

Present World Crisis Again Shows Man's Failure to Service His Creator

regulations for the Lenten season, the period of fasting, prayer and penance, in preparation for the observance of Easter, were told worshippers at Our Lady of the Sacred Heart, St. Anthony church, by the pastors, Rev. Ste. Bono and Rev. Francis Geary, that is the background of Lent? did it originate? Comparing the fourth, fifth and sixth centuries with the present, has a doubly powerful meaning for "out of the East again godless armies to scourge a people fallen into moral decay." This is the story of Lent—yes, and today.

The fourth, fifth and sixth centuries were a time of physical suffering and spiritual anguish.

Along out of the East, the barbarians crashed across the Rhine Danube to beat the Roman Empire into the dirt. Moral decay had entered the spine of her citizens. Empire was made ready for annihilation.

During the period between 461 and 506 Vandals, Goths, Huns and Avars repeatedly besieged and looted the capital of Rome. The city wandered over the land in a sea of looters and scavengers. Plague, flood and disease swung their scythes of death in the streets of war. The very gates of hell seemed to open over the Christian world.

In his period of anguish, however, let him not lose hope and eat the rotten fruit of despair. Then all is lost. But let him look upon and imitate his suffering God there on the Cross, there in God's courage and inspiration and hope and eternal salvation.

depth of their souls. They cried out to their God. But they did not cry out in blasphemy as do those without hope. They cried as those who knew that the crucified Son of God would hear them. He too had suffered at the hands of men.

From Fearful Age

And so Lent was born—the child of a fearful age—40 days to commemorate the 40-day fast of Christ in the desert. If the world was not to be submerged in the godless sea that swept over Christendom, men knew that they must do penance by imitating the suffering Christ.

"Unless you shall do penance, you shall all likewise perish."

With the coming of Lent on Feb. 7, out of the East again roll godless armies to scourge a people fallen into moral decay. Men will learn that they cannot reject the Son of God with impunity.

These hordes, though they know it not, will be used by God to bring a post-Christian western world to re-embrace the truths which once she loved. God will bring good out of evil. He draws straight with crooked lines.

Christianity will save the western world again as it saved it before. But first western man will suffer great suffering. He will have his Good Friday before the Easter Sunday dawn brings joy to the world.

In his period of anguish, however, let him not lose hope and eat the rotten fruit of despair. Then all is lost. But let him look upon and imitate his suffering God there on the Cross, there in God's courage and inspiration and hope and eternal salvation.

Delegates Told Co-ops Examples Free Enterprise

Co-operatives are living examples of free enterprise. Too often the accomplishments of the REA program are taken for granted.

These were statements made in speeches by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture and Claude R. Wickard, administrator, Rural Electrification Administration, at the ninth annual meeting of National Rural Electric Co-operative Association held in Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 29-Feb. 1.

Representing Central Valley Electric of Artesia at the convention were Paul L. Frost, manager of the local association and member of the national public relations committee; W. L. Taylor, a director of the local unit and Bill Siegenthaler, attorney for the local co-operative.

In his speech Secretary Brannan said: "Fifteen years ago only 11 per cent of the nation's farm had central station electric service. At that time how many of us would have dared predict that today, only a decade and a half later, 87 per cent of our farms would have central station service?"

"But that's the record. Some of the most striking evidences of the labor saving advantages of electricity may be found on dairy farms.

"Electricity can save time and labor in separating cream, pumping and heating water, hoisting hay and grinding feed.

"A farmer with a milk cooler can cool 10 gallons of milk with about one kilowatt-hour of electricity. Rapid cooling keeps the bacteria count low and maintains the quality of the milk.

Can Aid Defense

Speaking of the part electric power and the rural electric coop can play in the present emergency, he said:

"By taking full part in your own community civil defense programs your co-ops can render still another service to the nation.

"You can do this by working with the department of agriculture agencies in your counties, by providing channels of communication to farm people for information on the defense program and by assisting rural industries, especially deen-tralized war plants, to locate in your areas."

Wickard Quoted

Administrator Wickard said: "I think again you officials of REA organizations have reason for gratification for what has been accomplished during the last year. For 1950 we estimate that 148,000 miles of line have been energized and 280,000 consumers added to REA-financed systems.

"There are three and one half million consumers. Over two million of these have been added during the last five years.

"The entire nation owes its congratulations to you for the excellent financial condition of your organizations. I am happy to report that the REA cooperatives are continuing their most remarkable record of paying back their obligations with the federal government. Today only one third of one percent the loan payment due are delinquent."

Other notables on the convention program were Sen. Charles W. Tobey of New Hampshire, Col. Robert S. Allen, columnist, Washington, D. C., Robert S. Kerr, senator and former governor of Oklahoma, and Edward P. Eardley, chief engineer of water and power division, U.S. Department of Interior.

