Ancient Roman Highways Could Rival Finest in Eddy County

Will the roads of North Eddy county be as substantial as those built by ancient Rome? The paved roads of today have a link with the past but before going into that let's review briefly some of the work of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce highway committee.

This unit met not long ago with a delegation from Hope and established a road policy for North Eddy for the year.

New highway construction shall be authorized until the existing highway system is improved. This ban on new construction applies only to the primary system.

Main projects approved by the committee are rebuilding of U. S. Highway 285 with elimination of some of the curves. State Road 83 between Artesia and Hope is also to be overhauled.

A two-year program on the farm-to-market road system has also been laid out in which the federal aid secondary system will participate.

Ask For Signs
Sometime after its initial meeting the committee was host to members of the state highway commission. The team inspected Artesia and the surrounding country, giving the once over to State Road 83 between Artesia and Hope.

The committee requested the commission to erect new directional signs for the potash field road, as recently reported in The Advocate.

The committee plans to meet with the state highway commission sometime this fall to discuss general road problems.

The committee has also been studying the problem of county aid towards maintenance of oil field roads, which at present have separate maintenance.

Another long range problem the committee took up is that of a better approach to Artesia from the north and south. U. S. Highway 285 at present traverses the industrial section of town.

Re-routing U. S. 285 along Second and Fourth streets would go a long way towards solving this problem, says the committee.

Network Outlined
Members of the committee who have been studying these problems are: J. W. Berry, chairman, former oil producer, president of Peoples State Bank; Wayne Paulin, funeral director and director of chamber of commerce; Ralph Hayes, Artesia Abstract Company; Harvey Yates, oil executive; Louie Burch, owner, Burch Petroleum.

The committee has been focusing its attention on U. S. 285 which runs from Buena Vista, Colo., to Sanderson, Texas, and State Road 83 which runs from the Texas border, 15 miles east of Lovington to two miles west of La Luz.

The road system of the Roman Empire was the most extensive and durable of the ancient world, according to an account in the International Teamster for July, 1951.

It was designed to knit the empire together through a highway system radiating from the Eternal City to the far reaches of the empire. The expression, "All roads lead to Rome," was no idle saying 2,000 years ago.

"The Romans built their great roads to last forever," says a French historian and authority on veritable monuments. "They were their unyielding solidity cannot be approximated by the most modern works of this type."

Highway system of the time was one of the wonders of ancient world and laid the basis for a system of communications still in use in parts of the Old World today.

The Roman highways were built from a military view point with the aim of holding fast to conquered territories. It was geared along political and strategic lines to serve the military and political

Officers of Two Social Agencies Talk to Rotary

MRS. BILLIE NICHOLSON

Executive secretary of New Mexico Society for Crippled Children, Inc., and the service extension director for the Salvation Army in New Mexico, Arizona, and Imperial Valley, were speakers at the regular weekly luncheon of Artesia Rotary Club, held at noon Tuesday in Masonic Temple.

The former was Mrs. Billie Vliet Nicholson from Albuquerque, the latter Capt. Jess M. King.

Mrs. Nicholson said the four major projects of the society were a cerebral palsy day school and monthly out-patient clinic; diagnostic and treatment center for epileptics; speech and hearing rehabilitation clinic in four state centers; and a summer camp for crippled children.

The society maintains a wheelchair and crutch bank that provides for the loan of these appliances.

All of this is provided through the annual Easter seal sale and contributions.

Rotarians have a special interest in the society since it began as an "offspring" of Rotary following a fatal accident.

Appearance of Captain King, who is from Phoenix, Ariz., was in Artesia to consult with the local service extension committee and to conduct the annual appeal for funds.

Captain King stated that the local committee, including E. B. Bullock, for over 30 years chairman; L. B. Feather, treasurer; and Harvey Yates, had completed a year of successful service to needy local people as well as the giving of emergent aid to transient indigent people.

"The beat of the Salvation Army drum, or the sound of the tambourine as Salvationists conduct their street-corner services are not heard often in many of the

Artesians Protest Four Budget Items

A quintet of Artesians, Mayor Oren C. Roberts, Howard Whitson, Artie McAnally, Howard Stroup, and R. A. Shugart, were among those attending the state hearing on the Eddy County budget in Carlsbad on Wednesday morning.

Tentative total budget asked by county commissioners was said to be $489,000, an increase of $50,000 over last year's $439,039 county budget.

Items questioned by Artesia taxpayers at the hearing included county assessor expense, court-house janitor's wages, relative allotment of fire protection expense to Artesia and Loving, and county treasurer expense.

Second Deputy
Another sheriff's deputy for Artesia is provided in the new county budget and the move has court approval, according to a story in the Carlsbad Current-Argus of July 18. The county seat newspaper quotes Sheriff Bill High as saying he hasn't decided yet who the new deputy will be.

The new budget also up the sheriff's expense item to $18,000 from last year's $16,000. No opposition to these or other sheriff's office budget items was registered at the morning session of the state

Farmers Quizzed On Hands Needed

A sequel to the Mexican farm hand sign-up conducted here July 14 when 438 were processed, is the issuance of 317 circular letters by the New Mexico Employment Service.

The letters were sent out to farmers who are prospective employers of Mexican labor. Replies are due by Aug. 1. Farmers who did not receive a copy of the letter are advised to get in touch with the service located at 224-225 Ward Building.

In the sign-up on July 14 there was an extension of contract for Mexican nationals already in the United States. Contracts were extended to Sept. 12 this year.

The letters sent out are in connection with additional hands needed after that date. It is estimated that the number in the sign-up will be far short of the total required.

Self-addressed envelopes were sent with the letters. Information (Continued on Page 6)

Motor Carriers Convene Tonight In Albuquerque

Five Artesians will be vitally interested in the proceedings at the meeting of the New Mexico Motor Carriers Association, which will hold their confab tonight at 7 o'clock in the Hotel El Fidel, Albuquerque, for they are members of the board of directors of the organization.

The meeting is scheduled to discuss final plans for the state's 1951 truck parade, and the time and place of next year's meeting.

This latter subject has created a lot of competition among various towns who have vied for the honor of being host to the convention.

Artesians on the board of directors are: K. J. Williams, K. J. Williams Trucking Company; Jim Ferguson, Jim Ferguson Trucking Company in the oil field haulers division.

A. H. Crosssett, Ferguson-Steele Motor Company; H. D. Hater, H. & B. Transport; George K. Lynch, Terry-Lynch Transport Company, in the petroleum transporters division.

Artesia Postal Receipts Show Gain of $2246

The Artesia Post Office took in $35,061.00 for the first six months of this year. This compares with $33,815.00 for the same period in 1950, and represents an increase of $2,246.00, according to A. J. Stuart, assistant postmaster.

First class mail cancellation totaled 414,000 for the second quarter of this year. This compares with 413,000 for the same period last year, an increase of 1,000.

In the first quarter the figures stood at 404,290 for 1951 and 404,312 for 1950. For the first quarter there was a decrease of 22 from 1950 to 1951.

Down at Carlsbad, Postmaster Ray Soladay said receipts for the first half of the year at the Carlsbad Post Office stood at $73,199.13. This compares with $65,746.00 for the same period in 1950 and represents an increase of 11.3 per cent over the 1950 figure.

