Library Circulation Reaches 1650 in Three-Week Period

Artesia Library had a circulation of 1,650 volumes in three weeks since it reopened as a free public library July 2, according to a report by the librarian, Mrs. Mary Knorr.

Of the total 540 books were of the adult fiction classification, 65 adult non-fiction, 51 children's non-fiction, 87 pre-school and young books; and 907 children's non-fiction.

Averaging the figures, Mrs. Knorr estimated that she has checked out 19 books an hour during the period. Thus far Mondays have been the heaviest days with a record of 170 books lent in one day.

In her report to the library board, Mrs. Knorr stated that there were 433 patrons using the library at the end of the three-week period and the number of borrower cards being issued is growing steadily.

Over 40 new children's books have arrived since July 1 and more have been placed on order using the memorial funds dedicated to Mrs. Lois Siegenthaler and Mike Ferguson.

These funds were given by the Artesia Junior Women's Club, the Artesia Story League, and individuals. In addition, adult non-fiction books are being ordered with the fund given by the American Legion Gold Star Mothers.

To Obtain Bookplates
The board is obtaining memorial and gift bookplates for these and other volumes. Mrs. Meryle Story has been named chairman of the memorial book fund.

Other committee chairmen named by the president, Mrs. S. P. Yates, are: finance, Mrs. Effie Wingfield, and books, Mrs. Harold Kersey. Mrs. Knorr will act as an ex-officio member of all committees.

The board has stated that the library is badly in need of a set of children's encyclopedias published within the last ten years. Donation of issues of Newsweek and U. S. News Magazines would also be welcomed.

In answer to many inquiries, Mrs. Knorr has announced that a shelf of paperback books will be kept in the library. However, the "pocketbook" editions will not be checked out by the desk and the policy will be "bring one—take one."

The president has expressed the gratification of the board that so many people are all ready using the library and added that it is hoped that the patron list will continue to grow as more people learn of the services of the library.

All resident of Eddy County are eligible for free membership in the Artesia Public Library, located in the City Hall building at the corner of Fifth and Main. Hours are from 12:30 to 5:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday, and the library is open from 5:30 to 8:30 Wednesday nights.

Only Two Drills Left on Schedule Before Bliss Camp

It won't be long until Artesia's Military, Battery C of the 697th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion, exchanges the comparative coolness of Artesia for the scorching sands of Fort Bliss.

Only two drills remain before the unit enroute for Carlsbad where the battery will rendezvous with other battalion units and eat breakfast as the movement starts toward the annual summer camp. Dates are Aug. 12-16.

Christian Church To Hold Retreat August 4 and 5

Worship services, recreation, and discussions of religious matters led by Jack Sutton, Jr., chairman of the board of the Park Hill Christian Church of Denver, are in store for persons attending the Annual Laymen's Retreat in the Sacramento Mountains, Aug. 4-5.

This information is contained in a letter from Charlie M. Johnson, state president of the Laymen's League, to Rev. A. G. Bell, pastor of the First Christian Church of Artesia, which also gives pertinent information on the speaker.

Jack Sutton was born May 23, 1911 in Iowa, but has lived in Colorado since he was nine years old.

He went through the Washington County school system, and attended Colorado Teachers College, at Greeley, Emily Griffith Opportunity School at Denver, and Colorado School of Mines, in Golden.

After teaching school in Washington County for five years and selling life insurance for two years, he became associated with Pikes Peak Fuel Division of Golden Cycle Corporation as collector, salesman, and heating engineer.

After a three-year hitch as an electrical engineer in the Air Corps he opened the Sutton Heating and Electrical Engineering Company.

Sutton has been active in church work, having served as deacon, elder, chairman of the board, and superintendent of the Bible School, of Edgewater Christian Church, Edgewater, Colo.

He has been president and assistant founder of the Association of Christian Churches in the Denver area, and Denver District governor of the Colorado Laymen's League.

Sutton also served on the board of Phillips University, Enid, Okla., the board of managers of the Christian Missionary Society, and was Colorado delegate to the international convention and member of the committee on recommendations.

He is currently chairman of the committee on finances, budgets and promotional relationships of the Association of Christian Churches.

Persons interested in hearing Sutton and attending the retreat should make reservations by tomorrow with Rev. A. G. Bell, 510 West Quay, or W. T. Redders, retreat secretary, 2111 West Hillcrest, Carlsbad, or W. O. Geurin, 305 South Washington, Roswell.

Kiwanians Hear Representative Of Girls State

Kiwanians yesterday heard the once postponed talk by Sarah Curtis, the club's representative at Girls State, conducted June 8-15 at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

Miss Curtis told how the girls studied all phases of government and law enforcement, including the FBI.

She mentioned that she was elected to the city council and served on the State Corporation commission.

Studies were engaged in by her and other girls at Girls State between the hours of 9 to 12 in the morning, and 1-4 in the afternoon, and 7-9 at night.

Miss Curtis thanked the club for her sponsorship of her and said she enjoyed her stay at Girls State.

She answered questions from members and guests. W. W. Ports presided over the meeting, in the absence of President Ralph L. O'Dell.

District Employment Services To Hold Conference in Artesia

CC Nominates Trio for Posts With State EDC

Discussions of interest to employment service workers will be on the agenda of the meeting of the South District of the International Association of Public Employment Services, tomorrow night at 6:30 in Cliff's Cafeteria.

Frank H. Bixby of Artesia is secretary-treasurer of the district. District meetings are held quarterly and are rotated among the towns of the district.

The IAPES which has a similar organization in other states was set up in 1913.

Its purpose is to promote professional standards and interests of members so that they may be able to give improved service to the public.

Standardization and coordination of placement and unemployment insurance policies over the state is one of the aims of the organization.

The South district which is district four, is composed of Artesia, Carlsbad, Roswell, and Hobbs. There are five other districts in the state. District one consists of Albuquerque, Gallup, Farmington.

District two of Santa Fe, Espanola, Taos, Las Vegas, Raton. District three consists of Tucumanari, Clovis, Portales.

District five includes Silver City, Las Cruces, Alamogordo, Truth or Consequences. The state office comprises district six.

Officers of the South District are: Milton B. Fox, Hobbs, president; John A. Mansell, Carlsbad, vice-president; Frank H. Bixby, Artesia, secretary-treasurer.

Officials of the state office are: J. D. Dean, Jr., Roswell, president; Oliver Scott, Carlsbad, vice-president; Norah Archuleta, Albuquerque, secretary-treasurer.

Old Age SSA Claims Reveal Rapid Ascent

Ralph H. Yowell, field representative of the Roswell Social Security Administration office, will be in Artesia Monday morning, Aug. 6, to assist Artesia residents in filing claims for old-age or survivors insurance benefits.

He may be contacted at the office of the New Mexico State Employment Service, Ward building, from 10 a. m. to noon.

During the first six months of 1951 the Roswell office has received an average of 87 claims per month for old-age and survivors insurance. This is an increase of about 250 per cent over the figure for the same period last year, according to Yowell.

Most of this increase, Yowell explained, is due to changes made last year in the law, which drastically reduced the requirements for eligibility. Under the new rules payments can be made in many cases after as little as six quarters—about a year and one-half—in jobs covered by the law.

The new eligibility rule applies to two types of cases: (1)—Retired workers past the age of 65. (2)—Survivors of workers who have died since August, 1950.

The required six quarters of work may have been done at any time since the law went into effect in 1937 and can be from either steady work or scattered jobs with several different employers.

"One effect of the changes, Yowell pointed out, is that a large number of workers, many well past the age of 65, who are not eligible under the old rules, may now qualify for payments. The majority have already filed applications, but Lowell is certain that there are many in the Artesia area who have not filed claims and are losing payments.

"We can make back payments for only six months," Yowell said, "so that a claim filed now will cover only the months from January on. Any payments which might have been due for 1950 are now lost. If a claim is delayed until August, then January will be lost, and so on, a month lost for each month of delay. For this reason, we urge anyone who believes he may be eligible for payments to get in touch with us at once."

Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce, sent out notices of the session, which was to have been held here Aug. 1, but response was not forthcoming so the meeting was called off.

Edward Mahoney, freight rate equalization board rate expert, will be in Carlsbad on Wednesday night, Aug. 1, to conduct a hearing there, following a similar assembly at Clovis, July 30, and Roswell, July 31.

Sherbert Teamed With Doughnuts In Summer Dish

There's been a new angle put on the old cake and pie a la mode. A girl in an Artesia drug store last Tuesday afternoon was observed eating doughnuts a la mode with pineapple sherbet substituted for the ice cream part.

