Snake Bites Colt Latest Episode In 'Jungle Tales'

Lizards, horsehair snakes, soft shell turtles have appeared in the Advocate's animal parade in the past. Latest story relating to the fauna in and around Artesia might be called "snake bites horse." Source of the story is Roy Bell, 25 miles southwest of Artesia, who is also owner of the Artesia Hotel Barber Shop. A mare and colt on the Bell farm were the victims of the snake bites, which were inflicted by one or two snakes. Bell, who only saw the evidence of the bites and not the actual attack itself, thinks there were two snakes involved, as the fang marks on the mare were bigger than those on the colt. As Bell put it the snake that bit the mare was "the daddy of them all." The evidence of the snake bites were visible for five days after the incident. Among the signs was the fact that the horses' heads swelled to twice their normal size, and (Continued on Page Eight)

Roswell Scene Of Architects Fall Conclave

Building problems will be on the agenda tomorrow, as the New Mexico chapter of the American Institute of Architects holds its fall meeting at the Country Club in Roswell. Wives of members are invited for the evening session, which will feature a dinner and entertainment as well as a business session. School buildings at Dexter, Hobbs and Alamogordo, occupy the forefront of the construction picture, according to the Southwestern Constructor for September. At Dexter, a new junior and senior high school building was reported going up at a cost of $161,000. The building will house administrative facilities, seven classrooms, a science laboratory, a two room commercial suite, a library and a vocational education shop. Concrete block with Flexicor roofing units and large areas of glass were employed in the construction. Bilateral classroom lighting is another feature of the building, for which Allison & Hutchinson of Roswell, were the contractors. Allison & Hutchinson are also contractors for a $600,000 high school building at Hobbs and another one at Alamogordo. The Alamogordo structure contains 27 classrooms in three wings (Continued on Page Eight)

The program will be broadcast over the American Broadcasting Company network and will be heard locally on KSWB, Roswell, from 9:30 to 10 p. m. This news was relayed to Kiwanians yesterday by Walter Harrison, Roswell who also urged members to attend the division meeting at Ruidoso, tomorrow and Sunday. Kiwanians were treated to a double feature yesterday with Wild Bill Elliott explaining what's what in the rodeo and Sug Hazel of Hazel Flying Service talking on aerial insect spraying. Elliott said rodeos are old stuff to him, as he and his partner Tommy Steiner produce one every week end. He said their success was due to the fact that they gave people what they wanted, along with advance publicity and good service. He commended Artesians for the (Continued on Page 8)

Library Switches Night Schedule

The Artesia Public Library is to remain open on Monday evenings, instead of Wednesday night, according to Mrs. Donald Knorr, librarian. The change in hours was made by the library board to accommodate many patrons who were unable to use the library on Wednesday evenings because of the wind-up organizational meetings. The other library hours will remain the same, Mrs. Knorr said. They will be 12:30 to 5:30 p. m., Monday through Saturday and from 8 to 8:30 p. m. on Mondays. New patrons for August numbered 149, making a total of 653 grower cards issued to date, Mrs. Knorr has reported. The circulation for August was 2475 volumes of which 1331 were children's books and 1144 for adults. This made an average of over 91 books issued each day that the library was open during the month. The Artesia library has now received $500 of state matching funds for this year's operation. The library became eligible to request state aid after the recent reorganization and the money will be used to purchase approved books for the collection. The book committee has reported that all the books made available through the Lois Siegenthaler and Mike Ferguson memorial funds have now been ordered. A total of 30 books for the library have also been received from Mrs. Ed Jacobs. Tentative plans are now being made for a "Book Fair." The fair will be held during National Book Week, Nov. 11-17.

Deluxe Booklet Published for '51 Celebration

Rodeo fans who wanted to try their hand at judging and scoring events such as bareback bronc riding, calf roping, and bulldogging had all the rules at their finger tips in the Rodeo booklet which went on sale yesterday. A total of 6,000 copies were printed, of which 200 were mailed in advance to the advertisers whose names appear in the booklet; another batch was sent up to Hope for distribution Monday. This 40-page booklet, which was prepared by The Advocate Publishing Company, measures eight by 10 1/2 inches. It is printed on slick book stock. Covers are four patterns of wood grain paper. Each page and three sides of the covers are illustrated with half-tone pictures. Captions to go with the pictures are Park Avenue type. Fortnight of Work Two weeks of full-time work were required for the printing of the brochure, and six persons, three of them volunteers, worked an extra three and one-half days on folding, stapling, and assembling. Volunteer workers who help The Advocate staff in putting out the booklet were Mrs. Vernon Bryan, Mrs. F. J. Gaspard, and Mrs. G. F. (Bob) Roberts. The inscription on the cover reads "Fifth Annual United Veterans Rodeo and Celebration, Artesia, New Mexico, Sept. 13-15." The word Rodeo is printed in red capital letters with the two Os in the shape of a rope, all ready to be tied around a bull's neck or a calf's leg. It also shows a bareback rider and horse in red; four stars in a straight line from the R of rodeo to the outstretched left and of the rider complete the cover. On the inside cover is a picture of the First National Bank of Artesia. The inside of the booklet has a Yucca plant, which was grown on the upland ranges west of Artesia, according to the caption. Artesian Well Pictured Two views of the route taken by the parade held in conjunction with the rodeo are next, followed by a scene taken in the Cloudercroft area and pictures of the rodeo producers, Wild Bill Elliott and Tommy Steiner. ## Teachers Keep Battling for Amendment 2

With the special election on eight proposed constitutional amendments only four days off, the New Mexico Education Association, Santa Fe, keeps up its offensive favoring a "yes" vote on Amendment Two. Latest release of the association, dated Sept. 12, received by The Advocate on the preceding day, reads: In voting on Amendment Two on Sept. 18, it should be borne in mind that it was written in such a way as not to violate the basic purposes of a constitution. Constitutions are concerned with the principles upon which governments are based, and they limit the powers of government. Amendment Two follows this theory and does not try to establish the detail of law. It seeks only to establish the principle that, with the increased size and cost of schools, responsibility for administration and planning must be fixed on the board of education, that this administration should be conducted (Continued on Page 8)

Answer Given On Catalina Mail Delivery

Extension of mail delivery service to patrons "residing on and adjacent to" Catalina Drive in Zee Addition is contingent on six conditions, Postmaster Jess L. Truitt said Wednesday, in answer to patrons of that area who have "indicated their desire to have this portion of the city included in the mail delivery zone. Some of the requirements have been met, the postmaster states, but there are three with which compliance has not been made. A thorough and final inspection of the addition will be made next month for consideration of mail delivery "in the near future and patrons residing within this area are requested to meet with the requirements prior to the October inspection." Postal Requirements The conditions for extension of mail delivery are: Streets to be included must be at least 50 per cent improved; street lights, sidewalks, street signs, house numbers and regulation mail boxes put up. Postmaster Truitt listed as unfinished in the Catalina Drive sector: Numbering of house, street signs and no mail boxes. Room Number Important Turning to another facet of mail delivery, the postmaster admonished business firms with offices in office buildings regarding address of their mail. Mail should be addressed to room number as well as office building. For example, "314 Carper Building," not "Carper Building." Reason for wanting the complete address is that substitute carriers are not familiar with individuals who have offices in various rooms and are "at loss to what room to make delivery of mail when addressed to office building only." "All business firms," says the postmaster, "are requested to keep their mailing list current and give the proper address on mailing statements or other local mail. The mailing address must be used correctly in either case of post office box number or street address when patron receives mail."

Boorish Hunter Plunks Hole in Ranch Water Tank

A 14-gauge steel 28,000-gallon eight-foot water tank is no target for tonight, tomorrow or any time and some unknown hunter who blasted a hole in the tank two inches from the top doesn't make A. S. Foster feel happy about hunters with Stone Age habits in a so-called civilized age. Foster told about the incident when in town Thursday from his ranch, 30 miles southwest of here. He said he didn't know about the incident until a neighbor chanced by the tank, saw the hole in it as big as a man's finger and partially plugged it with a rag. The neighbor, Ed Parrish, saw Foster in town and told him about it. Location of the tank is eight miles from the highway and five miles from Foster's house. The tank provides water for Foster's cattle. He had no idea how much water he had lost by the vandalism. Foster said he saw "several" beer cans around the spot. Identity of the marksman who plunked the hole in the tank is not known.

At present the congregation meets in the old Sunset Baptist Mission on the Hope highway across from Williams Lumber Co. Present membership is 53. ## Pecos Baptists Adopt New Laws

A home for its new missionary, V. E. Boyd, has been purchased by the First Baptist Church, Grand and Roselawn. The home is located at 1205 West Mann. This was disclosed by Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor, at the Pecos Valley Baptist Association conference held here Sept. 10-11, and was attended by 245 delegates. The two-day conference featured adoption of a new constitution and set of by-laws. Four amendments were adopted regulating such things as incorporation of the association, membership, moderators, and trustees. Most important of these was the amendment giving the association status of a corporation. It was this amendment which made possible the acquisition of the Glorieta Encampment, near Santa Fe, which was reported in The Advocate of Sept. 4. The article relating to membership states that the Pecos Valley Baptist Association shall be composed of pastors and messengers cooperating with the association, with each member church entitled to no less than two nor more than 10 messengers. The terms of office for moderators was limited to two years in a row. The trustees of the association, five in number, are delegated as property custodians for the properties of all legal documents. Stress Parental Conduct Problems of juvenile delinquency and their solution were the subject of a talk by W. ## Vandagriffs Return From Reunion Party

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Vandagriff of 319 West Quay returned home on Tuesday, Sept. 4, from a trip to Colorado. On Aug. 19, at Denver, Mrs. Vandagriff and her four brothers and their families held a family reunion.

Host for the event, which had taken several years to arrange due to illness, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Gelwick, 268 Meade, the oldest brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Vandagriff on their way home stopped at Creede and Del Norte, Colo., to fish.

Artesia Drillers Call Meeting Of Stockholders September 25

Plans for the Drillers for the 1952 season will be discussed at the stockholders' meeting slated for the Veterans Building Sept. 25, according to an announcement from the Driller Office which closed its doors yesterday morning.

Only mopping-up operations remain in the Longhorn League, including play-offs between the four top-ranking teams — San Angelo, Big Spring, Roswell and Odessa.

The play-offs are a four out of seven series, which opened Saturday night with Big Spring trimming Roswell 7-6, at Roswell.

Fornulian got the win for Big Spring, loser for Roswell was Dean Franks, who had 30 wins during the regular season. Five errors were responsible for the Rocket loss as Franks allowed only two earned runs.

Roswell scored four runs in the first frame; Big Spring got two in the second, and tied up the game at 5-5 in the sixth after Roswell had scored one more run in the third.

However, two more runs in the eighth by Big Spring against only one by Roswell decided the game.

Bill Cearly opened the Roswell ninth with a walk with one out, and Al Monchek was safe on an out-field error. Art de la Torre singled to score Cearly and send Monchek to third, but Fornulian tightened and fanned Ray Hill and Jesse Grimes to end the threat.

Rockets Flare
The Rockets came back Sunday night, however, to blanket the Big Spring Broncs, 9-0, on 13 hits, at Roswell, as Buanoita allowed the Broncs only four hits.

The next two games are slated for Big Spring and the last two if they are needed, will be played at Roswell.

Buanoita scattered the hits over the route, but got in trouble in the seventh when Big Spring loaded the bases on a single and two walks with one out. A fast double play pulled the hurler off the spot. Julio de la Torre settled the issue in the first frame when he belted an inside-the-park home run with the bases loaded. The Rockets shelled Arincibia from the hill in the second inning with a three-run burst, and Fernandez came in to finish the job.

