"OLD SOLDIERS NEVER DIE—!"

America Remembers Dead of Past Wars As Death Rides Again in New Conflict

There's many a spot of foreign soil that will forever be America. This nation will again call the roll of its heroic dead, pay fitting tribute to their memory, and realize the poignancy that life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness are not and never have been handed out on a silver platter.

While bugles sound in thousands of cemeteries across the land the jets roar over Korea where American are again dying in what could be called a third world conflict.

In this crucial hour of American history, Memorial Day, tomorrow, Wednesday, May 30, has a searing significance. That is expected to be the theme of the Memorial Day ceremony sponsored by Artesia veterans organizations.

They have dedicated the 1951 observance, to be conducted at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in Woodbine Cemetery, to the memory of Roderick and Melvin Warren, sons of Mrs. Leslie E. Warren.

Roderick died on Bataan in 1942; Melvin in the European Theater of Operations in 1944. Their bodies were not returned home for burial.

Instead of erecting a marker to their memory in the local cemetery, Mrs. Warren gave two wheel chairs and a hospital bed to the local American Legion post. This equipment has been put to use many times.

Bush Main Speaker
Don Bush, attorney, will make the featured address at the ceremony at which the invocation and benediction will be said by Rev. Fr. Stephen Bonoo, pastor of Our Lady of Grace Church.

There will be music by a male quartet, led by Vancil Lowery. Buglers will be Norvell Howell and Don Schulze.

As in the past graves of the veterans of all wars will be flower-decorated by members of the Legion auxiliary and J. W. Dingler, former sexton, will continue his custom of placing a small American flag on each grave.

Participating in the program will be the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and Battery C of the 697 Anti-Aircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion, of the New Mexico National Guard.

Follows Poppy Sale
The Memorial Day Ceremony comes four days after the annual poppy sale conducted by the auxiliary. In Artesia the poppies were sold in drug stores, by canvass of business place, and at Artesia Municipal Park.

Rehabilitation and child welfare are objects of the sale. These include purchase of writing paper, stamps, cigarettes, and similar work for patients in hospitals; children of needy veterans supplied with food, clothing, eye examinations, glasses, dental work.

History of Poppy
The poppy was adopted as the memorial flower of the American Legion in 1920, and in 1921, in Kansas City, Mo., at the first national convention the following resolution was adopted.

"Resolved: That the poppy be made the memorial flower of the American Legion Auxiliary and the wearing of it, by all citizens; and

"Resolved further, That its sale be promoted for the sole purpose of aiding in veterans relief work."

Soon other American veterans organizations followed the Legion and its Auxiliary in adopting the poppy as their memorial flower. It also became the memorial flower of the British Legion.

The first sale of poppies by American Legion and Auxiliary was in 1921.

These were of silk, made by widows and orphans in France.

In 1922 the first veteran-made American Legion poppy went on sale.

These were made in the hospitals of Minnesota and were of crepe paper, as this medium provided a maximum of work with a minimum of expenditure for materials. This is the same poppy design as the veterans use today.

Carlsbad Program
A majority of business places in Artesia are expected to be closed all day in observance of Memorial Day.

Down in Carlsbad, the county seat, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, national guard, have joined in the special services planned there.

Virgil O. McCollum will preside at the service in the cemetery. Principal address will be given by Rev. J. Melvin Ray and the benediction by Rev. Celestine Zietler.

Girl Scouts and Camp Fire Girls will sing "America." Boy Scouts give the pledge of allegiance to the flag; Rev. Clifford B. Thomas the invocation.

Mrs. F. W. Thacker of the V. F. W. auxiliary will read "General Logan's Order," which established Memorial Day as a holiday.

McCollum will make a brief tribute to the heroic dead.

Services Held Monday for Girls Killed in Car Accident Friday

Requiem Mass was said at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning in Our Lady of Grace Church for two teen age girls, Delma Hernandez, 13, and Rosa Garcia Yturalde, 14, who died as the result of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Friday night south of Artesia.

Rev. Fr. Stephen Bono, pastor of Our Lady of Grace, officiated. Burial was in San Marcos Cemetery.