With the summer temperature soaring around a par 100 most of these days, there's always experimentation in foods as a means of beating the heat wave.

District Employment Services To Hold Conference in Artesia

CC Nominates Trio for Posts With State EDC

Three Artesians have been nominated to serve on the reactivated State Economic Development Commission, by the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

They are C. L. Withers, 45, executive vice president and manager of the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company; Cecil Waldrep, 38, executive vice president of Peoples State Bank and Artie M. McAnally, 53, manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association.

In a letter dated July 24, from Robert K. Koonce, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce to Gov. Edwin L. Mechem, qualifications of the Artesia nominees are given.

The letter reads:
Dear Governor Mechem:
Your proposed action with respect to the New Mexico Economic Development Commission makes complete sense. Chambers may be relied upon to nominate reliable men on a non-partisan basis. Moreover, the EDC was originally conceived in a joint meeting of Chamber managers and UNM officials.

Our candidates have been carefully selected by the executive committee, taking into consideration ability, integrity, prestige and past records of public service. Political affiliation was completely disregarded and all have indicated that they are willing to serve.

Self-Taught Engineer
C. L. Withers, 45, is executive vice president and general manager of New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company, largest in the state; and vice president of the Artesia Pipe Line Company. As a member of the EDC committee on freight rates, Withers was instrumental in steering policy toward creation of a state freight rate bureau, such as we now have under the Corporation Commission, opposed to the former voluntary, privately supported organization without official status.

Mr. Withers was born in Sarcoxie, Mo., and attended the University of Conway, Conway, Ark. His business career began with Skelley Oil Company in 1925 and is a progressive pattern of growth into executive ranks with oil and pipeline companies in Illinois and Kansas. A self-taught engineer, Mr. Withers has been superintendent on various river and railroad projects for the construction of loading racks, shipping docks and the like at Memphis and for the Big Inch pipeline at Gale, Ill. He became vice president and general manager of the Allied Oil Corporation and Basin Oil and Refining Company in 1938, overseeing the operation of 1000 miles of pipeline and two refineries. He served on the Technical Advisory Committee of the War Production Board during World War II.

Mr. Withers came to New Mexico in his present capacity in 1946 and has become a leading citizen in this area. He has headed every important committee of this organization and is president of the Artesia Country Club. He is married and has one child.

Since Numex products are sold throughout the state under all brands, including major companies, Mr. Withers has a concrete interest in the economic and industrial development of New Mexico. He is a keen and logical thinker with the courage of his convictions and, in view of his experience in transportation and industry, should prove to be an outstanding member of the Economic Development Commission.

Cecil Waldrep, 38, is executive vice president of the Peoples State Bank of Artesia, and representative of the young and vigorous leadership being developed in this community and throughout the state. A business administration graduate of Oxford Institute of Chicago, and Toby's Business College, Waco, Mr. Waldrep has made banking his career with the First National and Midland National banks of Midland. Actually, his connection with banking began when, at the age of 13, he started as assistant janitor in a bank. Therefore, Mr. Waldrep knows banking and finance literally from the ground up.

He is a home owner, married and father of three children. His record of public service is outstanding locally; Mr. Waldrep is a director of the Artesia Chamber, Peoples State Bank, Southeast New Mexico Girl Scouts and Knife and Fork Club; he is a Mason, a Kiwanian and chairman of the Artesia Country Club entertainment committee.

The Peoples State Bank, incorporated in 1948, has grown rapidly from Muskegon, Michigan.

Tommy Hager, 38, is executive vice president and general manager of the Artesia Pipe Line Company. As a member of the EDC committee on freight rates, Withers was instrumental in steering policy toward creation of a state freight rate bureau, such as we now have under the Corporation Commission, opposed to the former voluntary, privately supported organization without official status.

Interest in Rate Hearing Zero, So Session Cancelled

Lack of interest has caused cancellation of plans for a local hearing on freight rates.

Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce, sent out notices of the session, which was to have been held here Aug. 1, but response was not forthcoming so the meeting was called off.

Edward Mahoney, freight rate equalization board rate expert, will be in Carlsbad on Wednesday night, Aug. 1, to conduct a hearing there, following a similar assembly in Clovis, July 30, and Roswell, July 31.

Evangelist Speaks At Dorcas Class Luncheon Tuesday

Members of the Dorcas Class of the First Baptist Church held a luncheon at the church Tuesday with their families and the special workers for the revival meeting as guests.

Evangelist Eual Lawson spoke to the group in the interest of the revival. About 35 attended.

Since it was the time for the regular monthly meeting of the class, the members had a short business meeting with Mrs. Burr Clem, president, in charge.

The class song, Help Somebody Today, was sung by the group. The class Scripture, Psalm 37:3 was repeated in unison.

Mrs. Ernest Comer gave a report of work done by the class members for the past month.

A gift was presented Mrs. R. C. Heffner, who has been a supply teacher this summer, but is returning to her home in Fort Worth.

Mrs. Heffner led the closing prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman are now living at 305 South Roselawn and on Aug. 1 are moving to Roswell.

Latest available figures show that New York City has 37,870 manufacturing establishments.

Country Club Chatter

By JACK FAUNTLEROY

The big item this week is the swimming pool, which you probably read about in the news story in last Friday's paper.

Considering the fact that the excavation work was started last Thursday, and most of it was completed by Monday afternoon, it looks as if we will be able to do a lot of swimming before the weather gets too cold. Chuck Brown has estimated the completion date between 30 and 40 days from the beginning date, barring unforeseen difficulties.

The REA has been cooperative in moving some of the poles that were located in the vicinity of the pool, and in stringing in new lines to the club. Because of their help, there was no delay with the excavation work. Some of the forms will be laid and concrete poured this week.

If you don't think that equipment can haul a hunk of dirt, you ought to drive out and see that massive pile of pure caliche that is sitting by the side of the pool. Cave City Tied Carlsbad came up in a herd Sunday for the inter-city match. The notice of the match was in the column last week, but that column had to be delayed because of lack of space in last Friday's issue.

Anyhow, they came up here

Jo Ann Short-Allen Ray White Approaching Nuptials Announced

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Short announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Jo Ann to Allen Ray White, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White, on Thursday evening.

The occasion was a birthday dinner at the home of her parents given for a group of Jo Ann's friends. The news was announced on the birthday cake.

The white cake had 18 boy and girl candles arranged in pairs around the edge. In the center was written "Jo Ann-Allen, October 6." Miss Short was a member of the 1951 graduating class of the Artesia High School, and is a past worthy advisor of the Artesia Rainbow Assembly. She is employed in the office of Dr. C. P. Bunch, as receptionist.

Mr. White was a member of the 1950 graduating class of Artesia High School, and is employed by the Western Battery and Magneto Company.

Jumping July

All previous records for dinners and club house attendance were broken last week. July has been the busiest month to date, and each week has exceeded the previous week during this month. John Cochran of the club house committee and Paul Nissen are to be congratulated on the manner in which the club house is functioning. The driving range, made possible largely through the help of Ross Sears and Van Welch, is furnishing enjoyable entertainment to large crowds during the evenings.

At the last board of directors meeting, Ross Sears resigned his position on the board of directors, due to pressing business matters. Van Welch was appointed to finish the unexpired term.

Bob Bourland has promised to have the prizes for the tournament on display by the first of August. The time for the tournament will soon be here, and we hope to have a full schedule of the events in next week's column. The tournament will begin on Saturday, Aug. 18.

to Drill a Gas Well? You Can Try for Only $250,000

Gas and oil are the mainstays of the economy of this region, but many people know what it takes to drill a gas well? The Pipeline magazine of the El Paso Natural Gas Company, in their latest issue, gives some pertinent information on the subject.

First of all, according to the account in the magazine, you had better dig up about a quarter of a million dollars to buy materials and hire the skilled men required to drill a two-mile deep hole into the ground.

Then you'll need to get hold of 600 to 12,000 feet of casing, 100 to 15,000 feet of casing, hundreds of sacks of mud, thousands of gallons of water, a good deal of explosives, acids, and all the other assorted things essential to drilling.

Then hire 15 to 20 shifts of men to work on a three shifts per day, seven days a week basis, for about one and one-half months and there you have a gas well. What? You didn't pay dirt? Well, get another quarter of a million dollars and we another try.

Among the riskiest undertakings in the oil and gas industries is drilling. Geologists can establish by various tests that gas and oil might be present in a certain location, but only actual drilling will reveal the presence of gas or oil. Despite the fact that geologists make preliminary studies, four out of five wells drilled are "dry holes"—all expense and no pay.

