to noon Wednesday, giving number of points, actual or estimated weights, and area or mountains in which killed.

It is hoped also to list the successful turkey hunters.

Good yarns for use at that time or later are being sought. They will not necessarily be included in the general story.

There are five copies of the Gettysburg Address in Lincoln's handwriting still extant.

Farm Boys, Girls To Be Honored At Big Barbecue

A king-size barbecue will be held at noon Saturday in Veterans Memorial Building when the Kiwanis Club and Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association will be hosts to farm boys and girls of the county.

The party will especially recognize the 4-H and Future Farmers of America members who won top awards in the junior livestock show held Nov. 4 in Carlsbad.

Also present will be other farm boys and girls, association members and customers and their wives, and Kiwanians and their wives.

Both beef and pork will be offered on the menu. The beef will be from the 1096-pound grand champion steer exhibited by Marshall Martin, while the pork will be from the hog shown by Albert Bach. The hog won fifth place at the show.

we feel it is spending too much to benefit a competitor."

If so much money is available to build roads, Blackman said, he thought the existing dangerous roads should be improved. The six-mile road from U.S. 62 to P.C.A. he said, is in poor condition, and has dangerous dips and curves. Every hard rain, he said, washes the road out.

Blackman and Haworth said they were not trying "to block a road" to serve Southwest Potash, but wanted Southwest Potash to participate "to some equitable extent" in the cost.

Herman Wertheim, chamber director, recalled that tax money had

New Mexico weather to do something, so can you depend on Chuck Baldwin, which brings us back to football.

Along about Wednesday of last week, Chuck dug out some red showcard paint and painted in flaming letters on the front of Baldwin's "Beat Carlsbad!"

Then he went up and down the street, painting other windows, including one at The Advocate office with the same hopes, until he ran out of paint—all for free.

The first thing Saturday morning, when merchants were quickly trying to remove the signs—which failed to work—from their windows, Chuck stepped out in front and removed one of the two words, leaving the other for all to see: "Beat!"

We would be amiss to speak about the great Cavemen without telling also about the Bulldogs.

They too are a gallant team, a bunch of fine young fellows who played their hearts out Friday.

No one need be ashamed of them or the outcome of the game. The Bulldogs need not be ashamed. They were defeated by a great club.

And our hat is off to the Bulldogs, who have our warmest support in their final clash of the season, when they meet the Eagles at Hobbs on Turkey Day.

—o—

We understand there was a party from Artesia which went to a night spot in Carlsbad after the game.

And in the party was one old boy whose dancing dates back a number of years.

As the little woman dragged him around the floor, she told him kindly, "Waltz a little faster, dear. This is a rhumba."

and property owners definitely profit more from tourists, new investors and a growing city with high property values than other interests. Printers, photographers, restaurants and the like often sell services directly to chambers.

A few of the projects the chamber plans to attack during the forthcoming year, either alone or in cooperation with other organizations, are listed below.

Bear two important points in mind: We have several matters in mind or in process that cannot be prematurely publicized; and several major items will arise during the year we cannot now anticipate, some of them of emergency nature.

Goodwill meetings throughout the trade territory.

Water conservation and flood control committee.

Bad check and phony solicitation alarm system.

Broadened community recreation program.

Placement of defense installations, etc.

Better roads in Artesia trade territory.

Activation of Highway 83 Association.

Assisting civil defense planning.

Oil field-potash loop road.

A wholesale grocery house.

The 4-H-F.F.A. exhibit and sale.

An Artesia folder.

More publicity.

Air service.

Bill Siegenthaler, president, and Clyde Guy, vice president, head the two divisions of the campaign.

There are 14 chairmen in all for the 12 teams. Losing team will pay for the breakfast. In the list below first named is chairman.

PRESENTING NEWS EACH WEEK ABOUT THESE LIVE, PROGRESSIVE FIRMS OF ARTESIA AND THE PECOS VALLEY

Complete Supplies Are Handled By Williams Lumber

The Williams Lumber Company on the Hope highway west of Artesia is operated by Lew E. Williams and his sons, George and Ralph, who came to Artesia 11 years ago and opened their lumber yard about 10 years ago.

The elder Mr. Williams said they came to Artesia from Flagstaff, Ariz., seeking a better climate. "And we found it," he said. He had been in the sawmill business previously. They started the business here by buying and selling rough lumber and today they have a thriving and continuously growing concern.

The firm does contracting of all kinds of new commercial and residential buildings and also does repair work and remodeling. Free plans and estimates are furnished on homes.

All kinds of builders' supplies can be found at Williams Lumber Company. Included is Bird Lock-joint Roofing, which is a fireproof composition shingle, which comes in different colors.