The girls, according to A. B. Munsey, state police, who investigated the accident, were riding on the fenders of a 1950 Chevrolet two-door sedan.

Driving the car, he said, was Frank Dominguez, 18. Other passengers were Pete Sosa, 18, of Carlsbad; Chris Hernandez, 17, sister of Delma.

Delma was pronounced dead on arrival at Artesia General Hospital. Rosa died at 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning. The two girls were thrown from the car, as it attempted a turn after the car struck a bar ditch.

Preliminary hearing for Dominguez is set for 9 a. m., June 5 before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey.

Dominguez, charged with involuntary manslaughter, was released Monday on his own recognizance.

The complaint, dated May 22, and signed by Richard H. Robinson, assistant district attorney and Justice Josey alleges that Dominguez:

"Did unlawfully commit the crime of involuntary manslaughter in that he did while unlawfully carrying Rosa Garcia Yturalde and Delma Hernandez on the fenders of an automobile driven by him and throwing the said two girls from the automobile while driving without due caution and circumspection and this caused the deaths of the said two girls."

Coroner's Jury Report
Time of the accident was fixed in the coroner's report as between 10:50 p. m. and 11:50 p. m., May 25, five and one half miles south of the city limits in Precinct 6.

The report gives cause of the deaths of the two girls as "an avoidable accident by being thrown from a car driven by Frank Dominguez."

Jury members were G. Kelley Stout, Robert B. Durham, Guy A. Smith, E. T. Longacre, H. H. Allen, and D. D. Oglevie. The inquest began Saturday, May 26.

Tomorrow Last Day on 'Future' Contest Entries

The "Eyes to the Future" contest, sponsored by The Artesia Advocate, closes tomorrow at 5 p. m., which means that entries arriving in the Thursday morning mail must be post-marked before 5 o'clock Wednesday, May 30.

Although entries have been pouring into The Advocate office, there is still a chance to win the $15 dollar first prize, $7.50 second prize, $3 third prize, and $2.50 fourth prize. According to the judging committee, most of the lists have been almost complete, although a few of the faces on the page seem hard to place.

Also, entries have been forthcoming from all walks of life, here in Artesia; businessmen, secretaries and school students have submitted lists. It has been reported, however, that it is surprising how many of the new faces the old-timers have missed... and vice-versa.

Phone Company Offers Boost In Wage Scale

Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which the Artesia exchange is a part, today made an offer of wage increases ranging from $3 to $6 a week to employees, according to E. C. Phillips, New Mexico-El Paso manager. There are 1600 employees in New Mexico.

Phillips said that this offer was made after careful study and after negotiations with the Union representing Plant and Traffic employees in New Mexico.

He explained that the offer was in line with the company's long established policy of paying wages that compare favorably with wages paid by other employees in the communities served by the company, for jobs requiring comparable skill and experience.

Wage patterns have changed within the past year and the company believes these wage increases are justified by the new conditions. This new wage bill, of course, add to the cost of furnishing telephone service in New Mexico.

He said that the company must continue to pay fair and reasonable wages to employees if it is to be able to continue to maintain the quality of telephone service so vital to the civilian needs and Defense Program in a rapidly growing New Mexico.

That Hospital Issue

THE QUESTION OF the osteopathic physicians and surgeons practicing in the Artesia General hospital has come up again here, just as it is coming up over the entire state. In Artesia, the matter was brought up before the city council which voiced fear that a suit might be filed against the city by a patient who was denied the right to call their osteopathic physician or surgeon.

The matters was discussed pro and con by those present at the meeting. It, of course, has been discussed before. The practice being followed here is being followed for the most part over the state. Only those on the medical staffs of the hospitals are permitted to practice in the hospital and only MDs are members of the staffs.

The state law, according to an attorney general's ruling, handed down back on June 9, 1949 does provide there shall be no discrimination against the osteopath. There are, however, certain exceptions in that law and the ruling.

Attorney General Joe Martinez in that ruling pointed out that section 51-812 of the New Mexico 1941 compilation, pocket supplement, reads as follows:

"Osteopathic physicians shall observe and be subject to all state and municipal regulations relative to reporting births and deaths and all matters pertaining to the public health with equal rights and obligations as physicians of other schools of medicine and such reports shall be accepted by the officers of the departments to which same are made.