Eardley is a former "boss" of Frost who worked under Eardley when the latter was regional engineer at St. Louis.

A Texan, T. E. Craddock of Seymour, was elected secretary-treasurer of the association, while an Oklahoman, Clark T. McWhorter of Blair, was named president.

Carlsbad—

Justice of the Peace Milford Estill on Friday.

George Rice reported to police that two masked youths entered his store about 7:15 o'clock Thursday evening, one of them flourishing a .22 rifle.

He said $3 was taken from his billfold and the other money from the till. When the youths left, he said, they ran down an alley.

Artesia police immediately radioed to Carlsbad, Roswell and Lovington, asking officers there to set up road blocks.

Gutierrez and Jaquez and two 15-year-old boys were stopped in a car at the north edge of Artesia by Carlsbad police and sheriff's officers.

The 15-year-old boys told officers they knew of but had no part in the robbery. They were questioned, but were not placed in custody.

Officers said they obtained statements from Gutierrez and Jaquez admitting the robbery.

It was reported by Carlsbad officers that Gutierrez has a criminal record and has been sent up twice for armed robbery.

Pancake Boosters Whoop It Up Today

Today is the day the pancake is glamorized.

It's Pancake Day, whatever that means, perhaps another in the series of special days designed to separate more cash from the customer.

Foods appear a speciality of the commercialized days of February for besides Pancake Day the months' calendar contains national peanut week, national kraut and frankfurter week, and cherry week.

Oddly pancake day comes one day after national children's dental health day.

And the "specials" wind up with national smile week, which laps over into March 3, begins on Feb. 26.

With all the pressure selling, it takes a grin and bear it period to round off the month.

In March wallpaper wholesalers will begin whooping it up for more sales, as will trailer coach makers, and milliners.

And the final week, March 25-31, is honey for breakfast week which brings us right back to Pancake Day.

NEW JERSEY BULL SIRE AUSTRALIAN CALF

Not long ago a purebred Guernsey heifer was born in far-off Australia. The sire of this calf is owned and was stabled in New Jersey.

Nearly a year ago a breeder in New Jersey shipped a test tube of semen from this sire to a farm in Queensland, Australia. The trip by air required 81 hours.

This, officials of the American Guernsey Cattle Club say, is the longest known shipment of semen successfully used in producing a living calf.

Santa Fe, N. M., was established as a Spanish provincial capital 10 years before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth in 1620.

Rough Season Ahead For Bulldog Baseball And Track Teams

Stars Gone From Field, Nine Short of Pitchers

Gloom, comparably only to that of Hamlet, the melancholy Dane, or of a high school boy with the big prom upcoming and no cash on hand, engulfs Coach Reese Smith and Coach Cal Hall.

While the snow of a two-day cold snap melted in the fairly warm sun outside the high school gym, icicles hung deep over their outlook on Artesia High School track and baseball teams for the 1951 season.

And as a certain breakfast cereal slogan has it there is a reason for all that lack of optimism.

Coach Smith tallied nine of his track and field squad, members of the 1950 District 5 championship team, that won't be in action this season mainly because they have already received their sheepskins. Some have moved away.

On the horsehide and hickory circuit side, Coach Hall said he had lost eight out of nine of his regulars on the 1950 baseball team. There were 18 in the squad in all.

No schedules have yet been set nor reporting date for practice designated for either sport.

Coach Hall listed a pair of games with Roswell High School Coyotes, one to be played in the Chaves capital on April 14 following a March 30 night battle in Artesia.

Last season the Bulldog nine played nine games, won six, lost three.

The Bulldog track squad has received an invitation to take part in the White Sands Relays at Alamogordo on April 14.

Expected to return to the diamond war are these nine:

Jimmy Juarez, pitcher-outfielder; Jerry Giles, pitcher; Robert Pacheco, infielder-outfielder; Harold Grissom, center fielder; Raydean Owens, third baseman; Kirk McCarter and Eduardo Leaton, outfielders; Ray Coor, second baseman; Bus Brown, first baseman.

Coach Hall wants a big turnout of baseball players when the first practice call is sounded. Lack of pitchers is a drawback and ambitious flingers will have ample opportunity to show their wares.

Last week of this month may be the time the first baseball bugle is blown.

There are games of last season the Bulldogs will do well to remember and to avenge. Included are the games the Bulldogs lost to the Carlsbad Cavemen 3 to 5 and 1 to 2, not to overlook the Bulldogs being blanked 9 to 0 in the final round.

Stars Fade Out

For Coach Smith the situation is even more doleful. Gone are the boys who spearheaded the Bulldog thirlands to the District 5 crown last April. The "casualties" are:

Don Kincaid, who moved from Artesia to Texas, the boy that in the district joust won first in pole vault and high hurdles, was anchor man on the winning relay team, second in the 200-yard dash.