Williams Lumber Company handles Ideal window units, sash, window, and screen—with patented weights. There also may be found doors, ready to hang; all kinds of builders' hardware, a complete line of paints for inside or outside use, window screening, chicken wire, and stucco netting, cement, plaster wallboard, a special Tylac board for kitchen and bathroom walls, and Olympic door locks, which are easily and quickly installed.

Williams Lumber Company, which employs seven men and has two large trucks and two pick-ups for delivery, makes free delivery to any place in the valley on orders of any size.

Here is an exterior view of the Clyde Guy Malco Distributor headquarters at 100 West Quay Avenue in Artesia, phone 373, which distributes that splendid Malco gasoline and all Malco fuel oils, manufactured in the Pecos Valley. Also distributed are D-X oils and greases, Pennzoi, U.S. and United tires and tubes, and Amalie oils. In the picture, Jack Holcomb, manager, is shown at the left of the group with some of his employees.

Scotty's Nite Club Is Nice Place to Go

Scotty's Nite Club on the Roswell highway is just the place to go for an evening's entertainment. There you will hear Lee Bell and His Boys with their top dance music six nights a week.

Just ask Lee for your favorite tune, then get out on the 45x52 dance floor for some real dancing. Between dances there is ample seating space at Scotty's Nite Club for 145 people at the tables and chairs of chrome with colorful leather upholstery. The entire building has a hardwood floor, smooth and nice for dancing.

Melbourne C. Scott, owner of Scotty's Nite Club, formerly the Hi-Hat Club, takes pleasure in assuring you that you can find your favorite drink at Scotty's, properly mixed and well made.

Scotty's Nite Club carries all leading brands of beer and liquors. For anyone who wants to have a good time at a good place in a gentlemanly or ladylike way, Scotty's Nite Club 13 miles north of Artesia on the Roswell highway is the place to go.

New York City's transportation system, largest municipally owned system in the United States, operates more than 800 route miles.

NOTICE OF SALE Notice is hereby given that pursuant to a Final Judgment for the foreclosure of a paving lien rendered by this Court in the above entitled cause on September 14, 1950, the undersigned Special Master will offer for sale and sell to the highest bidder for cash at the south door of the City Hall of Artesia, Eddy County, New Mexico, at 10:00 A. M. on the 9th day of December, 1950, the following described real estate: North one-half of Lot 1 in Block 4 of the Roselawn Addition to the City of Artesia, Eddy County, New Mexico, and all appurtenances thereto. The amounts to be realized from the sale of said real estate are the costs of this suit, the costs of said sale, the sum of $180.34 as attorney fees and the sum of $1,803.41 interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of judgment. The terms of sale are that the purchaser shall pay cash at the time the property is struck off to him. MILFORD D. ESTILL, Special Master. 91-41-T-97

NOTICE State Engineer's Office Number of Application RA-809-A Santa Fe, N. M., November 2, 1950. Notice is hereby given that on the 20th day of October, 1950, in accordance with Chapter 131 of the Session Laws of 1931, Cleto Torres of Artesia, County of Eddy, State of New Mexico, made application to the State Engineer of New Mexico for a permit to change location of well by abandoning and plugging well described in Declaration No. RA-809, located in the NW 1/4 NW 1/4, Section 23, Township 17 N., Range 26 East, N.M.P.M., and using well described in Declaration No. RA-745, located in the SE 1/4 NW 1/4, of said Section 23, for the purpose of continuing the irrigation of 53 acres of land described as part of the NW 1/4 of Section 26, Township 17 South, Range 26 East, N.M.P.M. No additional rights over and above those set forth in Declarations Nos. RA-745 and RA-809 are contemplated under this application. Appropriation of water from all sources combined not to exceed 20 acre feet per annum delivered upon 103 acres of land described in the NW 1/4 of Section 26, Township 17 South, Range 26 East, N. M.P.M. Any person, firm, association, corporation, the State of New Mexico or the United States of America, deeming that the granting of the above application will be truly detrimental to their rights in the waters of said underground source, may protest in writing to the State Engineer's granting approval of said application. The protest shall set forth all protestant's reasons why the application should not be approved and shall be accompanied by supporting affidavits and by proof that a copy of the protest has been served upon the applicant. Said protest and proof of service must be filed with the State Engineer within ten (10) days after the date of the last publication of this notice. Unless protested, the application will be taken up for consideration by the State Engineer on that date, being on or about the 10th day of December, 1950. John H. Bliss, State Engineer. 91-31-T-95

Advocate Is Growing

THE ARTESIA ADVOCATE is now into its second year as a twice-a-week publication. It was started as a twice-a-week paper on Sept. 20, 1949.