"Osteopathic physicians and surgeons licensed hereunder shall have the same general rights as physicians or surgeons of other schools of medicine with respect to the handling of cases and the rendering of medical services under the provisions of public health, welfare and assistance laws and regulations now or hereafter in force and no plan, program or other matter shall be approved by any state, district, county, city or town official which discriminate against osteopathic physicians and surgeons; provided, however, that this section shall not be construed to affect any plan, program or other matter concerning the operation or maintenance of any hospital or other institution owned, operated or maintained by any religious, industrial or fraternal group or organization, provided, however, if the presence of any osteopathic physician on the staff of any tax supported hospital will under federal law or regulation prevent such hospital from receiving any federal funds the governing authority of such hospital will have the power to remove all osteopathic physicians from the staff of such hospital. Osteopathic physicians and surgeons shall also have the right to register under the laws of the United States governing narcotics."

The question, which arises in so far as the Artesia hospital is concerned, is that of its operation by a religious group. The question would have to be determined as to whether it is operated and maintained entirely by the religious group or whether it is partly operated or partly maintained by the taxpayers—in this case the city. The hospital is definitely owned by the city—the taxpayers.

If it is determined it is operated and maintained by the present religious organization, apparently the exception would be provided and they would determine the method and who can practice in the hospital.

On the other hand, it appears if it is partly operated or maintained or partly maintained by the city, then it would come under this law and the osteopathic physician could not be discriminated against and could practice in the hospital.

The question will probably have to be determined in court. At the present time, four city-county hospitals built in the state with bond issued money and federal funds, contend they cannot permit the osteopathic physician to practice under the regulations they had to adopt. These hospitals are in Portales, Hobbs, Alamogordo and in Las Cruces.—O.E.P.

Newsprint Situation

WHEN THE NEWSPAPERS continued to contend for the past five years or after the close of World War II that the newsprint situation had never become normal, that it was still critical and that prices were too high, this was questioned.

Those not familiar with the newsprint problem were firmly convinced the papers had complained so much during the war they were still complaining.

But the newsprint situation is one of the first to become critical after the Korean situation developed. There was not only an immediate advance in price of from $6 to $10 per ton, but the shortage began to make its appearance.

There are papers in the state extremely short of newsprint and they are not sure where they are going to obtain paper. There has already been two papers announce a restriction on the amount of advertising which their regular advertisers can purchase.

There will probably be others forced to take this same step before the situation clears.

It is true, of course, the demand for newsprint has increased over the past five to 10 years. Not only are there more papers, but the papers have increased in size, taking more paper.

One of the big problems, of course, is the fact that the greater percent of newsprint has been shipped into this country from Canada and from Finland, Norway, Sweden and Denmark. Two large paper mills have been established in the United States, but they cannot meet the demand. The day may come when this can be done.

Until then, of course, the problem continues.

The Advocate is hopeful that it can and will be able to secure sufficient newsprint to continue its twice a week paper. We were assured of a supply when we inaugurated the twice a week paper.

But those promising us depend on mills to supply them and when their supply is not provided they face problems.

The newsprint situation is critical; the price has advanced; the paper is short. We managed fairly well during the war period and the years following that. We are hopeful that we can continue with sufficient newsprint for normal operation during the weeks and the months ahead.—O.E.P.

Always Good Test

ONE OF THE BEST tests which can always be applied to determine the truth or honesty of an individual or a group is to check and see what they want.

The goal we are seeking often times tells more about why we assume certain attitudes, do certain things or say certain things than anything else.

We believe this is true when we endeavor to decide who is telling

COMMENTS IN PASSING

As I have traveled throughout many American states these last 17 months and visited many churches, I could not help but raise a note of praise to God for the freedom of worship and the blessings in material things which this great land enjoys. As an observer of history I cannot help but associate the material blessing with the spiritual. Yes, indeed, "Righteousness exalted a nation" and who can deny that the country with the greatest liberty and expression of worship to Almighty God is the country which today is doing more for the needy nations and individuals of this world and generation that any other nation in history and that country is your country—America.

