Roy Willingham, principal at Lazbuddie, said registration for students will be Thursday, August 17, in the school cafeteria.

Grades 9-12 will register 8:30 a.m.-12 noon and grades 6-8 will register 1-3 p.m. Any other student may register from 3-4 p.m., according to Willingham.

Any student new to the school system may pre-register prior to August 17 at the high school office; and after August 21, any student may go by the high school office to register.

Principal Willingham requested that all students bring their social security number to the registration.

Starting off the three day event will be the trail ride. Donald Harrison said the riders, which will include both mules and horses, will stop every couple hours, including a lunch stop, and arrive back in Muleshoe around 4 p.m. on Friday.

Friday evening, around 7 p.m., entertainment begins at the old airport. Included on the list will be variety acts by members of the Mule-Plex Production Co., other acts and The Anchor Brothers Band. There is no charge for the entertainment.

Bright and early Saturday morning, again at the old airport, the cheerleaders will be serving an omelet rodeo breakfast. There should be a lot of people on hand for the breakfast, so they can also watch the hot air balloons being aired up and prepared for flight.

Ten hot air balloons are expected to be in Muleshoe. At 8 a.m., the 5-K run starts, as usual at KMUL Radio Station's parking lot.

Back at the old airport, the Arts and Crafts Show starts at 8:30 a.m., and the turtle races will be held, along with stick-mule races for the youngsters.

Everybody loves a parade! And the Mule Days Parade will be following the old route, from the Boy Scout grounds, down

Main Street to Avenue B, one block west on B, then turn back south on South First Street. The 10 a.m. parade will also be before the temperatures get too hot for people to be able to enjoy the parade.

At noon, the Muleshoe Fire Department will be serving a barbecue lunch at the old airport. Tickets will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under the age of 12.

From the lunch, it will be to the Mule Rodeo, which will be held at the Muleshoe Roping Arena, approximately one-half mile east of Muleshoe on Highway 84, just west of the Muleshoe Livestock Auction Co.

Also at 2 p.m., again at the old airport, will be an Antique Car and Horse-Drawn Implement Show and Model Airplane Flying.

If you look up in the sky around 6 p.m., you will see the skydivers as they descend on the airport.

Rounding out the activities will be a calf fry and roast pork supper at 7:30 p.m. at the old airport. Tickets are again $5 for adults and $2.50 for children under the age of 12.

A dance with a live band will wind up all activities for Saturday. Admission will be $5 per person for the dance.

On Sunday, the annual Mule Show will be conducted by the Muleshoe Mule Skinners, at the Muleshoe Roping Arena.

You can look forward to a lot of fun, entertainment, and know at the same time, that any proceeds Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

A special meeting of the governing body of the Muleshoe Independent School District will be held today, Aug. 10, at 5:30 p.m. in the school administration building.

From 4:30-5:30 p.m., a reception will be held for teachers new to the district in the administration office.

Items on the agenda for the board meeting include a Budget Work Session, Vote on a proposed tax rate increase of more than three percent; and an executive session for personnel matters.

Brandon Richard Wilson, son of Barry and Sandra Wilson, has been awarded a one year $1,000 Clark Foundation scholarship by the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation. The Clark Foundation awarded 17 grants to students who have participated in the UIL Academic State Meet Contests and who have compiled an outstanding record of academic and extracurricular achievement.

Wilson, a 1989 graduate of Muleshoe High School, won first place in the 1989 UIL State Meet Lincoln-Douglas Debate and Persuasive Speaking contests; participated in UIL Number Sense contests; National Honor Society; Speech & Theatre President; All-Region Band.

He plans to attend Texas Tech University and major in Business Economics.

Marine Capt. Powell T. Calhoun, whose wife, Shannon, is the daughter of Mickey and Ann C. Sowder, Sudan, has completed the Amphibious Warfare Extension Course.

A 1976 graduate of Goliad High School, and a 1980 graduate of Texas A&M University, College Station, with a Bachelor of Science degree, he joined the Marine Corps in May 1980.

Congressman Rotary Speaker; Talks About Issues Facing Nation

Starting off on a very light tone, Congressman Larry Combest told Muleshoe Rotarians Tuesday at noon, "It's the first Rotary Club I ever attended with my picture on the newsletter." (There's a picture of a mule on the cover.)

Following this, Cong. Combest moved on to the food, especially praising the homemade rolls, likening them to some he remembered from his childhood in Memphis, TX. He also stopped on the way to the Rotary Club meeting to purchase some of Larry Winkler's homemade jerky beef. He is an admitted addict of Winkler's Jerky.

Then it was to more serious matters, such as what's going on in Washington these days.

He first addressed the hostage situation, which he terms "extremely frustrating," because of other hostages still being held. He says the concensus now is that probably Col. Higgins was executed as early as last February.

"No words are strong enough to describe these people," added Combest. "They are barbarians and inhuman. Right now, we're afraid retaliation may cause the loss of life of the other hostages. At least, right now, they have postponed the murder of hostage

Senator Bivins Makes First Visit After Special Session

Last Friday morning, Texas Senator Teel Bivins made his first official visit to Muleshoe after being elected to his position in the November General Elections.