In addition to the danger of hitting dry holes there is also the possibility of "fouled up" completions, which includes such things as sanding of equipment, mud coming into the well, thus fouling it.

To avoid the pitfalls of a dry hole and the concomitant waste of $50,000, gas companies take special precautions in selection of sites, in adapting drilling methods to fit the requirements of the terrain and the geological structures of the field, and in hiring only the best skilled men to do the drilling.

Know Geology

One of the prime requisites for successful drilling is knowledge of geology of the area, although even with it there is no assurance you will strike gas or oil.

Although geologists do not agree 100 per cent among themselves as to the origin of natural gas and oil, a general consensus of opinion is that both originated from the decay of dead animals and plants.

After the gas was formed it seeps up through the sand, which is part of the soil at that time, and became trapped by the solid rock on top of the layer of sand. It became encased in a layer of limestone. The gas in these rock formations is not evenly distributed, hence if one drills too deep or not deep enough one hits a dry hole, while one may strike gas at another location only a few miles away.

Each Field Differs

Because of differences in gas composition, distribution, and gas pressures, each field must be drilled and developed according to a separate plan, according to its geological structure and gas formations.

Selection of well sites is determined primarily by geological data which indicates there is a good possibility of striking gas. There are no rules regarding the distance between wells. These are generally set down by state law.

Other factors which must be watched are the accessibility of water for drilling, and the danger of floods or cave-ins. Water should be within fairly easy reach of the well site, but locations near areas subject to floods or cave-ins are to be avoided.

Cable and Rotary

There are two basic methods used for drilling wells, the cable tool and the rotary, the method being employed depending on conditions prevailing at a given field.

The cable tool method might be described as hammering a hole into the ground. The cable tool is a heavy instrument, the lower end of which is shaped into a chisel-like shape. It is suspended on the edge of a cable; hence the name.

By means of a walking beam, the tool is repeatedly lifted and dropped. It strikes the soil with a heavy blow, and the edge of the tool cuts into the earth.

In between blows, the tool is slowly twisted so that over a period of time, it cuts a round hole.

The bit consists, primarily, of two wheels with sharp teeth which grind through the earth. The bit itself is suspended at the end of the drill pipe.

Drilling mud is forced downward through the drill pipe, comes out through the drilling bit, and is back to the surface between the drill pipe and the soil through which the hole is being drilled.

The drilling mud brings up the bits of rock, soil, and sand which are cut loose by the drilling bit. The mud serves as a lubricant, reducing the friction between the drill pipe and the sides of the hole, thus lessening the possibility of a cave-in. Also it keeps gas from escaping through and around the pipe.

Drilling mud is run through a shale shaker after being circulated through the well. The bits of rock and other debris are removed, and the mud is then pumped through the pipe again.

Cable tools rigs are used when the pools of gas are fairly small and where pressures are light. A rotary rig can be used in the initial stages of drilling.

It's A Tough Job

Well drilling is a tough, hard, arduous job demanding great effort and much know how on the part of the men. Even in so simple a matter of maintaining the proper tension on the drilling cable there are problems to be met.

Thus if the cable is too tight, the bit will fail to strike the ground hard enough to penetrate. If the cable is too loose the tool will not be raised and dropped at all, the full movement of the walking beam being absorbed entirely by the line.

Keeping the line the proper tightness sounds simple enough. But the line is half a mile long and the cable tool is far below the surface, and it requires expert skill and judgment to keep drilling moving ahead.

As the hole gets deeper the timing with which the tool is lifted and dropped must be slowed down. There is a rhythm of movement inherent in the movement of long and heavy weights.

To drill too slowly when the hole is shallow or to drill too rapidly when it is deep will result in inefficient and expensive drilling.

In rotary drilling, the driller (the man who operates the huge engines which power the rig) must keep careful watch on the weight indicator.

Instrument Is Guide

This is an instrument which shows the weight of the drill pipe suspended from the rig.

If the drill pipe snaps in half there is a sudden drop in the weight of pipe suspended.

If the drilling bit snags the weight indicator records the change in weight.

There is a tendency for the drill pipe to curve off to one side or the other, rather than going straight down. Should the drill pipe go crooked, great friction develops between it and the side of the hole again causing the weight indicator to change.

However, the weight indicator is not the only instrument used to determine if a true and straight hole is being drilled. Other instruments are also used. Sometimes a slanted hole is desired. This is particularly true in coastal areas where gas or oil wells are drilled thousands of feet off shore.

Drilling Not All

If the tools can not be recovered, an effort is made to drill around them. If neither of these courses is open, the hole must be abandoned, resulting in a total loss.

When this happens the rig must be moved to one side of the pool and drilling process started over.

The proper weight mud is needed to prevent gas from escaping through and around the drill pipe. If the mud is too light when the bit hits the pay zone, high pressure gas would blow the mud out entirely, thus fouling drilling operations.

If on the other hand, the mud is too thick and heavy drilling would be slowed down and mud would move in on the well and kill it.

There are various ways to get mud the proper weight or thickness when it is too thin. Iron fillings may be added, various materials may be mixed with water; this method can also be used when the mud is too thick.

Drilling is not the only operation necessary for producing a gas well. Casing must be put into the well at various depths. Casing is left in place, when new pipes are put in at a lower depth.

Casing is cemented into place. Drilling crews must calculate how much cement is needed to hold the casing in place. This amount is then poured down a pipe, forced out the bottom and up along the sides of the casing between it and the soil, taking care not to block off the well. This mixture must then be left to stand for 24 hours to allow the cement to dry.

Boom-Boom Added

After a well is cased and cemented, it must be treated to increase the flow of gas through the soil at the bottom of the well. This process requires 2,000 quarts of nitroglycerin, which is exploded so as to shatter and pulverize the material at the bottom of the well.

The casing is set in place at the top of the pay zone. A cable tool drill is used to go through the producing formation. Solidified nitroglycerin is loaded into slender tubes and lowered into a hole through the pay zone.

The well casing is then walled with mud, the weight of which will direct the force of the blast upward.

The nitroglycerin is fired by means of a timing device. On the surface, personnel hear distant "boom" sounding much like a large gauge shotgun being fired far away. For a few seconds there is nothing to indicate the tremendous force, which has been unleashed a mile beneath the surface.

Then, for the next three to five minutes, depending on the depth of the well the mud shoots into the air, shoved up by the expanding gas from the explosion.

Gradually the mud disappears and high pressure comes rushing out. The gas is a little black at first because of the fluids dissolved within it.

After the gas becomes clear, the well is shut down and work begins on the completion of the valves used to control the flow of the gas.

Goodwin, Ground Give Workout for Quill of J. Brown

Jerry Brown, sports editor of The Daily Current-Argus, Carlsbad, has criticism for the Artesia Municipal Park infield and some humorous but with polite comment on Red Goodwin's umpiring the American Legion Junior baseball district tournament games, July 14-15.

Writing in his column, "Much Ado," in a recent issue, Brown says a "more professional job of ground keeping would solve a few problems of the Drillers."

In commenting on Goodwin, he wryly says that "the only sour note in the day's activity, as far as we were concerned, was that while Red Goodwin was booting people out of the game as fast as they could get out of the dugout, Carlsbad's American Legion entry was losing both games."

Brown's reference to Goodwin's "booting" was in conjunction with arguments with M. A. Shaw, Hobbs manager, and an occupant of the Roswell bench, a player not in the game at that time, both of whom, being banished, Brown said.

Red Rides Again

The shoe was on the other foot, so to speak, last week-end when Red Goodwin, the manager of REA's all-conquering softball team from Artesia, was umpire-in-chief of the American Legion Junior baseball tournament at Artesia.

We had the pleasure of watching both afternoon games last Sunday, July 15, and Red, who has made a bit of a reputation for himself locally as an "umpire baiter," had his hands full.

He proved equal to the occasions, however, and handled all situations with, if not modest dignity, at least vigorous persistence.

Chemical Nine Stages Comeback

With the addition of some new players and the benefit of a season's work together beginning to show results, the International Minerals and Chemicals softball team has begun to move into the winning column in the Carlsbad Recreation Association.

The Internationalite, company monthly newspaper, says that out of eight games played during the last month "this fast-moving squad has won five."

Cause of the three losses is attributed to the fact that "several of the key men have been working on afternoon shifts the last two weeks. This made it necessary to shift players to new positions with the loss of efficiency which always comes with such a change."

Manager Bill Good reports that he hopes to be able to enter a strong team in the district softball tournament in August and September.