You truly ought to be proud of this and not forget the origin of such blessing . . .

When I came to America to preach, I was much impressed with the freedom of worship and the numerical strength of the worshippers in this great land of America . . .

Wherever I have gone in America I have found this same liberty of worship and who can dissociate the material greatness of America from its spiritual greatness? . . .

Let us not lose sight of the fact that at no time can the material potential for destruction outweigh spiritual and moral forces. The days are pregnant with great possibilities; now is our opportunity to arise to the greatness of our forefathers by remembering that their greatness was in their faith and humility before God . . .

Many have noted that it is not in times of prosperity that the greatest moral qualities of a people become apparent. As Kipling so well said, "It is not learning, grace nor gear, nor easy meat and drink, but the bitter pinch of want and fear which makes creation think." Perhaps the last lesson of all may be short and sharp.—William Cathcart, Australian evangelist, in Eugene (Ore.) Register.

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

Doris Lilly

NEW YORK—It had been some time since I heard from Doris Lilly, the pride of Santa Monica, and when I did it was only obliquely which is not bad but could be better. Any new star sapphires, is bound to be interesting, but Doris is so much more fascinating than any twinkle-tale and so much one of my favorite people that I was disappointed she didn't turn up this time person.

What did turn up, however, was the last thing in the world I expected—Doris' book, called How to Meet a Millionaire. This has been a standard topic of conversation in the cafe society set for several years now, and the routine went something like: "How's Doris' book coming?" "Did Doris ever get past Chapter One on that book?" "Yeah, you'll give me a book, dearie—about the time Doris Lilly's book comes out!"

In other words, everybody clucked sympathetically and told Doris how nice it was about her writing a book, but no one in his right mind ever believed she would. Doris, meanwhile, kept commuting back and forth between El Morocco and Europe, putting rajala to bed on the forehead and dating three men a day.

Originally, Doris was going to call it How to Meet and Marry a Millionaire, but since she hasn't married one and since her enthusiasm for them seems to have cooled a little since she discovered their occasional flaws, she apparently hedged a little on the title.

It is out on the bookstands, anyway, and is a funny and merry little book. One of the parts that intrigued me more than something was the one in which she explained how she became aware of the metropolitan menace, the cocktail party.

IT WAS EARLY IN DORIS' NEW YORK CAREER, and having tired of sports writers and night club comedians, she decided to expand her list of acquaintances (this was just prior to her onslaught against millionaires) by going to cocktail parties.

When she walked into the first one, it was, she says, the most horrible 50 seconds of her life. "I didn't know," she writes, "they had turned and stared at me like I was a worm," she writes. "They had precedence, they had arrived 10 minutes before I had!"

Finally she settled against a coffee table and began laughing at people's jokes and "looked at some new arrivals as if they were crumbs fallen from the loaf of life."

"Some old goat trotted up and started to talk to me," she says. "I didn't catch your name," he said. My face lit up like a Christmas tree, and I told him mine and he told me his. He asked me how long I'd been in New York.

"I wanted to be witty, catch the ear of some one of the attractive men I'd begun to notice. I was witty all right. 'Six months,' I snapped right back. Fred Allen couldn't have topped it."

Ultimately Doris and her roommate got to going to "almost all of the worthwhile cocktail parties if town," whatever those were. "Actually," she says, "I'd feel personally injured if there was a cocktail party that I wasn't invited to."

"I would get in early in the morning from a gay evening, and stay until it was cocktail time again, get up, go to the party and eat canapés for breakfast. I thought I was one of the beats of the party and that I was having a whale of a time."

DORIS DISCOVERED THAT THE HARDENED FEMALE cocktail party-goer "makes Ivan the Terrible look like Winnie the Pooh. It is so hard and tough. She always screams louder and longer than anyone in the room," Doris writes, "thinking it makes her distinguished (and she is, the distinguished eardrum-splitting champion of the Atlantic Seaboard).

"She runs up and makes a production out of greeting you, though she's seen you just the other day, with yowls of 'I waved to you at the Colony the other day. Did you see me? Did you go to the Smart party? Are you invited to the Moos' dinner?'"

