Artesians Form Concert Group

A musical organization, a concert association, is Artesia's newest movement. It is the Artesia Concert Association, headed by Rev. R. L. Willingham, president.

The local delegation, headed by Emery Carper, industrial committee chairman of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, included Don Teed, realtor; Frank Bixby, employment service interviewer; John Simons, Jr., life insurance agent; and Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce.

They were shown around the plant and ate a ham luncheon at noon as guests of M. G. Cooper, president; Fred Davis, vice-president; and Roy Blackmon, industrial relations director, of the potash concern.

The trip was made Thursday, Nov. 1.

Artesians Guests Of Potash Concern

Artesia, oil and cotton center of Eddy county, explored another industrial salient when a quintet of Artesians inspected the Potash Company of America plant, 32 miles southeast of Artesia.

The local delegation, headed by Emery Carper, industrial committee chairman of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, included Don Teed, realtor; Frank Bixby, employment service interviewer; John Simons, Jr., life insurance agent; and Bob Koonce, manager of the chamber of commerce.

Fifteen Years With Southern Gas Company

MARLIN DURBIN

Marlin Durbin, of Artesia, veteran employe of Southern Union Gas Company's southeastern New Mexico district construction crew, recently was presented with that company's award for 15 years of continuous service. Announcement of the award was made by A. J. Green of Carlsbad, district transmission superintendent for the utility company. Durbin was employed as a laborer in 1936, and was promoted in 1940 to welder's helper. Three years later, his classification was changed to fitter's helper, and two years later to pipe fitter. He has served in his present position since November, 1945. With the presentation of the award to Durbin, Southern Union now has presented 61 awards for 15 years of continuous service, 138 ten-year awards, and 400 five-year awards in addition to 20 twenty-year awards.

Guardsmen Asked To Check on Gear

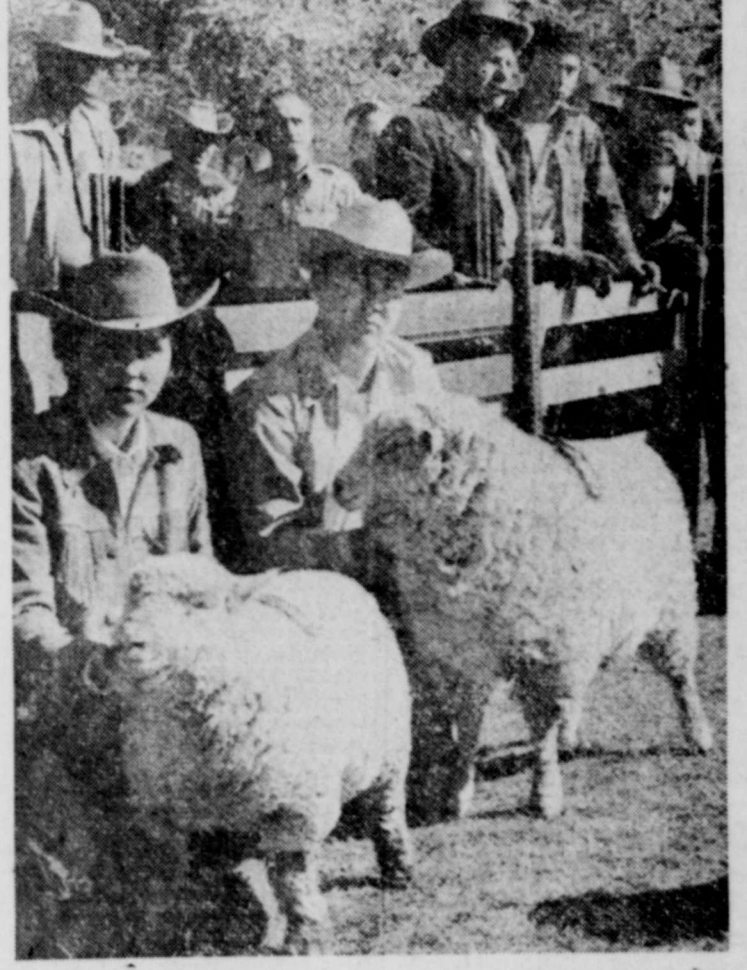

In preparation for the annual property inventory to be taken on Nov. 13, Captain Marshall Belshe, commanding officer of Battery C, 697th Antiaircraft Artillery Automatic Weapons Battalion of the New Mexico National Guard, today called on all members of the local battery to bring in all equipment they may have at their homes.

Captain Belshe said the list of property included shirts, trousers, especially summer uniforms, and he wanted all their material on hand when the inspection is held. Immediate action was stressed. The Captain wants the equipment in place when the battery holds its regular drill at 7 p. m. tomorrow at the Armory, 401-11 West Centre.

The property inspection, to be conducted by an officer of the U. S. Property and Disbursement branch from Albuquerque, will be the second inspection of the battery in a fortnight.

Another Albuquerquean was in Artesia on Oct. 30 to check the battery's guns, and trucks. Captain Belshe said condition was "rated as good as that of any unit in the 697th and there were no outstanding deficiencies."

Artesia Livestock Show Sets Cash and Entry Records

CHAMPIONS AT RECORD SHOW

CHAMPIONS AT RECORD SHOW

Anticipated record-smashing in the junior livestock show, held here Saturday, were realized with a number of boys and girls making entries totaling 250 and livestock bringing in $14,500 in the auction ring. Both number of entrants and cash set a new high.