Buanoita, in addition to his fine hurling collected two for three at the plate, while Bobby Sousa had a four-for-five night.

Fun Festival
In the second game, which saw a lot of clowning, with hats being exchanged by players and umpires, a piece of paper being used for a ball, and an umpire warming up a pitcher, the Drillers scored six runs in the second inning and two in the third to ice the ball game.

Big Spring put on a five-run outburst in the fourth, but that proved to be all for the visitors, and the Drillers closed out their season victoriously.

Cane, who replaced starter Riley in the fourth, was credited with the win; Baez was the loser.

Woodson Begins Eighth Year as Cowboy Coach

Warren B. Woodson, athletic director and head football coach at Hardin-Simmons University, may not have on hand as much material as he has had in the past as he directs the Cowboys on the gridiron this fall. But he will have on hand a wealth of coaching experience.

Woodson is starting his 24th year of coaching—his eighth as head foreman at the Cowboy school.

The genial son of a retired Baptist minister has been using the T formation ever since he first started his coaching career at Texarkana Junior College in 1927.

Cowboy fans will tell you that the Baptists employ the intricate, precision-timed Warren B. Woodson Winged T formation, and in the same breath they will tell you that Woodson's baffling spreads and the concentration of amazing power over holes created by shifting line play is regarded in the nation as a major advancement in the T-system.

Two Loop Crowns
Woodson has directed the Cowboys to two outright Border Conference championships. The Waddies have shared the title once.

Three times since 1942, Woodson's Cowboys have furnished the nation with the leading ground gainer and the Baptist school did not field a team during the World War II seasons.

Since reporting to H-SU in 1941, Woodson has piloted the Cowboys to 52 wins, six ties, and 17 defeats. He has an overall record of 144 wins, 15 ties, and 45 defeats, compiled at Texarkana Junior College, Arkansas State Teachers and H-SU.

His record also includes eight conference championships. A native of Fort Worth and a former Temple high school star athlete, Woodson has brought many laurels to the Forty Acres.

In 1942 Hardin-Simmons, undefeated in a back-breaking schedule of major rivals, kept its nose to the ground and rolled up a rushing average of 307.4 yards per struggle, to shade such power-propelled units as Boston College and Ohio State.

The Cowboys also essayed an unprecedented total of 66 passes and became the first to complete a campaign with nary a toss intercepted.

The H-SU team was the top rushing team in the nation, with Doc Mobley, running from left half, taking top individual honors, and teammate Camp Wilson, full-back, piling up the third best national record. The Pokes were fifth in '42 in total offense.

Mobley Led Nation
Again in '46 Mobley led the nation, while the Cowboys piled up enough yards to rank second behind Notre Dame in rushing offense. The Cowboys ranked eighth nationally.

Lobos Strong With Centers

When UNM football coach Dud DeGroot surveys the progress of the 77 young athletes currently engaged in a battle for starting berths on the 1951 Lobo grid squad, there is one position that he knows will be well filled no matter who gets the nod.

That position is the center slot where two lettermen, two good sophomore prospects, and three freshmen are vying for the varsity.

Baptist Preacher
The lettermen are Don Mulkey, the rugged little Baptist minister who turned in many a fine performance last season, and Harold Brock, the 185-pound senior who worked well on defense in 1950.

The sophomores in the race are big Jack O'Rourke, a six-foot, 216-pound Ohioan, and Jimmy Riggs, a 19-year-old 200-pounder from New York. Both boys earned freshman numerals here last year.

Will Win Opener
Smiling Bob Titchenal, in charge of grooming the centers, gets a wide grin on his face when asked who he thinks will win the starting assignment for the Lobos' first game Sept. 22.

"I don't know yet," he says, "but it doesn't make much difference, whoever it is will be pretty good." Titchenal says that, at present, Mulkey and Brock are the leading contenders chiefly because of their experience. Mulkey, with more offensive time under his belt, has a slight edge if anyone does, he says.

"O'Rourke and Riggs look good," "Titch" says, "and Larry White is undoubtedly the best freshman prospect I've ever seen, but he needs to relax. That will come with experience."

The Lobos continued their two-day drills with their first scrimmage under the lights last week. They will continue to work out twice a day until the opening of classes Sept. 17.

title in 1947, as he raced for 1,173 yards, and the Cowboys were fifth and sixth in rushing and total offense, respectively.

In 1948, with John (Model T) Ford working as quarterback, the Waddies trailed Southern Methodist for top marksmanship honors in passing with 59.6 to 59.5 per cent. The Pokes were tenth in rushing offense. In 1949, the Cowboys really opened up their passing game, and Ford twirled an unheard of 26 touchdown passes—still an all-time national record.

Last season the Cowboys won five and lost five, but the Pokes can still claim the tenth best record in the nation for games won and lost for the ten year period, 1941-1950.

There were 201,277 physicians in the United States in 1950.

State Lakes Trout-Bombed

Ray Bell, the flying law enforcement chief of the department, and Fred Thompson, director of fisheries, have recently developed a method of planting high mountain lakes with hatchery trout by dropping them from the air.

In a four-day period, Ray planted some 650,000 trout in 19 different lakes, all of which lie above the 11,000 foot altitude mark. The usual method of planting these waters is by pack mule and formerly required almost five weeks to plant the same lakes with the same number of fish.

The 19 lakes Ray planted all lie in the Taos-Red River and Upper Pecos areas and the fish were supplied to the plane from the hatchery in the immediate area. Due to the "as the crow flies" means of transportation, it required an average of merely 40 minutes from the time the fish were removed from the hatchery until they were dumped into the lake.

The fish are dropped from an average height of 400 feet above the water and are estimated to fall at a rate of 28 miles per hour. Follow-up checks by the department indicate that the fish are apparently unaffected by their fall and arrive in their new home in good condition.

The specially-designed tank for transporting the fish is attached to the belly of the department's Super Piper plane and is fitted with a release lever that springs a trapdoor in the bottom of the tank. The tank will carry as many as 80,000 fish at one time and is fitted with an aeration system to keep the fish supplied with the oxygen they need.

It is believed that this is the first time a small plane of this type has been used from this purpose. Other states have been planting fish by air for sometime but larger, cargo-type aircraft are employed.

The department believes that by icing the tanks before the take-off, the fish can be transported over longer distances to more remote waters in other areas of the state. Experiments will be made to determine how well the fish fare on these longer flights.

International Meeting
State Game Warden Elliott S. Barker will deliver an address this week at the annual meeting of the International Association of Game, Fish and Conservation Commissioners in Rochester, New York.

Barker's speech is titled: "How Insufficient Funds Defeat Successful Wildlife Management" and deals with a number of the problems Barker has had to contend with during his 20 years with the game and fish department.

Director of Fisheries Fred Thompson, secretary of the fisheries division of the association, and J. W. Peckum, the Albuquerque district warden, accompanied Barker to the meeting.

SEPTEMBER 12 Grouse Season Opens
Beginning at noon, Sept. 14 and running through Sept. 16, the annual blue grouse season is expected to reward hunters with good shooting this year.

Department reports indicate an excellent breeding year for the birds. In many areas, this year has produced larger hatches of young birds than for several years past.

Bag limit will be three birds for the season.

MMMMMMMMMMMM Frogslegs!!!
For the first time in several years, the department will authorize angling for bullfrogs in New Mexico.

Heretofore, extreme drought conditions over most of the state have seriously impaired the crop of tadpoles. With favorable conditions, it requires almost five years for a bullfrog to attain full size.

The season this year opened at noon, Sept. 12, and run through Sept. 30. Eight frogs will be allowed

Bulldogs Go Snake Hunting

With one victory notched on their "collars", the Artesia Bulldogs will play their second game of the season, first away-from-home tilt, and first 1951 game against a Class A school, when the Artesia High School football team plays Tucumcari High School there at 8 tonight.

Coach Jack Tinson, obviously impressed by the hustle and snap his green eleven displayed in the opener here against Socorro, won by Artesia 26 to 7, was nevertheless not going out on a limb in predicting victory.

He pointed out the Rattlers are always strong and he expects a tough battle. Last year the Bulldogs beat the invading Tucumcarians 19 to 0. This year the Rattlers may bet revenge.

Coach of the Rattlers is Charles O. Criswell, one of the best in New Mexico, who brought Texas-style football to the Land of Enchantment. Criswell was formerly an assistant coach of the Pampa High School Harvesters, always a power in Texas football.

Trip Roster
Traveling in a special chartered bus, 26 of the Bulldog squad were en route this morning to Tucumcari. The trip takes five hours.

Departure from Artesia was at 8 a. m. Coaches with the squad were Tinson, Reese Smith and Cal Hall. Brownie Emerson, news editor of The Artesia Advocate, who last season made every trip with the squad, from the first game at Jalisco to the Sun Bowl contest on New Year's Day, accompanied the gridsters.

The contingent will spend the night at the Conchas Hotel in Tucumcari, and return to Artesia tomorrow morning.

Coach Tinson yesterday listed the traveling squad:

Loren Gelwick, Jack Huddleston, Linton Woodside, O. H. Sanders, Tommy Bryan, Jimmy Yates, Howard Price, Bill Joyner, and the two managers, Clarence Lamb, a senior, and Billy Matthews, junior.

Quarterback Club Welcomes New Squad

Artesia High School's gridiron crop of 1951, the 35 boys who comprise the football squad, made their bow at the Artesia Quarterback Club supper meeting at 6:30 p. m. Monday, Sept. 10, in the high school cafeteria.

Jack Tinson, chief coach, presented the boys and gave a review of the Socorro game, played here Friday night, Sept. 7, won by Artesia 26 to 7, and of his outlook of the game to be played against Tucumcari there tonight. Last year the Bulldogs beat the Northeastern New Mexico team 19 to 0 in a game played here.

Other coaches present were Reese Smith and Cal Hall, assistant Bulldog mentors, and Bud Wilborn, who steers the athletic squads of Artesia Junior High.

This was the first meeting of the 1951-52 season of the club. Regular supper meetings will be held at 6:30 p. m. each Monday, Ralph Nix is president of the club.

Quarterbacks Seek Bigger Roll Call

Artesia men were called on to affiliate with the Artesia Quarterback Club, organization comprised of backers of public school athletics, in a letter issued by Ralph Nix, club president.

Membership is open to all men in Artesia and vicinity. Especial effort is being directed toward obtaining more representatives of the schools in the club.

President Nix calls attention to a $3 reduction in the amount of the dues, formerly $5, it is now $2. In the letter, dated Sept. 12, addressed to Travis Stovall, Artesia High School principal, President Nix says:

"This is to advise that membership in the Artesia Quarterback Club is open to all men in Artesia and the immediate vicinity. We direct this letter to you to invite the men in our school system to join and we encourage them to attend regularly.

The meetings are always worthwhile while our main aim is to lend assistance and encouragement to the boys who participate in football. In addition to this we have many pictures of important college games shown during the season.

"We meet regularly on Monday, 6:30 p. m., at the high school cafeteria where dinner is served for $1.25 per plate.

"A copy of this letter is being handed to The Artesia Advocate for publication, for we wish to call to everyone's attention that membership is open to all men interested in football and more particularly in the boys who participate. Membership dues have been reduced to $2 per year for it is our desire to eliminate no one because of excessive dues.

"We sincerely hope to see more of you at our next meeting, Sept. 17, and request you to make dinner reservations through Eddie Ward."

Broncs and Oilers Lead Loop Playoff

Big Spring prevented Roswell from copping the Longhorn League play-off by beating the Rockets 2-1 Wednesday night at Big Spring.