Sen. Bivins met with a number of constituents at the Old Depot, hosted by Dr. Charles and Joan Lewis, who headed up his election campaign in Bailey County last year.

He touched on some of the high points of the legislative session, and special session just completed. "I really feel like the people in Sen. District 31 did not suffer too greatly," he said.

He cited work done on rural community health; the West Texas State University merger plans; the agriculture experiment grant for Texas Tech University and education especially.

"I really do love the work," said the Amarillo Republican. "It is the most challenging, most frustrating, and the most rewarding work I have ever done, and I want to thank you for allowing me to do the job."

He touches briefly on the current controversy about changing the Texas license plates and suggested a new name, purely on-que-in-check.

On a more serious plane, he said it was the first time in eight years, for the Legislature to merge from session without additional new taxes, adding that ten temporary taxes assessed in 1977 were allowed to expire.

In criminal justice, he added, "we've got a situation today in criminal justice that is a 'crisis.' When given the choice of two years 'hard time' or five years probation, criminals choose the 'hard time' because they know they will be back on the streets in weeks or just months. Incarceration is not a deterrent to crime in Texas, he added, due to the lack of prison beds.

The current legislature authorized some 20,000 new beds, an almost 50 percent increase over the current 50,000 prison beds.

Sen. Bivins said voters will be called upon to approve a bond issue to build the new prisons.

The Senator said the budget Cont. Page 6, Col. 2

Young Austrians Here On Study Exchange

Muleshoe was host to five young Austrians Monday, who are in the United States on a Rotary Study Exchange trip.

Specifically, they were welcomed in Muleshoe at the home of J.D. and Julie Cage, on what had been planned for a "Sand Hill Picnic" at the Cage Ranch south of Muleshoe. Due to cloudy, drizzly weather, with the sun just "peeping through" occasionally, it was decided to have the cook-out in the backyard of the Cage's temporary home.

The group was also welcomed by Muleshoe Rotary President Terry Hutto and his wife, Debbie; and the Cage children, Jay and Ali.

Also accompanying the Austrian group were Victoria Price,

Lubbock, who said she was serving as chauffeur for two nieces, Shanna and Andrea Veazey, both of Snyder.

Shanna just returned to the U.S. last Saturday from a six week trip to Austria, where she stayed in the home of one of the Austrian young people. Her sister Andrea, had made a Rotary Exchange trip to Austria two years ago. They each spent six weeks in the country.

Both Veazey girls said they were impressed most of all by the cleanliness of the country. "It was extremely clean," they chimed. "And, they had no insect problems. With no bugs there, they didn't even have

Far-Reaching Drought Effects Expected

A projection of effects of weather-related factors during 1989 on Texas crops and livestock indicates the impact to the Texas economy could top $3.5 billion.

This figure is the result of estimates compiled by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to emphasize the disaster that many Texas farmers and ranchers are facing as a result of unfavorable weather conditions, including drought, hail and floods.

"The impact of the drought and other related problems already is a grim reality in South and West Texas and throughout most of the state's wheat area," Carpenter said.

He said research indicates that the total economic impact on the production and agribusiness sectors of the state for each $1 of farm product sales is about $3.10.

"Therefore, the so-called domino effect of weather-related losses through rural towns and the urban centers will result in significant impacts to the entire state," Carpenter said.

He said the wheat loss situation primarily is the result of cold weather early in 1989. The corn, sorghum and cotton situation is mainly the result of drought and is focused in the western and southern part of Texas, although major hail damage has occurred in the South Plains.

Carpenter said the livestock analysis reflects added costs to producers of maintaining livestock during the drought above normal costs. This also is concentrated mostly in South and West Texas, he said.

Additional livestock production costs that are drought-related are projected at about $507 million.

Total crop loss projections are estimated at about $975 million.

The biggest loss is expected to be in the cotton crop with about $465 million estimated. The wheat loss is estimated to be about $350 million, while the sorghum crop loss is projected at around $80 million.

Loss estimated to the Texas corn crop is about $70 million and the unfavorable weather is expected to trim the rice crop by an estimated $15 million.

Carpenter said the total crop loss and livestock cost estimate to the producer is projected at $1.4 billion. The economic impact of projected crop and livestock losses is estimated at more than $3 billion, he said.

Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist, said all farm and ranch marketing cash receipts in 1988 totaled about $10.95 billion.

He said a marked increase in grain prices and a large cotton crop boosted crop sales substantially last year, while somewhat higher prices for cattle, broilers, wool, dairy and poultry marketings helped increase livestock sales.

The agricultural production system in Texas is estimated to have an economic impact of about $35 billion. The entire food and fiber production, processing and retail marketing chain has about twice that impact, Anderson said.

Carpenter said the economic situation for agriculture for the remainder of 1989 will depend on weather conditions where crops are still in various stages of production.

But for many producers in South, Southwest and Far West Texas where the drought has persisted severely for the past two years, it has already meant shattered dreams and devastation.