The total was $2,000 more than last year's sales.

This was the eighth annual Eddy County Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club sale and the first to be held in Artesia. Besides the F. F. A. and 4-H, the Future Homemakers of America were also represented.

Besides the divisions of the stock show and sale—cattle, sheep and hogs, the exhibition also included leathercraft, needlecraft, foods, and other classes.

Location was the Veterans Memorial building and the lawn in front of the structure.

Paul L. Frost, chairman of the show, jointly sponsored by Artesia Kiwanis and Carlsbad Farm and Ranch Improvement Association, announced yesterday the average prices on calves, 65.8 cents a pound; lambs, 94.99; and hogs, 66.6; packers bid, 35 1/2 on calves, 30 on lambs, and 21 on hogs.

Grand champion calf of Bob Formwalt of Cottonwood 4-H sold for $1,018.64 at $1.19 a pound. The 856-pound Hereford was bought by Artesia Alfalfa Growers. Breeder was R. Pearson. Last year's grand champion sold for 96 1/2 cents a pound.

Reserve champion calf this year, raised by another Cottonwood 4-H exhibitor, Bill Gray, was bought by U. S. Potash for $886.50. Price per pound for Gray's 1,025-pound calf was 86 cents. Top price was the breeder. Reserve champion last year brought 80 cents a pound.

Artesian Winner—Mary E. Graham of Artesia 4-H had the champion fat lamb bought by Spurlin's Dairy at $1.40 a pound, a total of $138.00. Last year $1.00 a pound was paid for the first place fat lamb.

First place fat hog of Hunt Zumwalt, Artesia F.F.A., sold for $1.44 a pound. Artesia Compress paid $289.44 for the 201-pound hog.

Total junior livestock sale this year figured out to $14,557.14, compared to $12,415.02 last year and the 1949 total, $12,330.76.

45 Entries—Forty-five entries were sold in the ring Saturday.

County Agent Dallas Rierson announced to those gathered for the auction that it looked as if the junior show was "outgrowing us." He suggested that businessmen might keep in mind the idea of it as a growing enterprise, and noted that Eddy was one of the few counties with agriculture that doesn't have a county fair.

Judges at the junior exhibit and sale reportedly commented that the quality of exhibits was consistently good this year. Observers estimated that the average beef and lamb prices paid were up a sizeable amount from last year.

$20 Capon—A Carlsbad exhibitor, Bobby Ohmart, placed first with his capon, bought for $20 by Walter Solt.

The Artesia Kiwanis Club, co-sponsor of the show this year with the Carlsbad Farm and Ranch Improvement Association, had members on hand aiding at the exhibit and sale. The Carlsbad association has sponsored the shows in past years, held here outside the courthouse.

Young exhibitors of calves that didn't go through the ring yesterday got a boost when three organizations offered to add a total five cents per pound premium for those calves. The First National Bank of Artesia started the ball rolling with an offer of two cents, followed by the Pecos Valley Cotton Oil Co., two cents, and R. U. Boyd, one cent.

In general charge of the junior show were Rierson and Paul Johnson, vocational agriculture teacher at Carlsbad High School, aided by Allen Beck, assistant county agent, and others. The home economics exhibits were under supervision of Miss Wynona Swepston, home agent, and Miss Marjorie Howell, assistant home agent.

Serving as judges yesterday were Ivan Watson, for sheep, swine, and beef; E. E. Anderson, dairy; H. L. Matthews, poultry, and Miss Reba Boyles, home economics.

Thanks Expressed—Chairman Frost thanked fellow Kiwanians and all who bid or made any contribution to the show's success. Some of the Kiwanians not only worked on the grounds but also gave cash to the project.

Superintendents—Frost listed Pat Patterson, hogs; Bob McCaw, poultry; Wallace Johnson, dairy; Douglas Lynn, sheep; Dick Eicher, beef calves; Vernon L. Bryan, welder; Justin Newman, ring; Ken Aldridge, records; Ernest Hubbard and Cecil Waldrep, clerks.

Other Workers—Rev. Ralph O'Dell, Truman Short, Don Kiddle, Rufus Stinnett, Waldo Ports. The chairman also thanked the county agent's staff, veterans organizations, and Rose-lawn Radio.

Indianan Likes Big New Mexico's Goliath Size Sky

That unfenced feeling one gets at looking at the expanse of New Mexico sky is a salient impression of an Artesia newcomer, Janice Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Bennett, 1002 West Missouri.

The Bennett family came here a month ago from Clinton, Indiana. In the Hoosier State, Miss Bennett said, it seemed the view of the sky had a narrow scope for the observer.

Miss Bennett began work Thursday as secretary to Bob Koonce, chamber of commerce manager, 316 Carper Building. She is a 1951 graduate of Clinton High School, has specialized in commercial subjects, and has had two years' experience in shorthand.

Father of the secretary is a NuMex employe. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Bennett and Janice, the family also includes July, 15, and Jacqueline (Jackie) 6.

Miss Bennett is keenly interested in seeing Carlsbad Caverns National Park and the Sacramento Mountains.

The new secretary succeeds Elionia Callahan, secretary the past four months, now employed at a tire agency.

Artesian Kills 308-Pound Deer

It's a long way from the Pecos to the mountains of cool, colorful Colorado but right out of the mountains of the Centennial State comes a hunting yarn in which an Artesian is the key figure.