The Rockets took the third game of the series played Monday night at Big Spring by a score of 6-1. Monday night's win gave the Rockets two in a row.

However, the third-time charm was not with the Rockets and they lost to the Big Spring Broncs by a score of 6-0.

At the other end of the play-off between Odessa and San Angelo, Odessa won 9-4 Monday night to tie up that part of the series 1-1.

Mustangs Prep For Contest With McMurry

New Mexico Western College's Mustangs showed a preview of their possible strength for the coming season, Saturday night, Sept. 8, when they opened their night practice session to the scrutiny of the Mustang fans.

With 15 lettermen back from the 1950 squad, the Mustangs have a good chance of producing a winning team again this season. Western placed second in the New Mexico conference race last year. The NMWC eleven will open their season against a non-conference team, McMurry College at Abilene, Texas, on Sept. 15.

Tom Abbott, "Skip" Buchanan, Robby White and Merlyn Baxter looked especially good in the back-field Saturday night.

Abbott slipped through holes opened for him by the Western line and showed plenty of speed and maneuverability in broken field running.

White intercepted a pass on the goal line, in one instance, and carried it sixty yards downfield before he was finally downed. Baxter's and Buchanan's usual good quarterbacking and pass throwing made them outstanding.

Booting extra points during the night practice were Don Smith and Lynn Ranson. Both showed that they could hit their target the biggest per cent of the time.

Joe Palmer, all-conference back, deserves special recognition for his consistency at the wingback slot. On the line it was Fred and Adolf Torres, Don Smith, Bobby Agnew, Lupe Alvarez and Ed Byerley who looked good in the tackle and guard slots.

At center Max Valkenburg, playing defense, and Frank Dooley, playing offense, proved that that position would be well taken care of. Ends Kent Brooks and W. A. Wise stole the show in that position.

Newcomers who looked good were Andy Sipko, Billy Wood and Dave Parks.

Cruces Bulldogs Rebuilding Squad

Artesia Bulldogs duplicated ancient Bulldogs, the Las Cruces High School, face a tough schedule and Coaches Rudy Camuner, Barney Elders, and Mark Genera, have "a big rebuilding job filling the gaps left by graduation of Jimmy Bradley, Russell Parsons, Artie Robertson, Don Alexander, Windy Holmes, Jon Aderhold, Harold Cole and Cipi Fierro," says Gene Priestley in a sports story issued from the Dona Ana county seat.

Elders is a new coach of the trio, coming from New Mexico runs, Wayne Wallace, San Angelo, 32.

Pitching — percentage, Dean Franks, Roswell, .757 (28-9); most games won, Franks, 28; most games, Eddie Jacome, Midland, 53; strikeouts, Marshall Epperson, Vernon, 158.

Western, Silver City. He replaced Rusty Van Pelt.

To fill the holes caused by graduation the coaching staff has lettermen returning. They are John McCaw, Rudy Estrada, Gene Martinez, Ab Aguirre, Skip Cooper, Gene Priestley, Buzzy Keenan, Marcos Saenz, Alfred Diaz and score of B team lettermen, who showed promise on last year's Cruces team.

Cruces Schedule

She stood close to the bull—too close for the comfort of the crowd, and her passes, until she became hopelessly mired in their intricacies, were graceful and well executed.

Even "novilleros," men training to be bullfighters, never attempt a kill before fighting many bulls with cape and muleta. Pat killed on her second appearance in the ring.

Pat's interest in the "fiesta brava" dates back to 1937 when she saw her first bullfight in Mexico City at the age of seven. When her family moved to Big Spring, Texas, from St. Louis in 1943, the nearness of Mexico rekindled her dormant interest in the bullfighting world.

In February of 1950 she transferred from the University of Texas to Texas Western College at

Matadora Twice Smacked Down But Scores Kill

Patricia McCormick survived two trappings and a ride on a set of man-killing horns in the Plaza de Toros at Juarez, Mexico, Sunday (Sept. 9) before dispatching her adversary and completing her first full-fledged bullfight.

And the shapely 21-year-old Texas Western College Co-ed still wants to be a "matadora," a lady bullfighter.

Pat fought the hard-charging young bull for some 25 minutes before sighting in her long curved sword for the kill. She completely missed her first thrust, but the second went in straight and true over the horns and was buried to the hilt between the bull's shoulders.

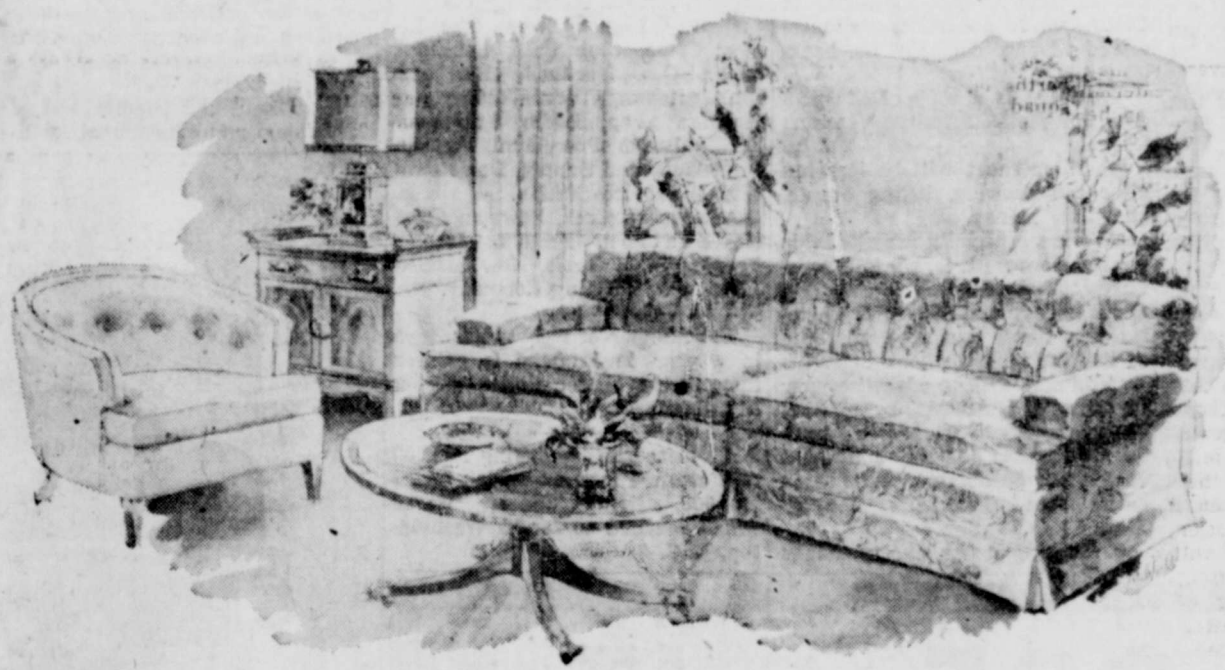

The courage of "La Huera," a Mexican slang term meaning "blonde," never faltered although

New Mexico Children Give Twenty Tons of Clothing

Forty thousand pounds of clothing was collected during the Tenth National Children's Clothing Crusade held this spring in New Mexico schools it was reported today by Tom Wiley, superintendent of public instruction and New Mexico chairman of the campaign.

The week long clothing collection was conducted under the auspices of Save the Children Federation, a child service organization that renders aid to children in six countries of Western Europe, in Korea, on American Indian Reservations and in isolated rural areas of America not reached by other agencies.

Free transportation of the clothing brought to school by school children of the state was furnished by the New Mexico Motor Carriers Association.

Leland D. Carmack, associate production director of Save the Children Federation, in a report to Wiley stated the New Mexico campaign was indeed very successful. Carmack added, "The voluntary cooperation of the state department of public instruction; the New Mexico Motor Carriers Association; local school superintendents; and forty thousand New Mexico families who donated bundles of clothing is a stirring example of American democracy in action to meet the needs of underprivileged people.

"New Mexico can indeed be proud of their splendid contribution during the Tenth National Children's Clothing Crusade."

Deluxe Booklet—

demonstration of calf roping, and a bareback bronc riding demonstration is coupled with an Artesian well.

White Sands as seen from the Sacramento Mountains and three shots of residential areas of Artesia are paired up, as are a picture of the Carper Building and cows taking a drink somewhere "in the heart of the Pecos Valley," according to the caption.

A picture of The Artesia Advocate, the Star Grocery, Ocotillo Theater, and Artesia Recreation Hall is opposite a page devoted to listing telephone numbers rodeo visitors might need to call.

Twelve telephone numbers are listed beginning with the Police Department and ending with Rodeo Headquarters.

On the same page which is entitled "Your Rodeo Directory" are listed names of chairmen of 11 committees connected with the rodeo. This list of committees was published in The Advocate of September 7.

Accommodations, bars and package stores, and restaurants is the title of the next box of the directory which contains seven entries.

Mileage Chart

Final item in the rodeo directory is a list of distances to cities and points of interest.

Points and mileages listed are—Amarillo, 215; Albuquerque, 243; El Paso, 195; Tucson, 457; Carlsbad Caverns, 64; Bottomless Lakes, 56; Cloudford, 89; Lake McMillan, 18; Potash Mines, 29; Ruidoso, 130; White Sand National Monument, 123.

The listing also contains the notation "Oil Fields and Refineries X O." This is technically correct since the oil fields and refineries are located right in town, but it does strike the reader as somewhat amusing.

A picture of the rodeo queen (of 1949) is teamed with a cowgirl sitting on a horse that is half lying down, while Western dances and Sacramento Mountain timber being processed are shown on the following pages.

A National Guard float of a past rodeo is paired with a picture of the Booker Building, while the Artesia Municipal Hospital and one of Guy Chevrolet Company make up the next four pages.

Caption over the Guy Chevrolet picture says Artesia has most cars per capita.

The Veterans Building, in which Rodeo Headquarters are housed, and pictures of two of Artesia's department stores—J. C. Penney Company and Sprouse-Reitz—are next in the pictorial array.

There is a picture of the Artesia Municipal Park which houses the rodeo and which was the home of the Drillers during the 1951 baseball season now in its waning moments.

Demonstration shots of saddle bronc riding and bulldogging enlighten fans on these rodeo events, while a picture taken on the Hope highway, west of Artesia, is entitled, "Producing Oil for the Free World."

A shot of a power plant and sections of "Artesia's business district" are teamed up with a picture of an oil derrick and a picture of a private home in the southwestern part of town.

Artesia's accommodations and how the business district looks at night are next in the series of pictures; this is followed by a shot of rodeo parade antics and one of Brahma bull riding.

Rodeo clowns and who is who in the National Industrial Basketball League, of which Artesia's Rural Electric Association is a member, form the next to last numbers in the pictorial array.

On the last page we have the Landsun Theatre, while the inside back cover features the Peoples State Bank, New Mexico Asphalt and Refining Company forms the back cover.

Letter to Advertisers

A letter from Bob Koonce, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce to advertisers who received advance copies of the booklet reads as follows:

"Enclosed is a copy of the program for our 1951 United Veterans Rodeo.

"A filler sheet will be inserted after the drawing, listing events, and prize money.

"We are especially proud of this booklet because it is, we feel, artistically successful and a complete credit to our ear. Moreover, Artesia has never produced anything of its kind before.

"You may wish to advertise your business and Artesia by mailing several copies to friends and business associates. If so, additional copies may be obtained at 25 cents each from Chandler's Jewelry Store.

Family Farm—

closes an article by Clarence J. McCormick, undersecretary of agriculture.