Rain Harassed Drillers Play Rockets Tonight

After playing a return match with Roswell tonight, the Drillers take off on the road again, playing at Sweetwater Saturday and Sunday and at Vernon Monday and Tuesday.

Rain and bad luck greeted the Drillers in this week's operations. Home games against San Angelo last Sunday and Monday, July 22-23, were rained out and then the Drillers went on to lose to the Rockets at Roswell, Tuesday and Wednesday, 9-2 and 2-1.

The rained-out games against San Angelo will be made up by double headers the next time these two teams meet, which will be Aug. 19-20.

The Drillers started off Tuesday's game good, drawing first blood, but were met by an onslaught of four runs by the Rockets in the bottom half of the first inning, which came on two hits, a walk and three Driller errors.

Dean Franks was the winning pitcher, Miller the loser.

In Wednesday's game, the Drillers fared a little better, holding the Rockets scoreless for the first four innings, after the Drillers had scored a run in the first frame.

Neither side committed any errors in Wednesday night's contest. However, the Drillers could not make good the one run deficit incurred in the fifth inning.

Wednesday's game:

Former Sports Editor's Hot Days

While Artesians and their neighbors north and south curse the heat, at least one former resident of Carlsbad seems to miss it.

He is Homer Starr, former sports editor of the Carlsbad Current-Argus, now serving in the Navy aboard the U.S.S. Rochester.

In a recent communication to the Current-Argus from San Francisco he writes:

"It's dark, humid and cool around here. Even in town the temperature rarely gets above 90 degrees. I sure miss that invigorating, dry, 110-degree Carlsbad weather you keep bragging about in the Current-Argus."

Artesia Softball Team in Top Spot Of Carlsbad Loop

With only three more weeks remaining on the Carlsbad Recreation Association softball schedule, an alien team, Artesia REA, rests atop the men's league heap with a three-game margin.

REA is the only non-Carlsbad outfit in the league. Furr Foods is in second place, Catholic Youth Organization third, and 20-30 Club fourth.

Thousand Skunks In Yearly Catch Of State Bureau

Other predators taken were—1,037 skunks.

So reads a portion of the weekly newsletter of the state game and fish department in reporting 7,123 predatory birds and animals destroyed during the thirty-ninth fiscal year just ended.

Just how the skunks were "taken" and who was brave enough to get near a skunk without a battery of shooting irons isn't explained. However, the report indicates they were trapped.

She plains wolf, the coyote, as fading out of the picture, as only 1,394 coyotes were killed, 90 less than last year, but the bobcat is gaining. The bobcat, natural foe of the wild turkey, accounted for a 587 catch as compared with 406 the last fiscal year.

Sixty-nine mountain lions, largest and the Number 1 predator in the Southwest, were taken. These killers destroy 50 deer each year besides a costly take of cattle and colts.

Golden eagles, 99; foxes, 522; hawks, 592; owls, 88; beaver, 740, of which 65 were live trapped and transplanted from where they were doing damage to areas to where their dam building will be beneficial to water conservation in the mountains.

Artesia Team To Vie in Area Softball Tilt

Carlsbad will be the site of two major New Mexico Amateur Softball Association tournaments next month, C. J. Powell, state softball commissioner for the AAU group, announced.

The men's southeast district tournament will be held Aug. 13-18 at the Carlsbad Recreation Association's ball park at Carlsbad Municipal Beach.

Artesia's REA team, which is leading the Carlsbad Recreation Association's men's loop, will be one of the contenders.

State women's tourney will be Aug. 22-25 at the same field. All games will be played at night, and entry fees are $10 per team, plus 25 cents per player.

Deadline for entries is Aug. 3 for the men's tournament, and Aug. 15 for the women's.

Admission prices for both tourneys will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children under 12 for each night. At least two games will be played every night, according to the Carlsbad Recreation Association, co-sponsor of the tourneys with the ASA.

Only ASA-registered umpires

Los Angeles Paper To Publish Story On Artesia Eagles

Artesia and the Artesia Eagles, local baseball team, will receive big town publicity in the Aug. 5 issue of a metropolitan newspaper.

Giles E. Wright of the Los Angeles Examiner has written Bob Koonce, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, that the Artesian's 1800-word story with pictures will be published in the Los Angeles newspaper on Aug. 5.

How many pictures will be used was not stated. Koonce sent six photographs, including a shot of Eagle Park, others of Gilbert Rivas and Abe Nunez at work on the field.

The Eagles financed the entire deal and did all the work on their park.

Letter from the Los Angeles newspaperman, dated July 23, was received in Artesia yesterday.

The idea of the feature yarn on the Eagles stemmed from stories first written by E. B. Emerson, at that time sports editor of The Artesia Advocate.

will be used for the tournaments, G. J. Brown, district commissioner, announced.

Any amateur softball team is eligible to participate in the tournaments, and Brown emphasized that a team's standing in a local league has no bearing on its eligibility to enter the tourneys.

Entries should be addressed to the Carlsbad Recreation Association, 116 1/2 North Canyon, Carlsbad. A team roster should accompany each entry.

The Heart association, one of four organizations footing the bill for the workshop, has branches in Taos, Los Alamos, Roswell, Santa Fe, and Albuquerque.

It has clinics at Santa Fe, Roswell and Albuquerque that care for children afflicted with heart disease.

The principal problem of the association, which will be discussed at the workshop, is the shortage of beds for heart patients.

Keeping more than 200 doctors in New Mexico informed about the latest developments in cures and preventions of heart diseases, of which surprisingly little is known, 30 Per Cent for Research.

The two-year-old association sends 30 per cent of the money collected during its drive to the national organization to be used for research.

ease kill more children than all the other child's diseases together.

Specialists who will be consultants at the workshop include: Dr. Elizabeth S. Avery, American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation; Dr. Donald Dukelow, American Medical Association; Miss Charlotte Leach, National Tuberculosis Association; P. I. Sandell, Minnesota Dept. of Education, and Dr. H. F. Kilander, specialist for health education, U. S. Office of Education.

Pennsylvanian New REA Chief

William C. Wise is the new deputy administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration, succeeding George W. Haggard, one of the six REA officials killed in an airplane crash in Colorado a month ago.

Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture, announced Wise's appointment in a circular letter to REA staff and borrowers. The letter also contained news of the appointment of S. Riggs Shepperd of Merkel, Texas, as assistant administrator.

A copy of the letter was sent to Paul L. Frost, manager of Central Valley Electric of Artesia. Frost is acquainted with the new administrator.

A copy of the letter reads: Mr. Wise is well known to all of you by virtue of his long and extremely valuable service in the REA program. He was appointed Assistant Administrator on Nov. 1, 1949, and since June 1, 1951, has had the working title of Deputy Administrator in recognition of his handling of responsibilities covering the entire range of the REA program.

Mr. Wise was reared on a farm in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, earned his LL.B. degree at the University of Pennsylvania in 1933, and practiced law in Philadelphia for two years. He joined the REA staff as an attorney in 1935 and has been associated with the program ever since, except during the period of World War II, when he served with the Army in the European Theatre.

Mr. Shepperd is also known to many of you through his work, since 1941, as manager of the Taylor Electric Cooperative of Merkel, Texas. He had his first association with the REA program in 1938, when he assisted with the organization of the Cap Peak Electric Cooperative of Stanton, Texas. At that time, he was Superintendent of Schools of Martin County, Texas.

In the last 10 years he has made an outstanding record as an REA co-op manager and has participated actively in state-wide and national REA affairs.

He was one of the organizers of the Texas Power Reserve Electric Cooperative, assisted with the drafting of the first by-laws of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association in 1943, and is now a member of NRECA's telephone committee.

He is also president of the Mid-Texas Electric Generating and Transmission Cooperative, which was organized to provide power to six distribution cooperatives in Texas.

He was born in Colorado City, Texas, is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and did graduate study at Texas Technological

New Mexico 4-H Encampment Opens August 6

New Mexico's cream of the crop, over 400 top-ranking 4-H boys and girls, will converge on New Mexico A. & M. College en masse for the state's 28th annual 4-H encampment which begins Monday evening, August 6.

County winners all, these youths will compete at encampment for state awards and national awards to state winners including trips to National Club Congress, Chicago; National Western Stock Show, Denver; National Dairy Congress, Waterloo, Iowa; and National Junior Vegetable Growers Meeting, New Orleans; plus awards of gold watches, savings bonds, chests of silverware, and scholarships.

