Safety Feature To Thwart Hot Check Is Born Here

There's something new under the sun—a new type of check stub, devised to make it next to impossible for merchants to be stuck with bad checks from strangers—and it was born here and is appearing in Artesia stores this week for the first time.

The idea is the brain child of Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, who makes no claim there are not similar checks in use in other communities, but he has never seen one.

However, at the recent meeting of the New Mexico Sheriffs & Police Association he was informed there are checks in use in Los Angeles incorporating some of the same ideas and that they are a great success. But that was weeks after Chief Westfall first put his idea on paper, and the first sample had been laid out at The Advocate office, and the banks had ordered thousands of them.

The checks proper, which have been printed for the First National and Peoples State Banks, follow the regular pattern, while the safety features are incorporated in the stubs.

Printed thereon are spaces for the person writing a check to sign his name, car operator permit number, social security number, car license number and city and street address. And there is a space for a print of his right index finger, which is the clincher.

Form for a check stub from First State Bank, Artesia, N. Mex. Includes fields for Name, No., Operator Permit No., S. S. No., Car Lic. No., City or Town, Street or P. O. No., and a section for 'PAY TO THE ORDER OF' with a 'Right Index' stamp area.

any or all of them, along with the fingerprint, will be of great assistance to merchants and officers, in case a stranger's check bounces. Furthermore, the chief said, a stranger planning to pass a hot check or to write a check without funds, or to forge a check, is likely to back down if confronted with the new form and asked for the information and required to have his fingerprint taken.

of him. The honest person won't mind, but the dishonest is likely to refuse, he said. Should a customer be asked to fill out a check stub and be printed and refuses, he should be turned down, the chief said. Perhaps the person is all right and is merely indignant and will walk out in a huff.

use of the new check will average up with those of competitors. And certainly the number of bad checks will be greatly reduced in the Artesia trade territory, the chief said. The chances are, however, that if a person refuses to furnish the information and be printed his check would not have been good in the first place, he added.

ated if a check proves to be no good. Chief Westfall pointed out that the banks have gone to considerable expense in having the checks printed and put up in books of 25. They cost considerably more than the common pads of counter checks.

strangers, or anyone of whom the merchant is not certain. The first of the checks from both banks are being delivered this week by police, who are explaining their purpose and use to merchants, at the same time prevailing upon them to use them when in doubt—and urging them to be in doubt if the check writer is a stranger. Chief Westfall stressed the importance of co-operation of all merchants in the use of the checks. He said the success of the idea depends on their proper use. And he stressed the great help a filled-out stub would be to officers in case a person gives a bad check in place of the information and fingerprint. The chief said that last year in Artesia about $1500 in bad checks were filed on, but that a conservative estimate is that only one in 20, or about 5 per cent, of them are ever filed on. Some of the others may come to the attention of the police, even though merchants may not enter complaints, while there are still others which merchants write off and forget. All of that will be unnecessary if the new checks and stubs are used, Chief Westfall said. He said that in the national crime report, of all larceny cases, only 21.6 per cent are cleared up by arrest. So the chances are slim when a hot check is accepted from a stranger or ever apprehending him, in (Continued on Page Eight)

Flasher Light at Atoka Crossing Has Approval

A flasher signal light for the Atoka railroad crossing, six miles south of Artesia, has been approved on the budget of the Pecos Division of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway. This was the information contained in a letter dated Nov. 21 received by Bob Koonce, manager of Artesia Chamber of Commerce, which for some time has been seeking this improvement.

Christmas Seals Are Mailed to 3500 Homes in North Eddy County

To 3500 North Eddy County homes has gone a letter, with two sheets of Christmas Seals enclosed, seeking donations in the 44th annual Christmas Seal sale. "It takes only a moment to write a check or slip some bills in the envelope," says Mrs. Naomi Votaw, publicity chairman of the North Eddy County Tuberculosis Committee.

You may buy all of them or as many as you choose. "Answer your Christmas Seal letter by returning to us your contribution and the seals that you will not be using. "Only a small per cent of the money collected goes to state and national organizations. The remainder stays in Eddy County and we have a heavy tuberculosis load here."

Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive Starts Off Well This Week

A total of $4882 has been obtained in cash and pledges and a list of 67 memberships turned in for the 1951 membership campaign of Artesia Chamber of Commerce. Membership for the year now expiring is 140. Goal is 250 for the new year. Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber, was all smiles Wednesday as he told of the prompt response given the canvassers. He especially mentioned the fact that some of the new members were obtained even though their names were not on workers' lists.

Artesia Toastmasters Club Charter Banquet To Be Saturday Night

Complete program of the Artesia Toastmasters Club charter party banquet to be held at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night, Nov. 25, in Masonic Temple, was made known today by Clyde Gilman, president. The ladies' night, informal affair will be the occasion of the presentation of the charter to the Artesia club which has been assigned No. 907. Presentation will be made by William C. Patten, Albuquerque extension chairman, District 23, Russell Thorwaldsen, Santa Fe, Area 2 governor, will present a gavel, with acceptance by President Gilman. Installation of officers will be conducted by Clarence E. Olson, district governor, George W. McKin, Albuquerque, first district governor, will be evaluator. Mayor Oren C. Roberts will give the address of welcome and Clyde Guy the benediction. There are 33 members in the club. First organizational meeting was held in early October. Officers are Clyde L. Gilman, president; Marshall Rowley, vice president; Howard Achen, secretary; Irvin M. Goldstein, sergeant-at-arms; G. Taylor Cole, deputy governor; and Robert Siegal, educational chairman. Other members are: James Anderson, Homer Bourland, Robert Bourland, Stanley Carper, Glen Clem, Charles Currier, Maurice Dippel, Orville Durbin, George Ferriman, Ray Griffin, Wayne Griffin, Clyde Guy, Floyd Hall, W. Thompson, Grady Wright. Program outlined: The charter party is divided into three parts, introduction, speech, and presentation of charter and officer installation. Invocation, G. Taylor Cole; introduction of guests, Goldstein; address of welcome, Mayor Roberts. Speech, Robert Bourland, toastmaster; Marshall Rowley, Glen Clem, L. G. Jackson, speakers; Clarence Key, reserve speaker; general topic, Bill Keys; evaluator, William C. Patten. In the final phase will be the presentation of a charter; installation of officers by District Governor; and Robert Siegal, educational chairman. (Continued on Page Eight)

Estill Appointed Justice Peace During Interim

The Eddy County Board of County Commissioners on Tuesday appointed Milford D. Estill, Artesia attorney, justice of the peace of Precinct 6, the Artesia precinct, for the remainder of the present term. Judge J. D. Josey had tendered his resignation as justice of the peace because of ill health, but informed the board it was his intention to qualify and again enter the duties of the office when the new term starts the first Monday in February, to which he was elected at the general election Nov. 7. In his letter of resignation, Judge Josey told the commissioners his doctors have ordered him to take a rest of two or three months. Judge Josey, who had not been well and had been under the care of a physician for some time, suffered a heart attack on the eve of the election. Although he had not filed as a candidate to succeed himself, Judge Josey had let it be known he would like to be re-elected and he won over a number of others by written ballot, as there was no one registered. Judge Estill, in commenting on his appointment by the commissioners, said, "Because of the time required for my law practice, this appointment was not sought by me, nor do I intend to accept it beyond such time as Judge Josey shall qualify himself for the term to which he was elected on Nov. 7."

Gonzales Death Wednesday From Natural Causes

Demetrio Gonzales, 44, who was found dead in the north part of the city at about 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, came to his death by natural causes, according to the findings of a coroner's jury Wednesday afternoon. Guadalupe Hernandez, who found the body, testified as to his discovery. It was brought out that Gonzales had gone for a bucket of water and apparently died instantly. Death was probably from a brain hemorrhage, according to Dr. Pete J. Starr on the witness stand. Gonzales suffered a stroke in 1947, as a result of which he lost his voice. The body of Gonzales was found in the alley between Kemp and Cleveland in the 500 block. Sitting as coroner was Justice of the Peace J. Leslie of Carlsbad.