Purpose of Session

"Farmers and ranchers and all others interested in agriculture will be asked to express their views on ways and means of better servicing agriculture in the county by:

Production and marketing administration, extension service, soil conservation service, farm home administration, farm credit administration, rural electrification administration, forest service and federal crop insurance corporation," says Stiver.

Speakers

The complete program has been printed in an earlier issue of this newspaper. Speakers include Dallas Rierson, county agent, from Carlsbad; Britton Coll, G. L. Beene, Paul Frost and F. R. Zumwalt, all of Artesia.

Complete text of Secretary McCormick's article.

Some people have raised questions about the purpose of the nationwide Family Farm Policy Review now being conducted by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with farm and non-farm individuals and groups. Therefore, I would like to explain this review and invite the cooperation of all interested persons.

Basis of Democracy

Many Americans (including myself) believe that the family farm is the backbone of our democracy. They believe that the family farm pattern of agriculture is absolutely vital to the health, prosperity and military defense of the nation.

That's why the department is reviewing all its programs and activities to make sure they are serving the family farm well—and to find out how they can serve it better. That's the one and only purpose behind this review.

We're just checking up on ourselves, just as any business or industry might do. From its very inception the Family Farm Policy Review has been and is now nothing more than reappraisal and re-examination of the authorized programs of the department to ascertain whether or not they are being utilized and properly constituted to best serve family farming in the United States.

Unit Defined

Now, what is a family farm? It's a farm that provides most of the income for the family that lives on it, manages it and works it. Leaving out part-time farms and other operations that are really farms in name only, this definition covers about 98 per cent of all the farms in the country.

This doesn't mean that 98 per cent of the nation's farm are now providing an adequate living for the families operating them.

It doesn't mean that their food, clothing, housing, medical care, recreational and educational facilities are on a par with those of city people of the same general skill and managerial ability.

It doesn't mean that all these farm families now have enough income to allow them to set aside savings so they'll have retirement funds that compare with those of city people.

An adequate living for families on family farms—that's a goal to shoot at. It would mean a stronger agriculture, a more vigorous nation, a more vital democracy.

In the department of agriculture we've been asking ourselves: In what respects are we doing a good job for the family farm? How can the agencies improve their services within the law as it now stands? Are some services needed that would require new legislative authority?

The department offices in Washington completed their own survey of these questions last spring. But these questions need to be answered as widely as possible.

The views of the land-grant colleges, the farm organizations, the various state and county groups interested in agriculture, as well as church, business, civic and consumer groups are needed. Most of all, this review needs the participation of as many individual farmers as possible.

This examination of programs and activities, therefore, is now going on in every state and county of the nation. The American people are being asked to take a close look at all the farm programs and activities, using the family farm and its needs as a measuring stick.

The nation needs your ideas—your ideas of what measures are necessary to make the family farm as strong and productive as the national welfare and the world conflict between democracy and communism demand.

Strengthening the family farm will bring about more effective use of manpower, land, animals and equipment. It will pay dividends in production, in economy, in efficiency and in democracy.

These discussions in the counties, communities and neighborhoods are going on right now. They are an example of American democracy in its finest form, with interested citizens contributing their advice to an agency of their government that wants and needs that advice.

The state and county agricultural mobilization committees have been given primary responsibility for getting as wide a discussion as possible.

These committees are explicitly directed to keep the discussion free and open and to report not only majority opinions but those of the minorities as well.

This review does not, of course, keep anyone from expressing his opinion through other channels such as individual organizations. This is an additional channel.

Strengthening the family farm is a project for the whole people.

Amendment No. 2 Subject of Talk At Central P-TA

Tom J. Mayfield, superintendent of schools, discussed in detail Amendment Two, at this year's first monthly meeting of the Central School Parent Teacher Association Wednesday afternoon in the school music room at 3:45 o'clock. Mrs. Ralph Petty, president, presided at the business meeting.

A communication from the New Mexico Congress of Parents and Teachers was read to the group. The communication read: "The New Mexico Congress of Parents and Teachers recommends the passage of Constitutional Amendment Two at the special election Sept. 18, 1951. We urge every P.T.A. member to vigorously do his or her part to make a special drive for votes for Amendment Two."

The Central School P.T.A. voted to go on record as favoring Amendment Two, and several ladies volunteered to pass out handbills at the four Artesia voting places on Sept. 18.

Mayfield pointed out that when the State Constitution was written in 1911 there were only 40,981 children enrolled in New Mexico schools and 1,578 teachers, with a total school cost of $954,407 as compared to the 1951 figures which have 150,000 children enrolled, 5,835 teachers, and a total school cost of $34 million.

He emphasized the fact that the schools of New Mexico are a $34 million business, the responsibility for efficient administration is very great and the problem extremely complex. Therefore we need continuous administration, long-term planning and fixed responsibility.

Mayfield said a YES vote on Amendment Two would provide a nine member state board of education, one member elected or appointed from each of the nine judicial districts to serve a six year staggered term.

The board shall appoint and fix the salary of the state superintendent of schools who must be an experienced educational administrator with not less than a master's degree. Mr. Mayfield said 12 other states now employ this method and have found it very satisfactory.

He also stated that resolutions favoring Amendment Two have been passed by the Republican Party, Democratic Party, New

Country Club Chatter

BY JACK FAUNTLEROY
DID YOU KNOW THAT: the quick-sale value of assets of the Artesia Country Club have been conservatively estimated as being worth approximately $900 per share of stock.

That everytime a membership is sold, this value increases, since all membership monies must be used in the form of permanent improve- ments and not in operating ex- pense.

That the permanent improve- ments will be increased by $25,000 when the remaining memberships are sold, since the present indebt- edness is practically nil on the club as it stands.

That more delinquent members have put their memberships in good standing in the past 60 days than for any other similar period during the history of the club; that there are better than 15 very good prospective members that are con- templating taking a membership in the near future.

That the club dues are lower than those at Roswell, Carlsbad or Hobbs, costing less than a package of cigarettes per day; that GMAC isn't the only concern that can offer an easy payment plan.

The above paragraph gives a few facts that a lot of members as well as non-members are not familiar with, but which I think are worthwhile mentioning.

There are approximately 50 memberships available before we reach a full membership of 200.

Naturally, we want to fill this membership because any club operates better with a full roster of members, however the club can and will continue to operate even if another membership is never sold.

Playground Contemplated
The next big project in making the club an all-family affair will be a playground. This will probably be adjacent to the swimming pool, and be equipped with picnic tables as well as swings, slides and other playground equipment.

Pipe, although a critical item at present, has been promised by several members. Work on this project will start when ample pipe is obtained and we can get a good welder to do some talking when he should be listening. Hack Keinath is chairman of this committee. This facility will be furnished without cost to the club.

According to my way of think- ing, Jack Spratt should get a pat on the back from every member in the club. Jack is largely re- sponsible for getting some of our prettiest trees started. My heart goes out to him everytime I take advantage of the shade of that pretty cottonwood tree on No. 8 tee box.

He wants to put a lot more trees around the course and has even gone to the trouble to locate the trees for practically no cost to the club.

Jack, if you'll see that guy I told you about, I think you'll find him mighty interested in your idea, and you can tell him you have my vote. Thank you, Shorty, and you're welcome. (He's one of two men in town that I can stand in front of, flatfooted, and look straight in the eye.)

Warning to Paul Nissen: The Bobsey Twins are on the loose again, so you'd better tell Clyde to keep an eagle eye on the bubble water. Those girls just can't seem to do anything about being so fetching. (Try and sue me on that paragraph, Twins.)

P.S.—Give the Vets and the Rodeo and the Lions Club and the Turtle Derby your full support.

"Sir, may I have your daughter for my wife?"
"Bring your wife around and we will see."

Five-year-old Jimmy was walk- ing with little Betty. As they ap- proached a corner, Jimmy remem- bered what his mother told him.
"Gimme your hand," he said to Betty.
"Okay," she replied, "but I gotta warn you, you're playing with fire."

Chiropractic Scholarship Contest Opens

A $60,000 scholarship contest with awards totaling 56 full tuition scholarships at the Palmer School of Chiropractic, Davenport, Iowa, was announced, locally, today by Dr. Kathryn Behnke of Artesia.

Dr. Behnke points out that all senior high school students who will graduate on or before June, 1952, as well as all junior college and college students are eligible to compete for the scholarships.

The rules are simple, consisting primarily of viewing a color slide film which will be shown locally and writing a 1,000 to 1,500 word paper on the subject, "Why I Choose Chiropractic as a Career."

"The scope of this $60,000 contest assures each state in the Union and each province in Canada a winner," says Dr. Behnke. "This means that there will be a New Mexico winner and I certainly hope that lucky young man or woman is from this community."

Contest rules and initial entry blanks are available at Dr. Behnke's office at 408 West Richardson.

and was erected at a cost of $401,000.

Additions to airports and bases at Hobbs and Roswell are the other major construction items for the month.

Lea County Airport at Hobbs will get a high intensity lighting system on the instrument runway, a control tower addition to the present administration building, asphalt auto and aircraft parking areas and landscaping.

The project is slated to cost $120,000. The Albuquerque office of Wilson and Company, engineers drew up the plans and specifications.

Asphalt runways are also slated to be erected at Jal, Eunice, Tatum and Lovington.

Bids for construction of P.O.L. facilities at Walker Air Force Base at Roswell are slated to be let Sept. 27. The project is labeled CIVENG-29-005-52-6.

Auxiliary of Plains Baptist Missionary Association held in Levelland, Texas, Sept. 11. All of West Texas and New Mexico are in the association area.

"The Ideal Church" was the meeting theme. Representing Artesia were Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mrs. Ward, wife of the local pastor.

This was the final quarterly session of the year.

In announcing the revival to start here Sept. 16, Rev. Ward said this was the second this year. The other was directed by Harold E. Brunson, then of Lamesa, now of Carthage. Texas and was held in April-May.

fine work they had done in preparation for the rodeo and said the show which began here yesterday is better than the one to be produced at Fort Worth in the near future.

He explained the acts in which the kids will participate in the local show and how stock was handled in the show.

Cullin Robinson, arena director appeared with Elliott and Steiner.

Use 400,000 Pounds

Four hundred thousand pounds of insecticides have been used this summer for aerial spraying against boll worms and corn borers and the total is expected to climb to half a million before the season is over.

That was gist of a talk delivered by Sug Hazel, director of the Hazel Flying Service.

Hazel told the group how 13 planes were used in the operation and that pilots to do the work were scarce, because of the specialized training needed for the work.

Hazel and Gene Sherwood are the only Artesia residents engaged in this work.

One plane can dust 12 acres per minute. The dust is spread out to the width of the plane, 30 to 32 feet and will drift further than this. However, drift cannot be depended upon.

Dusters must fly extremely low, the distance of the plane from the crop being 12 to 18 inches.

Hazel has been engaged in dusting over the Pecos Valley for the last 10 years and says pest infestation has grown worse every year. He expects the situation to deteriorate further as time goes on.

Yesterday's meeting of the club was held at noon in the upstairs dining room of Cliff's Cafeteria.

tinuous, and the state superintendent must be responsible to the board.

The amendment does not define the details for carrying out this principle. That power is left to the people through their legislature.

The amendment only fixes responsibility and limits the powers of the board.

Those who have studied the problem agree that it is essential that this principle be included to modify our constitution if the state is to keep pace with the educational needs of the children.

It is also agreed that the constitution is not the place to try to establish detailed law.

The constitution is an enduring document. The purpose of legislation is to implement the constitution.

Snake Bites—

mals couldn't close their mouths and gasped for breath for two out of the five days.