During this more than a year the paper has grown considerably in the fields it is seeking to cover and in the service it is seeking to render to the community.

There has been an increase in the number of employees required to handle the news for the paper. And that news, we feel, has increased. Many fine compliments have been paid the paper. Resolutions of thanks and appreciation on the sports appearing in the paper and the efforts of the paper to boost the sports here have been adopted and sent to The Advocate.

During the year, however, although the paper has grown, the circulation has not increased. There has been a definite decrease in the number of subscribers. The increased subscription price because it is a twice-a-week paper is doubtless responsible for that. The paper still has a splendid circulation and it still is the only weekly or twice-a-week paper in the state with A.B.C. membership—audited circulation.

Although many may have felt that the gross business of the paper in advertising since it is printed twice weekly would double. That has not proven to be the case.

The volume of advertising it carries is sufficient to justify it. It is not, however, twice as much as was carried in the paper when it was published as a weekly.

It is greater than as a weekly but far from being twice as much. When the frequency of the publication was increased from once to twice a week it divided, in a way, the advertising being carried.

We feel sure that the paper has been improved because of the things said and because of its increased service. We are eager and to see this growth continue in the weeks and the months ahead.

Feel sure it will do just that, with the fine co-operation of the staff and the business people of Artesia and this community.

ill Fits

FOUR MONTHS AGO we published Lincoln's Gettysburg Address explaining that this year is four score and seven years since we were publishing it and that we were publishing it at that fear we might forget it on or near the anniversary date.

At the other day we turned up the little booklet from which we took it before, a booklet sent us by Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, one of the largest advertising agencies.

Believing no one can read the address too many times, here it is again:

"Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth, upon this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

"No we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation, so conceived, and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met here on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of it as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this."

"But in a larger sense we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here, but can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they here have, thus far, so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they here gave their last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that this government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Now just stop a minute and apply those words to our boys who are dying in Korea in the cause of a free world as against a world ruled in slavery under communism.—A.L.B.

All Have Competition

VERY FREQUENTLY WE HAVE THE IDEA as individuals in a community that certain business concern here do not have competition. And this idea, of course, may develop from the fact that those individuals are the only ones in the community handling a particular product, rendering a particular service or offering one kind of merchandise.

However, we can assure you that every business concern in our city has competition—plenty of competition. They have competition whether they are the only business here or not.

For instances the stores and firms in nearby cities in these days and times of automobiles and fast transportation are competitors of our local merchants. The mail-order houses continue to enjoy far more business than they should have out of our cities and towns.

That mail-order catalog is always handy—too handy oftentimes for the good of the local merchants.

The radio station here may be the only radio station but they have plenty of competition because their revenues depend on the sale of advertising.