Some of the characters at the parties are, in Doris' own delicate words, just amazing. "It's hard to believe," she says, but some of the girls that go to them are dirty—really grimy. There they are, in dresses, their make-up six feet deep, with another six feet of dirt under their fingernails.

"There was one particularly beautiful as a madonna, who would come in, stockings, coat on coat of powder on her face, her dress covered with spots, and sit on the sofa and smile continuously. There was a pool on to see who could catch her, not smiling! but no one ever caught her. She was filthy dirty and always smiling."

Caraway were hostesses at Mrs. Beyer's home.

Mrs. Dave Bunting was hostess to the Kongenial Kard Klub at the Woman's Club on Wednesday evening.

Dr. Morris Fishbein overheard a dialogue at the perfume counter of a shop near Radio City. The clerk told a dreamy-eyed debutante, "Here's a new aroma we call 'Perhaps.'"

"How much?" asked the debutante. "Thirty-five dollars for two ounces," said the clerk. "Nix," said the debutante. "For thirty-five dollars I want 'sure,' not 'perhaps.'"

Every business and industry is constantly seeking statistical information to assist in discovering new markets and new sales opportunities. Information of all kinds is desired, but none is more important than a comparison of meter installations of public utilities. Their use is fundamental and of direct practical value. For example, the retailer, manufacturer and distributor of electric refrigerators, washing machines and all other electric appliances especially seeks a growing market in which installations of electric meters show a consistent, year after year gain. Why? Simply because more new electric meters mean that more people will buy more electrical appliances. The same applies to those dealing in gas appliances—stoves, etc. Sales quotas and potentials are largely determined by the number of meters installed, and it is only a natural conclusion that a community showing steady and consistent increases in meter installations is a preferred market for all such related businesses.

Water meter and telephone installations are also important for they record the growth and progress of modern cities and towns. They are important along with population figures, bank deposits and bank clearings, building permits and other fundamental data that reveal the true facts regarding the prosperity of a community.

The utility story in Artesia is truly an amazing one. The above facts prove that Artesia is a consistently growing, healthy community offering unlimited opportunities to the retailer, distributor and manufacturer.

Easy on your hay... easy on you. That's the labor-saving way of baling with a home-owned ROTO-BALER.

Your ROTO-BALER rolls up the hay, without pounding or shattering. High protein green leaves are sealed inside the weather-resistant bales... safe from shattering... safe from the weather. Rolled bales cannot buckle. They stand rough handling in hauling, storing or shipping. Best of all is the satisfaction of seeing livestock lick up every leaf and fine stem from rolled bales.

Drillers Put Lasso Thrice Over Colts

The Drillers sister New Mexican team, the Roswell Rockets, will come to Artesia for a two-game series tomorrow and Thursday night, following the Drillers pair of games with the Rockets on the diamond in the Chaves county capital, last of the pair will be there tonight.

Horatio Alger team of the Longhorn League, the Drillers moved from fame to feast this week end with three straight wins over the prancing San Angelo Colts.

The Drillers walloped the invaders from Tom Greene county 10 to 1 on Sunday night, right on the heels of capturing a doubleheader, 9 to 4 and 12 to 11 on Saturday night.

Melvin Miller, 18 year old rookie, went the whole seven-inning route in the opener, allowing only five hits, and equaling the two opposition hurlers, Clarence Tinkler and Indio Beltran in strikeouts. Each got a couple.

The miraculous ninth of early season fame switched to be the smashing seventh in the second contest.

Going into the bottom half of the seventh the Drillers were trailing 4 to 11. Then the Drillers collected six singles and a double.

With a runner on first and second, two out, and the count three and two, Lupe Lopez singled, bringing in Paul Bonano and Rudy Lorano and tying the score.

Ab Fleitas, consistent and dependable as always, peppery first baseman, was the next batter. He singled scoring Lopez.

There was a fracas at the games end as a San Angelo player vigorously protested the close play at the plate. The Colt was so angry at the decision he had to be held back by four players, before order was restored.

The Drillers opened the week end with a 10 to 8 victory over the Odessa Oilers on Friday night. They had lost the night before, Odessa the winner, 10 to 7.