"The drought will worsen the rural crisis and its impact on Texas' people and towns. The agricultural industry's general health or problems will reach well beyond the farm and ranch gate," Carpenter said.

The report was coordinated by Dr. Chester Fehlis, state leader for county Extension programs, in cooperation with Dr. Roland Smith, Extension economist in agribusiness and marketing.

Creative Living

by Sheryl Borden

Information on decorating cakes and cupcakes and making your own soft luggage will be featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, August 15 at noon and on Saturday, August 19 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Zella Junkin, with Wilton Enterprises in Woodridge, IL, will show just how easy it is to decorate cakes and cupcakes—using some basic decorating tips. Kids will especially like these ideas and many are simple enough for even the novice decorator.

The flashback segment will feature making soft luggage. Soft luggage is lightweight to carry and easy to care for, and it's also easy to make at home. Susan Wright, the clothing specialist with the NM C.E.S., will show how easy it is to make your own soft luggage at home and save a lot of money, too.

On Tuesday, August 15 at 9:30 p.m. and repeated on Thursday, August 17 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on preparing boneless turkey, delicious dessert dishes, and recipes for main dish foods.

Boneless turkey is a delicious combination of both white and dark meat, and it proves to be the easiest way to enjoy turkey any time of the year. Sherleen Clausen is a home economist with Swift-Eckrich, Inc. in Oak Brook, IL and will show how to prepare boneless turkey, which can be prepared in the conventional oven, in the microwave oven, or even on the outdoor grill.

Boasting the use of the freshest ingredients available and baked with homemade goodness, the Pepper Patch Co. features an array of delicious dessert dishes. Dot Smith is the President and Founder of Pepper Patch in Franklin, TN and will show some of her delicacies.

The flashback segment will feature the author of a popular cookbook called Calf Fries to Caviar. Sue Vaughn is going to share some of her favorite recipes for main dish foods that are so easy to prepare and require very few ingredients.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 100 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, Co. Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on KENW-TV's toll-free telephone lines between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359 and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112.

1929 IMPROVEMENT OF MAIN STREET HAS ALREADY STARTED

If weather conditions hold good for a few more days it will be possible for automobiles and trucks to pass through Main Street without the aide of tractors in negotiating the mud holes.

Work started last Tuesday on this street and everything will be done to put it in first class condition. Trucks are hauling dirt from South of town to make fills, and drain ditches will be opened and culverts repaired.

It is hoped that now the good work is started that our streets will be maintained as they should be, thus saving the people many dollars of unnecessary expense.

1939 U.S. SLASHES COTTON PRICE TO GET RID OF SURPLUS

The United States has slashed export prices of cotton today under a one and half cents a pound government subsidy to meet foreign competition and regain world markets.

Agriculture Secretary Henry A. Wallace said the federal subsidy, which became effective Thursday of last week will enable American exports to meet prices of foreign cotton and reduce the 14,000,000 bale surplus.

Increased world production and lower foreign prices have reduced American exports to the lowest point in 57 years. The program is designed to increase exports from 3,400,000 bales this year to at least 6,000,000 bales.

Agricultural officials said the plan-one of several to regain farm markets abroad and increase consumption among low income groups at home-would cost between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 this fiscal year.

Joseph Cippio."

Congressman Combest said other nations need to realize the holding of American hostages will bear a price, and that price should include interest. We cannot allow it to go unnoticed, it cannot go unresponded to."

In speaking of the Savings and Loan 'Bailout' Congressman Combest said the bill has passed Congress. But he termed it a 'misnomer' that it is a Savings and Loan Bailout, as S&L's will not get a dime. All funds will go to customers who lost money.

New and stricter rules will govern Savings and Loans institutions, and he believes that many S&L's will be closed immediately. He said many others are on the 'teeter line' or the verge of being closed. Their survival will depend on the economy. He added that if S&L's don't have adequate funds to match dollar for dollar, we will have an economic panic.

He couldn't put a dollar figure on the long-term payoff, saying it depends on the economy for the next 15 years. "This is something that should have been done 10 years ago," he added.

Another big issue is the Catastrophic Health Program. "That program is catastrophic," he commented, adding that he voted against the program. "I have colleagues who voted for the program who are hunting cover now," he added. "The program is unfair, burdensome, and never before has Washington received so much mail about any program."

He asked people to keep putting the pressure on, by continuing to write their Congressmen and Senators to have the bill appealed.

He said he was told the bill would affect only the rich elderly. "From my mail, I find that I didn't know that everyone in my district was rich," he added.

From the Catastrophic Health Care, he moved to Section 89 of the 1986 Tax Bill, saying it was another disastrous bill. "He said the tax bill ultimately cause a lot of people to be without insurance help from their employers.

Combest discussed legislation against Flag Burning, saying wording will have to be very careful with wording, so the flag may not be desecrated by any means.

Touching briefly on minimum wage, Combest said he opposed raising the minimum wage at this time, as it would cost hundreds of thousands of jobs. However, he said he believed if an effort is made to compromise the raise asked for, it will get support.

