

THE ARTESIA ADVOCATE

HELPING TO BUILD A GREATER ARTESIA

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, TUESDAY, MARCH 6, 1951

NUMBER 19

HOUSE IS TO VOTE TODAY

Senate Bill 100 probably will hit the floor of the New Mexico House of Representatives for consideration and vote this afternoon.

That was the information late Monday afternoon from the Artesia delegation at 5 o'clock, an hour before planned adjournment for the night.

The bill on Monday of last week passed the State Senate by a vote of 13-11, proposing to split Eddy County and create a new county out of the northern portion, to be known as Artesia County and with the city of Artesia to be the county seat.

It then went to the counties and county lines committee of the House, from which it came on Friday without recommendation.

The vote of the committee was never officially learned, but it was understood the members stood 7-3 in favor.

At 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the House cleared many bills which it had planned to clear last Friday and Saturday, but which were delayed somewhat.

The Advocate's correspondent at the capital said that on Monday morning there were 57 bills on the calendar of the House, 21 of which were House bills, to be acted on first, so they could go to the Senate for action before the State Legislature adjourns next Saturday.

Also on the agenda were 36 Senate bills, previously passed by the Senate.

Among the 57 bills, the Eddy County-split bill was No. 38 on the list.

At the time of the 5 o'clock report, the House had disposed of 17 House controversial bills, leaving four to be voted on, which may have been done by the time of the 6 o'clock adjournment for the night.

The bill for the split will be the 18th on the calendar, and it was anticipated it would be reached by this afternoon.

Should it pass, it then will have but one more hurdle—the consideration of Gov. Edwin L. Mechem.

On Monday, 53 members of the House answered roll call of a total of 55 members, including the speaker, Representative Calvin Horn of Albuquerque.

If all are present at the time of the vote, it will require 28 favorable for passage, or 28 unfavorable to defeat the Artesia County bill.

Southern Union Employees Given Service Awards

Two employees of Southern Union Gas Company's town plant here, Howard Haynes and Roy W. Simpson, recently received that company's awards for 15 and five years of continuous service, respectively. Announcement of the presentation of the awards to the local men was made by F. M. (Bill) McGinty, the company's Artesia manager.

In outlining Haynes' career with Southern Union, McGinty said that Haynes was employed by the company as warehouse clerk on March 4, 1936. Later he did service work and at one time was in charge of Southern Union's Southeastern New Mexico district meter shop here. Haynes was named to his present position, salesman, in February, 1948. His varied background in the natural gas industry has given him a wide experience.

Guard Battery Under Inspection Today By Colonel

Equipment and records of the local unit of the New Mexico National Guard will be scrutinized by Col. Paul A. Jaccquard, Fourth Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Inspection of training and personnel will follow at 7 o'clock tonight at the armory, 401-11 West Centre.

Colonel Jaccquard was in Artesia on a similar mission two years ago.

Lamb Has Two Complete Bodies, Only One Head

Perhaps John Fanning's stuffed swoose, which is on exhibition in a front window at The Advocate isn't such a freak, but a lamb born Saturday on the B. E. Green place certainly is, for it had two complete bodies and only one head, except for a third ear.

In spite of efforts of Barney Green, Jr., and Guy Smith to save the lamb, it died in birth, as did the ewe. In fact it probably was killed in the efforts to save both it and the mother, for one front leg was nearly pulled off.

The men said they thought at first normal twin lambs were being born, as they were bothered by eight legs. Until the birth had been completed it was not known they had a freak.

The two bodies converged in a common neck. Each body had the customary four legs and tail.

At first glance the head seemed to be normal, but the tip of a third ear was sticking out of the back of the head.

The Fanning swoose, which some think is a cross between a swan and a goose, appeared on the Fanning tank southeast of Artesia in December. It was quite ill and believed to have been wounded, but was found after it died four days later not to have been recently, but to have been shot months prior. After receiving permission from the State Game and Fish Department, Fanning had the strange bird mounted and it may be seen at The Advocate office.

Southwestern Public Service Rate Hike Hearings This Week

Public hearings will be held at Carlsbad and Roswell this week by the New Mexico Public Service Commission on a petition of the Southwestern Public Service Company, which seeks an increase of 10 per cent in the rates applicable to residential and commercial lighting customers.

The communities affected are Artesia, Carlsbad, Dexter, Hagerman, Lake Arthur, Loving, Malaga, Roswell and Espuela.

The hearing at Carlsbad will start at 10 o'clock this morning and Wednesday morning.

At Roswell the commission will hold a hearing at 10 o'clock Thursday and Friday mornings.

The hearings were called by the commission after the Southwestern Public Service Company had filed a petition on Feb. 7, seeking the increase in rates.

Accompanying the petition were current and proposed rate schedules for both commercial and residential lighting customers.

Under the proposed increase, the first 35 kilowatt hours per month for residential lighting would be raised from 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour to 6.05 cents.

The next 60 would be raised from 4 to 4.4 cents, the next 50 after that would be raised from 2.5 to 2.75 cents, and all in excess of that would be raised from 2 to 2.2 cents per kilowatt hour per month.

The commercial rate for the first 100 kilowatt hours per month, which is now 5.5 cents per kilowatt hour, has a proposed increase to 6.05 cents.

For the next 400 kilowatt hours, the petition seeks an increase of from 4 to 4.4 cents per kilowatt hour per month.

After that the next 1000 kilowatt hours would be increased from 3 to 3.3 cents, and for all in excess of that amount from 2 to 2.2 cents.

The hearing will be conducted by Commissioners W. W. Nichols, chairman; L. R. Conarty and Manuel J. Baca.

Individuals of companies desiring to be heard in regard to the petition and proposed increase in electric rates may attend either the meeting at Carlsbad today or tomorrow, or the one at Roswell on Thursday and Friday.

The meeting at each city will be held at the city hall.

State Has No Congressional Districts

Once in a while The Advocate gets inquiries as to the district from which are New Mexico representatives in Congress or what district Artesia is in.

The answer is none! It works this way:

Both Antonio M. Fernandez and John J. Dempsey are representatives at large. This means they were elected by the voters of the entire state. Representatives at large are selected this way when the state fails to re-district after an apportionment of representatives following a decennial census.

This happened after the 1940 census increased the New Mexico delegation from one to two, but the State Legislature failed to re-district the state.

New Mexicans in Congress: Senate — Dennis Chavez, Democrat and Clinton P. Anderson, Democrat, both of Albuquerque; tenure of Chavez expires in 1953, that of Anderson in 1955.

House of Representatives — Antonio M. Fernandez, Democrat, John J. Dempsey, Democrat, both of Santa Fe, elected for two-year terms last fall.

Night Watchman to Be Arraigned Today in Shooting of Billy Coates

Bill Evatt, night watchman on the Walter Nugent rock crusher about seven miles south of Artesia on the Rio Penasco, is expected to be arraigned here today before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, in connection with the shooting of Billy Coates at the crusher site about 7:30 o'clock Friday night.

Coates is a patient at Artesia General Hospital, where he was recovering from a gunshot wound in his neck, from which a .38-short bullet was removed Monday morning.

His physician said after the operation, Coates was doing nicely and was considered out of danger. However, he said, there was some paralysis of the left arm and that it would be a matter of time before it could be determined if the condition is clearing up or will clear up.

The bullet entered Coates' neck on the right side and lodged on the left. It partially shattered a vertebrae. The physician said a slight fraction of an inch to either side probably would have resulted in death.

At Carlsbad, where Evatt was taken Friday night, Eddy County Sheriff Bill High quoted the prisoner as saying the shooting incident involved a conveyor belt at the crusher, which Evatt declared Coates had taken from the plant and had in the car.

Evatt was quoted as saying Coates told him he had permission to take the belt, but had not specified from whom he had permission. According to Evatt, Coates refused to wait at his insistence and the shooting followed, Sheriff High said.

Cecil Coates, Billy's father, said he and his son had stopped the car in which they were riding near the plant in response to a call to nature and as they were about to get back in the watchman asked Billy what he was doing there.

Evatt, the elder Coates said, then told Billy not to get into the car or he would shoot him. Coates said he replied that Evatt would not shoot anyone and that then the shot was fired.

Deputy Sheriff Mark Walters of Artesia, one of the arresting and investigating officers, brought the conveyor belt to town Monday and had it weighed. Its weight, he said, was 405 pounds.

Deadline on 1951 Licenses Was Friday

State Police Patrolman A. B. Munsey on Monday warned motor vehicle operators that the deadline for the 1951 license plates was last Friday.

Everyone must now display 1951 plates or be liable to arrest and citation to justice court.

Besides a penalty of 15 per cent of the cost of new plates for the full year, violators may be fined $1 a day for every day past the deadline, plus court costs.

In addition, Patrolman Munsey said, one might also have to pay a wrecker fee and storage, should a car not displaying 1951 plates be hauled in.

The patrolman also called attention to the state law which provides a person working in New Mexico must have New Mexico plates on his car.

Artesia Members Attend Meeting of Posse in Carlsbad

The Eddy County Sheriff's Posse had a breakfast at Blount's Cafeteria in Carlsbad Sunday morning, with a number of members from Artesia attending.

The purpose of this breakfast was for the posse members to discuss attending a parade and rodeo which will be held at Truth or Consequences March 30-31 and April 1, to celebrate the birthday of the city's name being changed from Hot Springs to Truth or Consequences a year ago.

The Eddy County Sheriff's Posse voted to attend this event.

The Artesia members who were present were Clarence Connor, Buford Gray, Orval Gray, Judal Terry, H. E. Ansley and Jewel Heard.

Six Babies Are Newcomers at Artesia General

Three girls and three boys were born in Artesia General Hospital from Thursday through Saturday of last week.

A daughter, Vicky Ann, was born Thursday to Mr. and Mrs. Zola Cain. She weighed seven pounds seven ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Florelino Hernandez are the parents of a son, Federico, born Friday. He weighed seven pounds two ounces.

Jeffrey Frank, a son, was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schreiber, Jr. He weighed seven pounds 10 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Dungan are the parents of a daughter, Vicki Lou, born Friday. She weighed seven pounds five ounces.

Laura Lynne, a daughter, was born Friday to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Williams. She weighed seven pounds 14 ounces.

A son, Ralph Dru, born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Doughty, weighed six pounds 11 ounces.