Towler Lives Through Jolt Of 7200 Volts

Kenneth Towler, 20, an employee of the Central Valley Electric Co., Inc., narrowly escaped death about 11:30 o'clock Tuesday morning, when 7200 volts of electricity passed through his body. His escape was considered miraculous inasmuch as he sustained burns on his left hand and right foot, indicating the electricity passed from one extremity to the other. Towler was taken to Artesia General Hospital, where he has been resting nicely. The accident happened on the Vic Parker place, where a crew was working. Towler was knocked off a conductor and hung by his safety belt. He was helped down by "Red" Marberry. Arrangements are by Paulin Funeral Home.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Hemler To Be Held Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Archie Hemler, formerly of Artesia, who died in Oklahoma, will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Church of Christ, 801 West Grand. Floyd Embree, minister, will officiate. The body was sent to Artesia from Oklahoma City. Mrs. Hemler had lived in Artesia for several years, leaving here in 1949. Artesia survivors are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dingler and Mrs. J. R. Vermillion. Mrs. Dingler is the mother, Mr. Dingler the stepfather and Mrs. Vermillion, a sister of the deceased. Arrangements are by Paulin Funeral Home.

Artesia Soldier Suffers Second Wound in Action

For a second time, Sgt. Melburn V. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Johnson of Artesia, has been wounded in action in the Korean war. He has twice been captured by the enemy, twice been able to escape, but has been wounded each time. The sergeant was wounded first on Sept. 16. His last wound was suffered Nov. 4 while his field artillery unit was in action with the First Cavalry Division, according to the sergeant's mother. Only the Army Post Office No. 1054 was given as the present address of the Artesia soldier.

Santa Claus Is Coming To Town

Santa Claus is coming to Artesia—before Christmas, that is! He has informed the Artesia Rotary Club he will be here Saturday afternoon, Dec. 16, with hundreds and hundreds of bags of treats for the boys and girls of the Artesia trade territory. By way of making plans for Old St. Nick's pre-Christmas visit, Charlie Bullock, club president, appointed a committee at the weekly luncheon Tuesday. They were C. A. Stalcup, Bill McGinty, Harvey Yates, Rev. R. L. Willingham, Paul Francis, Dave Button, Andy Corbin and Jack Timson. At a meeting of the committee, it was brought out that some merchants would like to have Santa greet the kids in downtown Artesia, as was done for years, rather than at Morris Field, where he has made his annual appearances the last two years. Members of the committee would like an expression from the merchants as to their preference, and it was suggested that they call any of the committeemen—promptly—so the final plans can be set up.

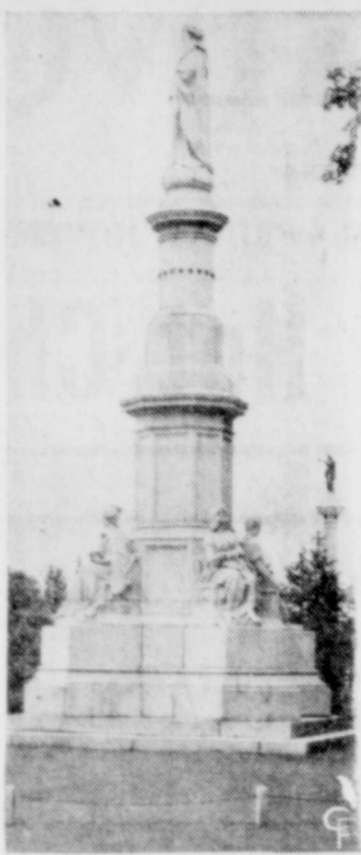

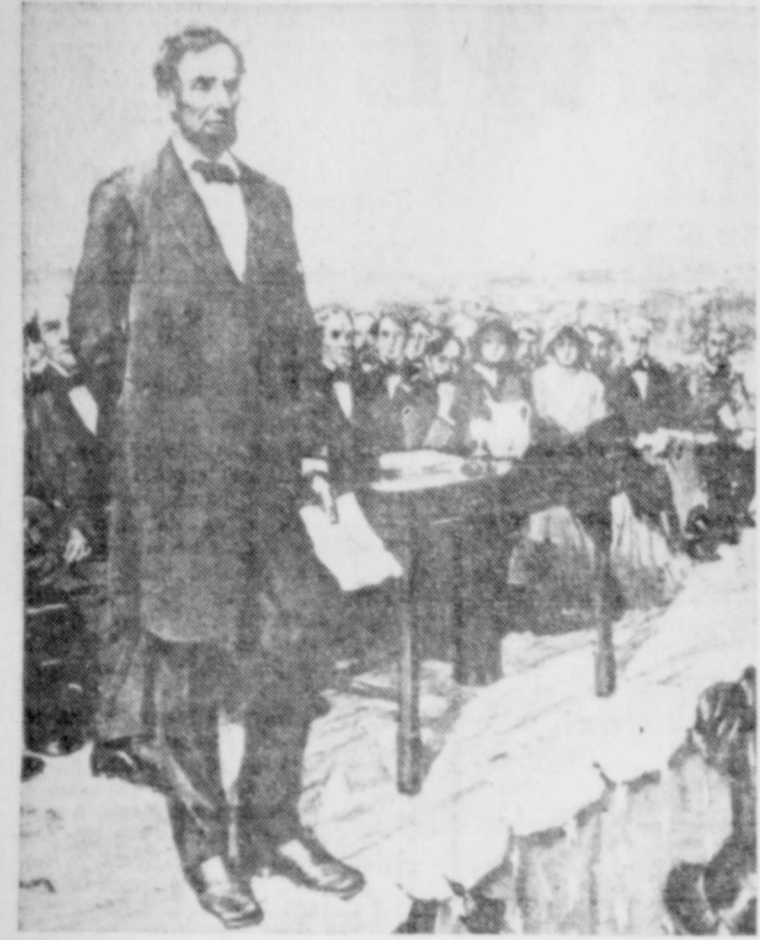

Aston Reports On International Rotary Meeting

Chuck Aston, a past president of the Artesia Rotary Club, who with Mrs. Aston attended an international Rotary meeting in Torreon, Coahuila, Mexico, as representatives of the local club last week, gave an account Tuesday noon at the weekly meeting of the affair. He told of the graciousness of the Mexican Rotarians and of the activities which went on and on. Mr. and Mrs. Aston flew to Torreon in a DC-3 from Juarez. Aboard were representatives of six Rotary Clubs in this area, a total of 17 people. Aston said their plane and others from the United States were met at the airport by many Rotarians, who took the visitors to their hotels in 60 automobiles, waited for them to dress, and then took them to the Torreon Country Club, which is over the state line in Durango. There they attended an outdoor banquet after which they were taken to see the new 2000-bed children's hospital built with federal funds. But they were not done banqueting, for after seeing the hospital and some of the beautiful homes of Torreon, returning to their hotels for another change, they were taken to a private club for the night banquet. On the program for this banquet, which was printed in both English and Spanish, there were 21 headings. And still it was not over, for after the banquet was a dance, which broke up at 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Aston said he and Mrs. Aston were impressed by the Mexican Rotary Club. Swartz Warns Ungraded Dairies Against City Sale

Richard M. Swartz, Eddy County sanitarian, said this week farmers have been warned against bringing milk from ungraded dairies to the city for sale. He said such farmers are liable to a fine of $25 each day the offense is committed. Recently, the sanitarian said, he has been informed of at least four farmers whose dairies are not graded and who have been bringing milk into the city for sale. Anyone wishing to sell milk inside the city will be given a certificate, provided he complies with the regulations, Swartz said. On the other hand, he said, there is nothing to prevent city people going to farms and purchasing milk, even though the dairies are not graded. The offense lies in selling milk from ungraded dairies within the corporate limits. However, Swartz warned the public against taking milk from ungraded dairies, as they have no assurance the cows have been tuberculosis and Bang's disease tested. Many farmers also do not have facilities to protect milk properly, he said. Many people prefer raw milk, Swartz said, stressing that he does not wish to interfere with farmers' business. And he said he has nothing against raw milk, providing the producers comply with the sanitary standards. Swartz said the quality of the milk from the three grade "A" dairies in Artesia is higher at this time than at any prior time during the three years he has been sanitarian here. IT WAS 'FOURSCORE AND SEVEN YEARS AGO' THAT LINCOLN DELIVERED GETTYSBURG ADDRESS

Photograph taken after the battle shows some of the thousands of bodies on the battlefield. NOV. 19, 1950, is exactly "four score and seven years" after the date in 1863 when President Lincoln delivered his famous Gettysburg address, since become a shrine of American eloquence. The address was part of dedication ceremonies on the battlefield. The battle itself was fought the previous July 1-3, involving some 157,000 Union and Confederate soldiers. Killed, wounded and missing on both sides totaled 53,000.