When asked about lower wages for training youth to work, he said he believed in the training wages, instead of having to 'eliminate' jobs because of mandatory minimum wages.

In January, Cong. Combest said work will begin on the 1990 Farm Bill, and said it is expected to be similar to the current Farm Bill, but would include re-writing the Federal Crop Insurance program, as "Disaster programs will not be here forever."

He concluded with work being done to 'equalize' Medicare payments for urban and rural areas.

"Most problems in rural health are Medicare-related," he said.

Prior to the Congressman's talk, Rotary President Terry and factual financing proved the bond issue for prisons is well suited to the needs of the state.

He also discussed boot camp style shock-probation. Citing a successful program of this type in both Louisiana and Georgia, he said such a program could be administered by each county, as it works better when handled locally.

Young criminals are taught morals and ideals many are not receiving at home, he said, adding that 95 percent of Texas inmates are school drop-outs.

He also spoke strongly in favor of the new "No Pass, No Drive" law. It mandates that if a student drops out of school, he or she loses their driver's license. School attendance will become a powerful, motivating force for teenagers when they realize they will lose their license, he added.

Speaking of law enforcement, the Senator said he was for the so called "Al Capone Tax," which is levied on all criminal contraband, not just drugs. This law would allow large penalties to be assessed on controlled substances but expanded to allow law enforcement officials to seize personal property, but also real estate used in any class I or Class II crimes in Texas.

As for public education, Sen. Bivins said most school districts are being forced to increase local school taxes to pay for state-mandated raises and improve-

China, August 14, 1900

Earlier this summer events in China were daily headlines. This is nothing new; relations between China and the United States have often been strained this century.

Most Americans remember the dark day in the winter of 1950 when the news that the Chinese Army had attacked American and U.N. forces in North Korea reached this country.

U.N. and U.S. troops were badly outnumbered but they fought back fiercely and killed and wounded hundreds of thousands of Chinese during their desperate retreat back to South Korea. The forces fought on for three years before an armistice was concluded.

In 1949, when the communists took control of China, U.S. individuals and businesses were forced to flee the country in the thousands. Relations were icy until Richard Nixon began the thaw twenty years later.

The chancellor of the Japanese legation was killed by Chinese soldiers and the German ambassador was murdered in the streets of Peking. A quickly-assembled force of Marines and sailors from U.S. and other ships marched to the rescue, fighting its way to the Chinese capital. But that force was too small. The siege continued.

Finally, a major force was assembled, the backbone of it being the U.S. Marine contingent. Eighteen thousand strong, it marched and fought its way to Peking, relieving the besieged embassies and foreigners, and occupying the Chinese capital.

screens on their windows or doors."

Also, both said their most memorable experience was with Austrian food "Which was very good, especially the desserts." They cited in particular chocolates and ice cream.

The young Austrians, included Angelika Sery, Carolin Fehling, Jutta Grabner, Robert Bertolini and Clemens Euler-Rolle.

Actually, ten Austrians came to Texas last weekend, but half are in the Midland area, according to G. T. Patrick Murfee.

It has been a very busy time for the group since arriving in the U.S. None of them had ever visited the U.S. before, and during the 10 days they were in South Carolina, they found the area pretty, but very hot and humid.

TAES Field Day Focus On Tours

Ongoing efforts of scientists to improve the area's agricultural mainstay, cotton, will be presented at the 80th annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station on Tuesday, September 12.

Trailers will transport visitors along research sites at the High Plains Research Foundation. The facility is located 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Highway 70. Tours will be conducted from 1 to 4 p.m.

Enhancing cotton fiber quality is a major effort at the research facility, said Dr. John Gannaway, TAES cotton breeder. The development of F2 hybrids and glandless varieties will also be discussed on the tour.

Other cotton research areas include Ascochyta blight resistance and earliness. The public will also be able to view performance trials of the latest commercial varieties, strains and hybrids under development by TAES, Gannaway said.

Other stops on the tour will feature corn quality research, farming systems for weed control and multi-use irrigation planting systems. The field day will also feature displays of equipment, farm supplies and information booths.

The program is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the High Plains Research Foundation, the U.S. Department of Agriculture - Agricultural Research Service and the Texas Forest Service.

High School CTA Rep At Conference

Local teacher, Alice Liles, was one of some 600 participants who attended the annual Leadership Conference of the Texas Classroom Teachers Association on July 28-29 in Austin. TCTA State President Joan Brindley of Temple presided.

TCTA is a professional teachers' association with a membership exceeding 25,000 classroom teachers in over 75 percent of the school districts in Texas. Of the four teachers' organizations in the state, TCTA is the only one that is a non-union professional association and that does not accept administrator members so that it can more effectively represent teachers. TCTA headquarters are in the historic John Bremond House in Austin.

Monte Hasie, chairman of the State Board of Education, was the featured speaker at the conference. He addressed newly enacted legislation from the perspective of the SBOE, directing particular attention to the needs and concerns of teachers.

Teachers also attended informative programs on a variety of topics, featuring a comprehensive summary of the 71st Legislative Session that focused on the impact of new legislation on the teaching profession. Other topics included legal issues at the local level and effective working relationships with local school boards.