David Dillard, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Dillard, 707 West Chisum, recently killed the largest buck deer ever slain in the San Isabel National Forest Pueblo sector.

The animal, 308 pounds, weighed out 217 pounds dressed. It had nine points, four on one side, five on the other.

Young Dillard is a graduate of Artesia High School and a former student of Colorado A. & M., Fort Collins. His Pueblo, Colo., address is 629 Van Buren. He is employed by a Pueblo steel mill.

Here's the way he describes his hunting expedition, in a letter dated Oct. 29, to his parents:

Well, well, well, I finally got one. A 308 pounds nine point buck. Dressed out at 217 pounds. Here's my tale—believe it or not. Another (steel) mill worker and I left Pueblo at 5 a. m. (Sunday, Oct. 28). We got to our hunting spot at 6:15 a. m. (the same morning, of course) and started hunting.

At 6:58 I spied a large buck, of course I had seen many more but I had been out for this one in particular. He was high on 100 yards away and running as fast as a greased stick of lightning.

I fired my first shot, but due to the snow tiaks (golflink size) I missed. The second shot downed him, but not for long—he was up and running as fast as ever.

I fired a third shot, and then a fourth, a fifth, and sixth. By this time Bucky was nearly 325 yards from the end of my trusty carbine's muzzle.

Being a true sportsman I did not want this trophy to be lead astray and die wounded, so—I braced my small 30-30 against a slender aspen, took careful aim, fired, and the outstanding male, of the mule deer species, roared 30 feet for his last trolch in the Rocky Mountains.

After measuring the distance; using the Pythagorean Theorem, Avagadro's Constant, and Einstein's Theory of Relativity—a record of 325 yards. My fellow hunter and I proceeded in removing the inner mechanism of this unfortunate animal.

It was a chunky specimen, having 3/4" fat between his hide and the lean meat. At 11:04 (still a. m.) we had the weighty subject tied on our powerful auto. It had taken us nearly three hours to tote the huge species of deer meat from the top of Rudoiph mountain, 25 miles southeast of Wetmore, Colo.

By the way, my first hit had clipped the tendon of Bucky's right front retlock, and the final hit had blazed through the victim's neck, true to its mark. The killing slug had been the last shell in the rifle.

CC Arranges Goodwill Fete At Cottonwood

Reviving the good will trips of last year, the Artesia Chamber of Commerce members and residents of Cottonwood will gather at a ham and candied yam supper at 6:30 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 8, at the Cottonwood School.

The assembly will serve as a regular meeting of the Artesia chamber and will also provide Cottonwood with a chance to voice their opinions on ways that Artesia can aid Cottonwood.

A similar chamber-Atoka program was held last year at Atoka. Both men and women of Artesia and of Cottonwood are invited to attend. For Artesians the price will be $2.00 a plate; for Cottonwood, a tentative price of 50 cents has been proposed.

The affair will benefit the treasury of the Cottonwood Ladies' Aid of which Mrs. J. J. Terry is president. The Aid will cook and serve the meal. On the menu will be, in addition to ham and candied yams, string beans, tossed salad, pickles, jelly, preserves, cherry cobbler, ice cream, the latter given by Price's Creameries of Artesia, and coffee.

The meal will be in the school dining room while the inter-community gathering will follow in the gymnasium.

Clarence Key, good will committee chairman, is to make a talk, opening the second half of the program.

No motorcade to Cottonwood is planned. Those attending the affair from Artesia will go on their own option.

Cottonwood is located 10 miles northwest of Artesia. Manager Bob Koonce of the chamber of commerce, gave directions for the benefit of Artesians who may not be acquainted with the route:

Go seven miles north on Roswell road to Espuela; turn west on paved farm-to-market road for distance of two miles.

Rites Conducted Sunday for Aged Hope Resident

Funeral services for Mrs. Austin A. Smith, 73, for 40 years a resident of Hope, were conducted Sunday afternoon at Hope Methodist Church by Rev. R. L. Willingham, pastor of First Methodist, and Rev. E. A. Drew, both of Artesia. Burial was in Lower Hope cemetery.

Mrs. Smith died at 5:30 a. m. Saturday in Artesia General Hospital.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Teague, Margaret Virginia Teague was born May 18, 1878 in Youngs-port, Texas.

Survivors are three sisters and one brother. Sisters are Mrs. Jennie Schalbe of Del Rio; Mrs. X. B. Cox, San Angelo; Mrs. Lizzie Billings, Sanderson, Texas.

The brother is Joe Teague of Imperial, Calif.

Pallbearers were Rex Sealey, Pen Trimble, John Bush, Irvin Cox, John Harden, and W. E. Rood.

Arrangements are by Paulin Funeral Home.

District Officer To Visit Artesia Elks Tomorrow

Robert J. Cunningham of Carlsbad, district deputy grand exalted ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will make an official visit to Artesia Lodge 1717 tomorrow, it was made known on Monday by Claude W. Keys, exalted ruler of the local lodge.

Keys requests all members to be present on the occasion. During his visit Cunningham will check the financial condition and physical properties of the local club and ritualistic work of initiation by local officers. An address will also be given by the district deputy.

Wingfoot Cage Workouts Draw 26 Candidates

DENVER, Nov. 5 — Chuck Bloedorn, coach of the Goodyear Wingfoots at Akron, Ohio, reports that 26 employees of Goodyear are trying for berths on the 1951-52 basketball club.