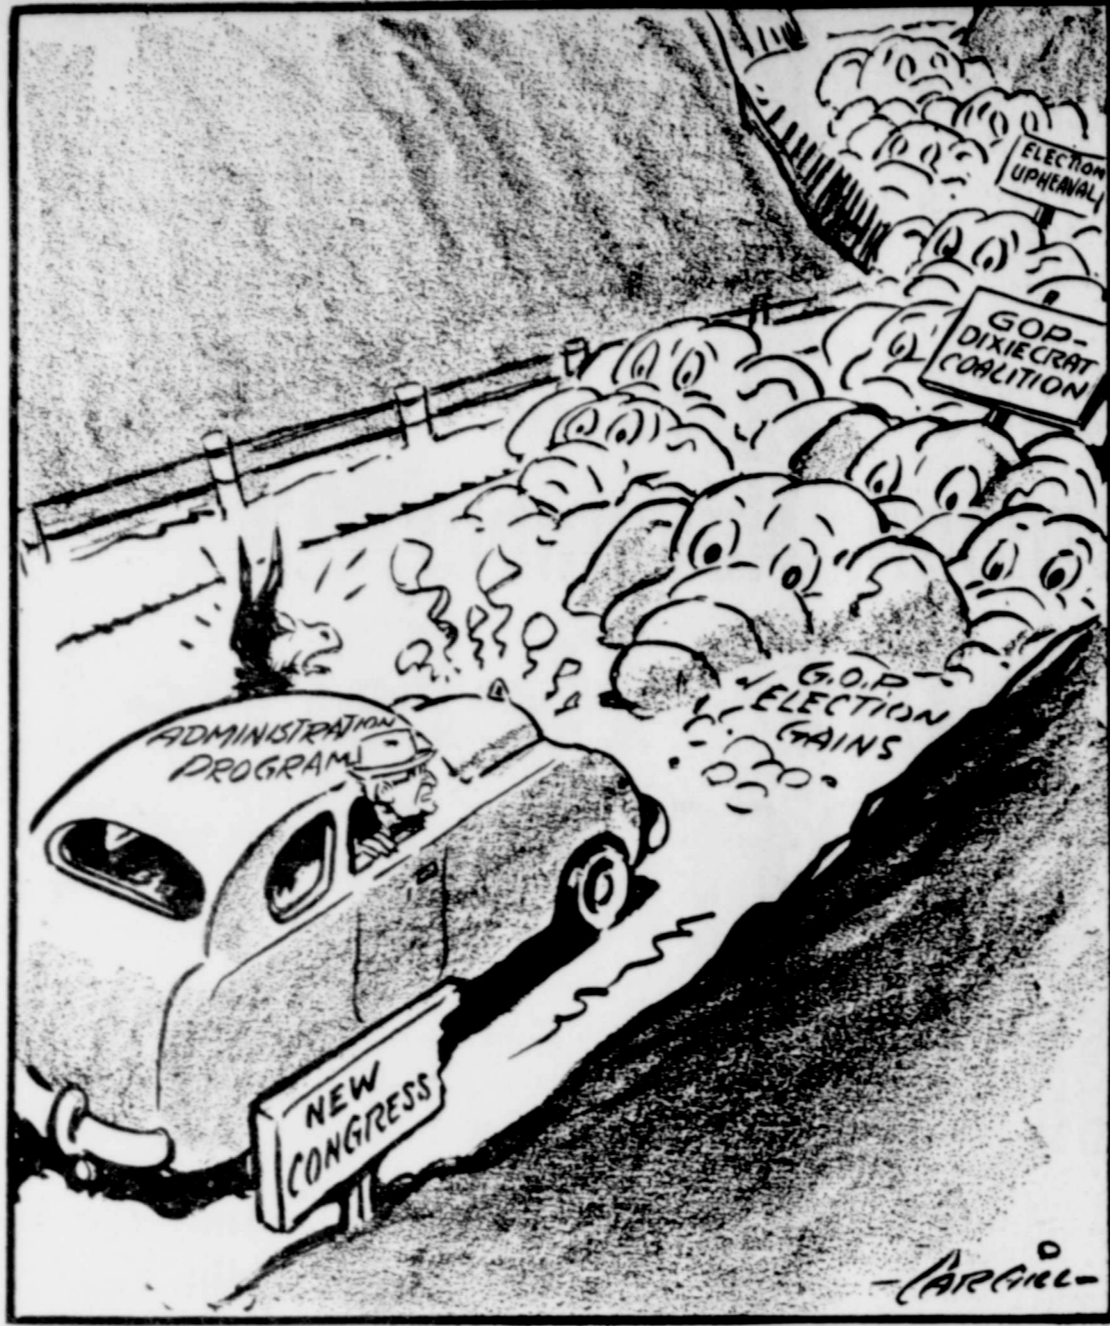

This newspaper has plenty of competition even though it is the only newspaper here. Oftentimes people argue that the paper has no competition. That, of course, is a mistaken idea. The paper has competition from other newspapers. And every other advertising medium including the radio, the billboards, circulars, posters, advertising menus, hotel register advertising, placards, direct-mail advertising, novelty advertising—all of these are competitors of the newspaper. They are after their share of the advertising dollar spent in this community.

And we haven't mentioned the songbooks, the advertising on entertainment programs, stage curtains, highway signs and a score of other ways and means of advertising.

Yes, we all have competition. And we have competition whether it is in our community or not. There are always others after the same business and the same dollars we go after.

Frequently we do not fully realize and appreciate this fact, although it is true.—O.E.P.

NEW TEST FOR THE SHOCK ABSORBERS

What Other Editors Are Saying

AMERICA SHOULD SIGN

The United Nations convention against the crime of genocide is in effect. It became a solemn commitment among more than the required 20 nations when on Oct. 16 the ratifications of France, Haiti, Costa Rica, and the Republic of Korea were deposited at the UN Secretariat.

It does not, however, carry the signature or ratification of the United States. The proposal to adhere to it—and so to go on record against mass persecutions and slayings of racial or other groups—will be one of the important items on the calendar of the United States Senate when it reconvenes in November.

Earnest and serious objections have been made to the manner in which this pact is drawn. They were argued with such effect that the American Bar Association convention in September, 1949, recommended against its ratification.

An imposing list of other organizations has endorsed the pact, and to their approval now has been added that of more than 20 sovereign governments.