Mrs. Craig, 29, of Artesia Injured In Denver Accident

Mrs. Marjorie Craig, 29, of Artesia, was thrown from one car and struck by another at Denver Friday, according to an Associated Press dispatch under a Saturday Denver dateline.

The press release quoted Clyde Landau, state highway patrolman, as giving this account:

Mrs. Craig's car went out of control on U.S. 85-87 as she attempted to pass a truck and skidded 195 feet. She was tossed out. She managed to walk back to the highway.

She attempted to flag down a car driven by Claude B. Terry, 42, of Englewood, Colo. Terry said another automobile's lights blinded him and his car struck Mrs. Craig. She is the wife of a soldier at Lowry Air Force Base in Denver.

Deputy Is Helping Taxpayers File Tax Returns

A deputy collector from the Internal Revenue Service is in Artesia this week—through Friday—for the purpose of advising taxpayers in filing their 1950 income tax returns.

He may be found in the assembly room in the basement of the city hall during business hours.

There is no charge for the service of the deputy collector. Any person whose total income in 1950 was $600 or more is required to file a return.

Persons who have worked for wages should have original withholding statements (Form W-2) to attach to the return.

The income tax return for 1950 must be filed not later than March 15.

Funeral services were pending yesterday at Paulin Funeral Home for James Lee King, 66, who died at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning in the home of a son.

Mr. King was born in Massey, Texas, Nov. 5, 1884; married Nellie C. Cantrell June 4, 1911, in Hillsboro. The couple were the parents of eight children, seven of whom are living.

He was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors, besides the widow, are three sons, four daughters, 12 grandchildren, two sisters and a brother.

Sons are William David of Lake Arthur, Alfred Damon and Doyle Lee, both of Dallas.

Sisters, Mrs. Allie Herrington, Hillsboro and Mrs. Nettie Harvell, Waco.

Local Artists to Exhibit Work on Sunday Afternoon

Local artists will exhibit their work in the audio-visual room of Artesia Junior High School from 2 to 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon at a public showing sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Announcement was made by Miss Lois Nethery, chairman of the committee in charge. Serving with her are Mrs. M. A. Mapes and Mrs. L. F. Hamilton.

Miss Nethery said it is hoped to make it a chatty affair, with artists not only exhibiting their work but being present as well.

All local artists, men as well as women, were extended an invitation to take part in the free, public exhibition.

Mrs. McGonagill Of Lakewood Dies There on Sunday

Mrs. George McGonagill of Lakewood, an old-time resident of this community, died Sunday afternoon at the home there of her son, Ernest McGonagill.

Alex McGonagill of the oil fields is also her son.

Funeral services will be at 2 o'clock this afternoon from West Funeral Home at Carlsbad.

Nine Teams From Two Counties To Joust In Artesia Grade Tourney

Junior High and CC Sponsor Two-Day Joust Opening Friday

While regional champions and runners-up are deciding the New Mexico High School Athletic Association title at Highlands High School in Albuquerque, 88 eighth-graders from nine schools in two counties will be attling for the crown in the third annual eighth grade basketball tournament in Artesia High School gymnasium.

The local tourney, in which teams of Artesia Junior High, Roswell Junior High, Atoka, Hagerman, East Grand Plains, L.F.D., Cottonwood, Lake Arthur and Hope will compete, will be played Friday and Saturday, March 9-10.

Play will be divided into five sessions. Admission per person per session will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for high school students, 15 cents for elementary. A session is defined as portion of the day's schedule; thus, Friday morning is one session.

For the final session, prices will be 60, 35 and 25 cents. Championship tilt is scheduled for 8:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Sponsors of the tournament are Artesia Junior High School of which Don Riddle is principal and Artesia Chamber of Commerce, of which Bill Siegenthaler is president and Bob Koonce, manager.

Four trophies, donated by the Chamber of Commerce, will be given. There will be an award for the championship team, runner-up team, a consolation team trophy and one to the team that shows best sportsmanship.

Immediately after the final game trophies will be presented by Manager Koonce. For the first three highest teams trophies are sun-ray and ivory color, 9, 10, and 11 inches high. The sportsmanship trophy is a gold cup 7 inches tall.

Both Chaves and Eddy Counties will have teams in the tourney. Carlsbad is not represented. The Eddy County capital was invited but declined saying the season was too far advanced and they needed the time to spend on track and field.

From Chaves will come Hagerman, L. F. D., East Grand Plains, and Roswell Junior, from Eddy, Artesia Junior, Cottonwood, Lake Arthur, Hope, Atoka.

The joust is expected to be the final in a long series of tournaments for local teams that started way back last December when a post-Christmas tourney was held by Artesia High School immediately after Christmas and during the Yule vacation.

Then followed the junior high tilt at Carlsbad; B at Hagerman, district in Roswell, in addition to that of the District 5 Amateur Athletic Union, won by Central Valley Electric Travelers; and a regional fifth-sixth grade local tournament.

Three Artesia and one Hope man will be officials of the eighth grade competition. They are Paul Kerley, New Mexico Aggies, Artesia Junior High mathematics and English teacher, and Luke W. Toyeb, Southwest Oklahoma, Hope coach, who will be referee.

W. A. Brown, Artesia Junior High sixth grade teacher, will be scorer, and Howard O. Miller, English teacher and tennis coach of Artesia High, timer.

Tournament Schedule
Friday—Hope vs. East Grand Plains, 9 a.m.; Hagerman vs. Lake Arthur, 10; Atoka vs. Cottonwood, 2 p.m.; Artesia Junior vs. L. F. D., 3 p.m.; winner of Hope-East Grand Plains vs. Roswell Junior, 6:30 p.m.

Consolation, loser of Artesia-L. F. D. vs. loser of Hope-East Grand Plains, 7:30; winner of Hagerman-Lake Arthur vs. winner of Atoka-Cottonwood, 8:30.
Saturday—Winner of Hope-East Grand Plains-Roswell Junior vs. winner of Artesia-L. F. D., 9 a.m.; consolation, loser of Hagerman-Lake Arthur vs. loser of Atoka-Cottonwood, 10.

Winner of Hagerman-Lake Arthur-Atoka-Cottonwood vs. winner of Artesia-L. F. D.-Hope-East Grand Plains, 6:30; two losers on winning side of bracket play for third and fourth place, 7:30; two winners play for championship, 8:30.

Roster of competing teams by school, team nickname, colors, and coach:

Central Valley Cagers Shatter Clovis 100-45

Putting out another omen of their power and of their prospects in the New Mexico Amateur Athletic Union tournament to be played in Las Cruces March 8-10, the Central Valley Electric Travelers basketball team trounced the invading Clovis Veterans of Foreign Wars in a game played Thursday night in the Artesia High School gym.

The score was Travelers 100, Veterans 45. It was a rugged contest with 25 fouls called on the invaders, 21 on the home team.

In free throws the Travelers again demonstrated superiority sinking 26 out of 30. Johnson had a 100 per cent record making seven out of seven tries. Big Don Heathington missed only one, making 13 out of 14.

The Travelers led thruout the contest, making their biggest sweep in the second and third periods.

It was the fifth game this season in which the Travelers have hit the century mark or above. Other century games were: Travelers 135, Artesia High School Exes 29; Travelers 109, Walker Air Force Base 64; Travelers 101, Holloman Air Force Base 50; Travelers 140, Dexter 51.

SPORTS ON THE HOME FRONT

By BROWNIE EMERSON

Time for Crown-Ups to Take Lesson in Living From Boys

Here it is almost spring, but it seems like winter in Siberia insofar as adults and sports are concerned. Except for the Artesia Eagles cleaning up their park, the Travelers and perhaps a sprinkling of golfers on warm Sunday afternoons, adults and sports seem to mix no better in Artesia than firewater and gasoline.

Sometimes I'm inclined to the opinion that if it wasn't for the lively bunch of kids in our elementary and high schools, Artesia would be as dead as a mammoth fossil.

True, the Artesia Drillers are getting into gear, but where are the grown-up teams of softball and amateur baseball players, besides the Eagles and the tennis players.

Do Artesia grown-ups crawl off into shells and devote all their time to money-grubbing?

It's time for the grown-ups to take a lesson from the boys and girls. There's no dullness, no stodginess, no gloomy pessimistic snarling about the kid—they're alive—and they live to the hilt!

Basketball Barrage
Come Friday I'm going to be busier than I've been in a long time. That's the day when the third eight-grade invitational tournament opens at Artesia High School gym.

With play going on all day Friday, Friday night, Saturday, and Saturday night, I'll see lots of basketball. Ironically, I have protested in the past against the Dagwood-sandwich contests in which a trio of games was run off.

There'll be 88 youngsters from nine schools of Chaves and Eddy (by that time maybe Artesia counties out for the crown. When those husky, lively kids play basketball they go all out and there'll be plenty of action.

My part will include more than just watching the games. Besides getting information for stories on the tournament, I will be, by courtesy of the three-man sportsmanship award committee.

Since I've long extolled sportsmanship, I could not logically refuse to serve in a post where words are put into action. Frankly I don't like long drawn events, but I will go thru with the job and I do appreciate Principal Riddle's courtesy.

Program Puzzlers
Looking over the mimeographed tourney program, I note that two teams East Grand Plains and L. F. D., do not list the full names of their players.

Now I'm not heckling either school but this omission gives me a peg on which to hang a mild criticism. I've noted that many times programs of all kinds fail to list the full names of players. It always irks me when this is so because to me it's liking saying "Smith" in New York.

Nor do I like the sloppy way of identifying brothers on a team, or two not related but who have the same last name as "K. Robinson" or "J. Robinson."

K might stand for anything from kennel to K. G. J for Joachim or Jerry or Jones.

The usual run of athletes are careless on spelling of names. I make plenty of mistakes myself but it isn't due to laziness.

I'd like to see Morris Ward, executive secretary of the New Mexico High School Athletic Association, make some comment on this. If scorers, officials, coaches, and others whose jobs deal in releasing names could be trained to be careful in listing full names correctly, it would be a boon to newspapers and to the public.

That way we writers could be saved lots of errors and there be more accurate reporting. For my part, I'm disgusted when I see a yarn in which people are identified as "Mr. K. Jones," "Mr. Smith," or "Miss Johnston." That's like trying to find "a" blue sedan in Chicago.