L. S. Kurtz, New Mexico's state 4-H club leader, says competition for these honors will be extremely keen, with county winners battling for top place. But it's a spirit of friendly competition, and win or lose makes little difference in the enjoyment of camp. It's the meeting of old friends, making new acquaintances, the pleasant atmosphere, and the "just plain fun", rather than the contests that makes encampment one of the biggest events for a 4-H boy or girl. In keeping with the 4-H theme, "Working Together for World Understanding," the entire week's program has been planned around this central idea. In fact, a United Nations party promises to be one of the highlights. Forty visiting youths from Latin America countries will be honored guests at this affair.

Other distinguished guest speakers at the encampment will include Emmie Nelson, Chicago member of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, and Rev. Albert E. Tucker, Albuquerque, with a discussion both entertaining and educational.

The annual trek to White Sands is a trip the 4-H'ers will long remember. Then too, those 4-H "Dead-Eye Dicks" will have an opportunity to display their skill with a rifle. And what 4-H clubber won't enjoy the chuck wagon supper in the out-of-doors? Included in the line-up of entertainment will be the one-act plays presented by district winners. All this plus the dress revue adds up to a week "chucked-full" of things to do.

Longest stone arch railroad bridge in the world is the Rockville bridge, crossing the Susquehanna river near Harrisburg, Pa.

Nothing is absolutely impervious to radium rays.

College. I know that he will be a valuable addition to the REA staff.

Oil Compact Board to Meet In Fort Worth

Allan Shivers of Texas, chairman of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission, announced today that the 1951 Summer Meeting of the Commission will be held in Fort Worth, on Sept. 10 and 11.

In announcing this meeting, Governor Shivers said that all standing committees of the Commission will meet in all-day sessions, Monday, Sept. 10, and Tuesday, Sept. 11, will be devoted to reports of committees and a business session. Governor Shivers also pointed out that business of the Compact Commission will be emphasized at this meeting; however, all interested persons are invited to attend any of the sessions. The meeting will adjourn at noon on Tuesday.

Headquarters for the meeting will be in the Texas Hotel, and reservations should be made direct with the hotel.

Cattlemen To Tour Range In Clayton Area

Two dates New Mexico cattlemen will want to circle on their calendar are July 30 and September 10. July 30, the Aberdeen-Angus field day has been scheduled at the George Curtis ranch north of Melrose. This is a two-day meeting.

September 10, the New Mexico Hereford Association has planned a three-day range tour. On the morning of the first day the cattlemen will have an opportunity to visit ranches in the Clayton area. The second day the touring cowmen will leave Clayton and en route to Raton will make ranch stops along the way.

Lovington Educator To Direct School Bus Drivers Study

Supt. H. C. Pannell of Lovington, a past president of the New Mexico Education Association, will be in charge of the Aug. 2 session of the five-day New Mexico school bus drivers summer institute at New Mexico Western College, Silver City.

A new course, "Joint Problems of the Bus Drivers and Superintendents," has been added to the annual course.

Mrs. Marjorie F. Martin is director of the institute.

Closing the week's classes will be Tom Wiley, New Mexico superintendent of schools.

With superintendents being responsible for a great share of the operation of school bus transportation, Mrs. Martin feels that bus drivers should realize their problems.

On the other hand, superintendents should become cognizant of the bus drivers' problems in transporting the children to and from schools. The course is expected to provide an important interplay of opinions, she feels.

Author of Song Hit Student At New Mexico University

Just being author of a song that has grossed over $5,000,000 should be enough fame for one man.

Not so with Alonzo Elliott, University of New Mexico graduate music student who wrote "There's a Long, Long Trail" while he was an undergraduate back at Yale University in 1913.

He went on to write the official marching song for the British Eighth Army and received a congratulatory letter from Field Marshal Bernard Law Montgomery.

It began: "My Dear Elliott, Thanks a million for your wonderful song. Please excuse this writing paper which we only recently captured from the Italian Fascists."

Curiously enough the "Long, Long Trail" song was slow in catching the popular fancy.

After writing the song, which was done with some help from Stoddard King, also a Yale student, Elliott packed it away in his bags and went to Trinity College in England.

By chance a British music publisher heard Elliott playing his compositions and offered the publisher the song if the composer would pay half the publishing fee, nine pounds and 13 shillings.

Elliott borrowed the money from his mother and the war tune that was destined to thrill two continents was launched.

A boatload of Canadian soldiers sailing down the Thames first sang the song into the hearts of a people at war.

After duty in the signal corps during World War I and some 15 years of study in Europe, Elliott came back to America, studied some at New Mexico A. & M. and took a bachelor of music degree from the University of Arizona this past June.

Now studying with world-famous Dr. Ernst Krenek at the University of New Mexico, Elliott plans to take a master's degree at UNM.

He wants to do for Billy the Kid what UNM Dean J. D. Robb did in his opera, "The Life and Death of Little Jo." Elliott thinks there is food for a folk opera on William Bonney, alias Billy the Kid.

An electric wall outlet designed to protect children against shocks and burns has caps that rotate automatically to cover socket not in use.

County Purchases $35,681 in U. S. Bonds During June

Sales of defense bonds in Eddy County totaled $35,681.25 for the month of June, according to Eddy county chairman, L. B. Feather, Artesia. All the bonds were Series E.

Bond purchases over the state were up 31.95 per cent over the May total with the increase being contributed by Series B bonds which netted $241,700. Sales of Series E and F declined slightly.

Total sales came to $707,251.75 in June, and $543,587 in May.

Bernalillo County led all others with $164,527.25.

and in a balanced manner under Mr. Waldrep's administration; it is now one of the outstanding new banks in New Mexico. He has become thoroughly acquainted with such important phases of the state's economy as farming, ranching and oil production.

Fair and ethical in all business practices, universally respected and liked, Mr. Waldrep is qualified in every respect and he is submitted as a candidate for appointment to the EDC with absolute confidence in his ability.

In State 14 Years

Artie M. McAnally, 53, is manager of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association, largest farm and ranch cooperative and among the bigger corporations in New Mexico. Born in Kosse, Texas, he has lived in the state 14 years. A high school graduate, he attended Draughan's Business College in Fort Worth. He is the father of five children.

Mr. McAnally is active in civic affairs as a member of the board of directors of Artesia Public School; he is past president of both the Artesia Chamber and American Legion and a Mason.

The Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association serves its membership by operating four cotton gins, a grain elevator and alfalfa mill; it also handles feeds, supplies and farm equipment. Mr. McAnally has been a railroader and farmer in addition to managing the complex and thriving association.

A man of broad experience and sound judgment, Mr. McAnally commands the respect of farm and city leaders throughout the Pecos Valley. He is capable of rendering outstanding public service as a member of the Economic Development Commission and should prove valuable as an expert on the industrial potential of the state in the matter of farm-allied industries.

W. M. Linell— (Continued from Page One)

Mrs. Linell will accompany him to Albuquerque.

His son, Albert Linell and his family of 1105 Hermosa will remain in Artesia.

Linell has lived in Artesia for 48 years, coming here in 1903. He was a member of Rotary, the fire department, American Legion, Country Club, and was an elder in the Presbyterian Church. However, recently he has not been too active in any of these organizations, except for his church activities for reasons of health.

Health reasons were also the main one for the move to Albuquerque.

His wife has also been active in civic affairs, having been a member of P.E.O., Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society, and Fortnightly Bridge Club.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Linell were members of the Pioneers Club.

Rising Tide Of Vets Poses Work Problem

In 20 years there will be three million veterans over 60 years old, says Walter E. Taylor of New Mexico Employment Service. He says the department of labor, through its state employment services, is studying the problem, of what can be done to improve work opportunities for these older veterans.

Many will be disabled and eligible for entry into veterans hospitals and experience has shown that when veterans over 60 enter a veterans hospital they usually stay there.

There are now a million veterans over 60.

California Project

An experimental project with over-60 veterans is currently being carried on in a California veterans hospital. Each veteran's case is studied by a special board of medical examiners to see what degree of rehabilitation is possible.

The report is then passed to a rehabilitation section where the veteran is trained to get work in industry. It has been found that even arthritic patients of considerable disablement can be placed in private industry when properly trained.

The veterans administration is trying to show that many veterans now in the hospitals and without hope of ever working again can be trained to go back into the labor market.

The project has shown that veterans will make extraordinary efforts to rehabilitate themselves and if the present California experiment is a success, similar projects will be set up elsewhere in the country.

Brains

If you are just an ordinary run-of-the-mill guy and have trouble finding the right job, don't feel discouraged. Phi Beta Kappas, at least some of them, have the same trouble.