It is true that under the American constitutional system a treaty has force of law, extending even into the states, which does not automatically follow ratification in many other countries. For this reason a "federal-state clause" has been included in later UN compacts. And to safeguard against possible technicalities a series of "understandings" has been presented to the Senate for adoption with the genocide convention.

Now that enough nations have ratified to place the convention in force, it is extremely unlikely that the UN Assembly will resubmit it to a new drafting conference. However, the treaty itself provides that a request for its revision may be made at any time by a nation subscribing to it.

Under these circumstances, we believe the United States should help to make genocide an international crime by ratifying this convention.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

From the time immemorial, health axioms have circulated throughout Eddy County, and elsewhere and there are those who swear by them, just as they cherish magic formulas to cure many diseases.

Gradually, however, doctors, scientists and better education are exploding some of these beliefs, although it would not be safe to state that all of them are without value. Just for fun, let's check up on your own ideas. Do you think:

That a persistent cough developed into tuberculosis; that one gets warts from handling toadfrogs; that eating seed-containing fruit causes appendicitis; that you should not go to sleep after eating a big meal; that light hurts your eyes when you have a cold, or that removing a splinter with a pin will cause blood-poisoning?

Now, before reading any further, check up on your opinions. How many of the things listed above fit in with your own belief?

Well, the answer to all of them, according to health authorities, is a vigorous negative!—Eddy County News, Carlsbad.

MOTOR VEHICLE INSPECTION

The problem of safety on the highways requires much more than speeches deploring the loss of life and limb. It is a situation that requires concerted and prolonged attack by officers and officials charged with enforcing traffic regulations.

There is also a need for periodic inspection of automobiles using the highways. There are thousands of dangerously defective motor vehicles on the roads every day and they are apt to be involved in serious accidents.

The overloading of trucks is another dangerous menace. Undoubtedly, there are many truck operators who scrupulously obey the law but, just as apparently, there are hundreds who disobey safety regulations. An overloaded truck, one should remember, cannot stop in the face of an emergency and may easily crash into other vehicles.

If all nations surrendered control of all colonial areas the plight of the people in the subject areas would not be improved.—Eddy County News, Carlsbad.

We can be thankful the weather isn't half as irritating as the people who constantly complain about it.

As Artesia Grows

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for Nov. 20, 1950)

Business conditions in the immediate section have been above par during November and Artesia merchants are looking forward to an increased trade volume from now until the close of the holidays.

The Palace Drug Store has practically completed moving operations to the new quarters at the corner of Roselawn and Main.

A merry crowd of little girls helped Barbara Wheatley celebrate her sixth birthday anniversary last Saturday afternoon.

Miss Helen Sage, teacher in the Roswell schools, visited with her aunt, Mrs. Frank Wilson, and Mr. Wilson over the week end.

Rufus Stinnet of the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, spent last week end as a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green.

Mrs. Ralph Shugart was hostess at a delightful two-course luncheon last Friday. Guests were Meses. E. M. Phillips, M. W. Evans, J. H. Jackson, R. G. Knoder, Rex Wheatley, Chester Russell, E. L. Paris, and H. A. Stroup.

Stewart Compton gave a dancing party last Saturday evening in honor of his guests, Will Arnett and Myron Florsheim, of Albuquerque.

Dr. O. E. Puckett of Carlsbad, county health officer, spent Tuesday here testing children for successful vaccination for typhoid fever.

One of the most successful parties of the season was given Friday night by Mrs. J. Harvey Wilson.

Mrs. A. T. Woods spent last week in San Antonio, Texas.

The reception given by the library board last Saturday afternoon was a real social event. It was given primarily to observe "National Book Week," and secondly to create in the public a greater interest in this important institution. Miss Catherine Clarke and Mrs. Stanley Blocker presided over the punchbowl.

The Chevie Six Bridge Club met with Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Bird last Thursday evening. There was an extra table of guests, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cole, Miss Ruth Morgan, and Howard Whitson.

Mrs. Jesse Morgan, grand secretary of the Eastern Star, Mr. and Mrs. Arba Green, Mrs. E. H. Perry, Mrs. J. M. Story, Mrs. M. W. Evans, and Mrs. Helen Green drove to Lake Arthur Tuesday evening to attend the Star meeting and bring back the grand worthy matron, Mrs. Mae Tillman, of Albuquerque, who is making her official visits to the valley.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From The Advocate files for Nov. 21, 1940)

Awards by local firms for prize deer at the close of the 1940 big game hunting season in New Mexico were somewhat divided because of the difference in rules. The owner of the biggest deer weighed in at Artesia, H. H. Dale of East Grand Plains, Texas, received no award, having failed to register. The L. P. Evans Company award went to John Boren. N. Muncy, Jr., was awarded the hat from Baldwin's.

