Commissioners Grant Plan Approved

At 5 p.m. Monday, the Bailey County Commissioners met in special session in the Bailey County courthouse.

Under their first item of business shown on the agenda, "Authorize County Judge to take bids for highway work for Precinct 4," it was noted that the highway work was actually to be done in Precinct 3. The commissioners said a "time frame" for getting the work done would not allow them to consider the authorization at another meeting, so the item was changed to Precinct 3. On a motion by Commissioner Joey Kindle, with a second by Commissioner R. L. Scott, the authorization was given.

Karen King of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) was at the meeting to conduct a hearing on a proposed Health Center Grant.

Sitting in on the hearing were JoAnn Head from the Texas Department of Health office in Muleshoe, along with three other TDH representatives.

Muleshoe Mayor Darrell Turner, who is a member of the SPAG Grant Review Board, also attended the meeting.

Ms. King explained that to

Rotary Study Exchange Member Visits Muleshoe

Members and guests at the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday were in for a double, or even, triple treat.

First, 'Big' John Hall, a gospel singer known throughout the world, was a visitor. He led the entire group in singing, "God Bless America," then sang "A Mighty Fortress," before the introduction of Dr. Roy Fish.

Dr. Fish spoke briefly, inviting the Rotarians to attend the Encounter Crusade, which is being sponsored here by the member churches of the Bailey County Ministerial Alliance.

He promised "There is hope, you don't have to live your life stressed out; we can give you purpose for your life; and with death, you will know there's a better world to come."

In charge of the regular program for the day, J. D. Cage introduced Robin Bostic, of Lubbock. She was sponsored by Rotary on a Rotary Study Exchange to Belgium.

She spent five weeks in Belgium after finding out where it was located in Europe, and came home saying her life had been enhanced and changed

New Child's Anesthetic Will Take 'Ouch' Out

Children may no longer have to fear the pain associated with visits to their doctor or hospital for lab tests or intravenous procedures. Researchers at Baylor College of Medicine and Texas Children's Hospital have completed their study of a new anesthetic cream that is rubbed on prior to injection and temporarily numbs the skin.

"It has taken this long for scientists to develop the right combination and concentration of anesthetic agents to successfully penetrate the skin," said Dr. Thomas Joyce, acting chairman of Baylor's Department of Anesthesiology.

Joyce said the new agent, called EMLA, will be particularly beneficial to children with leukemia and others who require special monitoring techniques or frequent laboratory tests. It will also be available to physicians for use in their offices prior to giving vaccinations or performing blood tests.

Baylor and Texas Children's Hospital have been the first U. S. institutions to study EMLA, which was developed by researchers in Sweden.

Ninety-six children, ranging in age from 5-11, who had blood samples taken at Texas Children's Hospital, participated in the seven-month study. The anesthetic cream was rubbed on each patient's arm one hour prior to their blood test and covered with a band-aid like patch to help its absorption into the skin.

After their blood was drawn, each child was asked to mark on a scale from zero to "terrible" the level of discomfort he or she felt. Lab technicians performing the blood tests were also asked to record their observations of discomfort by the patient.

"Our statistics showed the agent to be significantly successful," Joyce said. "In fact, even though we only tested each patient once, we had several requests to be in the study again."

Although EMLA was developed to reduce the pain experienced by children having injections or intravenous procedures, it may someday be used on adults as well.

"Adults have much thicker skin than children," Joyce said, "so while there would be some benefits, the agent would have to be left on the skin for a longer period of time and may not have the same numbing effect."

Astra Pharmaceuticals, the manufacturer of EMLA, is in the process of submitting a new drug application to the U. S. Food and Drug Administration. Joyce said the company hopes the agent will be available to physicians within a year.

It seems that Kevin Harris, "keeper of the Friendship Coin," is still out. Kevin, we sure miss you!

Sweetheart Justine Hanes stated that she was heading for Lubbock to get registered for Texas Tech and to meet her roommate. Justine said that she was going to major in Money and Biology. Justine, Good Luck on all accounts. Study hard, and have a good time -- and hurry back to see us every chance you get. We will sure miss you and you will always be our sweetheart.

Keith Turner showed a film that he got from the library about Texas Wild Life. When the title for the film was announced, Huck said it was a film about Justine. Huck, as usual, you were wrong. It showed pictures about wild animals, fowl and fishing in southern Texas. I didn't know that there were that many animals in the USA, not just Texas.