From there, it was to Michigan for 10 days. They enjoyed that state, and a countryside that was something more like they were accustomed to.

Each professed to be pleasantly surprised on arrival in Texas.

Robert said, "There's so much more room in Texas. Austria has more trees, and is 'rolling' country. You can see so far here."

From Texas, the group will spend tea days in Anchorage, Alaska; then three days each in San Francisco, New York and Washington, D.C. before returning to their homes in Austria.

Carolin and Angelika are both from Linz, with a population of 400,000 people. Carolin said she will soon be taking tests for the University where she hopes to be admitted to study media advertising.

At the age of 19, she said she would like to be a commercial artist, specializing in graphic arts, as used in advertising.

She commented, "I have had very good experiences here, and have stayed with very good families."

At 23, Angelika is in her fifth year in the university. She will complete her university work next year, studying Marketing and Organization.

"On the whole, I have had very good experiences here," she commented.

"It is a new experience to see flat country and learn a different way of life like people in Texas live," she added. "There's really good food in the U.S. In Austria, we have no Chinese food."

Angelika said four groups of young Austrians are currently in the U.S. There are 10 Austrians in New Mexico; 10 in Seattle, Wash. and 10 in South Dakota.

She said she was especially pleased that she was in the group to visit Texas.

The Austrians said only the German language is used in Austria - Old German. They also said the country is just about the size of South Carolina, commenting "Texas is SO big!!"

In their country, the average year round temperature is 70 degrees, although they do have mountains and snow in the winter. Their first snow is around December 1, and snow is expected to continue to the end of April of the following year.

Clemens talked about music, citing that Austria is famous for its classical music, talking about Mozart, Beethoven and Strauss among other internationally famous pianists and writers.

Jutta is from a very small town of approximately 1,000 people, and was very enthusiastic about her visit to the U.S.

"It's hard to realize the country is so large, and that the people are so very nice," she said.

She also talked about the three completely different states they had already visited.

Jutta had nothing but very favorable comments about the Rotary Study Exchange Program, calling it a "great" program.

She said she particularly enjoyed staying with American families, and how much she is learning about different ways of life.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-The good news for Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower last week was that Europe bought its first load of Texas "hormone-free" beef.

The bad news for him was that major Texas crop and stock producers are continuing their search for a candidate to oust him in the 1990 elections.

No candidate of significant name ID has surfaced yet, and Hightower can count last week's shipment of 40,000 pounds of meat to England as a feather in his hat.

If more shipments follow, enough anger may be appeased to get him out of the doghouse, at least in some groups.

Whether he deserves it, or whether the credit really goes to the new Bush Administration, Hightower, whom some call "The P.T. Barnum of the Texas Democratic Party," will score points off the sales, points he needs to appease a hostile Legislature.

Some Got Hot

Just a few months ago, Hightower royally angered Texas cattlemen by appearing to side with the European Economic Community's ban of U.S. beef fattened by hormones at stockyards.

The major groups, led by the Texas Farm Bureau, thought Hightower:

- 1) Undermined the feds' fight to defend their $145 million annual beef exports business,
- 2) Inaccurately portrayed the Texas beef industry as full of hormones, and
- 3) Played to voters, via his usual liberal pro-consumer tactics, at the expense of the Texas beef industry.

Not All Mad

Not every beef producer got mad. Apparently most Texas beef is raised without hormones, and if that's what Europe wants, then Texas can supply the product.

But leaders in many major farm and ranch groups were angry enough to write and make the water plenty hot for Hightower during the recent session.

Urban Cowboy

They wanted lawmakers to abolish his office, or, short of that, strip him from his agency.

They'll tell you he is not a farmer or rancher, but a radical ex-journalist who bought a hat and boots, and rode an urban cowboy image into statewide office.

Few dispute the radical tag, but his defenders point to his legislative experience in Washington, D.C., and his previous role as consumer activist, adding that "if you eat, you're involved in agriculture."

Voice Of Reason

Hightower was probably saved last session by a voice of reason and experience, House Agriculture and Livestock Committee chairman Dudley Harrison, D-Sanderson.

Harrison's credentials are long, wide, solid and tight. A conservative, he bears no particular love for Hightower, but he does love Texas agriculture, border to border.

Choosing Nursing Home May Create Trauma

You've known it was probably coming, but didn't want to think about it. The doctor has just told you that your loved one needs to be in a nursing home, and you have no idea what to look for or where to start.

The good news is that today there are excellent nursing homes to choose among all over Texas. Over the last several years, the quality of care has steadily improved and new, higher standards for nursing home care are coming into effect monthly.

Today's nursing home, also called a "long term care facility," is a place where the medically involved or very frail residents are encouraged to remain as active and independent as possible. Residents are involved in a wide variety of activities such as arts and crafts, board games and dominoes, exercise classes, educational and cultural events and religious services.

At the same time, the nursing home team includes professional and skilled individuals in the fields of nursing, medicine, social work, dietetics, pharmacy and others.