S. J. Lanning, commander of the American Legion post, speaking Monday at a meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association at Central School, gave an enlightening address on "Americanism," in which he pointed out the privileges of being an American, as well as the subversive activities designed to rob the people of this country of their liberties.

Lynn Cobble, Artesia youth who graduated from high school here last May, was honored Tuesday at the regular meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club, when he was presented a certificate of merit from the Santa Fe Railway System in recognition of his work in the 4-H Club and having been one of three young men this year to receive the railway's award in New Mexico of trips to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Mrs. Rex Wheatley entertained with a buffet dinner and dance at the Wheatley home Monday evening complimenting her daughter, Barbara, on her 18th anniversary.

Mrs. Paul Terry was hostess to relatives of Mrs. J. D. Terry when she entertained with a turkey dinner at the home of Mrs. J. D. Terry Wednesday of last week in observance of the 91st birthday of the elder Mrs. Terry.

Mrs. H. M. Moutray of Seven Rivers was hostess to members of the Lakewood Extension Club last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Roger Durand opened her home to the members of the Sunshine Sunday School Class of the Methodist Church when they met last Thursday afternoon for a party

NEW YORK—The ways you can make a living in this strangest of all cities are countless. There are professions in existence in New York that would be right up starvation alley anywhere else. Look for instance, at the men who go around with string and wad of gum, fishing coins from the catch-alls under subway ventilation gratings.

And the "stoopers," who trudge around the race-tracks daily hunting for uncashed pari-mutuel tickets that have been erroneously or unconsciously thrown away.

You might even take Herman Seiden, printer. Mr. Seiden might make a living at his trade in Vicksburg, Miss., because printers are in need everywhere, although not quite so important as grocers. But Mr. Seiden's specialty might die on the balmy southern air in Vicksburg. You see, he prints stage money.

For some reason, playwrights always are writing money into their dialogue. The result of this Freudian impulse is that Herman, a middle-aged but youthful-looking soul, turns out from three to five million pieces of money a year. That's "pieces."

The most popular phones he turns out are one and ten-dollar bills, but he also delivers grand and C-notes, as we say in the second-story trade, so the total amount of the queer he prints is impossible to judge. All this has gone on for 20 years, and Herman just grins and says his output during his career is "way up in the billions."

Herman has to send samples of his bills to the Treasury department before he starts printing. If the TD approves them as "not too genuine," he's off to the races.

The stage-money dodge used to be strictly in the hands of European firms, but Seiden now is the big man of the industry. He lives in Brooklyn and he likes to remember a letter he once got from an inmate in Alcatraz. "Let's get together and do a little business in a year, when I get out," the letter read.

THEN THERE IS SAM SIMON, who at 78 has a corner on the umbrella market. You would think that you couldn't do much with umbrellas but make them and put them on a department store counter to be sold on rainy days.

Sam, however, has made it an art, and his Uncle Sam's umbrella shop in West 44th street has been for 44 years the mecca of New Yorkers who want—well, who want umbrellas.

There are more than 300 assorted kinds of canes and umbrellas in his shop and in 60 years he has repaired or sold more than a half million.

Like miners or delicatessen owners, umbrella makers have a family heritage. Sam's father established a shop in 1866 in the Bowery, and he in turn learned the business from his father, back in Germany.

It would startle you, the way umbrella makers can go off on a tangent. Sam has turned out umbrellas and canes that also serve as swords, fishing poles, compact, flashlights and seats. He made one umbrella with a built-in flask.

Sam sold the late F. D. R. his black ebony canes, and he repaired one of J. P. Morgan's umbrellas regularly. The Charlie Chaplin whangee canes came from Uncle Sam, and Diamond Jim Brady was another customer.

I got a cane from Sam a few years ago, with a handsome huckle head, but I seem to remember leaving it on a barstool in a Paris saloon.

A COMPANY THAT DOESN'T SPECIALIZE so sharply but does turn out a product with a limited market is the Humane Police Equipment company of New York, whose latest triumph is a rubber night-stick.

This is a required item of dress with Manhattan flatfoots, and it may grieve or delight you, depending on how it strikes your fancy, to know that if you get in trouble here in the future, you no longer will be whacked on the skull with the familiar rosewood bill. The equipment bureau of the Police department, in directing the change, reported that the new stick, which has a "vented and hollow" chamber, is easier on a crook's head and is harder to take away from the cop.