The fangmarks left by the snakes were the size of a half penny nail, according to Bell.

The snake bite was the second piece of bad luck to befall the colt. Earlier in the season, it ran between a building and a wire fence and got tangled.

Both the colt and Mrs. Bell, who saved the animal, received injuries from the corrugated iron fence.

Everybody is OK now, according

There was no big take for the winners. One dollar was top in farm products, except for one class on fruit, best exhibit from one orchard, drew a top of $5.

It was the parade that was the big pay-off. Awards were $25, $15 and $10, with a scattered $12, $7 and $5.

Mrs. Ferriman, who is the wife of one of Artesia's early mayors, also has a postcard collection with scenes dating as far back as 1907. A card dated 1927-28 shows Ferriman's Store, Hotel Gibson, Corbin Hardware, all of the main drag. There is also a flagpole, with a snake on it in the middle of the intersection.

A 1925 card shows a kind of wooden shack adjacent to Brainard-Corbin. Other scenes: Presbyterian Church, 1920; main hall, Western College, a two-story four-pillared brick building later Artesia High School; a public school building, two story brick, with three story tower and spire, of architecture recalling 1910; farm wagons laden with cotton; City Bakery; decorated cars and floats, bicycles, the "Brunswick Billiard Room, Soda; the Ozark Trail marker that was a sort of local Sam Houston monument.

There is also a 1907 card showing a 1901 model Ford, complete with American flag, possibly for a parade and right hand drive.

Reckon they had fun in those days too—even without streamlined cars, television. Seems folks then didn't have to depend on machines to have a good time.

A Day Worth Waiting For!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

There are but few times in a man's life when he gets a thrill that matches the one he gets when he takes delivery of his first Cadillac.

We've watched it happen many, many times—and it never ceases to be a heart-warming experience.

You see—a man isn't simply buying a motor car when he gets his first Cadillac. He is marking a milestone in his life.

For years, he has been saying to himself that, some day, he would step up to a Cadillac.

All this time, he has seen it as something he wanted to do for his family... and as a sort of personal reward for the effort and planning that have gone into his own work.

And when you watch him slide over behind the wheel

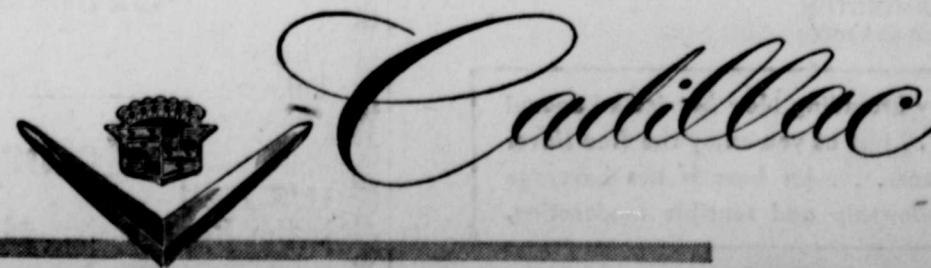

—well, it's a thrill just to be there. He's a proud and happy man as he turns the key in the ignition switch—and hears the deep-throated answer of the powerful engine.

If you are one who has been looking forward to a Cadillac—we think you would be well advised to come in and place your order now.

There's a little delay these days before a Cadillac can be delivered—and obviously, the sooner you place your order, the sooner you'll get your car.

And when the great day comes, you'll know at once that it was well worth waiting for—because all the things you've heard about a Cadillac are doubly true.

It isn't just a motor car. It's a wonderful contribution to a wonderful way of life!

Constitutional Amendments

THERE HAS NOT BEEN a great deal of comment about the constitutional amendments which come before the public at the special election on Tuesday, Sept. 18, with the exception of No. 2 and No. 8.

The New Mexico Educational Association is vitally interested in Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which provides for the appointment of the state superintendent of education instead of his election.

The proposal, educational leaders point out, would help take the schools out of politics and would make it possible for a superintendent to be selected on the basis of qualifications. It also would make it possible for a long range program to be planned and carried out by the superintendent.

Under our present system, a state superintendent is elected for a two-year term and can only serve two terms.

Constitutional Amendment No. 8, of course, provides for a change in the system for the electing of judges. Under the plan a non-partisan commission selects three qualified men to fill a judgeship. The governor makes the appointment from the three recommended. This judge serves then until the next general election. The public votes on whether he is retained or not. His name is placed on the ballot without any party affiliation.

The plan, advocates point out, keeps the judge on the job and they can continue their work without taking time off to campaign for the office. It prevents a judge from actively participating in campaigns and from making political contributions.

And it enables the public to determine a judge's fitness for office—the final decision rests with them. They can either return him to office or they can remove him from office.

Without a doubt both of these amendments are steps in the right direction. They are an attempt to bring about some corrections and some improvements in our educational system and in our judicial system.

But the fact remains they are not cure-alls, they are not perfect and they will not accomplish all that is desired.

There are states which have adopted the plan for the naming of their state superintendents but it has not accomplished all that is desired. It perhaps has helped. It probably will help in New Mexico.

Most of the attorneys in the state seem agreed that the change in the method of electing judges will bring an improvement in our judges and they are probably right.

There are attorneys over the state who have voiced their opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment. And it is probably true it won't do all the things which are claimed for it or bring about all of the changes which are needed.

Some laymen have objected to the amendment on the grounds it places the selecting of the judges in the hands of the attorneys—lawyers and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court will be on the commission with two laymen. They can out vote the laymen.

In the selecting of a judge for the State Supreme Court, only the lawyers will make the decision. In other words, the laymen members have nothing to say about the men named to the Supreme Court except in an election.

The plan has been employed in California and Missouri. There it is pointed out the program has been a success.

But the question here is one which the voters will decide on Sept. 18. They will make the final decision as to whether they want to change the methods of electing their state superintendent and their judges.

Other Amendments

ALTHOUGH THERE has been much comment regarding two of the proposed eight constitutional amendments, not a great deal has been said regarding the other six.

Those amendments receiving attention, of course, have been amendments No. 2 and No. 8—the first deals with the appointment of the state superintendent of education and the second with the naming of judges.

Proposed constitutional amendment No. 1 would make it illegal to molest any person on account of their religious worship. It also prohibits polygamous or plural marriages. This may be a good amendment but for the most part is unnecessary. The United States Constitution provides religious freedom.

Proposed Amendment No. 3 provides for eliminating the salaries as set by the constitution and grants to the Legislature the right to set the salaries of the supreme court justices. In other words it is an amendment to permit the increase of salaries of the justices of the state supreme court. If you favor more salaries for them—then vote for it. If you oppose increase in salaries—vote against it.

Proposed Amendment No. 4 does exactly the same thing for the district judges. The salaries are set by the constitution and this amendment would let the legislature set these salaries. At present judges get additional funds for other purposes. The same thing applies—if you favor more pay for the judges, vote for it and if you oppose increases in pay or the right of the Legislature to change the salaries—vote against it.

Proposed Amendment No. 5 deals with the creating of debts by cities, towns and villages and requires that no debt can be created except by ordinance and that this ordinance is irrevocable until the indebtedness is paid. The amendment also requires that the purpose be designated for which the funds are raised and limits the levy of the tax not to exceed 12 mills on the dollar on taxable property. The amendment also provides that no such debt shall be created except after it has been submitted to the qualified voters, who have paid a property tax during the preceding year. It sounds like a good amendment to us and we would vote for it. But it is a question for you to decide.

Proposed Amendment No. 7 provides for absentee voting. In other words it would permit qualified voters who are unable to be absent from the voting place to cast an absentee

What Other Editors Are Saying

OIL—FROM THE GROUND UP

A barrel of oil, in the state in which it comes from the ground, can't be used for anything productive. It has an enormous potentiality, true enough—but before it can power cars or grease machines or heat homes or wash clothes or do any other job it must go through a complex metamorphosis.

First of all, it must be refined. Some refineries are small, some are huge. A typical one employs 1850 men and represents an investment of $75,000,000. And it's always on the job, working 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The refinery turns the crude oil into a wide variety of finished products. But the consumer can't come to the plant, buy what he wants, and haul it away. So oil has developed an enormous, nationwide system of transportation, employing 220,000 people and representing a net investment of $1,750,000,000. Five hundred tankers, 2400 barges, 100,000 tank cars, 147,000 trucks and 153,000 miles of pipeline are engaged in the task of moving oil products to centers of consumption.

Then the distributors enter the picture—some 15,000 of them. They truck the gas to the service stations and the fuel to homes and businesses. Finally, we come to the service station. There are about 200,000 of these familiar institutions in existence in this country. They move 35,000,000,000 gallons of gas every year and offer 75 to 100 other products in addition.

This gives a small idea of the oil industry. It is highly competitive, highly progressive. Its primary goal is to sell fine products at fair prices. And there is room within it for businesses of every size—from a giant corporation down to a one man enterprise.—Industrial News Review.

OUR MODERN FEUDAL SYSTEM

Two hundred thousand workers are coming across the nation's borders, mostly from Florida to Washington. They do "stoop work" on American farms. In years past under-privileged Americans did the bulk of such work. A large number of this vast army consists of "wet-backs," illegal entrants who wade the Rio Grande. These are preferred by many farmers because they do not dare to squel against any sort of exploitation and are not under any labor agreement as to wages and conditions of work.

The Congress is about to cut appropriations for the border patrol, so the wet backs will have less trouble, ditto the farmers, especially the big corporation farm bosses.

But the big joke, and a sad one, is on the thousands of American workers who heretofore have migrated from region to region where there are harvests of fruit and farm products. Many of these are trekking back where they call "home," for their places have been taken by aliens. Some are coming through Alamogordo, back to Texas, Oklahoma and further, hungry, ragged and in old cars.

They do not get very much sympathy in this Christian land. "They should have stayed where they were (and starve there) and not be gallivanting over the country."

There is abundant material for a second edition of "Grapes of Wrath."—Alamogordo News.

Habits are at first cobwebs, then cables.

In 2-Hour Test Nets 33 Barrels

Phillips Petroleum Company has recovered oil from the Devonian on its 520 acre Fort lease located one mile northwest of present production in the multi-pay Denton Field of northeastern Lea county, New Mexico.

The well, No. 1 Fort, C NE NE, Section 34-14S-37E, recovered 33 barrels of 45.1 gravity oil following a two-hour drill stem test 12,582'-632'. The drill stem test covered the top 50' of Devonian pay section.

The No. 1 Fort previously indicated commercial possibilities from the Wolfcamp when it recovered 3900' of 41.1 gravity oil on a 4-hour drill stem test of the interval 9278'-9430'.

KANSAS CITY PILES UP DIKES FOR ANOTHER FLOOD

HARDLY CLEANED UP from havoc-wreaking flood in July, Kansas City, Mo., again faces an overflow of the Kaw river. Here bulldozer crews fill low points in the dike with a 31-foot flood crest expected. In July the crest reached 36.2 feet, but the dikes were higher at that time. (International Soundphoto)

New Mexico

By G. WARD FENLEY

Are people just naturally queer or simply born ignorant?

The Portales Tribune reported that an 80-year-old man entered the new Cal Boykin Hotel (Portales, that is, and they're proud of it) and asked if that was a good place to eat.

Upon being assured that it was, he pulled out his sandwiches and gorged himself.

After finishing he quipped: "I agree, it really is a good place to eat."

The Albuquerque Tribune told of an automobilist who was stopped for speeding and stepped out of his car dressed only in shirt and shoes.

He was booked for drunkenness. "Probably a good idea with all the heat we've been having."