Members of that exclusive, honorary, scholastic society, the cream of the brainy crop of U. S. college graduates, sometime have trouble getting just the kind of job they want, according to the Key Reporter, the Phi Beta Kappa news magazine.

The magazine has a column headed: "Know of an opening?", in which are listed the names and qualifications of Phi Beta Kappa members who have not yet found jobs. In spite of the present shortages of professional workers, the magazine lists quite a number of near-geniuses who want jobs in their field. Of course, all of these people could get jobs, but some have difficulty getting work in the field of work for which they are trained.

IS SEX A SIN?

By FULTON J. SHEEN

Where did the sex fanatics get the idea that the Church was the enemy of the flesh? They got it from their inability to make a distinction—a distinction between use and abuse.
Because the Church condemns the abuse of a nature, the sex fanatics think the Church condemns the use of nature.
Yes, there can be sin in the domain of sex, as there can be sin in the domain of property, or in the area of self-love. But the sin does not lie in the instinct or the passion itself. Our instincts and our passions are God-given, and are not in themselves sinful. Sin is not in hunger, but in gluttony. Sin is not in the seeking of economic security, but in avarice. Sin is not in drink, but in drunkenness. Sin is not in recreation, but in laziness. Sin is not in the love of the flesh, but in lust, which is its perversion. Just as dirt is matter in the wrong place, so sex can be flesh in the wrong place.
An undue concentration upon a single one of life's activities tends to make a man abnormal through lopsidedness of interest. This is especially true of an excessive preoccupation with the carnal. It tends to make what is physical psychic, by tracing everything back to a single instinct.
Sex in other ages was physical; it resulted in new life. Today it is because it often thwarts life, it is also psychic.
Sex is thought about as a medium of pleasure to such a degree that it has become an obsession. Just as a singer could go crazy by concentrating on his throat instead of his song, and an orchestra conductor could become neurotic by concentrating on his baton instead of his score, so modern man can go crazy thinking about sex instead of about life.
Since the stress on sex is due to a forgetfulness of the true nature of man as body and spirit, it follows that the release from anxieties, tensions, and unhappiness (created by identifying man with a beast) is dependent upon a restoration of the meaning of love. Love includes the flesh; but sex, understood as animal instinct, does not include love. And human love always implies Perfect Love.
Do you want to know how to find that love? Then begin a Holy Hour of prayer today and God will whisper to you the secret of perfection: you will come closer to knowing what Love is by loving, rather than by being loved.

Companies Strive to Supply as City Demand Despite Flood

of the flood and fire-damaged area of the Kansas City, Mo., area, supplied with all the petroleum products they need despite damage done to oil companies, equipment and storages. W. D. Rumel, chief of the Missouri Oil Information Committee, has to national committees in New York.

Losses which may run into millions of dollars, oil companies in the Kansas City area are around the clock on a co-basis to supply the needs of customers and to meet emergency requirements.

The best of getting oil to the people of Kansas City is not important, he added. "The welfare of the public is the great emergency in all that counts."

A survey by members of the Oil Information Committee showed that oil already is pouring into the flooded area from Omaha, Neb., City, Carrollton and other points. This is true of Carrolton through officials of the Refining Company expect to be there to be flooded.

The Phillips Petroleum Company has probably suffered complete loss of two bulk plants, ten or eleven tanks and stocks of tires, batteries and accessories. Its refinery in the Fairfax district is 12 to 14 feet under water.

The Continental Oil Company, of which Co-Chairman Rumel is assistant division manager, has lost a warehouse and eight tanks while the Bottenfeld Grease and Oil Company has lost two warehouses containing containers and raw materials.

Standard's third largest shipping point, is completely covered by water, as are its machine shops and advertising storehouse.

C. C. Lillis, president of the Southern Oil Company, estimated that oil loss, damage to tanks and office buildings and destruction by fire of 12 tank trucks would amount to more than $420,000.

Air Force Seeks Civilian Workers From New Mexico

The appointment of Mrs. Reba Stubbs as air force overseas recruitment representative for New Mexico was announced today by the civilian personnel office at Kirtland Air Force Base in Albuquerque.

Mrs. Stubbs will be remembered as Reba Thomas while attending high school at Clayton and Highlands University at Las Vegas. She has been a resident of New Mexico for the past 25 years and previous to this appointment was secretary to Col. Perry B. Griffith, Kirtland Base commander.

In her capacity as overseas employment recruiter, Mrs. Stubbs will be recruiting for employees who are residents of New Mexico. Her activities will be closely coordinated with the New Mexico Employment Service.

She plans to visit each city in the state where there is a local office of the New Mexico Employment Service.

The employment service has offered to provide advance information in publicity to their area offices in anticipation of Mrs. Stubbs' forthcoming visits to those areas.

Vacancies Listed
In making the announcement, the civilian personnel officer, explained that at the present there exists a most urgent need for civilian employees in overseas commands of the USAF and that Kirtland AF Base has been designated by Air Force Headquarters as the overseas recruiting station for the New Mexico area.

The most critical position vacancies are in the fields of personnel administration, industrial relations, engineering, and education and the vacancies presently exist in Alaska, Guam, Japan, Philippines, Okinawa, Germany and Saudi Arabia.

Other positions not included on the critical list are in the fields of social science, psychology and welfare, physical science, library and archives, inspection and investigation, and repair and utilities.

These positions are presently in Alaska, England, Germany, Greece, Guam, Newfoundland, Japan, Okinawa, Philippines, Saudi Arabia, Tripoli and Turkey.

The actual locations of the positions vary from day to day as needs of overseas commands change, but the applicant can choose the area he wants if he is qualified for an opening there.

Salaries on the critical list range from $3,450 to $6,400 per annum; while salaries in other positions are from $2,450 to $4,600 per annum. The normal tour of duty is twelve to twenty-four months.

Interested persons should contact Mrs. Stubbs, who operates under the Civilian Personnel Office, Building T-437, Phone 3-7831, Extension 435, at Kirtland AF Base, for further information.

What's Your Angle?

WHAT'S YOUR ANGLE? has become a familiar question these days and times because the public is very skeptical. And the public is skeptical because it is the exception instead of the rule for an individual to be promoting or helping to promote something supposedly worthwhile unless he stands to profit or to gain from the venture.

Nine times out of 10 when the public starts asking the above question, they are perfectly justified. Perhaps we would all be a little better off if we asked a little more often.

We have those come along now and then with a smooth tongue who can almost convince us they are honest, sincere and well meaning. They have us convinced they are out helping merely because of the cause and because they feel they have this obligation to their community, their county or their state.

But that is seldom true. Now and then, of course, we do have those who are perfectly honest, sincere and conscientious in their actions and they are doing whatever they feel needs to be done because they want to lend a helping hand.

These individuals, of course, deserve our consideration and they usually receive it.

But those who have an angle, so to speak, have a little difficulty kidding the public as a whole. The public is pretty wise in a good many ways and although they can and may be fooled for a while, time usually gives them the answer they seek.

It is a wise individual, who seeks to promote a project, who is honest about it and admits he stands to profit or to gain if it is worked out. It may also be to the advantage of the public. But seeking to place all the advantages as something to be given to the public and refusing to admit that we stand to gain—well the public just doesn't take hook, line and sinker as they did one time.

You usually can be more successful, go farther and get better cooperation by being honest with the public which has come to ask "what is your angle?" and which has come to seek that angle.

These angles are sort of like a lot of other things—sooner or later they appear or are learned and if we have failed to admit them we are left in a rather embarrassing position.

Need More Freedom

MOST OF OUR CHURCHES need more freedom in their church work and their church problems.

They need to be free to campaign for the things they believe to be good and fine and wholesome. We do not mean they need to be narrow and prejudiced. We have seen churches or representatives of churches who were.

We have always believed that religion is practical. We have always felt that we need common sense in our religion just as we need it in other activities of life. We realize that oftentimes much damage is done by narrow and prejudiced views being taken by church representatives or church members.

Many individuals have refused to have anything to do with churches because they accuse them of being unfair and of being hypocritical. They condemn them because of certain actions or stands they can and do take.

We have known of instances where individuals have practically dominated the activities of a church. We have known of individuals who wanted to dictate what a church would do and the stands it would take under threat of not contributing to the church.

We have never felt that the stands or the positions the church takes were to be dictated by some influential member of the church or someone who made liberal gifts to the church. The things for which the church stands are determined by the Bible.

Most of us are very familiar with these and our attitudes have changed concerning some of these things as the years have gone by.

We have changed in order to fit into the changing times. But we all know that the church stands for decency, for honesty, for integrity in a community. We know that the church is against graft and corruption and rotten politics. We know it is against gambling and the unwholesome things that can and do prevail in communities.