It was a very enjoyable film. Thanks, Keith.

Next week we should have as our guest, Holly Huckaby, and a slide presentation on the 4-H exchange trip to the Dakotas.

Next Tuesday, Mule Putt Golf Course, Muleburger Party. All Kiwanians and families be there.

LUBBOCK, Friday, July 28, 1989

Eleven experienced two-person teams working for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock by August 4 will have completed detailed maps of almost a half million acres of cotton. The objective: to delineate the size, shape and location of about 4,000 fields situated in 12 weevil-prone counties along and on either side of the Caprock that forms the jagged eastern High Plains boundary.

As every year, mapping is a key step in the meticulous job of preparing for PCG's High Plains Boll Weevil Control Program now going on its 26th year. All fields planted to cotton in the area's "control zone" are pinpointed on maps for quick location by spray plane pilots in the Fall.

Every county through which the Caprock passes, from Briscoe on the north through Floyd, Gaines, Garza, Borden, Dawson and Howard on the south will be mapped, plus Motley, Dickens, Kent and Scurry Counties to the east.

All fields in the zone aren't expected to require spraying, program officials say. But when weevil populations begin to build, they explain, treatment can't wait for mapping.

Weevil management from winter hibernation has been monitored by traps baited with pheromone, a synthetic sex attractant, throughout the control zone and in adjacent fields to the east since early Spring.

Trapping gives preliminary indications of where manual surveys should be concentrated prior to the initiation of spray operations this Fall. And, by comparing trap catches inside the zone with those outside, officials also can gauge the effectiveness of the previous year's program.

Reports show that 30 traps in untreated territory outside the control zone through July 19 this year have yielded 49,267 weevils while less than a third as many, 14,184 were retrieved from 45 traps where control was exercised last year. Average weevils per trap, in-zone vs out-zone, PCG officials note, make the success of last year's control effort look even better. Outside the zone, each trap caught an average of 1,642 weevils, more than 5 times the 315 per-trap catches inside.

Manual surveys, involving 35 two-person teams, are set to begin September 5. Spraying will start in late September or early October as dictated by survey results.

Accumulative trap catches below the Caprock this year (63,451) are significantly greater than in 1988 (38,593). But program operators cite three reasons why they don't think these numbers indicate a larger program than the 600,000-acre, $1.9 million program of 1988.

First, under this year's government program, permitted acreage is 12.5 percent below the acreage permitted in 1988. Second, late planting has delayed the availability of a food supply for weevils, probably causing a heavier-than-normal "suicidal emergence."

Lastly, there is a growing possibility that some control zone cotton won't survive the drought. So unless something drastic happens to change the circumstances, officials say, the odds now seem to favor a somewhat smaller program.

The program is jointly funded by High Plains cotton producers and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Producers furnish 70 percent of the total, USDA 30 percent.

Melissa Sanders, Gulley United In Marriage

MR. AND MRS. JAMES MALCOLM GULLEY
[nee Melissa Ann Sanders]

On Saturday, July 8, at 4 in the afternoon, Melissa Ann Sanders and James Malcolm Gulley, both of Lubbock were united in marriage. Vows were read by David Langford, Church of Christ minister of Lubbock.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Julian W. Johnson of Lubbock. Gulley is the son of Mrs. Davis Gulley of Muleshoe and the late Davis Gulley.

Marriage vows were repeated outdoors standing before the gazebo at The Lodge in Cloudcroft, N.M.

The front of the gazebo was decorated with a floral wreath arrangement composed of dried tree branches, silk and dried flowers in shades of rose pink, teal and ivory. Lace and satin ribbons and bows in the same colors as the flowers, were attached.

The bride wore a tea-length gown of ivory lace over taffeta. The elongated bodice featured a rounded neckline accented with lace appliques and seed pearls. Puffed lace sleeves gathered into cuffs at the wrists and ruffles fell over her hands and were edged with tatted lace. The gathered lace skirt fell into a handkerchief hemline and was edged with tatted lace.

To complement her attire, the bride chose a halo-type headpiece of ivory silk flowers intertwined with a strand of pearls, the crown of the headpiece had a pouf of ivory net attached. Also combined in the headpiece was a side comb of ivory silk flowers with a drop spray of three strands of lily of the valley and seed pearls. She wore pearl earrings and a pearl necklace.