A personal want-ad in the Farmington-Times said: "CHARLIE, be sure and see 'Cheating Husbands' next week at Brunk's Comedians. I saw it and it just fits our case. Perhaps it will bring us together again, Mary."

Liver vs. Heart
Dr. Martin Fleck, UNM biology professor, told an audience at Taos recently that the liver is replacing the heart as the body's most vital organ.

Picking up the challenge, the Taos Crepusculo says songs may soon read: "I Give You My Liver," "Two Livers in Three-Quarter Time," and "My Liver At Thy Sweet Voice."

Bob Ingraham of the Silver City Enterprise rushed in last week where angels fear to tread—the feminine world.

"Women," wrote Bob, "are natural born hypocondriacs, born with 90 per cent of the world's ills but live to collect 95 per cent of the life insurance policies."

And Jack Sifton of the Carlsbad Current-Argus put in his two cents: "A little tomato who knows her okra can go out with an old potato and come home with a couple of carats."

But just so you won't get the idea we think everybody is queer, here's an item or so on the credit

The Roy Record said recently that Dawson is a ghost town except for the little church which was left standing by the kind-hearted wrecking crew "for the benefit of some itinerant paester or possibly some cowboy who might feel religiously inclined."

Bible for Kit
And we'll add our ocolade for the Cruces Sun News which sponsored a campaign to locate a Bible for 80-year-old "Kit" Carson whose belongings were destroyed by fire recently. More Bibles came in than Kit could read.

I wish this kolm could make a progress report on typo errors but the poor we have with us always. The Eddy County News says it does not have to "plant" typo errors for readers' amazement, they just seem to come up "volunteer."

Here are a few of the volunteer crop: The Artesia Advocate: "he appointed a none-member state board (that's the kind of committee we like); Current-Argus quoting the Albuquerque Tribune: "Father to wed Vonna Jean King and her fiancée"; Albuquerque Journal: "he hit him with a bottle and loosened a tooth"; Roswell Record: "After his commission he will attend an AAA hattry officers' course at Fort Bliss"; (The Army always did have trouble with fitting them out); and a stuttering lino-type in the Albuquerque Journal: "The Wilson Rehabilitating Works."

So until next week, watch your driving on the highways. Don't be a statistic. Let's help KOB "Silence the Siren."

Job Orders

In New Mexico Rise 51 Per Cent

New Mexico's rapidly expanding economy is sharply reflected in the summary of state employment service activity for the first eight months of this year, ending Aug. 31.

M. F. Miera, chairman executive director of the Employment Security Commission, reported that all-time record totals were reached in nearly every activity, reflecting the wide-spread utilization of the service's facilities in recruiting qualified workers for New Mexico employers.

Job orders from employers for the first eight months of 1951 called for a total of 58,825 workers, as compared with 38,684 for the comparable 1950 period—an increase of 51 per cent.

Jobs filled by the service exceeded in number those of any similar period in the past, totaling for the first eight months of this year 50,916 non-agricultural placements, as compared with 31,646 for the first eight months of 1950—a 60 per cent increase.

Miera said that while the demand for workers in both civilian and defense industries throughout the state continues to be brisk, "we believe that New Mexico's continuing surplus labor supply and its position astride major migratory routes should, with the exception of shortages in certain of the technical and skilled groups, permit the Employment Service to meet most labor demands caused by the expanding defense program."

Pacific Pact's Value Chiefly Psychological | Treaties Just Reaffirm Friendship of America

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Washington officials are privately admitting that despite the huge publicity fanfare given the signing of mutual security treaties with the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, the pacts have mostly psychological value rather than any tangible military benefits. The treaties will serve more as a reaffirmation of United States friendship for the three Pacific allies than anything else, the observers say.

The agreements are also recognized as concessions to the urgings of Philippine President Elpidio Quirino and Australian Prime Minister Percy Spender for a Pacific Pact modeled after the lines of the North Atlantic Alliance.

However, United States policy promoters do not consider the creation of Pacific Alliance Agreement Communism as feasible a task as that now being performed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Western Europe.

In minimizing the practical results of the new treaties, the Washington officials note that following the establishing of an independent Philippine republic, a defense agreement was made to provide bases for United States forces in the Pacific in the event of an emergency. This goes much further than any provisions of the new pact.

In the case of Australia and New Zealand, there is no doubt that the United States would go to their defense should they be attacked—treaty or no treaty.

However, all three of the Pacific powers feel considerably happier from a psychological standpoint now that the pacts are signed.

LABOR AND POLITICS—Organized labor, still smarting from setbacks in last November's Congressional elections, used the Labor Day week-end for a series of tub-thumping calls to arms on the political front for 1952.

Labor's battlerey at this point is "equality of sacrifice"—a theme echoed by President Truman in his official statement marking the 50th anniversary of the annual holiday.

The unions are wrathful over the refusal of Congress to tighten price controls in line with the President's request and their Labor Day oratory left no doubt that they will be gunning in 1952 for legislation which would weaken controls—notably members of a coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans.

While labor's political strength is virtually non-existent in the south, it may spell trouble for some Republican seat-holders.

Complicating the outlook however, is the fact that there are marked symptoms of a division in labor's own ranks. The AFL and CIO are tending to go their separate ways as evidenced by the former's withdrawal from the United Labor Policy Committee recently.

While there may be unity of a sort on the political front, the development virtually rules out any centrally-directed program for labor for the immediate future.

MARSHALL AID IN REVERSE—A sympathetic housewife who watches her newspaper photographs with a keen eye is being credited for solving an eye-sight problem that plagued Defense Secretary George C. Marshall for years.

Marshall, though far-sighted and dependent upon glasses for close-up vision, can see much better at a distance without glasses of any kind.

Consequently, newspaper photographs showing him testifying before Congress constantly disclosed him peering over the top of his glasses when he wanted to get a good look at his audience.

The understanding housewife discovered his problem and sent him a pair of half-glasses. These enable Marshall to be optical help when he looks down for reading and to employ his normal vision without peering when he looks straight ahead.

The general is now convinced that bi-focals aren't necessary for a man his age. He swears by the half-glasses and reports that besides improving his vision, they have bettered his health in general.

Phillips Manager To Address Unit Of Oil Compact

Dr. H. H. Kaveler, assistant manager of production, Phillips Petroleum Co., will address the Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission during the Commission's meeting in Fort Worth, September 10-11, it was announced by Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, Commission chairman.

The subject of Dr. Kaveler's paper will be "Some problems in Accomplishing Unit Operations." Paul D. Torrey, chairman of the Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee, pointed out that Dr. Kaveler's experiences in the information and operation of unit operations for the more economic and efficient production of oil gas uniquely qualifies him to discuss this subject.

The Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee has repeatedly emphasized that unit operations matters are essential for the application of improved methods of recovering oil. The Committee meeting is to be held beginning at 9:30 a. m. Sept. 10, and continuing throughout the day, is open to the public and all interested persons are invited to attend.

Vacationist to druggist: "Buy you anything that's good for me, I've got quite a bit on top of poison over sunburn?"

Section 1. That it is hereby proposed to amend the Constitution of the State of New Mexico by adding thereto a new article to be numbered Article 25 to read as follows, to-wit:
"NONPARTISAN SELECTION OF JUDGES
"Section 1. Courts subject to plan-appointments to fill vacancies. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of judge (and the word judge is used to include the word justices in this article) of the Supreme Court or of any District Court, the governor shall fill such vacancy by appointing one of three persons possessing the qualifications for such office, who shall be nominated and whose names shall be submitted to the governor by a nonpartisan judicial nominating commission established and organized as hereinafter provided.
"Section 2. Tenure of judges—Declarations of candidacy—form of judicial ballot—rejection and retention. Each judge appointed pursuant to the provisions of this article shall hold office for a term ending December 31st following the next general election for representatives in Congress after the expiration of twelve months in the office. Any judge holding office, or elected thereto, at the time the provisions of this article become applicable to such office shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the term to which he would have been entitled had the provisions of this article not become applicable to his office. Not less than sixty days prior to the holding of the general election for representatives in Congress next preceding the expiration of his term of office, any judge whose office is subject to the provisions of this article may file in the office of the secretary of state a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself. If a declaration is not so filed by any judge, the vacancy resulting from the expiration of his term of office shall be filled by appointment as herein provided. If such a declaration is filed, his name shall be submitted at said next general election to the voters eligible to vote within the geographic jurisdictional limit of his court, on the regular ballot, containing the names of candidates for Congress, but without party designation, and in the following manner: 'Shall Judge (Here the name of the judge shall be inserted) be re-elected? (Here the title of the Court shall be inserted) Court be retained in office? Yes  No  (Place cross in one square)'. If a majority of those voting on the question vote against retaining him in office, and if the total number of votes cast on the question shall be at least fifty per cent (50%) of the total number of legal voters voting at the election, then upon the expiration of his term of office, a vacancy shall exist which shall be filled by appointment as provided in Section 1, otherwise, said judge shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the number of years after December 31st following such election as is provided for the full term of such office, and at the expiration of each such term shall be eligible for retention in office by election in the manner here prescribed.

"Section 3. Certification of names upon declarations—law applicable to elections. Whenever a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself is filed by any judge under the provisions of this article, the secretary of state shall not less than thirty days before the election certify the name of said judge to the county clerks of all counties wherein the question of retention of such judge in office is to be submitted to the voters, and such question shall be incorporated in the general election ballot in the form hereinabove set out; provided, however, the legislature is empowered to provide a special procedure for the submission of such question. Such election shall be conducted and determined under general election laws in effect at the time of such election or under such specific procedure as may be provided by the legislature for the election of judges under this article. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts to determine all questions concerning the legality and legal results of such elections and the right of appeal to the Supreme Court is hereby granted to all interested parties in such litigation, the procedure for such litigation and for appeals therefrom to be provided by rule of the Supreme Court.
"Section 4. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions, number, qualification, selection, and terms of members—majority rule—reimbursement of expenses—rules of Supreme Court. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions whose duty it shall be to nominate and submit to the governor names of persons for appointment as provided by this article are hereby established and shall be organized on the following basis: For vacancies in the office of judge of the Supreme Court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission'; for vacancies in the office of judge of any district court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Judicial District Judicial Nominating Commission', for each judicial district. The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission shall, until otherwise provided by law, consist of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who shall act as chairman and the Board of Bar Commissioners of the State Bar of New Mexico. Each judicial district judicial nominating commission shall consist of five members, one of whom shall be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court who shall act as Chairman; the members of the bar of this state residing in each judicial district shall under the rules to be promulgated by the Supreme Court, select two of their number to serve as members of said judicial district judicial nominating commission, but no more than one shall reside in the same county if there be members of the bar in more than one county in the judicial district; the Supreme Court shall appoint one citizen and the governor shall appoint one citizen, non members of the bar, from among the residents of said judicial district to serve as members of said judicial district nominating commission, and said citizens shall be residents of different counties in the judicial district. No member of any such commission shall hold any public office other than chief justice of the Supreme Court or member of the Board of Bar Commissioners of the State Bar, and no member shall hold any official position in a political party. Every such judicial nominating commission shall act only by a concurrence of a majority of its members. The members of such commissions shall receive no salary or other compensation for their services as such, but they shall receive their necessary traveling and other expenses incurred while actually engaged in the discharge of their official duties.
"Each judicial district nominating commission shall be selected and constituted in each judicial district immediately after a vacancy occurs in the office of judge therein and its powers, duties and functions and the terms of its members shall end as soon as it has submitted its nominations to the governor. All judicial nominating commissions shall be administered under such rules as the Supreme Court shall promulgate. No person other than a resident member of the bar of New Mexico, in good standing, shall ever be qualified to serve on the Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission but the legislature is empowered to provide for the number and terms of office of the members, and the manner of their selection by nonpartisan election; provided, however, each judicial district in the state shall be given equal representation on such commission.