Barry Wood, first in broad jump; Tom Boyd, first in javelin throw; Vernon Halckman, first in high jump; Jet Arm Joe Harbert, second in shotput; Walter Burch, fourth in the 220.

Richard Johnson, first in mile run, second in half mile; Tommy Price, who suffered a concussion in an injury last summer, not expected to return this spring, who placed second in the 100-yard dash; and Bill Johnson, miler.

Records given are of the District 5 meet. Most of those listed as not coming back this season were seniors and graduated last spring. Halckman is in Texas Western at El Paso and El Paso is also the location now of Harbert who finished his high school work here.

Old Timers Return

Back on the cinder path this season are expected to be nine from last year's squad plus Herbie Traveno, a newcomer in track, but an athlete who made his mark last fall in football.

Due to be working out for the 1951 squad are James Baker, Clarence Lamb, W. L. Gray, in the 100-yard dash; Tommy McCaw and Charlie Nelms, pole vault.

Bill Brown, discus throw, shotput, high jump; Doyle Cole, 220-yard dash, relay, broad jump; A. L. Terpening, low hurdles; Clarence Connor, 440-yard dash.

Coach Dale Waters is confident that the second half of the season will see the Miners improve a great deal on their two wins-five defeats record in Border Conference play. Their overall season record is seven victories and eight losses.

The new semester brought one addition to the squad, which offset the loss of one man. Hugh Carden, former Austin High School ace, became eligible and Clarence Burnham, a reserve forward, left school.

Texas Western Presents Grid Letters to 32

Varsity football letters have been awarded 32 members of the 1950 Texas Western College team.

The letter winners are:

John Connell, Temple; J. D. Partridge, Odessa; Jack Wilkinson, Odessa; Jim Walker, Merkel; Bill Tittle, Merkel; Joe Holley, Odessa; Harlan Smith, Greenville; Herman Foster, Odessa; Coy Jones, Brownfield; Russell Young, Alamo.

Andy Everest, Odessa; Bud Roland, El Paso; George Clements, El Paso; Jim Davis, Pharr; Bill McWilliams, San Angelo; Ralph Brewster, El Paso; Paul Matejovsky, Odessa; Bill Chesak, El Paso.

Lee Cargile, Sanderson; Cordell McCraw, Lynchburg, Va.; Gerald Campbell, Odessa; Harvey Gabriel, Odessa; Tom Steele, Chicago; Jimmy Hammond, El Paso; Sonny Holderman, Odessa.

Alvin Whaley, Crane; Wayne Slaughter, El Paso; Joe Hutto, Natchez, Miss.; Rosario Drago, New Orleans, La.; Sal Mosca, M. Vernon, N. Y.; managers Norman Windham, Merkel, and Gene Haynes, Odessa.

Scarlet Scourge To Battle Texas Western Thursday

Texas Western's Miners return to the Border Conference basketball race, after taking time out for examinations, with a four-game home stand against league foes.

The Miners were seeking to avenge an earlier defeat by the New Mexico Aggies when the two teams traded shots in the Austin High School gym at 8 p. m. yesterday. In the first meeting between the two teams, the Aggies won 74-50 after Texas Western's ace center and top scorer, Gerald Rogers, fouled out in the first 10 minutes of play.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders come to town on Thursday for their first meeting of the season with the Miners. This game will match two of the best centers in the conference, Texas Western's Rogers and Tech's Paul Nolen. To avoid a conflict with the El Paso appearance of the Harlem Globetrotters, the game is set for 4 p. m. Thursday in the El Paso Coliseum.

The next week finds the Miners being host to league-leading University of Arizona on Feb. 14, and New Mexico University on Feb. 17.

Coach Dale Waters is confident that the second half of the season will see the Miners improve a great deal on their two wins-five defeats record in Border Conference play. Their overall season record is seven victories and eight losses.

The new semester brought one addition to the squad, which offset the loss of one man. Hugh Carden, former Austin High School ace, became eligible and Clarence Burnham, a reserve forward, left school.

Guard Receives Texas Western's 'Valuable' Award

Herman Foster, 210 pound senior guard from Odessa, is the recipient of the Feder Award as the most valuable player on the 1950 Texas Western College football team.

The engraved wrist watch was presented to Foster at the annual banquet in El Paso honoring the Texas Western football team this week. Winner of the award is selected by a vote of the team members.

Foster, who won all-state honors at Odessa High School in 1946, was a standout on both offense and defense.

This marked the third time in the past five years that a guard has won the coveted award. In 1946 it was Joe Valencia and last year it was won by Ernest Kelly. Raymond (Sugar) Evans, tackle from Odessa won the award in 1947 and Fred Wendt, a backfield star won it in 1948.

Bulldogs Butted By Rams, 53-23

Artesia High School Bulldogs lost to the powerful Portales Rams, rated last week as one of the 10 top teams in the state, in a game played Friday night in Portales. The score, Portales 53, Artesia 23.