For something old, the bride carried an ivory cloth and lace edged handkerchief, previously carried by the groom's mother and his aunt at their weddings. Her wedding dress was something new, her garter something blue. A sixpence as well as pennies minted in the years of the couple's birth were placed in her shoe.

A cascading bouquet of silk roses in different hues of pink, ivory stephanotis, baby's breath and silk greenery was carried by the bride. The bouquet was accented with teal silk leaves, sprays of seed pearls, pale pink net, and attached was ivory lace ribbon, pink and teal satin ribbon and strands of pearls.

The groom wore an ivory tuxedo ensemble with ivory cummerbund and tie. His boutonniere was of silk dusty pink roses, baby's breath and teal silk leaves.

Mrs. Frank (Suzanne) Cooke of Lubbock served as matron of honor. She wore a tea length dress of teal challis with an elongated bodice, a square neckline with attached ivory lace collar, three quarter length puffed sleeves with lace cuffs. She carried a nosegay of light pink silk sweetheart roses and silk baby's breath accented with silk teal leaves, ivory net, pearl sprays, and ivory, pink and teal satin ribbons. In her hair, she wore a side headpiece of pink silk sweetheart roses accented with seed pearl loops and one eighth inch pink, ivory and teal ribbons.

John Gulley of Muleshoe, served as his brother's best man. He wore an ivory tuxedo jacket, black tuxedo slacks, teal tie and cummerbund. His boutonniere was of light pink silk roses and baby's breath with teal silk leaves.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held on the lawn beside the gazebo at The Lodge. The bridal table was covered with an ivory lace table cloth. The two-tier round wedding cake was iced with ivory frosting, and was decorated on both tiers with silk roses in different hues of pink, baby's breath, teal silk leaves, pink net, seed pearl sprays and silk greenery. Satin ribbons in pink, ivory and teal were carefully intertwined with the flowers to accentuate the cake. Fresh greenery and baby's breath were arranged at the base of the cake. The bride's bouquet was placed on the table as a centerpiece. Servers were Mary Barrier and Josie Baca, both of Lubbock.

Guest included Mrs. David Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Barrier of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Haney Poyner of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wood of Midland, Mark Dillman of Corsicana, Ms. Josie Baca of Lubbock, Frank Cooke of Lubbock, Richard Tickle of Lubbock, and David Smyth of Lubbock.

The bride is a 1973, graduate of Hereford High School, and a 1977 graduate of West Texas State University. She is employed by Lubbock State School as a registered nurse.

Gulley is a 1971, graduate of Muleshoe High School and a 1976, graduate of Texas Tech University. He is employed at Gro-Agri Seed Company in Lubbock as Assistant Operations Manager.

Following a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N.M., the couple returned home to reside in Lubbock.

Bake-Less Bake Sale To Benefit Nursing Home

The Jennyslippers, Associate Members of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture are sponsoring a "Bake-Less Bake Sale" to benefit the Muleshoe Nursing Home residents. Last year they were able to buy new drapes for the day room and had the kitchenette papered, painted and had the cabinets redone. This gave a "new face" to the resident's home.

A new ice machine is needed. The old one is worn out. Carl Ann Kidd says, "This old machine makes water instead of ice." The Jennyslippers had a "Bake-Less Bake Sale" in the early spring, and they wish to thank everyone who participated, and since the hospital and nursing home is secured, they hope that everyone will help them help the nursing home residents. They were short of their goal for the ice machine.

You are asked to mail your contributions to: Jennyslippers, PO Box 153, Muleshoe, Texas 79347.

Committee members are Nancy Kidd and Kathy Franks.

Former Resident Named Employee Of Month

Staci Marchand, the former Staci Vandiver, states that her nursing career began in fourth grade.

"Ever since I did a project on 'What I Want To Be When I Grow Up' while I was in the fourth grade, I have wanted to be a nurse," says the Muleshoe native.

She apparently made the right choice as her abilities in her chosen profession earned her St. Mary Employee of the Month honors for July.

Mrs. Marchand, R.N., B.S.N., has been a nurse in Rehab since May 1988--only days after completing her education in Abilene. She took her R.N. degree from the Abilene Intercollegiate School of Nursing and her bachelor's degree from Abilene Christian University.

A spokesperson for the hospital stated that in her short time at St. Mary's, she has developed a rapport with the patients of the rehab unit that has earned her the admiration of her fellow workers.