Women's Names
The eternal feminine have a quaint habit of using two or three names that put identification into a dizzy spin. It's intriguing and deliciously feminine and makes the illogical sex even more mysterious but it sure tosses a bazooka into accuracy.

In saying that I know I'm letting myself in for trouble and trouble from the male is a breeze compared to trouble on the distaff side.

Nevertheless, here goes: It seems to be the practice of married women everywhere to refer to themselves by two or three names. How often have you seen in women's page stories, a name like manager of the Drillers and have all the faith in the world in them. "Dr. Marshall Dyke has plenty of baseball savvy and has the dough to put over the deal.

"Stubby Greer, as we have said before, is a smart cookie when it comes to baseball. He has had more than a couple of years in the club and is no rookie at piloting a club either."

Rusty says he knew Greer from his management of the Abilene Blue Sox, and that he did a good job.

Those Feroocious Lions
In another paragraph Rusty mentions Vernon: "We know Vernon as that is our home to win. Football goes over there like corn bread and red beans."

Wonder if Rusty remembers that bang-up bi-district game in Vernon when the Pampa Harvesters bowed to the Vernon Lions? Boy, what a game that was!

Pampa had Charlie Boyles, husky young giant, the Panhandle edition of Artesia's A. L. Terpening. And the Harvesters had the game pretty well in hand until the final period, but as I recall the score was tied 1 the third.

And what football the fans saw that day! Boy, how that Vernon team could pass—not one, not two, but four passes in a row, laterals and forwards, that went faster than a dollar bill does today—only those passes paid off!

Aggies Are Silent
From Mrs. Don Roberts, Advocate bookkeeper, learn that some fan had called and asked why this page didn't have news of New Mexico Aggies sports. I regret that the fan didn't make a personal call on the sports editor for I'd like to talk to him. He didn't give his name.

Answer is that not having any news service, I depend on the news and public relations bureaus of New Mexico colleges. In an effort to give more coverage I've written a half-dozen bureaus pleading for more sports news.

Have asked around the office but no one seems to know just what L. F. D. stands for. All I can get that it is an old ranch brand. Well enough. But L. F. D., must have started somewhere, must have represented something.

It could mean "Loaded For Danger," "Lookie Fire Department," "Local Free Delivery."

Can some old timer give me the correct dope on this? Also, what's the connection between L. F. D. and East Grand Plains? Note both have same coach. And how did East Grand Plains happen to be named that?

Team Nicknames and Colors
L. F. D. and Cottonwood are the only two teams of the nine that have no nicknames. At least, none are listed on the program. Sounds like a Frank Buck adventure to call the roll:

ARTESIA HORNETS, Atoka Eagles, Hagerman Bob Kittens, East Grand Plains Wolves, Roswell Coyotes, Lake Arthur Panthers, then and here's another puzzler, Hope Hot Rocks.

Seems it's lot more difficult to pick distinctive school colors than nicknames. Blue and Gold are the colors of both Artesia Junior High and Cottonwood; blue and white, Atoka and East Grand Plains; green and white, Hagerman and L. F. D.

Roswell has red and white; Lake Arthur, red and black; Hope, gold and black.

Fan From Roswell
I've mentioned Rusty Ayers, sports editor of the Roswell Daily Record so frequently that it lays me wide open to a charge of apple polishing but readers of this page will remember that I had a strong rebuttal to Rusty last fall about tickets for the Roswell-Artesia football game.

At that time I expressed my opinion that Rusty was wrong in his attitude on the deal. So if I lean to the complimentary side now it is only being fair and is not a matter of policy playing for I don't work that way.

Rusty knows more of the ins and outs of baseball, especially our own Longhorn League, than any sports editor in New Mexico in my opinion.

Since the Drillers are the baby team in the league I haven't had the chance here in Artesia to familiarize myself with the league as Rusty has in Roswell where I understand the Rockets have been established some time.

Rusty is the league's No. 1 booster in these parts. His column is constantly sounding an optimistic note on baseball and especially about the Drillers.

Artesia so long has been looked down on by neighboring towns that I find a booster for an Artesia deal in another city is like hitting the jackpot after being down to your last quarter.

Blasting away at some sports scribes who say Artesia is the weakest link in the Longhorn chain, Rusty says: "Even tho this is the first year for the Drillers in the league we say Artesia is not the weakest."

"We know both the owner and newspaper than the organization that desires news printed of activities but leaves the deal up to chance.

With all the clubs, societies, associations we have in Artesia (there should be a world of them flowing in to this newspaper. Aside from a half-dozen people with whom I am in contact, isn't a single club, association, organization in Artesia, that will give the ball when it comes to publicity.

Now, I'm speaking for myself and for my side alone. It may differ with other workers, that's the situation with me. Clubs meet regularly but evidently no one is interested or enough get up and get to make information available to one's so-called newspaper.

Often it's stereotyped run of mill data. Not once has anyone sent a representative to me for my cooperation—which I'd give—on their publicity and allowed thru right down the

The University of New Mexico has come thru in fine style. I've sent personal messages via a friend to the New Mexico Aggies but have had no response. Can't recall ever getting a letter from the State College institution since I've been here.

New Mexico Western is on the ball. Pete Snelson at Texas Western in El Paso sent me a lot of copy for a time but nothing received from the Miners in two months.

Also George Hine Jr., at Hardin-Simmons, Abilene, Texas, was highly co-operative last fall but somehow news from the Cowboys has faded away.

I don't know what has happened, whether the address has been lost, my name forgotten, or if the stories are going out at all. Would like to hear from Snelson and Hine and also, for the fifth time I repeat, would like for the Aggies to start the copy flowing Artesia way.

Catcher

There's plenty of power in the throwing arm of Gene Perez, native Cuban, catcher for the Artesia Drillers. Perez is all energy, was popular with fans last season. This is his second period in pro baseball, his first with the baby team of the Longhorn League. Perez is only 20 years old, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds.

Sports Control Board to Hold First '51 Meet

First 1951 business meeting of the control board of New Mexico High School Athletic Association will meet Thursday afternoon in the student union building on the campus of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

The session, first of two to be held this year, comes on the day before the opening of the state high school basketball tournament, also to be played in Duke City.

Morris W. Ward, Roswell executive secretary of the association, said the organization's next gathering this year will be at the time and place of the state teachers convention.

Highland High School is the location of the state cage tourney. There will be four sessions, beginning Friday afternoon, March 9. Others are Friday night, Saturday morning and Saturday night.

This will be the first year in New Mexico high school basketball that the district-regional-state setup has been used. Artesia is in District 5 of Region IV, was eliminated in the district at Roswell.

Regional was played in Portales March 2-3. This year only eight teams will play in the state tilt whereas there were 20 last year and there are only four sessions this year in contrast to 11 in 1950.

New Mexico Booster Club of Al-

Eagle Baseball Team to Start Drill March 18

Spring practice of Artesia Eagles, the ace semi-pro baseball team of the city, will begin at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, March 18, in Eagle Park. Training sessions are open to the public.

Capt. Andrew Martinez, in announcing the date, said: "Again this year the Eagles extend an invitation to one and all to don their spikes, grab a glove, and come on and tryout."

Schedule of the Eagles for the season has not been completed but the 1951 card is expected to be patterned closely on that of 1950, including Barstow and Pecos, Texas; Alamogordo, Carlsbad, Roswell, Loving, Mesquite.

There is a possibility Las Cruces will be added to the list. Tentatively the first game will be with the Eagles old rivals, the Carlsbad Skulls. Cruz Fernandez, deputy sheriff, is again on the Skull team.

Victor Hernandez, player on the Eagle team who capably performed the dual task of team correspondent, will again give information on the Eagles and their games to the sports editor of The Artesia Advocate.

Work On Park
Ignoring the gusts and dust of last Sunday, the Eagles continued the cleaning up of their park, which is located in the vicinity of Artesia Municipal.

Abel Nunez is the new manager of the Eagles, succeeding Gilbert Rivas, who has moved to Carlsbad. The tentative schedule is being drafted by Rivas and Nunez.

Working on the park cleanup were Steve Sanchez, Cruz Lugo, John Saiz, Pete Samora, Cucco Cervantes, Ricardo Herrera, Benny Villa, Manuel Molina, Manager Nunez, Captain Martinez, and Rivas.

Thank City
Captain Martinez said the Eagles thank the maintenance department of Artesia for the "loan of their equipment that has saved considerable... and shortened man-hours."

buquerque will be host at a coach-official dinner Thursday night at Albuquerque Country Club. Drawing for place on the tourney bracket will be conducted at the time. Two merchants of Albuquerque, appointed by the chamber of commerce, will sponsor each team and provide entertainment.

Spring Camp For Drillers Opens March 20

In the Texas sunshine of the Gateway City, Artesia Drillers will begin their spring training on Tuesday, March 20.

Manager Stubby Greer expects from 20 to 25 players to report for the training session of the baby team of the Longhorn League. Headquarters will be the Armed Forces Young Men's Christian Association in El Paso.

Length of spring training will extend to April 18, dotted with a series of exhibition games.

The Drillers first exhibition tilt in Artesia will be against the Clovis Pioneers on April 9; first season game, Odessa at Odessa, April 20; and first home game of the season, Odessa here on April 26.

Games here will, for the most part, be played at night. Manager Greer said the games would start as soon as it was possible to use the lights properly.

In case of double headers, one game would be played in the sunlight.

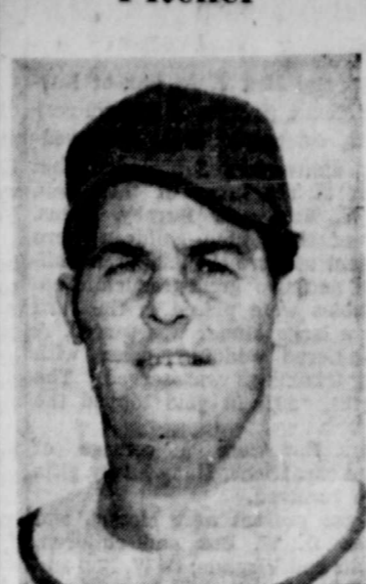

Installation Plan
Meanwhile the Drillers are driving onward in the sale of season tickets and box seats.