Country Club Starts Building 100-Foot Long Swimming Pool

Marking another milestone in the history of Artesia Country Club, a sequel to the completion of its clubhouse, is the beginning of excavation for the new swimming pool.

The facility will be 100 feet long, and at its widest part measure 50 feet. One side will be straight with the other side and ends curved. Depth will range from two feet to 11½.

A wading pool, 10x20 feet, 18 inches deep, will adjoin the larger pool. Both places will be bordered by a five-foot concrete walk and grass terrace.

Location is west of the clubhouse and north of the new driveway. Plans call for landscaping with putting in of poplar trees on the west.

The pool will be of concrete construction and so made that all water can be utilized to the fullest. Overflow water will be drained directly to the tree ditches and other water drained will be pumped back into the regular water system for irrigation purposes.

There will be a heavy woven wire fence around the pool both as a safety measure and for cleanliness; lights for swimming at night; low and 10-foot diving boards along with other equipment to make the pool modern, and attractive.

Van Welch Originator
This new club facility will be the culmination of an idea that was proposed by Van Welch to several members of the club during a Sunday morning coffee session this past spring. These members and several others that were approached like the idea, and the project started rolling.

Most of the money has been pledged by these few members. (Continued on page 6)

Mary—and William—Still Grand Old Names for Artesia Boys, Girls

Soldier-Fiddler Also Champion Seller of Bonds

BOB WILLS

During the war an entertainer's popularity could be gauged on his ability and willingness to sell war bonds.

On both accounts Bob Wills has been accorded a perfect score.

Coming with his Texas Playboys to Artesia for a dance at 8 p. m. Aug. 3 in the Veterans Memorial Building, the handsome leader of one of America's foremost Western dance bands served nearly two years in the Army.

Bob Wills' bond-selling efforts were phenomenally successful. When newly discharged from the Army, he got out his bus, called his Texas Playboys, and threw himself into a state-wide drive in Oklahoma for the third war bond drive.

Result? His tour was accredited by officials as being largely responsible for the state's going a million and a half over its quota.

After coming to the West Coast, Bob Wills continued what patriotic work at the Alcazar Theatre in Bell, Calif., a single night's performance of Bob and the Texas Playboys grossed $158,000 in war bonds sold in place of admission tickets.

The dance here Aug. 3 is sponsored by the United Veterans for the benefit of their building and other funds. Harry Gilmore is chairman.

Prize Punkin
It's Bob's mellow, tantalizing violin music that has made him a favorite with dance enthusiasts.

But there's a horse called Punkin that played almost an equal part in putting Bob's name in lights as a stage and screen star.

Punkin is a natural actor. He has played at scores of big theatres and arenas throughout the country, always standing sedately in the wings until he hears the name "Bob Wills" announced.

Then one ear goes down, Punkin braces himself and WHAM—he makes a speedy, dramatic dash for the center of the stage.

"Only trouble I ever had with him," Bob recalls, "is when we parked him in a big dressing room that housed a drinking fountain. (Continued on page six)"

REA made one run, two hits, no errors, while Walker had a zero and three count.

The locals scored in the fifth inning when Graham got a three-bagger. There were two away. Then Shields got on first base by an error of the Walker first baseman, scoring Graham.

Driller Dugout Chatter

Well, Sports Fans, the boys are back home and we hope we'll have a good home stand. We play Odessa, Friday and Saturday, San Angelo Sunday and Monday. We go to Roswell Tuesday and Wednesday and then back home and play Roswell to finish the home stand.

The Hit and Run Club has a big campaign on for membership. Membership in this organization is a great thing. It supports our Drillers all the way and is doing everything in its power to keep professional baseball in Artesia.

You all know that pro baseball is great for our city. Of course the first year is really tough. Every town has financial difficulties the first year but with the help of ALL ARTESIA, professional baseball will be here to stay. Everyone should buy at least one membership in the Hit and Run Club. There are lots of people selling memberships now and they are only $1.50 each.

The Hit and Run Club is awarding a brand new 1951 Chevrolet Deluxe Sedan.

Home runs — Wayne Wallace, San Angelo, 20; sacrifice hits, Gene Perez, Artesia, 15; runs batted in, Cearley, Roswell, 86.

Game Bureau Give Advice On Good Fishing

If a rabbit hunter sat like most fishermen in one spot waiting for his quarry to come to him it would be a long time between rabbits.

Artesia anglers are given advice by the state game and fish department that "fish are where you find them and all kinds of spots must be tried until the right one is found."

The shoreline is a good place to start casting with perhaps a float-ing-casting lure, the movement of the bait depending upon the clarity of the water. If no fish are taken, the deeper water using a sinking bait might get results.

The heavier cover, like moss beds, weed patches or lily pads with a slow sinking lure might be next. Remember to give a varied action to your plug, a steady retrieve alternated with a jerky one and quick stops and starts. If the fish are far back in such a spot use a weedless lure.

Sunken logs, fallen trees, brush piles, patches of cover, rocky shorelines are all excellent places to work. Be sure you always approach quietly—don't let the big ones know you're calling or they won't answer the door.

Don't be a one-spot or a one-bait fisherman. Develop workable systems for different spots, for variety in fishing, as in most things, keeps it fresh and exciting.

Mama Antelope Knows Best How To Care for 'Baby'

Leave deer and antelope and other game "babies" where you find them.

The admonition of the state game and fish department last year was repeated again this month by Elliott S. Barker, state game warden.

"Ninety-nine times out of a hundred," says Barker, "the mother will re-possess them and she can take much better care of her children than any human can."

"These small animals usually die when penned and such well-meaning kindness is actually the worst thing that could happen to the little ones."

Miner Grad Takes New Mexico Aggie Coaching Position

Harvey Gabrel has been added to the coaching staff at New Mexico A. & M. College. Gabrel, who received his B.A. degree from Texas Western College in 1950, will have the rank of assistant football coach.

Gabrel was one of Texas Western's most outstanding football players. This is his first full-time coaching position.

Bliss Sergeant Gets Mention for Soldier's Medal

A Fort Bliss sergeant who saved two children from drowning in the Rio Grande River near here is being considered for recommendation for the Soldiers Medal. He is Sergeant First Class R. A. Grayson of Battery B, 2nd Training Battalion, Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Center.

The rescues took place on June 24. Sergeant Grayson dived into the river and rescued the first child, a girl six years old, when he noticed her head go under the surface and then come back up struggling.

When he had brought the little girl to the safety of the river bank, she mumbled that her sister was in the water and he then saw another girl, 12 years old, clinging to a small tree in the water.

Snatching up a rubber inner tube lying nearby, the Bliss man went into the swift river current again and pulled the second girl to safety while she held to the inner tube.

Sergeant Grayson returned the two children to their parents who, although only a short distance down the river, had been unaware of the near tragedy.

Western College Summer Session Sets New Record

New Mexico Western College, Silver City, has hit an all-time high for summer enrollment this year. Records reveal an increase in enrollment of 62.8 per cent over the 1950 summer session totals. A total of 728 graduate and undergraduate students are currently enrolled on the campus. The 1950 total was 447 at this time last year.

The graduate division has a one year increase of 21.7 per cent with 112 students this summer as compared with 92 last year. Five additional graduate students are on the campus working on their theses, but are not currently enrolled.

Several teachers are expected to enroll in various unit courses in the elementary curriculum workshop later in the term. Approximately 25 additional enrollments will take the driver training course in July.