And we know that the church and the ministers of the church should be free to oppose these things in any community. We know they should not be controlled or dictated to by certain interests in the church.

If and when that happens, the church loses part of its usefulness in a community. The strongest church in any community is the church where the church members stand squarely behind and with the minister in fighting those things which destroy the good things and the good life in any community.

The honest, sincere and conscientious church member does exactly that.

Churches must be free to take their stands and to fight for what they believe to be right. And the community which has the churches and church members will oppose all that is not good and wholesome is free from the influences of those who are only interested in the making of money irrespective of how this money is made.

And we as church members and as citizens need to help give more freedom to our church and our church representatives so they are free to oppose—yes even to openly fight if that becomes necessary—everything which has as its purpose the destroying of the wholesome atmosphere of our communities.

We believe the churches have gained much freedom in the past few years. We want to see them continue to gain more freedom and to be perfectly free to take their stands for decency, for law, for order, for law enforcement and for the good things of life.

Far too long in the past we have handicapped our churches in bringing the greater influence for good possible because we wanted to dictate the policies and the stands which our church has taken. Unfortunately far too often what we sought to dictate was only for our own good and our own benefit instead of being for the good of the entire community.

He who shall introduce into public affairs the principles of primitive Christianity will revolutionize the world.

They say the best men are moulded out of faults, and, for the most, become much the better for being a little bad.

Advice is seldom welcome and those who want it the most always get it the least.

What Other Editors Are Saying

PRESS AGENTS

The United States government employs thousands of publicity men who serve as press agents. The majority of them rate exceedingly high pay. A salary of $5000 a year would be peanuts for them.

Every division of the various governmental bureaus has press agents to explain the work of that specific department in glowing terms, stressing its importance, magnifying its accomplishments, and paving the way for its existence throughout coming years.

These talented chaps lull the American people into complacency. They sing a song of accomplishments when such departments as they represent are rotten with loafers, squandering government money on nonessentials, ordering supplies without limitation and demanding budgets that are triple or quadruple the amount actually needed.

The government is continually seeking additional press agents, so rapidly are bureaus and divisions expanding.

Experienced reporters for the International News Service, the Associated Press, the United Press and other news services, only scratch the surface in their news gathering. Each Washington staff would have to use scores more men to thoroughly do the job of covering and investigating the source of stories in U. S. bureaus.

The high cost of this would result in rates so high that the average paper could not contract for the news—UP, INS or AP.

The news services do the next best thing. They take handouts from the hundreds of government offices. These releases are written by press agents in the employ of the U. S. government and all are biased in favor of the specific government activity from which each comes.

When you read your newspaper, you read just what the government wants you to read about governmental activities. Doesn't this sound a little familiar? Yes, it is done in Russia and her satellite nations, Argentina, and other socialistically inclined nations.

Every story you read concerning governmental activities is prepared by employees of each bureau, who are skilled at presenting a rosy picture.

Which leaves you, dear reader, in a sea of mud. You cannot trust the information—or 95 per cent of it—that emanates from Governmental bureaus in Washington. This is not the fault of the press associations, but of the gigantic machine in the na-

OVERLOOK MAIN CURE

While argument goes on about the cures for inflation, government and the people, probably have forgotten that there was one sure stoppage, but it was overlooked, just as it was ignored in World War II.

That is the simple matter of a blanket freeze at a time when all things were on a fairly equitable level.

Roosevelt's economic advisers ignored that remedy in World War II, building up a complicated system of price and wage controls that was not too effective. And Truman's economic stabilizers have been even more foolish. They have worked out a system that even they can't understand or administer.

One wonders why all the screwballs center their activities in Washington and why they are assigned to such serious matters as regulating the nation's economy. But that is the way things have shaped up.

President Truman could have called upon almost any half dozen country town store keepers who could have planned a system of controls that would have been workable and which probably would have been based upon a blanket freeze back shortly before advantage was taken of the unexpected war situation in Korea.

As a result of this prolonged bungling of the affairs of the country, and the individual particularly, the lower income bracket of the population is faced with a pitiful situation. They pay more for their living; they have little chance of increasing income, and they are threatened with greater taxes.

If that's efficiency in government then we've been misinformed for a long, long time.—Roswell Daily Record.

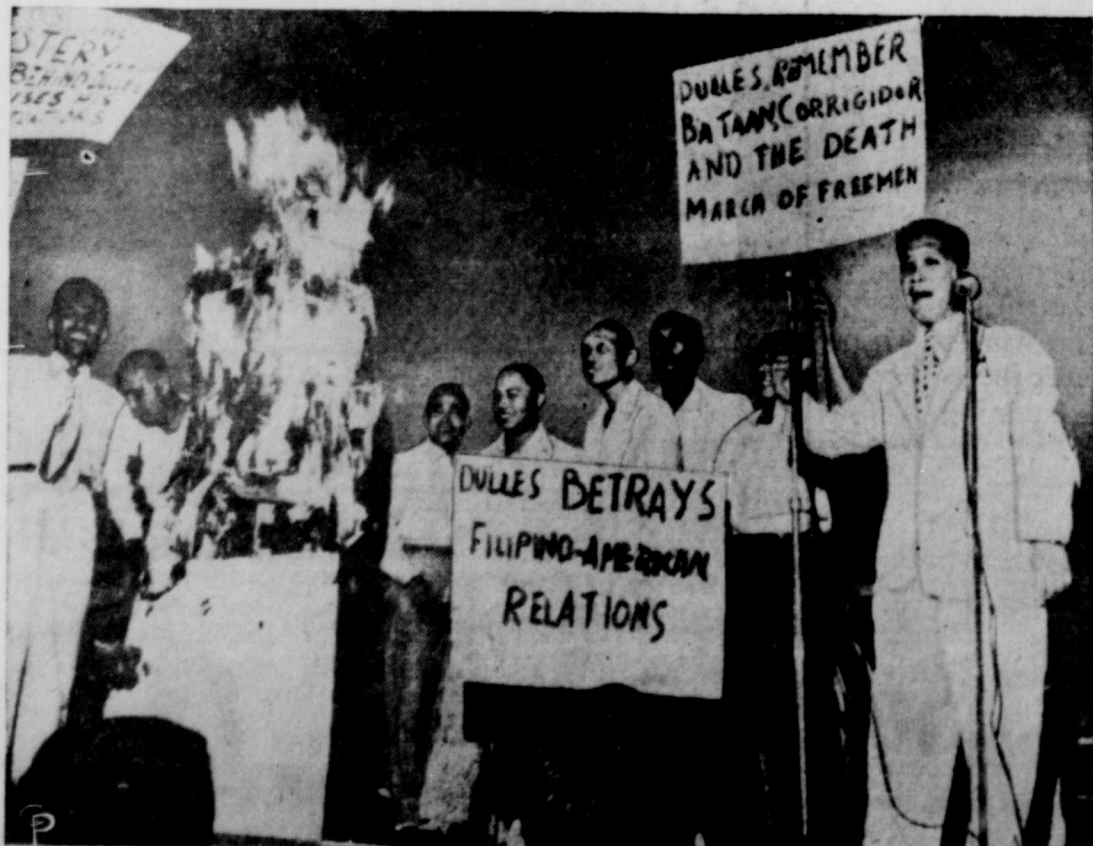

tion's capitol that is gradually taking over our living and our thinking.

You can't trust any news releases that come from government bureaus. Hence you cannot trust the government, with all its wiles, duplicity and four-flushing.

We have passed the point when the government employed 2,000,000 persons. The figure is much larger now and is growing daily.

You can stop all this when you vote next time.—Portales Tribune.

UNM Library Receives Books From Senator

A little known side of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson is his hobby as a book collector.

Anderson gets his fun first out of buying rare books, then in reading them and finally donating them to the University of New Mexico library.

To date, Mr. David Otis Kelley, UNM librarian, says that the university has received three shipments containing 675 items.

Nothing seems to give Sen. Anderson more pleasure than to run onto a book of which only one or two copies are known to be in existence. These he reads with more than casual interest and then forwards them to the UNM library.

Recently he wrote Pres. Tom L. Popejoy: "I am sending a shipment of books with others to come later. It is harder to part with the choice articles, the rare volumes, but I'll get around to it eventually."

Things Mr. Anderson likes most are old diaries, ancient statutes of southwestern states, Indian treaties, early works on anthropology. Army records in the Southwest from the early 1800's, and government documents about boundary disputes between the U. S. and Mexico.