Basketball season is rapidly nearing an end with a game with Dexter tonight and two other tilts that remain on the schedule before the round of a half-dozen tourneys is started.

SPORTS ON THE HOME FRONT

By BROWNIE EMERSON

Baseball Fans Eager for Day When Artesia Drillers Make Bow

This is another of those ho-hum days when it's getting late for the tap and dribble and zone defense and still not early enough for the timber hurlers, the javelin flingers and the southpaw artists.

I'll never be so glad to see good old spring time as this season. Seems it's going to be ages before tennis rackets swish again and the track and field athletes do their stuff.

For most of Artesia sports fans I guess there's no game like baseball. A baseball fan makes the fans of all other sports look like they were doing only a part-time job.

The boys whose top interest is the game invented back before the War Between the States are going to be triple eager beavers this season for our Artesia Drillers will be right in the middle of the sports spotlight come April.

Sooner Round-Up

Paul R. Dillard, the lawyer, is another Sooner I now have on my list. Talked with him at the Kiwanis luncheon last week and found out he got his A.B. at Buchanan-on-the-Canadian back in 1928.

He also named Elwood Kaiser, Wesley R. Sperry, and Waldo Potts as former Sooners, told of an honorary religious fraternity of which he, Dillard, was a member.

There was talk of how Holmberg Hall got its name; of old Papa Lehr, of Allen, the government prof, former athlete who had big hands and a lecture gesture of sweeping out one hand like the bow of an LST.

That makes seven Sooners now on the list. Anybody else? If you ever attended the University of Oklahoma, please contact Brownie Emerson, O. U. ex-26, sports editor of The Artesia Advocate, Telephone 7.

As I've said before this is no game, no money seeking scheme, just a matter of getting some information for some good yarns on alma mater, and about the boys who went there.

For Blow or Show

Like the old saw about the country boy who had one handkerchief for show, another for "blow," is my idea of sports trophies. While I understand there are restrictions in line with keeping the sport on an amateur basis, simon pure, I fail to see the logic in handing out hunks of gold, silver, and brass that are nice to look at but of no more use than a raincoat to a whale.

An athlete wins the mile run and he gets a glamorous jug, mug, cup, statuette, all well-elegantly engraved. It looks wonderful. Say, he's allowed to cart it off home. Eventually it may wind up as a flower holder or depository for loose change.

Guess you'd run up against the value angle on this and the fracturing of the amateur code but seems a better deal to me to give the athletes a fine coat, jacket, sweater, pair of boots, cuff link set than a cup left to be gazed upon in some trophy case either at school or in the athlete's home.

Caper No. 983

If you can believe what you see in numerals on basketball jerseys there's a thousand basketball players in action at Artesia High School. Saw Coach Cal Hall, the mentor of the flaming frosh, Friday afternoon put on a basketball jersey that had the numeral 983.

Maybe they have that many out for football at Notre Dame but I've seen around Artesia High.

A Fine Citizen

Folks who have met Stubby Greer, manager of the Artesia Drillers, are impressed right away with his frankness, fairness, un-failing politeness, logical reasoning. He's a great baseball player and a good executive.

Also he never seems to hurry he gets the job done right and on time. About the only complaint I have against Stubby is that he shuns the limelight so much I almost have to take a pick axe to get him to talk about himself.

Quiet, unassuming, a man who knows his job, Stubby is a credit to Artesia and we're all proud to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Greer as Artesia citizens.

Incidentally, Mrs. Greer works in the office of the Artesia Baseball Club, 301 Booker Building and is as efficient as her husband. Whenever I've made a request of either Manager or Mrs. Greer for information on the Drillers, the response has been prompt, courteous and complete.

Golden Glover

Chanced to meet Herbie Traveno on the high school campus Friday p. m. Been long time since I've seen him. Learned he'd qualified for the "traveling squad" in a bout at Roswell although he lost his fight in the Golden Gloves tourney in Carlsbad.

Traveno is one athlete who goes all-out. He's interested all the way in everything he does. A splendid trait and one all should have in their work as well as in sport.

He only got off to a beginning in football last season. He still needs experience and training and practice but if he keeps on he'll go

Mustangs Add Band Concert As Cage Extra

A surprise attraction for tonight, at New Mexico Western College was announced. There will be a combination concert-basketball game in City as the first performance of the double-barreled program. New Mexico Western will band.

Second attraction will be New Mexico Western College Mexico A. & M. cage class. The game will begin about 8 p. m.

Two factors brought about entertainment packed program.

First, Old Man Winter's death blow to last week's concert held at the high school auditorium when the city's best snowfall crippled traffic caused folks to huddle at home.

Second, the college saw a situation an opportunity to give on Tuesday a varied program of both music and basketball to the community, whereas normally only a single game of basketball would prevail.