With a 38-game schedule of which 22 games will be played on the road, the Wingfoots are in for the roughest slate since the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company team campaigned in the old National Basketball League.

Placing fifth last year in N.B.L. competition, while winning 19 out of 29 games, the Wingfoots are expected to be plenty rough this season.

Among the 13 new men, trying out for the squad, four will definitely help out in the height department—6-7 Sherman Neamen of North Carolina U.; John Lane, 6-7 Illinois Wesleyan; Harry Hollinger, 6-6 Mount Union; and Dan Bagley, 6-4, Notre Dame.

Besides their 22 contests in the rugged 11-team National Industrial Basketball League, the Wingfoots will also oppose on the inter-collegiate side of the program St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa.; in the season's opener on Nov. 28 at Akron; Pittsburg U., Duquesne; Westminster, Pa. Muskingum College; Baldwin-Wallace, and Akron University, the latter a city championship struggle.

Incidentally, players here seem to go for the old style—love-fifteen score. One, two, three, four is method of keeping count of the simpler and makes sense.

The Deal Mades—

Right after the Artesia-Hobbs football game last year I was disgusted at the "throw another Christian to the lions" atmosphere that existed at the contest.

I thought the ax was out for keeps between the two towns. When Principal Travis Stovall told me of his plans for this year, how we would show the Hobbs folks sportsmanship and treat them royally at the game here this season, I gave him credit for a sportsmanship attitude but I was dubious about its success.

The high school principal, however, was not blocked by what seemed to me to be a barrier that couldn't be climbed. He made his plans early and he followed through.

Result—"the game reached an all-time high in that Artesia was an excellent host to our visiting neighbor from the east."

To Principal Stovall—an accolade. It took work and planning to be the chief peacemaker, to establish good relations after the bitterness of last season. More of this spirit in Artesia would make life better for all of us.

Club Car—

It was a tough fight, folks, but I won. Not a fight, really, and it was no contest but the objective was as much sought by me as a victory would be by the Bulldogs.

After two seasons there is going to be a change in the old Morris Field subway, according to information I've received from the high school principal. An extension is to be built on the "press" box, and that extension will be for newspaper, not for public address, the radio-gadgets, and the mob that clustered in the subway like ants after honey.

Principal Stovall cautioned that it might be necessary to utilize the club car addition for other occupants if conditions got too crowded, I might have to share the club car. That's oke with me as long as I'm not pushed to the wall as I was on the subway's main car.

Here's hoping the club car is switched on in time for the Carlsbad classic.

Bowyer's Brigade—

The battling boys of Carlsbad High, coached by Ralph Bowyer, will invade Artesia on Friday night for the big classic. If Artesia can win this one it will be sweet revenge for the Mehahey Massacre of 1950, played on Caveman Field. A crowd of 5,000 is expected to witness the tussle. The invaders from south of the border haven't been defeated in a score of consecutive contests.

But they can be whipped. And I think the Bulldogs will do it. If the Artesia High grid team plays against Carlsbad like it did against Albuquerque and Hobbs—we've got this one won. Remember the "if", Bulldogs, and don't think you've got this one racked up until the final whistle.

There's work ahead for the high school's male teachers, as well as for the football team. A meeting of all men "who serve on gates" was held at 7:30 last night in Room 16, "to plan for the Carlsbad game."

Lobo Invitation—

From Ellen J. Hill, president of Theta Sigma Phi, University of New Mexico, comes an invitation to me to attend the college's homecoming on Nov. 17. Sure wish I could but lack of cash and time bars me from attending.

Miss Hill's letter: "Dear Mr. Emerson: "Saturday, Nov. 17, is an important day.

"It is homecoming for the University of New Mexico and we're rolling out the welcome mat for all of our editors and alums throughout the state. The journalism students and faculty want to meet you at the 11 o'clock Open House Saturday morning in the journalism building right after the parade in downtown Albuquerque.

"The Theta Sigma Phi girls, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism, will be hostesses for the occasion.

"We are looking forward to seeing you at the Lobo-Cougar game, too. The Alumni office at the University of New Mexico is holding two free tickets for you to the game. You can pick them up when you meet us at the Journalism Open House."

Ocotillo Grows High as 20 Feet

© National Wildlife Federation
Flaming Sword

If you are ever travelling in the Southwest and see a tall desert shrub with scarlet flowers, beware! It may be the Flaming Sword, a plant of striking beauty, but armed with terrible thorns.

The sharp, stiff spines are often hard to see, too. Hiding them is a thick coat of small leaves. The foliage makes the waving plant look harmless, but a painful surprise awaits the hand that grasps the stalks.

Even if the Flaming Sword had no protection, its blossoms would be hard to reach. According to the National Wildlife Federation, the shrub grows to be from six to 20 feet tall.

It looks even taller during a long dry spell, when it has no leaves and flowers. Then the plant consists of a clump of giant stems or wands—straight, stiff, and thorny. They are so brown and parched that one might think they were dead.

Just after a good rain soaks the soil, though, bright green leaves spring forth to mask the thorns. At the end of each wand there comes a brilliant cluster of flowers. Waving to and fro in the wind, the flower-tipped wands look like blazing torches held high in the air. Their beauty lasts while the ground is moist, but quickly disappears when a drought sets in.