It is possible to buy season tickets on the installment plan. Thus, instead of plunking down $40 all at one whack for the 70 home games, a buyer can put down $15 as payment for the initial 20 games, follow up with $15 for the second score of contests, and then pay $10 for the remaining 30.

Single tickets for single games will be sold on this basis: Adults, 80 cents; children, 12 to 17 years, 50 cents; children up to the age of 12, no admission cost. All prices include tax. Home diamond is in Artesia Municipal Park.

League Powwow
Manager Greer will join other managers, owners, press and radio, in a Longhorn League conference slated for 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Settles Hotel, Big

Pitcher

Like his battery mate Perez, this is the second year in pro baseball for Lon Dunn, starboard side pitcher, 22 years old, 6-2, who weighs a husky 195 pounds. Last year with Abilene, Dunn won seven, lost 11. He has plenty of control, tosses a good curve ball, fairly fast, and is a good hitter. He probably will play some in the outfield.

Main item of business will be a debate on extension of the limit of number of veterans on each club, now fixed at four. Promotion will be another part of the business.

Teams in the league are those of ARTESIA, Big Spring, Vernon, San Angelo, Odessa, Midland, Roswell, Sweetwater, Roswell and Artesia are the only New Mexico cities in the loop.

Lora B.: Can you keep a secret for the present?
Socorro G.: Sure what's the present?

Nearly 30 per cent of Mexico's 22,000,000 people are wholly of Indian blood.

Lobo Cagers Tie With Buffs In Loop Rating

For the first time in 10, these many years, the University of New Mexico cage squad finished their season with a better than 500 average for a fourth place tie in Border Conference standings.

The Lobos final percentage was .558 tying for first division honors with the West Texas State Buffaloes who also boast a 9-7 record in the league.

Leading the loop race for the eleventh time in as many years was King Arizona, who has lost only one cage tilt this season to the New Mexico Aggies for a 14-1 slate, followed by Texas Tech with a 10-6 with the Aggies in third with a 9 win, 6 lost record.

The Lobos wound up their season March 1 eeking out a narrow 55.54 victory over hapless Hardin-Simmons. The Wolfpack went into the second half with the score sitting at 19-38 in favor of the Cherry and Silver, but Coach Jack Martin's determined Cowboys ran all over the overconfident Lobos.

Miss Anita Risinger Becomes Bride Of Donald DeMars Here Sunday

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, Miss Anita Risinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Risinger, of Eunice, became the bride of Donald (Dee) Neal DeMars, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. DeMars, of Artesia. Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The church was banked with ferns and palms. The bride and bridegroom stood under a semi-arch made of palms, baskets of white gladioli, and pink and white snapdragons and seven-tiered candelabras.

Mrs. Glenn Caskey played, "Claire Delune," and the traditional wedding marches. H. O. Miller accompanied by Mrs. Caskey, sang, "God Made Three Mine" and "Through the Years."

While the bride and bridegroom knelt on a white satin pillow, Mr. Miller sang, "The Lord's Prayer." The bride wore a white suit with white accessories and an aqua hat. She carried a white orchid on a white Bible.

Miss Jan Rowland of Eunice, maid of honor, wore a navy suit with pink accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Louise Palmer, sister of the bridegroom, lighted the candles. She wore a white dress with white accessories and her corsage was of Vanda orchids.

Ted DeMars, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Tom Risinger, brother of the bride, and Gary Noss of Eunice were the ushers.

Mrs. Risinger, mother of the bride, wore a navy suit with white accessories. Her corsage was Vanda orchids tied with navy and white ribbon.

Mrs. DeMars chose for her son's wedding a dark brown suit with dusty pink accessories. Her corsage was Vanda orchids tied with chartreuse and orchid ribbon. A reception followed in the educational building at the church. The guests registered in the bride's book as they entered.

A three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom encircled with pink carnations, ferns and pink satin bow, centered the table, which was covered with a cutwork cloth over pink satin.

After the first piece of cake was cut by the bride and bridegroom, Mrs. Otis Smith of Eunice served. The cutglass punchbowl was presided over by Mrs. Donald Gladden of Eunice.

Others assisting with the reception were Mrs. William M. Siegenthaler, Mrs. Fred L. Jacobs, and Mrs. H. T. Gissler. All wore orchid corsages.

The mantel was decorated with candelabra, ferns, and bouquets of snapdragons.

The newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip in the Sacramento Mountains, and will be at home at 303 South Sixth Street.

The bridegroom attended Artesia High School and graduated in 1949. He attended Oklahoma A. & M. College at Stillwater a year, and the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque. He is now engaged in business with his mother at Artesia Floral Company.

Out-of-town guests present were Messrs. and Mmes. Otis Smith and son, Hal; H. T. Griffin and children, Mary Jo and Pat; W. T. McAndrews, W. P. Scott and daughter, Sandra; E. C. Hamrick, Donald Gladden and Jack Noss and children, Gary and Flo Ann, all of Eunice, and J. T. Holton and children, May, Christine and Bill, of Hobbs.

Women's Society of Christian Service Meets Thursday

The monthly meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held Thursday afternoon at the First Methodist Church.

The devotions were given by Mrs. C. A. Clarke, on "The Light Will Shine in Africa."

Mrs. S. P. Yates gave the program on "Women in India," and was assisted by Mrs. Owen Haynes, Mrs. T. Stovall, and Mrs. W. C. Thompson, Jr.

The minutes were read by Mrs. A. P. Mahone and approved and the officers made their monthly reports.

The association voted to send $20 to Carrizozo to help build a new mission church there.

It was announced that the Presbyterian Women's Association has invited the Methodist Women's Association to join them April 5 to view a motion picture on the Near East.

Mrs. J. H. Walker announced that the Methodist State Council of Church Women will meet at the Methodist Church here March 9-10.

The association will serve the Knife and Fork Club dinner at 7 o'clock the evening of May 3.

Delegates elected to attend the district conference, which will be held at Las Cruces April 17-19, were Mrs. Fred Jacobs, Mrs. Herman Green and officers, Mrs. Reed Brainard and Mrs. J. R. Miller.

At the close of the meeting lovely Valentine refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. June Jordan and Mrs. Ralph Brown.

ATOKA EXTENSION CLUB WILL MEET TODAY

The Atoka Extension Club will hold its monthly meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ed Kissinger at Atoka.

Miss Wynona Sweeton, county demonstration agent, will discuss draperies.

A shower party will follow for Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Chumbley, who lost their home by fire last week. Each member was asked to bring a gift.

Constitution Draft Started By Parish Club

Newly appointed officers of St. Anthony Holy Name Society will meet for a second time at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night at the rectory to complete drafting constitution and by-laws.

First session for this purpose was held at 7:30 last Sunday night in the same place.

Tentative date for the investiture is Sunday night, April 1, with the society's first Holy Communion to be the following Sunday morning, April 8, in line with the practice of the second Sunday of each month being Communion Sunday for the society.

To the original list of 13, other members are expected to be added before the investiture. Don McNaullen, vice president, is also membership chairman.

Rev. Fr. Francis Geary, as spiritual director, is automatically the chief officer of the society.

The tentative membership list: Leo Austin, William Dooley, Marlin Durbin, James Everts, Howard Huston, John Kintz, Fritz Moeller, W. E. McNaullen, Thomas J. Quinlan, president; Bill Terpening, treasurer; and Brownwood Emerson, secretary, Don McNaullen, vice president.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Box Celebrate 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Box of Burney, Texas, parents of Artesia residents, celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday of last week at the home of their son, D. W. Box, near Burney, Texas. All of their nine children were present as were their 20 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Tables were placed in the yard and a large dinner was served. A three-tiered wedding cake with gold trimmings was served. The figures, "50," in gold topped the cake.

Mrs. Box wore a corsage of white carnations. Many lovely gifts were received.

Those present were Messrs. and Mmes. D. W. Box and children, Thaddeus and Virginia; O. W. Box and children, Leona and Inez; A. C. Box and children, Alton, Ray and Kathy and A. A. Box and daughter, Debra Sue, all of Burney, Texas.

W. H. Box and son, Randolph; H. W. Langford and daughters, Lulu Bell and Sharon; N. A. Box and children, Tommy, Radell and Lanell and J. R. Houghtaling and children, Susan and Jerry, all of Artesia.

J. R. Box and children, Gail and Mary Ann, of Carlsbad; R. E. Box and children, Nona, Jimmy and Lawrence, of Nashville, Tenn. and Mrs. Jay Box and J. T., Jr., of Phillips Creek, Texas.

Other relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. George Hastie and son, Embree and R. D. Box of Burney; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keener and son, Bill and Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Moore and children, Travis and Randy of Gatesville, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Stevenson of Austin, Texas.

Miss Lois Nethery Is Guest Speaker At Sorority Meet

Miss Lois Nethery, guest speaker gave an interesting talk on "Debate" at a meeting of Alpha Lambda Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Thursday evening of last week at the home of Miss Ruth Lillian Bigler, president.

For the social of the month, a dinner was held at the Elks building preceding the meeting, after which members went to the home of Mrs. Bigler for the business meeting.

Mrs. Dave Button was in charge of the cultural program, the topic of which was "Debate."

After the meeting the hostess served doughnuts and coffee to Mmes. James L. Abbott, Dave Button, Harold Crossett, Blaine Haines, William Hudson, Jerry Marshall, Wayne Paulin, Ernest Houy, Ann Stefanko, and Jim Farmer, and Miss Mary Vandeventer, members, and Mrs. Lillian Bigler, education advisor.

Women's Association Meets on Thursday

The Presbyterian Women's Association met Thursday afternoon of last week in the parish hall.

Mrs. E. E. Kinney, vice president, presided in the absence of Mrs. Verle Allen, president.

Plans were made for the Pecos Valley Presbytery and Presbyterial meetings to be held in Artesia April 23, which about 60 persons are expected to attend.

The devotions were given by Mrs. H. D. Burch and the program, "Near East," was presented by Mrs. Mack Reasner, assisted by Mrs. Jack Knorr and Mrs. T. C. Stromberg.

Mrs. Raymond Bartlett, Mrs. Harold Kersey and Mrs. James Allen, hostesses, served light refreshments to about 30 members.

Episcopal Guild Has Meeting Thursday At Ferriman Home

Mrs. A. J. Losee lead a study on "Working of the Episcopal Church" at a meeting of St. Paul's Episcopal Guild Thursday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. George Ferriman.

