Final Whirl High School Events to Start Tonight With Annual Prom

Announcement has been made by T. Stovall, Artesia High School principal, of the activities for the remainder of the school year, which will end with commencement exercises at 8 o'clock Thursday night, May 24, for which there are 99 candidates, the largest number in the history of the school.

P. Steiner of Santa Fe, assistant secretary of the New Mexico Educational Association, will deliver the commencement address. First of the bigger events in connection with the close of the school year will be the annual junior banquet and prom, which will be held at 7 o'clock tonight at the Veterans Memorial Building, preparation for which the juniors have been busy decorating the hall.

The annual banquet of the Future Farmers of America chapter will be held at the high school cafeteria at 7:30 o'clock Monday night, with members having their parents as guests.

That evening, there will be two meetings having to do with the schools. One will be a meeting of the Board of Education at 7 o'clock and the other will be the final meeting of the Artesia Educational Association, which will be held in the high school library at 7:30 o'clock.

Principal Stovall announced the annual spring band and chorus concert, which will be held in the school auditorium at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening under the direction of Russell Lewis, instrumental instructor and Edward O. Miller, vocal instructor.

Admission for adults will be 75 cents, for junior and senior high school students, 50 cents and for elementary pupils, 25 cents.

Annual senior class day assembly will be held in the auditorium at 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of next week. At that time the class will prophesy and history will be presented. Gifts for the seniors also will be presented.

Then the seniors will have to make down the next two days, for on Thursday and Friday final senior tests will be given. Baccalaureate services will be held in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, May 20, with the message brought by Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Also participating in the program will be Rev. Arthur G. Bell of the First Christian Church, Rev. V. Elmer McGuffin of the Emmanuel Baptist Church and Evangelist Floyd Embree.

Special vocal music will be furnished under the direction of Howard O. Miller and the procession and recessional will be played by the high school band.

An awards assembly will be held in the auditorium at 11 o'clock Monday morning, May 21. Perfect attendance, academic and activities awards will be made at that time. Included will be athletic awards which have not been previously presented.

Semester tests for all high school students other than seniors will be given Tuesday and Wednesday, May 22-23.

All students are to report on Thursday morning, May 24, when they will check in books, locks and other school property and will generally clean up for the year. Six class periods will be held in the morning and dismissal will be at noon.

Commencement exercises will start at 8 o'clock that night, with the band playing the professional as the seniors enter the auditorium. Invocation will be by Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor of the First Methodist Church.

School will close on Friday, May 25, on which day students are to report at 2 o'clock in the afternoon for their report cards and other records. Buses will not run that morning, but will be scheduled to arrive at the school at 2 o'clock.

Classes will be resumed on Tuesday, Sept. 4, the day after Labor Day. However, students are to register on Friday, Aug. 31.

Principal Stovall said that with the spring registration for the ninth through the 12th grades totaling 564, it is anticipated the registration next fall may reach 575. At present, there are 99 in the senior class, 122 in the 11th grade, 142 in the 10th and 200 in the ninth.

Dr. Clarke Is Named President Of Lions Club

Members of the Artesia Lions Club at the weekly luncheon meeting Wednesday noon elected Dr. J. J. Clarke, Jr., president for the 1951-52 club year, to succeed Floyd Springer.

Other officers elected for the coming year: First vice president, Grady Wright; second vice president, Dr. Pete J. Starr; third vice president, Ralph Lennon; secretary, Vernon Mills; re-elected; Lion tamer, Clayton Menefee; tail twister, Jack Fauntleroy; directors, Lee Plummer and Ulas Golden.

The new officers will be installed at a meeting just prior to or immediately after July 1, the start of the fiscal year 1951-52.

It is possible the installation will be at a ladies' night banquet, as has been customary with the club in the past.

Although there was no formal program at the meeting Wednesday, other than the election of officers, there was much fun, as some of the candidates campaigned and charges and counter-charges were hurled.

Dr. Clarke served as president in the spring of 1939, when Dr. Walkwright Miller was named president for the next club year. Then when Dr. Miller went into the service and resigned as president, Dr. Clarke took the chair.

State Legion Commander Makes His Official Visit, Installs Officers

Dr. D. H. (Tiny) Reed of Portales, New Mexico department commander of the American Legion, paid his official visit to Clarence Kepple Post 41 Monday evening, when he spoke at a joint supper meeting of the post and its auxiliary at the Veterans Memorial Building.

Commander Reed later in the evening installed Fred Jacobs commander of the post and other officers, as the two organizations met individually.

The new post commander succeeds John Simons, Jr., who has served the last year.

Elected with Commander Jacobs at the April meeting and installed with him Monday night were: First vice commander, Grady Wright; second vice commander, Jean Stone; third vice commander, Homer Heathman; finance officer, Herbert Mathis; chaplain, Ken Jones; historian, Quentin Rodgers; sergeant-at-arms, John Lively.

Also installed were Don Bush as adjutant and Bill Dunning as service officer, both appointive offices.

At the meeting a month ago M. E. Balsh, Harry B. Gilmore, Fred Lopez, and Howard Whitson were elected as trustees.

Twenty each delegates and alternates to the department convention in Santa Fe June 21-23 were elected at the meeting Monday evening, the number permitted for the current post membership of 263, which is three over the quota for 1951.

Delegates—Fred Jacobs, John Simons, Jr., Paul Dillard, Bill Dunning, Wade Cunningham, Jack Staggs, Don Bush, Grady Wright, J. B. Muney, Harry B. Gilmore, Fred Lopez, John Lively, J. L. Briscoe, P. V. Morris, Jack Whitaker, Ken Jones, Herbert Mathis, C. R. Vandagriff, Bill Keys, and Howard Whitson.

Alternates—Margaret Bean, Calvin Dunn, Homer Heathman, Harold Naylor, A. L. Bert, Ed Boans, Kenneth Schrader, Harry Haselby.

Inspector Says Livestock Must All Be Branded

J. C. Floore, cattle inspector here, is calling attention of livestock owners to the New Mexico law requiring the branding of livestock and the adoption and registering of brands.

The act reads, in part: "Every person, firm, company or corporation owning horses, mules, asses or neat cattle or any cattle to be slaughtered for human consumption, shall have and adopt a brand for such animals, said brand to be applied with a hot iron on each animal, except registered animals which are identified by a proper tattoo mark and whose owner has been issued a certificate of brand exemption for his herd, by the New Mexico Cattle Sanitary Board. Every such brand shall be recorded in the office of the Cattle Sanitary Board of New Mexico. Any unbranded cattle, excepting calves with a branded mother, shall be subject to seizure by any peace officer or any duly authorized cattle inspector appointed by the Cattle Sanitary Board of New Mexico and shall be handled and disposed of in the same manner as is now or may hereafter be provided for the handling and disposal of estrays."

Some Failing to Comply With Box Regulations

Jess L. Truett, Artesia postmaster, this week called attention to postal regulations regarding rural route mail boxes, with which a number of patrons are failing to comply. He said:

"From May 1 to 15 of each year, it is the duty of the postmaster to have the various classes of mail segregated and counted as to number of pieces being delivered, and to make route inspections to compile data of route conditions pertaining to roads, mail boxes and any other matters of improvement toward the best interest of the service to rural patrons, a copy of which is submitted to the Post-Office Department, Division of Rural Mails.

"It has been noted during the last few years that more rural patrons are taking personal pride in the appearance and serviceable condition of rural mail boxes.

"This interest is by no means unanimous but is steadily improving. Many boxes are still being neglected by the owners not having a legible name printed on their respective boxes, by the continued use of broken flags, broken doors, and boxes not placed to the convenience of the carrier making deliveries.

"Most of the neglected boxes are used by tenants on the various farms, and the landlords have failed to enforce the required regulation on the part of the tenants.

"We wish to give credit when and where credit is due. Therefore we take advantage of this opportunity to congratulate R. C. Simpson on the manner in which he maintains his rural mail box. This box is given a new coat of paint annually, the flag is kept in good working condition and properly used, his name is repainted legibly, and the box is kept available to the convenience of the carrier.

"Ed Kissinger is another outstanding co-operative patron to maintain a good serviceable rural box.

"These features are not only advantageous to the mail carrier, but they add much to the appearance of the farms they represent."

Theft of Tires Reported to Police By Walter Nugent

Walter Nugent, contractor, reported to police on Tuesday morning, the theft of two 8.25x20 tires from his building on North Freeman.

He said the building had been broken into a few days prior, but that the burglary was not immediately reported as nothing was missed at that time.

Entrance was gained by cutting out a portion of metal in a sliding door. The burglars apparently departed by another door, which was left open.

Southern Union Gas Company-Advocate Cooking School to Open Next Wednesday

Frank Decatur White, nationally-known home economist, will demonstrate his kitchen wizardry at the Ocotillo Theater Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons of next week, at a cooking school sponsored by the Southern Union Gas Company and The Artesia Advocate.

Each day's session is to start promptly at 2 o'clock and last until 4 o'clock.

A number of Artesia firms are co-operating with Southern Union and The Advocate and many of them will give prizes, which have a total value of hundreds of dollars.

The big grand prize will be a new Universal gas range, offered by Southern Union and with a value of $408.45. With the range, will go delivery and free installation.

Artesia will be one of many cities in which White will conduct cooking schools this year, during which he will hold 65, at least one every week except the last two in the year. Last year he conducted 48 schools.

He travels about 40,000 miles a year to bring household hints to housewives—and men too—in the 48 states and Canada. He will conduct a television cooking school in Albuquerque the second week in June.

White calls Hollywood, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla., home. He is a stage star in his own right, but his acting is done with pots and pans. His shortcut methods of cooking and baking, enlivened by humorous stories, have kept thousands of housewives spellbound.