"Staci is an outstanding R.N. who really cares about our patients--especially the difficult ones," said Mary Brown in nominating Mrs. Marchand for the monthly award.

"She is a strong leader and takes into consideration the welfare of both staff and patients. She puts in 100 percent effort, 100 percent energy and 100 percent love of mankind."

Mrs. Marchand earned her nursing assistant certificate while still a student at Muleshoe High School and worked for St. Mary's for a brief time some four years ago before deciding upon nursing school.

As a student she was a nursing technician in the Trauma Center of Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene.

She worked in Rehab while at St. Mary's before, so it was only natural that she return to the Fifth Floor. "I've been here too long now--I wouldn't work anywhere else" says Mrs. Marchand.

Working with Rehab patients, she says is somewhat different "since they're usually long-term. We really get to know patients inside and out, and I think that's good."

"You get to know their weak points--what their real needs are--and that allows you to know how you can really help them."

A lot of patients, she says, just want "to know that someone cares".

Asked to summarize her philosophy of rehab care, she said, "Patience, patience, patience."

Or is it patients, patients, patients.

STACI MARCHAND

EXTENSION GRANTED TO RURAL ROUTE

Mrs. E.W. Charles, postmaster, informs us that the local postoffice has been advised of the granting of an extension to Rural Route No. 1 out of Muleshoe. This extension was made necessary by the large number of new settlers who have located in the territory North and East of Muleshoe during the last twelve months.

Route 1 travels one of the richest sections of the country in this part of the State, and the extension covers a distance of about 22 miles through this fine farming section.

The farmers living along the new route very greatly appreciate the convenience that will be offered them with the establishing of daily mail service. This service is an asset to the country.

DRIVE-IN WINDOW IS BECOMING VERY POPULAR

The drive-in window, a relatively new service in the ways of banking facilities, is becoming very popular with the people of Muleshoe, and people who bank here, according to M.D. Gunstream, president of the First National Bank in Muleshoe.

Gunstream says that at the present time they probably do more business at the drive-in window than any of their inside windows.

One thing that makes it attractive at this time of year, is the nice canopy over the driveway at the window, enabling people to drive up in inclement weather without being inconvenienced.

HEAVY RAINS SOAK COUNTY FARM LAND

Late Friday afternoon southwestern Bailey County caught the blunt of a storm which ravaged crops in the area. Hard wind-driven rain and hail fell flooding crops and in many areas crops were beaten into the ground.

Hailstones up to and including larger than golf ball size broke windows, stripped trees and ground crops into shreds.

A large part of the hailstorm concentrated on the Muleshoe National Refuge about 20 miles from Muleshoe. Wildlife Manager Bert Blair reported windows knocked out of the house and office building, wind damage to the house and at least eight inches of hail on the ground. Flooding caused a problem as water was so deep, it took officers several hours to get in to bring the Blair family to Muleshoe. There were no injuries reported from flying glass or debris.

Mourning Dove Hunts Expected To Be Good

There should be plenty of fast-flying targets for mourning dove hunters during the hunting season that begins Sept. 1 in the North and Central zones and Sept. 20 in the South zone.

Ron George, dove program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said dove numbers appear to be at least on par with last year although surveys earlier this year indicated populations were down. "Call-count surveys showed a 19 percent decline in resident populations from last year, which would be about eight percent below the long-term average," George said. "However, unusual weather conditions during the survey period may have caused an artificially low estimate."

George explained that high winds during May and June hindered biologists ability to hear the birds on survey lines. "Field reports since then appear to indicate there are lots of birds, especially in Central and South Texas," he said.

George said landowners who want to enhance dove hunting this September may still have time to do some habitat work to attract birds. This could include disking or mowing strips through sunflower patches or where other seed-bearing plants are found. "Doves prefer open areas where they can walk freely and pick up seeds," George noted. "Of course, water is another attraction for doves if watering sites are not abundant."

Waterhole shooting should be excellent in the southern half of Texas, but may be slower in North and East Texas where flooding has filled tanks and lakes, George added.

Landowners are reminded that planting seed-bearing plants is a legal means for attracting doves and other migratory game birds. However, "baiting" birds with grain or other food is illegal.

Prospects for white-winged dove hunting in the Special White-Winged Dove Area during the Sept. 2-3 and 9-10 season are less rosy. George said whitewing production in native brush has been good, but nesting in freeze-damaged citrus groves continues to be low.