At the close of the meeting the hostess served light refreshments to Mmes. A. J. Losee, Herbert Aid, Charles E. Currier, Lillian Bigler, M. H. Ferriman, Burl Sears, and Bertha Van Wyngarden, members, and a guest, Mrs. Julia Dilie.

Mrs. Neil B. Watson will be hostess at the next meeting, at 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Bill Linell Honored At Birthday Dinner At Hensley Home

Bill Linell was honored with a birthday dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hensley Sunday evening.

A beautiful spring bouquet of yellow jonquils was arranged in the center of the dining table and a delicious covered-dish dinner was enjoyed by the following members of the Birthday Club:

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Linell, Rev. and Mrs. Ralph O'Dell, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Schulze, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Blue, Mr. and Mrs. Ott Strock, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Reasner, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Kiddy and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hensley.

Mrs. Meredith Jones Entertains Club

Mrs. Meredith Jones entertained her bridge club last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Victor Haldeman won high score. Mrs. John Simons, Jr., won second high and Mrs. Aaron Cunningham won bingo.

Hamburgers, olives, potato chips and cold drinks were served by the hostess to Mmes. Victor Haldeman, M. A. Waters, Jr., Aaron Cunningham, Orval Durbin, John Simons, Jr., and Lawrence Coll, members and Mrs. Don Mayes, a guest.

MRS. GEORGE DUNGAN ENTERTAINS CLUB

Mrs. George Dungan entertained her weekly sewing club at her home last Thursday evening.

Potpourri—

We certainly have a right to be here since the constitution of New Mexico provides for a college for Eastern New Mexico, and if said politicians want a reduction so bad, why don't they cut their salaries, not our throats?

Jack states the case very well, we believe. But we hardly think he and other students need fear too much. We don't think the university will be reduced to a junior college. And we're ready to lend our small weight to the student body should it appear a real movement in that direction develops.

Did you ever stop to think that temper is one thing you can't get rid of by losing?—A. L. B.

Travelers Snuff Out Gassers 126 to 43 in Tourney Prelude

With their sixth century victory added to their collection, Central Valley Electric Travelers got into the melee with 18 teams in Las Cruces this week in the New Mexico Amateur Athletic Union tournament.

The Travelers pulverized the Jal Gassers 126 to 43 in a game here Saturday night. Tourney at Las Cruces will start March 7, instead of March 8, as previously listed, continue to March 10. Next step will be the Denver tournament, March 18-24, the national competition.

Seven players, Manager Red Goodwin, and Paul L. Frost, Central Valley Electric manager, will make the trip to Las Cruces. Games will be played in the Las Cruces High School gymnasium.

The Travelers first opponent will be the Clovis Veterans of Foreign Wars, the outfit the Travelers walloped 100 to 45 in a game played here. Traveler-Clovis V. F. W. game is slated for 9:30 o'clock Thursday night.

In the Traveler contingent will be Paul L. Frost, manager of the electric cooperative, Red Goodwin, team manager, and these seven players:

Dick Freeman, Dee Nutt, Don Heathington, Pete Hatch, Bill Hamm, Bill Case, and Bill Johnson.

Meet Old Rivals In the basketball meet in the Dona Ana capital, the Artesia quintet will be playing against some of the Teams it has previously played this season:

Jal, beaten 126 to 43; Dean Tire, Roswell, defeated 74 to 24; Clovis V. F. W., 100 to 45; Valley Drug of Las Cruces, 91 to 47.

Teams competing listed by districts:

1—United Chevrolet, Farley Independent.

2—Los Alamos Atomic Energy Commission, New Mexico Sellers from Santa Fe.

3—Smiling Food of Albuquerque, and Schwartzman Packers, also from the Duke City.

4—Valley Drug of Las Cruces, and Las Cruces Liquor.

5—Dean Tire of Roswell, and Central Valley Travelers, ARTESIA.

6—Clovis Veterans of Foreign Wars, Dorris Farm Equipment, Meitrose.

7—House and San Jon.

8—Grants Packers, Gallup Esquires.

10—Jal and Monument.

H-Bomb Heathington

Rangy blond Don Heathington skyrocketed along the pay-off trail, again leading in total points for the Travelers in the game with the Gassers, scoring 17 field goals and 15 free throws for a total of 49 points, his biggest score in any one game this season.

Maintaining the team rivalry, Dee Nutt who has closely trailed Don all season, was runner-up with 13 field goals for 26.

Heathington missed only one free throw out of 16 attempts.

The Travelers led by 16 points in the first period. At the half the score was Travelers 47, Gassers 19.

Lorang Cleaners, Artesia's Newest, Is at 105 Fifth

Lorang Cleaners, a 105 South Fifth Street, Artesia newest cleaning plant, will have been in business a year next April 24.

But Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Lorang, owners, are not new in the business, for they had 15 years of experience in the cleaning business at Burkburnett, Texas, before coming to Artesia about six years ago.

Lorang Cleaners in Artesia, as at Burkburnett, leads in the handling of tailor-made clothing. They have two lines for men and women. And all tailor-made clothes are guaranteed to fit. Drop in and let them take your measurements for any of your tailor-made needs.

In addition, Mrs. Lorang has had 16 years of experience in alteration work and can alter either ladies' or men's clothing.

The Lorang Cleaners plant is equipped with the latest, most modern equipment. The shop has a new type pressing machine, the Adjustaform presser, which eliminates shining on gabardines and flexes garments back to their original shape.

Another service of Lorang Cleaners is that all minor repairs are given with cleaning service. Special attention is given to ladies' clothing, by way of protecting fancy buttons and ornaments.

Lorang Cleaners is open from 8 o'clock in the morning to 6 o'clock in the evening, and there is parking space in front of the shop at all times. Next time take your cleaning to Lorang Cleaners at 105 South Fifth Street.

Style Shop Is Popular With Women Shoppers

Miss Ruth Bigler has been operating her popular Style Shop at 322 West Main Street a year, for it was on Feb. 15, 1950, when she bought the business, formerly known as Marie's, and she reopened under the new name on Feb. 27.

Miss Bigler, who was born and reared in Artesia, is one of the best-known businesswomen in the community.

The Style Shop handles a complete line of ladies' ready-to-wear, in connection with which there is a beauty parlor.

At the Style Shop will be found a number of popular and well-known clothing lines.

These include Lordleigh, Agnes Barrett, Andrea Gay, and Tabak. And for young women, the Style Shop is the only place in New Mexico where Junior Miss Separates can be purchased.

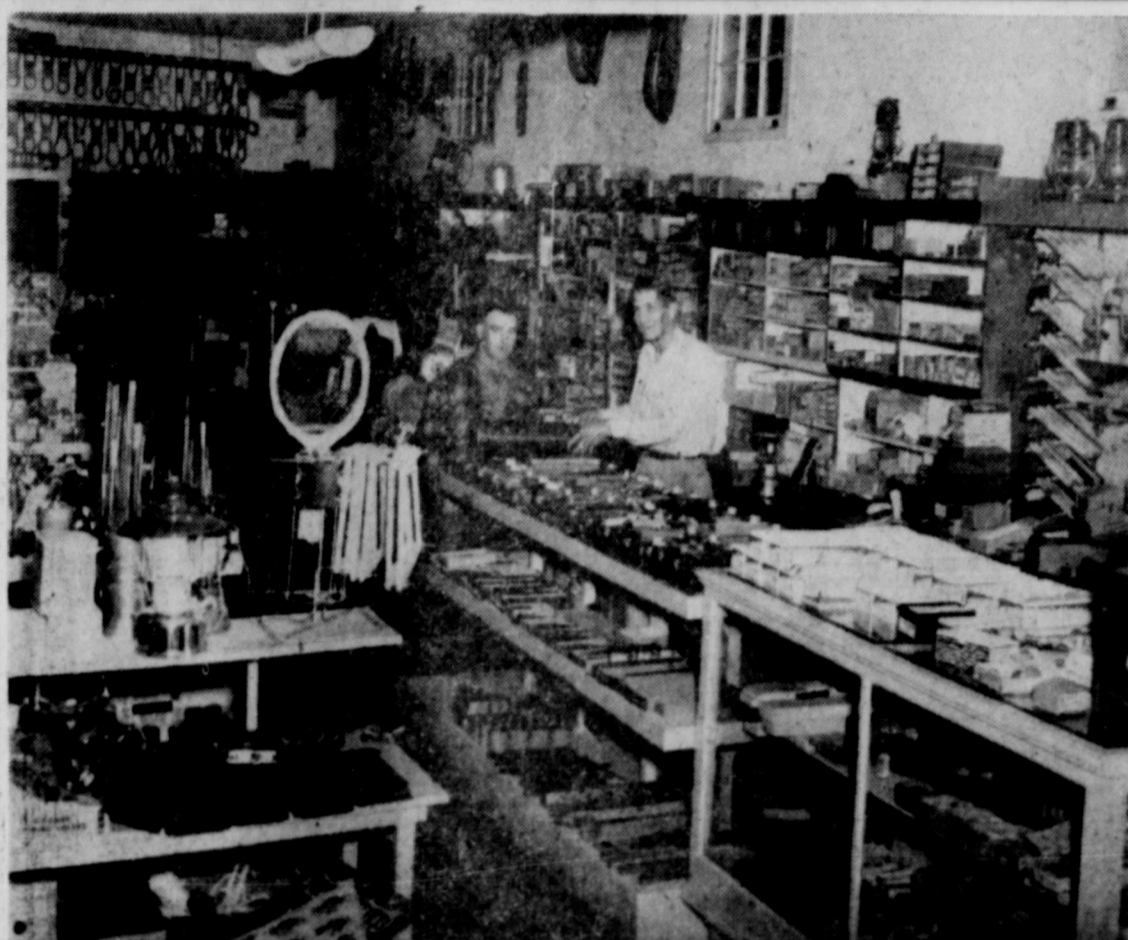

Of course, Miss Bigler and the Style Shop at 322 West Main Street handle all other lines of ladies' ready-to-wear, far more than can be told here. So drop in at The Style Shop the next time you are shopping for quality clothing at moderate prices.

And the Style Shop is the place for expert beauty work. Just phone 107 for an appointment.

and problem-solving meetings each year in addition to the state meetings.