Amarillo Writer Praises Lorona

Pitching of Rudy Lorona of the Artesia Drillers draws plaudits from Harry Gilstrap, sports editor of the Amarillo Daily News: In his column, "Between You and Me," he says:

The manner in which Rudy Lorona, formerly of Abilene and Borger, chopped off San Angelo's 19-game winning streak in the Longhorn League recently might indicate to West Texas-New Mexico League fans that the Longhorn hardly dates Class C ranking.

Lorona, peddled to eighth-place Artesia by second-division Borger, pitched a nine-inning no-hitter, 6-0, against mighty San Angelo, though he walked nine in the process.

Before that, though he had lost his first two starts in the Longhorn.

Longhorn League supporters also could point to the present batting averages, in their company, of several former WT-NM notables, like these:

Bob Crues, 321, Jim Prince 290, Earl Harriman 261, Bill Scopetone 254, Ken Peacock 245, Hayden Greer 242.

Just the same, it doesn't figure that a league whose player rule prescribes no less than three rookies and no more than five veterans, as does the Longhorn, could be as tough as one which permits 10 veterans and requires only two rookies, as does the WT-NM.

Artesia Riflemen Organizing Club

Formation of a rifle and pistol club, to be affiliated with the National Rifle Association, is the aim of a score of local sportsmen.

Sam Henderson is temporary chairman and Rev. S. M. Morgan, secretary-treasurer of the tentative organization.

The movement started a month ago with Leo C. Bishop, radio shop owner, as the initial enthusiast.

Artesia Cadet Wins Company Softball Letter

Cadet Dwight G. Hancox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy A. Hancox, 1304 Yucca St., Artesia, has been awarded a company softball letter at Wentworth Military Academy, Lexington, Mo.

Capt. Karl Berninger, director of athletics, said the letter award was approved by the athletic council following recommendations by the coaching staff of the company teams.

Hancox was a member of the Company "A" team this spring and he represented his company

City Ad Signs Suggested at CC Gathering

A sign designating the main business district and signs at city limits advertising to newcomers the advantages of Artesia were among suggestions made at the last membership meeting of Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

These suggestions came from Milford Estill and G. Taylor Cole. Elwood Kaiser proposed that a sign be painted on the cotton compress tower.

Civic affairs committee invited Estill to attend its next session. Kaiser, safety committee chairman, received a suggestion from John Mathis Sr. that a stop light be installed at Main and Thirteenth.

The organization gave a nod to the motion made by Emery Carper, seconded by Aub Fairey, that the statg highway department be asked in most of its games in intramural competition.

HADACOL HELPS LEE AND MARILYN SUE

HADACOL Helps Children with Weak, Run-Down Conditions When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

Young Lee Horton and Marilyn Sue Scieszinski live many miles apart, but they both have one thing in common—they both take HADACOL. When Lee was not feeling as good as his father, F. W. Horton, thought he should feel, he gave Lee HADACOL. Lee, who lives at 108 74th Ave., Houston, Texas, took his HADACOL regularly and his father says he now feels real good.

Mrs. J. Scieszinski, Marilyn's mother, who lives at 514 Kruger, Ottumwa, Iowa, sees that her daughter takes her HADACOL each day, too, and Mrs. Scieszinski says Marilyn likes to take her HADACOL. Their stories will show you how you may be helped by HADACOL, if you are suffering a weak, run-down condition and poor appetite if due to a deficiency of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Mr. Horton says about Lee: "Lee was very weak and run-down and just didn't want to eat at all. We heard about HADACOL and decided that was what Lee needed. After he started taking HADACOL his appetite picked up right away. He started gaining weight and eats real well now, and has been feeling real good. HADACOL has been good for Lee and I heartily recommend it to everyone."

Mrs. Scieszinski says about Marilyn Sue: "My daughter, Marilyn Sue, is 5 years old, and for some time had a poor appetite, was generally run-down. Since giving her HADACOL, we have noticed wonderful results. She has a much better appetite, eats everything on the table, and doesn't seem tired like she used to. Incidentally, she likes to take her HADACOL, too."