Farmers Can Strike Against Inflation By Buying U.S. Bonds

Farmers can strike a heavy blow against inflation by investing their surplus money in United States Savings Bonds, according to County Agent Dallas Rierson.

"Savings Bonds represent the least inflationary type of government borrowing during the present period of defense spending," Rierson explained. "Savings Bonds sold to individuals are not transferable and therefore cannot be used as the basis for further spending while held by the individual."

"Although a person can cash his savings bonds any time after sixty days from the date bonds are issued, most people try to hold their Series E Bonds until the maturity date ten years later. Series E Bonds held to maturity increase by one-third in value. Meanwhile, they are a reserve for emergency needs."

As farmers as much as any group in the country know the hard lessons resulting from price inflation, they will be interested in helping to prevent wild inflation during the present national situation, Rierson said.

U.S. Savings Bonds can be bought at any bank or post office.

Raindrop Jets Blast Soil Away

"Gully washer" is an expressive farm term for a driving rainstorm with its results that farmers dread. Some such term as "soil splasher" or "pounder" or "bouncer" might have come into use if farmers had been as quick to realize the erosion injury such a hard rain does as it falls and strikes the soil surface. This injury comes before the gully washing develops—and, indeed, the splashing contributes to the gully washing.

It is not surprising that farmers failed to realize the importance in erosion injury of this rapidly falling water. It is only within the last few years that research has identified it as important enough for scientific study and measurement. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, if a two-inch rain were delivered all at one time it would have energy to raise a seven-inch layer of soil a yard into the air.

Hydraulic mining makes use of the power of a stream of water to rip into a hill and dislodge the mineral bearing soil. A hard rain is divided into millions of small, swiftly moving jets, each striking with energy to cause a splash on bare soil, ripping loose small particles of soil and splashing them into the air. On even slightly sloping fields, the larger part of splash soil comes to earth down hill from where it started. Even if no water flowed off the field, this splashing would in time thin the soil at the upper part of the slope.

The remedy for splash injury is easy to see once this hydraulic jet action is understood. It is to take the energy out of the raindrop before it strikes the soil. A wool blanket spread over the soil surface would do the work. But the practical way is to provide a blanket of plant material—alive or dead, a growing crop, mulch or stubble. The important point is cover over practically all the surface, so that when a raindrop jet strikes it loses energy on the cover without blasting loose and carrying soil particles in its splash.

COTTON FIRE LOSSES TO BE KEEN

Losses of $1.25 per bale to cotton, which the cotton industry suffered last year because of fires, would be felt even more keenly during the current season, when the crop will be much smaller. Fire prevention begins in the cottonfield and continues throughout all the processes from the farm to the finished cotton product.

Contracting of Wool Is Being Carried On

There has been some contracting of wool in New Mexico and several other Western states, such as Texas and California. True, price levels of wool, as well as of many other commodities, are at an all-time high. But many growers have been contracting wool for fear that price controls will be invoked, throwing back prices to the June level.

In this area, fine wools generally have been bringing from 80 to 90 cents a grease pound, most half blood clips somewhat less. In Texas where many wools are lighter shrinking, better fine wool clips have been bringing from 90 cents to $1. All foreign wool markets are strong and rising—up as much as 5 to 10 per cent over late October sales in Australia, London, and the Argentine.

In this country, the $64 question at the moment is this: "Will we have controls soon or will we not?" In Boston, manufacturers are pretty evenly divided on this score with about 50 per cent of them inclined to feel that Congress will not impose price controls or other control measures on wool in 1951—despite higher price levels.

WHEN IT'S NIGHT, IT'S LIGHT ON CONCRETE ROADS

At night your headlights do a better job on concrete. Its light gray surface picks up and spreads illumination without "glossy" reflection. Pavement edges and obstructions are clearly defined. And night and day, concrete's even, gritty-textured surface reduces skidding, aids stopping even in the rain. Driving is safer on concrete. Concrete saves money, too. Concrete not only saves money in surface maintenance, but usually costs less to build than other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity! Insist on concrete for your roads.

Hancox Is Made Cadet Lieutenant At Wentworth

Cadet Dwight Hancox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Hancox of Artesia, has been promoted from cadet staff sergeant to cadet second lieutenant at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo. It has been announced by Lt. Col. James B. Wells, professor of military science and tactics at the school. He said the advancement was on the basis of superior performance in military work and outstanding leadership. It was authorized after an eight-week tryout period, during which cadets were observed and graded on their ability to lead men, execute orders, and assume responsibility. Since his advancement, Lieutenant Hancox has been tapped for membership in the Honor Guard. Col. James M. Sellers, superintendent, announced. Membership is restricted to upper classmen who excel in military studies and who display qualities of leadership.

It was announced the Honor Guard performs at many off-campus affairs, specializing in silent drill without commands. The intricate movements of the drill are performed without rifles.

Hybrid Cotton Coming But Not Soon Probably

Ingenuity, amounting to scientific trickery, is the hope of geneticists bent on putting hybrid vigor (heterosis) into the cotton crop. Unlike corn—world's leading example of hybrid advantage among economic plants—cotton and most other crops have complete flowers. Corn has its male and female flowers widely separated and the pollen-bearing tassels are handy for removal. As a result, hybrid seed can be produced in quantity and economically.

According to geneticists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, there is evidence of significant increases in vigor, yield, and other characters in cotton as a result of various kinds of crosses in commercial varieties of four species. Those scientists are optimistic that some day hybrid vigor will give to the cotton growers somewhat the same sort of help it is now giving the corn farmer. They say that large scale commercial utilization of natural crossing to produce hybrid cottonseed is not to be expected in the immediate future. However, some male-sterile plants have been found, opening the possibility for field crossing on a natural basis, as worked out recently with onions.

When hybrid vigor can be captured, it builds up yields at a lower cost than almost any other factor, so both plant breeders and planters are determined to clear away difficulties and have this now familiar magic in the cotton fields.

Girl Scout Notes

Troop 1 heard Betty Jo Kaiser's account of her recent trip to the Senior Scout conference in Tulsa, where she was one of four representatives from Southeast New Mexico. Betty Jo reported that one of the highlights of the meeting was the "Parade of UN Flags" put on by Tulsa Girl Scouts. She described an impressive ceremony in which one girl from each of Tulsa's 248 troops marched into the meeting hall and circled the visitors and sang songs. She said one of the best talks was made by Miss Marguerite Twohy, assistant director of national field department, who discussed Girl Scouting in Japan and Korea, where she helped organize scouting in 1948. Betty Jo was a member of the "How Do

We Budget for a Total Job?" discussion group.

Troop 2 continued work on the Good-Grooming badge. Refreshments of cocoa and doughnuts were served by Mrs. Joe Nunn.

Troop 3 decided to collect toys for needy children as a community project. The girls finished the mung trees they were making and began embroidery work on Christmas presents for mothers.

Troop 4 held an investiture ceremony and party for mothers Friday at the Woman's Club. The ceremony began with the Brownies marching through a curtain, led by Mrs. Lloyd Dorand and arranging themselves in a semi-circle. Mrs. M. J. Rolstad spoke on the accomplishments of the troop and the importance of being a part of the worldwide Brownie program. The investiture ceremony was closed with the Brownie salute and "Smile Song." After the program, the Brownies put on the aprons they had made for the occasion and served each mother a tray with a miniature Brownie made of pipe cleaners, hot chocolate and cookies made by Brownies. Ten Brownies and 10 mothers were present.

Troop committee members present were Mrs. Kirk Yeager, Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. Hubert Beck. Clean up committee was Glenda Gillespie and Marva Mae Rolstad.