This is good news to me, since I long since have wearied of watching policemen break in some thug's head with their clubs, a procedure I have seen demonstrated more than once. They never seemed to be happy with just clubbing them into insensibility.

MEANWHILE, I AM LOOKING AROUND for one of these unusual occupations myself. How about a man who sits around all week and does nothing, but collects a paycheck for it? Oh, there are some of those? Yes, yes, I know, but I mean, besides politicians.

FRANK SINATRA was invited to lunch one day with the big-shots in the MGM executive dining room. He reported later that the conversation had shifted ever so briefly from inevitable shop-talk to the subject of self-control. One producer—Sinatra disguises him under the name of Brown—asserted boldly, "I haven't touched liquor, played cards for money, or bet on a horse race in twenty years."

"Gosh," interjected Sinatra, "I wish I could say that." "Why don't you?" urged L. B. Mayer. "Brown just did."

Under the act, VA is authorized to guarantee payment of premiums on the serviceman's policy up to $10,000 worth of commercial life insurance. VA can also guarantee interest payments on loans on that policy.

These guarantees are not automatic, VA said. Application must be made by the serviceman through his military or naval establishment, and must be approved by VA. Relatives of servicemen stationed abroad may apply for this serviceman directly to VA.

Any premiums or policy loan interest paid by VA for the insured under this act remains as an indebtedness to the government until repaid by the serviceman, or veteran following his discharge

Expansion of Armed Forces Brings Inquiries

With the rapid expansion of the armed forces, Veterans Administration is receiving numerous inquiries about servicemen's rights under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act.

The act, as amended, applies to such civil liabilities as commercial life insurance policies, rent, installment contracts, mortgages (including GI loans), taxes and public lands.

VA administers only the section of the act that authorizes protection of the serviceman's commercial life insurance. However, certain legal questions arising under the GI loan guaranty program may come up for consideration by VA.

Local Farm Topic Of Magazine Story

A story and picture about the C. R. Yoder family and their 88-acre farm located nine miles north of Artesia appears in the November issue of Southwestern Crop and Stock.

The story tells how Yoder and his son, Dale, providing their own labor, have leveled 29 acres thus far. Each year more will be put on plant until the entire farm is finished.

"Land that had been producing not more than one-fourth bale of cotton per acre now is producing a bale and a half since leveling and proper placing of ditches and drop structures all of which allow even distribution and penetration of irrigation water."

At the top of the story is a picture of a sign. Cutlines read:

"C. R. Yoder of Artesia, N. M., believes that if a farmer is fair to his land the land will more than repay the kindness. This sign erected on his farm testifies to that belief. One of numerous signs in the vicinity it reads:

"Are you on the level with your soil? This farmer is."

"A cooperater with the Central Valley Soil Conservation District results bear out his slogan."

He says he knows most folks don't realize what a change HADACOL can make in their life if their systems are deficient in Vitamins B, B1, Iron and Niacin. Here is Mr. Goldsmith's statement:

"Before I started taking HADACOL I was run down and nervous—and had a hard time sleeping nights. With my work in the store I have to spend sometimes 14 hours a day on my feet. Since I am in the retail business I saw how many folks were asking for HADACOL so I decided to try it myself. After the first couple of bottles I could tell a definite improvement. Now I have all the pep and energy in the world, my nerves are steady as ever and I really do get a good night's rest. HADACOL is wonderful—I not only take it, but recommend it to all my customers. I praise the day Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc put HADACOL on the market."

HADACOL is So Different Thousands are benefiting from HADACOL... whose systems lack Vitamins B, B1, Iron and Niacin. HADACOL is so wonderful because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these great Vitamins and Minerals to every body organ—to every part of the body. Military Amateur Radio Operators Locate Melons for Sick Girl

To most people watermelon is far from a necessity, but to those persons suffering from blood dyscrasias, watermelon is a lifesaving necessity.

The fact that the young daughter of Lee Gray, a radio amateur operator in Dallas, Texas, was stricken from the disease in the middle of November when watermelons were practically non-existent started a radio "emergency net," of which K5WAC, military amateur radio system at Fort Bliss was one of the main factors. When Lee Gray, who operates under the call, W5DNF, learned of the necessity for the watermelon, he called stations in South America, attempting to locate the melons. unable to grant his request, a station in Panama called W4RTO, the Marine Corps amateur radio station in Washington, D. C., and the air began to hum.

M-Sgt. Fred Wuenschel, chief operator of K5WAC, the Fort Bliss station, found himself, as "net control" station, sending queries throughout the southern part of the United States over the armed forces amateur radio network attempting to locate the watermelons.