Actually, there is neither a preliminary nor a main performance for each program is a headliner. Music critics who have heard Ramon A. Parotti's 1951 musical reggregation play agree that it is one of the finest in small colleges day and is one of the finest ever to represent New Mexico Western.

On the other hand, the Mustang basketball teams is also a headliner for its currently leads the Mexico conference and will try to prove that it may be the best state by shooting for a victory ever highly touted A. & M.

No Price Hike

No advance in admission price will result despite the double attraction. Folks will see two much and two different types of entertainment for the standard cent admission price. This is a major college policy for previous basketball games throughout 1951 season.

considering all the work that had done in getting votes but are rules and unless followed the letter, there's no use but them.

Incidentally, the whole deal was reviewed two weeks ago a talk I had with Stubby Greer, manager of the Drillers. Furthermore, the entire set of regulations was condensed 2 years ago announcing completion of name selection deal.

Question of Bank Address Is Settled

Although it is located on a rectangular area of three streets, the correct address of the First National Bank is 119 South Roselawn.

The triple location of the bank has caused some debate in newspaper circles as to the bank's proper address. C. F. Hammett, assistant cashier, gave the answer in response to a question asked him Friday afternoon.

Also, since there are doors leading into the lobby at both ends, where's the front door entrance or what is considered the "front" door?

Hammett has the answer for that, too. He says there's not "front" door entrance, both Roselawn and Third rating as "front." The other side of the bank is on Quay.

erence to the present divorce action brought by North Eddy County for a divorce from South Eddy County.

The action is being brought, Bill said, on grounds of incompatibility.

Now it happens that Bill is an attorney and he knows something about such things. And he said South Eddy County is fighting the action on the strangest grounds he has ever heard in a divorce case.

The defendant, he said, claims we can't afford to get a divorce.

Oh, yes, by the way, before we forget it and we're sure you would want to know:

Today is "National Pancake Day."

In a more serious vein, however, this is "National Boy Scout Week," a week set aside for the nation to salute the Boy Scouts and for the Boy Scouts—2,750,000 strong—to strut their stuff.

This week makes the 41st anniversary of the movement in the United States. Since 1910, more than 17,750,000 boys in America have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

"Strengthen Liberty" is the theme this year. The organization has completed two years of a program known as "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty," which already has made it possible for 400,000 thousand additional boys to enter scouting's ranks and for all members to enjoy higher experiences.

May you have many more happy birthdays, Boy Scouts!

Following the lead of Artesia, as has so often happened in the past, Carlsbad has now come out with petition asking the state legislators to vote down our bill for the formation of Artesia County.

We presume they will get quite a few signatures.

But the strange thing about it is that whereas we have not learned on one person in North Eddy County who is opposed to the divorce action—although we will admit there probably are some—we have heard of a number in South Eddy County who are all for us and with any animosity against their part of the county.

They merely feel that we know what we want, are entitled to it and the movement will not hurt them.

It happened some women from this part of the county were in Carlsbad the day the petitions put in their appearance and they nearly started a riot—in a ladylike manner—when they were asked to sign.

nation that way?" he asked.

There is too much complacency in America, the speaker said. He pointed out the attitude is that "someone will do something about it, so why should I worry?" But the strategy of "divide and conquer" is at work, "and we're doing it to ourselves through our complacency."

On the local level, Lewis said, Artesia can do those things it wants to do. Instead of complaining about the way things go, the community can be made what is desired.

But this and other attainments call for the individual contribution to success, whether on the national or community level, Lewis said.

Prior to the guest speaker's address, President Siegenthaler, who recently was re-elected to succeed himself for another year, made an annual report on accomplishments of the chamber the last year and plans for the coming year.

Included in projects in which the Chamber of Commerce had a hand the last year, the president said, were arrangements for more community publicity, roads, including the oil field-potash loop road; work toward the splitting of Eddy County into two counties.

The sports program and co-operation in getting the Drillers professional baseball club for Artesia, work by the retail merchants' committee, which assisted in the plan to help do away with hot checks, standardizing of holidays and establishment of Thrifty Thursday.

Work on freight rates by C. L. Withers, chairman of the industrial committee; the annual good-neighbor dinner at Atoka, with plans to have more such affairs on the Cottonwood and at Loco Hills and co-operation with Hope in the big fiesta there.

Organization of the Highway 83 Association, obtaining a veterinarian for the community, work towards obtaining a military installation for Artesia, extending directory and information service, hiring of Burt C. Blanton of Dallas to make an economic survey of the area at a cost of $5500 and miscellaneous other projects.

President Siegenthaler said it is planned to change the monthly meetings of the Chamber of Commerce for members and others from noon luncheons to night meetings.

The chamber is still working on housing and the obtaining of commercial air service, water conservation and flood control and consolidation of charity drives, the president said.