"Section 5. Payment of expenses.—All expenses incurred in administering this article, when approved by the Supreme Court, shall be paid out of the state treasury. The Supreme Court shall certify such expense to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant therefor payable out of the general fund.
"Section 6. Prohibition of political activity by judges. No judge of any court of record in this state shall directly or indirectly make any contribution to or hold any office in a political party or organization, or take part in any political campaign; provided, however, a judge who is a candidate for re-election to office shall have the right to personally defend his character, his qualifications and his prior official actions.
"Section 7. Self-enforcing. All of the provisions of this article shall be self-enforcing."
Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of this resolution proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election to be held in November, 1952, or at any special election called previous to the general election.
WITNESS my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico on this 9th day of August, 1951.

Constitutional Amendments

THERE HAS NOT BEEN a great deal of comment about the constitutional amendments which come before the public at the special election on Tuesday, Sept. 18, with the exception of No. 2 and No. 8.

The New Mexico Educational Association is vitally interested in Constitutional Amendment No. 2, which provides for the appointment of the state superintendent of education instead of his election.

The proposal, educational leaders point out, would help take the schools out of politics and would make it possible for a superintendent to be selected on the basis of qualifications. It also would make it possible for a long range program to be planned and carried out by the superintendent.

Under our present system, a state superintendent is elected for a two-year term and can only serve two terms.

Constitutional Amendment No. 8, of course, provides for a change in the system for the electing of judges. Under the plan a non-partisan commission selects three qualified men to fill a judgeship. The governor makes the appointment from the three recommended. This judge serves then until the next general election. The public votes on whether he is retained or not. His name is placed on the ballot without any party affiliation.

The plan, advocates point out, keeps the judge on the job and they can continue their work without taking time off to campaign for the office. It prevents a judge from actively participating in campaigns and from making political contributions.

And it enables the public to determine a judge's fitness for office—the final decision rests with them. They can either return him to office or they can remove him from office.

Without a doubt both of these amendments are steps in the right direction. They are an attempt to bring about some corrections and some improvements in our educational system and in our judicial system.

But the fact remains they are not cure-alls, they are not perfect and they will not accomplish all that is desired.

There are states which have adopted the plan for the naming of their state superintendents but it has not accomplished all that is desired. It perhaps has helped. It probably will help in New Mexico.

Most of the attorneys in the state seem agreed that the change in the method of electing judges will bring an improvement in our judges and they are probably right.

There are attorneys over the state who have voiced their opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment. And it is probably true it won't do all the things which are claimed for it or bring about all of the changes which are needed.

Some laymen have objected to the amendment on the grounds it places the selecting of the judges in the hands of the attorneys—lawyers and the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court will be on the commission with two laymen. They can out vote the laymen.

In the selecting of a judge for the State Supreme Court, only the lawyers will make the decision. In other words, the laymen members have nothing to say about the men named to the Supreme Court except in an election.

The plan has been employed in California and Missouri. There it is pointed out the program has been a success.

But the question here is one which the voters will decide on Sept. 18. They will make the final decision as to whether they want to change the methods of electing their state superintendent and their judges.

Other Amendments

ALTHOUGH THERE has been much comment regarding two of the proposed eight constitutional amendments, not a great deal has been said regarding the other six.

Those amendments receiving attention, of course, have been amendments No. 2 and No. 8—the first deals with the appointment of the state superintendent of education and the second with the naming of judges.

Proposed constitutional amendment No. 1 would make it illegal to molest any person on account of their religious worship. It also prohibits polygamous or plural marriages. This may be a good amendment but for the most part is unnecessary. The United States Constitution provides religious freedom.

Proposed Amendment No. 3 provides for eliminating the salaries as set by the constitution and grants to the Legislature the right to set the salaries of the supreme court justices. In other words it is an amendment to permit the increase of salaries of the justices of the state supreme court. If you favor more salaries for them—then vote for it. If you oppose increase in salaries—vote against it.

Proposed Amendment No. 4 does exactly the same thing for the district judges. The salaries are set by the constitution and this amendment would let the legislature set these salaries. At present judges get additional funds for other purposes. The same thing applies—if you favor more pay for the judges, vote for it and if you oppose increases in pay or the right of the Legislature to change the salaries—vote against it.

Proposed Amendment No. 5 deals with the creating of debts by cities, towns and villages and requires that no debt can be created except by ordinance and that this ordinance is irrevocable until the indebtedness is paid. The amendment also requires that the purpose be designated for which the funds are raised and limits the levy of the tax not to exceed 12 mills on the dollar on taxable property. The amendment also provides that no such debt shall be created except after it has been submitted to the qualified voters, who have paid a property tax during the preceding year. It sounds like a good amendment to us and we would vote for it. But it is a question for you to decide.

Proposed Amendment No. 7 provides for absentee voting. In other words it would permit qualified voters who are to be absent from the voting place to cast an absentee

OIL—FROM THE GROUND UP

A barrel of oil, in the state in which it comes from the ground, can't be used for anything productive. It has an enormous potentiality, true enough—but before it can power cars or grease machines or heat homes or wash clothes or do any other job it must go through a complex metamorphosis.

First of all, it must be refined. Some refineries are small, some are huge. A typical one employs 1850 men and represents an investment of $75,000,000. And it's always on the job, working 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

The refinery turns the crude oil into a wide variety of finished products. But the consumer can't come to the plant, buy what he wants, and haul it away. So oil has developed an enormous, nationwide system of transportation, employing 220,000 people and representing a net investment of $1,750,000,000. Five hundred tankers, 2400 barges, 100,000 tank cars, 147,000 trucks and 153,000 miles of pipeline are engaged in the task of moving oil products to centers of consumption.

Then the distributors enter the picture—some 15,000 of them. They truck the gas to the service stations and the fuel to homes and businesses.

Finally, we come to the service station. There are about 200,000 of these familiar institutions in existence in this country. They move 35,000,000,000 gallons of gas every year and offer 75 to 100 other products in addition.

This gives a small idea of the oil industry. It is highly competitive, highly progressive. Its primary goal is to sell fine products at fair prices. And there is room within it for businesses of every size—from a giant corporation down to a one man enterprise.—Industrial News Review.

OUR MODERN FEUDAL SYSTEM

Two hundred thousand workers are coming across the nation's borders, mostly from Florida to Washington. They do "stoop work" on American farms. In years past under-privileged Americans did the bulk of such work. A large number of this vast army consists of "wet-backs," illegal entrants who wade the Rio Grande. These are preferred by many farmers because they do not dare to squel against any sort of exploitation and are not under any labor agreement as to wages and conditions of work.

The Congress is about to cut appropriations for the border patrol, so the wet backs will have less trouble, ditto the farmers, especially the big corporation farm bosses.

But the big joke, and a sad one, is on the thousands of American workers who heretofore have migrated from region to region where there are harvests of fruit and farm products. Many of these are trekking back where they call "home," for their places have been taken by aliens. Some are coming through Alamogordo, back to Texas, Oklahoma and further, hungry, ragged and in old cars.

They do not get very much sympathy in this Christian land. "They should have stayed where they were (and starve there) and not be gallivanting over the country."

There is abundant material for a second edition of "Grapes of Wrath."—Alamogordo News.

In 2-Hour Test Nets 33 Barrels

Phillips Petroleum Company has recovered oil from the Devonian on its 520 acre Fort lease located one mile northwest of present production in the multi-pay Denton Field of northeastern Lea county, New Mexico.

The well, No. 1 Fort, C. N. E. NE, Section 34-14S-37E, recovered 33 barrels of 45.1 gravity oil following a two-hour drill stem test 12,582'-632'. The drill stem test covered the top 50' of Devonian pay section.

The No. 1 Fort previously indicated commercial possibilities from the Wolfcamp when it recovered 3900' of 41.1 gravity oil on a 4-hour drill stem test of the interval 9278'-9430'.

KANSAS CITY PILES UP DIKES FOR ANOTHER FLOOD

HARDLY CLEANED UP from havoc-wreaking flood in July, Kansas City, Mo., again faces an overflow of the Kaw river. Here bulldozer crews fill low points in the dike with a 31-foot flood crest expected. In July the crest reached 36.2 feet, but the dikes were higher at that time. (International Soundphoto)

New Mexico

By G. WARD FENLEY

Are people just naturally queer or simply born ignorant? The Portales Tribune reported that an 80-year-old man entered the new Cal Boykin Hotel (Portales, that is, and they're proud of it) and asked if that was a good place to eat.

Upon being assured that it was, he pulled out his sandwiches and gorged himself.

After finishing he quipped: "I agree, it really is a good place to eat."

The Albuquerque Tribune told of an automobilist who was stopped for speeding and stepped out of his car dressed only in shirt and shoes.

He was booked for drunkenness. "Probably a good idea with all the heat we've been having."

A personal want-ad in the Farmington-Times said: "CHARLIE, be sure and see 'Cheating Husbands' next week at Brunk's Comedians. I saw it and it just fits our case. Perhaps it will bring us together again, Mary."

Liver vs. Heart

Dr. Martin Fleck, UNM biology professor, told an audience at Taos recently that the liver is replacing the heart as the body's most vital organ.

Picking up the challenge, the Taos Crepusculo says songs soon read: "I Give You My Liver," "Two Livers in Three-Quarter Time," and "My Liver At Thy Sweet Voice."

Bob Ingraham of the Silver City Enterprise rushed in last week where angels fear to tread—the feminine world.

"Women," wrote Bob, "are natural born hypocondriacs, born with 90 per cent of the world's ills but live to collect 95 per cent of the life insurance policies."

And Jack Sittion of the Carlsbad Current-Argus put in his two cents: "A little tomato who knows her okra can go out with an old potato and come home with a couple of carats."

But just so you won't get the idea we think everybody is queer, here's an item or so on the credit

The Roy Record said recently that Dawson is a ghost town except for the little church which was left standing by the kind-hearted wrecking crew "for the benefit of some itinerant pastor or possibly some cowboy who might feel religiously inclined."

Bible for Kit

And we'll add our ocolade for the Cruces Sun News which sponsored a campaign to locate a Bible for 80-year-old "Kit" Carson whose belongings were destroyed by fire recently. More Bibles came in than Kit could read.

I wish this kolm could make a progress report on typo errors but the poor we have with us always.

The Eddy County News says it does not have to "plant" typo errors for readers' amazement, they just seem to come up "volunteer."

Here are a few of the volunteer crop: The Artesia Advocate: "he appointed a non-member state board (that's the kind of committee we like); Current-Argus quoting the Albuquerque Tribune: "Father to wed Vonna Jean King and her finance"; Albuquerque Journal: "he hit him with a bottle and loosened a tooth"; Roswell Record: "After his commission he will attend an AAA hattry officers' course at Fort Bliss"; (The Army always did have trouble with fitting them out); and a stuttering lino-type in the Albuquerque Journal: "The Wilson Rehabilitating Works."

So until next week, watch your driving on the highways. Don't be a statistic. Let's help KOB "Silence the Siren."

Job Orders In New Mexico Rise 51 Per Cent

New Mexico's rapidly expanding economy is sharply reflected in the summary of state employment service activity for the first eight months of this year, ending Aug. 31.

M. F. Miera, chairman executive director of the Employment Security Commission, reported that all-time record totals were reached in nearly every activity, reflecting the wide-spread utilization of the service's facilities in recruiting qualified workers for New Mexico employers.