Advance enrollment for the two post sessions in August is over 100. Several of these are enrolling for both sessions and many are enrolled during the regular term. Post sessions are to be of two week duration, running from July 30-Aug. 10 and Aug. 3-Aug. 24.

In the extension division there is an additional summer enrollment of 132, with 48 of these in off-campus classes and 84 taking correspondence work.

This one says You've Arrived

HERE pictured is an automobile that may well be the fulfillment of any man's dream of a fine motorcar.

For you've a right to expect, when you pay a fine-car price, that your money will buy more distinction, more comfort, more performance than are to be found in vehicles of lesser worth.

So mark well the things that a ROADMASTER offers.

No other car on the American scene has a prouder bearing.

No other automobile has more spacious dimensions, more luxurious comfort, or finer appointments.

No other car has a ride more serenely smooth on curve or straightaway, highway or byway.

And no other car, at ROADMASTER's price or above, has Dynaflo, and the supreme command of every traffic condition which it provides.

So you, at the wheel of Buick's biggest and best, have a right to feel distinguished.

But there's a joy of possession which goes deeper than visible things.

There's the feel of a power plant as brilliantly eager as this great car's valve-in-head Fireball Engine — and the satisfying companionship of a brawny traveler instantly responsive to your every wish.

And there's one thing more, which only ROADMASTER can give you in such generous measure. That is the pride of a wise investment, based on the fact that this car stands alone in price per pound, among fine cars similarly equipped.

So why not take that very important first step—and come in and see us soon?

roy and Mrs. Novella Byers, owners, announced this week. Mrs. Fauntleroy of Plainview, Texas, and Mrs. Byers of San Angelo, Texas, have owned the shop since early in June after buying out Mrs. George Ferriman and Mrs. Meryle Story. The location at 503 W. Main has been redecorated, using gray and yellow as the color scheme. Jo Margaret Gore, local amateur artist, adorned the light gray walls with dancing yellow animals. The back wall, facing the shop entrance, depicts the Jack and Jill nursery rhyme. Mrs. Byers and Mrs. Fauntleroy will install a "kiddie-choop" for toddlers and a table and chair set for children who visit the shop with their parents. Both features are new to Artesia shoppers and are designed to make shopping easier, the originators said. They, too, will follow the gray and yellow color-scheme. A formal opening and showing of the shop will be held at a later date which is being timed with the arrival of nationally advertised brands of children's wear, it was reported. Mrs. Bertie Kruegel, an experienced and competent saleslady, is employed at the shop. Reading glasses usually correct eyesight for seeing at about 15 inches. A million dollars in the old United States gold dollars weighs about 3687 pounds.

Farmers Quizzed—

asked is how many acres of cotton the farmer expects to harvest, number of workers wanted, and whether through Artesia Alfalfa Growers or Eddy County Farm and Livestock Bureau.

Signed by Carl C. Foster, manager, Artesia local office, Employment Security Commission, New Mexico Employment Service, the letter reads:

From all indications, at the present time, there will be an acute shortage of cotton pickers this fall. In the past, this worker shortage has been met through contracting of Mexican Nationals and in all probability this will prove to be the source of obtaining needed workers again this year. As you no doubt know, before workers can be contracted, certification must be made as to actual number needed.

Our certification for Mexican National worker needs will be based entirely on the number shown below, therefore, you are requested to give careful consideration to worker needs. When workers are contracted each grower will be expected to accept the number requested.

In the past, this certification has been on an estimated basis rather than on actual needs, therefore, we are enclosing a self-addressed envelope and urgently request that the information requested below be furnished as soon as possible.

communities of the vast New Mexico-Imperial Valley area that comprises the Border Division of our organization," said Captain King, "but in over 80 communities The Salvation Army conducts its year-round program of Christian service to hardship cases through its volunteer citizens committees, called service unit committees. The Artesia committee is one of the more than 80, and has ably represented our organization and rendered valuable service to the community."

Armed Forces Stressed
Salvation Army services to men and women in the Armed Forces throughout the nation and overseas was stressed as the current program with which service unit committees are most interested in and for which funds also are being sought, he reported.

The same service that became world-famous after World War I, repeated in World War II and now in full operation again is calling upon the people for adequate funds to serve the men and women well, providing them with special attention and programs that their sacrifice deserves.

"The Salvation Army, through its local committee, wishes to make an appeal for funds at this time, so that the well-known program of our organization may carry on its work for the ensuing year.

"Right now we feel that our services to the Armed Forces is most important. We want to serve them well, looking after the special needs that mean so much when men and women leave their homes and loved ones, and thus give concrete evidence of the sacrifices they are making for our benefit," Captain King concluded.

During the next two weeks funds will be sought for The Salvation Army, and an appeal is made for Artesia area to make their contributions to the fund. Voluntary contributions "may" be sent to L. B. Feather, treasurer, at the First National Bank. A general solicitation will be made during the two-week period.

Outline of the pool was staked Wednesday afternoon and excavation began yesterday morning.

Punkin is quite a horse. The casual observer would say he's a Palomino, but actually he's of noble Arabian ancestry, bred and born in New Mexico. His brother was bought for $125,000, but Bob Willis wouldn't take that or any price for him.

"Mainly because he's so smart," Bob explains. "Most performing horses have had to be trained for years. Punkin's never had formal schooling. He just naturally knows what to do at the right time—and that's more than a lot of us humans know."

Choice of Service Open to August 1

Temporary policy of permitting selective service registrants to enlist in the branch of service they choose, scheduled to end July 15, has been extended to Aug. 1, according to Staff Sergeant James Purvis, Roswell, a Marine Corps recruiter.

Sergeant Purvis and Carl V. Ireton, sergeant first class, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, were in Artesia on Wednesday, on duty at the city hall.

The Marine Corps recruiter, who has been a leatherneck for six and a half years, said he was hoping to be in Artesia at least once a week although his territory extends from Carrizozo to Tatum, to Hobbs and Lovington, and to Marfa and Alpine in Texas.

Insect X Reported Ant Atomic Bomber

Are there any bug experts in Artesia? If so Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce could use your services.

Koonce has had an insect in a glass jar in his office since July 11 whose identity remains a mystery. Koonce caught the bug on the front porch of his home, 1110 West Mann.

A salesman who called on Koonce the other day said he thought it was a type of scorpion and that it eats ants.

However, the insect still has not been positively identified and any information leading to its identification would be appreciated.

County Gets $2.11 Support Price

Wheat price support at a national average of $2.18 to farmers for the 1951 crop have been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Last year's average was $1.99 a bushel.

The 1951 wheat price support rate for Eddy County, on the basis grade U. S. No. 1 heavy of the class hard red spring and grade U. S. No. 1 of the classes Durum, hard red winter, soft red winter and white, is $2.11.

There will be no acreage allotments and no marketing quotas on 1952 crop wheat, according to the secretary of agriculture.

Department officials said the supply of wheat in 1952-53 is expected to be below the quantity specified for marketing quotas in existing legislation and that the continuing need for food in the uncertain world situation makes it advisable not to establish acreage allotments for the 1952 crop.

Carlsbad Man Signal Corps Training Center

Signal Corps training in the summer is the quick changeover from the college campus for Vincent Bourdeau, a student at New Mexico State College, Las Cruces, who is on six-weeks duty with the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

With his eye on a future commission cadet Bourdeau is one of a record enrollment of 1,300 cadets from seventy-three colleges all over the country, and is the lone student representing his college.