Because nursing home residents are among society's vulnerable, both the federal government and the State of Texas have set up strong and comprehensive systems of monitoring nursing homes and the quality of care delivered to the residents.

The Texas Department of Health, for example, (only one of several state agencies involved in monitoring nursing homes) makes 8,000 to 10,000 inspections a year--mostly unannounced--of the state's 1100 facilities.

Still, nursing homes are not all the same, and patients have different needs and circumstances, so it is important to shop around and choose what is most appropriate for your situation.

All nursing homes provide personal care and residential services including room, meals and planned activities. The levels of nursing, medical and therapy services vary considerably, however, and these should be carefully matched to individual needs.

Compared to hospital care, nursing home care is priced quite economically, but it can still be a financial strain on many families. In general, Medicare--the federal medical insurance program for the elderly--will cover the cost of nursing home care for only the sickest patients, and for a limited time only.

About 65 percent of the nursing home residents in Texas participate in another program--Medicaid--which is a combination state/federal program to assist low-income people of all ages. Not all nursing homes participate in the Medicare and Medicaid programs, so if you think the resident might qualify for one of these, be sure to inquire at all facilities you visit.

The requirements for both Medicare and Medicaid are complex, but fortunately every nursing home participating in these programs will be able to help you make these determinations.

But now comes the hard part: What to look for in choosing a nursing home. The following are some recommendations:

1. Talk to other people with experience with nursing homes, such as doctors, neighbors and friends with loved ones in nursing homes and hospital discharge workers. They can be helpful not only in telling you about their experiences with particular facilities, but also with helping you know what to realistically expect.

2. Consider location. Visits by family and friends are important to the residents, so the facility should be as convenient as possible to promote these visits.

3. Don't try to choose a facility without an on-site inspection. Ask for a tour. Is there a sociable feeling about the place? Do staff know the residents names and is there touching and warmth between staff and residents?

4. How does the facility smell? Because of the prevalence of incontinence in nursing homes, it is often impossible for it to smell like a home, but there should not be a predominance of strong odor.

5. How do the residents look? Don't expect them to look dressed for church, but they should not be wandering the halls without clean clothes on neatly. It is important that staff is helping them retain their dignity and self image by helping them with their personal care.

6. Is there considerable hustle and bustle going on? Too much silence in the middle of the day can be a bad sign. Also, lots of visitors is a good sign of a place where family, friends and volunteers are active.

7. Ask to see the activity calendar for the month and the menus. See if there are particular activities that would appeal to your loved one, or inquire whether these activities could be added.

8. Ask to eat a meal with the residents or at least observe mealtime to see if the food is appetizing. All nursing homes are required to offer alternatives if a resident does not like what is being served, or if the resident has special dietary needs.

9. Meet the Administrator of the facility and take as long as you want asking all the questions dumb or not--that you can think of. Let the administrator know what your concerns and worries are. It is important that you feel you will be able to talk to the administrator anytime you have a concern about the care your loved one is receiving.

10. Ask about the special needs of your loved one--physical or speech therapy, bladder training, personal needs, etc. Find out if the services needed are available. Also, the more the nursing and administrative staff knows about a resident's special habits, likes and dislikes, the better job they can do helping the resident.

The American Health Care Association publishes a consumer's guide to long term care, "Thinking about a Nursing Home," which may be helpful in choosing a facility. It can be obtained free of charge by writing to: AHCA, 1201 L Street N.W., Washington, D.C., 20005.

Texas Finally Reaches One 'Deathless Day'

Thirteen isn't always an unlucky number. According to early reports, June 13, 1989, was the first day without a Texas traffic death in more than a decade.

"It appears that Texas may have finally achieved a deathless day, and we're delighted to see it," announced George R. Gustafson, president of Texas Safety Association and a spokesperson for the Texas Coalition for Safer Belts. "Before June 13, the most recent day without a traffic death in Texas was January 5, 1977. I'd say we were long overdue."

However, Gustafson said the safety belt coalition would wait until the end of summer before declaring its "ONE DEATHLESS DAY" campaign an unqualified success.

"There is the possibility of late fatality reports being received," said David Wells, information officer at the Department of Public Safety.

According to DPS statistical procedures, anyone who dies of traffic-related injuries within 30 days after a wreck is counted as a fatality on the day the wreck occurred. The 30-day waiting period for June 13 has already passed, but Wells said there could be follow-up reports that the DPS hasn't received yet.

"In any case," said Gustafson, "we hope that we have reversed a trend this summer. Texas traffic deaths increased in calendar year 1988, the first such increase since 1984. We want those numbers to go down again in 1989."

To that end, the coalition spokesperson urged all motorists to continue driving carefully and to buckle up. "We still have a month remaining, and another holiday weekend, in the vacation season," he said.

The summer's deadliest day so far was June 3, with 21 fatalities reported. However, Gustafson noted that Texas had only 34 traffic deaths over the Independence Day weekend. Five additional holiday fatalities have been reported since the weekend concluded, for a preliminary total of 39. "This is far fewer than the 52 originally predicted by the DPS," Gustafson said.