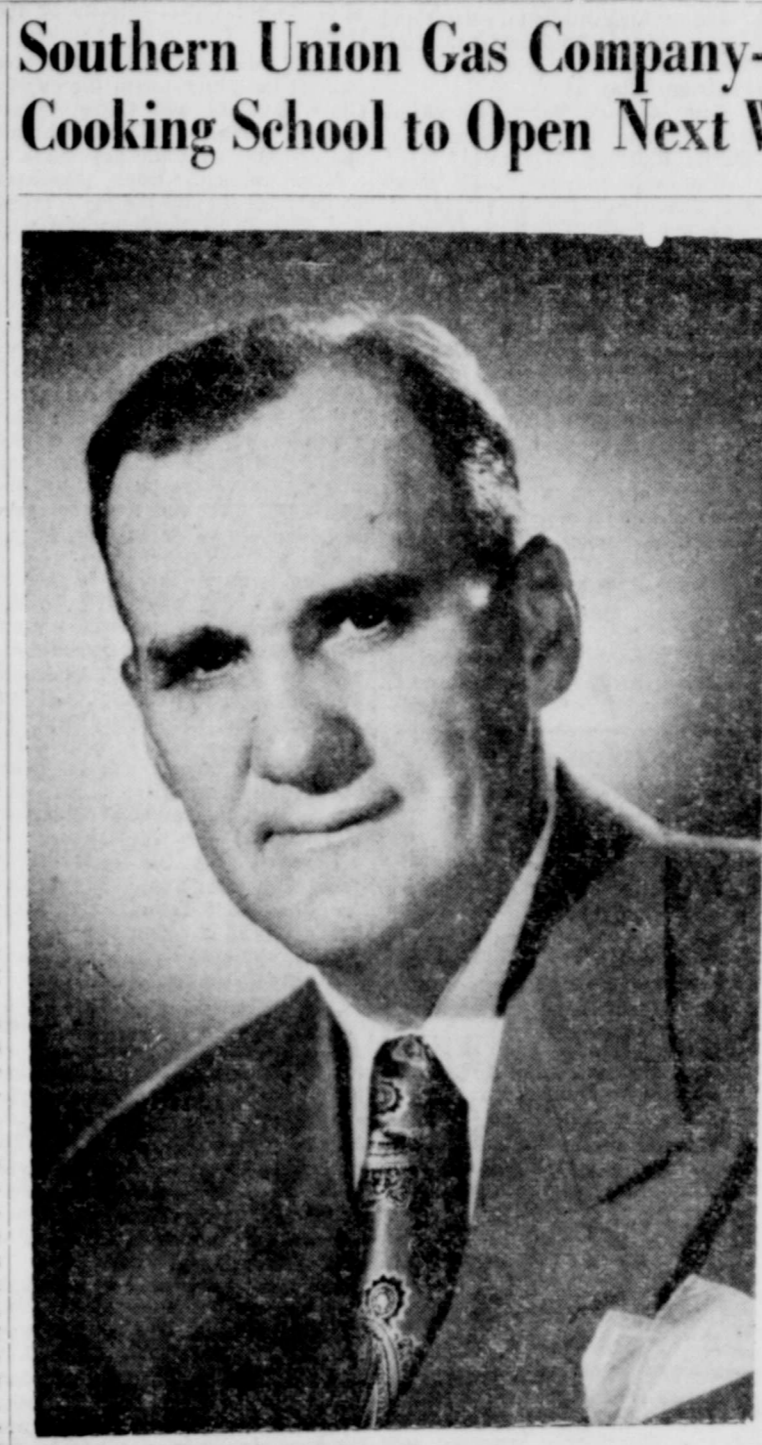

Clad in white flannel trousers, white shirt and white shoes, he pokes gentle fun at women who insist on wearing aprons.

"I keep my splatters in the mixing bowl," he says. He tells of the woman who keeps track of her recipe ingredients by checking the splatters on her apron.

The cooking school here next week will be the eighth White will have conducted in Artesia, where he first appeared in 1936. His most recent schools here were in 1948 and last year, both of which were highly successful and brought out hundreds of women all three days.

White will present the same program at the school in Artesia that he uses in the large cities.

On Wednesday, the opening day, White will bake, cook, and prepare a chocolate angelfood cake with fluffy white icing, boiled new potatoes, chicken dumplings, his own favorite salad, Denver sandwich, steak, matre d'hotel and chocolate mousse.

FRANK DECATUR WHITE

All Schools Will Teach Guarding Against Atomic Attack Within Year

Within a year all schools will be teaching pupils how to be on guard against atomic attack.

The time is near when pupils will be taught living in a world where atomic energy is utilized for peaceful purposes.

Speaking on "An Expanded Program of Education," Supt. Tom Mayfield contrasted education of 1900 with education of 1951, gave an apt rebuttal to the claim that schools neglect the three "R's," and sounded an ominous note on school finance.

The superintendent was the main speaker at the Artesia Kiwanis Club luncheon at noon yesterday in Cliff's Cafeteria.

He said that the change and speed of modern life had made it necessary that teachers teach pupils not only the basic facts but in addition how to live in the modern world.

As examples he cited: In 1900—few automobiles, most of population rural, food home grown, patriotism and citizenship were the norm and there was respect for Washington and other American heroes.

He criticized the tendency of communities to ask favors of their congressmen, saying congressmen should be statesmen not dispensers of favors.

Somebody's Going to Be Happy

THE BIG GRAND PRIZE

Some lucky Artesia person soon will have a beautiful new Universal gas range delivered to her home and installed—all without any cost to her.

She will be the winner of the big grand prize to be awarded absolutely free by Southern Union Gas Company on the final day of the Artesia cooking school, Friday, May 18.

Sponsored by Southern Union and The Artesia Advocate, the all-gas cooking school, presided over by cooking expert Frank Decatur White, will begin Wednesday afternoon, May 16, at the Ocotillo Theater and will be held Thursday and Friday at the same time, from 2 to 4 o'clock.

There is no admission charge to the school.

In addition to the Universal gas range, valuable prizes will be given by Southern Union daily, and those attending the school will see a national food authority demonstrate new recipes and menus.

These features along with many others, combine to make the 1951 Universal gas range, an outstanding, modern range, the answer to any housewife's wish for a beautiful kitchen range that's tops in performance.

'Welcome Wagon' Calls Made on Three Families

The newcomers calls and one housewarming call were made the last few days by Mrs. Leroy Cranford, "Welcome Wagon" hostess for Artesia.

One of the newcomers was Mrs. Walter Wallendorf, wife of an Artesia Driller baseball player. They came here from Fredericksburg, Texas and are renting an apartment at 205 West Missouri.

Wallendorf is one of the Driller pitchers.

The other newcomers are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin L. Wise, who came here recently from Roswell and are living in an apartment at 1408 Yucca Avenue.

Mrs. Wise told Mrs. Cranford that her husband came here as manager for Miles implement Company. She likewise said they have found the merchants and other people of Artesia whom they have met very friendly. They are happy to be in Artesia, she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Wise have two sons Melvin, 5 and Marcus Leonard, 3 months.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wise on Saturday and Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Drobek and son, Bobby Ray, of Roswell. Drobek is with the Roswell Production & Credit Company and Mrs. Drobek is the only anesthesiologist in Roswell, working for (Continued on Page Six)

Champ Max Baer Is 'Tough, But, Oh, So Gentle'

Max Baer, former world heavyweight boxing champion, who refereed the wrestling matches here Tuesday night, is somewhat like the advertisements for automotive parts, "so tough, but, oh, so gentle."

The big battler, all 250 pounds and six feet four inches of him, when in the ring and separating two wrestlers, picked up the 200-pound grunt and groan boys and set them down at arms' length, but between falls shook hands with youths of the community and fondled babies.

The champ said he liked Artesia and found it similar to the nice, little town of Livermore, Calif. He said everyone here was friendly, one reason he enjoys coming to a small place.

Prior to the matches, Baer had become acquainted with Police Chief Earl D. Westfall, who took him to the station to meet some of the police officers.

In serious mood, the former world champion wished for a little peace in this world, which he said could be had if the world's thieves could be taken away.

Every eligible should vote and clean house, Baer said, adding that those who want to fight should be (Continued on page six)

Pedestrian Protection

ARE YOU QUICK AS A CAT?

Don't play "hop-scotch with death" even if you have the traits of a cat or squirrel, the American Automobile Association warns. While many pedestrians have acquired a natural alertness and aptitude in dodging vehicles, some of them lose the game—and their lives—every day. Don't take chances.

Health and safety chairman, Mrs. J. T. Joplin, reported that a sufficient number of ladies had volunteered to work in the pre-school clinic, which was held yesterday. Mrs. H. C. Allen, Central School's delegate to the state P.T.A. convention, held recently in Clovis, gave an interesting report. Mrs. Allen said the main theme of the convention was "Today's Child is Tomorrow's Citizen." She said that hope was expressed for erecting a national P.T.A. building in Washington, D. C. It was pointed out that this project could be accomplished by a donation of 25 cents from each member of P. T. A. in the U. S. C. A. Stalcup, principal, announced school will close Friday, May 25. Children will arrive at school at 2 o'clock to receive their report cards and will leave when dismissed by their teachers. Principal Stalcup said that first and second graders will present a program for their parents at 11 o'clock Wednesday, May 23, in the school gym, and at the same time on Thursday, May 24, in the gym. "Achievement Day" will be observed in addition to a program presented by fifth grade students. School will be dismissed at noon Thursday and the students will not return until 2 o'clock the next day, at which time they will receive their report cards.

Central School has had a total enrollment of 589 students this school year and at present the enrollment is 473. Stalcup said. This made a total of 116 children who had enrolled and later transferred or moved out of the community. In Mrs. Powell's talk she said that a child needs guidance, physically, emotionally, socially, spiritually, mentally, and this guidance should start at birth. She praised the pre-school clinic in its efforts to prepare the child for school physically. She pointed out that parents finding any abnormalities in their children will have time to have them corrected before the child enters school. State law requires that all children entering school must be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria. Mrs. Powell said this is an excellent time to comply with this as it works a hardship on the child if parents neglect having this done until school starts. She said the child should be taught good health habits, and emphasized the importance of children having consideration for others. The child should be loved, but not tied to the mother to the point he cries when out of her sight. This makes it very difficult for the child entering school for the first time and the mother should prepare him for this long before the day arrives. Mrs. Powell pointed out the great responsibility parents have of guiding their children morally and spiritually. She concluded her talk by reminding parents to prepare the child for school, so he will be ready for life.

SPORTS

ON THE HOME FRONT

By BROWNIE EMERSON

Summer Ideal Time for Civic Clubs To Swing Into Action on Athletics

This is the good old summer time and summer—it's wonderful!

That is, it's summer as this is written on Wednesday afternoon. Weather in New Mexico changes about as fast as it does in Texas so by the time this gets into print, there could be a chill snap.

With the advent of summer there should be more activity on the sports front. The perfect weather is ideal and summer is the time when, more than any other season, you appreciate the joy of simply living.

I'd like to see the civic clubs of Artesia, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, get together on a deal that would match their softball players, track and field athletes, golfers, tennis players yes, even horseshoe pitchers against each other.

There's a lot more fun in sports than there is in weekly luncheon meetings and speeches, valuable as these may be. Why should sports be limited to the boys and girls? Why can't the oldsters get into the game?