When the encampment concludes on July 28, the New Mexico undergraduate, who hails from 309 North Lake street, Carlsbad, will have specialized with the most modern in communication equipments under technical and tactical conditions. In addition, he is sampling the rigors of Army life, including K. P., guard duty, bivouac, and field problems, plus firing on the range.

As to specialized Signal Corps training Bourdeau will be taught field wire construction, switch-board installation and operation, field radio, radio-relay and carrier, and communication center functions. Numerous other signal equipments are included.

This year's ROTC unit, which more than doubles the 1950 camp, is broken down into ten companies of five platoons each, thus affording individual Army and technical training to each cadet.

Operating on a five and one-half day week, activity in the ROTC area starts buzzing with reveille call at 5:15 a. m. From then until formal retreat late in the afternoon, it's a busy day.

Mass calisthenics follow breakfast and convoys then carry the cadets to various training areas around Camp Wood, a sub post of Fort Monmouth, and other sites in the Jersey Shore vicinity.

While here, the students will tour the prominent Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories at the post, a principal research and development center for Army science.

During the encampment, many deans and professors of colleges represented, will visit the camp for a three-day inspection of activities. Top-ranking Army chiefs also are scheduled for a tour of the ROTC area.

Training in the first four weeks stresses command and leadership, military discipline, and rifle marksmanship. The latter covers a two-day period on the range, firing the M-1 carbine for record. The fifth week will be conducted in bivouac areas on problems of team training in field employment installation and operation of signal equipment. In the final week the cadets will participate in field exercises under simulated tactical conditions.

Weekends Free
Aside from technical training all cadets have regular inspections, reviews and lectures. They also go through the infiltration course and witness demonstrations on camouflage, field fortifications, mines, and booby trap demolitions.

Farmers Quizzed—

asked is how many acres of cotton the farmer expects to harvest, number of workers wanted, and whether through Artesia Alfalfa Growers or Eddy County Farm and Livestock Bureau.

Signed by Carl C. Foster, manager, Artesia local office, Employment Security Commission, New Mexico Employment Service, the letter reads:

From all indications, at the present time, there will be an acute shortage of cotton pickers this fall. In the past, this worker shortage has been met through contracting of Mexican Nationals and in all probability this will prove to be the source of obtaining needed workers again this year. As you no doubt know, before workers can be contracted, certification must be made as to actual number needed.

Our certification for Mexican National worker needs will be based entirely on the number shown below, therefore, you are requested to give careful consideration to worker needs. When workers are contracted each grower will be expected to accept the number requested.

In the past, this certification has been on an estimated basis rather than on actual needs, therefore, we are enclosing a self-addressed envelope and urgently request that the information requested below be furnished as soon as possible.

communities of the vast New Mexico-Imperial Valley area that comprises the Border Division of our organization," said Captain King, "but in over 80 communities The Salvation Army conducts its year-round program of Christian service to hardship cases through its volunteer citizens committees, called service unit committees. The Artesia committee is one of the more than 80, and has ably represented our organization and rendered valuable service to the community."

Armed Forces Stressed
Salvation Army services to men and women in the Armed Forces throughout the nation and overseas was stressed as the current program with which service unit committees are most interested in and for which funds also are being sought, he reported.

The same service that became world-famous after World War I, repeated in World War II and now in full operation again is calling upon the people for adequate funds to serve the men and women well, providing them with special attention and programs that their sacrifice deserves.

"The Salvation Army, through its local committee, wishes to make an appeal for funds at this time, so that the well-known program of our organization may carry on its work for the ensuing year.

"Right now we feel that our services to the Armed Forces is most important. We want to serve them well, looking after the special needs that mean so much when men and women leave their homes and loved ones, and thus give concrete evidence of the sacrifices they are making for our benefit," Captain King concluded.

During the next two weeks funds will be sought for The Salvation Army, and an appeal is made for Artesia area to make their contributions to the fund. Voluntary contributions "may" be sent to L. E. Feather, treasurer, at the First National Bank. A general solicitation will be made during the two-week period.

H. A. Keinath and Leslie Martin, along with Welch have done much work and study in the site, location and planning of the pool. Chuck Brown, in charge of the job, has estimated the construction time to be between thirty and forty days, depending on the availability of materials and equipment.

Outline of the pool was staked Wednesday afternoon and excavation began yesterday morning.

Punkin is quite a horse. The casual observer would say he's a Palomino, but actually he's of noble Arabian ancestry, bred and born in New Mexico. His brother was bought for $125,000, but Bob Willis wouldn't take that or any price for him.

"Mainly because he's so smart," Bob explains. "Most performing horses have had to be trained for years. Punkin's never had formal schooling. He just naturally knows what to do at the right time—and that's more than a lot of us humans know."

All equipment and supplies used by the 14th Air Force during World War II were flown over the "Hump" from India into China.

Choice of Service Open to August 1

Temporary policy of permitting selective service registrants to enlist in the branch of service they choose, scheduled to end July 15, has been extended to Aug. 1, according to Staff Sergeant James Purvis, Roswell, a Marine Corps recruiter.

Sergeant Purvis and Carl V. Ireton, sergeant first class, U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force, were in Artesia on Wednesday, on duty at the city hall.

The Marine Corps recruiter, who has been a leatherneck for six and a half years, said he was hoping to be in Artesia at least once a week although his territory extends from Carrizozo to Tatum, to Hobbs and Lovington, and to Marfa and Alpine in Texas.

Insect X Reported Ant Atomic Bomber

Are there any bug experts in Artesia? If so Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce could use your services.

Koonce has had an insect in a glass jar in his office since July 11 whose identity remains a mystery. Koonce caught the bug on the front porch of his home, 1110 West Mann.

A salesman who called on Koonce the other day said he thought it was a type of scorpion and that it eats ants.

County Gets $2.11 Support Price

Wheat price support at a national average of $2.18 to farmers for the 1951 crop has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Last year's average was $1.99 a bushel.

The 1951 wheat price support rate for Eddy County, on the basis grade U. S. No. 1 heavy of the class hard red spring and grade U. S. No. 1 of the classes Durum, hard red winter, soft red winter and white, is $2.11.

There will be no acreage allotments and no marketing quotas on 1952 crop wheat, according to the secretary of agriculture.

Department officials said the supply of wheat in 1952-53 is expected to be below the quantity specified for marketing quotas in existing legislation and that the continuing need for food in the uncertain world situation makes it advisable not to establish acreage allotments for the 1952 crop.

Carlsbad Man Signal Corps Training Center

Signal Corps training in the Carlsbad area is the quick changeover from the college campus for Vincent Bourdeau, a student at New Mexico State College, Las Cruces, who is on six-weeks duty with the Reserve Officers Training Corps at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

While his eye on a future commission cadet Bourdeau is one of the 1,300 cadets from twenty-three colleges all over the country, and is the lone student representing his college.

When the encampment concludes on July 28, the New Mexico undergraduate, who hails from 309 North Lake street, Carlsbad, will have specialized with the most modern in communication equipments under technical and tactical conditions. In addition, he is sampling the rigors of Army life, including K. P., guard duty, bivouac, and field problems, plus firing on the range.