Fourteen major Texas cities reported a fatality-free Independence Day weekend in the coalition-sponsored "Give Death A Holiday" promotion. They are Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, Bryan/College Station, Corpus Christi, Fort Worth, Larado, Lubbock, Midland, Tyler, Waco, and Wichita Falls.

PEST MANAGEMENT UPDATE
Parmer-Bailey Counties

MIKE D. BLANTON
Extension Agent-Entomology

CORN

Fall armyworms are still a major concern throughout the area. The pheromone trap near Muleshoe is averaging approximately 100 moths per night. Corn fields, especially food corn, should be scouted for this pest. If FAW's go undetected for only a few days the larvae will have entered the ear, thus escaping any chemical applied.

Southwestern corn borers have been very light this year. Pheromone traps throughout the region are catching about one-third of the moths they caught last year. Due to the low numbers of moths, the egg lay for second generation corn borers is very low. Some fields will escape treatment levels of borers altogether. Remember, control should be applied when 20 to 25 percent of the plants are infested with eggs or newly hatched larvae.

Spider mite populations in much of the area corn have crashed. Much of this is due to the high numbers of beneficials being found. A fungus, which we have had in years past, has also been reported infecting colonies of mites. If corn is denting before economic thresholds are reached, treatment may not be necessary.

GRAIN SORGHUM

Pests are now becoming more prevalent in grain sorghum. Greenbug colonies can now be found in most fields. Grain sorghum in the booting to heading stages have the largest populations of greenbugs at this time. For treatment levels refer to the chart below.

Due to the high levels of fall armyworms and corn earworms in the area, producers should be aware of possible headworm problems this year. Once grain sorghum has headed, and especially during the early grain filling stages, plants are susceptible to headworm damage. The best way to detect this pest is with the best bucket method.

Using several representative areas in a field, pick a number of randomly selected plants. Briskly beat the sorghum heads into a bucket and look through the contents for small larvae.

CORN

Some heavy infestations of bollworms have been reported in Bailey County; especially areas where corn isn't grown. Aphids are also being found in many area fields. Several of these fields are approaching high enough levels to consider a dual purpose insecticide to be timed for bollworm and aphid control.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Microwaving vegetables is easy and quick, but the procedure is different for canned and frozen vegetables.

Canned vegetables are quicker. Take two tablespoons of the liquid from a 16-ounce can of vegetables and put in a casserole. Cover and microwave on high for two or three minutes, stirring one time. That's it.

For frozen vegetables, first split the top with a knife, to prevent the buildup of steam. Microwave at high one half the time suggested on the package. Then take out the pouch and break up the vegetables by flexing back and forth.

Microwave again at high for as many minutes as it takes to get the vegetables good and hot, between two and five minutes depending on the vegetables.

High Summer Temperature Increases Lawn Water Use

This summer's record-breaking temperatures, which have frequently topped the 100-degree mark, have also increased the water demands of area landscapes. Homeowners are encouraged to pay special attention to the water needs of their grass, shrubs and trees during the remaining dry, hot days of summer.

Below average precipitation during the past nine months has resulted in very little moisture being stored in the soil for plant use during the heavy water use period of mid-summer. Most, if not all, of the stored moisture has been depleted, and the vegetation in your landscape is dependent on you to provide its total water needs.

If the South Plains area does not receive some large general rains in the next few weeks, plant water stress during the late summer and fall will reduce the amount of food the plants are able to store in their roots for next year's growth. Fruit-bearing trees will normally set only a small amount of fruit in the spring following an extended water stress period in late summer and fall. Also, above

Grover Gray Buried Here Tuesday Afternoon

Funeral services for Grover Cleburne Gray, 71, of Lubbock were held at 11 a.m. Tuesday, August 8 in Sanders Memorial Chapel with the Rev. Gene Wisdom, pastor of the United Methodist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Frank Oglesby, retired Methodist minister.

Burial was at 2 p.m. at Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Sanders Funeral Home. He died at 10:25 p.m. Saturday in South Park Medical Center following a brief illness.

Born in Idalou, he moved to Lubbock in 1967. He was a longtime Muleshoe resident and farmed in the Progress community. He married Elaineita Wakefield in 1941, in Clovis, N.M. He retired from the Texas Tech Building Maintenance Department in 1983.

Survivors include his wife; two daughters, Jeanne Williams of Amarillo and Kathy Hartsell of Ardmore, Okla.; a son, John of Lubbock; two sisters, Ethel Byrd of Clovis, N.M. and Thelma Byrd of Lubbock; two brothers, Jeff D. of Clovis, and John C. of Corona, Calif.; seven grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

average amounts of winter kill of grass, shrubs and trees generally follow periods of drought.

The High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 suggests that homeowners give the vegetation in their landscapes a heavy irrigation, then monitor the landscapes carefully throughout the remainder of the summer, applying water as needed to keep valuable plants in good health. However, if everyone follows this advice, some city water distribution systems may not be adequate to maintain a dependable water reserve for fire fighting. Therefore, you should check with your city's public utilities department to determine if an increase in water use would create a health or safety hazard. Please follow their advice if they suggest restricting your water use to an increase of only a small percent!