February issue of the association bulletin is dated Silver City and is Number 5 of Volume 8.

Shown here is a corner of the spacious Evans Hardware store at 118 West Main Street, phone 180 which gives only a small idea of the thousands of items carried in all lines of hardware, as well as sporting goods and a gift shop. Behind the counter is H. H. Kirkwood, clerk, who is waiting on a customer.

Sound Your 'Z' For Genuine Pennzoi

Malco Gas & Oil Distributors at 100 West Quay Avenue, phone 573, which distributes, among other products, Pennzoi, stresses that Pennzoi is not only a fine motor oil, but that it is a tonic for your engine.

Switch to Pennzoi, and you'll notice a new quiet and smoothness—cushioned, more eager power.

Miles later, you'll discover that, grade for grade, this superb Pennsylvania oil lasts. It stays tough at high engine temperatures—bathes rings, valve stems and bearings in a tough, cooling film. Your engine's zest says, "No gas-wasting sludge or varnish here."

Over 60,000 independent dealers—free to choose the best for your car—sell and recommend Pennzoi. Watch for the yellow oval sign—and sound your "Z" for the genuine.

The company is also the distributor for Malco gasolines and all fuel oils, DX oils and greases, U.S. and United tires and tubes, and Amalie oil.

Territory of Malco Gas & Oil Distributors for Malco products is from Artesia to Maljamar and the oil fields on the east and to Seven Rivers on the south.

Payne Packing Company Serves Entire Valley

The Payne Packing Company, one of Artesia's newest industries, started operations last July in its new building north of the city.

J. L. Payne and N. T. Otterson, are owners.

The building, constructed for the slaughtering of about 40 cattle or 80 hogs a day, is of pumice brick construction, with concrete floors and roof, making it fireproof, and is 60x100 feet.

Every inch of the building has been figured out for the greatest efficiency, while losing none of the sanitary requirements. With the exception of the 20x40-foot office at the front, all parts of the building are used in some of the various operations in connection with the business, with which Payne and Otterson serve the entire Pecos Valley.

Their principal products are beef, pork, and a complete line of lunch meats for the marketing of which they have their own trademark. The lunch meats and other products are offered in a red, white, and blue package. Top grade is "Payne's Finest."

Liquid helium can be boiled by "heating" it with liquid air at a temperature of 340 degrees below zero. Reason is that liquid helium is more than 100 degrees colder than liquid air.

PMA Stresses Federal Crop Insurance Deal

In 1950 money spent to assist Eddy County farmers in agriculture conservation totaled $103,882.81, according to N. W. Stiver, administrative officer, who has headquarters in the courthouse in Carlsbad.

Administrator Stiver released this information today in conjunction with a series of articles on federal crop insurance.

A break-down on the $103,882.81 shows land leveling, 3,180.7 acres, $57,908.02; wells for livestock use only, 6227 linear feet, $17,254.24; and irrigation system reorganization, 3336.6 acres, $12,137.74, as the main items.

An Artesia man, Britton Coll, chairman of the county committee, James R. Craft of Malaga is vice chairman, and Denny Moore of Carlsbad, member.

The whole setup is the United States Department of Agriculture, Production and Marketing Administration, Eddy County P. M. A. Committee, Box 471, Carlsbad, N. M.

Crop Insurance Revised Eddy County crop insurance, Stiver says, can only be made worthwhile if the policy holders continue to keep their policy in effect thru the years.

"Need for farmers for crop investment protection," Stiver says, "has long been recognized by private insurance companies yet only a few companies attempted to write such insurance."

"The congress provides administrative expense of crop insurance and is only interested in county indemnities being paid out of premiums. Mother Nature is still unpredictable for improvements in farming."

Answers Queries Administrator Stiver lists some insurance dates:

June 30—Cash discount date, 5 per cent for cash.

Aug. 31—Maturity date for premium vote.

Oct. 31—Interest on premiums not paid.

Dec. 31—End of insurance year. Discounts for reduction of premiums are:

If paid by June 30 each year 5 per cent; for each 50 acres or fraction, 2 per cent; seven consecutive years with no loss, 25 per cent; county reserve, 5 to 30 per cent; individual reserve, 50 per cent.

There is also the deduction on the paid premium from income taxes that could be figured as another 20 per cent reduction.

The county insurable acreage has been divided into three coverage areas. The interested producers may look at the actuarial map in the county PMA office in Carlsbad or in Alfalfa Growers Association at Artesia to determine what area they are in.

The areas were established according to production potential, the farm operator being considered.

Visitors to the Arbois, France, wine festival in 1950 were offered all the wine they could drink in an hour for the equivalent of 30 cents.

More than 16,000,000 women are employed in the United States.

We Must Earn It

THE THINGS WE ENJOY MOST in this life are those things which we earn and receive because of our own honest efforts.

There has been too much teaching of the false philosophy that the world owes us a living. Many of our governmental socialistic programs are to blame for this.

We have created an attitude and an idea in this nation of ours which is going to have to be changed before some of us who seek and want success are ever going to acquire it.

During the past 10 years we have seen a number of employes who could have done a fine job because they had the ability but they didn't do that job because they weren't happy. And they weren't happy because they wanted a good many things and they wanted to do things they could not afford to pay for.

They weren't concerned about their jobs, their work or their efforts. They hadn't learned they were only worth to their employer what they could earn for that employer. They didn't realize that if they increased the earnings of their employer they could be paid more for their work.

That didn't enter into their consideration. They were only concerned about themselves. They measured their pay by what they needed rather than what they could earn or what their employer could pay them.

We, of course, can't blame them for wanting to earn all the money they could earn. That is a worthy ambition. But we can't just wish for this—we have to help make it possible for the employer to be able to pay more by helping him to earn more.

And we need to learn that we never get something for nothing. Our parents earned what they have today with honest work, honest effort and long hours. They budgeted their income; they refused to buy something unless they could pay for it and unless they actually needed it. They refused to throw their money away and saved that they might find some degree of success and prepare themselves for the future.

We need to learn that lesson of our parents. We need to learn, too, that no one is going to take care of us; provide us with our needs; and take care of obligations which we create with little thought as to how we are going to meet them.

It is hard work and honest effort which brings success. The world only owes us an opportunity to make a living, not that living.—O.E.P.

It's Not Such an Ill Wind

AS THIS IS BEING WRITTEN we are having a superduper dust storm and typical New Mexico wind. Just a minute ago a dust storm went down the street with prairie dogs running in and out of holes in it, having a view of Artesia as they passed.

We hear many people bemoan the spring winds here. But we never yet have seen anyone come home from a visit to his former part of the country, but what he swears this is the finest place with the finest weather and climate in the nation—even though there is such a dust storm as the one today raging at the time.

Which just goes to prove it's not such an ill wind after all.—A.L.B.

The Meanest Man

TAKING CANDY FROM A BABY and stealing pennies off the eyes of a dead man have always ranked high on the list of unpardonable sins.

Every now and then up pops someone who is classified as the meanest man.

The latest is robbing the heart counter coin containers, put out by the Heart Association or local co-sponsors in the annual drive for funds with which to combat heart diseases.

Such is known to have happened in Artesia recently. At least one heart was robbed—maybe more. From the one two $5 bills and perhaps some ones were removed. It was no guess as to the fives, for the management of the place of business from which they were stolen had placed them in the heart as decoys.

For the present, we'll just put that thief down as the meanest man or woman or boy or girl in Artesia.—A.L.B.

Not Consistent

WE DO NOT LIKE TO SEE certain Veterans Administration offices over this state closed down. We know that it is not only going to throw some people out of work but we also know that it is going to make it necessary for veterans to transact their business either at Fort Bayard or at Albuquerque.

But the reason given for the closing down of the offices in several cities over the state is because of lack of funds to operate these offices.

That apparently is the reason.

And if that is the reason, then we do not see how with all the arguing we have been doing and we propose to continue to do regarding the reduction of our tax program, that we can advocate these offices being kept open.

And likewise we don't see how anyone else, individual or institution, clamoring for a reduction in our tax program can remain consistent and argue for the offices to be kept open.

We have felt for a good many years there could be a real reduction in a number of our programs.

We have felt there are too many federal offices and too many federal employes scattered over the entire United States. And we believe that many of these offices could be closed and the employes let go and our efficiency would be just as good as is today.

We don't like to see the veterans, of course, have to be the only ones to have offices closed. But we all know the expenditures for veterans is going to have to continue to be increased with our Korean veterans returning home.

We know the Veterans Administration has continued and will continue to have a tremendous job. And that job isn't going to grow any less with the present world outlook.

But we are not going to register any complaints about a reduction in service. We don't see how we can. Fact is what we would like to see is some more reduction in offices maintained not only over the nation but in Washington. We are going to have to pare down a lot of things if we are going to be able to provide funds for all the things we need tax money for during these days.

We may not like some of the things we have to do, but if we want taxes cut it all comes back to the old idea of we can't have our cake and eat it, too.—O.E.P.

What Other Editors Are Saying

UNITED FRONT AGAINST SALT CEDARS
We applaud the united attack on salt cedars in New Mexico as promised by the Salt Cedar Inter-Agency Council, which is composed of 14 state and federal agencies.

New Mexico irrigation water is almost always in short supply and the salt cedar bogs around Lake McMillan and other areas in New Mexico are a heavy and needless burden on the water supply. The 14-agency council considers the elimination of salt cedar growth as a major opportunity for increasing the useful water supply in New Mexico.

The salt cedars have been stealing water from the Carlsbad Irrigation Project for many years. Much effort has been expended to control the salt cedars, but little result has been noted.

The salt cedar bogs in New Mexico, including willow, tamarix, cottonwood and other trees, clog up streams and dissipate stored water. Every acre of water could be salvaged each year of normal rainfall if the useless salt cedars could be killed out.

We hope the agencies are successful in their efforts to control the cedars through chemical experimentation. This is one governmental operation that should receive every encouragement.

Killing out the salt cedars around Lake McMillan would go far toward rehabilitating the Carlsbad irrigation system.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

DEADHEAD SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENT
The county school superintendent absurdity has finally hit bottom in Valencia County where the county superintendent has had no schools, school teachers or students to superintend for the past two years. The retiring superintendent, Leo Sais, did manage to make himself a little useful by being "transportation director." Now his successor, Helen Zamora Garcia, hasn't even got that responsibility. She just draws $3325 a year and suffers boredom.