No Chagrin

Perhaps adults here don't get into sports because they realize that an adult can't play as good a game as a youngster and they feel ashamed to take a licking. Why should this be so? It stands to reason that no man past 35 has the muscle, wind, timing and coordination of a boy of 18. Yet there is plenty of fun in sports, so why pass it by simply because you're past the flaming youth stage?

Putting it on the line, I take a drubbing half the time I play tennis. Against an ace like Bobby Flynn I'm way out classed but I enjoy competing against Bobby just the same.

Losing to him doesn't make me feel ashamed. He's young, better physically and has better coordination of mind, muscle and eye than I possess. But I still get a kick out of playing a fast set of tennis.

This would be a better town if everybody played more, got more exercise, instead of sitting in the stands watching the youngsters play.

Let's Boost Drillers

Our Drillers will give the home town fans plenty of baseball with eight games slated for Artesia Muni Park beginning last night, ending May 17.

While the Drillers took a 18 to 1 drubbing from Big Spring, I'm still for the Drillers and think Stubby Greer will put the team into first division class before mid-season.

It's a new team and there's a lot of ironing out of kinks to be done. I've heard it said that Artesia is a poor sports town, that it will back a winner but fade out fast when a team is losing.

That's a sorry record to possess, if true. It's up to the fans to show it isn't. A fan who is for his team when it's winning is like a two-faced double-dealing policy-playing "friend," all for you when the going is good, then dropping you like a hot potato when you're in a jam.

A guy like that, especially if he praises you to your face then sneaks around and knives you in the back, is the lowest specimen of existence.

I'm all for the Drillers, win or lose—just as I'm for the Bulldogs and for Artesia.

Here's the slate for the Drillers: Tonight—Vernon; May 12-13, Sweetwater; May 14-15, Midland; May 16-17, Big Spring.

On Tennis Championship

I understand from Bobby Flynn that Charles Gibson and Doug Whitefield were a bit chagrined that more space wasn't devoted to their winning the state tennis doubles crown.

Neither of the two champions has said anything to me about that, but boys, here's the deal:

The state tournament was held May 4-5. Next issue of this newspaper was May 8. By that time the story had naturally gone out over all wire services.

Only new angle for this page was some background material on you two, how the title was won. I wasn't at Duke City so I can't say what happened there.

As a tennis fan myself, I'm naturally interested in tennis and winning the state title is really something super-duper. But without any information on which to base a story, there's no story.

That information wasn't forthcoming. As I said in the second paragraph, neither of the two champs has said anything to me about this. If you do feel I slighted you I apologize for no slight was intended.

Boys, I can't dream up a story—I've got to have information.

Cleaning Out the Tray Due to lack of sufficient information to bring it up to date, there was no key yarn about the Bulldogs netters winning the state doubles title but due mention was given in this column last Tuesday.

Jack Faunterly, who is turning out a column on Country Club do-in's, has neglected to supply me with info on tournaments upcoming. He's had some mention of golf in his column but has overlooked supplying me with material that properly belongs on this page. Like some aid on this Jack. Sure will appreciate.

Acknowledge a fine letter from Don Riddle, junior high principal, who took my criticism of no source on ward school softball in good grace.

It was no blistering slam at anyone but simply expression of my desire to cover all sports. And those kids' games are important to me, just as much as the Bulldogs.

A bit off the sports track, but I'm mighty proud to be honored with an invitation to attend the junior-senior banquet at 7:30 tonight in the vets bldg. I'll be there, even tho I had to make some hurried last minute arrangements for coverage on Driller game.

It's good to be around high school youth, they have spirit, dash, enthusiasm and it makes even an oldster like me feel alive to mingle with them.

To the Future Farmers also is due a bow for their courtesy in inviting me to their parent-son banquet set for 7:30 p. m., May 14, in the high school cafeteria. Regret can't attend because I can't afford to be away from Driller games. Forgot the schedule when accepted the junior-senior deal, but can't make deal for coverage second time. Dallas AP depending on me for coverage.

Greyhound Nine In Crown Battle

Baseball championship of the New Mexico conference will be at stake this afternoon when the Greyhounds of Eastern New Mexico University entertain the Highlands University nine at Portales.

The Greyhounds defeated Highlands 16-10 in Las Vegas Tuesday to remain the only undefeated team in the conference. ENMU is still undefeated in its first year of varsity baseball with a 6-0 record.

The Greyhounds hold two conference victories over New Mexico Military Institute and single wins over Highlands and St. Michael's College of Santa Fe. Non-conference triumphs came in a pair of games with West Texas State College.

The conference championship race has narrowed to ENMU and Highlands. The Cowboys have a 4-1 record, compared with ENMU's 4-0. Highlands will play St. Michael's Thursday, then close its conference schedule at ENMU Friday. The Greyhounds wind up the campaign against St. Michael's in Santa Fe Saturday.

A victory over Highlands would clinch the championship for ENMU. A loss to Highlands, however, probably would throw the title to the Cowboys. In such an event, Highlands could finish with a 6-1 record, compared with a top mark of 5-1 for ENMU.

The Greyhounds scored 12 runs in the last three innings to defeat Highlands 16-10 in the first game. Four additional runs were scored in the third inning when Gene Quetone slammed a bases-loaded homerun.

Archie Curley, who was the winning pitcher, helped his cause with a homer in the ninth with one on. ENMU pounded out a total of 20 hits with every player sharing in the batting power. Five players collected three hits—B. B. Lees, leftfielder; Kenneth Moore, centerfielder; Bob Pitt, shortstop; Dale Skipworth, first baseman and Curley.

Roselawn Squad Kings of Artesia Schools Softball

Artesia Drillers are due for some stiff competition from the Roselawn school!

The fifth grade softball team took the title in an all-city school sixth grade tournament final at 4 p. m., May 4, on the Roselawn diamond, edging out Park, 10 to 9.

To reach the crown the Roselawners smacked over the "Drill-

Artesia REA Nine Smashes Carlsbad 20-1

Taking the batting order on a round trip twice in the second inning, Artesia REA softball team pounded the U.S. Potash nine 20 to 1 in a five-inning game played Monday night in Carlsbad.

The victory was the fourth in five contests this season for the local nine.

Manager Red Goodwin was the starting pitcher for REA. Jimmy Williams was also on the mound and both Pete Hatch and Don Heathington were catchers.

REA was forced to abandon its showmanship five players, all they have needed to win two prior contests and to revert to the regulation nine.

The Artesia team is the only "alien" outfit in the Carlsbad Recreation Association.

Campos Winner In Main Event On Westling Card

Alberto Campos, 204 pounds, was awarded two unfought falls Tuesday night over Wee Willie Davis, 275 pounds, in the main event in the series of cards staged by the United Veterans Club, by Referee Max Baer, former world heavyweight boxing champion, for dirty and illegal tactics.

Davis, substituting for Sam Meacker, won the first fall in 15 minutes with a body press.

Shortly after the second round started, Baer stopped it and awarded the match to Campos.

An Australian tag team match, a special event, was called a draw, when at the end of the one-hour limit, each team had been awarded a fall.

Jack Terry and Tony Falletti were teamed against Ace Freeman and Caesar Sando, with the rules calling for only one member of each team in the ring at a time, but with any wrestler privileged to change places with his partner at will.

Terry took the first fall over Caesar with a leg stomp in 17 minutes.

The second fall went to Freeman over Terry in 10 minutes with a drop kick.

ers' 25 to 1, the Rockets 7 to 6, before advancing against Park. Lucian Hodges, fifth grade teacher at Roselawn, verified the statement that also it was a fifth grade team it won the sixth grade championship.

The championship Roselawn squad is composed of Estanislado Angel, Leon Bustamonte, Gilberto Deanda, Eloy Salsberry, Fred Florez, Anestacio Marquez, Moses Rodriguez, Joe Ornales.

Jimmy Cabeluso, Frank Sedillo, Raul Acosta, John Tice, Bobby Manzell and Vicente Anoya.

Lobos Counting on Ability Of Four Bulldogs on Squad

(Special to the Advocate)

Four strapping big Artesia Bulldogs figure high in Dud DeGroot's football plans at the University of New Mexico this fall.

They are end Bobby Morgan, fullback A. L. Terpening, tackle James Briscoe and halfback Bill Morgan.

All four have indicated they'll be heading the university's direction come the first day of September and the Lobo coaching staff, from the head man right on down, are polishing up the "Ole Wellcome" mat for this quartet of Bulldogs and 38 other outstanding high school prospects.

The former jut-jawed Stanford all-American, who'll be starting his second season at the helm of Lobo football fortunes isn't used to losing.

And neither are his "kids," as he fondly terms the rugged, aggressive youngsters who'll be pulling on Cherry and Silver livery for the first time come September 1.

"Together I think we'll make somebody sit up and take notice," DeGroot says, "before boys like Morgans, A. L. Terpening and Jimmy Briscoe hang up those battle-scarred cleats for keeps."

"It'll take time," he adds, "and more hard work than any of us like to think about, but I'm convinced that we (the young bucks and the coaching staff) can play a heck of a batch of winning football, once we get ready."

DeGroot is dead set on throwing away the record books, letting the chips fall where they may, in using the next two seasons to find out—once and for all—if the "cream" of New Mexico's native football sons can step out and play winning football with the big boys in the Skyline conference.

"I know it's kids like these Artesia boys," DeGroot declares, "that will pull New Mexico out of the football doldrums. They're big, they're fast, they're rugged and most important of all they're got that desire to win."

"And they've had fine high school coaching from Jack Tinson and his capable staff of Cal Hall and Reese Smith," big Dud adds.

DeGroot is really chomping at the bit to get these young huskies under his wing and get started.

He faces the biggest rebuilding job in his career. Only a handful of returning lettermen—seven to be exact—were around to answer his spring practice call.

Seventy five per cent of a varsity squad that was able to win only two games in 10 starts last fall is departed. From the draft depleted ranks of 1950's far-from-sensational "B" and freshmen squads, he was able to muster another 17. That's the size of it.

But there's no gloom in the Lobo grid camp. "In fact, I'm more anxious to get at it," the good football doctor says, "than any other time in my 26 years of coaching."

Incidentally, that includes such exclusive posts as being headman of the professional Washington Redskins and Los Angeles Dons.

There's only one reason a coach is that eager. Why? He's got something cooking, although it may be a year or two away from greatness.

It's those young bucks that has the doctor in a lather.

"I didn't get to see Artesia in action last fall," DeGroot regrets, "but members of our staff watched the Bulldogs several times. And believe me—they were impressed."