Job orders from employers for the first eight months of 1951 called for a total of 58,625 workers, as compared with 38,684 for the comparable 1950 period—an increase of 51 per cent.

Jobs filled by the service exceeded in number those of any similar period in the past, totaling for the first eight months of this year 50,916 non-agricultural placements, as compared with 31,646 for the first eight months of 1950—a 60 per cent increase.

Miera said that while the demand for workers in both civilian and defense industries throughout the state continues to be brisk, "we believe that New Mexico's continuing surplus labor supply and its position astride major migratory routes should, with the exception of shortages in certain of the technical and skilled groups, permit the Employment Service to meet most labor demands caused by the expanding defense program."

Pacific Pact's Value Chiefly Psychological | Treaties Just Reaffirm Friendship of America

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Washington officials are privately admitting that despite the huge publicity fanfare given the signing of mutual security treaties with the Philippines, Australia and New Zealand, the pacts have mostly psychological value rather than any tangible, material benefits. The treaties will serve more as a reaffirmation of United States friendship for the three Pacific allies than anything else, the observers say.

President Quirino

The agreements are also recognized as concessions to the urgings of Philippine President Elpidio Quirino and Australian Prime Minister Percy Spender for a Pacific Pact modeled after the lines of the North Atlantic Alliance.

However, United States policy promoters do not consider the creation of Pacific Alliance Agreement Communism as feasible a task as that now being performed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in Western Europe.

In minimizing the practical results of the new treaties, the Washington officials note that following the establishing of an independent Philippine republic, a defense agreement was made to provide bases for United States forces in the Pacific island in the event of an emergency. This goes much further than any provisions of the new pact.

In the case of Australia and New Zealand, there is no doubt that the United States would go to their defense should they be attacked—treaty or no treaty.

However, all three of the Pacific powers feel considerably happier from a psychological standpoint now that the pacts are signed.

LABOR AND POLITICS—Organized labor, still smarting from its backs in last November's Congressional elections, used the Labor Day week-end for a series of tub-thumping calls to arms on the political front for 1952.

Labor's battlecry at this point is "equality of sacrifice"—a theme echoed by President Truman in his official statement marking observance of the annual holiday.

The unions are wrathful over the refusal of Congress to tighten price controls in line with the President's request and their Labor Day oratory left no doubt that they will be gunning in 1952 for legislation who voted for weakening controls—notably members of a coalition of Southern Democrats and Northern Republicans.

While labor's political strength is virtually non-existent in the south, it may spell trouble for some Republican seat-holders.

Complicating the outlook however, is the fact that there are marked symptoms of a division in labor's own ranks. The AFL and CIO are tending to go their separate ways as evidenced by the former's withdrawal from the United Labor Policy Committee recently.

While there may be unity of a sort on the political front, the development virtually rules out any centrally-directed program for labor for the immediate future.

MARSHALL AID IN REVERSE—A sympathetic housewife who watches her newspaper photographs with a keen eye is being credited for solving an eye-sight problem that plagued Defense Secretary George C. Marshall for years.

Marshall, though far-sighted and dependent upon glasses for clear vision, can see much better at a distance without glasses of any kind.

Consequently, newspaper photographs showing him Half-glasses For the General testifying before Congress constantly disclosed him peering over the tops of his glasses when he wanted to get a good look at his audience.

The understanding housewife discovered his problem and sent him a pair of half-glasses. These enable Marshall to see optical help when he looks down for reading and to employ his normal vision without peering when he looks straight ahead.

The general is now convinced that bi-focals aren't necessary for a man his age. He swears by the half-glasses and reports that besides improving his vision, they have bettered his health in general.

Phillips Manager To Address Unit Of Oil Compact

Dr. H. H. Kaveler, assistant manager of production, Phillips Petroleum Co., will address the Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee of the Interstate Oil Compact Commission during the Commission's meeting in Fort Worth, September 10-11, it was announced by Governor Allan Shivers of Texas, Commission chairman.

The subject of Dr. Kaveler's paper will be "Some problems in Accomplishing Unit Operations." Paul D. Torrey, chairman of the Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee, pointed out that Dr.

Kaveler's experiences in the information and operation of unit operations for the more economic and efficient production of oil and gas uniquely qualifies him to discuss this subject.

The Secondary Recovery Advisory Committee has repeatedly emphasized that unit operations are essential for the application of improved methods of recovering oil. The Committee meeting to be held beginning at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 10, and continuing through out the day, is open to the public and all interested persons are invited to attend.

CULTURAL note from Hollywood via Mike Connolly: a starlet gave an interior decorator carte blanche in redecorating her drawing room and library. "I don't care what you do to the joint," she declared, "as long as when my friends get a load of it they'll just drop dead."

Connolly also reports that a producer had a nightmare the other evening in which his newly finished epic, costing three million dollars, was previewed in a trans-Pacific stratosphere, and the pilot radioed back to the mainland, "I saw history made tonight! First time an audience ever walked out at 16,000 feet."

 BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:
 Section 1. That Article 9, Section 12 of the Constitution of the State of New Mexico be amended to read as follows:
 "No city, town or village shall contract any debt except by an ordinance, which shall be irrevocable until the indebtedness thereon provided for shall have been fully paid or discharged, and which shall specify the purposes to which the funds to be raised shall be applied, and which shall provide for the levy of a tax, not exceeding twelve mills on the dollar upon all taxable property within such city, town or village, sufficient to pay the interest on, and to extinguish the principal of, such debt within fifty years. No such debt shall be created unless the question of incurring the same shall have been submitted to a vote of such qualified electors thereof as have paid a property tax therein during the preceding year, and a majority of those voting on the question, by ballot deposited in a separate ballot box, shall have voted in favor of creating such a debt."
 Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of this resolution proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election held in November, 1952, or at any special election held previous to the said general election.

 TWENTIETH LEGISLATURE STATE OF NEW MEXICO
 HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 9
 Introduced by: I. M. Smalley, Waldo Spiess
 A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO ADDING A NEW ARTICLE 25 PROVIDING FOR THE NON-PARTISAN SELECTION OF JUDGES.
 BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:
 Section 1. That it is hereby proposed to amend the Constitution of the State of New Mexico by adding thereto a new article to be numbered Article 25 to read as follows, to-wit:
 "NONPARTISAN SELECTION OF JUDGES"
 "Section 1. Courts subject to plan-appointments to fill vacancies. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of judge (and the word judge is used to include the word justices in this article) of the Supreme Court or of any District Court, the governor shall fill such vacancy by appointing one of three persons possessing the qualifications for such office, who shall be nominated and whose names shall be submitted to the governor by a nonpartisan judicial nominating commission established and organized as hereinafter provided."
 "Section 2. Tenure of judges—Declarations of candidacy—form of judicial ballot—rejection and retention. Each judge appointed pursuant to the provisions of this article shall hold office for a term ending December 31st following the expiration of twelve months in the office. Any judge holding office, or elected thereto, at the time the provisions of this article become applicable to such office shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the term to which he would have been entitled had the provisions of this article not become applicable to his office. Not less than sixty days prior to the holding of the general election for representatives in Congress next preceding the expiration of his term of office, any judge whose office is subject to the provisions of this article may file in the office of the secretary of state a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself. If a declaration is not so filed by any judge, the vacancy resulting from the expiration of his term of office shall be filled by appointment as herein provided. If such a declaration is filed, his name shall be submitted to the voters eligible to vote within the geographic jurisdictional limit of his court, on the regular ballot, containing the names of candidates for Congress, but without party designation, and in the following manner: "Shall Judge (Here the name of the judge shall be inserted) of the (Here the title of the Court shall be inserted) Court be retained in office? Yes  No  (Place cross in one square)". If a majority of those voting on the question vote against retaining him in office, and if the total number of votes cast on the question shall be at least fifty per cent (50%) of the total number of legal voters voting at the election, then upon the expiration of his term of office, a vacancy shall exist which shall be filled by appointment as provided in Section 1; otherwise, said judge shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the number of years after December 31st following such election as is provided for the full term of such office, and at the expiration of each such term shall be eligible for retention in office by election in the manner here prescribed.

 "Section 3. Certification of names upon declarations—law applicable to candidates. Whenever a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself is filed by any judge under the provisions of this article, the secretary of state shall not less than thirty days before the election certify the name of said judge and the official title of his office to the county clerks of all counties wherein the question of retention of such judge in office is to be submitted to the voters, and such question shall be incorporated in the general election ballot in the form hereinafter set out; provided, however, the legislature is empowered to provide a special procedure for the submission of such question. Such election and the results thereof shall be conducted and determined under general election laws in effect at the time of such election or under such specific procedure as may be provided by the legislature for the election of judges under this article. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts to determine all questions concerning the legality and legal results of such elections and the right of appeal to the Supreme Court is hereby granted to all interested parties in such litigation, the procedure for such litigation and for appeals therefrom to be provided by Section 4 of the Supreme Court.
 "Section 4. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions — number, qualification, selection, and terms of members — majority rule — reimbursement of expenses — rules of Supreme Court. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions whose duty it shall be to nominate and submit to the governor names of persons for appointment as provided by this article are hereby established and shall be organized on the following basis: For vacancies in the office of judge of the Supreme Court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission'; for vacancies in the office of judge of any district court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Judicial District Judicial Nominating Commission'; for each judicial district. The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission shall, consist of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who shall act as chairman and the Board of Bar Commissioners of the State Bar of New Mexico. Each judicial district judicial nominating commission shall consist of five members, one of whom shall be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court who shall act as Chairman; the members of the bar of this state residing in each judicial district shall under the rules to be promulgated by the Supreme Court, select two of their number to serve as members of said judicial district judicial nominating commission but no more than one shall reside in the same county if there be members of the bar in more than one county in the judicial district; the Supreme Court shall appoint one citizen and the governor shall appoint one citizen, not members of the bar, from among the residents of said judicial district to serve as members of said judicial district nominating commission, and said citizens shall be residents of different counties in the judicial district.
 "Section 2. Tenure of judges—Declarations of candidacy—form of judicial ballot—rejection and retention. Each judge appointed pursuant to the provisions of this article shall hold office for a term ending December 31st following the expiration of twelve months in the office. Any judge holding office, or elected thereto, at the time the provisions of this article become applicable to such office shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the term to which he would have been entitled had the provisions of this article not become applicable to his office. Not less than sixty days prior to the holding of the general election for district immediately after a vacancy occurs in the office of judge therein and its powers, duties and functions and the terms of its members shall end as soon as it has submitted its nominations to the governor. All judicial nominating commissions shall be administered under such rules as the Supreme Court shall promulgate. No person other than a resident member of the bar of New Mexico, in good standing, shall ever be qualified to serve on the Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission, but the legislature is empowered to provide for the number and terms of office of the members, and the manner of their selection by nonpartisan election; provided, however, each judicial district in the state shall be given equal representation on such commission.

 "Section 5. Payment of expenses.—All expenses incurred in administering this article, when approved by the Supreme Court, shall be paid out of the state treasury. The Supreme Court shall certify such expense to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant therefor payable out of the general fund.
 "Section 6. Prohibition of political activity by judges. No judge of any court of record in this state, appointed to or retained in office in the manner prescribed in this article shall directly or indirectly make any contribution to or hold any office in a political party or organization, or take part in any political campaign; provided, however, a judge who is a candidate for retention in office shall have the right to personally defend his character, his qualifications and his prior official actions.
 "Section 7. Self-enforceability. All of the provisions of this article shall be self-enforcing."
 Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of this resolution proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election to be held in November, 1952, or at any special election called previous to the general election.
 WITNESS my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico on this 9th day of August, 1951.