As to specialized Signal Corps training Bourdeau will be taught field wire construction, switchboard installation and operation, field radio, radio-relay and carrier, and communication center functions. Numerous other signal equipments are included.

This year's ROTC unit, which more than doubles the 1950 camp, is broken down into ten companies of five platoons each, thus affording individual Army and technical training to each cadet.

Operating on a five and one-half day week, activity in the ROTC area starts buzzing with reveille call at 5:15 a. m. From then until formal retreat late in the afternoon, it's a busy day.

Mass calisthenics follow breakfast and convoys then carry the cadets to various training areas around Camp Wood, a sub post of Fort Monmouth, and other sites in the Jersey Shore vicinity.

While here, the students will tour the prominent Signal Corps Engineering Laboratories at the post, a principal research and development center for Army science.

During the encampment, many deans and professors of colleges represented, will visit the camp for a three-day inspection of activities. Top-ranking Army chiefs also are scheduled for a tour of the ROTC area.

Training in the first four weeks stresses command and leadership, military discipline, and rifle marksmanship. The latter covers a two-day period on the range, firing the M-1 carbine for record. The fifth week will be conducted in bivouac areas on problems of team training in field employment installation and operation of signal equipment. In the final week the cadets will participate in field exercises under simulated tactical conditions.

Weekends Free
Aside from technical training all cadets have regular inspections, reviews and lectures. They also go through the infiltration course and witness demonstrations on camouflage, field fortifications, mines, and booby trap demolitions.

Referring back to the technical phase the cadets will not only operate signal equipment but will perform duties relative to staff relationship, signal planning, combat orders, reconnaissance, disposition of personnel during tactical operation, "jump teams," supply and logistics, and black-out operations.

On the off-duty side, weekends from Saturday noon on are generally free. Located in the heart of the Jersey seashore area Cadet Bourdeau undoubtedly will visit Asbury Park, Long Branch and other resort towns. Also, he is only 50 miles from New York City.

All facilities at Fort Monmouth are extended for the cadets' social diversion. Special Services offers a varied calendar, including formal dances and an intramural athletic program. They are also admitted as temporary members of the Officers Club at Fort Monmouth.

The religious duties are carried out as an important aspect of the camp.

Col. Malcolm R. Kammerer, professor of military science and tactics at City College of New York, is deputy camp commander of the ROTC contingent.

All 48 states and Hawaii are represented among the 1,300 cadets.

The New Mexico State cadet is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Bourdeau, also of Carlsbad. During the last war, he served almost two years overseas in the Navy assigned to the destroyer USS Sierra.

There were 725 female officers in the U. S. Army of 1925. Peak of 25,000 was hit in the early part of 1945, most of these women being in the WAC.

Originally, the 14th Air Force was the American Volunteer Group which won fame as the "Flying Tigers" who fought in P-40s painted to resemble sharks.

In 1938 the United States ranked seventh among nations of the world in military aircraft.

Grass Planted
In Burned Area
Of Lincoln Forest

The U. S. Forest Service and state land commissioner's office have finished seeding 6,500 acres of burned over forest land to grass in the Lincoln National Forest, C. E. Moore, forest supervisor, said today.

The seeded land is part of the 14,700 acre Allen Canyon fire which swept some of the best timberland in the Sacramento Mountains early in June. The portions selected for seeding are those which were burned so badly there is danger of serious erosion before the native vegetation can recover and bind the soil.

In addition to damaging the burned land such erosion would pose a serious threat to the highly productive farms in the nearby mountain valleys.

Vernon B. Bostick, forest service technician in charge of the project relates that about 1,000 acres of the most critical areas were seeded virtually on the heels of the fire by Mesquero Apache Indians who had just finished fighting the blaze.

Armed with hand feeders they spread a mixture of five species of grass seeds in the still warm ashes. The reason for the haste was to take advantage of any immediate rainfall that might come and thus start an early cover of vegetation.

The balance of the area was seeded from the air. Flying at tree-top level, Lloyd Solomon, of the Fairbanks Aerial Service, Roswell, sowed a strip 48 feet wide at each pass over the burn.

The plane was able to seed up to 1,000 acres a day when flying conditions were suitable. The altitude of the burned area ranges up to 8,000 feet and flying so low at that elevation over rugged terrain is extremely hazardous.

18 Tons of Seed

The grass species used were crested wheat grass, intermediate wheat grass, mountain brome, timothy and orchard grass. The mixtures were varied to suit different site conditions.

More than 18 tons of seed were used in the operation. The state land commissioner contributed $5,000 of the total cost of the job to cover seeding of intermingled state land in the burned area. The operation cost $2.60 per acre, on the average.

Seeding forest burns to herbaceous vegetation is not new, Bostick says, and good success can be expected if proper climatic conditions follow. Principally required is that the first rain be reasonably gentle so as not to wash away both the seeds and the soil.

One drawback common to aerial seeding efforts elsewhere is missing on burns, seed eating rodents and insect are pretty well eliminated by the fire.

"If this seeding successful," Bostick said, "it will not only prevent incalculable injury to this portion of the Pecos Valley watershed and damage to mountain farming lands, but it will also provide a quick start toward restoration of the area itself."

Baptists Acquire Baseball Team Bus

Persons walking down Fourth and Grand have probably noticed a bus marked "Longhorn League" parked by the First Baptist Church, 312 West Grand and been wondering what it was doing there.

The bus was acquired by the First Baptist Church on June 15 at a cost of $900. Since that time it has been used to haul campers to the four-camp sessions carried on up to date. It will haul three more groups before the camping season is over.

Ed Mitchell took up the first three groups with Mrs. Mitchell going along as chaperon. V. E. Boyd took a group composed of 14 12-14 year olds to Camp Inlow in the Manzano Mountains, 20 miles southeast of Albuquerque, last Monday.

Artesians who went up last Monday are Wilma Croft, Peggy Hodges, Arline Horton, Neal Howell, David Williams, Betty Ruford, Wanda McDonald, Alice Carwile, Helen Carwile, Leora Scott, James Holcomb, Edna Marrs, W. A. Taylor and Ralph Ewton.

The new bus has 21 seats, which is a bigger seating capacity than the old one. At the time of purchase, it had 26,000 miles on it, but has been thoroughly overhauled and a new motor installed.

The first Baptist Church has always had a bus for the past 14 years, the last one served six years and made a trip to Alaska with 10 boys two years ago.

The new bus is roomier than the old one and hence is more satisfactory for youth work. Both old and new buses are to be seen parked on streets near the church.

Help Make Improvements

WE RECENTLY HEARD a newspaper editor from the northern part of New Mexico ask the Santa Fe editor whether there had been any marked improvement in the state house since Gov. Edwin L. Mechem had become state executive.

The fact is that the editor wanted to know whether there had been any improvement in the political odors which he stated had arisen in the past from the state house.

The Santa Fe editor declared there certainly had. He even went on to say that it was rather surprising and amazing just how much improvement there had been and the changes which had been brought about.

He continued his comment by saying "However, the Governor has made some serious mistakes."

But the Santa Fe editor did declare there has been some surprising improvements. He admitted that these had been made by a Republican governor in a state house in which every public official elected by the voters is a member of the Democratic party.

That, we would say, is considerable of an accomplishment. When a Republican governor can bring about needed changes in a Democratic elected set of public officials he deserves full credit for it.