"I hear there isn't a finer high school kicker anywhere than A. L.

REA Softball Team Cuts Volts But Still Shocks Miners 11-2

Red Goodwin, manager of the Artesia REA softball team, pulled the softball counterpart to the baseball stunt of leaving only the pitcher and catcher in the game when the electric co-op softballers played the U.S. Potash team in Carlsbad at 7 p. m., May 3.

The REA put only five players instead of the customary nine on the field, despite protests at the novelty by the potash crew.

Goodwin says he expects to follow this practice in other games unless the five-player team is barred by Carlsbad Recreation Association.

Altho only a quintet was used in disposing of the miners 11 to 2 in a fiveinning battle in which Don Heathington struck out 12 batters and Bill Hamm got a homer in the third with one on.

The victory was the third in four starts for the Artesia team, only "alien" crew in the Carlsbad loop. Artesia players were Pete Hatch, c; Don Heathington, p; with Dee Nutt, Clyde Bratcher, and Bill Hamm, doubling in brass for both infield and outfield chores.

Junior Baseball Makes Debut As Artesia Nine Plays Hobbs

Getting off to an early start, American Legion junior baseball starts in Artesia tomorrow, when the Artesia nine plays a team from Hobbs at 1 o'clock in the afternoon in Artesia Municipal Park.

Last year the junior season did not begin until after school was out, this year it is beginning a fortnight before students bid adieu to book learning for the term.

Clarence Kepple Post 41 of the American Legion, Fred Jacobs, commander, is again sponsoring the project. In prior years, the sponsor has been the 20-30 club. Last year the state tournament, won by Las Cruces, was held here. Carl C. Foster is chairman of assigned outright to Artesia from Roswell, April 28.

Vice President Frost said that Mike Rodriguez, pitcher, Otto Reyes, second baseman and Gil Rodriguez, outfielder, had been released; Ken Culey, outfielder, Abilene, is now on the Driller roster, along with Chick Neal, Roswell, native New Mexican, utility man.

Recent work at Artesia stadium has included putting down caliche at the entrance and on the parking area in a move designed to curb the dust nuisance.

This is the second ladies night since the baseball season opened here. Other was on Wednesday night, May 2, when the Roswell Rockets played here.

Announcement of ladies night was by Buster Mulcock, business manager and Paul L. Frost, one of the two vice presidents of Artesia Baseball Club, Inc.

Longhorn League office in Abilene yesterday announced these transaction on Driller players:

Diego C. Garcia, signed as free agent, April 20; John Alonso, conditional assignment from Lamesa, April 26; Rudy Lorona, outright assignment from Borger, April 30.

Orestes Vega, released outright, April 30; Lon Edwin Dunn, disabled indefinitely with sore arm, April 26; Julian Pressley, contract

Despite the gridiron-ish weather of Driller baseball games last week, it's getting to be the good old summer time as attested by the opening of the municipal swimming pool on Wednesday.

High school and junior high pupils use the pool. Boys and girls swim on alternate days.

Coach Ray Hall of the Hornets was teaching a score of junior high boys in a class at the pool on May 4. The pool will be open to the public from 4 to 6 p. m. on weekdays and from 1 to 6 p. m. on Saturdays, T. Stovall, high school principal said.

The school will use the pool September, weather permitting, well as this month, the principal made known. He added that importance of knowing how to swim was shown by the fact that drownings accounted for many casualties in amphibious landing.

Paul M. Kerley is supervisor of the pool for the 1951 season.

Rules Drafted For Junior High Pupils Swimming

Junior high boys and girls are permitted use of the pool located on the high school campus under conditions set forth by Don Riddle, junior high principal.

"The boys physical education classes are wanting to use part of their periods for swimming," Principal Riddle prefaces the rules.

"We are going to try it and how it works but there will be certain rules that must be followed."

"If you will cooperate with us we will try to let you have swimming. If it does not work satisfactorily we will discontinue it."

All boys and girls must report in the morning and at noon at junior high for roll call. They will be checked again at the pool.

Each boy or girl must have statement from parents showing the pupil has permission to swim.

Boys and girls not swimming must report to the pool and will be allowed to play basketball, practice throwing a ball.

Students will be excused at end of the period in time to go back to junior high for the class. If you loaf along the and are late, you will have to study hall instead of going to the pool.

Upon arriving at the junior high you are to remain outside of the bell rings. You must remain quiet.

Artesia Schools Excellent Record System Provides Perfect Guide and Eliminates All Slipshod Guesswork

There was a time when junior high and high school pupils were told "do this" and that was that. There was no explanation, no background. Enrollment was a routine process and the curricula was dish out like a jail sentence.

It was "you take this or else and remember anything you say may be used against you," sort of deal.

Indicative of the modern trend in education that treats the pupil as an individual instead of a part in a machine assembly line are bulletins on junior high and high school enrollment.

For the high school pupils are told in aim of high school study, the need of study, requirements, kinds of courses open, and given a complete outline of what to expect.

Basic Training

Preparation of this sort, orientates the youngster. No longer is he flung pell-mell into the strange world of education without any advance information.

If he is attentive to all this data, studies it, and adapts it to his needs, there seems to be little need for any student failing to make good in school.

It used to be that enrollment was all haphazard and slipshod. Not so with the system used by Artesia junior and senior high schools.

Sample Outline

A chart headed seventh and eighth grade enrollment, 1951-52, is contained in a late junior high bulletin.

Students are informed that seventh and eighth graders are required to take mathematics, English, social science, and physical education. Each student will have one study hall and may take one elective.

This category consists of arts and crafts, shop, music, band, and general science.

Participation in athletics is not left to the last minute of the new session.

"Boys who desire to compete in junior high athletics, check the following: football, basketball, spring sports."

Instead of waiting until the session begins next September, the main work of enrollment is cleared in advance, saving time, and eliminating confusion when the new term begins.

A student can glance at the outline and see what is required.

English, social science, mathematics, and physical education, all required, plus an elective.

These are the same for both junior high grades.

High School Enrollment

Stepping from junior high to high school is a major move in the part of a youth. It indicates, says the bulletin, a "sincere interest in education achievement and the consideration of subjects for the following four years will give the individual student basic preparation for life."

There is significance in this statement:

"Serious planning and consideration of plans of graduating should be considered by all high school students. Conferences with parents, homeroom teachers, classroom teachers, and with guidance counselor will assist each student and prevent many errors."

Three Standards

Basic requirements are prescribed by the New Mexico education board, North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, and the local school.

There are three methods of graduating from Artesia High School, vocational, academic, or a combination of these two. Under all three plans a student must take the prescribed courses at outlined by the New Mexico education department.

These courses are three years of English, two years of social science, which includes one year of American history, one year of mathematics, and one year of laboratory science.

Vocational Plan

Students who take the vocational setup are usually those who do not plan on attending college but do plan a definite occupation after they finish high school.

Approval of parents is a prerequisite of the student taking the vocational courses. The school recommends to all students for each to discuss with parents, teachers, or principal before making a decision.

In following the vocational course for graduation students may take the prescribed course of which are seven units of work and balance may be purely vocational.

Enrollment Suggestions

Adults could well follow the advice given students to "accept a plan and follow this plan." The advice given to students is in conjunction with studying graduation requirements, accepting a plan, then sticking to it all the way through high school.

Pupils are next admonished to talk over this plan with parents and teachers and reminded again to "follow this plan consistently."

Other suggestion:

Study the outlined curriculum card closely before deciding on your four year plan.

Enroll in the subject which interests you and leads to the profession or occupation for which you are preparing.

Physics, chemistry, and advanced mathematics should be studied by all students interested in engineering, pharmacy, medicine, radar electronics.

A course must have 10 students enrolled before the course can be regularly scheduled.

Graduation Requirements

English, three units, for college entrance, four units.

Social science, two units required, one of which must be American history, the other world history.

Mathematics, one unit, algebra and geometry recommended for those preparing for college work. University of New Mexico requires two units for entrance.

Laboratory science, one credit in biology, chemistry, or physics.

Those taking Spanish I must take Spanish II in order to apply Spanish toward graduation. Same applies to Latin.

Classes of Students

A student is classified at the beginning of the year and the same classification is used thruout the year for homeroom, office record, and school administration.

Thus, a pupil is a freshman until completing three units; sophomore, until winding up seven; and junior, until finishing 11 units.

Enrollment Items

No student is allowed to enroll in classes more than a year below his year of classification without permission from the principal.

Sixteen units are required to enroll for four solids unless special authorization is obtained from the principal.

Maximum credit any pupil may obtain in one year is five units. All average students are permitted to enroll for four solids and one club, two clubs with permission of the principal and recommendation of the club sponsor, one club on school time, one club outside of school.

Only pupils whose grades average a B or better for the prior semester may enroll for five solids.

General math is advised in lieu of algebra for students who made less than a C average in eighth grade arithmetic. A student who plans to take more math during high school or who expects to attend college should take algebra.

Students entering journalism should have a B average in English or three years of English.

Home economics is recommended for all ninth grade girls.

Physical education is required for all students two years out of three in high school. Students physically handicapped should have a statement from the family physician stating it is impossible for them to take physical education.

For college recommendation students must have an average of C or better in scholarship.

Curriculum

A list of subject is subdivided by grades, 9, 10, 11 and 12, and further divided by required academic, academic elective, extra curricular, vocational subjects, vocational electives, required vocational.

There are two listed under new subjects for the ninth and tenth grades, music harmony and appreciation, arts and crafts, safety driving, agriculture, algebra, general math, plane geometry, solid geometry, trigonometry, business math.

General science, citizenship, world history, biology, chemistry, typing, speech, world geography, American history, New Mexico history, physical education, business math, bookkeeping, shorthand, economics.

Retailing, international relations, chemistry, office practice, orchestra, band, choral, library, athletics, physical education.

Multiple Records

When it comes to keeping records the public schools can give the armed forces close competition. Use of these records is the basis of their value.

There are mimeographed two and three page bulletins on general enrollment suggestions and enrollment in high school, as the basic papers.

Next comes a card on "Student's Plan for High School Education." This card lists subjects to be filled in by grades, credit, shows requirements for graduation, asks "what college are you planning to attend?" and has the pupil put down his graduation method.

Enrollment card, besides showing the routine name, age, sex, mailing address, also has lines to be filled in showing church preference, if pupil is church member, if drive to school, school last attended, numbers of activity tickets, lock, and locker.

There are location and record card, and grade card, both printed and kept in loose-leaf books. These lists intelligence and achievement test and extra curricular records as well as the standard data.