The job has become the most sought-after position in the Valencia County courthouse.

The situation developed when all the schools in the county were taken in by three consolidated districts—Belen, Los Lunas, Grants—leaving no rural system for the county superintendent to superintend. But the office of superintendent exists by constitutional edict and until the Constitution is changed there probably will be legal deadhead superintendents in Valencia.

Bernanillo County has no county school system either but down there they have gotten together on an honor system, an intimidation system to keep anybody from running for the office.

The county school situation is moving in that direction elsewhere. DeBaca County, for instance, operates a county school office budgeted at $8180 a year to superintend three schools with seven teachers and 91 pupils. That, incidentally, is $90 a pupil for county superintending. Luna has a county superintendent's office set up at $13,472 a year for superintending 12 teachers, four schools and 219 pupils.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

VESTED INTERESTS IN PERIL
What in the name of masculine comfort has happened to the vest—that humble, hardworking article of male apparel which the British call the waistcoat?

To the American office worker, the vest for generations has been an essential a hunk of garb as the white collar or extra pants to match. During World War II, both vest and extra trouser production suffered heavy casualties in the cause of civilian conservation. Coats were made double-breasted, so the fellow with an extra layer of fabric across his midriff was supposed to get along without the vest. And he did—for the duration.

But now look. The other day a large Denver department store advertised year-end bargains in a just-received shipment of men's suits. Ye old vest addict—meaning the author of these words—hustled down there at opening time, first day of the sale. He found a wide selection of his favorite blues and grays, plenty of single-breasted suits, lots of 'em with extra trousers. But not a vest in the lot.

So, no sale. Not for this die-hard-in-the-wool character. To him a vest is still a must. Not only does it hide his suspenders, if any. It also protects the small of his back from drafts; it provides exactly the right pockets for carrying lead pencils, small change, paper clips and coughdrops. Take it away and he becomes bitterly suspicious.

Can it be, grows the old vest addict, that the coat-and-pants manufacturers have sold out to Moscow and already are striking a body blow at the vested interests?—Denver Post.

As Artesia Grows

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for March 5, 1931)

The Artesia Masonic Lodge will be favored with a visit from Joe Wertheim of Carlsbad, district deputy grand master, at the regular meeting in the lodge hall this evening.

Beginning yesterday, the Artesia stores will remain open until 6 o'clock in order to serve their patrons.

The Artesia City Park is richer by $650, if a like amount can be raised. There is a bit of interesting history connected with the $650 check, which comes from a Carlsbad resident, W. F. McIlvain.

M. E. Baish left today for an extended visit to New York and Eastern points.

Rex Wheatley drove to Carlsbad Tuesday to see his brother, Ray Wheatley, who was en route to Pecos, Texas.

Artesia won the last scheduled basketball game from Roswell at Roswell Friday evening before a capacity house by a score of 26-18.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knowles arrived Friday from Belle Plaine, Kan., and, we understand, intend to remain permanently.

The Bridge o' the Month Club met with Mrs. Stanley Blocker last Thursday afternoon.

The Fortnightly Bridge Club was entertained at its regular 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday by Mrs. Fred Cole.

Paul Coffin of Hope was trading in town Monday.

George Blakney has moved from Artesia to his claim near Hope.

TEN YEARS AGO
(From The Advocate files for March 6, 1941)

Richard H. (Dick) Westaway, Eddy County assessor, has been named on a committee by Thomas J. McCaffey, state Democratic chairman, to handle the party's annual drive for funds.

The annual meeting of members of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association and the election of officers will be held Tuesday.

Two carloads of local businessmen were planning to leave late this morning for Lovington to represent Artesia at a meeting this afternoon of the Highway 83 Association, an organization of representatives from towns and cities across the state on the highway.

The local unit of the American Legion Auxiliary will be honored at the regular meeting Monday afternoon by an official visit from Mrs. Don Woodward of Raton, New Mexico department president.

Delegates were elected Wednesday at a regular meeting of the Artesia Woman's Club, held in the Presbyterian Church basement, for the 30th state convention of the federated clubs to be held in Carlsbad.

Mrs. Elzie Swift was hostess to the Miercoles Bridge Club Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A.P. Mahone.

Mrs. Fred Cole complimented her mother, Mrs. C. E. Mann, on her birthday anniversary, when she entertained with a 1 o'clock luncheon Sunday.

The Cottonwood Community Extension Club met Wednesday of last week at the home of Mrs. O. B. Montgomery.

The Atoka Woman's Club met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Nevell Muncy, with Mrs. Ed Kissinging as co-hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Gilbert of Silver City, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. J. J. Clarke, Jr., came Sunday to visit Dr. and Mrs. Clarke.

The Artesia Parent-Teacher Association presented a program in Dexter Tuesday evening in which W. E. Kerr, superintendent of schools, was speaker.

Miss Ila Hastings of Lefors, Texas, daughter of Mrs. Florence Hastings, and a sister of Mrs. E. J. Foster and Wallace, Wesley, and Vestal Hastings, arrived Friday for a week-end visit.

State's Song Sung By Kiwanis

Artesia Kiwanis had started an innovation among service clubs of the city. At each weekly luncheon members sing "O Fair New Mexico," the official state song.

Despite there being few native New Mexicans in the club, Kiwanis are putting out volume in singing the song.

The innovation was started by Rev. Ralph L. O'Dell, president.

My New York
By MEL HEIMER

Milton Berle
A $40,000 Package

NEW YORK—At this advanced stage of the war, he said with a ghastly laugh, that we are acquainted with the package deal. It is applied to the wholesale vegetable trade during the last war you had to take turnips and beets if you wanted a couple of bushels of peas, but the package deal more generally is associated with show business.

Thus, the Milton Berle television show, for example, is a $40,000 package deal, according to reports; Uncle Mitie gets the forty grand providing one orchestra, one singer, one star, one alleged comic and so on, which he gets out of the gross cost.

I am in receipt today of information from Herbert Lannard Fashion Productions, a West street organization, that strips the package to its bare bones. In the cold, hard light of it is inclined to be depressing.

The Lannard firm, which for five years has arranged fashion shows now is offering package-deal variety shows. The prices range from $150 to $500, and for the sheer quantity of entertainment you get they seem incredibly reasonable—but it is the juxtaposition of what is frightening.

For $150, for example, you get: (1) a master or mistress of ceremonies, a singer, a dance team, a lady magician—and a female hypnotist. Theoretically, thus, you get road-company edition George Jessel, Bing Crosby, the DeMarcos, Houdini and Fred George.

Now, you tell me exactly how you'd present that collection of people since time began have avoided the opening-act spot as well as the bubonic. Who'd go first? And how would you spot Houdini and Fred in that line-up? Run them in sequence; have Houdini do a few tricks and then have Fred lecture an explanation of why was all done by sex?

FOR $225 YOU BUY a somewhat more impressive group. A or two is scattered through it. "Master of ceremonies such as star, Lee Tully," reads the Lannard brochure. Fine, fine, but Lee Tully?

You get your choice in this package of whether a lady magician, male magician, possibly depending on either you're a smoker or a showing of fall chapeaux. You get a dance team—virtually mandatory—and a hypnotist! If the dance team put your customers to sleep, the hypnotist does the trick.

It is easy to see how the scale of prestige runs, when you get package business. In the $275, or Group C group, you get a hypnotist, but a mental telepathist. In a sentence, that explains the success of Dunninger. Chances are that somewhere in his past, he was a member of an A or B package, billed as a magician or a hypnotist—but he changed his status to mental telepathist, promptly moved onward and upward with the arts.

Group D, or the $350 package, is perhaps the most interesting Lannard has announced. You get a female m. c. "such as McElhone"—this is a garrulous and witty soul who has had success in radio and television because of an apparent phony needle on her tongue—a singing duet, a "top" dance team and a comedian to just an old dance team, a comic (I would like to be to pick out any single entertainer and say flatly he is a comic "Open discussion and lecture by Mr. Anthony of radio fame.")

Mr. Anthony, something of a wireless phenomenon years ago, dropped partly out of sight of late, and here he turns up in a package deal. Some of you may recall him as the man who made a splash usually by conducting a program to which poor, often usually unstrung citizens came with their troubles for solution was the mornin' delight, the most frightening, sickening program its kind—although it was, paradoxically, about the funniest on the air, unconsciously, for years.

WELL, THERE IS A $500 GROUP that includes a 15-act fashion show, but by the time I reached that, I was arranged group of my own. It will include a talking possum, a chalk talk a man who draws subway-postwar mustaches, a soft-shoe dancer who last worked at Mac's Bar and Grill (in 1934), a lecturer on eugenics in West Nepal, and any male crooner you deem package details for $12.95, including tax. A bargain at half the price.

The club had been meeting in Masonic Temple but a month ago switched to the cafeteria upstairs banquet room and at the last meeting voted to continue the place for its luncheons until such time as increased membership made the location too small.

Try and Stop Me

EDNA FERBER is working on her most important novel in many years at her sumptuous estate in Easton, Conn. from Bridgeport. An attraction of the place that is second only to Miss F's witty conversation is the swimming pool, but the hostess's stern insistence that guests take a shower before essaying a jackknife from the diving board has discouraged all but the hardiest natators.

Even in mid-summer, the temperature of Miss Ferber's shower approximates 20° below zero. One distinguished publisher attempted a bit of innocent flim-flam, turning on the shower full force, crying out in agony, and slapping himself and puffing at a great rate, though he carefully stayed about five feet away from the shower.

It availed him naught, however. By a brilliant flanking maneuver Miss Ferber sneaked around the back of the bath house and pulled him in: "to the icy cataract. It took him eight hours to thaw."

Lefty Gomez says that the Yankee squad of his day included a catcher who was so ugly that when he sent his photograph to the Lonely Hearts Club they returned it with this notation on the back: "Sorry, bub, but we're not THAT lonely."

World Crisis Points Need For Morality

For a third time in our generation we face the gathering storm of another World War. For the second time in 10 years reluctant and troubled we enter a state of "emergency." For the first time in mature life America is in danger of invasion and destruction. A state of war exists whether official or not.

In this, the third of a series of Lenten messages prepared for The Artesia Advocate, mankind is reminded that violation of the Ten Commandments is paid for in blood and destruction.