Troop 5 divided into patrols and one patrol entertained the other with requirements. The procedure will be reversed for the next meeting. The girls learned a new song, "Walking Alone."

Troop 6 finished Thanksgiving tray favors for the hospital. The girls practiced the flag ceremony in preparation for the troop birthday party next week.

Troop 8 played games to begin the meeting. Frances Fuchs was chosen to be chairman of the committee to select material for Christmas presents. The girls voted not to spend more than 75 cents on presents for their Christmas party.

Troop 11: Cloverleaf Patrol had a party for pre-schoolers as work on their Child Care badge. The girls served the children chocolate milk and cookies which they had made, and Audrey Parent told them stories. Pioneer Patrol cooked hamburgers, potatoes, onions and biscuits on the trench fire the girls made at the last meeting. This completed the requirements for the Outdoor Cook badge. The troop plans to start the Color Craft badge with textiles next time.

Troop 13 invested Suellen Shotts in the usual ceremony. Refreshments of pop and cookies were served. The girls planned an arts and crafts program for the next meeting.

Troop 14 surprised their assistant leader, Mrs. John Chain, with a Troop 16 made first aid kits which contained cotton, Ungentine, alcohol, a needle, two matches and a Bandaid. The boxes were made from match boxes and covered. The troop agreed to collect toys for Christmas for needy children.

Troop 17 painted the mung trees which they had made at their last meeting and wrote invitations for their mothers for a party to be held next meeting. The little girls will collect used toys for underprivileged children.

Troop 20 began work on presents for the girls' fathers for Christmas and prepared gum-drop trees which will be used for favors for hospital trays at Christmas.

Mrs. Robert Gates' troop practiced the investiture ceremony and was served refreshments. The girls concluded the meeting with games.

Mrs. Othel Olson's troop answered roll call by telling how they earned money for dues. The girls worked on decorating paper plates for Christmas presents. They repeated the "Brownie Pormis" and "Goodnight Song."

Eddy Purchases Of Savings Bonds Rise in October

Residents of Eddy County invested $31,467.75 in U.S. Savings Bonds during October. L. B. Feather, chairman of the county's Savings Bonds committee, has reported. This amount helped to boost sales in the state last month to 11.3 per cent over those in September and 7.7 per cent over August.

"Series E bond purchases month by month are more indicative of trends than total sales of all three series combined, as given above," said the chairman. "Investments in F and G Bonds usually reflect purchases by organizations and so-called 'heavy' investors, and are naturally not on a monthly basis," he pointed out. "Whereas, one purchaser in the county might invest $100,000 in Series F's or G's, it would take 2666 people each buying a $50 Bond, costing $37.50, to equal that amount."

"Series E Bond purchases totaled $23,368.75 last month in this county," continued Feather. "In September the total for E's was $28,818.75 and $12,300 in August." "This month and next a special campaign is under way to enroll as many wage and salary earners as possible on a payroll savings plan," the chairman said. "More than 21,000 large firms already offer this easy, automatic method of buying bonds to their employees. We see no reason why the 2 1/2 million firms employing fewer than 100 people each should not offer their employees the same privilege."

"Employees pay taxes and insurance on the installment plan, and they should have a chance to buy Bonds the same way," concluded the chairman.

Old Chicken Crates May Cause Disease

Keep old chicken coops and crates off the farm, for even the empty ones may be full of disease warns Dallas Rierson, county agent. Many people get crates at produce houses when culling the flock or selling broilers or fryers. No doubt this has been a major source of spread of such diseases as Newcastle disease, infectious bronchitis, and cholera.

"If you must rely on 'borrowed' crates, then do not take them off the truck, trailer or car," he advised. "Carry the poultry to the crates. Never borrow crates to move chickens from one farm to another."

Along with misuse of crates, the agent lists several other "little things" which he says go a long way toward wrecking the poultry sanitation program on many farms. In this list, he includes careless use of feed sacks, egg cases and fillers and visitors to the poultry house or range.

Disease germs often ride from farm to farm on feed sacks, in egg cases or on the shoes and clothing of visitors, he believes. For the same reason, all poultry owners are advised to stay out of poultry yards and houses belonging to others and keep them out of theirs.

Among the "big things" in poultry sanitation, he lists the following: Buying healthy chicks, brooding them in sanitary surroundings, rotating yards and ranges and using sanitary water and feed dispensers.

Exemplar Degree Is Conferred By Beta Sigma Phi

The Exemplar degree of Beta Sigma Phi was conferred upon Mrs. Charles Murphy, Mrs. R. B. Rodke, Mrs. William C. Thompson, Jr., and Miss Nancy Haynes in a ritual Sunday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jess Cave.

Mrs. Betty McGee of Roswell officiated at the service. The ritual table was centered with yellow roses, the sorority's flower, and lighted with white tapers in gold holders. Each candidate was presented a yellow rose at the close of the ritual.

After the candlelight services, a tea for members of the Artesia and Roswell chapters was held. Mrs. Maynard Hall, a former member of Rho Chapter; Mrs. Joe Hamann, educational director and Mrs. Donald Fanning, president of Alpha Alpha Chapter, served tea and cake decorated with individual sugar roses from a lace-covered table, backed on one end with a floral arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and red colored leaves.

Those present: Xi Gamma Chapter, Roswell; Irene Schuler, Hazel Powers, Elaine Howard, Carolyn Hayes, Catherine Greening, and Betty McGee.

Psi Chapter, Roswell; Rhoda Franchise, Marguerite Fowler, and Vickie Richards.

Alpha Lambda Chapter, Artesia; Lillian Bigler, educational director; Ruth Bigler, and Sue Crosse; Alpha Alpha Chapter, Artesia; Nell Dungan, Jeanne Bullock, Glenna Murphy, Claudia Gable, Margaret Muncy, Betty Jones, June Waters.

Bertha Hall, Jo Rodke, Nell Hamann, Mildred Thompson, and Nancy Haynes.

Guests were Florence Hulst of Roswell and Mrs. Jess Cave.

State Organizer Addresses P.E.O.

Mrs. Doris Robertson of Las Vegas, state organizer of the P.E.O., was a guest at a special meeting of Chapter "J" Wednesday of last week.

A buffet luncheon was served at noon at the home of Mrs. Fred Cole with 35 members present. Turkey with all the traditional trimmings was served. The home was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and a fruit arrangement.

After the luncheon, the members proceeded to the home of Mrs. S. P. Yates, where Mrs. Robertson addressed the group, and a short business meeting was conducted.

The next regular meeting will be Friday afternoon, December 1, at the home of Mrs. William Linell.

BOYKINS HAVE GUESTS ON THANKSGIVING

Leaf Compost Improves Soil

Fallen leaves can either be a nuisance or something of value. It all depends on whether you are interested in using them for soil improvement. Leonard Appleton, extension soils specialist of New Mexico A. & M. College says that composted leaves compare favorably with farm manure in plant nutrient value and that they supply soils much-needed organic matter. Such composts, he says, are especially valuable for small areas, including the home garden and flower beds.

The ingredients that are used for making a satisfactory compost include leaves (or similar organic waste materials), soil, and nitrate and phosphate fertilizer. Soil, when mixed with the organic material, inoculates it with bacteria and other micro-organisms which hasten its decomposition. The nitrate furnishes the micro-organisms nitrogen which they need to go to work. The phosphate increases the fertilizing value of the compost and gives it a better balance of plant nutrients.

There are no hard and fast rules for composting leaves, as a number of different formulas have worked satisfactorily. The following method is probably as good as any:

First choose a suitable location for the compost pit or heap. Usually the best location is in a far corner of the garden or lot. A shaded area is preferred. The heap can be started in a pit or above ground. It should be about four feet wide.

The length can be varied to suit one's needs, depending on the amount of material to be composted. Pack the leaves in layers about six or eight inches deep, moisten thoroughly with water, and then sprinkle with ammonium sulfate and superphosphate. For each 100 pounds of dry leaves, use about three pounds of ammonium sulfate and two pounds of ordinary superphosphate. On top of this spread an inch or two of rich soil and mix it with the leaves. Successive layers, treated in the same manner as the first, may be added until the pile is about four feet deep. As the pile is built the sides and ends should be kept straight up and down. A fence made of boards or wire will help to hold the material in place.