Representatives of a number of communities were introduced by President Siegenthaler and they in-turn introduced others with them.

He called on Son Taylor, Maljamar; George O. Teel, Hope; Claud Simpson, secretary of the Roswell Chamber of Commerce; G. M. Sterrett, Dexter; Jim Mahill, Mayhill; R. J. Davenport, Dunken; Bud Cleve, Elk; Bryan Runyan, Penasco Valley and C. W. Carder, Amarillo, representing the Santa Fe Railway.

Entertainment was furnished by a girls' double trio and a boys' quartet, under the direction of H. O. Miller, high school vocal teacher. Both groups were accompanied by Miss Marjio Storm. Incidental piano music was furnished by Mrs. R. T. Wilson.

The banquet turkey dinner was prepared by members of the American Legion Auxiliary, who served about 175 local persons and guests.

Many Miles of Fence Built on National Forests

Nearly 1800 miles of range fences have been built on the national forests of the Southwestern region of the U. S. Forest Service during the last four years.

ing places 383 were developed by the government and 234 by the permittees.

All of the re-seeding work was done by the Forest Service. It is a relatively new activity, McDuff said, carried on under the re-forestation and re-vegetation act sponsored by Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico and Representative Mansfield of Montana and known as the Anderson-Mansfield Act.

The purpose of fences and watering places is to improve the grazing capacity of the national forests," the range manager said. "They are designed to obtain better distribution and management of livestock on the range and thus relieve overuse where cattle are inclined to congregate. The grass re-seeded areas provide excellent supplemental forage for livestock, in addition to preventing soil erosion and the silting of main stream channels."

McDuff warmly praised the stockmen for the amount of improvement work done at their own expense and said it is particularly welcome in view of the large amount of range improvements urgently needed.

Appraisal of Nation's Wood Supply Released

"In war and in peace this nation's forests have met and are meeting the demands made upon them."

This is the conclusion reached in a newly published 24-page appraisal of "The Nation's Wood Supply," now being distributed nationally by American Forest Products Industries.

was planned and compiled by leaders in the lumber, pulp and paper, plywood and allied industries representing every geographical section of the United States. The booklet points out that for 30 years there has been a definite upward trend in annual growth of forests and that timber growth is approaching a balance with wood consumption.

The book cites the "co-operation of public and private agencies in closing the gap between wood removal and wood growth." Listed as major forest replenishing factors in the United States are: Improved markets for wood, better forest protection against fire, insects and disease; expansion of nursery facilities and increased tree planting, better wood utilization in plants and mills, new scientific developments, and the increasing number of college-trained foresters employed in the management of privately owned timberlands.

American Forest Products Industries, Inc., with offices at 1319 18th Street, N.W., Washington 6, D. C., is making the booklet available free of charge. A non-profit, non-political public service organization, A.F.P.I. encourages the "Keep America Green" and "Tree Farm" programs nationally.

Radio Brings Messages of Comfort Home

In Navy hospital in Japan, slightly wounded, don't worry. He is at APO... Such are messages of comfort to the back home from soldiers, airmen and marines over radio. With K5WAC, the amateur radio station at Fort Bliss, handling local messages, the bulk of the messages points in the Middle West, and East.

Approximately 4000 messages, to mothers, sweethearts or telling of hospitalization, telling of the safe arrival of the states, have been handled at Fort Bliss station. M-Sgt. Wuenschel, chief operator of K5WAC, has handled the huge "load" almost single-handedly, working as long as 18 hours a day to assure relay of the messages from the servicemen.

As many as 100 messages have come from the Navy Hospital at Yokohama, Japan, where Marine Capt. Goss and M-Sgt. F. A. Martin, operate amateur radio station. They have made arrangements for the arrival of the messages. Messages are collected and stated, often arriving days before mail reaches the folks telling of the hospital-

Property for 4-H Foundation Is Acquired

Property for a national 4-H Club center in Washington, D. C., has been acquired by the board of trustees of the National 4-H Club Foundation, Inc., the Extension Service said.

The 4-H Clubs are groups of rural young people participating in the educational programs which the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the state agricultural colleges conduct for rural people through their co-operative extension service.

The foundation, which is a private corporation composed of land grant college and USDA officials, has acquired the buildings and grounds formerly occupied by the Chevy Chase Junior College at 6401 Connecticut Avenue near the District of Columbia boundary line. The property includes auditorium, dormitory, and four service facilities for 200 or more people. There are approximately 11 acres of grounds.

Plans for such a center have been discussed for a number of years by the state 4-H Club leaders. Annually since 1927, except for interruption during the war years, each state and territory has sent 4-H Club delegates to Washington, D. C., during the month of June, for a program of citizenship and leadership training.