Several sets of leaves and flowers may come and go each year, because the Flaming Sword makes the most of every rain. Its roots grow over a wide area near the surface of the ground, where they can greedily soak up water from the lightest showers.

Sometimes the wait between rains is a long one, for the Flaming Sword grows on the parched hills and deserts of our southwestern states and northern Mexico. The Indians often plant it in rows where they want a tall, forbidding hedge.

Though it is thorny and thrives in the desert, the Flaming Sword is not a cactus. The National Wildlife Federation also points out that it is known by other means. Among them are Ocotillo and Candle Flower.

Interesting information on other wildlife species can be obtained by writing to the National Wildlife Federation, Washington 10, D. C.

Record Crowd Turns Out for Game Protective Club's Annual Barbecue

From the comfortable location of the high school cafeteria, members of the North Eddy County Game Protective Association hunted lions (on a motion picture screen), ate barbecue and beans, and listened to speeches, one by Elliott S. Barker, of Santa Fe, New Mexico game warden.

Attendance of 290 set a new record for the association. The program was held at 7 p. m. Thursday in the high school cafeteria.

The state game warden, in his speech, outlined hunting prospects. He said there was a "good carry-over of big game from last year, turkeys are on the increase," and game "in general" in "good condition in most areas," adding that "quail has a good crop."

He also asked cooperation of sportsmen saying that such a cooperation "makes a good game department."

Repeated were the admonitions for safe hunting, a summary of a new hunting safety law, that makes it "illegal to handle a gun carelessly" in any phase of hunting, and if while hunting a hunter wounds another "the guilty one has a 10-year suspension of his hunting license."

"Be sure it's legal game before you shoot" was the keynote slogan. Hunting accidents in 1950 were the "worst in years," it was stated. Along the same line was an admonition by Russell Hill, association president, for sportsmen to "cover camp fires."

5.—Endeavor to secure greater respect from sportsmen to ranchers and farmers.

Membership in the association is 300.

The menu for the annual feed Thursday night included barbecue, beans, hot rolls, butter, honey, apple cobbler, and coffee.

Middle Grade Paces Honor Roll At Junior School

Grade 7 had the most pupils of all three grades at Artesia Junior High School for the first six-week period, according to the school's bulletin dated Nov. 1.

The middle class had 20 on the roll, three more than Grade 8 with 17. In the show spot was Grade 6 with seven.

Along with the names the bulletin lists qualifications for membership in the junior honor society. To be eligible a pupil must have at least two A's, nothing below a B, and no U's. Citizenship and leadership are other prerequisites for election on the roll.

Honor Roll Pupils—

Grade 7—Linda Beene, Jimmy Campanella, Robert Collins, Lora Donaghe, Royce Fletcher, Elizabeth Hard, Charles Hogsett, Carole Howell, Rosemary Hutson and Clea Johnson.

Melva Anne Morgan, Charlene Morgan, James Mulcock, Jackie Staggs, Ann Storm, Anne Wade, Mary Margaret Whitson, Charlotte Wilkinson, Alfred Williams, Billy Yeater.

Grade 6—Sharon Mermis, Kay Schnaubert, Barbara Butts, John Sperry, Alicia Waldrep, Paul Turner, Shirley Jeffers.

Let's Be Americans First

THE GREAT NEED of our nation is not as some of the party leaders would have us believe better Republicans and Democrats, but better Americans.

Most of us know and realize that parties are necessary and they are fine but we also know and realize that in the final analysis there isn't much difference between them. We also know that if the Republicans had been in power the situation would be about the same as it is today.

Any political party left in power too long becomes corrupt and becomes greedy for greater power and more authority. Today we find a situation where the people and the nation are forgotten in the interest of the so-called Democratic party.

There are a great many real Democrats who know that the party in power doesn't represent the true Democratic party. This not only applies to the federal government but to state governments as well.

The real cause of the situation that prevails today is indifference. Our own failure to take an interest in our governmental affairs is responsible for the conditions we have.

The graft and corruption is the result of our refusal to participate in politics—and our refusal to go to the polls and vote.

We turned the governmental affairs over to those controlling them and we have permitted them to run the government not for the good and the welfare of the nation, but for themselves and their party.

It is just a little difficult for us to realize that a President of the United States would stoop as low as we have seen the present chief executive stoop in defending some of his 'cronies' and in defending the conduct of some of those in charge of various affairs of our nation.

It is a little difficult to realize that one man would be so determined to have his own way that he would seek to cram down the throat of the U.S. Senate nominees for high court positions when these individuals are objectionable to members of the Senate. Yet he has done that.

He has even demanded that some of those charged and accused of being 'Red's' be named to positions of trust. There was a day and a time when a President knew and realized that if a man's name and reputation had been smeared in any way, there was no use to submit that name to the Senate or to offer that name for a high post. That is not true with the President—if he wants them, it doesn't matter what others may think.

The people of this nation are going to have to realize it is time we have a change. They are going to have to realize that it is time to be good Americans and to forget the party politics. We have had more politics now than we need.

But it can't be done by refusing to accept our responsibilities as citizens and by our refusal to take part in politics and by refusing to go to the polls and cast our ballots.

And as we have pointed out before the present administration has a decided advantage in any election to be held. They have those on the payroll and those who are receiving benefits from the present government before they start collecting other votes.