As for the governor making mistakes—that only proves to us he is doing things. If he weren't doing things and attempting to do them, he wouldn't be making any mistakes. And when he reaches the point where he is not making some mistakes, then he won't be attempting to bring about some of the changes needed.

And we want him to keep right on trying to bring about changes even if he makes some more serious mistakes.

We want him going right on being the country lawyer and the honest, conscientious and sincere Edwin L. Mechem that his home town and his home county knows him to be. We want him to go right on attempting to do the very things he said he was going to do if he were elected governor.

And we can't keep from feeling if some of those who wanted the changes would lend a helping hand and assist a little more instead of always looking for something to criticize and condemn that perhaps he would make fewer mistakes and get more things done.

Everyone knew before Governor Mechem went into office that he had an extremely difficult and tough job. They knew he was the only Republican elected. They knew that every other office holder in the state house except those he could appoint, would belong to the opposition party. They knew he had a legislature which was controlled by the Democrats.

Yet he did a rather remarkable job with some of the fine members of the Legislature because they too were interested in the program he had promised the people of the state he would seek and attempt to carry out. And because of their help that program moved along.

On the whole the Legislature did a pretty good job. They deserve to be commended for it.

There are a good many things in the state which need to be changed but they have been built up over 20 years of control by one political party. They are not going to be changed overnight, in six months, in a year, even two years or four years.

But if some of us who favored the election of Governor Mechem and who favored the things for which he stands would be a little less critical and a little more helpful, we would be making a direct contribution to helping him to get more things done.

We helped in our little way with his election. We did so because we felt he would make a good governor and not to tell him how to run the state. We still believe just as we did. We believe he is capable of running the state and if we didn't think so we never would have backed and supported him.

Make That Protest

MOST OF US have learned to take things 'sitting down', so to speak, and we are convinced that it is useless to raise Cain or to make a protest.

We don't agree with that idea at all. We believe when our city or our community has been imposed upon that we should make our protest—we mean really and truly raise a fuss about it.

It is perhaps true that raising Cain won't change the situation or obtain reconsideration of the matter but it will make those who have imposed on us give us a little consideration.

It is also true that when the next occasion arises regarding any matter that we will be given more attention and those who have imposed on us or taken advantage of us or ignored us will recall that we didn't just take it—we fought back.

With them giving a little thought and consideration to this matter they will be less inclined to just ignore us.

When we lose an office or a business or an appointment on a state wide basis to which we are entitled—sitting back and forgetting it is not perhaps going to bring that office or appointment back to us but it is going to gain us consideration.

And it is a pretty well known fact that those who do fight back, those who demand their rights and those who demand consideration aren't imposed on as much as those who are inclined to accept the decision in these matters as something final.

For years as a people we have been 'taking it' from our federal government. We have watched the waste and extravagance, we have seen the tax bill climb and seen professional politicians run our affairs. They will continue to run them just as long as we take it. When our protest becomes strong enough and loud enough—they will change some of the things we insist on being changed.

So our suggestion is not to sit back and take when we lose something which we figured we should have had. We suggest that whether we actually feel it will do any good or not in this case or this instant that we register our complaint and register it loud.

If it doesn't gain the consideration we feel we are entitled to have now it certain will insofar as future events are concerned.

REASON TO WORRY

Mobilization Director Wilson declared that he is more worried than ever over the safety of America.

"I can't believe that Soviet Russia, in coming out for a truce in Korea, has changed its long range plans," the official declared.

And with that sentiment most of us will agree. Of course Wilson made the statement in argument to support enactment of sustained economic controls and that may cause one to discount his words a little bit.

But in the main, one can agree that unless this country keeps up its present defense program and unless it does something to keep inflation from getting hold, then there is plenty of room to worry.

It is being disgustingly repetitious to say that we in America are disposed to let down as soon as there is some slight break in any crisis. We've done it many times, and the possibility is great that there will be elements of the American population who will clamor for a lessened military program as soon as a truce is agreed upon in Korea—if it is.

But it must be kept in mind that this same element came near causing us to lose national identity twice in a little over a quarter century and that that influence must be watched in the current circumstances.

We are not offering any argument in support of controls. That is an attendant matter to the larger one, that of pushing our defense program to the limit, until we arrive at the point where we can successfully defend ourselves against the strongest enemy.

The public must keep that in mind and it must watch the forces who believe otherwise.—Roswell Daily Record.

SALE OF DANGEROUS DOPE

The druggists of New Mexico, we are sure, will cooperate wholeheartedly with an appeal from Gov. Edwin L. Mechem for closer control over sale of dangerous dope such as was used by two brothers at Hobbs prior to killing two innocent men.

The Hobbs brothers admitted being under the influence of nembatal when the shooting took place.

The governor says he feels certain the state pharmaceutical association will do everything in its power to warn all druggists of the dangers of uncontrolled use of such medicines and suggests that sale of nembatal and similar products should be made only on non-refillable prescriptions from physicians. This seems like a good suggestion to us.

Carlsbad police, incidentally, report that there is no "dope" problem here and that pharmacists have been alert in guarding against the problem.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Anaheim, Calif., Bulletin: "Our nation is one of the few in the world in which free thought, criticism and truths can still be presented to the public. We take it for granted that this freedom will continue. But the present presidential regime realizes the value of the press and its ability to mould and measure public opinion and reaction. Every day some new measures are introduced that would place newspapers under government censorship. So far these measures have been defeated or are amended to become worthless. A free press means a free people. We must remain alert to keep it so."

Philadelphia, Pa., Trades Union News: "Karl Marx, the fellow who wrote the creed of communism, had something to say about taxation. He said that capitalism, which means our system of free initiative, enterprise and progress, will eventually be destroyed by 'taxes, taxes and still more taxes.' He even predicted that democratic, capitalist countries would, if left to their own devices, finally tax their economic systems to death and thus bring in communism. Well, taxation can do just that, if carried too far. The people who are continually fighting for more tax money to spend, even though their proposals may be excellent and even though some of the additional tax money might be used to benefit the people generally, should take the Marxian precept to heart. Taxes can kill our economy."

Madison, Ga., News: "There seems to be some in Washington that are afraid the MacArthur-Truman-Atcheson controversy will reveal our plans to the Russians. . . . The thing that we think they are most worried about is that the people are about to find out how near Communist our government has become."—Industrial News Review.

New Mexico

G. Ward Fenley

Before this old bald-headed professor takes a short and much needed vacation, he feels duty compelled to call attention to some hilarious typo howlers of New Mexico editors.

We should tell unsuspecting readers (if we have any) that this is a self-appointed job and is done with no malicious intent.

To tell the truth, this old-man columnist loves even more those editors and proof readers who are kind enough (sometimes we suspect it is intentional) to make typo errors.

For instance I just love the proof reader of the Albuquerque Journal—whether he's a he or she's a she. Last week he, she or it said that Virginia Hill (the gangsters' moll) "who once paled around members of the underworld."

After reading accounts of how Virginia snubbed reporters in El Paso and Albuquerque on a recent trip, we can't imagine Virginia's "paling" in front of anybody.

Homer Gruver of the Cruces Citizen helps us out from time to time with this kolo.

Last week, in correcting a statement that Lory Baker graduated instead of simply attending Kansas City College of Osteopathy and Surgery, Homer ended up by saying: "Sorry, doctor, no intense of fended."