The completed pile should be solid and somewhat lower in the center than at the edges. Water can then be applied to the top without running off. If some holes are made with a bar through the layers of the pile, it will aid in water penetration. For quick rotting, the compost heap should be kept continuously moist, but not waterlogged.

Leaves that are composted this fall or winter should be ready for use in the spring of 1952. They could be used next spring, but they probably won't be thoroughly rotted by then, Appleton says.

Old lawn clippings, flower stalks, spoiled hay, weeds or other plant residues that are commonly burned or hauled away can be used the same as leaves in making composts.

Composts may be applied to the soil either as a mulch, or incorporated with the surface layer at the rate of 25 to 100 pounds per 100 square feet of ground. They help to improve soil by increasing its moisture capacity, by making heavy soils more porous and friable, and by increasing the supply of available plant nutrients.

Good Butterfat Production Is Must for Profit

A dairy cow that produces only 200 pounds of butterfat a year seldom makes a profit for her owner, regardless of production costs and milk prices, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The proof of this statement is shown by the production records in dairy-herd-improvement association herds, as compiled by the Bureau of Dairy Industry over many years.

In the association herds in 1949 the cows that averaged 200 pounds of butterfat consumed $131 worth of feed and returned $121 over feed cost. Thus, on the basis of the long-standing rule that the feed cost represents only half the total cost of keeping a cow, these cows did not "pay their way" by about $10. In fact, the bureau's DHIA analysis shows that, in most areas, a cow should produce substantially more than 200 pounds of butterfat a year to make a profit for her owner.

But as the average production levels increased, the total production cost-net income relationship became more favorable. For instance, the average butterfat production for all cows enrolled in associations in 1949 was 359 pounds. The cows consumed $156 worth of feed and returned $234 over feed cost to their owners, or a net income of $78 per cow. Moreover, cows that averaged 600 pounds of butterfat the same year consumed $208 worth of feed and returned $473 over the feed cost, or a net income of $265.

The 1949 average butterfat level of 359 pounds of DHIA cows is an all-time high figure and represents a substantial increase over the 331-pound average for 1940, the 247-pound average of 1905, the year that co-operative cow-testing and record-keeping work began in the United States.

Bulldog Basketeers To Vie With Lake Arthur In Season Premiere

Game Slated for December 5 Raises Curtain on 21-Game Card

A game with Lake Arthur will open and a contest with Hagerman will close the 1950-51 basketball schedule of Artesia High School.

The 21 game card opens here at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, Dec. 5. Out of the 21 games, 11 are at home, 11 away. From Jan. 5 to Jan. 16, the Bulldog basketeers will be rambling with each game over the period away from home.

On that portion of the bracket, they play Eunice, Monument, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Tucumcari and Hagerman.

Rivals in football will re-appear on the basketball court as the Bulldogs play New Mexico Military, Roswell, Tucumcari, Carlsbad and Hobbs.

Albuquerque and Cathedral of El Paso are "big town" teams on the schedule.

Ending the card will be the game here with Hagerman on Friday, Feb. 16.

A four-team tourney is on tap in Artesia for Thursday, Dec. 28.

King Football hadn't left the field before he was crowded by Baron Basketball. First tournament of cage candidates was on Monday, Nov. 13, four days after the gridder had edged out Eunice 13-0, four days before a valiant Bulldog football team was beaten 14-7 by Carlsbad, and 10 days before the final football game on Turkey Day against Hobbs in the Lea County town.

Coach H. Floyd Davis had 50 players reporting for the initial basketball session, according to Charles Gibson, Artesia Hi Beacon writer. Three of Coach Jack Tinson's 1950 gridiron gladiators, Bill Brown, Bobby Morgan and Cowboy Callaway, are expected to be among veterans returning to the hoop wars, along with John Felton.

West Virginia Last Home Tilt Of Texas Miners

Closing out their 1950 home season, the Texas Western Miners tangle with the Mountaineers of West Virginia University in one of the top intersectional games of the week Saturday night. Coach Mike Grumbelow returned from Morgantown, where he scouted West Virginia in its game with Maryland, singing praises of the Mountaineers as the toughest defensive team he has seen this season.

deal of luster in a short period of time. Basically, the 1950 meeting will match the Miners running game against the potent passing attack employed by West Virginia. Harvey (Pug) Gabrel, Texas Western's top back, will still be sidelined by injuries, so the Miners will rely on the newly-formed offensive punch of Jimmy Hammond, speedy halfback and Cordell McCraw, line-jamming fullback. Hammond and McCraw were the Miners shining lights in whipping Hardin-Simmons two weeks ago. Last week's open date came as a blessing to the Miners, as it gave numerous cripples a chance to get back into top playing form.

"Don't be misled by the 41-0 score by which the highly-rated Maryland team whipped West Virginia," Coach Grumbelow said, "as five of Maryland's six touchdowns came on intercepted passes and on Mountaineer fumbles inside the five yard line."

First Met in 1949 The Miners went back to work Monday with a keen desire of evening the count with West Virginia. First meeting between the two teams was in the 1949 Sun Bowl game, which ended in a 21-12 West Virginia victory.

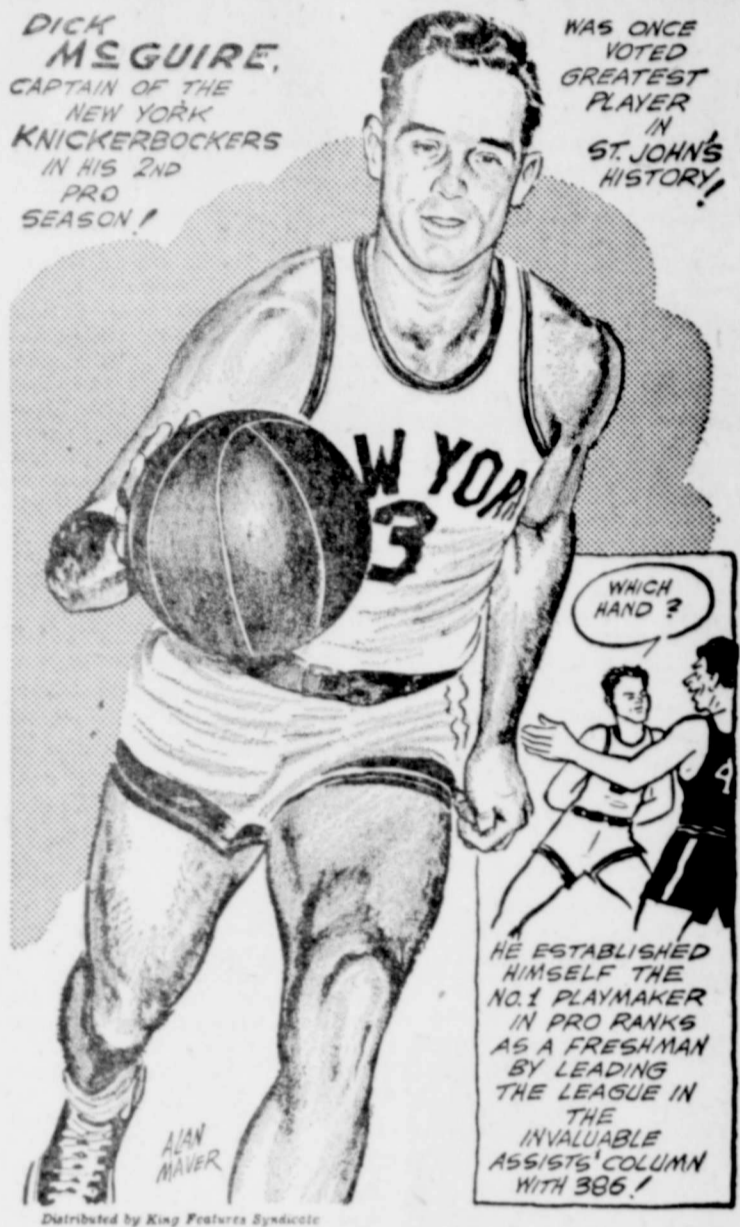

Last year the two foes battled to a 13-13 tie in Morgantown. A Texas Western victory Saturday will even the series which has gained a great

Time Chart Set For Basketball Track Tourneys

How New Mexico high schools will hold basketball and track tourneys is listed in a table published in the latest bulletin of the state athletic association.

posed referendum passes, March 3; state, Albuquerque, March 10. Track—district, April 23; state, Albuquerque, May 5. Baseball dates are to be designated later. Place not given to champions will be declared in each of the association's football conferences early in December. A trophy will be presented each champion.