A typical example of Senator Anderson's shrewd book collecting is a volume on General Orders by Lt. Col. E. R. S. Canby and dating from 1861-62. Colonel Canby had a small hand printing press and printed his orders from day to day on any sort of stationery available.

One incident records how a certain Lt. I. W. Clafflin "did introduce into his quarters in New Mexico a barrel of whiskey and did drink habitually of it until on the following Wednesday when the entire barrel had been drunk."

After carefully reviewing the case, it was finally settled by the order to "release Lt. Clafflin from arrest and let him resume his sword."

Books Listed

Some rather startling reversals of orders by commanding officers are included in the unusual volume. At the time, Texans were invading New Mexico and there was a rather desperate need of able bodied men to repel the Army of the Confederacy.

A list of titles reveals what a source of history the Anderson collection has meant to the University library.

It includes: Hell on the Border: He Hanged 88 Men by S. W. Harman and C. P. Stern, 1898; Dairy of a Journey from the Mississippi to the Coasts of the Pacific, Baldwin Mollhauser, 1858; Wah-To-Yah and the Taos Trail, Lewis H. Garrard, 1850; and Edwin James' Expedition from Pittsburgh to the Rocky Mountains in 1819-20.

Included in the gifts from Anderson are 60 volumes of the Bureau of American Ethnology dating from 1879-1949 and 141 numbers of the Bureau of American Ethnology Bulletin.

Book collectors, Anderson wrote in a recent letter, will all tell you that rare historical material is found now only in college libraries. He is striving to make the UNM library a reservoir of material with special reference to rare publications on the Southwest.

Since these rare books are kept in a vault under key, they may not be checked out but are available to anyone who wishes to examine them or study them in the library, Kelley said.

Home on the Range Concerning New Mexico (By Will Robinson)

According to Ray Jones, the head man of the Odd Fellows at Santa Fe, from 800 to 1,000 delegates from the 32 lodges in the state are expected to attend the centennial of the order in New Mexico, and the annual grand lodge at Santa Fe, Oct. 6, 7, 8, 9. It is expected that four lodge halls will have to be used to provide room to move around in. All of which is interesting news, especially to the considerable number that didn't know that the Triple Linkers were the first mystics to start business in New Mexico, according to some students of lodge history. Anyhow, it is a great and fine unity, regardless of dates.

The Artesia Country Club has begun the excavations for the swimming pool that is to be 100 x 50 feet, and from two feet to 11 feet deep. "Old Lincoln Day" will be held at the ancient capitol on Aug. 12, and it is expected that by that time the association will have 2,000 members, over 1,000 of them home folks. The pageant and other doings will be worthwhile and then some.

After resting up a bit, Mrs. Tom Babers is postmistress at San Patricio again, a job which she acceptably filled for even years before she felt she had a rest coming.

State Welfare Director Alva Simpson says that his department paid an average of $36.79 to its clients during June so far, the biggest amount since the start.

It is estimated that 40 to 60 per cent of the workers have defective vision.

Inside WASHINGTON MARCH OF EVENTS

Korean Armistice Bothers Government Economists | Far-Reaching Effect With Some Signs of Danger

WASHINGTON—Government economists, who must forecast business trends, are in a dither over what effect a Korean armistice will have on the United States economy.

One thing is certain: the agreement will have a far-reaching effect. That's about as far as economists will go right now. But they see some danger signs ahead.

A "business-as-usual" attitude has pervaded Congress. Economic controls are being scrapped and defense and foreign military aid appropriations are due for drastic cuts.

Economists say that if the mobilization program is severely curtailed or abandoned a recession could occur. At present, business is sliding on a plateau, awaiting the arms boom which is expected this fall.

The cost of living may drop slightly this summer and then shoot upwards in September or October. All this can be changed, however, if Congress continues along its present path.

GLEEFUL DEMOCRATS—There was great light among Capitol Hill Democrats when President Truman appointed Gov. Luther Youngdahl to the federal bench. It was a political coup that deeply into GOP strength in Minnesota.

One of the most gleeful was Senator Hubert Humphrey (D) Minnesota, who was consulted on the appointment. Humphrey, who no love for Harold Stassen, a GOP presidential hopeful, tells the story: Just before the President approached Youngdahl, Stassen had asked the governor to head his 1952 presidential campaign in five states. Details were to be worked out at a dinner in Minneapolis on a Friday night. But on Thursday, Youngdahl sent his regrets.

He blandly informed Stassen that he couldn't attend or take a campaign job because he had been named to the federal court.

SALES TAX—Democrats and Republicans on Capitol Hill are cap trying to get each other to sponsor a federal sales tax. Neither wants to be put in the position of assuming its authorship.

There's no certainty, of course, that it will be enacted this year. It will receive serious consideration next year if another tax increase is necessary.

The idea seemed to receive a veiled blessing from the administration. Treasury Secretary John Snyder has said it may be necessary to consider taxes "not presently considered conventional."

Republicans want to stretch this into a proposal for a sales tax but they're being very cautious about indicating whether they along.

PENTAGON JITTERS—The word from the Pentagon is that the brass is worried about the possibility that Congress may whip through a bill greatly expanding the Marine Corps and giving its commandant a place on the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Some note that the "floor" of 300,000 men carried in the bill pushed by Senator Paul Douglas (D), Illinois, would give the Marines half the manpower strength of the Navy, of which they are just a component.

These same worried officers add that the 400,000 manpower ceiling in the bill would make the Marines dominant over the Navy and create a "second army."

Douglas, an ex-Marine with combat wounds to show for his service has an impressive list of supporters in the Senate. That's primary what has the Pentagon worried.

Non-Farm Jobs In New Mexico Show 9200 Rise

Non-agricultural employment over the state increased from May 15 to June 15, by 1,500 workers, according to the latest release of the New Mexico Employment Security Commission.

This level of employment represents an increase of 9,200 over the same period last year.

Employment in construction increased during the last 30 days despite decreases in private residential and commercial construction. Government projects in process throughout the state have bolstered the industry to reach 16,800 workers, the same as were working in June a year ago.

Trade employment shows an increase of 400 workers over the past month with the major part the increase coming from restaurants, filling stations and shops. The employment level is 2,200 workers above June of last year.

Mining, transportation, and government remained unchanged. Average hours remained about the same with all groups reporting 40 hours and manufacturing reporting 40 hours.

In weekly pay construction workers had the high average with $80.00.

Some household soaps are low because of the addition of rosin, a standard ingredient give soothing and hardening qualities.

'Try and Stop Me'

By BENNETT CERF
PAPER MAGNATE SAM HIMMELL thinks there's a moral in this tale of the old prospector who used to haunt the Market Street bars in San Francisco in the eighties boasting that he had been one of the company who had discovered Yosemite in 1851. One tourist's imagination was fired by the old-timer's reminiscences. "It must have been wonderful," enthused the tourist, "to have that beautiful and unknown Valley burst suddenly upon you."

The old-timer chewed his terbacky in silence for a moment, then declared, "Well, I'll tell ye. If I'd ha' knowed it was going to be so famous I'd sure ha' looked at it!"

Colonel Duffy defines "the Great Beyond" as "that in which many folks are living their income."

Overheard in Brooklyn by Irwin Collins: "That Moltie is getting mighty hoity-toity these days." "Humph! She may be hoity—but she'll never see toity again!"

'Paradise' Epic Of Isles Beauty

The pageantry and glamour of the islands, their romance and tradition, are pictured with inspiration and magnificence in "Bird of Paradise," the latest triumph from 20th Century-Fox, which arrives Sunday at the Lansdown Theater. Photographed in color by Technicolor, and in actual Hawaiian island locations with a cast of hundreds of natives participating, "Bird of Paradise" will linger in the moviegoer's memory as a hallmark of exotic and lavish entertainment.

Superbly played by its stars, Louis Jourdan, Debra Paget and Jeff Chandler, "Bird of Paradise" tells of an island romance between a white man whose sense of adventure brings him to ancient tropical islands and a native maiden who is the most beautiful and innocent of her tribe. It relates, too, the struggle between the old ritual and the new enlightenment, culminating in such wonderful sequences as trial by fire, vivid native Polynesian tribal dances and, finally, the sacrifice of the beautiful maiden to the flaming hunger of an erupting volcano.

Jourdan, ruggedly handsome, acts his role with vigor and intelligence and is thoroughly moving during the amazing final sequence of the film. Miss Paget, as in "Broken Arrow," is a delicate flower of a fragile and immensely appealing beauty. And Jeff Chandler, her "Broken Arrow" teammate, scores again in a vivid, colorful interpretation of an islander of wisdom and authority.