The world picture is not pretty. Still convalescing from the staggering effects of World War II all people must take sides! While in Korea columns of robed refugees traverse the tortured land, smaller nations cluster in fear around one or two other of two great powers. "Neutrals" fret fitfully as flames of war lick near! Our so-called Allies in Europe, afraid to act, fear that in defending themselves they invite destruction!

It is all understandable, and we cannot be too critical. In the present anguished crises we have only ourselves to blame.

No Compromise

Hindsight into our past mistakes teaches only one valuable lesson to apply in the future. We cannot compromise with basic principles and come out a "winner." We cannot "appease" for seeming temporary gain, dilly-dally with, zig and zag around God-given truths and expect "everything to come out all right."

The Ten Commandments from the basis of all morality. Violate these and sooner or later we pay the price in blood and destruction. The war reveals an avenging hand exacting punishment for sin!

To be more specific, if the little people and the laws of the land condone divorce, breaking marriage vows "until death do us part," then you cannot expect world diplomats to respect solemn pacts and promises which might assure some degree of peace among nations.

If business men lie and cheat under the pretext "business is business" and "everybody does it" then you cannot expect national leaders to respect the rights of another nation!

At the end of World War II we sold out our allies and we are now paying the price of dishonesty. Few nations believe in or trust our avowed motives. On our coins we print, "In God We Trust," yet still have the highest rate of infant mortality, but the marked reduction occurring in 20 years gives cause for satisfaction for a real accomplishment," said Dr. James R. Scott, director of the State Department of Public Health.

teaching children about God is forbidden in many of our schools.

As a result the animal in us takes precedence over the soul. The body is glorified. We wallow in lust and indulge every material desire while the existence of the soul made to the image of God is almost forgotten.

But there is a happy hope in this sad picture. Our God waits with open arms to receive His prodigal children. Will we accept this invitation?

E. Program Gives Meaning to Work, School

Purpose of diversified education is to cut into the 60 per cent of students with no vocational life in when they graduate from high school, says William Bennett, coordinator of the program taught in Artesia High School.

Bennett was the main speaker at the Kiwanis club's regular luncheon Thursday in Cliff's Cafeteria. How does the D. E. program work?

The coordinator sits down with student and counsels him as to vocational assets and liabilities. They contact an employer who makes this boy and perhaps other applicants.

The boy then goes to school a day, works a half-day. Next would be full time employment after graduation, perhaps the added feature of evening school to increase his knowledge.

Bennett listed the advantages of diversified education for employment, student, and community.

Employer: opportunity to discover suitable personnel; developing the employers own way; low training period; opportunity to participate in a civic enterprise; more there and extensive program that he could provide alone.

Student-Learner: chance to develop his individual aptitudes; to gain business education and opportunity to earn high school diploma; chance to enter the business world.

Provides ways for him to find if he likes a job well enough to continue training in it; chance to learn while learning.

Community: to become a citizen of a community; becomes occupationally adjusted; does he become an asset to community ready to contribute and not take away from his obligations.

There are 12 programs like this in the state. They are located in Albuquerque, Clovis, Portales, Amarillo, ARTESIA, Carlsbad, King, Las Cruces, Las Vegas, Foothills High in the Duke to be eligible for this training student must be 16 years old; to be employed in an occupation that is acceptable; time worked to be as many hours daily as spent in school daily.

Also the student must have the personal and occupational characteristics required for the type of distributive work in which they are engaged; and is able to profit from the instruction; must receive a wage comparable to other beginning workers.

Local Class

Artesia has had one class in progress this year, with 17 students employed the greater part of the year. Training stations have been: W. W. Virtue, J. C. Penney, C. R. Anthony, Clem and Clem, Cortez Gas Company, Hart's Service Station, Sanders Office Supply, Food Mart, Jerry Losee's office, Girl Scout office, Karl's Shoe Store.

Artesia Alfalfa Growers, Price's Creamery, Artesia Building and Loan, Artesia Medical Laboratory, Guy's Cleaners, and B. & W. Distributors.

The 17 students made a combined salary of $4724.76.

How Not To Apply

Illustrating the fact that a majority of those leaving high school has no vocational directive is this story told by Bennett:

"I was sitting in a drug store the other day when a youngster, one of those who drop out of school before completing a high school education, came in to apply for a job.

"She had her hair pinned-up in curls, she was wearing a gaudy head dress, sloppy sweater and blue

Infant Mortality In New Mexico Is On Increase

While it is frequently stated that New Mexico has a shocking infant mortality rate—in fact has the worst infant mortality rate in the United States—figures just released by the Division of Vital Statistics to the State Department of Public Health indicate extreme progress toward the reduction of infant deaths in New Mexico.

In 1930 the infant mortality rate for New Mexico was 145.4 per 1000 live births. By 1940 this had been reduced to 100.6 deaths per 1000 live births. In 1948 the infant mortality rate has been reduced to 69 deaths per 1000 live births.

This reduction is all the more noteworthy because New Mexico figures for the years 1948, 1949, and 1950 included Indian babies, while the figures for the years 1930 and 1940 did not include Indian babies who died before reaching the age of a year.

While this preliminary figure of 53.7 for the year 1950 may be slightly changed by late reports of births and deaths, it is a noteworthy reduction over a period of 20 years and is a reflection of the increasing emphasis placed by public health nurses and by the well-baby clinics upon safeguarding the health of infants and upon educating mothers in the proper methods of caring for their infants.

"We do not know, of course, what the U.S. rate will be for 1950; it is possible that New Mexico may

SOUTHWESTERN PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

26 YEARS OF GOOD CITIZENSHIP AND PUBLIC SERVICE

Home on the Range

By Will Robinson

From Jal to Shiprock and from Moses to Cloverdale the call of the Red Cross is sounding this week across New Mexico. It is an annual "round-up" of the Red Cross—"drive" they call it—staged each year to re-sign membership rolls and to raise the money estimated to be a fair quota for the state during the coming twelve months.

It is just a question of getting around to the people, for everybody is for the Red Cross. On account of the war there will be a willingness more than usual to sign up in one of the classes of membership, and to give liberally of the coin of the realm of mercy and helpfulness. By the time the canvassers are through, there will be membership of thousands of people, and veritable king's ransoms in the locker for mercy work. Each year there are more affiliates and there is more money as the nation grows and the zone of usefulness expands.

There is nothing involved or complicated about the American Red Cross. Under the prompting of Clara Barton, it achieved national organization in 1881. It is now so big that one moves slowly in looking over its lea. There are now 3745 local chapters, and more than 4,000 branches. There is no attempt to estimate the total membership as enrolled by the present drive, but it is certain to run up into millions.

Millions of dollars will go into the operating pot. New Mexico has taken care of so often and so generously that full response were certain.

We all have the same privilege of membership in and participation in the far-flung benevolences of the Red Cross. As an understanding mother, she does not expect us to give beyond our proper resources in time and money. At the present time we have more of both of these elements than ever before. Later on we will be outflated of much of this. The call of the Red Cross would seem to have been made at a happy time so far as getting results is concerned.

Sign up and pay! It appears certain at this time that the penny postcard is on its way out, and that it will be replaced by a 2-center, this at the earliest possible date. While it has lost much of its popularity, excepting for advertising, the penny card has been a steady source of income for the 79 years it has been in use.

Increasing their cost to 2 cents each, will give an immense lift to the totals, the charge being seat-

Cash registers ring faster when you use the printed word and illustrations.

That's what was proven when crowds like the one pictured above came in an avalanche on the advertised opening date of the sale spelled S and more S for Artesia Jewelers, 334 West Main.

tered around for everybody except the said advertisers.

This raise is only one of several. A still more important item is that of third-class stuff, which would be doubled, if President Truman had his way.

Then again there is stout bounce when it comes to parcel post. Special delivery, registered mail, postal insurance and COD mail will all get a lead put on them. President Truman figures it out that the whole process will turn in 237 million dollars a year, which isn't hay.

There isn't anything surprising in the jolts, even in the second class, where newspapers and magazines come into the picture. Many of the publications are merely advertising rackets, and the people have been making sweeter and sweeter.

Raising the antes in all sectors will not be menace to anybody, but there is a distinct element of justice.

One of the most interesting "vox pops" received by this writer lately is one from an intelligent young Negro at Carlsbad, who doesn't like the fuss that is made about school segregation in New Mexico.

He is particularly disgusted by the use of the word so far as it applies to his race. "Most of the howl comes from the Latins, who really have less kick," he says. "Every school system in the state takes care of its black students. If there is a school on the east side that rules against the Latins, I don't know of it.

"Every high school is open to all races. The state university is especially considerate of Negro students, although it only has less than a couple of dozen. There is nothing to prevent our young people from getting tops in education, if they are willing to work as hard as their white brothers and sisters do.

"So far as the schools are concerned the talk of discrimination is mostly bunk. . . Of course there may be some rough places in commercial contacts, such as cafes, etc., but a few of these cases are of a nature to materially affect the self respect of the colored students, who should be willing to cooperate in order to prevent friction.

"Finally it is plain enough that the Negroes do not properly appreciate the situation that has been developed for their benefit. It all gets down to the fact that everybody respects us if we respect ourselves."

From present indications, there will efforts to connect with the rain barrel in 10 New Mexico counties this year, according to the contracts of the Precipitation Research Corporation. The money is on the barrelhead in these counties, and the corporation will certainly have to fish or cut bait. It is a sort of coincidence that rain is more needed in 1951 than ever before in the history of New Mexico.

Carlsbad takes a turn into the brain country on account of the third annual Carlsbad agriculture, labor and industry forum, which meets at the beautiful city for busy sessions on March 16-17. We are told that some of the outstanding intellects of the nation will take part, according to G. T. Harley, general chairman of the forum, which is sponsored by the education committee of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce.

According to the National Educational Association, school teachers in New Mexico now have little semblance to the peons of yesterday. The median salary of our teachers $3,196 a year. There are less than 100 teachers, only 73 to be exact, who get less than $2,000 a year. Twenty-one of our pedagogues working in the common schools receive salaries of $4,000 a year or better. That ought to be remembered when you hear anybody speak of New Mexico as a "backward state."

The largest gnawing animal now in existence is the capybara of tropical South America. It attains a weight of 150 pounds.