That's what we call a good comeback.

And last week, in another correction item, the Hatch Reporter reported that, because of the shallowness of the water, it was an error when the paper said the little girl "was believed to be 'drawed.'"

Mrs. Edna Burck (Hagerman News of the Artesia Advocate) recounted the narrow escapes of three-year-old Derwood Peacock. She said he was recovering from being "almost run over by a truck" and "being thrown from the back of a pick-up and knocked unconscious."

But Mrs. Burck's punch line: "Little Derwood had a very narrow escape from drowning in an immigration ditch."

We've been in New Mexico a good long while but we never heard of an immigration ditch. What is an immigration ditch?

We only wish we had been in Gallup last week when Jay's Super Market (in an ad in the Gallup Independent) listed Texas Black Diamond watermelons, nice, large and guaranteed at 1 and three-fourths cents. Quite a bargain with the word "lb" left out.

What was the implication and sly suggestion in that news item in the Socorro Chieftain last week which stated that a Lemitar man was pronounced "as sane as most anyone who lives in New Mexico?"

We don't know the Lemitar person but was the editor indicating that all of us who live in New Mexico are slightly on the nutty side?

Oh well, where is the supposedly sane person who does not have some crazy characteristic in his make-up? Our unpredictable actions in even the sanest of us crazy people are what make life interesting. Who wants to be sane, anyway? Personally, as any follower of this insane kolo can see in a jiffy, I'm nutty as a fruit cake.

In taking a vacation from this kolo for a couple of weeks, may I ask readers to mail me in a few typo howlers or interesting howlers so I will not come back to it "cold shouldered."

Here's the type I want as can be seen from a headline in the Santa Fe New Mexican, "Dam Headgates Break Somehow."

Another head in the New Mexican: Friends Drink, Friends Fight, Friends Still."

Please put the comma in the right place (not after good) because it indicates where I am vacationing Good Bye, God, I'm going to Texas."

Vets Reminded Of GI July 25 Training Date

The deadline for starting GI Bill training for most World War II veterans, July 25, is only a couple of weeks away, Veterans Administration has reminded veterans.

The July 25 date applies to the vast majority of World War II veterans—those discharged before July 25, 1947, VA said. Veterans discharged afterwards may begin their GI training within four years from the time they left the service.

A veteran actually must be in training by the cut-off date if he wants to continue his studies, VA emphasized. A mere application for training, filed before the cut-off date, will not do.

VA, however, considers a veteran to be in training, even though he has temporarily interrupted his course for reasons beyond his control. The summer vacation is one such reason. Another would be the case of a veteran who had once started a course and now cannot resume it because he has returned to active military duty.

Conditions Listed

VA outlined the conditions Veterans must meet for post-cut-off date training:

They will be expected to pursue their training continuously until completion, except for conditions

MARCH OF EVENTS

Here's Logical Reason Why Russia Wants Korea Peace: Break in Communist Orbit Feared If Slaughter Goes On

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—The Defense department's top strategists believe Russia wants to end the Korean war to keep her newly ally, Red China, inside the Communist orbit.

Official reasoning goes this way: China is taking terrific losses in Korea. Chinese Communists must break with Moscow if the slaughter continues. That would mean Russia's position in the Far East.

The Chinese might be willing to continue the fight if given weapons and equipment that would put them on a par with UN forces, but the Russians can't supply them because:

1. The Trans-Siberian railroad is their only supply line—there are no roads across Siberia, and it is a long haul to Korea by sea.
2. The peak eastward capacity of the Trans-Siberian, if it handles nothing but military cargo, would be 17,000 tons a day.
3. This could not begin to match the Allies. United States already is shipping more than 50,000 tons of cargo per day to the Far East.

● THE CONTROLS FRONT—Price-wage-controls probably will be eliminated or eased considerably in another year if the Korean war and no new conflict breaks out in the meantime.

That's the outlook in Congress, where strong sentiment is building up against the administration's controls program. The current law is the tip-off on legislative thinking.

It's already apparent that Congress isn't going to give the administration what it wants in this field. In fact, a watered-down controls law will be approved instead of the stronger curbs asked by President Truman.

Congressional sentiment for ending the controls is based on points of view: (1) the nation's defense will be built up enough another year to make such curbs unnecessary; (2) end of the Korean war will take the pressure off the rearmament program.

● LIVING COSTS—Labor department experts believe the cost of living may have reached a temporary peak on May 15, when it was a new all-time high of 185.4 per cent of the pre-World War II average. They say that the June 15 index will disclose later in July a drop from the May figure. If so, it would be the first decline since outbreak of the Korean war.

Food prices, which rose sharply after the start of the Korean war, have been sliding along on an even keel since May 15. Some of the important things, like house furnishings and textiles, seem to be sliding down.

These developments might pull the whole index down a little by setting increases in rents and other miscellaneous items, such as doctor's fees and transportation.

The inflation fight isn't over yet though. Practically all economic programs are looking for a new flare of inflation by next fall unless drastic program spending eases off.

● MEAT-HUNGRY HUNGARY—Consumers who think the situation is bad can take some consolation from knowing that there are a lot of loughers behind the Iron Curtain. Hungarians who have recently returned from Hungary report that the Communists have ordered six meatless days a week. With typical Red logic, the government chose Friday as the only day the citizens can eat meat.

Hungary is predominantly a Catholic country. Of course, the authorities insist there really isn't any meat shortage. One trouble, they say, is that Hungarian cattle raisers have become so well off under the Communist regime they simply aren't interested in selling their stock.

which normally would cause interruption by any student.

They may change their educational objective only while in training, and then for reasons satisfactory to VA.

And, once they complete or discontinue their program of training after the cut-off date, they may not start another.

Veterans in school during the regular school year just completed are not required to attend summer school to maintain their eligibility. This is considered an interruption which is normal to all students, and these veterans will be permitted to resume training this fall in the same field of study.

VA emphasized that a veteran re-entering service would not be bound by the July 25 cut-off date—if he had once started a course and cannot now resume it because of re-entering service. For veterans, it is not necessary that they were actually in school when they re-entered service.

But, a veteran who has had any GI Bill training, and gone back into service, will be bound by the July 25 date, said.

—VA—

More than 12,000 new claim disability compensation or pensions were received by VA in May from living veterans of World War I. Living veterans now draw disability compensation or pensions from VA number 237.

In addition, dependents of 600 deceased veterans are now receiving death compensation or pensions.

... And Motherhood Will Go Unhonored

by Alvin Illig

We are being taught the hard way that respect for motherhood depends on Christianity.

Recently the newspapers reported that Warsaw's Communist regime abolished the Polish labor law protecting women against heavy work.

To speed production, the women are liberated from the home to do the work of strong men. The mothers are freed from the labor of cooking, and sewing, and washing, and caring for their children. An axe for the East-Carpathian forests, or a shovel for the lead pits of Upper Silesia is offered them instead. They can now take their places in training for war.

The Communist spokesmen hailed this repeal as a "social achievement," for, they said, it now "opens all the professions to women."

Without Christ—Shame

Torn from their homes and from their children, the mothers of Poland are now exposed to the coarseness and unhappiness to which so much of the womanhood of a de-Christianized Russia has been reduced.

The twentieth century is witnessing with its own eyes the 2000 year old truth that when the woman and the mother is torn from Christ, she sinks back to the shameful position she held before Christ.