Big as a newspaper page is another form listing names of student, and list of subjects. Over the list of subjects are captions Grades 9, 10, 11, 12 and Grades 7 and 8.

There is one line for each name. Kingpin of the whole record system is the cumulative record, a four page manila folder that summarizes all the information of other forms.

Exact Guide

Reverse side of the card contains a table on "suggested combination of studies" grouped under pre-law, teaching, ministry, retailing, healing arts, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, osteopathy, optometry, nursing.

Engineering, electrical, chemical, industrial, civil, mechanical, structural, stenographic and secretarial course, public accountant, bookkeeper, business, industrial preparatory.

This is sub-divided in each occupational class by grades 9, 10, 11, and 12, so the student, if he concentrates on this card, can tell some other newcomers might go for a picnic.

Unless one has time for an hour or two of driving, that's a tough one to answer, for that's one thing which is mighty scarce in these parts.

We suggested Clark's Lake, but that will soon be out of the question, for mosquito time is starting in.

In another year or two there will be picnic facilities at Artesia Municipal Park. But in the meantime it's nearly a case of having the picnic in the backyard or not at all.

Mr. Ralph Rogers, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, called us Thursday morning from Atoka with an s.o.s., informing us that someone has borrowed or misplaced the bottom of one of the unit's coffee makers at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The women will need it badly Saturday night, when they serve the banquet for the Eddy County Bar Association and guests.

Whoever has the coffee maker bottom is asked to take it to the Veterans Memorial Building.

The bone of contention that people talk about is often attached to their own jaws.—A. L. B.

Learn To Save

Time was when we drilled for oil, hit a gusher, and let it flow. Now, he said, he must teach children that nature's bounty is not inexhaustible and must be conserved, that there is a limit to the consumption of natural resources. He also gave an example out of his own life of how trees were "deadened" to make way for farm land and how he wished he had those trees today.

Method of Teaching

The superintendent said schools had turned away from the idea that only by teaching of Latin and algebra could discipline be instilled, that subjects with a purpose attained the same objective.

Turning to the old three "R's," he said, "We do teach it," and told how he answered one criticism claiming schools do not.

The case centered on a boy who was weak in common fractions. His employer asked the question on the teaching of the three R's. Examination of records showed the minimum of math and had only a "get by" grade in that subject.

Outlook For Schools

With income at the static point and the number of pupils increasing, the schools face a crisis. He said it would be necessary for schools to have larger classes instead of the preferred smaller units because the cost would be lower.

Smaller classes are better because more individual attention can be given the pupils, instruction can be more thorough.

Indicative of the growth of Artesia schools he said the commercial subjects division would have four times as many pupils next session as it had two year ago.

The superintendent was presented by Don Riddle, program chairman and junior high principal.

Flapjack Supper

Waldo Ports, a past president and chairman of the "Kids Day" flapjack supper and square dance to be staged June 5, made a booster talk on ticket sales, checked on issuance of tickets, made known there would be awards for the best attired cowboy and girl at the dance, and that the Lions club would have 20 members at the party.

Roswell Kiwanians will send a group here for an interclub program next Thursday, presenting Aubrey Gregg's lecture on "Saintly History of New Mexico." President Ralph L. O'Dell announced.

Invocation, opening the luncheon program, was by Justin Newman, immediate past president.

Champ—

"If every country would do this, we wouldn't have crippled sons," he said. "If we have war, take the men 55 years old and up and send them."

The champ added, "The little guy has a tough enough time to buy beans for his son and a little insurance, but Uncle Sam takes his share every week, so as to have jobs for crackpots from Washington and to throw champagne parties for them. And we are just helping them get ready to fight."

D. D. Archer of Artesia, vice president of the county association, will preside at the banquet as master of ceremonies.

Mike Rosenberg of Carlsbad is president.

Lewis Story Is Attending Mexico City College

Lewis W. Story of Artesia is in Mexico City, where he is attending Mexico City College, the only American-type liberal arts college in all of Latin America. Its international reputation has drawn students from four continents, with the largest representation coming from the United States.

One of the unique features of the institution is that it provides opportunity for North Americans to observe and study Latin American culture first hand while following a standard American college course.

Each term trips are scheduled for students to visit the many archeological ruins and historical sites near Mexico City. Supervised visits to museums and art galleries are a required part of certain courses as are tours to Mexican factories, industrial plants, and silver mines.

The college is a leader in strengthening hemispheric understanding and good will and renders an outstanding service in international relations by fostering better mutual understanding between Mexico and the U.S.

Although most of the courses except foreign languages are conducted in English, practically all of the students at the college become fluent in Spanish, as most of them live in Mexican homes suggested by the school's housing service and thus practice the language and absorb the customs of the country.

Story attended the University of Denver, where he received his bachelor of music degree, and the University of Colorado, before entering Mexico City College, where he is a graduate student in anthropology.

Some of our friends look at us as though they think a fellow who never had sense enough to be anything but a writer, reported, and editor should toss that out the window to start peddling perfabrics, all-steel, quonset-type buildings.

Others, however, see the potentialities and feel that we are making a wise move.

W certainly do, or we would not have done it.

So in little more than a week we will start hitting the road and beating the bushes in Eddy and Chaves Counties, prevailing on the farmers that they need and the government wants them to have grain storage barns.

Of course, we'll stress that they should have Dura Bilt Stran Steel Quonsets, in which there isn't as much as a matchstick of wood.

Just for your information—although we hardly expect to see the boys lining up at our front door—we won't wind up our editorship until the end of next week, but we do have order blanks and some mighty interesting literature and figures. And we can deliver you a building of any size immediately. (Unpaid adv.)

Lewis Story Is Attending Mexico City College

Lewis W. Story of Artesia is in Mexico City, where he is attending Mexico City College, the only American-type liberal arts college in all of Latin America. Its international reputation has drawn students from four continents, with the largest representation coming from the United States.

One of the unique features of the institution is that it provides opportunity for North Americans to observe and study Latin American culture first hand while following a standard American college course.

Each term trips are scheduled for students to visit the many archeological ruins and historical sites near Mexico City. Supervised visits to museums and art galleries are a required part of certain courses as are tours to Mexican factories, industrial plants, and silver mines.

The college is a leader in strengthening hemispheric understanding and good will and renders an outstanding service in international relations by fostering better mutual understanding between Mexico and the U.S.

Although most of the courses except foreign languages are conducted in English, practically all of the students at the college become fluent in Spanish, as most of them live in Mexican homes suggested by the school's housing service and thus practice the language and absorb the customs of the country.

Story attended the University of Denver, where he received his bachelor of music degree, and the University of Colorado, before entering Mexico City College, where he is a graduate student in anthropology.

Smart Buy's Buick

NOBODY wonders what you're driving when you roll by in this one.

In the 1951 line-up, its brand-new front-end styling stands out with a beauty all its own.

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

But you—at the wheel—enjoy a long list of differences that go far deeper than looks.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflow Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurable from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

In this space last week, I mentioned the tacky party and dance to be held Saturday, May 26th, and mentioned that some members I know should have a handicap. Because I wasn't sure of the libel laws, I wouldn't mention any names. By a very strange coincidence, I was asked who I had in mind by Tom Heflin, Jerry Losee, and Bill Siegenthaler. (If this isn't within the law, read next week's front page.)

Pleasant surprise: I found out that a very pretty young lady was the daughter of Fritz and Georgia Crawford. Her name is Georgia Anne. Like Yetta and me, the Crawfords must have married very young.

Home on the Range

By Will Robinson Concerning New Mexico From the situation that exists at the present time a plain story is read of the situation confronting New Mexico because of the drought which cuts down often to nothing the flow of many streams furnishing the supply for irrigation. The papers have carried almost daily stories about the shortage in the Rio Grande, which had its most sinister expression in the draining of El Vado Reservoir, and the resultant lowering of the Elephant Butte storage. Yesterday's estimate was that there will be not to exceed a crop-length of 25 per cent, the whole length of the stream, more than that in some sections. This will be countered by the drilling of many wells in the Mesilla and Mimbres Valleys. That will give some relief, but only a part of the total need. Such holes are costly, from $6000 to $8000, and the pumpage steadily costs more and more for machinery and labor. Clear across the state from north to south it is the same story of greatly reduced cropage, where anything grows at all. The pinto bean crops way down, disappearing in many usually productive sections, such as the western border of the Estancia Valley. Along this stretch hundreds of people have been starved out and have abandoned their little farms to find work in the railroad and government towns. There isn't a bushel of wheat waiting the later mowers in the great plains sector the whole length of the eastern border. Normally richly producing Roosevelt County will get nothing except by irrigation and a vast region will have nothing unless it is possible to cash in on the sorghum crops, kafir, milo, and so forth. The same thing is true of most of the Pecos slope, deBaca, Chaves and Roosevelt. Lea, depending largely on upon pumpage, is so far behind in its rainfall that that could scarcely catch up if the rain makers should be able to cut something loose. South Eddy County cannot expect more than 50 per cent of a normal crop of anything, even if there comes soon a stretch of rain to augment the flow of the Pecos River. Lots of wells are going in here but not enough to fill the soil bill. The project will do well if it chinks up to 25 per cent of the totals. The San Juan Valley is going to be short as to grain, and there won't be any fruit at all. North Plains, Curry, Harding, Union and Colfax are all but dried up and blown away. In many parts it is necessary to haul water long distances for cattle and sheep, some thousands of head of which have been shipped to grass. The government is keeping a tight rein on sales, too. There is little variation in the situation from Cloverdale to Moses and from Jal to Shiprock. Even if the expected dust period doesn't develop, it doesn't seem possible for New Mexico to pull out of the drought, grow any crops or carry the cattle that might have strength enough to eat the grass if there were any. Fruit of all kinds has been hit hard. Such normally dependable sectors as the Mesilla Valley, Otero, Eddy, and Chaves are practically skunked this year, as are San Juan, Fort Sumner, and the whole north part of the state. Of course some people consider it cricker to cover up the facts perhaps better to keep in touch in such a situation, but it were with what is going on climactically, and not to try to fool ourselves. New Mexico is certainly up against a hard deal in this year of our Lord 1951. This coming Sunday, May 13, is Mother's Day, and while the festival was born from the necessities of a dear old maid with a greenhouse full of carnations that she could not normally sell, it has a powerful appeal to all Americans and in fact to more or less of the whole world. All humanity loves and reveres its mothers, and is justified in showing it in the most positive way.