It will take plenty of votes to overcome the lead. But either we are going to make a change and clean up the mess we have permitted to develop or we can forget our Democratic form of government.

We can't continue the wasteful, extravagant, socialistic form of government which is filled with graft and corruption and expect to continue to exist.

It is time to be good Americans and forget party politics.

Just a Thought for Youth

FREQUENTLY the question arises as to why The Advocate does or does not publish certain information.

Only a short while ago the question was asked as to why The Advocate omitted the names of juveniles or minors, who had admitted they engaged in a little hi-jacking. Those making the inquiry felt the names should be printed as a warning to the public. They were honest and sincere in their inquiry.

We, of course, have always sought to follow the policy of trying to give a youngster the benefit of the doubt. We have always been willing to go along when some youngster or youth gets into trouble for the first time and omit their names. Our whole idea was that we might aid them to remain on the straight and narrow path.

We know that unfavorable publicity frequently helps or contributes to the delinquency of youth or at least it makes it all the more difficult for that youngster to do the right thing.

Most people and especially parents realize this and are appreciative of this fact.

But it is also true that under the laws of New Mexico the names of those handled in a juvenile court cannot be published. Those records are not open to the newspaper and the paper is not privileged to attend these trials or hearings.

We believe that is as it should be.
On the other hand, when youngsters or youths fall into the class of habitual criminals and are guilty not once, but many times—it is perhaps time they be given a little publicity. There seemingly isn't much that can be done to help them.

But we would far rather leave a number of names out of the paper and in this way aid some youth than to publish one name which might contribute to the downfall of a young man who has made a mistake.

Most of us, of course, have and do make mistakes. Youth can make a mistake, too. It is following that mistake that the helping hand is needed and that unfavorable publicity is harmful.

So we have always gone along trying to give a thought to youth, to try and contribute to correcting some mistake youth has made and following the law which prohibits the publishing of the names of juveniles taken before a juvenile judge.

BLOOD DONOR OF THE WEEK

What Other Editors Are Saying

LET'S GET OUT OF KOREA

An overwhelming majority of the United Nations' members say "No." Tough as the going may be for the future, it is infinitely better than to turn the world civilization loose for the third power-mad ego-maniac in a half century, to overwhelm nation by nation.

The isolation fog now spreading over the land has a distinct partisan odor. The same brand pervaded the nation's atmosphere in 1917 until finally squelched by the sinking of our ships and destruction of our shipping.

The same in 1940-41 when another power mad maniac turned loose on civilization. It took a terrific crack under our chins to make us come to our senses. WAR II is claimed as a victory for the U. S., but future historians may question as to what might have happened had Hitler and his industrial and militarist sponsors had not made at least three strategic errors, viz: Not overwhelming Britain immediately after Dunkerque; attacked American shipping and attempted his conquest of Russia after abrogating the German peace treaty with Russia.

It is unfortunate that we have a national election coming on at this time; it is indeed difficult to fight three battles at one; our bi-partisan rough and tumble; participation in the UN war against world wide aggression and slavery and our internal war against communism as an ideology. In the last mentioned we are using lots of jawbone, (with no intended allusion to Samson and the Philistines).

Actually we are in World War III now and the UN forces are at a disadvantage. The Kremlin is using stooges, with little material from Russia and fighting the war by remote control. Stalin is not going to agree to an armistice until we get the 1952 campaign scrap laid by; the 50 nations or more of the allies are looking to the U. S., as the most powerful nation on earth, for leadership.

Don't forget, our nation's leaders have the greatest crisis in our entire national history and every bit of disunity is just so much grist for the Kremlin mill.

And the propaganda fog grows thicker and thicker, regardless of the fact that it is costing some groups millions upon millions of dollars.—C.W.M., Alamogordo News.

COTTON PICKERS NEEDED

Twenty-three thousand cotton pickers are needed now in New Mexico, according to M. F. Miera, head of the New Mexico State Employment Service and 40,000 or more pickers are needed in West Texas.

There seems to be a serious shortage of cotton pickers in some areas despite the many thousands of imported Mexican nationals being used on the farms in Southern New Mexico and Western Texas. With the harvest in full swing, there is no shortage of pickers in the Carlsbad vicinity, but Oliver Scott of the Employment Service says we would be facing a serious shortage without the imported Mexican nationals.

The cotton pickers, incidentally, are getting a good wage, ranging from $2.50 to $3 per 100 pounds.

When the United States and Mexico were trying to work out a farm labor agreement a few months ago, certain unscrupulous union leaders at El Paso and elsewhere tried to scuttle the agreement. They tried to defeat the Mexican farm labor measure in Congress, contending that the Mexicans would not be needed.

These labor leaders should be reminded that there now is a shortage of cotton pickers. Let them come forth now with the men needed to gather the crops.—Carlsbad Current-Argus.

ANOTHER JACKSONVILLE

Resident of Jacksonville, Fla., have been justifiably annoyed by a reference in these columns to their city as having been criticized in an armed services housing report. The metropolis of northern Florida has suffered in this instance from being better known than its namesakes in Illinois, Texas, Alabama, Oregon and North Carolina. The Jacksonville named in the report was, in fact, the small county seat on the North Carolina shore, overwhelmed as it has been by the Marine Corps' Camp Lejeune. We regret this slip.—Christian Science Monitor.

It's getting harder and harder to support the government in the style to which it has become accustomed.