"The native brush habitat acquired by the department and the U. S. Fish & Wildlife Service in recent years has improved the situation somewhat, and should contribute more production in the near future," George said.

George said overall whitewing numbers are sufficient for a good season if rainy weather of the type that hampered hunting during the past two seasons does not occur this year.

George noted that whitewings apparently are continuing their move northward, establishing colonies in the Austin and San Antonio areas. "We have had increasing reports of whitewing sightings from those areas, and even from as far north as Waco," he said.

Hunters in Central and South Texas should be aware that whitewings are likely to be seen. A $6 White-winged Dove Stamp is required to take whitewings in any zone. During the mourning dove season, hunters may take two whitewings and two white-tipped doves per day within the aggregate limit of 12 mourning doves.

Regulations for doves and other "early season" migratory species can be found in the department's Early Season Migratory Regulations Guide which will be available from department offices and hunting license outlets during August.

SPECIAL VISITORS AT ROTARY--Tuesday, 'Big' John Hall, far left and Dr. Roy Fish, center, were special guests at the Muleshoe Rotary Club. Hall, a gospel singer, led one song for the group, then sang two other songs, and Dr. Fish invited everyone present to attend the Encounter Crusade this week. water distribution lines, sewer systems, community health services, the EMS, and housing.

She explained the point system used and how each project is reviewed and rated, along with how many points are awarded for each segment reviewed.

Each committee seeking funds has five minutes to present their project to the review committee and convince them of their particular need, said Ms. King.

JoAnn Head asked how local effort could be utilized, and how they could help increase their points by advance work right in the community.

Ms. King said the local Health Center is figured at a construction cost of $293,320; $23,577 for architect's fees; $6,500 for the purchase of property for a total of $331,297, with $81,297 to come from local funding if the $250,000 grant is approved.

She reminded that the application for the $250,000 grant is due September 4. On a motion by Commissioner Kindle, with a second by Commissioner Don Seales, commissioners voted to seek the grant.

Under miscellaneous items on the agenda, commissioners approved signing a letter for the Bailey County Heritage Foundation, who are also seeking a grant.

The last item discussed was the Bailey County EMS, and a fourth certified person to take the responsibility, temporarily, of being on 24-hour call, effective on Tuesday, August 31.

With the resignation of EMS Director Richelle Watkins to go back into fulltime nursing as an RN at Muleshoe Area Medical Center, the Bailey County EMS did not have the personnel to assure 24-hour coverage availability for the second ambulance.

All but one of the "Volunteers" are fulltime, daytime employees, and cannot leave their jobs to answer ambulance calls during the day.

The only Volunteer who does not work in public is Emergency Care Attendant (ECA) Doris Scott, wife of Commissioner R. L. Scott, who cannot be paid for helping with the ambulance.

On a motion by Commissioner Rudolph Moraw, with a second by Commissioner Don Seales, the employment of a part-time medic, at $50 per day, five days a week, was approved by commissioners.

other young women from the South Plains and Panhandle, were chosen from among more than 100 applicants to make the trip to Belgium.

After getting off the plane in Brussels, Belgium, they stayed with different host families. She said she stayed with six different families during her five week stay.

The speaker said young people are more decisive about what they plan to do, and most have professional degrees by the time they are 21 years old.

Belgians have a strong sense of family, according to Mrs. Bostic, and very often, their businesses are operated out of their homes, with the husband and wife working together.

She was amazed at working conditions. Belgians only work 35 hours per week, and the day they start a job, they already have five weeks of vacation.

The country is divided according to the language spoken, with French, German and Flemish being the dominating languages.

According to Mrs. Bostic, monasteries, churches and many castles, all centuries old, dominate the countryside.

Pictures she showed were of a green, beautiful country.

Also shown, were pictures of large, elaborate churches and scenes from Antwerp, Belgium.

In showing how old and new mix, the final picture she showed was a McDonald's in the foreground and an old castle in the background.

President Terry Hutto asked the Rotarians to recite the 4-Way Test and 'Big' John Hall concluded the meeting singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Guests at the meeting included Kristi Campbell, Robin Bostic, Julie Cage, Jay Cage, Douglass Field, 'Big' John Hall, Barry Bradley, David C. McCune, Eric McElroy, Reagan McElroy, Roy Fish, Coy Noles and A. J. Liles.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN: Has the license plate slogan war been hyped out of proportion, or are most Texans really upset with the proposed new license plates bearing the official state nickname?