Almost wholly commercialized since its inaugural to help the aforesaid nice maiden lady out of a tight, the basic idea is justified from every possible angle. If you haven't done so already, get those flowers, that candy, a good book, and so forth on its way. Mother knows that is largely bolgona, but she loves it just the same, and it is more the thought than it is the cost just remember that. From present indications there is to be real continuity on the building of the four million dollar religious leadership camp at Glorieta, on Highway 85, a little over 10 miles of the way to Las Vegas. From present indications the structure, which will front more than two city blocks, will be completed in 1952, and will be open to the usage of the Baptists of the Southern wing sometime next year. Inasmuch as some seven million Baptists are back of the project, it is pretty sure to continue in popular usage for long years. Scholars estimate the Buddhist religion was born in the north of Hindustan between 500 and 600 B.C.

Water Hearing Report Given Committee

Detailed report on the flood control meeting held last week in Carlsbad, mentioned in another issue of the Artesia Advocate, was issued Saturday by Bob Spence, manager of Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

The report was contained in a letter to members of the conservation and flood control committee.

Chairman, J. L. Taylor; members, F. C. Hart, R. N. Schulte, A. F. Patterson, Eddie Spence.

The manager attended the public hearing held with the U.S. Engineers in Carlsbad on Wednesday.

With regard to the Los Esteros project, seven miles above Santa Fe, a Santa Rosa delegation was present and endorsed construction of a reservoir chiefly as a regional asset to Santa Rosa.

Bob Spence, president of the Carlsbad Irrigation District stated that Carlsbad district, because of lack of sufficient technical information, would not recommend construction of the new dam site for some time.

Spence also recommended a further study of the flood control valley of Lake McMillan and the salt water growth above it. He also stated that the Engineers cannot be familiar with this but requesting this information from the Engineers very shortly.

Los Esteros

The Bureau of Reclamation operated construction of Los Esteros appears at this time that this reservoir will not be constructed without further hearings.

Along the Dark Canyon way in the Pecos in Carlsbad the purpose of furnishing flood control protection for that city prove to be of direct concern to Artesia. According to Mr. Spence, U.S. Engineers, local residents would be required to pay $100 for the Dark Canyon project and $207,000 for the Pecos protection.

The question was brought up

State Press To Assemble In Santa Fe

Summer convention of the New Mexico Press Association will be held June 15-16 at La Fonda in Santa Fe.

Registration opens at 9 p. m. on Friday, June 15. Concluding the convention will be a dinner dance at 7 p. m. Saturday in the Santa Fe restaurant with President Murray Morgan of the Alamo News presiding.

Charles du Tant and Philip Higgins will be masters of ceremony at a gridiron program.

Guests of honor will be Gov. and Mrs. Edwin L. Mechem and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Tibbo Chavez. The lieutenant governor was in Artesia on April 26 to officially open the league baseball season.

The convention program includes an Associated Press breakfast, talks on weeklies, advertising. Featured speech will be that of Charles A. Guy, publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, "The Publisher and the Editorial Department."

by personnel of the Santa Fe Railway as to what local interests would foot the bill. The U.S. Engineers said simply "local interests", which might mean the city of Carlsbad or Eddy County.

Since the La Huerta bridge is to be raised and lengthened 150 feet, I feel that the county may get stuck with this. I will contact the County Commissioners and others to determine this question. Carlsbad city council endorsed the project, giving priority to the Dark Canyon flood protection.

The U.S. Wild Life Service made a plea for retention of certain minimum amounts of water in all reservoirs, as usual, which will probably be ignored in a pinch. This tragedy is typical of all such projects.

Flood protection for Pecos, Texas, as proposed in the Notice of Public Hearing seemed to receive general approval and does not affect our water reservoirs or rights in any way.

Africa is only nine miles from Europe.

Junior High "Baby" Class Best Students

The younger they are the smarter they are.

That seems to be the case in conjunction with the honor roll for the last six weeks period at Artesia Junior High in which the sixth grade pupils top the list with 37 eligible for the roll, as compared with 22 in the seventh grade, and 27 in the eighth.

Facing the field of 86 in the junior high "baby" class.

The list was published in a bulletin dated May 3, received by this newspaper on May 7.

To rate the honor roll a pupil must have a minimum of two A grades and nothing lower than a B.

And in case you didn't know it, the female is smarter than the male. While names ending in "ie" make exact tabulation difficult, it appears that 50 out of the 86 on the roll are girls.

This is divided

It's Checking And File Time For Pedagogues

Omen of the end of the current school session is the final check list that has been issued to teachers. It's the educational counterpart of the check list of a B-29 pilot.

The list starts with the space for name and date. Then comes the admonition.

"The following is to be completed before you receive your final pay check. I would like to have a conference with each teacher at that time." is the way it is shown in a bulletin issued at Artesia Junior High of which Don Riddle is principal.

Next comes a list of 15 things to be done. To be returned are all library books, with signature of librarian. The list of filings is long. It includes year's grade sheets, semester tests, grade book. Other chores:

First semester incompletes and all six-weeks incompletes on master grade sheets; all second semester grade on master grade sheet; janitorial request for summer; stacking of textbooks.

Filed with principal names of students who have fines, library book list, textbook fines; equipment and supply order; textbook order included in yearly report; Personality traits checked on cumulative folder and on the same folder file extracurricular records.

We'll Still Be Pitchin'

OVER THE YEARS we have spouted off about many things in this column and elsewhere in The Advocate. Some editorials have been ones of praise. In others we have landed hard on individuals. And in still others we have crusaded for things which we have believed we needed or things which needed to be done.

Soon someone else will take up where we leave off, as we step out of the newspaper business into another line of endeavor.

But we will continue to crusade for the things in which we believe and we will continue ever to pull for Artesia and North Eddy County and in civic and community advancements.

We feel we did our part in having the S-turn-dip eliminated on Highway 83 at the west edge of Artesia, as well as the replacement of the one-lane bridge over Eagle Draw on the same highway.

We have crusaded for the elimination of the sharp turns out that way between here and Hope. And we shall continue to crusade for that improvement.

We will continue to advocate tree-trimming campaigns from time to time. And other beautification moves will have our support.

The splendid street campaign which has been carried out should be continued, both as to building new blocks and repairing those which are becoming bad or wearing out. This we will continue to back.

And among the street improvements, we will do our bit to have Petty's Puddle at Fourth and Main Streets eliminated. This also has been one of our crusades and still will be.

The ramp at the airport should be paved, against such time as it again appears we may be in line for a commercial airline, as we have pointed out time after time.

We will continue to advocate that a fire truck be obtained for use in the rural areas, to be housed at the Artesia fire station and manned by members of the volunteer department.

The numbering of houses and the replacement of damaged and broken street markers have been among our program and will continue to be so.

We could go on and on enumerating things which we have proposed and fought for and for which we will continue to fight. But ere long we will have to go to it in another fashion, while someone else will express his thoughts in this column.

And we trust that he too will fight and fight hard for a new county, just as we would again were we to remain as editor of The Advocate.

When we get up from this typewriter for the last time a week hence, we will do so with the very best wishes for the Advocate—our pride and joy for 13 years—and for the Artesia community—our community for 13 years and the finest in the United States.—A.L.B.

We Need to Advertise

MOST OF US ARE A LITTLE RELUCTANT to boost our own business or to blow our own horn, so to speak. Yet the fact remains that we all need to advertise. We need to advise and to inform others about our business, its activities, what we are doing and what we hope to do.

Many large business concerns of our country do this in their institutional advertising. It needs to be done because the public may not know and if the public does know—it has a short memory.

Many in Artesia need to use some institutional advertising—they need to tell what they are doing for Artesia.

Many of them feel their work and efforts may not be appreciated but they perhaps do not care as long as they can go along. But sometimes they encounter various problems—problems which are the direct result of the public to realize just what they are doing now for their community.

As we have pointed out before it is the various businesses and the various payrolls which provide the prosperity we have in the community. This will continue just as long as these firms can continue to provide jobs and payrolls.

Some six years ago when we came to Artesia and purchased The Advocate, the plant had some five to six employees; it had a payroll of around $350 to $400 per week; it was a seven-column paper, consisting of 10 to 12 pages and it was published once a week.

Today The Advocate has some 17 employees; it has a payroll of over $1000 per week or over $50,000 per year; it has an eight-column paper which is published twice a week and which consists of 22 to 28 pages during one week.

The Advocate seeks and endeavors not only to give freely and generously of the only thing it has to sell insofar as the paper is concerned—white space—to all local movements, projects and undertakings, but it endeavors to give of its means to these movements.

It is vitally interested in the community and not only tries to publicize all worthy movements but even endorses these and backs these in its editorial columns.

It expects to continue its work along these lines and is only one of the many businesses in this community which helps to contribute to our growth, our development and our prosperity with the providing of jobs, its payroll and its contributions.—O.E.P.

Social Responsibilities

MOST OF US SEEK TO DODGE and avoid our social responsibilities—our civic duties and obligations.

Social responsibilities are always expensive—meaning they take our money, take our time, take us away from our business and now and then result in misunderstandings.

But surely we are beginning to learn that as citizens in a community we are going to have to accept the duties which our citizenship imposes on us.

More than five years ago we were urged as business and professional people to become interested in the biggest business in which we are engaged—governmental business.