It was felt by the foundation that the center would provide ideal facilities for these assemblies and for other youth and extension workers' gatherings. It is planned to operate the center on a year-round basis, making it available for conferences of state and county extension workers' organizations, for 4-H Club and other youth recipients of fellowships for an extended study of their government, for extension groups wishing to make studies of new developments in the research of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and similar uses.

Cover Crops Help Conserve Water

In the face of the current drought in the irrigated areas in New Mexico, many farmers are thinking of discontinuing their winter cover, green manure, and permanent pasture crops. But Charley Taylor, extension agricultural engineer at New Mexico A. & M. College, points out that to do so would be bad water economy.

In the winter months, the lower temperatures, shorter days, and higher humidity reduce the rates of evaporation and transpiration (water use by plants), Taylor says. Therefore, it doesn't take much water to keep cover crops growing in the winter.

"The nitrogen and organic matter which these crops add to the soil increase its productivity, which, in turn, will help save irrigation water during the regular growing season," the agricultural engineer explains. "In other words, the investment of a little irrigation water in winter-growing crops will reduce the amount of water required in the warmer months, because of the increased production per unit of water."

Taylor suggests that farmers in some surface-irrigated areas can also profit from this water conservation practice by developing underground water resources.

Accidents caused by bad street lighting claim about 10,000 American lives a year.

majority of the messages received statewide by W6HQX, Camp Pendleton, Calif. Major base, with T-Sgts. John J. and E. Spade and Sgt. Peterson handling the receiving and relaying of the traffic. Next stop for Middle West, Coast and Southern United States messages is K5WAC at Fort Bliss. This station acts as "net" for the further relaying of messages to amateur stations at the addresses.

It had the pleasure of delivering messages from the hospital servicemen erroneously reported killed or missing," said Wuenschel. "This type of notification makes up for the hours of work involved."

Department of Game and Fish Asks Legislation

With the Legislature now in session, the Department of Game and Fish is hopeful that several bills may be introduced in the interest of New Mexico sportsmen.

It is hoped, according to State Game Warden Elliott Barker, that something constructive will be done about the following items:

Some legislation designed to help prevent hunting "accidents" or the shooting of one hunter by another.

House Bill 162, introduced last year, providing for a conservative use of state lands and prohibiting the posting of more than 50 percent by the lessee. Stockmen and the State Game Protective Association agreed upon it last year.

Senate Bill 64, passed by the Senate and never put on the calendar of the House, making the cottontail rabbit a game animal and, therefore, under the regulatory powers of the State Game Commission. New Mexico is one of the few states that does not do this.

A bill authorizing the state to participate in the benefits of the so-called "Dingell Bill" or federal aid to fisheries program.

Section 43-224 of the New Mexico Statutes 1941 annotated should be amended to clarify the duties and authority of Game Department and law enforcement officers.

Senate Bill 234 of the last Legislature, which was never put on the Senate calendar, should be passed for it simply provides for issuance of free fishing licenses to wards of the Industrial School at Springer to fish on waters belonging to the school.

Home, School and Industry Linked By Youth Work Program

BY BROWNWOOD EMERSON

Former is on the job under the direction of employer and supervision of coordinator.

The latter is taught in school by special teacher-coordinator and related subjects teachers.

Related instruction given by the coordinator is of two types, that which is common to all the occupations represented in the group and that which is peculiar to the occupation of each student worker.

Supervisor Bennett says "approximately two days each week should be devoted to instructional content common to all occupations and the rest to specified occupational instruction."

"In order to be effective this latter type of instruction must be largely individual in character calling for a larger amount of supervised study."

Purpose of Program

Aims of diversified occupations are to give youth both general and vocational education so they may become economic assets and good citizens at the completion of their school training.

Majority of youth go right from school into business and industry when they finish high school.

"It is highly essential therefore," comments Bennett, "that every opportunity be provided for a practical education which will fit high school youth into the world of work."

Advantages

He lists 11 benefits accruing from diversified occupations:

1. Providing training under working conditions.
2. Bridging gap between student's school life and entrance into full time employment.
3. Furnishing closer tie-up of home, school, and work.
4. Offering a wider range of training than under any other vocational program.
5. Setting up occupational training opportunities for smaller towns.
6. Developing individual dependability, cooperation, willingness to assume responsibility.
7. Trains youth to get along with older workers.
8. Gives student a definite base to gauge his assets and liabilities in terms of job opportunity and job requirement.
9. Develop personal and occupational confidence in the student.
10. Permits student to earn as he learns.
11. Opens door for extra education by supplying student incentive to stay in school and adds meaning to his school work.

Vocations

There are 60 occupations listed as "common to the D. O. program." It includes trades, and selling and also specialized technical jobs.

The list consists of the following: Aeronautics, auto mechanics, auto parts, baking, building trades, cleaning and pressing, cosmetology, dental mechanics, electric wiring, electrical appliance repair, foundry and machine shop, radio, refrigeration, sheetmetal work, watch repairing, dental assistant, cheese making, shoe repairing, painting, jewelry repair, meat cutting, photography.