Florida, a likely prospect, had none. By that time, stations at Scott Air Base, Ill., the Marine Corps stations at Camp Pendleton, Calif., and El Toro, Calif., and many other stations were engaged in the search for the seemingly elusive watermelons. Finally 25 melons were located in San Fernando Valley in California, and notice was sent that they were being loaded aboard a Braniff Air Lines plane for flight to Dallas.

Then came word from San Antonio that 25 melons were located there and were being rushed to Kelly Field for a flight to Dallas. Another report came in that there was a possibility of getting 25 more in Little Rock, Ark., and a courier was on his way from Conway, Ark., to attempt to locate the melons.

Finally word came through the speakers at K5WAC: "Enough watermelons have been located for the present. Only one watermelon a week is necessary. About four are on hand at present in Dallas." The emergency was over—50 of the life-prolonging watermelons were on their way for future use, with 25 more in prospect.

Sergeant Wuenschel received his first call at about noon. It was 2:30 o'clock when he called all the stations in the emergency net and announced that the emergency was over. In two and a half hours, thanks to the alertness of amateur radio operators all over the country, melons were on hand, more on the way, and arrangements were being made with a cold storage firm in Corsicana, Texas, to store the extra melons for future use.

Hoarse and tired but smiling after the two and a half hours of excitement, Sergeant Wuenschel thanked each of the stations in the emergency net for the co-operation and then ordered "secure all stations."

Amateur radio had again proved its worth as a speedy and efficient public servant and life saver.

Extension Service Distributes Many Publications

Agricultural and home economics publications distributed by the New Mexico Extension Service were more popular than ever in 1950, according to annual report figures released by G. L. Boykin, associate extension director.

A total of 260,194 printed and mimeographed publications were distributed during the past year, on request from both rural and urban people. This is an increase of more than 65,000 over last year's total of 195,000 publications distributed.

The types and numbers of publications distributed by the State Extension Service during 1950 were as follows: U. S. Department of Agriculture publications, 38,388; New Mexico Extension Service circulars, 32,347; New Mexico Experiment Station bulletins, 42,406; mimeographed material for 4-H members and leaders, 84,359 and other mimeographed extension information, 62,794. In addition, 8903 record books and 89,025 record forms were sent to 4-H Club members.

These figures do not include the thousands of circular letters, radio schedules and news releases which were mailed out by extension workers. More than 36,000 copies of the monthly New Mexico Extension News were sent to persons who had requested the magazine.

During 1950, the most popular

New Mexico Extension Service circulars were "Historic Cookery," 3580 copies; "Let's Learn to Bake," 3003 copies; "Poultry Raising," 2717 copies; "Ornamental Trees and Shrubs," 1891 copies and "Growing a Home Garden in New Mexico," 1889 copies.

Of the State Experiment Station bulletins, most popular were "Raising Dairy Calves," 2452 copies; "Chicken and Egg Production in New Mexico," 915 copies; "Prices of New Mexico Farm and Ranch Products," 886 copies; "Growing Grapes in New Mexico," 836 copies; and "Effect of Rabbits, Rodents and Cattle on Two Vegetation Types of Semi-Desert Range Land," 731 copies.

New USDA Tests Show Heat Also Keeps Eggs Fresh

While cool temperatures are commonly recommended to keep eggs fresh, it has been found that heat, when properly used, can do the same thing.

U. S. Department of Agriculture researchers have been experimenting with extending the keeping quality of the eggs by treating them with a film of heated oil. Tests on about 400 cases of eggs showed the possibility of considerable saving for egg processors and in quality for consumers by the oil heat treatment.

The tests indicate that the hot oil treatment prevents the normal thinning of the egg white during storage.

Treating eggs with heat to keep them fresh is not a new technique. Records that go back for a century tell of preserving eggs by "dipping them for 20 seconds in boiling water and then keeping them wet dried in finely sifted ashes."

Studies of the heat treatment—thermostabilization as it is called—are being continued by the USDA.

The common cold costs American school children 26,635,111 days of school each year.

Thanksgiving

For 329 years, since the first year after the original colonists landed at Plymouth Rock, Americans have paused following the harvest season to offer Thanksgiving for the benefits that have been theirs.

There have been lean years as well as those that were bountiful. Peace—the credo of all Christian men—has in some years been replaced by warfare and strife. But on every Thanksgiving occasion there has been much for which we—and our forefathers—could give thanks.

At this Thanksgiving season there will be those of us who will discount the riches and blessings that have been our lot. But now—as never before in history—humanity looks to the United States for Thanksgiving. And all our people can be thankful that we share our bounty with the peoples of other lands in the cause of a permanent peace.