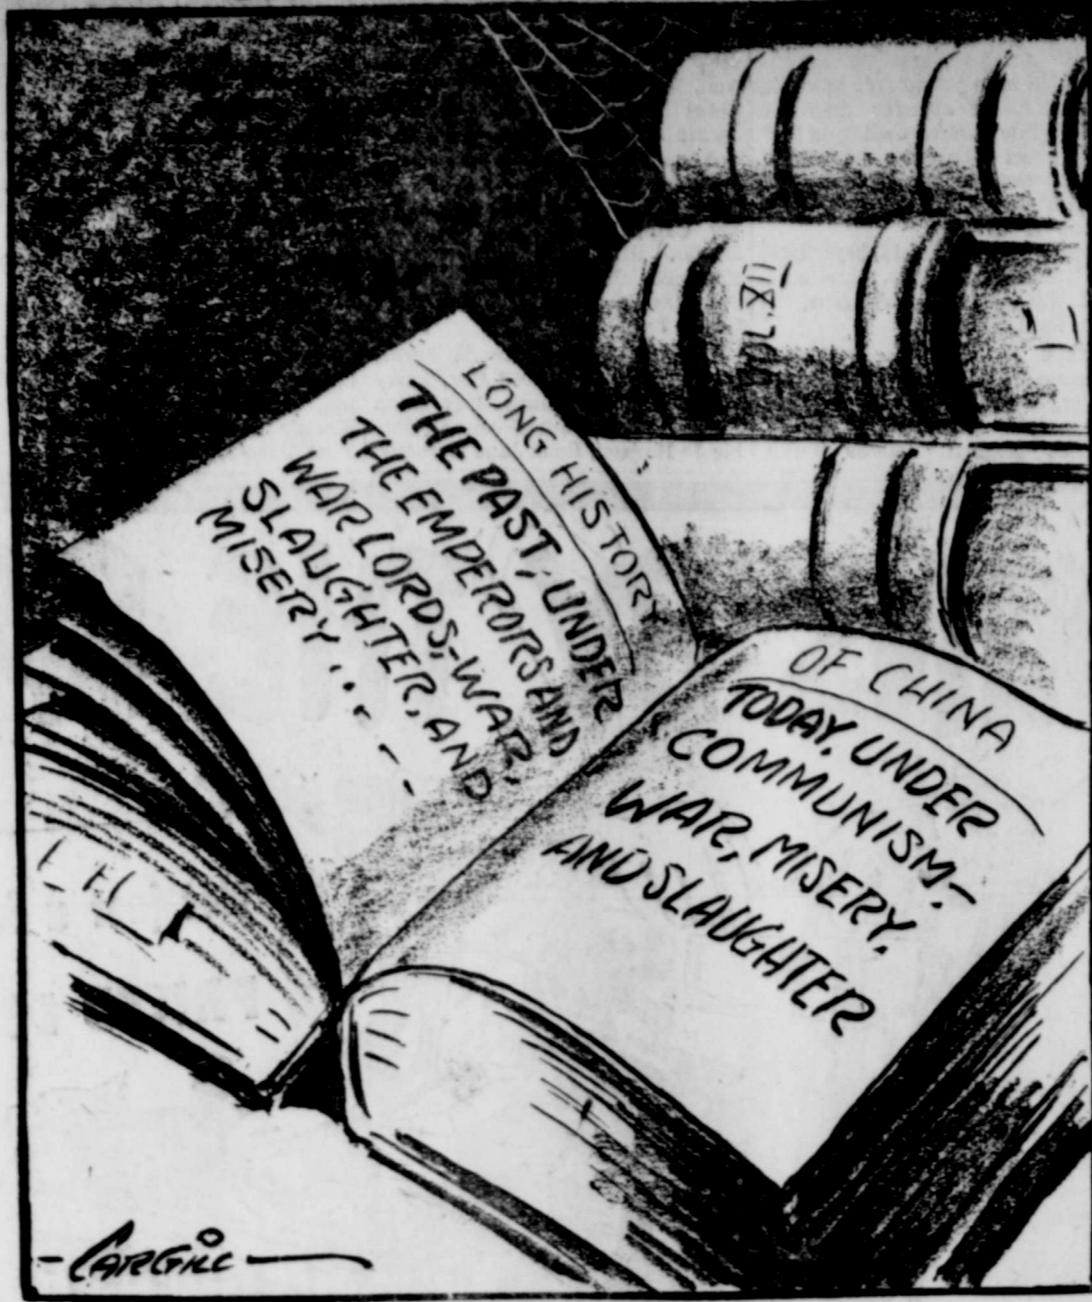

But there has been too much tendency on our part to want to mind our own business, carry on our own trade, do our own work and ignore civic responsibilities. We have learned that we can make less people angry, not become involved and make more money.

Our attitude is, "I can't become involved in politics because I am in business."

Yet that very attitude may let us enjoy more business but it also is costing us more taxes. There is considerable question as to whether the additional business is sufficient to pay the taxes.

But we are all pretty well aware by now that the professional politician has taken over our government, joined with the corrupt and crooked individual, the gambler and the racketeer and as a result our

What Other Editors Are Saying

WHERE THE BLAME BELONGS

Who do you blame for inflation? Ask a hundred people that question and you'll get a bewildering array of answers. Some blame manufacturers, on the theory that they are holding us up to a faretheewell. Some say that the retailer is the modern Jesse James, lacking only the horse and the sixshooter. Others pick labor, the farmer, and various groups as the goat.

This is a free country and we're all entitled to our opinions. But the fact is that the people most of us blame for inflation are among its victims. The manufacturer and the retailer, for instance, must operate in intense competition, and their profits, believe it or not, amount to a very small part of the consumer dollar. Labor and the farmer, like everyone else, may have been guilty of excesses—but they too are in tough daily contact with the high cost of living problem, and they naturally protect themselves as best they can.

Then, who is really to blame? A full answer to that would require a lot of big books. But an inkling of it is found in succinct form in one of Henry Hazlitt's recent Newsweek columns. Mr. Hazlitt dwelt with the government's past and current monetary policies, and at the end he wrote, "The inflation, in brief, has been government-created. And the alleged remedy of price-and-wage control... is completely spurious. If the volume of money and bank credit were prevented from expanding, price control would be unnecessary. But as long as money and bank credit are being substantially increased in relation to the volume of goods, price control will continue to be worse than futile; for its distortions and disrupts production at the same time as it destroys economic freedom." There is the gist of it. The real underminer of the dollar is the U. S. Treasury and those who make Treasury policy. So, the next time you get annoyed government is not the efficient, honest and economical government it should be.

We have gone along, winked at minor violations, permitted law enforcement to become lax and have a nation today where law observance is becoming less and less.

This has happened because we have refused to accept our social responsibilities and because we have refused to recognize that public business is also our business.

To bring about the change we are going to have to change our attitude: take an interest; be willing to become involved; be willing to stand up and be counted for law enforcement, decency, honesty and efficiency in public affairs.

The acceptance of social responsibilities on the part of all citizens of our nation would have prevented what has occurred.—O.E.P.

PARKING METER ROW

The parking meter squabble between the federal government officials here and the city takes on a ridiculous aspect, particularly on the part of the federal folk.

The sarcastic chatter on the part of the federal people that they own the sidewalks alongside the post office and the federal building and, therefore, should not be bothered with parking meters constitutes, in effect, a demand for special privileges not afforded any other segment of our people.

We have never been enthusiastic about parking meters. We opposed their installation, until the last. But now that we have them federal officials should be no more immune from using them than city, county or state people.

It would appear offhand that the federal people want to park as they please. The city must enforce the traffic ordinances without favor.—Albuquerque Journal.

A SENSE OF COMMUNITY MIRROR OF WORLD OPINION

Personal freedom and rugged individualism are banners frequently waved to explain the meaning of democracy in the United States. Particularly in our attempts to interpret our way of life to visitors from other nations, we seize upon these slogans as the primary reasons for our strength.

Perhaps less glorification of individual freedom and more serious attention to our sense of community would make us better understood throughout the world.—Donald J. Shank in News Bulletin of the Institute of International Education.

Assignment

New Mexico

By G. Ward Fenley

Every New Mexico newspaper editor last week seemed preoccupied with some escapement motif.

They (and you and I also) are eternally trying to get away from reality—whether it be taxes, high cost of living, or old age.

Marcus Griffin of The Tucumcari American says that one of the best-dressed men in Tucum wears a girdle. Jack Sitton is wondering how many Cavern Citizens among the male sex will confess to draping themselves in a girdle.

But that middle-aged spread takes a back seat to the fear of old age—in New Mexico and the world over.

I saw this little poem in the Elliott Company's Powerfax:

"It's sad for a girl to reach the age
When men consider her charming;
But it's worse for a man to attain
The age
When girls consider him harmless."

So, in our frantic effort to escape old age, we gobble vitamins, swill Hadaeol, have our faces lifted, sport contact lenses, and eat Yogourt, blackstrap molasses, and wheat germ.

No soap. Old age and poor eyesight creep right up on us and there's little to be done about it.

The most noticeable thing about the state press last week was that had eyesight problem.

Karl Guthmann (Roy Record) admitted not only his ignorance but his age in apologizing to Dr. Robert Beaudette for not being able to spell "ophthalmologist."

Wrote Karl: "One more versed in his professions has come forward to advise advise that the affable doctor is in reality a ophthalmologist."

I kinda got the idea that The San Juan Valley Sun talked with tongue in cheek in speaking at length of a "bride" shower for Miss Myrtle Goff. Bride with reins on it for the man to wear was it?

'Twas good to catch Old Shep (Eddy County News) in a typo howler. He said Jewel Butler, loins just north of Silver City. Bad spot, Jewel.

While in that area, we noticed that The Silver City Press said that a Cliff school fire last Saturday night burned "about four years after it was discovered." My, how time does fly.

The Hot Springs Herald noted that a man was given a suspended sentence because he had "three chilluns" and a house not paid for.

Other charming "breaks" last week included: "Never overlook (for overlook, we suppose) liver if you want it to be tender"—Las Cruces Sun News; "Ethel Theel, fist vice president"—New Mexican; "For your mail dish of the meal"—also New Mexican; "The robber took his fillfold containing $90"—Albuquerque Journal; "Time for straw hats and a change in heargear"—Roswell Record; "Band clothes are stored in a clear-lined closet so there'll be no moths in uniforms or bugs in the playing next year"—Lovington Leader.

I heralding to the great American public that every communist is a liar (we admit that much) Bob Ingraham (Silver City Enterprise) said he never got to telling lies until he started to writing for the public's consumption. Well, I guess we are quite a health resort state.

And that's all this week except the yarn about two Scots who were playing golf under a broiling sun. One had a stroke and the other made him count it.

There are now no flies on San Jose, the ancient suburb of Carlsbad, or at least there shouldn't be many of the insects, for the fly control crew has just finished spraying 100 blocks in a two week period. Come to think about it, there aren't so very many flies visible being perched upon Carlsbad itself.

So far more than 300 persons have obtained reservations from the Gallup Chamber of Commerce for the district convention of Lions International at that city on May 27-29, and maybe that many more will come straggling along, trusting to luck for a place to lay their heads. You can always manage to get pretty good eats at Gallup, no matter what the occasion may be.

Twelve acres of duck marsh are ready for the honkers on the old Washington Ranch at Carlsbad. The State Game Department is in charge of the work with Engineer Charles Beran doing the bossing and the cussing.

Carlsbad should be and probably is aware that real honor is being paid the town this coming week end by the state convention of the Woodman Circle, the woman's annex to the Woodmen of the World, which was to start going this Thursday and continue for three days.