The pre-Christian Stoic philosopher Seneca, for instance, calmly asserted of woman that she is "a shameless animal, . . . a beast intemperate in her desires." Aristotle, perhaps the greatest mind the ancient pagans produced, could consider woman as nothing better than an "incomplete or mutilated man," the result of something gone wrong in nature. And if the great minds thought this of womanhood, what were the thoughts of common men.

Overcome By Brute Force

A slave, the object of scorn, a toy for passion: this is what the pagan thought of womanhood.

It has to be this way. Paganism in thought always leads to barbarism in action. Without spiritual values, naked brute power becomes the only standard, and selfish desire the pagan's only goal.

Fear and subjection cover the mother and her child in such a society. Brought before the bar of power, ripped loose from the powerful arms of Christ, the child and its mother are without protection and without rights, for compassion toward the weak is a flaw in character, and mercy is an expression of the degenerating influence of Christianity.

But when the standard of value is the human soul, the mother and her child take on infinite value. They are viewed in the light of eternity and judged by the standard of Christ's redeeming blood.

Motherhood is Sublime

The value of the human soul alone gives womanhood this dignity. And it is the Christian concept of marriage and nothing else that has raised motherhood to the sublime plane of honor it holds in our Western World today.

But bring the soul and marriage under attack, and all this crumbles. Reject the principles of Christ and you will see the lofty state of womanhood fall before the feet of beasts, and motherhood once again go unhonored.

Wildcatting Doubles in The Rockies

Wildcat wells were drilled to a combined total depth of 729,913 feet during the first six months of 1951 in the Rocky Mountain oil region, according to the mid-year report of Petroleum Information, Rocky Mountain oil statistical and information firm of Denver and Casper.

This compares with 354,840 feet drilled during the same period a year ago. The number of wildcat wells 146, represents 66 per cent more wells than during the first six months of 1950.

Geophysical prospecting, leasing, wildcat and development drilling have reached an all-time high in the Rocky Mountain region, according to Maury Goodwin of Petroleum Information, the firm which has charted and reported the growth of the region since 1928.

However, oil production is not expected to increase pending completion of the Platte pipe line from Worland, Wyo., to Wood River (St. Louis) which is presently held up for lack of the necessary steel," he said.

Refining facilities of the region are operating at top capacity and fulfill completely the regional requirements for refined products.

With new pipe line facilities, production will step up almost immediately to an additional 60,000 barrels daily above the 305,000 daily barrels presently produced in six of the Rocky Mountain States.

Colorado Sets Pace
Although Colorado led the Rocky Mountain States with 49

wildcat completions, Wyoming brought in seven new oil wells out of the 45 drilled to better the national average of successful wildcat completions.

The Denver-Julesburg Basin led all other provinces of the region in exploratory drilling, accounting for all of the Colorado wildcats and adding 28 drilled on the eastern side of the basin western Nebraska. Ten new pools have been discovered in this basin out of the 77 wildcats drilled to July 1.

Perhaps the most outstanding development this year in the region has been the discovery of oil for the first time in the Williston Basin, which covers more than seventy million acres through the Dakotas, eastern Montana and southern Saskatchewan and Manitoba. The discovery gave impetus to the lease program which began in the area two years ago and at last reported approximately two-thirds of North Dakota had been leased.

Footage drilled in development wells, where oil structures are known to exist, almost doubled during the first six months of the year (2,160,588 feet compared to 1,447,482 feet) over 1950.

The most dramatic example of development activity took place in the San Juan Basin of northwestern New Mexico where 68 of the 72 development wells drilled brought in gas for the new West Coast gas line.

Ninety-four seismic crews and at least 11 gravity parties are known to be working through the Rocky Mountain States to lead to the development of oil reserves in the nation's greatest unexplored section.

Acetonemia Can Afflict Best Dairy Cows

By Dallas Rierison
Eddy County Agent

It's no fun when your best dairy cow comes down with acetonemia—or ketosis, as it's sometimes called. That happens every once in a while to those high-producing cows just freshened. The disease is usually not fatal, but it upsets production and cuts down the milk check.

What is acetonemia? First there's a disturbance in the way that an animal uses its feed after it's digested. Scientists believe that the animal body uses more energy than is available to burn more fat than normal. It is the incomplete burning of this extra fat that brings about acetone in the blood. Under the right conditions, any animal can apparently suffer from the disease, although some are more resistant than others. Right now, it causes the most trouble in dairy cattle, particularly the good ones with new calves.

Here's one thing that might kick it off in those recently freshened cows. These animals may actually use more sugar in making milk than their body can afford. They just don't seem to be able to meet the strain of calving and then producing a lot of milk.

About half the cases of acetonemia occur within one week after calving and most of the other 50 per cent within 30 days. Symptoms vary a great deal. If the disease strikes right after calving, the most common symptoms are paralysis and complete unconsciousness. The cows act and look almost as if she had milk fever. In fact, veterinarians often must use a chemical test on the urine to tell the two diseases apart.

In cases that come on later, there is usually a sudden or gradual loss of appetite, rapid decrease in condition, and almost always a marked falling off in milk flow. One other thing you sometimes notice is a peculiar sweet smell of acetone on the breath of the animal.

What about treatment? Veterinarians often use a special sugar injected directly into the blood stream with a dramatic recovery effect. Other drugs are used to treat the nervous conditions and still others to stimulate the appetite. The earlier any of these treatments are used, the more apt they are to be successful.

A good, nutritious feed will go a long way in preventing the disease. Be especially careful how you cut down a ration at calving time because that's the critical period. Good feed helps appetite and that helps prevent acetonemia.

Current Scrap Collection Only Echo of Old War

Seems there's a scrap drive going on in New Mexico but so far it hasn't penetrated into Artesia.

A bulletin of the U. S. Department of Commerce, dated June 22, received by The Artesia Advocate on July 6, says "the drive to get heavy industrial scrap back to the mills is making good progress in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming." Although the bulletin doesn't come out and say "scrap iron," using only the first word, "scrap," it's scrap iron that is meant, recalling the days of World War II.

Oil field centers were heavy contributors to salvage or scrap iron drives in those days.

U. S. Steel Mills at Gary, Ind., on June 12, only a month ago, were down to a six-day scrap inventory, lowest in history.

The current campaign may be working by mail since another story in the bulletin says Charles Sawyer, secretary of commerce, has requested federal departments agencies, and bureaus to "establish their own internal programs to uncover dormant government-owned heavy iron and steel scrap.

In a letter to the departments, bureaus and agencies concerned, Secretary Sawyer asked them to survey their warehouses, buildings and properties immediately to locate every possible source of scrap, and dispose of such materials through normal channels to scrap dealers.

Secretary Sawyer's request is another step in the industrial scrap program inaugurated by the salvage division of the National Production Authority.

Previous requests for aid in the program have been made by NPA to businesses, industries, trade associations, chamber of commerce, auto wrecker, the governors of all states and U. S. territories, and municipal authorities.

The bulletin was issued by the field service from its Denver regional office. New Mexico's office is in the Duke City, Hanosh Building, 203 West Gold, Telephone 6741, Extension 111.

Regardless of how the campaign is being run there has been no public announcement here of it nor does the 1951 deal resemble the all-out moves in similar projects during World War II.