If moisture is available, most lawn grasses will use from 0.15 to 0.25 of an inch of water per day during the remainder of the summer, and trees will use more. The soil holds from two to three inches of moisture per foot. Grass roots extend down three or more feet. Shrub and tree roots extend down and out several feet from the trunks and therefore are capable of extracting water and plant nutrients from a large volume of soil. Water stored in the top four feet of soil for plant water use could be compared to building a large cash reserve in

Martel Le Veque Former Muleshoe Resident Dies

Funeral services for Martell LeVeque, 59, of Amarillo were held at 2 p.m. Sunday, August 6 in N.S. Griggs Pioneer Chapel with Msgr. Francis Meyer, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, officiating.

Additional services were held on Monday in Rich Funeral Chapel at Springfield, Colo.

Burial was in Springfield Cemetery. N.S. Griggs Funeral Directors were in charge of the local arrangements.

LeVeque died Thursday.

He was born in Pritchett, Colo., and had lived in Amarillo since 1972. In 1985, he retired as a loan officer for Production Credit Association. He served in the U.S. Navy during the Korean War and was a member of Friona Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include a son, Marc LeVeque of Amarillo; a daughter, Christi Kelly of Amarillo; his father, Wilber LeVeque of Sun City, Ariz.; and a grandchild.

your checking account at the bank. The moisture will be there when the plant needs it.

The Water District offers the following tips to assist homeowners with effective lawn watering during extreme mid-summer temperatures:

- The lawn should be watered when the turf begins to show signs of water stress. If the leaves roll up in the late afternoon or footprints remain in the grass after someone has walked upon it, the lawn is water-stressing and should be watered within 24 hours. Other water-stress symptoms include a grayish-green color to the turf and wilting.

- One to two inches of water applied to lawns each week wets the soil to a depth of three to six inches. After you have finished irrigating your lawn, the depth you have wet the soil can easily be determined by pushing a metal rod or wooden dowel into the soil until resistance is met. You should check several locations in your yard to make sure that you obtained an even distribution of water and that the rod or dowel was not stopped by a buried rock at the first location checked.

- Sprinklers which throw large water droplets are preferable to those that produce a fine spray mist because the larger droplets of water are less susceptible to wind drift and evaporation. Sprinklers should be placed to

Ola Harvey Local Man's Grandmother Dies

Funeral services for Ola Harvey, 98, of Littlefield were held at 2 p.m. Saturday, August 5 in Spade First Baptist Church with the Rev. James Brandon, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Littlefield Memorial Park under the direction of Hammons Funeral Home. She died at 5:30 p.m. Thursday in Lamb Health Care Center following a lengthy illness.

Born in Williamson County, she had lived in the Littlefield area since 1929. She married Howard Harvey on July 19, 1908, in Blackwell. He died in 1958. She was a housewife and a member of the Spade First Baptist Church.

Survivors include a son, Cal of Littlefield; two daughters, Lurlene Ray of Littlefield and Norma Wisocki of Amarillo; six grandchildren, including Glenn Harvey of Muleshoe; 17 great grandchildren; and 10 great great grandchildren.

avoid watering sidewalks, driveways and streets.

- The soil surrounding trees and shrubs should be watered to a depth of about 12 inches. A soaker hose, bubbler, or drip irrigation system slowly applies water on either side of the tree's outer branch spread, or drip line. A slow, deep irrigation helps prevent evaporation and runoff. Also, it lessens the chances that trees will develop the shallow root system that can break up driveways and sidewalks.

- Less frequent mowings, leaving the grass about one to three inches tall, will help lawns tolerate hot, dry weather. Closely mowed lawns allow higher soil evaporation rates since the soil is unprotected from the wind and sun.

- Fertilizer use should be reduced in the summer because it increases grass growth and water use. A slow release nitrogen fertilizer can help plants use less water.

- Organic mulches around flowers, vegetables and shrubs help reduce summer water evaporation losses.

For more information regarding the effective use of water in the lawn and garden, contact the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock, Texas 79405, or call (806) 762-0181.

NOTES, COMMENT

The trouble with vacations is that most of them end too soon.

Rarely does anyone take the trouble to thank anyone for anything.

Religion is one thing no one can take from you-if you have any.

Middle age is the time of life when you should watch your middle.

Hard work is not as tiring as incessantly thinking about your work.

Never try to imitate someone else; he may be doing the same thing.

Inflation is when you get your money and deflation is when you spend it.

Nothing speeds up work like the idea of getting through for a chance to take a rest.

The leaders in every community talk only when they have something to say.

You can recognize your friends by the fact that they sometimes have no favors to ask.

To get rich, amuse the people; to stand alone, know something; to be feared, be above reproach.

Telling others what is best for their own good is the world's least needed business.

Trading at home is a good policy; every dollar spend has a chance to come back to you.

Natural
An English tourist travelling in the North of Scotland, far away from anywhere, explained to one of the natives:

"Why, what do you do when any of you are ill? You can never get a doctor."

"Nae, sir," replied Sandy, "we've just to die a natural death."