The grand banquet, dated for Friday night at the Crawford Hotel, has for its main inspiration the 60th anniversary of the Woodman Circle, one of the largest and best balanced of all insurance societies for women. There won't be any dull moments, and some features well worth seeing, such as work of the drill teams from Tu-

MacArthur May Testify On Wake Island Confab

Senate Ouster Plan May Be Lengthy

WASHINGTON—Gen. Douglas MacArthur is expected to undergo a sharp cross-examination as he testifies in the Senate investigation of his ouster as Far Eastern commander.

Several senators have indicated that they will question the general not only on his views for fighting the Korean war but also what secret reports he made and received from Washington.

One sure query will be whether MacArthur told President Truman at Wake Island that the Chinese Communists would not enter the war.

The hearings, which probably will last for several weeks, will provide Truman supporters with the first opportunity to quiz MacArthur personally. Heretofore, the general has made only one speech and hasn't even been subjected to a news conference.

Some sources have reached this conclusion as a result of President Truman's creation of a scientific advisory board composed of leading scientists and A-bomb specialists.

Two of the new board's members played strategic roles in development of the atomic bomb and the impression is that the United States is marshalling the best brains in the nation to insure success for its ambitious projects.

Top secrets upon which the board will work include advanced nuclear fission projects, such as the much talked about hydrogen bomb which scientists say can be triggered only by a small atomic blast.

The two A-bomb veterans on the panel are Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, now director and professor of physics at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., and Dr. James H. Conant, president of Harvard university. Top question of the day is: Will fission of the top brains in the nation result in a hydrogen-atom blast?

WOMEN WORKERS—The census bureau says the number of women employed outside the home skyrocketed by half a million during the year ended last Feb. 1. Virtually all of the increase was non-farm work.

Carrying the study a few steps further, the United States Women's Bureau found that more than one million American women work in their own businesses, professions or trades, or for fees.

A total of 215,000 women operate farms of their own but the total of all self-employed female workers is less than 10 per cent of the feminine labor force.

In the teaching field, the National Education association reports that women as well as men average a 47.9-hour work-week, counting time spent in such community enterprises as Parent-Teacher meetings.

ATOMIC EFFECTS—Medical science soon may come up with methods to protect the public against burns, atomic or otherwise, and to provide improved treatment for such injuries.

This development would be the result of extensive research financed by the Navy department and undertaken by several medical schools in the United States.

The Navy is anxious to find better ways of treating flash burns of the victims of atomic blasts, in order to cut down possible casualties. The program is exploring all aspects of burns, including the chemical, physiological and biophysical aspects.

Hangar Flying

On Tuesday a large Douglas DC-23 aircraft owned by the national Harvester Company landed at Artesia, picking up the executive vice president of Harvester, two passengers and a crew of two.

Warren C. Goff flew to Las Cruces on business Tuesday and turned the same day. Ted DeMars was flown to Albuquerque last week. He was accompanied by Al Bell.

A. V. Swearingen was also flown from the airport roll this week having gone to Santa Fe to do the work for his Masonic 32 degree.

Bob Ehle started his instrument flying course Tuesday, instructed by H. P. Termain.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

WHEN W. C. Fields was the bright shining star of Ziegfeld Follies he often tested new sketches at a run-down, fourth-rate vaudeville house in Jersey City. If the patron laughed at his antics there, it was a safe bet that the act would score equally well on Broadway. By the same token, he discovered via this early version of the "sneak preview" technique what weak spots in his sketches needed bolstering, what aird stretches were in greatest need of a new laugh line.

After one try-out, Fields mingled with the audience to get some first-hand reactions. One that got under his skin came from a would-be George Jean Nathan with a whiskey breath. He snorted to the world at large, "Did you get a load of the palooka trying to imitate W. C. Fields? What a laugh!" Fields grabbed him by the arm and roared, "You paid a dime to get in and see five acts. That's two cents an act. For two cents do you expect to see a genius like W. C. Fields?"

Club Debates MacArthur and Bomb Issues

An impromptu program, set up by names drawn and topics assigned for debate, featured the weekly session of Artesia Kiwanis Club on Thursday of last week in the club's Cafeteria.

Members wrote their names on checks that were put on a numbered list of speakers. President Ralph L. O'Dell announced the question and designated affirmative and negative, and after talks canvassed the votes of the members for the winners.

Speeches were limited to two minutes. First debate topic was, "Should MacArthur Have Been Fired?" with Don Riddle affirmative and Walter Harrison, Roswell, and Kemp Lumber, negative. Company president, Lumber, said of Riddle's argument was that MacArthur was not obeying the "boss" and therefore should have been fired.

Harrison said MacArthur should have been fired "in the should" because he was one of the world's best military men, and "I think we will ever get a man who is as hard and one who knows as much" about the situation "as MacArthur."

World War III

Should we sue the A-bomb? was the other debate. Richard Swartz, had the affirmative, Tom Johnson the negative.

There is no use playing around, use playing tiddle-winks. This wind up in World War III show. Athletics has taught me when you come against a foe want to get the jump first."

Countering Johnson claimed that of the A-bomb would plunge back into the Dark Ages, would civilization, and put us on a blasphemy of seeming to "be blasphemous."

Johnson won the decision, was awarded a package of cigarettes by Newman, like Ports, a president.

Announcement was made that the would be in charge of the grams for the next three months.

Birth for members to sell for club's Kids Day Benefit, 6 in. Tuesday, June 5, in Presbyterian Parish Hall, were issued Ports, committee chairman.

Members are Paul Bray and Newman.

The program is for the benefit of the Artesia International Kids Day observed next November.

Ports said tickets to the benefit will sell at $1.50 for adults, $1 for children of school age. Ticket included a meal of flapjacks and bacon and admission to two square dances.

Other attractions will be picture shows and games.

Discussed was the idea of getting civic club members to attend also attendance from out of town, and to the fact that a southern Rural Electrification Administration conclave would be in Artesia on the same date and that from that session would attend the square dances.

Western costume was suggested for appropriate attire.

Attendance at the luncheon was low. Wickersham, Artesia manager of Kemp Lumber, was a guest.

CONCERNING NEW MEXICO

Sunday, April 22, was a great day for the Roman Catholics of Artesia and the oil area and it was a busy time for His Excellency Most Rev. Sidney M. Metzger, bishop of El Paso. In the afternoon, Bishop Metzger confirmed a class of 620 persons at Our Lady of Grace Church. In the forenoon he had confirmed a class of 32 persons at St. Anthony Church, making nearly 700 confirmees in all in a day.

A distinguished group of prelates supported Bishop Metzger. It isn't so many years ago that there was no Catholic Church east of the Pecos River. Plainly enough the ancient faith has grown with the population of the area.

Inasmuch as the area east of the mountains, and certainly of the Pecos, was not so long ago the location of one of the greatest Klux groups in America, population considered, the changed air is very apparent to all who know history.

Robert A. Young, who originated at Roswell and who finished collegiate work at the University of New Mexico and the A. & M. College at Las Cruces, became state conservationist on May 1, succeeding J. V. Taylor, who retires under the statute of limitations. Good strong men both ways, there is real reason for the nice things that are being said for both of the gentlemen all over the Southwest at this time.

Alvin Stevenson, the rip-snort-iest Lion at Elida, was chosen as the president of the sorority at the dinner last week. A perfectly robust group of supporters will also be seated at the same time. The really important ones will be coming on up at the same time, Herman Corbitt the tailwister and the new secretary, yet to be selected.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad is doing its damndest to stop service between Chama and Dulce, claiming that the passenger job is losing them 3000 a month. The State Corporation Commission will hear the railroaders sing on May 22. The railroad has already abandoned all of its passenger service in Colorado. It isn't so easy turning loose of the remaining 90 miles in New Mexico, though eventually they will be able to cut out the dead-horse passenger business.

On April 21, there were 2672 cases of measles in New Mexico. The total in 1950 on the same day was 510.

During the month of April, 22, stop and first baseman, who is 534 visitors went through the Carlsbad Caverns. The grotoes thus far have had a grand total of 4,693,341 peoples, which is a whole lot of folks. The looked-for five millionth person will be along probably shortly after the first of the year, or sooner.

True Honesty Is Spirit in Which Rotary Was Founded

True honesty is the spirit in which Rotary was founded, Bert Muncy, Jr., said Tuesday noon, when he spoke at the weekly luncheon of the Artesia Rotary Club.

Muncy read a speech which had been written by a man who was at that time nor a Rotarian, but which exemplified that Rotary spirit.

The speaker said that so long as anywhere there lives a man with such thoughts, there will be hopes for the world.

Muncy was introduced by A. R. Wood, a member of the program committee.

Girl Scout Notes

Troop 1 Patrol 1 discussed the project for next year. They plan to raise money by bake sales and giving Spanish programs for the civic clubs around Christmas. Patrol 2 spent the evening knitting.

Troop 4 held their business meeting, opened with the Brownie salute. Dues were then paid. They finished their Mother's Day gifts and their tea invitations. They practiced their program for their tea and dismissed with "Taps."

Troop 5: Three girls finished their outdoor badge by laying a trail for the troop to follow. Nancy Fowler is ill.

Troop 7 practiced their songs for their Mother's Day tea, which will be next Monday. They finished a lot of work they had started. The girls were served pop and candy bars and sang, "Goodnight Brownies."

Troop 8: Six scouts were present. They worked on their Mother's Day gifts, which were done with stencils.

Troop 10 worked on their campcraft badges, making a tin-can stove and reviewed the buddy burner. Mrs. John Clarke, Jr., demonstrated the use of the snake bite kit and other facts on first aid. Barbara Geiser served cookies and cold drinks.

Troop 11 held a cookout at the Girl Scout campsite. The girls cooked hamburgers on buddy burners. Mrs. John Frost went along to help with the cookout.

Troop 16 completed their Mother's Day gifts.

Troop 17 hostesses were Kay Allen, Lanette Wickersham and Sylvia Haile. They planned a treasure hunt, hiding the treats and having the girls find them. The troop played competitive games and sang, "Goodnight Brownies."

Troop 19 had a party at which they played games. The girls are to give a program for the Women's Society of the First Methodist Church Thursday in appreciation of their sponsors.

Troop 20 held a cookout Saturday, starting at 9:30 o'clock at the Girl Scout campsite. They played games and had a 1 o'clock dinner. Mrs. Jack Staggs, Mrs. T. C. Stromber, Mrs. K. A. Dampf, Mrs. G. C. Denton and Mrs. R. L. Cavin were in charge. This was the final meeting for this troop.

Troop 22: Leslie Frances served refreshments. An investiture ceremony was held for Anita Bell Page. The girls potted the plants they planted early in the spring and took them home.