That's right, the official Texas state nickname: "The Friendship State," taken from the official state motto: "Friendship."

Years before the public relations yuppies smothered us with the macho-sounding "Don't Mess With Texas" anti-litter campaign, our forefathers adopted "Friendship" as the official state motto.

After all, Tejas was the Indian word for "friends." Yes, our state's name translates as "friends," not "thugs."

But with the official start of the primary election campaigns just a few weeks away, things aren't too friendly in Austin.

Texas Democrats and Republicans are about to go to war against each other. They don't feel too friendly right now.

Many a political headline seeker wants to capitalize on macho, even a tough-talking woman candidate for governor who tells reporters that our friendship motto sounds "too wimpy."

Money to Be Made

But are we wise to buy the Hollywood hype about Texas that has made many a wimpy yuppie rich? Some contend we should do something for our own pocketbooks, not theirs, even if some politicians don't see the opportunity.

We can make millions off "The Friendship State."

That slogan, seen everywhere, will let out-of-state drivers know they are welcome here. Other tourism states have friendly slogans on their plates for the income draw.

There's money in it for the Texas economy. A slogan on the license plate is worth millions spent in public relations gimmicks.

Good for Tourism

Think about the lean times we're leaving behind. Tourism is the predominant industry that kept Texas going while times were dry in the oil patch and on the ranch.

Don't we want more tourists coming to NASA, SeaWorld, Texas Stadium, Galveston Island and the State Fair of Texas?

Aren't we the state that's cracking down on child abuse, wife beaters, rapists, murderers? Some citizens could use "The Friendship State" reminder every day.

Maybe we're afraid that if we revive "The Friendship State," other states might think Texas too polite or too sensitive, and they won't want to hang out with us.

Don't worry. With the campaign battles we're going to have, and they're going to read about it, it'll never happen.

Political Maneuvering

In the governor's race, former Texas Secretary of State Jack Rains entered on the Republican side, businessman Clayton Williams selected a big name fundraiser as his co-chairman, and Ann Richards announced an unprecedented Gulf sailing tour.

Rains promised to make Texas first in public education, and made anti-drug and pro-life platform statements.

Rains' campaign treasurer is former Oilers coach Bum Phillips. When asked how he entered politics, Bum replied he "felt like a cow chip someone threw into the punch bowl."

Williams, displaying continued political savvy, named GOP fundraising honcho Eddie Childs as his campaign co-chair.

Richards' campaign will sail the Gulf Coast, Brownsville to Port Arthur, next month and she said that hurricane season will make the trip "kind of fun."

As she and Attorney General Jim Mattox battled for endorsements at the Texas AFL-CIO convention last week, Richards blamed his camp for spreading rumors she ducked a pro-labor vote years ago.

"Remember, I was living (then) with the general counsel of the AFL-CIO. I couldn't have gone home if I hadn't been for dues checkoff," she said.

Labor Calls in Chits

The new leader of Texas labor considers some of the proposed workers' compensation reforms a disaster for working men and women and wants to call in all chits to stop them.

Joe Gunn, new leader of the Texas AFL-CIO, said state officials seeking labor endorsement in coming elections will be asked to defeat business-backed reforms in a November special session.

Other Highlights

• Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby named a special panel to study the workers' compensation issue: Sens. John Montford, D-Lubbock; Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville; Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur; Don Henderson, R-Houston; and Cindi Krier, R-San Antonio.

• Sen. Parker told the AFL-CIO convention that the workers' comp issue failed because of a Republican insurance company conspiracy. He said Republicans want to blame high insurance costs on "lawyers, labor goons and Democrats."

• Union members also heard Hobby tell them the 1990 elections could turn out to be the Texas Democratic Party's Vietnam, if primary squabbles get too divisive.

Diet Relapse Can Happen To Anyone

It never fails. You've been watching what you eat, exercising regularly and it's paying off -- you're losing weight. Then it happens; something or someone distracts you from your goals. The pounds are adding up again and you are ready to give up.

According to Shelley Fillipp, R.D., outpatient dietitian at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, you do not have to submit to being heavier than you'd like. You can learn to fight diet relapse and take control of your weight.

KNOW THE ENEMY

In order to effectively deal with diet relapse, it helps to know the situations that are most likely to make you lose sight of your weight loss goals. A stressful situation, a special celebration or a visit from a family member, for example, can lead you to eat more than you should. Whatever the situation, knowing the enemy is the first step to winning the battle.