Plans are going ahead for the annual drive for funds for the Boy Scouts here, which will be in the form of a one-day contest between two teams headed by Frank Smith and Howard Williams.

Although many deer have been brought in from the mountains and foothills of Southeast New Mexico since the season opened Saturday for 15 days, there do not seem to be as many successful hunters as in previous years.

Mrs. Nevil Muncy was elected president of the Atoka Woman's Club when it met Tuesday for an all-day meeting at the home of Mrs. Charlie Rogers with Mrs. Paul Rogers as co-hostess.

Miss Irene Nicholson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Nicholson and Edward Kissinger, son of Mrs. Elsie Kissinger of Artesia were married Saturday afternoon at the Nicholson home with Rev. S. M. Morgan of the First Baptist Church reading the ring ceremony.

Mrs. C. R. Blocker, publisher of The Advocate, left Friday for Cloudercroft to hunt deer in the Sacramento Mountains. She spent the week-end visiting her niece, Mrs. William S. Cooley and Mr. Cooley in Cloudercroft.

Members of the Past Presidents' Parley met at the home of Mrs. C. R. Vandagriff last Thursday for a one o'clock luncheon.

Assignment New Mexico

By G. WARD FENLEY

It's like waving a red rag in front of a vicious bull to mention censorship of the press.

But the fact remains that a few New Mexico papers are getting out of hand—especially in their ads.

I am referring specifically to such as the ad of the Bud and Cliff Wrecking Yard which was clipped and sent to me by H. T. Decker of Portales.

Their ad in the Portales Daily News read: "Trailers for sale and rent; we do wrench work anywhere; Bud and Cliff Wrecking Yard."

Carter Wald of the Belen News Bulletin got ritzy last week in pushing his wares: "Inserting a classified advertisement in your local medium of news dissemination invariably procures practically instantaneous accomplishments of the desired end. Or—if you ain't went to college—the News Bulletin wants ads get quick results."

While passing through Grants (New Mexico) last week, Wallace Barnes of the Gallup Independent listened while a group of Blue-water enthusiasts advertised the eating of carrots for the good of the eyes. Said one booster: "You never seen a rabbit wearing glasses, have you?"

We generally advertise New Mexico as the Land of Enchantment where no cemeteries are needed since people hardly ever die.

H. B. Henning of the New Mexico Stockman sent me a clipping from the Cruces Sun-News. The heading read: "Funeral Services Pending for Mr. So and So." The heading, Mr. Henning wrote, made his wonder if someone had considered burying the man before death.

We wonder also what sort of cattle the Eddy County News was advertising in the story which read in part: "More than 80 purebred Angus Cattle were sold at Clovis last Monday."

One thing we don't advertise—we're ashamed of it—and that is New Mexico's sad traffic accident record. The Gallup Independent observes pithily: "The fellow who insists on drinking before driving is simply putting the quart before the horse."

Everyone in Albuquerque got a kick last week out of an Albuquerque Journal story about one of the attendants for the queen for the high school's homecoming celebration.

The young lady in question is a beautiful and petite damsel and security reason. It read, with the line of type lost: "The police traf-

By MEL HELMER

Adolphe Menjou

NEW YORK—Mr. Adolphe Menjou, a movie actor who recently achieved some notoriety by allowing a producer to shave a growth from his upper lip, paid New York a compliment the other day and I have been wondering whether we should accept it.

According to the over-debonair Mr. Menjou, New York's men are the best-dressed in the United States. Now, Mr. Menjou in his day has acquired a reputation as an extremely well-dressed man and you would think that Manhattan should tip its hat politely and gratefully to him.

I wonder. In making his remarks about the downfall of men's fashions, the morose Adolphe mourned the fact that spats were almost extinct and "you never see a derby any more." And, which is more, he pointed out that for five years he had been trying to revive the practice of wearing knickerbockers on the golf course and even had cajoled Lloyd Mangrum into trying them for a while.

It strikes me that a man who wears spats, a derby and knickerbockers (not at one and the same time, of course) is hardly the man to say whether we are or are not well-dressed here in New York. In fact, he begins to sound like a left-handed compliment. I do not mean to class head-on with men who wear derbies, spats and knickerbockers—but they should agree with me that those are symbols of another day in men's wear. If you are going in wholeheartedly for being a best-dressed man, so that one day you will find yourself on one of those Ten Best lists, surely you must dress in the fashion of your times.

I WONDER JUST WHAT KIND OF NEW YORK MEN Adolphe has in mind when he says we are well-dressed?

Obviously he doesn't mean the strange and years-ahead-of-the-time creatures of Broadway, who straggle around in front of Lindy in their long-pointed collars and suede shoes and mutter strange creases about four-horse parlays at Suffix Downs.

Now, these are my idea of well-dressed men—but I always have to preface any such remarks by saying, yes, I know they dress garishly and, at times, discordantly. It just so happens I like that kind of clothes. They are extremely bright and they appeal to my sense of humor.

Anybody can wear a double-breasted blue suit, neat white shirt, regimental striped tie and black shoes. It takes a brave and skillful man to wear a hound's tooth jacket (in green), a pair of chaturra-colored slacks, cordovan loafers, lime-colored shirt and a green necktie with pari-mutuel tickets printed all over it.