Tourneys Also Set for Junior And 'B' Cagers

Schools of District 5 of the New Mexico High School Athletic Association will stage a junior high school basketball tournament in Carlsbad. Date is to be set at the district meeting to be held in Carlsbad the first week end of January. Junior high school grade range was defined as seventh, eighth and ninth. Any boy who plays on a varsity squad is ineligible to play on a B or junior high team.

District 5 has approved a recommendation to fix the maximum age of junior high athletes who cannot compete if they attain their sixteenth birthday anniversary before Sept. 1. Besides the junior high joust, there will also be a tournament for B teams conducted under rules set up by Floyd Davis of Artesia at the spring meeting. Davis is physical education and basketball instructor in Artesia High School.

For the varsity squads, the annual basketball tournament will be held in Roswell. Paul Deaton made the invitation on behalf of New Mexico Military Institute and the Roswell Chamber of Commerce. These actions were taken at the meeting held in Dexter on Nov. 8. T. Stovall, high school principal of Artesia, is district vice president.

Schools in the district are Artesia, Carlsbad and Roswell, in the A bracket; Capitán, Carrizozo and Ruidoso in C. There are none in B.

Las Cruces Coach Reports for Duty In Armed Forces

Rusty Van Pelt, for the last two years line coach of Las Cruces Union High School football team, has quit his job and complied with orders to report for duty at Camp Chaffee, Fort Smith, Ark.

Van Pelt holds a first lieutenant's commission in the reserves. He served three years in the Navy in World War II.

The Las Cruces coach, who comes from Clayton, entered New Mexico A. & M. in 1941 but went into the armed forces. On his discharge he re-entered the college, played tackle on the college team, graduated in the spring of 1949, and accepted the job of line coach at the Las Cruces school.

In August, 1949, he married Betty Riley of Deming. The couple has a daughter, Barbara Ann, born three weeks ago.

Roswell Resident Writes Fan Letter Boosting Bulldogs

A former Hobbs citizen who now lives in Roswell, has written to Artesia Chamber of Commerce commenting on the Artesia-Carlsbad high school football game.

Frances Bridges, 1300 South Richardson, Roswell, says she was "rooting for Artesia all the way. I had no idea Artesia would be beaten by Carlsbad although Hobbs was. Hobbs was over confident."

"I thought Artesia had the second best team in the state. Hobbs first."

"I moved to Roswell last summer but still go to all the Hobbs football games."

In reply the manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce sent a letter to the Roswell resident that said in part:

"The teams were so evenly matched that such intangibles as mental attitude, breaks of the game and what players happened to be 'on' at the time would be deciding factors."

"Most athletes will tell you that they experience nights when they can hit anything and other nights when they are all thumbs."

"Of far more importance was the sportsmanship demonstrated by both fans and players."

"Athletic programs in our public schools are intended as physical training, builders of confidence, basic training in sportsmanlike competition, preparation for good citizenship."

Home on the Range CONCERNING NEW MEXICO

(By Will Robinson) Last Sabbath was the Sunday before Thanksgiving. The day had an especial meaning for the Indians of the Ancient Anglican Communion, along the San Juan River. On that day members of the Sunday schools as well as the grown-ups of the faith to whom tradition means something served for the collection of warm clothing, wearables and toys for the children of the great tribe who are served by the Episcopalians along the stream, centering at the Ship Rock School and Hospital and reaching far out into the hinterland.

The money received in the church collections on that day was channeled to the San Juan too, with special earmarks for the toys and candy that the little reds like just as much as their brothers and sisters. In earlier days much of the collection was paid in food stuffs for men and beasts, and in some parishes canned eats are still a big part.

Texas makes some heavy drafts on New Mexico game. The other day one truck went through Raton to Wichita Falls that had stacked up on it in nine deer, three elk, five turkeys and six guillemot birds. Which story, from the usually truthful Range, was accompanied by a statement that Tom Wade killed a buck near Polson that weighed about 300 pounds, which if correctly quoted sets a new record in New Mexico if not the nation!

Jack Frost wasn't kind to the lettuce farmers around and about Las Cruces, according to W. A. Wuntsch, supervisor of fruit and vegetable service at A. & M. College. Most of the big crisp heads were frozen as deep as 1 1/2 inches, which means no salvaging is possible. There is no way to estimate the loss to the growers, but some fields in the valley were yielding as high as 500 crates to the acre with a solid market price ranging from $3.50 to $3.75 a crate. This was the first time in several years that a killing frost hit the Mesilla Valley so early.

Father-and-son partnerships seem to appeal to New Mexico lawyers. Governor Mabry is going to practice with his two sons at Albuquerque unless drafted elsewhere. Now comes Abraham Lincoln Zinn, Santa Fe lawyer and politician, and says that his shingle is going to aid the name of his two fine sons, Frank B. Zinn and Dean Zinn. That is a combination that will bring home the bacon, with two snappy boys doing the work naturally, the location will be at Santa Fe which has been Rustling gravel on which to lay 172 blocks of paving that they are starting to put down in Hobbs being hard, Wylie Brothers, the main contractors, will use a seven-inch base of caliche. The curbs and gutters have practically all been finished and the blacktopping is coming on up. It won't be long now until Hobbs is the best paved town in the state following Roswell.

Finding a chuck joint has long been a problem for the Lions and minor civic bodies at Portales, but Prexy Walter Jenjten of the Lions announces a trade whereby the gang is to feed and growl for more at the banquet room of the Students Union at the college. Maybe the days of luncheon hardships are over for the pack.

Now it is explained why the Silver City Enterprise was so strongly in favor of a softening up for the State Dental Board. Two of the best dentists in the town and Grant County have been yanked into the Army Replacements may be a bit difficult under the close corporation rules of the state dental board.

Over 6000 of the 9000 voters in Grant County seen their duty and done it on election day, according to Connie Brown, county clerk, who is generally recognized as a truthful gem — and don't act so darned old either.

The Carlsbad-Argus says that Suthwestern Potash Company will spend about 10 million dollars getting into production there. It will begin operations by the end of 1952 with an initial capacity of 185,000 tons of potash a year. Thus is recognized another step into the transition of Carlsbad into the biggest mining point.

When it comes to the couples going hunting it is the women folks who bring in the game. Mrs. Marvin Carter bagged herself a big turkey while her husband came home empty handed. Herbert Hunter worked for several days getting his wife's Springfield rifle ready for the hunt. Without much enthusiasm Mrs. Hunter went hunting with her husband and son, Dick. On the way to the hunting spot they joyfully told her several times just what a load they were carrying taking her along, but what happened, she shot and killed her deer with the first shot and had never fired a deer rifle before! Now the Rifle and Pistol Club has offered her several invitations to join. Her husband and son came home without any game.

tion of the contest. For three-fourths of the game, the Artesia backfield was its sophomores.
Clarence Connor, 160-pound senior, went in for Morgan after Artesia's starting end was put out of the game following his tackle of Aishman.
Ejection of Morgan was vigorously protested by Coach Jack Tinson, who in response to summons from the referee, went on the field to meet the official and the left end.
The whole incident precipitated a near-riot as tempers flared on both sides.
Cole Scores
Artesia's touchdown was made by Cole who went over from the one-yard marker after Artesia had gained possession of the ball on the Hobbs 10 and a penalty against the Eagles had pushed them into a goal-line stand.
Sonny Garner's kick was high but twisted to the left and failed to go over.
The Artesia marker was made in the second period. Hobbs scored first when, in the first period, B. Burke, 184 pound back who did a major portion of the Eagles ball carrying throughout the game, went over from the six. Kick by L. White 182-pound guard, was good.
Ellison scored the second Hobbs touchdown. White failed to add the extra point. This was in the second period.
The two, Ellison and White, are the Eagle captains. Score at the half was Hobbs 13, Artesia 6, which turned out to be the score when the final gun sounded.

tarians, some of whom were always at their elbow, ready to be of service. It was an example of international good will, he said.
Prior to Aston's report on the international meeting, Dave Button, program chairman, spoke briefly on "Talking at a Service Club."
He advised his fellow Rotarians that when they are called upon to speak, that they do so clearly and distinctly and loud enough for the hard of hearing to catch, and to be sure they get their point across.
In making a talk, Button said, it is better to pick something in the way of a general theme and stress a single point, being of getting it over to one's listeners, rather than going into 10 or 15 points.
Many persons not only fail to speak clearly and distinctly when before an audience, but they fail to do so on the telephone, or when conversing on the street.
The program of any club is important, the program chairman said but if it can't be heard or understood, the program is lost.