PREPARE AN ACTION PLAN

Once you know your weight-loss saboteurs, you can prepare to deal with them before they destroy your goals. One technique is to rehearse how you'll handle situations when they arise. For example, say to yourself, "If I start to feel tense, I'll count to ten and take five deep breaths instead of grabbing something to eat."

RETREAT

Sometimes temptations can be so great that even a well-thought-out plan fails to curb your impulse to give in. When that happens, retreat. If you can't remove the situation, remove yourself. Offer to clear the dishes, for example, instead of having dessert.

WINNING THE WAR

You can still win the war against diet relapse even when you do fall to temptation. Just remember that going off your weight control plan temporarily is not the end of the world. Just pick up where you left off and start fresh!

CORN

Southwestern corn borer moth numbers from area pheromone traps are increasing, but seem to be lower than were at this time last year. SWCB eggs are more easily found in area fields this week. Eggs are white when first laid. Within 24 to 36 hours, they develop three parallel red lines across them.

The eggs hatch within five days. Once hatched, the small larvae can be found feeding behind the ear. Larvae are normally 8-12 days old before they begin boring into the corn stalks. Area corn fields should be scouted for eggs and small larvae at this time. With the lower SWCB pressure seen in many fields, one carefully timed application may give acceptable control.

Spider mite numbers and damage vary greatly from field to field. Many fields that had high populations of mites have been controlled by beneficials. Six-spotted thrips and minute pirate bugs have been the most prevalent beneficials.

If mites are present when applying an insecticide to control corn borers, producers will probably want to add a miticide to keep mite populations from flaring due to the loss of beneficial activity.

Fall armyworms are a major concern in our area at this time. Eggs laid in area crops a few weeks ago have now completed their cycle and are emerging from pupal cases as moths that will once again start a new generation.

Information from Georgia tells us that pheromone traps that catch 10 moths per night indicate that we should look for a possible problem; fifty per night means economic thresholds are eminent in some area fields.

Over the last week, the trap that we have set up a couple of miles northeast of Muleshoe has averaged more than 100 moths per night. Fall armyworm eggs are small, round, and laid together in large masses. The masses are covered with a thin, grayish, hair-like substance.

TDA OKAYS CHEMIGATION

This week the Texas Department of Agriculture amended the Crisis Declaration of June 30 on Capture to include chemigation as a method of application in corn. All chemigation directions on the Capture label for cotton must be followed in applications in corn. Necessary precautions to prevent run-off should be taken when applying Capture by means of chemigation.

Senator Teel Bivins Reports

AUSTIN - The first called special session of the 71st Legislature has now ended. Once again it is time for reflection. The Governor called the legislature back into special session for one purpose - to enact meaningful reform of the Texas Worker's Compensation Insurance system. We failed.

Early in the special session, I was hopeful that reform was on the horizon. While I voted against the bill, because I felt we could do better, Senate Bill 1 was a major improvement over the Worker's Comp bill voted out by the Senate in the regular session.

In an interesting parliamentary maneuver Speaker Lewis and Lt. Governor Hobby decided that it would be the Senate Bill that would move through the legislative process. Having the Senate Bill pass the Senate, go to the House, and then return to the Senate for approval of any House amendments, was a strategic move designed to take advantage of the Senate rules and ultimately make passage of a reform measure easier.

When an incident occurred that could not have been more poorly timed. Bo Pilgrim, the chicken producer from East Texas, came to the Senate the day before a scheduled vote on the House amendments to Senate Bill 1. Mr. Pilgrim, in what can be most charitably described as a misguided lobbying effort, handed out 7 or 8 $10,000 checks to various Senate members remarking that business could sure use some help in worker's comp. To make matters worse, the payee line on the checks were blank.

We knew that the vote to concur on the House amendments to Senate Bill 1 was going to be close at best, but after the Pilgrim episode, there was no chance. The next day, when the bill came back to the Senate, the proponents of the Senate version easily prevailed on a motion not to concur, but rather to appoint a conference committee to work out the differences between the Senate version and the House version.

The appointees to the House and Senate conference committee were virtually the same as those during the regular session, when negotiations failed.

This time around, the conferees worked extremely hard and put in very long hours. But, once again they were unable to resolve their differences. Both sides believe strongly that their approach to worker's compensation reform is the right approach. I happen to believe that the House approach, which attempts to lessen lawyers involvement in what is supposed to be a no-fault system and create a more objective method of determining compensation, is the better approach.