The costume of sport jacket and slacks is one that arouses Mr. Menjou almost to apoplexy. He points out that the English developed this ensemble for use in the country and "wouldn't be caught dead wearing a sport coat in the city." It would appear, then, that Mr. Menjou feels the English men know how to dress. This makes Mr. Menjou's qualifications as an expert immediately suspect. Based on what I have seen of British clothes these days, some of which have forlornly in my own closets, they left the knack many years ago.

An Englishman, for example, also wouldn't be caught dead with padded shoulders—and I don't care who the man is... if he's built like me, with a rough resemblance to a pipe cleaner, he needs padded shoulders. Without it, I have that natural look, all right, just like they say—but it looks like the devil.

ALSO, THIS IS HARDLY A CITY full of well-dressed men if you frown on sport jackets and slacks. You see them everywhere, from Twenty-One at luncheon to Sammy's Bowers Follies at midnight. They are here to stay and I am afraid I think it's a good thing. Mr. Menjou went on to explain that he pays from $250 to $500 for his suits and goes up to $500 for a dress suit. This is an amazing enough pastime and I'd do it myself if I had the time and money—but I will say that if in these days of mass clothing production by the greatest manufacturers anywhere in the world a man can't be well-dressed with a $60 suit... well, if he can't he doesn't belong in the race. Mr. Gene Fowler, author, for example, used to boast that he never paid more than $35 per suit and he always seemed to me to be very presentable, indeed.

Briefly, though—if Mr. Menjou, with his odd outlook on fashion, considers New York men well-dressed, I think it is about time we took a little stock of ourselves and had a departmental shake-up. We don't want small boys throwing rocks at us in scorn.

fic car was followed by a truck bearing the huge Serafina Yolandez. Other choice type howlers of the week: Put up signs on stirs showing up and down.—Artesia Advocate; and "The drug major of the high school football team"—both from the Artesia Advocate; "Thief steals money (meaning money) display at fair"—Roswell Record; and "Ned Gold reported today"—New Mexican.

I liked the Carlsbad Current Argus's story on Rev. Clifford Thomas of the First Christian Church. His church ladies worked practically all night several night cooking up appauce for the orphans. Reverend Thomas was to take the applesauce to the Denver home but forgot. How, asked Editor Jack Sittom, the Reverend Thomas explain affair to his church ladies? And still on the subject of vertizing, we recommend the New doorkeeper who explained how had held his job for 54 years; never put anybody in my deskery.

IN ST. JOHN, N. B., writes Gerald Keith, the proprietor of roadside restaurant put up a sign that tickled the customer.

It read, "Take less sugar and stir like the Dickens. We do mind the noise." a few doors down, a competitor named Young realized he had to keep step, or lose face with his customers. He accomplished his purpose with a sign twice as big which suggested, "Eat here and keep Young."

Queried on the attributes of the perfect secretary, one with long years of experience answered promptly, "She should have four degrees: a Ph.D. for psychic handling of details; an M.D. for master of diplomacy; a B.A. for boss's ailments; and D.D. for dawgones durability."

"Himm," observed the cannibal chief's wife, "I see that Fred destroyer has sailed off without three of its crew." "Oh darn," said the chief, "I foresee leftovers for dinner again tonight."

Northern Eddy's Good Earth Produces Cotton Bale No. 1

COTTON IS STILL KING

IN THE AMAZING ARTESIA AREA

It is estimated that Eddy County will produce SIXTY THOUSAND bales of cotton on 51,000 acres in 1951. This would be the largest yield in the history of the County, surpassing the bumper crop of two years ago by more than 4,000 bales.

The above figures are of course an estimate, but here are some actual figures of production so far this year. As of October 28, there has been ginned in Eddy County 24,868 bales of cotton. Of that amount, 16,651 bales were processed by the six gins in the north half of the County, of which Artesia is the logical trading center.

As long as the underground water supply in the Artesia area continues to be adequate to the demands of irrigated farming there is no reason why we should not continue to lead in the production of cotton.

All But Impossible to Believe!

It is very difficult to believe—but, each month, there are literally thousands of people who pay as much for their motor cars as it would cost them to buy Cadillacs . . . and, yet, they don't get Cadillacs.

As we said, this is very hard to believe—but the reasons for it make it more or less understandable.

In the first place, a great many people simply don't know what a Cadillac costs. They don't understand that the lowest-priced Cadillac actually costs less than certain models produced by numerous other manufacturers.

They only know that Cadillac is the world's most renowned motor car—and they assume, from this, that it must also be exclusively priced.

Too, some people get discouraged because they can't walk in and order a Cadillac and get immediate delivery—as they can with so many other makes of cars.

This, too, is largely due to a failure to get all the facts and think them through to the inevitable conclusion. You have to wait a while for a Cadillac because so many people want one—and want it so badly that they are willing to wait for it. And that, in turn, is because Cadillac is recognized everywhere as the Standard of the World.

So if you want a Cadillac—and research indicates that a vast percentage of motorists do—come in and talk with us about it.

We'll give you the facts concerning comparative costs. And we will also talk frankly with you about delivery dates, so you may know about what to anticipate.

You really owe it to yourself to do this. For, surely, you don't want to pay the price of a Cadillac—and still not get one!

If we already have your order for a Cadillac—stand firm in your conviction—for each day brings you closer to your heart's desire.

It is true, of course, that you can get quicker delivery on other makes of cars. But, in all the world, there is no other car like Cadillac.

So be patient—and you will have your reward!