Printing, draftsman, welding, heating and ventilating, motion picture projectionist, machine shop, tire and battery shop, laundry, mortuary operation, plumbing.

Law office practice, bookkeeping, retail selling, secretarial work, theater management, waitress training, window designing, floral specialties, grocery store, radio broadcasting.

Pharmacy, furniture store, journalism, office work, drug store, shoe selling, stock room clerk, hardware retailing, banking, jewel-

How Training Accomplished

In addition to each of the segregated classes taught by the coordinator each student should be enrolled for one regular class closely related to his occupation.

This means bookkeeping for an office worker, mechanical drawing and blueprint reading for machinist, chemistry for nurses training.

Time is left for one regular high school subject such as English, economics, history, or science.

To be classified as a part-time student the worker must spend as much or more time on the job than he spends in school. Minimum time allowed for work in industry is 15 hours a week.

Frequently this will amount to 20 hours a week. Total time spent in school and on the job should not exceed 48 hours a week.

Students must meet in a separate class under the direction of the supervisor for at least one regular school period a day for the term, or a total of at least 144 hours a year.

Two units of high school credit will be allowed the student each year for the course.

A maximum of four units of high school credit may be obtained in diversified occupations.

Students working part-time must

Background

Idea of getting an education on the basis of part-time in industry and attending school during the rest of the day is not new. There was the apprentice system which was the only organized plan in colonial days in America and before that in Europe.

Present deal is an application of the old to modern urban industry and economics.

While the D. O. set-up had its most rapid growth during the depression it is equally necessary during boom times. When wages are high and workers few students are tempted to quit school.

Unless some encouragement is given a majority of the pupils never return to their classes.

ENTRANCE REGULATIONS

There are six requirements for students in this occupational training course. They must first of all be 16 years or older and in most cases enrollment is limited to eleventh and twelfth grade students.

The student should be placed in an occupation where there is an opportunity for growth and development.

Parents of student-worker must give approval of the training agreement.

Student is placed in the occupation of his choice and ability.

The student must show evidence of dependability, willingness to work, and real interest in the occupation from the viewpoint of training rather than pay.

Fall, Winter Milk Production Is Profitable

One of the dairyman's biggest problems is to keep his fall and winter milk production at a high level, says County Agent Dallas Rierson.

State-wide figures show that New Mexico dairymen sell about 50 per cent more milk monthly during May and June as they do in the fall and winter months. At the same time, people use more milk during the months when the least milk is available.

As far as profits go, a high level of milk production during the fall and winter has several advantages. If you're supplying milk for processing, you'll have a larger proportion of your supply to market during the season when milk and butterfat bring better prices. Or, if you sell to a pasteurizing plant that has a base and surplus purchasing plan, more of your milk will bring a higher price, since base prices are usually established on fall and winter production.

The county agent offers several suggestions about building up the fall and winter milk production.

First, follow a good schedule. Heifers bred on October 10 will come into heat around September 18. If you breed on January 10, the freshening would probably be October 10. Those bred as late as February 29 would be due to freshen on October 29. Such a breeding schedule would bring heifers and cows freshening in the fall and winter months, increasing the milk during that period of the year.

Long-term Investment that pays daily dividends

THESE are days when thoughtful people turn their minds to the durability of things they purchase—and that makes good sense at any time.

But you may have noticed that it's a rare occasion when doing your duty turns out to be the best way to satisfy your heart's desire.

That's what's so marvelous about this '51 Buick.

If you picked a car just for the lift it gives you—your pride in its power and pace—or its generous comfort and room—you couldn't make a better choice.

But make note of this:

That gleaming new push-bar forefront, which greets your eye with flashing beauty, contains 25 grille bars made of stamped steel, individually mounted to "give" and come back unharmed. Combined with a massive, wrap-around bumper, fortified by two stalwart "bumper bombs" and two added uprights, it gives unsurpassed protection.

The springs of stout spiraled steel on all four wheels let your wheels dip and curtsy over uneven highways, while you ride level as a lance. But these springs also need no servicing, and breakage is virtually unknown.

Buick's great-powered engine is a Fireball, wondrously lively and eager at the mere touch of your toe—but it also wrings extra power from every drop of fuel, and has the mechanical perfection that comes only from years of experience with this basic design.

Dynaflow Drive gives every mile you drive effortless smoothness of control—but it also eliminates clutch repair bills, saves tires, puts less strain on the whole driving mechanism, from engine to differential.

The road-steady gait of a Buick gives you a sense of relaxed security—and is also evidence that you have a durable, deep-silled, X-braced frame beneath you.

However you check it, you'll discover this: The things that make you yearn for a Buick on first acquaintance, are the very same things that make Buick such a smart long-time buy.

Better make it a point to see your Buick dealer—soon.