"But if there had been no anti-tuberculosis campaign, tuberculosis would have taken the lives of more than twice as many of our people."
Of the seals:
"When these seals arrive around Thanksgiving time we realize that Christmas is coming."
"There is always a moment of pleasant anticipation before we open our envelope and unfold the sheets of seals."
"There is always something new about the seal but there is also something old about it. And we are glad there is for it is the old which has established the seal as a cherished tradition."
"Every year the Christmas Seal proudly displays the red double-barred cross, emblem of the worldwide crusade against tuberculosis."

SPRY AND MIGHTY POWER PLANT
with a proud pedigree

HERE you behold the up-to-the-minute version of a high-compression engine that has taught a whole industry something about fuel efficiency.

Fact is, Buick pioneered the deep-breathing valve-in-head engine 47 years ago—and thus blazed a trail that aircraft engines—and more recently automobile engines—have followed.

But don't let that ancient lineage fool you.

Today's Buick engine is not simply a valve-in-head. It's a Fireball—which means that it uses fuel-saving, power-peaking principles that are found in no other motorcar on America's highways.

"This is all very well," you say, "but what does it do for me?"

Mister, that's what we'd like to show you.

Come settle yourself at the graceful Buick wheel. Gently press the handy gas treadle—and feel this spry and mighty motor come to life.

Then head for the open road, and discover what a whale of a lot of fun it can be to have Fireballs under your hood.

Better come in soon, and get acquainted with the engine—and the automobile—that have won more than 200,000 owners of other cars to 1950 Buicks.

No other motorcar engine can match these features

TURBO-TOP piston heads roll the incoming charge of fuel into a whirling "Fireball"

MICROPOISE BALANCING after assembly keeps Buick engines within 1/4 of an "ounce-inch" of perfect balance

HI-POISED MOUNTINGS cradle the engine for smoother action

CYLINDER BLOCKS are super-precision-bored and double-honed for perfect dimensioning

FLEX-FIT RINGS snug up against cylinder walls, increase oil economy

DUREX BEARINGS provide unsurpassed bearing life

LITEWEIGHT PISTONS combine lightness with hardness and strength

CYLINDERS are individually cooled to prevent distortion

"FURY IN THE SKY"

NOTICE!

THE CIRCLE B DRIVE-IN WILL BE CLOSED FOR THE WINTER NOV. 26!

ALL ALONE—Folks, we'd like to have you meet Senorina Marina Berti, lovely actress imported from Italy to play the part of an American Serviceman's sweetheart in a film with a wartime-Italy theme. She is the only girl in the movie. We'd say she is plenty on is about over for cotton growers, many of them are putting their application equipment to one side and forgetting about it. Rierson states that this neglect could be very costly to the farmers.

Many of the chemicals used in insecticides and defoliants are very corrosive and if allowed to remain in the equipment will cause considerable damage. Rierson points out. All dusting equipment should be "hosed down" with water, oiled and stored in a dry shed. Spraying machines should be flushed several times with water and allowed to dry; then run a light oil such as fuel oil through the system and store in a dry place. All nozzles must be removed, cleaned with fuel oil, dried and placed out of the weather. The open ends of hoses and pipes should be plugged to prevent foreign matter or insects from entering.

Rierson adds that proper care of equipment now will save many troubles next season, and replacement parts ordered now may mean a considerable saving.

Junior High Pupils To Stage Operetta

A two-act operetta, "The Beauty Contest," will be staged by junior high school pupils on Dec. 8 in the high school auditorium. Theme of the production is a resort owner's going into politics and campaigning for mayor in an effort to create interest and attract business to his hotel. In retailing the mayor starts a beauty contest.

Mrs. Augusta Spratt is directing the operetta with dances in charge of Patricia Sauer, junior high girls

Your State Government

By Thomas J. Mabry GOVERNOR

"Happiness is much more equally divided than some of us imagine."—C. C. Colton.

One of the most far-reaching and beneficial actions carried out by the present state administration was placing the Highway Department on a basis of pay-as-you-go. This measure that did that, as everyone will recall, provided that the gasoline tax should be increased 2 cents per gallon and that this increase should be earmarked exclusively for the retirement of outstanding highway debentures.

It is never easy or popular to raise taxes, even for a worthy purpose. I felt, however, that the action had to be taken in the interest of the welfare of this state. I had made it plain that there would be no more borrowing for the building of roads. The bill was passed and the Highway Department, for the first time almost since its establishment, was placed on a sound financial pay-as-you-go basis.

The next Legislature should and will, I believe, reduce the gas tax by 1 cent. A reduction is called for by both party platforms and it should not be ignored. However, as time passes, we will be thankful that we imposed this additional tax two years ago to start pulling the Highway Department out of its long-time debt while times were good, tourist travel was high, and gasoline use was unrestricted.

It was also my privilege to sponsor the measure which created the New Mexico Economic Development Commission. This commission was established for the purpose of bringing new industries to New Mexico and to develop our natural resources.

The act creating the commission was very broad in nature and under the law the commission has taken action which has resulted, among other things, in reduction of freight rates and in a systematic plan to test the benefits to be derived from so-called rainmaking processes.

I believe that in future years the work of this commission will be of increasing value in developing our state's natural resources and in providing employment for our citizens.

Public health, as I have mentioned many times, was given a great deal of consideration by me, and by all interested agencies, during the last four years. In addition to taking action to provide unincorporated rural communities with a pure supply of domestic water, many other activities relating to the health of the people in New Mexico were carried forward.

One of the most important was the various programs to provide more hospital space for the people of the state. We have worked closely with the federal government to obtain federal funds for hospital units. We also obtained legislation providing for county-city hospitals and additional legislation which would permit several counties to join together to construct a hospital for their common use.

While a great deal remains to be done to obtain adequate hospital space for the people of New Mexico, the groundwork has been laid and I am confident that many new units will soon be forthcoming.

Take Care of Dusting and Spraying Gear

Don't store that cotton dusting and spraying equipment without first cleaning it thoroughly, urges County Agent Dallas Rierson. Now that the dusting and spraying seas-

Kids Show Stuff To Proud Parents

(From Artesia Hi Beacon) By Kay Booker

Five departments in A.H.S. showed their stuff for the general public during Education Week, which was Nov. 5-12. The purpose of these exhibits was to demonstrate the activities of the students and the methods used by the teachers.

Most of the windows displayed workbooks, students' notebooks and papers, and their artwork. Many of the windows were very colorful and interesting, and succeeded in catching the public's eye. The displays were as follows: by department, teacher, and subject:

English, Bildstone, Mann Drug; Science, Erickson, Thompson-Price; Mathematics, Parham and McCaw; Thompson-Price; library, Nethery, Williams Furniture; boys' and girls' physical education, McCorkle and Davis; Keys Men's Wear; H.A. Howarth, Russell Auto; Social science, Felix, Clem & Clem; Distributive education, Bennett; Home visual education, Grabner, J. C. Penney.

Charts Prepared to Orient Junior High School Pupils

Mimeographed diagrams of the layout of the new junior high school building at Eleventh and Black have been prepared as a guide to junior high pupils when they will move from the senior high to their own school.