When the conference committee began its work in early July, there were literally thousands of differences between the two bills. Between that time and the end of the special session, major progress was made. When time ran out, there remained only a few differences. However, those differences have been pervasive throughout the long worker's comp debate. The principal sticking points have been the method by which disputes between injured workers and insurance companies are resolved and the system to be used in determining how to compensate an injured worker. Although conferees hotly debated the issue of safety, I believe their differences could have been resolved if the principal dispute could have been resolved.

While we failed in our principal task during the first called special session, there were a few positive developments. During the waning hours of the last night of the session, I took part in negotiations that resulted in passage of a new expanded asset forfeiture law. I had said all through the campaign that I believe Texas should expand the asset forfeiture provisions that we currently have under the Controlled Substances Act to other felonies. Getting to drug dealers in their pocketbooks has proven to be a powerful tool to fight those who would sell illegal drugs in our communities. My belief has always been that we could use this tool to fight crime in other areas. House Bill 65 will allow our law enforcement officers to confiscate any real or personal property used in the commission of any first or second degree felony. This is a major expansion of current law and very good news for law enforcement.

I am also pleased with the outcome of two legislative efforts that are closer to home. The first with regard to the Canadian River. We did not pass a bill because the Governor felt that it would be preferable for Parks and Wildlife to acquire property in the Panhandle before passing a bill that would dedicate funds from a settlement of the Canadian River land dispute to Parks and Wildlife. Parks and Wildlife is currently negotiating to acquire property.

Finally, I am very pleased that the Panhandle delegation was successful in its effort to pass legislation allowing the merger of West Texas State University with Texas A&M University. Because of our desire to allow the WT study of the merger issue to be completed, we drafted the legislation in a way that would allow for the merger, pending completion of the study, approval of both boards and approval of the Coordinating Board. Should this merger come to pass, I believe it will be the most significant positive advance for higher education in our area in over 50 years.

Letter To The Editor

July 17 1989

Dear Friend,

I would like to take this opportunity to introduce to you the Hub City RiverFest and its co-sponsors. Four community-based organizations that provide support services for children and their families have banded together to sponsor this area-wide event on Labor Day, Monday, September 4, at Buddy Holly Park. The City of Lubbock's Office of Information and Referral is backing and coordinating this effort in support of these agencies and their contributions to our community.

The four co-sponsoring agencies are: Family Outreach Center of Lubbock, Foster Parents Association of Lubbock, South Plains Chapter for the Prevention of Child Abuse, and Talking and Listening to Children. These four groups are private non-profit agencies with solid histories and exemplary "track-records." They each provide their services completely free of charge to Lubbock's children and families. Their sole method of fund-raising is through community support and private contributions. Their services, our own community's children and families, and this Labor Day event are all deserving of your support and backing.

The Hub City RiverFest will be a fun-filled day of music, arts and crafts, exhibitions, children's activities, athletic events, food concessions, entertainment, hot air balloons, an ice cream freeze-off, a Guinness World Book of Records Event, and much more, with all proceeds going directly to these four sponsoring agencies. We solicit your support of these groups in their dedication toward making Lubbock a better place to live by strengthening its citizenry. The benefit should be felt by ALL. Thank you for receiving this introduction and for your consideration of the requested support. Additional thanks are extended for your contributions to this community. Best wishes in all your endeavors.

Sincerely
Marti Kennedy, Information & Referral Coordinator
Community Services, City of Lubbock

Money Talk

by Charles B. Carlson, CFA
Dow Theory Forecasts, Inc.
Assets of all mutual funds at the end of April were an all-time high. Assets reached $862.2 billion in April, exceeding the previous record high of $848.3 billion in August 1987.

Other facts of interest include the following:
* The growth of money market and fixed-income mutual funds has been one of the most significant developments in the mutual fund field. In 1978, equity funds comprised 53% of all mutual funds assets. In 1988, that figure was down to 24%.

* Another prominent development in the mutual fund field is the growing number of funds--from 505 funds in 1978 to more than 2,700 funds at the end of 1988.

Investors may want to pay special attention to this last figure. The number of mutual funds now exceeds the number of issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

This factor may have something to do with the absence of the individual investor in the market. He's often investing via the Vanguard, Fidelity, and Putnam's of the world.