The diagram shows 27 rooms including storage, work, book, and rest rooms.

Library and visual education are in one unit separated by a work room. All are arranged around the main special feature of the building.

The diagram shows numbers on various rooms and last name of teacher:

113, Vandever; 114, Hayes; 115, Thomsen; 116, sewing; Magata; 117, cooking; 123, boiler room; 124, Wilcher; 126, Kerley; 127, girls.

130, library; Nethery; 133, visual education; Spratt; 136, Ekstrom; 137, Heathman; 138, Kletke; 139, Lambert; 141, Brown; 142, Stiens; 143, Hardin; 144, Hamann.

Seniors to Stage Class Play Month After First Call

One month from the date of the rehearsal, Artesia High School seniors will present their class play, the four-part two-act "Seven Days to Baldpate," a melodramatic play.

Rehearsals started Oct. 30. The play will be staged in the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Sunday night, Nov. 30 and repeated at the same time and place Dec. 1.

Programs will be in the shape of a key. Setting of the play is the lobby of a resort hotel, time, mid-winter. The play, written by George M. Cohan, was first staged on Broadway in 1913.

Scenery was built by vocational agricultural and shop classes with painting and covering done by the cast.

Admission will be 75 cents for adults; 50 cents or presentation of student activity ticket, for high school pupils; 35 cents for junior high and 25 cents for elementary.

UN FORCES LINK ACROSS KOREA

U. S. 5TH AIR FORCE planes blasted "20 miles of troops" north of Yuwongjin (explosion symbols, 1). They are believed to be Chinese Reds, moving south to Huichon. Also bombed were Red supply centers (explosion symbols) of Sakchu, Chosan, and Namsa, as was last Yalu river bridge from Antung to Sinuiju. The U. S. 3rd Infantry from west and the South Korean 2nd Corps met at Habongsong (2) to forge a solid UN line across Korea's waist. Along the Chongchon river line (3) the U. S. 1st Cavalry and U. S. 2nd are pushing ahead in the Wonni area, U. S. 24th is to the west, South Koreans are to the east in Tokchon area. In the east (4) the U. S. 1st Marines advanced toward the Changjin reservoir, the U. S. 7th Infantry toward the Pujon reservoir, and the S. K. Capitol Division (5) beyond Myongchon.

Proceeds from the play will go into the fund to pay the annual class excursion next spring.

Everet Blomberg is director of the production. Travis Waltrip is in charge of lights. The cast:

Bob Bryant as Mr. Qimby; Yvonne Yeager, Mrs. Qimby; Rube Austin, McGee; Ken Dixon, Bland; Mittie Fry, Mary; Sarah Alexander and Edith Houghtaling, Mrs. Rhodes.

Joan Amstutz, Myra; Bobby Flynn, Peters; Bobby Thorp, Cargan; Charles Gibson, Max; Jodie Williams, Kennedy; Cecil Gray, high and 25 cents for elementary.

CHIROPRACTIC for ARTHRITIS

Chiropractically we have found the CAUSE of arthritis is a subluxation (misaligned vertebra) pinching nerve fibers which were intended to carry nerve impulses from the brain to the parts now affected. You can never expect complete health recovery until the cause is removed.

Scientific Chiropractic locates the place and nature of the nerve interference by use of the X-ray and Neurocalometer, removes the cause, bringing about health restoration.

Like Caissons Post Offices Keep Rolling

By C. Gottfried Finke

After Jan. 1, 1951 the U. S. postal department will have 110 highway post offices in operation.

Eleven of these were described in an October announcement of the department.

Unit cost of the post office on wheels is $16,846. White Motor of Cleveland, Ohio, is constructing the vehicles.

First highway post office was established Feb. 10, 1941, and ran between Washington, D. C., and Harrisonburg, Va.

In addition to those owned by the government there are others managed by private contractors under post office authorization.

Highway post offices supplement railroad service since some of the latter has been discontinued.

Each of the units has a driver and two postal transportation clerks, who sort mail while the vehicle is moving.

Post offices along the route pick up mail from and deliver mail to the moving post office.

Stamp collectors will be interested in obtaining inaugural covers of the highway post office runs as connected both with starting point and stops.

There is one post office right in Artesia's area, the Flying H Ranch west of Roswell, that receives and sends mail only twice a month.

Here are the inaugural dates on highway post offices as announced by John M. Redding, assistant postmaster general:

Dec. 1—Columbus-Gallipolis, Ohio; Dec. 2—Columbus and Portsmouth, Ohio; Dec. 2—Summersville and Portsmouth; Dec. 9—Charleston, S. C. and Augusta, Ga.

Dec. 15—Waco and Yoakum, Texas; Dec. 16—Waco and Eastland; Dec. 18—Greensburg and Pittsburgh, Pa.

Earlier starts were made: Nov. 13—Boston and Newport, R. I.; Utica and Binghamton, N. Y.; Nov. 14—Boston and Orleans, Mass.; Nov. 20—Rocky Mount and Beaufort, N. C.; Nov. 21—Suffolk, Va. and Rocky Mount.

Social Security Farm Provisions Are Explained

The new farm provisions of the Social Security Law have been pointed out by County Agent Dallas Rierson. Both farm employers and workers need to become fully acquainted with the law in order that the maximum benefits may be received, the county agent said.

Rierson pointed out that farmers and workers should give special consideration to these main points: To qualify for social security benefits, a farm worker must be regularly employed by one person

Ann Arbor Prisoner

CAMERA CATCHES tense look on face of Robert H. Stacy, 30, instructor in Latin and Greek, after he admitted in Ann Arbor, Mich., that he set the $3,000,000 fire which destroyed the University of Michigan's historic Haven hall. He said he tossed a match into a pile of maps and left the building. Stacy became a suspect when spotted watching fires. Police prevented him from leaping seven floors down a stairwell after his admission. (International) for three months. The qualifying period started Oct. 1.

During the three months after the qualifying period he must work at least 60 days and earn $50 cash before his earnings can be reported for social security credit.

A worker must qualify under one farm employer. Each time he changes employer, a worker must go through a three-month qualifying period.

After the first reported three months, if a worker earns $50 in a quarter year, his income is reported for social security credit.

Social security has two kinds of benefit—old age retirement benefits and survivors' insurance in case the worker dies.

Upon reaching 65, benefits range from $20 to $150 per month for families and $20 to $80 for individuals.

Further information can be obtained from social security offices or the county agent's office.

NOTICE
State Engineer's Office
Number of Application RA-1504
S. Santa Fe, N. M., November 2, 1950.

Notice is hereby given that on the 25th day of October, 1950, in accordance with Chapter 131 of the Session Laws of 1931, T. F. Wilson of Artesia, County of Eddy, State of New Mexico, made application to the State Engineer of New Mexico for a permit to appropriate the shallow ground waters of the Roswell Artesia Basin by drilling a well 8 inches in diameter and approximately 385 feet in depth at a point in the W 1/4 NW 1/4 SE 1/4 of Section 31, Township 16 South, Range 26 East, N. M. P. M., for the purpose of supplementing water obtained from well described in License No. RA-504, located in the SW 1/4 NW 1/4 SE 1/4 of said Section 31, for the irrigation of 153 acres of land described as parts of the S 1/4 NE 1/4 and N 1/4 SE 1/4 of said Section 31.

No additional rights over and above those set forth in License No. RA-1504 are contemplated under this application.

Appropriation of water not to exceed 459 acre feet per annum delivered upon the 153 acres of land herein described.

Any person, firm, association, corporation, the State of New Mexico or the United States of America, deeming that the granting of the above application will be truly detrimental to their rights in the waters of said underground source, may protest in writing the State Engineer's granting approval of said application. The protest shall set forth all protestant's reasons why the application should not be approved and shall be accompanied by supporting affidavits and by proof that a copy of the protest has been served upon the applicant.

Said protest and proof of service must be filed with the State Engineer within ten (10) days after the date of the last publication of this notice. Unless protested the application will be taken up for consideration by the State Engineer on that date, being on or about the 5th day of December, 1950.

JOHN H. BLISS,
State Engineer.
